Thursday, March 29, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 121

Senate begins annual process

UFM cuts, salary increases recommended for allocations

By Kirk Caraway Collegian Reporter

Student Senate begins its annual allocation process with first readings of the finance committee's recommendations at 6 p.m. today in the Union Big Eight Room.

The recommendations of the finance committee have drawn criticism from other student government officials, mainly over the cutting of the entire budget of UFM.

"That's a sore spot with me," said Chris Kern, senate chairman. "You don't cut someone that big in one year."

Kern said that last year, as chairman of Student Affairs and Social Services committee, they looked into UFM funding and recommended a 15 percent cut on the way to phasing out funding in 5 or 6 years.

"Where finance committee came up with the other 85 percent, I don't know," Kern said.

Barry Beck, coordinator of finances and chairman of the Finance Committee, said he wasn't worried about the survival of UFM and believed they could continue operating at a reduced level without student support.

"The classes UFM puts on would most likely be the first things to go if funding gets cut," Beck said. "In my opinion, that would be the first thing they would cut out."

Richard Friesen, excecutive director of UFM, said that cutting out the classes was not a viable option.

"It would be the death of UFM," Friesen said. "It might work theoretically on a short-term basis, but our other funding would dry up. If we don't have classes, we don't have

"That is really uninformed about

By The Collegian Staff

allocations to the Native American

Student Body and Older, Wiser,

Learning Students at 6 p.m. in the

The $258.50 being requested by

OWLS is to reimburse the group for expenses incurred during their trip to the Fifth Annual Midwest Conference for Non-Traditional Students in Ames, Iowa March 23 and 24.

OWLS attempted to get funding from Senate before spring break, but

Union Big Eight Room.

Student Senate will vote on special

Senate to vote on special allocations

how UFM functions," said Dave Stewart, chairman of the UFM board. "Classes are where we realize some slight profit."

Also likely to be contested are the finance committee's recommendation for salary increases for the student body president, senate chairman and coordinator of finances. The increases would raise the student body president's salary from $3,600 to $4,248 a year; senate chairman from $2,700 to $3,186 a year and coordinator of finances from $300 to $354 a

"I wouldn't mind having the extra money," Kern said. "I just don't want it to take place during my term.'

"I won't fight for my increase," said Student Body President Todd Johnson.

The increases were never officially requested by anyone within Student Government, but were unofficially suggested by Sally Routson, coordinator of student activities.

"I discussed raising all salaries with a few people on finance committee," Routson said. However, Routson said she was suprised that the committee recommended the Beck said the committee used the minimum wage increase, the Consumer Price Index and comparisons with peer institutions as basis for salary increases.

"Every salary under our control has been increased," Beck said. "Last year there were no salary increases except for Legal Services.'

The recommended salary increase for the student's attorney, Dianne Urban, will bring her salary from $27,312 to $31,500. She had requested an increase to $28,680.

■ See SENATE, Page 11

were refused due to the time con-

NASB is requesting $200 to help pay for performers for their pow-wow on March 31 in observance of Native American Heritage Month.

tions sponsored by David McIntyre, junior in electrical engineering, commending Lon Kruger, Steve Henson and the men's basketball team for their successes during the 1989-90

Also to be voted on are two resolu-straints involved.

Todd Siebert, senior in animal science, trims the dead part of the frog — the center of the bottom of a horse's hoof — at the horse station north of campus. Keeping a horse's hoof trimmed is partly in preparation for shoeing a horse, one of the projects the class performs.

Cowboy myths mislead

Way of life, not money, still attracts students to work long ranch hours

By Anne Krauss Collegian Reporter

Cowboys are a vestige of the Old West. The term often brings to mind visions of John Wayne-like heroes drinking whiskey like water, high noon and battling Indians.

The exciting silver-screen image actually fits few of the men. Instead of mythical heroes in white hats, cowboys were hard men who spent their days on horseback in the dust of cattle. While the days of trailing cattle from southern Texas to the Kansas railroads may be over, being a cowboy is still a way of life for some men at K-State.

"I don't like to put a definition on what we do," said Jason Dierks, freshman in animal sciences and industry and ranch management. "They call us cowboys and it comes close. If I was to say I was a cowman, I'd be saying I knew every-thing about cows. I don't. I think of myself as a student of horses and cows."

Dierks said he grew up on a ranch and worked for various other ranches several years. He has given initial training to more than 100 horses in the past four years.

Work starts early in the morning for a ranch hand. Mark Dahlsten, senior in animal science, said when he worked for the Bell Ranch in New Mexico. his day could begin as early as 4 a.m. during branding season.

"Branding season begins the first of June and runs two to three weeks,'

An anvil, hammer and nails are used for shoeing a horse.

Dahlsten said. "We'd start gather- record its and its mother's ing them up in one part of the counnumbers.' try, bring them in to the fire and could find himself fixing fence, brand them."

Dahlsten said they branded 250 to 300 calves each day. Dahlsten said there really was no typical day on the ranch, and duties varied throughout the "During calving season every morning we'd set out to the pastures to look for baby calves, Dahlsten said. 'When we'd find a new one we'd catch it, weigh it on a scale, tattoo it in the ear and

At any other time a cowboy

At times like this, being a cowboy can have its disadvantages. "I dislike walking old fence and hauling rocks," Dierks said. "But if shoeing horses, putting feed or salt and mineral supplements out for cattle, pulling a well or killing a rattlesnake or two.

you're going to be a cowboy in the true sense of the word you learn to carry a set of fencing pliers on your saddle and just do it." Many cowboys are raised on ranches and stay in this line of work simply because they enjoy it, Dahlsten said.

"It certainly isn't for the money," he said. "If you're on calving duty, you might have to pull a heifer at 3 a.m. and get back up at 6 a.m., but for some reason it's fun."

One of Dahlsten's greatest sources of enjoyment while he is working is taking photographs of the lifestyle and of the country.

"What I really like to capture is the solitude and isolation - vastness, big open spaces," Dahlsten said. "One of my favorite pictures is of Bell Mountain (in New Mexico).

■ See COWBOY, Page 11

Program recycles hazardous wastes

Collegian Reporter

Last year, the University saved over $22,000 in hazardous waste disposal costs by recycling 1.9 tons of old chemicals.

Chemical recycling is part of the University hazardous waste minimization program, said Steven Galitzer, industrial hygienist and head of the recycling

"We can't just throw chemicals in the trash, because many of them are on the hazardous waste list," Galitzer said. "Since disposal is very expensive, we must be creative in order to hold down our costs." Hazardous waste is defined as any substance that poses a threat to human health or the environment if it is disposed of improperly, according to the Kansas Department of Health and Environment. Most of the old chemicals come from the labs of professors who have either died or left the University. The chemicals are picked up by the campus department of public safety, which evaluates and treats them for safety. "There is nothing wrong with these chemicals, they're just old," Galitzer said. "We only place chemicals that are still in their original bottles and containers in the chemical storeroom."

Some chemicals may be between 30 to 40 years old, and it is not unusual to come across bottles that are 50 to 60 years old, Galitzer said.

The purity and quality of the recycled chemicals can't be guaranteed because chemicals change with age. Even though purity is unknown, researchers are able to use the recycled chemicals in lab work that doesn't require fine grade materials. The chemistry department also uses chemicals from the storeroom when only small amounts of specific chemicals are needed. Several other departments on

The dairy barns use recycled copper sulfate as a foot bath for cattle, Galitzer said. The campus power plant uses recycled sulfuric acid and the Natatorium uses several recycled chemicals as buffer-campus also use the chemicals in the ing agents for the water. The chemicals are free to any faculty or staff members who show a legitimate use

In 1989, disposal of hazardous waste cost $700 per 55 gallon barrel, Galitzer said. We are not only saving money in disposal costs, but fewer new chemicals have to be ordered since the chemical recycling program was instituted.

Chemicals must be lab packed for hazardous waste disposal. Labeled bottles are placed with compatible chemicals in a

■ See CHEMICAL, Page 11

Policy leadership shifts

Soviet military seizes buildings, promotes political rallies in Lithuania

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW - Throughout the tense standoff over Lithuania's bid for independence, President Mikhail S. Gorbachev has allowed the Soviet military to take the lead on Kremlin policy with harsh language and tough actions.

Gorbachev and his top advisers say they are committed to a peaceful solution to the crisis, but aside from issuing several directives last week, he has remained mostly silent

The army has not crushed the independence movement but has been squeezing it hard. A top officer blustered about alleged Lithuanian plans to jail Communists. Soldiers rounded up deserters, moved into Communist Party buildings in the capital city Vilnius, and dropped leaflets from a military helicopter promoting a political rally against independence.

The tactic is leaving Western analysts and Lithuanian leaders wondering who is making the decisions and why.

Gorbachev insists he is committed to the rule of law and has transferred more control over policy from the Communist Party to the

So Lithuanian President Vytautas Landsbergis said he was mystified when military officers told him they seized Communist Party buildings at the behest of the minority of Lithuanian Communists, who remained loyal to Moscow when most of their comrades split in December.

We expressed surprise and astonishment that the military can occupy buildings at the request of a political organization, and we asked if such requests come from other organizations whether they will fulfill them," Landsbergis said.

Panel approves shift elimination

Committee votes to cut Lafene's overnight hours to save money

By David Frese Collegian Reporter

The Student Health Advisory Committee unanimously approved Wednesday the elimination of the midnight to 8 a.m. shift at Lafene Student Health Center effective May

Committee members did express concern that students who need affordable after midnight care may not be able to find it at either of the city's two hospitals.

Lannie Zweimiller, director of Lafene, said that although the two hospitals were aware the shift closing was being considered, they have taken no serious steps to cut emergency care costs for students. Dr. Larry Moeller, Lafene chief of staff, said he approved the closing of the shift because other emergency facilities in the community are available to students. "I think if we didn't have emergency care facilities in the community, even if we saw only 5 percent of the University, we'd be obliged to stay open, because a University needs 24-hour emergency care," he said.

"The fact that there are 24-hour health care facilities in the community with on-site emergency physicians, ethically and professionally tells me that people who are in need of emergency care have the resources available to them."

But Moeller saw no cost-cutting light at the end of the financial tunnel for students taking their ailments to the city's two hospital emergency rooms.

"If there is a financial deal struck - terrific," he said. "I would be more than mildly surprised if (Manhattan's two hospitals) would see K-State students at less than what they would charge others. It would be a great humanitarian gesture on their part, but I wouldn't hold my breath on it."

Zweimiller presented data showing only 201 students used the overnight services dur-See LAFENE, Page 11

World

Zulu factions continue battle

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) - Rival Zulu factions battled with guns, clubs and knives Wednesday in Natal province, setting scores of homes on fire and forcing hundreds of villagers to flee into the countryside.

Soldiers and police patrolled Natal in an effort to quell the violence, which broke out Tuesday and has killed at least two people.

"The whole so-called 'Valley of Death' is covered with blue to be burning at the same time in a radius smoke. I saw 120 homes burning at the same time in a radius of (15 miles)," said journalist Khaba Mkhize after flying over #### the Edendale Valley near the provincial capital of Pietermaritzburg.

American missionary slain RASHAYA FOUKHAR, Lebanon (AP) - Extremist groups

claimed responsibility Wednesday for the slaying of an American missionary, who was shot to death in his south Lebanon home by masked intruders who burst in as he prayed with his

The groups accused the victim, William Robinson, of trying to establish an Israeli settlement in south Lebanon, a predominatly Shiite Moslem area. The Israeli government and Robinson's relatives in his home state of Massachusetts denied it.

Robinson, 59, had since 1983 run an orphanage for hand-icapped children, called the Christian Children's Home. Israeli troops scoured their self-proclaimed security zone in south Lebanon for the killers, who entered Robinson's home in Rashaya Foukhar on Tuesday night. The village of 4,000 is inside the security zone, about eight miles northeast of Israel's border.

France bans tobacco ads

PARIS (AP) - The government declared war on tobacco Wednesday, approving a draft law banning all cigarette advertising and announcing a 15 percent increase in the price of tobacco products beginning next year.

In addition, advertisements of nearly all alcoholic beverages will be banned except in the print media.

The measure will be submitted to Parliament during its spring session, said government spokesman Louis Le Pensec. If approved, the bans will be implemented progressively over a three-year period.

Nation

Group criticizes asylum policy

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States has routinely denied asylum to refugees from oppression in countries it considers friendly, while granting asylum to those fleeing Communist governments, Amnesty International and congressional critics charged Wednesday.

The international human rights organization said that from June 1983 to September 1989 only 2 percent of Guatemalans seeking asylum were successful. It said the figure for El Salvador was 2.5 percent and for Haiti just over 2 percent. By contrast nearly 91 percent of persons seeking asylum from Romania, then under Communist rule, won their cases.

"The United States government is slamming the door to its Salvadoran, Guatemalan and Haitian neighbors," John G. Healey, executive director of Amnesty International USA, said at a news conference. "Asylum case after asylum case shows that the State Department and the Immigration and Naturalization Service deny certain people equal treatment."

Junction City man killed

JUNCTION CITY (AP) - A Junction City service station employee was shot to death early Wednesday in an apparent robbery, authorities said.

Police Capt. Charles Winters said the manager of the station arrived at the Amoco station in the south part of the city and discovered the body of his employee on the floor in the customer service area about 1:30 a.m.

The victim was identified as Lawrence W. Warner, 55, of Police said that indications suggested robbery was the motive.

Drums dug from landfill

McPHERSON (AP) — Environmental officials have begun re-covering as many as a dozen drums of suspected hazardous material that may be buried in the McPherson County Landfill.

A contractor hired by the state began uncovering a pit Tuesday where officials believe the 55-gallon drums were dumped. The material may have been dumped in the landfill during the past two years, said Greg Crawford, spokesman for the Kansas Department of Health and Environment. The search, being done by Reidel Environmental Services Inc., was prompted by an anonymous tip. Officials will not say what material they think is buried in the 43-acre landfill or how much of a danger it represents. Joe Engravalle, who operates the landfill, said he thinks the #### hazardous material. KU fires tenured professor material was contained in drums that were labeled as non-

LAWRENCE (AP) — An anthropology professor became the first tenured faculty member ever dismissed from the University of Kansas Wednesday when a committee voted to fire her.

The Faculty Senate's Committee on Tenure and Related Problems voted to dismiss Dorothy Willner, 62, for unethical behavior and failure to perform academic duties.

Willner, who began teaching at Kansas in 1966, said she will appeal the decision to the Kansas Board of Regents, which has ultimate authority over tenure matters.

"If the chancellor could try to break my tenure, this means that nobody's tenure is exempt from this," Willner said after

Faculty in the anthropology department had asked Chancellor Gene Budig to fire Willner for misconduct. Budig asked for formal dismissal proceedings against Willner in April 1988.

Underground fire stops traffic

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - A cable in an underground transformer vault caught fire Wednesday, blowing manhole covers up off the street and closing many downtown streets for several hours, authorities said.

No one was injured in the fire, which affected electric service to four customers of Kansas City Power & Light, said utility spokesman David Martin.

The fire caused several electrical failures that broke windows in buildings at the corner of 14th and Baltimore. Heavy black smoke poured out of manholes in the area due to burning insulation.

Police said several manhole covers blew up off of the street because of combustion beneath the streets. One officer who was standing near a cover when it flew through the air complained of headache and a ringing in the ears.

He was examined and released by police department doctors. The fire began shortly after noon. Most streets were reopened to traffic by midafternoon.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Announcements

- Human Ecology Council Elections are 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. today in the Hoffman Lounge.
- Kappa Delta Pi scholarship applications are due Friday.
- Pinnacle National Honor Society applications may be picked up in Holton 201 and are due Friday. Pinnacle is an honor society for nontraditional students.
- McCain Auditorium Gallery will present an exhibition by Rod Pocowatchit through Friday in honor of Native American Heritage Month.
- Applications for "Chalkboard" editor are available in Bluemont 13 through Sunday.
- University Activities Board Adviser of the Year nominations are due Monday in the SGS office.
- Application packets for Rhodes and Marshall scholarships are available in Eisenhower 113 until April 8.
- Alcoholics Anonymous meets at 12:05 p.m. every Monday through

Friday at 1021 Denison.

79 Thursday

Chapel. Everyone is welcome.

- Golden Key Sophomore Honor Students will meet at 4 p.m. in Union 212 for a reception, a program and refreshments. Dress is casual.
  - Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 203,
  - Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Danforth
- Campus Crusade for Christ will meet at 8 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.
- Sailing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208. Bring items for the gar-
- American Nuclear Society will meet at 8 p.m. in Ward Hall.
- Icthus Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union Little Theatre.
- United Nations Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 206.
- Phi Theta Kappa will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 205.
- American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet at 1:30 p.m. in Ackert 120 to discuss Open House. Attendance is required.
  - Pre-Law Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 212.
- Horticulture Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Waters 244. Secretary of State Bill Graves will speak.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, continued cloudy and cool with drizzle or light rain likely. High in upper 40s. Northeast winds 10 to 15 mph. Chances of rain, 60 percent. Tonight and Friday, periods of rain with isolated thunderstorms. Low tonight in lower 40s. High Friday around 50. Chances of rain, 80 percent.

RELAYS

27th Annual Memorial Stadium Friday, March 30

4 p.m.
ALL PROCEEDS GO TO SPECIAL OLYMPICS

		ir the Relay is revived!
136	Drop co	oins in the jo rite candido	r for your
П	hursday a	nd Friday IN	THE UNION!	K
	HOUS	ES PARTICIPA	ATING:	M
	AKAK	FH	ПКА	K
	ΑΔΠ	ГФВ	ΣAE	F
	ΑΤΩ	KAO	ΣΝ	1
	ΑΞΔ	ΚΔ	TKE	١,
	ΒΣΨ	ККГ	⊕E	l '
	ΔΔΔ	ПВФ	A	9

Hmigos Aggieville 50¢ draw With Purchase of Any Size NACHOS

Thurs.—Fri.—Sat.

A.S.K. at KSU (Associated Students of Kansas)

has the following positions open for any interested students

- 1. Assistant Campus Director
- 2. Membership Coordinator Contacting campus member. Knowledge of
- D. Base III Plus, Word Perfect 5.0 desired. 3. Special Projects Director Organize letter drives, displays, Lobby
- Day activities, advertising, etc. 4. A.S.K. Campus Policy Council
- Open to anyone interested in discussing student issues on campus and state levels.

Applications Available at S.G.S. Office ground floor of K-State Union Applications due Friday, April 6, 1990 5 p.m. Any questions contact Todd Heitschmidt, A.S.K. Campus Director.

Look No Further...

OTHER CONTRIBUTORS

2 bedroom, furnished, free and dischasher

$450-$475

1 bedroom, furnished, new carpet $310

2 bedroom, furnished dishwasher Pheasant Ridge

$395

$375 428-430 N. 6th

776-1111

P.J. Gibson

MARCH 2930,31* 8:00 P.M. * MATINEE MARCH 31 2:00 P.M. PURPLE MASQUE THEATRE-KANSAS STATE UMIN TICKETS AVAILABLE @ NICHOUS HAUTON OFFICE-MON/FE 1200-500 , 532-6398 EATTHE DOOR AT 7:30 THE NIGHT OF THE SHOW AN EBONY THEATRE COMPANY PROTUCTION

University receives donation

Tammy Breitenbach Collegian Reporter

A Kansas City business executive has donated a gift of $500,000 for the Essential Edge campaign.

Robert F. Hagans, a 1950 K-State business graduate from Overland Park, donated the money at the same time he volunteered to be national chairman for the $100 million campaign.

Hagans said no one had to persuade him to make the gift.

. "I think that since I am heading the campaign, I should show some leadership, not only in talking a lot, but in what I did," he said. "My family has been involved in Kansas State forever, so there is a long line of succession there, so to speak, and so it seemed like the thing to do. I've been fortunate in life, and so I can afford

The gift will create two endowed faculty chairs and two endowed scholarships in the College of Business Administration, establish a scholarship in the College of Arts and Sciences, and supplement an existing scholarship in the College of Agriculture, said Gordon Dowell, assistant director of KSU Foundation.

President Jon Wefald, who announced the gift, commended Hagans' generosity

"Bob Hagans has distinguished himself through tireless service to the University and our Essential Edge campaign," Wefald said. "This gift is a reflection of his commitment to a strong university and a successful Essential Edge Campaign."

"President Wefald, in the four years that he's been there, has brought K-State from a declining situation to a very positive situation," he said. "In order to be competitive in the Big Eight and even with the Big 10, we have to move forward.

"We have to do be able to do more for our faculty, we have to be able to give more scholarships to get more and better students. It's just absolutely essential for every phase of the University. I don't care whether it's trying to support the football team to be a winning team or to get more Rhodes scholars. You can't sit arbund; you have to move forward." Moving ahead doesn't just hapben, Hagans said.

"It's going to take a lot of dedicaion and hard work by all the volunteers involved. Of course, the Found-■ See GIFT, Page 11

Activist opposes relocation

Land dispute reflects past

By Cosima Hadidi Staff Reporter

The relocation of family farmers in rural America is a continuation of a U.S. government policy to disrupt the tie of people to their land and thus better enable the government to control them.

"Extermination and relocation has always been the policy of the United States government towards the Indian people," said Russell Means, American Indian Movement leader. "Today, I see the word relocation on a government pamphlet in reference to rural Kansas farmers."

Means compared the government's efforts to expand Fort Riley to the policies used to move Indians off their lands.

Means said he opposes the expansion of Fort Riley. The effort by the military to acquire an additional 80,000 acres of land for tank practice could be successfully fought if various interest groups organize.

"It's time for the cowboys and Indians to get together," he said of the fight against the expansion. "We have a common denominator ... we are people of the land."

Means, the keynote speaker of Native American Heritage Month, lectured to about 300 people Wednesday in Union Forum Hall.

Means said that anthropologists, sociologists and historians have contributed in a major way to the continued racism of the United States against American Indians.

"We have contributed much to present day society," he said of Native American contributions to mankind. "We have developed the concept of zero, and 60 percent of what the world eats today was produced and developed by us.'

Means said that a major institutionalized injustice in the United States is the celebration of Colum-

"We discovered Columbus and saved him from the mutiny of his American Indian Movement leader Russell Means spoke Wednesday afternoon in the K-State Union Forum Hall to about 300 people who attended his keynote lecture for Native American Heritage month.

crew, and he went on to be the largest slave-trader of his time," he said. "He was directly responsible for the death of more than three million people over the course of nine years. Celebrating Columbus Day is celebrating the height of racism.'

Means discussed several misconceptions about American Indian people, such as the notion of tribes.

"I am not the member of a tribe. I am the member of a nation," he said. "Nations make treaties, tribes do not."

Means said that many people believe that reservations were given to the American Indians by the government, but that this isn't true.

"Reservations are areas that we have reserved for ourselves and that are protected by Article VI of the United States Constitution."

American Indians have achieved economic independence and stability while living on reservations in the past, but constant change of policy and new laws and regulations issued by the government have systematically destroyed this independence and stability, Means said.

"The Navajo are self-sufficient people living in the desert and supporting themselves," he said. "But at this time, they are being forcibly relocated because they happen to be self-sufficient on coal which corporate America considers more important for the government to have."

Means said "Indian policy" was invented in the United States and exported to the world.

Look at the policy of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank in the Third World and you can see that they are turning countries into colonies and reservations," he said.

'Apartheid was not created in South Africa, it was born on an Indian reservation. The treatment of Palestinians in the West Bank and Gaza is like the treatment of Indians in reservations. In Hitler's writings, he says that he got his idea for concentration camps from the Indian policies in America."

The Indian nations gave to the United States a system of representative democracy that ensured indi-

"The people who founded this country knew that if you rule by majority, the minority will suffer," he said. "When you go up the system you have representatives which should be responsive and responsible to protecting your individual rights.

vidual rights, Means said.

The condition of the farmers is increasingly similar to that of the American Indian, Means said.

"There are over 5,000 more laws applying to Indians than to the average American citizen," he said. "There are 1,000 extra laws governing farmers more than the average American, so they are catching up. "We have to work together to en-

■ See MEANS, Page 11

SPEND AN UNFORGETTABLE SUMMER IN MAINE!

BE A CAMP COUNSELOR AT KIPPEWA FOR GIRLS. Located on scenic twelve mile lake in Winthrop, Maine. OPENINGS IN THE FOLLOWING SKILLS: swimming (WSI), sailing, canoeing, waterskiing, landsports, archery, tennis, gymnastics, fine arts & crafts (all areas), trips, dining room coordinator. PREFERENCE FOR Soph's, Jrs., Srs., Grads. Contact: The Silvermans, P.O. Box 307, Westwood, MA 02090-0307 (617) 762-8291

SPEND AN UNFORGETTABLE SUMMER IN MAINE!

Camp counseling positions available in: archery, riflery, baseball, swimming (WSI), waterskiing, sailing/windsurfing, canoeing, wilderness tripping, tennis, soccer, ropes course, arts & crafts. CAMP CARIBOU FOR BOYS in Waterville, Maine is a great place to work and a beautiful area to spend your summer. CONTACT: BILL AND MARTHA LERMAN, 110 CONCORD ROAD, BOX 129, WAYLAND, MA 01778 OR CALL (508) 358-5050

We are manhallan

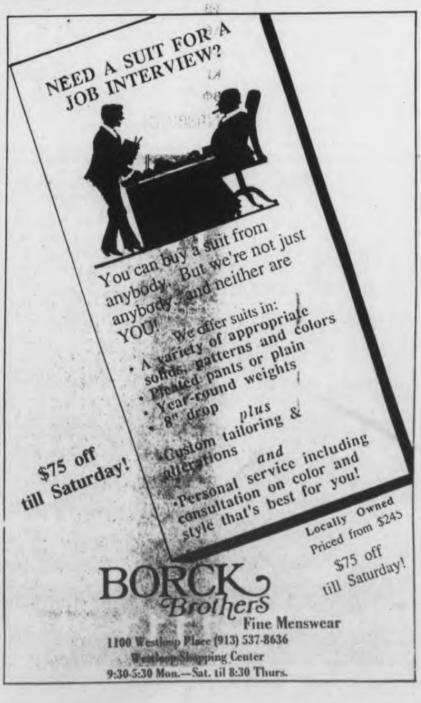

Brushpopper™ Solid Shirt 100% Cotton Twill Rangewashed: Water/ Wind Resistant Cowboy Cut®; Snap-front

EDITORIAL

History ignores 'Great American Tragedy'

"The utmost good faith shall always be observed toward the Indians, their lands and property shall never be taken from them without their consent; and in their property, rights, and liberty, they shall never be invaded or disturbed, unless in just and lawful wars authorized by Congress; but laws founded in justice and humanity shall from time to time be made, for preventing wrongs being done to them, and for preserving peace and friendship with them." the Northwest Ordinance, U.S. Congress, 1787.

ne of the first declarations of U.S. policy by Congress under the U.S. Constitution was manifested in the Northwest Ordinance. It was a promise made by our white ancestors to the original inhabitants of the land we now occupy. A promise made, I might add, as a matter of convenience.

By 1830, U.S. policy had metamorphosed into the Indian Removal Act, in which Indians were extracted from lands in the east and given a "permanent Indian frontier" west of the Mississippi River, to appease the evergrowing, land-hungry populace. Resistance to the law was met with military force. In the following decade, more than 100,000 Indians were forced westward. In one brutal uprooting and relocation, one in four Cherokee died in the "Trail of Tears" exodus out of the east.

For the next 100 years, Indians would be granted "permanent Indian frontiers" time and again, only to be forcibly moved to yet another "permanent" frontier.

Native Americans, as we call them today, realized long ago that "permanent frontier" was the Great White Father's euphemism for "reservation," a temporary holding cell for an undesirable cultural element, on land for which the whites had yet to find a use. A "frontier" that continues to this day to be encroached upon by the avarice of whites.

Christopher Columbus, who gave Native Americans the name indios, wrote to the King and Queen of Spain not long after his lengendary discovery: "So tractable, so peaceable, are these people that I swear to your Majesties there is not in the world a bet-

History has shown that our white forefathers perceived, as we still do today, the gentle nature of the Indian as only a sign of weakness. A "weakness" we readily exploited at the earliest opportunity.

In preparing to write this week's column on the American Indian, I made a small, yet significant, discovery.

I thought it might be interesting to investigate two highly touted sources of famous quotations — "The Macmillan Dictionary of Quotations," and the third edition of "The Oxford Dictionary of Quotations," - to see what great and wise American Indians of the past had once said. Not surprising in the least was the revelation that, through extended searching, I could only find one quote by a Native American — Chief Sitting Bull.

Seabourn

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

From Idi Amin to Frank Zappa, a combined total of over 90,000 entries from two references - and only one quote. Sad, very

Not very surprising though.

Throughout history, literature and the arts have largely ignored the contributions Native Americans have made and continue to make to society, much as our government continues to ignore the crushing poverty and economic hardships endured daily by the thousands of American Indians on hundreds of "reservations" across the United States.

"How many Native Americans live in the United States?" one might logically ask. "The World Almanac and Book of Facts" breaks down U.S. population figures into "white, black, hispanic," and "other." That, I think, says it all. Experts say the problem with the American Indian has been one of assimilation. And of course, assimilation takes a while. You can't expect a people as culturally rich and diverse as the Native American to simply melt into the great ethnic morass of American society. Why, heck, they have only been legally considered U.S. citizens since 1924. That's correct. June 15, 1924 - fifty-six years after blacks were made U.S. citizens.

The truly "Great American Tragedy," an over-used phrase so often heard these days, is the disgusting way in which the American Indian has been perpetually tricked, swindled, cheated, robbed and murdered outright for the collective benefit and personal gain of those who would claim to love democracy.

or your reading pleasure, I have provided the following quotes by some of the greatest Americans to have ever lived. Their truth and insight can only place them among the finest to have ever uttered an intelligent thought.

"The whites were always trying to make the Indians give up their life and live like white men. ... If the Indians had tried to make the whites live like them, the whites would have resisted, and it was the same way with many Indians." Big Eagle of the Santee

"This war did not spring up here in our land; this war was brought upon us by the children of the Great Father who came to take our land from us without price, and who, in our land, do a great many evil things. The Great Father and his children are to blame for this trouble. ... It has been our wish to live here in our country peaceable, and do such things as may be for the welfare and good of our people, but the Great Father has filled it with soldiers who think only of our death. Some of our people who have gone from here in order that they may have a change, and others who have gone north to hunt, have been attacked by the soldiers from this direction, and when they have got north have been attacked by soldiers from the other side, and now when they are willing to come back the soldiers stand between them to keep them from coming home. It seems to me there is a better way than this. When people come to trouble, it is better for both parties to come together without arms and talk it over and find some peacful way to settle it." Spotted Tail of the Brule Sioux.

"I don't want to run over the mountains anymore; I want to make a big treaty ... I will keep my word until the stones melt. ... God made the white man and God made the Apache, and the Apache has just as much right to the country as the white man. I want to make a treaty that will last, so that both can travel over the country and have no trouble." De-Ishay of the Tonto Apache.

And finally, that single quotation I mentioned earlier by the great Sioux Chieftain, Sitting Bull: "The white man knows how to make everything, but he does not know how to distribute it.'

Just as true today as it was then. If you think about it, that is probably the only thing the American Indian ever needed

EDITORIALS

Implementation of core curriculum necessary

In "Gargantua and Pantagruel," 16th Century French humanist François Rabelais wrote about the ideal man. His definition included a man who developed mind and body to their full potentials, who was sensitive to nature and beauty, who was knowledgeable in the arts as well as the sciences. The ideal of the "renaissance man" has been sought for centuries and embodied by men such as Thomas Jefferson and Leonardo Da Vinci.

Educating men to live up to this ideal was the original intention behind the universities of Renaissance Europe. Such a system is still evident today in many liberal arts colleges, such as St. John's College in Annapolis, Md.

At K-State, the proposed core curriculum is not nearly as intensive as might be found at a liberal arts college. But the proposed courses in communications, humanities, reasoning and natural sciences would give students in any major a more complete education.

The proposal is being modified by the individual colleges and will have to be approved by the faculty before it is adopted. Once the faculty approves the plan, the core requirements could be implemented living. as early as 1993.

many courses that fit the core curriculum requirements. Unfortu- fulfill that ideal.

nately, the students who take advantage of these courses usually do so because they fall within their major. Non-liberal arts students don't generally enroll in social and political thought or communication theory classes, for example.

But nothing exists in a vacuum. Students who manage to graduate without taking liberal arts classes have incomplete educations. Technology can only advance when the social climate creates a demand for progress. The social, economic and politcal milieu of the 1920s, '30s and '40s is what gave rise to the atomic bomb, Keynesian economics and suburban shopping malls. Students of nuclear physics, international trade and advertising can all find a meaningful link in the history and literature of this period and use it to find a greater understanding of their chosen areas of

The original intention of a university education was to allow individuals to gain knowledge by studying and discussing the nature and order of man in terms of art and science. The original intention of vocational training was to learn a skill so an individual could earn a

The University motto is "rule by The University already offers obeying nature's laws." A core curriculum would help the University

WHEN YOU'RE THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, THEN YOU CAN DECIDE WHAT YOU'LL EAT ... NOW, SIT UP AND EAT YOUR BROCCOLI!

Hindsight like a

've been thinking a lot about history lately. History and hindsight. By hindsight I mean that rearview mirror vision that lets us look back and say "Whoa! How could we have missed that red light that went off just before we sent troops into Vietnam? Didn't we miss a corner somewhere around South Africa?"

For example, to a lay reader of history, nothing seems more obvious than World War II. How could England have signed treaties with a man like Hitler? How could the Germans have been so blind? It must have seemed like the best choice, the logical move on the chess board, at the time. So what are we doing right now that will look like a major mistake in our collective rearview mirror? There are so many big things going on that it's hard to be quite sure. We, as a nation and as a world, are making decisions that will set the course of history, and I worry sometimes - are we walking on the edge of the abyss? Right now, everything looks like the obvious next step on the road we're traveling, but where are we going on

If you've ever traveled in the Allied countries in Europe, or in Eastern Europe, you must see why the reunification of Germany seems to many of those people like giving the Devil back his pitchfork. I personally haven't got an opinion, but sometimes I can't help but think of how many people wished they'd cut Germany off after World War I, but didn't think about it until it was too late. I know, I know, Germany has receded into a small power when compared to the United States or the Soviet Union.

I'm just trying to understand the viewpoint of a nation like Poland, which has insisted on being represented at all the reunification talks. After all the Polish people have suffered, who can blame them? And who can blame Europe, where the scars of World War II are still visible, for being doubtful? But much the same thoughts must have flown from the pens of editorialists everywhere when the United States set out to put Japan back on its feet.

Karin Dell'Antonia

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

So the great Communist menace has released its hold on East Germany. I still can't get used to all this. Elections everywhere, even if they consist of only one candidate, and the Soviet Army claiming to be just standing in line for a beer in Lithuania.

So that must be all right ... freedom and democracy as far as the eye can see - sort of. Seriously, of all the world events that are going on right now, the stuff in the Soviet Union seems the wildest and therefore the most subject to our mistrust. Could this be our blind spot? Are we proceeding cautiously into some sort of a trap, as McCarthyists everywhere mutter direly into their drinks and the nation starts using missile silos as flowerpots? I don't think so. In the tradition of fine mystery writers everywhere, I say that it's just too obvious. This butler has got to be innocent. There's not really much to base a national policy on, but we are undoubtedly proceeding with caution - except for a few rash economists who proclaim that the "battle between communism and capitalism is over and capitalism has won." Maybe, but I don't see anyone paying off any bets. If this is all a huge mistake, I still don't see anything we can do except hope for the best and keep our powder dry.

I wonder how long it will be before we can relax? The United States and the Soviet Union stand at an incredible impasse. Even if the doctrine difference no longer stands between us, years of mistrust and deceit do. So while we post guards at the front door to keep an eye on the not-so-evil empire, is history creeping up on us from behind?

I don't think we'll be wishing we'd built more bomb shelters in thirty years. I think we'll be wondering why we sent our forces, into Panama rather than China and sent arms to Contras rather than South Africans. And we'll be wondering why we let our government maintain a foriegn policy that many of us can't seem to understand, let alone

I read the papers and it all seems like a big soap opera - the ramifications of every act never end and by the time one story ends, we're halfway into another one with no time to catch our breath. It's no wonder we make

o where is the red light that we'll only see in the rearview mirror? Is it blinking in the ozone layer or looming over the head of a madman who's just been let out on parole? The challenge seems to be for our generation never to do anything we'll regret - an impossible task. The only answer seems to be to keep our eyes wide open and not sign treaties with anyone given to sudden evil laughs, or with meek looking men with tiny mustaches. We don't seem to know where we're going. Maybe the whole world needs a map. Or, to paraphrase Robert Fulghum, maybe the whole world needs a nap. And an awful lot of milk and

I don't have an answer ... lots of questions, but I drew a big zero on the answer. It just seemed to me that the whole thing bears thinking about, because somehow there's got to be a solution and a way of looking out, not just for our country, but for our world. The only problem with that is we'll never know we did it - because when we look in the rearview mirror, there won't be anything to see. Wouldn't that be nice?

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

	News Staff
	The state of the s
	Erwin S Paula Se Catherine D
MANAGING EDITOR	Catherine D.
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR	Craig Ham.
NEWS EDITOR	Eric He
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Brad Ca
PHOTO EDITOR	Brad Ca Chris H Filen Davton, Susan L'Ecc
SPORTS EDITOR	Ellen Dayton, Susan L'Ecu Robert Si
CAMPUS EDITORS	Robert S
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Robert S
FEATURES EDITOR	lim Re
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Jim Ro Chris Ko Nancy Down
COVERNMENT EDITOR	Name Down
OPY CHIEF	Wendy Nakoneczny, Jane Thompson, Angela W Lori Antrim, Paul Branson, Steve Fran
OPY EDITORS	Wendy Nakoneczny, Jane Induspon, Angela V
STAFF REPORTERS	Maliena Simi
TATT RES CRITES	Cosima Hadidi, Lori Mikesell, Tomari Quinn, Melissa Sing
CTENCE REPORTER	Cosima Hadidi, Lori Mikeseli, Ioman Quini, Melasa Shini Bryan Ac
TAPE PHOTOGRAPHERS	Margaret Clarkin, Oliver Kaubi Brian Kratzer Mark Leffingwell, David Mayes, Mike Venso, Steve Wol
	Com Dake David Suchoda Dan Wi
PORTS REPORTERS	Vid Carriery Karin Dell'Antonia, Audra D
COLUMNISTS	Kirk Caraway, Karin Dell'Antonia, Audra D Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Musaman, Brad Seab
	Mark Putler Red Ciller
PEVIEWERS	Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Musaman, Brad Seabo Mark Butler, Rod Gilles Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scrog Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hay Richard Broad
	D. L. Brance Dichard Broadfoot IIII Have
CARTOONISTS	Pichard Broad
POPTORIAL CARTOONIST	Julie Andsager, Ellen Dayton, Catherine Do Craig Hamrick, Eric Henry, Chris Ko
DIONAL CAROCARD	Craig Hamrick, Eric Henry, Chris Ko
DITORIAL BOARD	Susan L'Ecuyer, John Musaman, Jim Ro
	Erwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svol
	Erwin Seba, Robert Short, Lavid Syot student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publicat The Collegian is published Monday through Priday during the school year and h
The Veneza State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a	student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published the school year and h
nc., Kedzie Hall 100, Mannatan aummer sessions	The Collegian is published nothing and the Collegian is published at Manhattan, Kan. 6602.  Insas State Collegian, Circulation Deak, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Mar.
tay and Inureday during success to Ka	s. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66002. Insas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 10.3, Kansas State University, Man
POSTMASTER: Send address changes to sen	can can can a st the Collegian newaroom, Kedzie Hall 116.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) $32-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzia News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) $32-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzia Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising abouild be directed to (913) $32-6560. Classification of the concerning local, national and classified display advertising abouild be directed to (913) $32-6555. Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates ester (Fall or Spring) .... esters (Fall and Spring)

Nuclear detonators recovered

By The Associated Press

LONDON - Customs officials said they foiled an attempt on Wednesday to supply Iraq with 40 U.S.-made devices for triggering nuclear explosions, and that three people were charged.

U.S. and British investigators worked on the case for 18 months. The Customs and Excise Department in a statement named the three as Lebanese engineer Toufic Fouad Amyuni, 37; Ali Ashour Daghir, 49, a company director with dual Iraqi and British nationality; and export executive Jeanine Celestine Speckman, 41, a Frenchwoman married to a Briton. The statement said they were charged under the Export of Prohibited Goods Control Act and will appear before Uxbridge Magistrates Court in west London today. All three gave addresses in or near London, it added.

Iraqi diplomats in London refused to comment on the case.

An investigation initiated by U.S. customs climaxed in a freight shed at London's Heathrow Airport as an attempt was made Wednesday moming to put the devices - which may have been dummies - aboard an Iragi Airways flight to Baghdad, British customs officials said.

Authorities said five people were arrested in and around London, including Iraqi national Omar Latif, who was immediately served with a deportation order, and a Cypriot with a British passport who was released after questioning.

In Washington, the U.S. Customs Service said sealed indictments had already been returned at a San Diego District Court.

After the arrests, President Bush expressed concern over the spread of nuclear weapons in the Middle East and said in a written statement: "We again call upon nuclear suppliers to exercise special restraint in providing materials related to the development of nuclear, chemical and biological weapons and intermediaterange missiles in this volatile area."

While avoiding direct criticism of Iraq, Bush noted it was among the nations that signed the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

Customs officials in London, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the devices were capacitors, electrical components of the detonation chain of a nuclear bomb.

Teen abortion bill advances voice vote

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - The Senate gave tentative approval Wednesday to a heavily amended bill that would require doctors to notify parents if their teen-age daughters are about to undergo an abortion.

The measure was amended five times during the almost threehour debate, largely because some lawmakers said the bill had unconstitutional measures, such as an optional judicial bypass.

"I can't vote for a bill in this kind of mess," Sen. Dick Bond, R-Overland Park, said at the outset of the debate. Even after the amendments were passed, Bond said he believes the bill still has serious constitutional problems.

The Senate advanced the bill on a voice vote. A final vote is scheduled for Thursday.

Under the bill, the doctor of a girl under 18 who wants to have an abortion must notify a parent of that fact 72 hours before the procedure.

As endorsed by the Senate Federal and State Affairs Committee, the bill would have required parental notification for only those girls under 16.

The Senate also amended the bill to ensure that teen-age girls who do not want to notify their parents would be able to go through the courts to get that requirement waived. The bill had such a provision in it, but it would have been triggered only if the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that any notification bill that does not have a judicial bypass is unconstitutional.

The debate was punctuated with senators' expressing concern about whether the bill, as presented to the Senate, would be found valid by the Supreme Court. Much of the debate was a discussion of whether the measure should be sent to the Senate Judiciary Committee to be

"When I vote for something unconstitutional, I want it to be better than this," said Sen. Frank Gaines, D-Augusta.

Sen. Ed Reilly, R-Leavenworth, who explained the bill on the floor, said the bill is not an abortion measure. The issue is parental rights, he said.

"We are talking about the rights of parents to be involved in the decisions that affect the lives of their children," he said during a lengthy speech. He was critical of both anti-abortion and abortion rights groups of using the issue for their own purposes.

"It's a parental rights, a family rights bill," Reilly said. "Parents are being denied, if you will, the right to know, and they are

The measure went to the Senate after the House Transportation Committee, in a surprise move, amended the provisions of a parental notification bill into an unrelated piece of legislation, a move that drew bitter criticism from some lawmakers.

On the floor of the House, representatives watered it down so a doctor could notify any blood relative over 21 or a clergyman. The Senate committee then strengthened the bill, requiring notification of at least one parent for teenage girls under 16.

Last year, the Senate passed a bill, 32-8, a bill that would have required parents to give their permission for a teen-age girl under 18 to have an abortion.

Sen. Nancy Parrish, D-Topeka, asked about the teen-age girls whose eyes are blackened by angry parents because they come home late from dates.

"Are they to notify their parents, even though they know they will be beaten, beaten to a bloody pulp?" she asked. "If it's not an abortion bill, we should provide some safety valve."

Child hearsay bill dies

Senators concerned with conflict of interest

By Paula Selby Managing Editor

The Senate Judiciary Committee failed Wednesday to pass a bill that would make child hearsay testimony admissible in certain divorce cases involving allegations of sexual or physical child abuse.

The bill, which was passed by the House, 119-7, would extend to civil cases the child victim hearsay exception now applicable in criminal, child-in-need-of-care and juvenile offender proceedings.

"Concern was expressed by senators that the author of the bill is involved in a case that was heard, which can be conceived as a conflict in interest," said Sen. Lana Oleen, R-Manhattan and a committee member.

Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, who asked the House Judiciary Committee to introduce the bill, is representing a Manhattan woman in a Geary County civil divorce case where the father is alleged to have sexually abused his 4-year-old twin daughters.

Although no motions are pending in the civil case, the father is awaiting trial in a criminal case on charges of sexually abusing the twins.

Hochhauser said senators were concerned that one parent might fabricate a story saying the child had said the other parent had abused him or her. She said she wanted the bill to allow professional testimony in the divorce case, and is favorable to an amendment that would exclude testimony by the parents involved in the divorce.

"It's ironic that our laws make admissibility easier in criminal cases when there is so much more at stake there than in divorce cases," Hochhauser said. "In divorce cases, obviously no one is going to get thrown in

David Troup, a Junction City lawyer representing the father in the Geary County cases, submitted written testimony opposing the bill. He argued the bill would increase use of allegations as a weapon in divorce

"There's plenty of evidence that the potential for false accusations in the case of a custody case are much greater than in any other case," he said. "The kids learn and can no longer really distinguish from what they've been told or what they've learned through the interrogation process and what they observed or experienced."

"When a court in a divorce proceeding is dealing with issues of visitation and child custody, the court by law in Kansas must consider what is in the best interest of the child," Hochhauser said. "I do not believe the court can be considering the best interest of the child or fully considering it, without knowing what the child has been saying. I think it gives the court a fuller picture.'

 $_{c}$ Collegian Coupons— cThey make 'Cents!' ©

Collegian classifieds 532-6555

Read Collegian Ads! for special bargains

Fastside Westside Markets east Hwy. 24 or west K-18 by Holidomea-7daily.

Add your own touch with a MONOGRAM

> Get in shape for SPRING! Work out with our sweatshirts, t-shirts, boxer shorts and gym bags.

Greek lettering available

Manhattan Town Center

776-6767

OPTOMETRISTS

Drs. Price, Young, and Odle

We'd like to be your Optometric office.

 Extended wear, gas permeable, tinted extended wear, tinted soft contact lenses. ·Free consultation and trial contact lens fitting. ·Approx. 5,000 contact lenses in stock. ·Low contact lens replacement costs. 1119 Westloop Place, Manhattan, 537-1118 also at 2800 SW Wanamaker, Topeka

SPRING BACK INTO ACTION

With a special deal from Nautilus

Join now for our regular 12 month rate and get the 13th month FREE. Yes, not only are we the best club in town, but we know how to offer the best membership deal too.

Stop by or call us at ...

1100 Moro Aggieville

776-1654

WHAT KIND OF

Medium Combo

| Godfather's Pizza | Godfather's Pizza

Breadsticks and Dessert

Godfather's V Pizza

Godfather's

✓ Pizza

Medium or Large

Two Medium One Toppers

Wildcat Buffet $2.99

All-You-Can-Eat, Lunchtime, Monday-Friday

SPORTS

KU defeats Wildcat netters, 5-4

K-State women handle Hamers, but Jayhawks still pull out win

By Dan Wicker Sports Reporter

LAWRENCE - The main task tennis coach Steve Bietau set for K-State at a Big Eight season opener Wednesday against Kansas was to force Jayhawk all-American Eveline Hamers to work for what she got.

Well, K-State accomplished the task but failed to capture the victory, falling to the Jayhawks 5-4.

In doubles, Sara Hancock and Helen Schildknecht drew the assignment of Hamers and her doubles partner Page Goins, and it looked as if the Kansas duo was not going to have much trouble.

The Jayhawk duo jumped out to a 4-1 lead in the first set, but K-State hung tough and battled back to force a tiebreaker. With the comeback momentum on their side Hancock and Schildknecht won the first set

It seemed as though the momentum was lost in the second set, however, as K-State lost 2-6. Yet the pair again battled back to capture the third set 7-5, to give them the match.

"It showed we are able to come back. It shows that we are capable of being a very good team and beating anyone," Schildknecht said. "They are a great doubles team, and it was a great win for us.

Bietau was overly pleased with how the team was able to contain Hamers and agreed with Schildknecht on the greatness of the dou-

"Obviously when you get the point against her you had (contained Ham-

RESULTS

No. 1 Eveline Harners KU def. Marijke Nel KSU 6-4, 6-2; No. 2 Helen Schildknecht KSU def. Stacy Stotts KU 6-4, 6-4; No. 3 Sara Han-cock KSU def. Rene Raychaudhuri KU 3-6, 6-3, 6-1; No.4 Page Goins KU def. Valarie Rive KSU 6-3, 4-6, 6-3; No. 5 Mindy Pelz KU def. Thresa

Burcham KSU 6-3, 6-0; No. 6 Laura Hagemann KU def. Suzanne Sim KSU 6-2, 6-4. Doubles

No. 1 Schildknecht/Hancock def. Hamers/

Goins 7-6, 2-6, 7-5; No. 2 Nel/Rive def. Stotts/

Hagemann 6-7, 6-3, 6-2; No. 3 Pelz/ Raychaudhuri def. Sim/Burcham 6-2, 6-3.

ers)," Bietau said. Even if we would have won the match 5-4 there were some instances where we didn't play

"The doubles win, that was a great win for Helen and Sara," Bietau said. "I'm very pleased with the way they played down the stretch. They got down 4-1 in the first set and didn't get off to a good start, and it looked like they were in some trouble and came back."

The other three wins the Cats captured were by Hancock at No. 3 singles, Schildknecht at No. 2 singles and the doubles team of Marijke Nel and Valarie Rive. Bietau saw a pretty scrappy K-State team in all the wins and a Kansas team that was much improved since their meeting in the fall which K-State won 6-3.

"I'm pleased with the way we fought. I think we played extremely hard and made a great effort," Bietau said. "I think KU has really improved themselves. They are a much better team than we saw last fall."

The loss dropped K-State to 9-7 overall and put them one point behind Kansas in the Big Eight standings at 5-4, but Bietau said the loss is something he sees the team recovering from and moving on through the

"I think our players will get over the disappointment of the loss," Bietau said. "It is very important that they recognize what they did well and what they didn't do well and work that much harder to improve."

K-State came out of the three doubles matches with a 2-1 advantage. It appeared the momentum was on the Wildcats' side with two comeback victories at No. 1 and 2 doubles, but Bietau refused to shed a smile until the victory was under their belt.

"I expected all along that this would be a very long tough match.

K-State's Marijke Nel lunges for a shot in her and Valerie Rive's (background) doubles match against Kansas' Stacy Stotts and Laura Hagemann. The K-State duo won the match, but KU won the team title.

down because at any given time you may look like you're out of the match. You may look like you're in control of the match," Bietau said. The fact is now it is six hours after we started, and we didn't know who was going to win. As a rule I don't get You learn not to get too up or too comfortable until it is over.

The opening match was a tough one for the Cats to swallow and made the players upset after fighting back with so many comebacks. That fact was reflected directly after Goins defeated Rive, when Schildknecht said,

"I'm so mad right now."

match, and one that, at the moment, is so tough to swallow losing," Bietau said. "We try to place importance on every match, but because it's KU, because it's a Big Eight match, you can't hide the fact that this is one that everybody likes to have a little bit Scott Paske

Chalk Talk

Talent abounds in Jucos

While the big dance for the NCAA basketball championship concludes Monday in Denver, Colo., one of the sport's smaller parties ended Saturday in Hutchinson.

Connors (Okla.) State College completed a 36-2 season by winning the 43rd Annual National Junior College Basketball Tournament at the Sports Arena. The Cowboys' 103-87 whipping of the College of Southern Idaho climaxed a 26-game event that showcased some of the nation's finest two-year college talent.

A few weeks ago, I wrote about several players who made their marks this season in Kansas jucos. During the 1980s, Sunflower State schools produced a long list of Division I standouts, with a few going on to fame in the National Basketball Association.

Recent Jayhawk Conference stars who have contributed at NCAA schools include Colorado's Shaun Vandiver, who played at Hutchinson; Oklahoma's Big Eight newcomer of the year, Jackie Jones, from Barton County; and Marion Cash, a point guard from Pratt who led Clemson to an Atlantic Coast Conference title this season.

The national tournament brings talent from other areas of the country to the Midwest, as well as major college coaches looking to add to their programs. Texas and Florida have long been recognized as juco hotbeds, while Missouri and Oklahoma have consistently produced All-America performers, including former K-State star Mitch Richmond of Moberly (Mo.) Junior College.

Last year's most valuable player - Northeastern Oklahoma A&M guard Terry Brown took his three-point shooting expertise to Kansas.

As in past years, the talent pool was filled with potential major college prospects. No team had more than the eventual champions.

Connors defeated Kansas champion Butler County, 93-92, March 16, in a qualifying-round game to get to Hutchinson. Once there, the Cowboys were invincible, winning four games by an average margin of 18.8 points. Along the way, Connors dismantled the top three teams in the National Junior College Athletic Association's final poll.

The Cowboys were led by 7-foot-1 center Elmore Spencer Spencer, a sophomore who trans ferred after personal problems a freshman at the University of Georgia, dominated play at the offensive and defensive ends in capturing the tourney's MVP award. The Atlanta native used his 270-pound frame to ward off de fenders and power in easy baskets. With several capable scorers to complement Spencer, he displayed uncanny passing ability. Spencer tied for sixth among tournament assist leaders.

Spencer said he has narrowed his college choices to UNLV, Louisville and South Carolina. He said a few Big Eight schools had contacted him, but none had shown great interest.

The Cowboys had two Division I guard/forward prospects in Sebastian Neal and Reggie Tinch. Like Elmore, both are Georgia! natives. In the championship game, Neal led Connors with 32 points on 15-of-19 shooting from the field. Tinch, who scored 16 points in the finale, was among the leading rebounders despite standing just 6-foot-5. College of Southern Idaho guard Anthony Williams was the Eagles' lone selection on the alltournament team. The 6-foot guard, who has orally committed to K-State, averaged 14 points in leading CSI to the title game. Should Williams land in Manhattan as expected, the three-point shooting gap left by senior Steve Henson could be closed.

A juco tournament without ■ See PASKE, Page 12

Hands

End Smith puts up big numbers

By David Svoboda Sports Reporter

During the course of the 1989 K-State football season, Wildcat fans saw the creation of a 5-foot-10, 155-pound monster. Don't let the size fool you. Wide receiver Michael Smith put the kind of statistics on the board during his sophomore season that struck fear in the hearts of Wildcat gridiron opponents.

Smith broke the school record for most catches in a single season, with 70, and set a new K-State standard for catches in a game with 13 against Missouri.

In addition, he was named all-Big Eight and honorable mention all-America. And the monster, Smith said, is far from finished terrorizing foes. "I feel a lot more confident in the fact that I've proven myself," Smith said Tuesday, prior to the first spring workout of the year by the Wildcats.

And as for 1990?

"I'll probably set the same standards I did last year," he said. "I want to lead the conference in receiving and hopefully lead the nation in receiving."
When you're 5-10, your goals might as well be lofty.

Smith never used his lack of physical stature as a crutch in 1989. His 816-yard receiving total was the second best yardage mark ever posted by a Big Eight sophomore.

In addition, he needs just 250 yards to crack the Big Eight's alltime Top 50 list. He's eighth on the K-State all-time list with 78 catches.

Smith rewrote the record books on the end of passes thrown by several different quarterbacks. Three - Carl Straw, Paul Watson and Chris Cobb — took prolonged turns under center.

To Smith, who was throwing the ball wasn't all that important.

Brian W. Kratzer/Staff K-State wide receiver Michael Smith fielded punts Tuesday afternoon during the Wildcat football team's first spring practice.

"To tell the truth, it really doesn't matter who the quarterback was," he said. "They're all good players. I really didn't notice the quarterback changes because there were so many.

Big Eight statistical lists other than pass catching also included Smith in 1989. He was ninth in the conference in all-purpose running and was the league's fifth-best punt returner with an average of 9.4 yards per return.

■ See SMITH, Page 12

Vandy wins NIT

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK - Vanderbilt won its first postseason tournament ever as Derrick Wilcox scored all of his 16 points in the second half of a 74-72 victory Wednesday night over St. Louis in the final of the NIT.

The Commodores (21-14), making their first appearance in a national tournament final, built a 17-point lead midway through the second half before the Billikens (21-12) rallied. St. Louis, making its second consecutive appearance in the tournament it won in 1948, got within two points on four occasions in the final minutes, including 71-69 on a threepoint goal by Anthony Bonner with 33 seconds left. Freshman Kevin Anglin hit two free throws with 15 seconds left for a four-point lead, and a backcourt violation by St. Louis sealed the outcome. After a free throw by Wilcox, Jeff Gaona's buzzer-beating threepointer for St. Louis made the final margin two points.

Bonner, who averaged 20.4 points and 15 rebounds in the tournament, finished with 19 points and 11 rebounds, and Charles Newberry scored 18 points.

Tournament MVP Scott Draud scored 15 points and Morgan Wheat 13 for the Commodores.

Wilcox, Anglin and Eric Reid who didn't have a field goal among them in the first half - scored all of Vanderbilt's points in a 10-2 spurt that started the second half, giving the Commodores a 41-30 lead.

Vanderbilt went on to extend the margin to 56-39 with 10:35 left after a three-pointer by Wilcox and a basket by Reid.

Jeff Luechtefeld, who had 19 points in the semifinal against New Mexico but was scoreless to that point in the final, then hit consecutive three-pointers for the Billikens, sparking a 23-8 surge that cut the deficit to 64-62 with 3:28 left.

SPORTS BRIEFLY

Hierholzer pitcher of week

K-State senior David Hierholzer has been named the Big Eight Conference's first pitcher of the week for his efforts against Southern Mississippi.

Hierholzer blanked Southern Miss, 3-0, on three hits. He struck out nine and walked four batters.

Hierholzer, an all-Big Eight performer last season, is now 3-1 on the year and has a streak of 31 innings pitched without allowing an earned run. His only loss came at Arkansas, 2-1, when he allowed just four hits.

Henson in all-star tilt tonight

K-State's leading scorer this season, Steve Henson, has been selected to play in tonight's National Association of Basketball Coaches all-star game at the Denver (Colo.) Coliseum.

Henson will be playing for the West squad, which will be coached by Michigan's Steve Fisher. The game will be televised live by ESPN and gets underway at 10 p.m. A slam dunk contest preceeds the event at 9 p.m.

Also representing the Big Eight will be Kansas guard Kevin Pritchard.

Royals beat Rangers, 2-1

PORT CHARLOTTE, Fla. - Rey Palacios singled home Gary Thurman with two outs in the top of the 12th inning on Wednesday to give the Kansas City Royals a 2-1 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Bo Jackson of the Royals was ejected by Class AAA umpire Bill McCallum in a dispute over a strike call in the top of the Terry Leach was the winner and Gary Mielke was the loser.

Abortion bill debated

Legislation not receiving Senate support

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — Women of the Senate may not have reached consensus on the abortion issue, but several of them are not supporting a bill restricting late-term abortions as recommended by a subcommittee.

The Senate Federal and State Affairs subcommittee endorsed the bill late Tuesday. It is expected to be considered Thursday by the full

To a large degree, Sen. Norma Daniels, D-Valley Center, is the impetus behind a toughening of the bill, which originally was a combination of proposals from Gov. Mike Hayden and Sen. Wint Winter, R-Lawrence.

However, Daniels' convictions are not shared by at least four other women senators, who were asked

"Certainly, many of the women in the Senate would prefer less area of abortion than more, but that is probably not Sen. Daniel's view," said Sen. Nancy Parrish, D-

Sen. Audrey Langworthy, R-Prairie Village, said: "It (the bill) absolutely does not reflect my views. (Sen. Daniels) doesn't trust

In its present state, the bill would prohibit abortions after a doctor determines a fetus is viable, unless a continued pregnancy would pose a serious risk to the mother's life, or if the fetus is severely deformed or has an infectious disease such as AIDS. Post-viability abortions also would be allowed if the woman was raped or a victim of incest.

Violators would be subject to conviction of a Class D felony, with a maximum 10-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine.

Previously, the bill would have allowed the abortion to preserve the woman's health, but the subgovernmental intervention in the committee changed that at Daniels' urging to refer to the wo-man's life. She said "health" could be interpreted so broadly that it could include the sniffles. She also said there were ways to manage high-risk pregnancies.

The change from "health" to "life" angered some abortion rights groups, who accused Daniels of being "anti-female." Abortion rights groups also were angered to find out that violators could include the woman if she induced her own abortion. They previously understood the bill would refer only to doctors when it addressed

Daniels was unwilling to exclude women who self-induced abortions from penalties, saying it would encourage self-abortion

Parrish said women senators have not gotten together to talk about abortion, but she objects to the "life" provision.

Wefald stresses importance of library funding to faculty other 11, Wefald said. For example, the academic equipment base budget has been increased by over $500,000 over the past three years. Funding for academic and student services computing from the Margin of Excellence, internal reallocation and enrollment adjustments has increased the computer memory from 28 to 96 megabytes. Speed of the computer systems has increased and services to students have been vastly expanded since 1987. Sponsored funds have increased by $9.5 million for research since 1987 and graduate and research programs have expanded and been

All these accomplishments made reorganized.

By Angle Huff Collegian Reporter

"The library is our number one priority. It's number two, it's number three, it's number four and it's number five," President Jon Wefald said during an all-University faculty

Although the meeting was open to all faculty members, only 30 attended.

The base budget of the library has been increased by $1.1 million dollars through reallocation and other fundraising strategies, Wefald said in his update of strategic plans for the University.

The initial strategic plan was deve-loped in January 1986, he said. Library funding was one of the 16 goals identified in the original plan. These 16 goals, if met, are expected to improve the quality and reputation of the University.

Increasing the academic equipment budget, increasing funding for academic and student services computing and increasing research quality and quantity and increasing library funding were the four main go-since 1987 were necessary in order als of strategic planning in 1987. for further strategic planning to be Substantial progress was made in warranted, Wefald said. these four areas, as well as in the Future planning for the University has included pre-proposals submitted by academic departments and administrative units to the strategic planning committee, Provost James Coffman said.

These pre-proposals were classified according to the area of interest and five planning themes were developed, Coffman said.

Enhancing graduate and research programs, providing a common intellectual base for undergraduates, enhancing economic development and protecting the environment, responding to the needs and circumstances of diverse groups and in-See PLAN, Page 11

Coffee and a Collegian... A Good Habit.

*********FREE FRIES

Buy One 12" Sub (1 through 17) & Large Drink at Regular Price & receive One Order of Fries Free

537-2426

211 S. Seth Childs 537-2411

Present coupon when ordering. NOT VALID WITH ANY OTHER SPECIALS

WE DELIVER

.00 Domestics

Kitchen open daily 11:30 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.

and receive 5 FREE TANS offer good with Carole, Julie, Gail or Carol

LARGE PIZZA ONLY

with One Topping

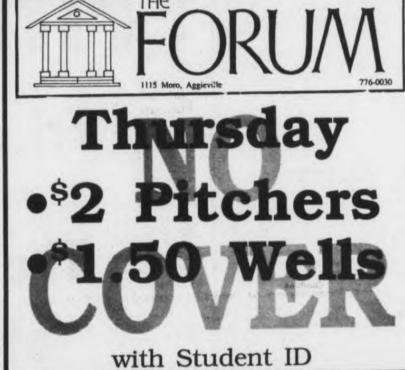

Dine In or Carry Out "BEST DAMN PIZZA"

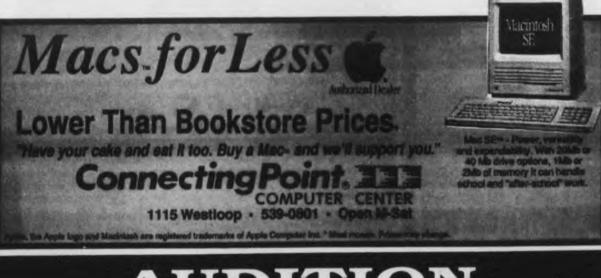

"premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price"

523 South 17th

AUDITION

for 1990-1991

K-STATE SINGERS

April 2-5 Soprano, Alto, Tenor, Bass Voices Piano and Drums

Info: McCain 229

NOW RENTING

Brittnay Ridge Estates

Exciting NEW Townhouse Development For STUDENTS Only

- Your own bedroom
- All appliances (including clothes washer, dryer and microwave)
- •Eliminate parking problems.
- Gazebo with hot tub. Recreation area
- Pre-wired for computer, phone and cable TV.

PHONE TODAY-SPACE LIMITED 1-800-962-9636

systems

Lawn-care products unhealthy

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The $1.5 billion Americans spend each year on picture-perfect lawns may be damaging their health, congressional investigators said Wednesday.

The General Accounting Office, an agency of Congress, also said the Environmental Protection Agency isn't doing enough to regulate commercial lawn-care services.

Furthermore, the EPA is allowing lawn-care companies to use advertising it knows to be false, GAO investigator Peter Guerrero told a Senate Environment subcommittee.

The panel heard from several witnesses about the effects of commonly used lawn-care pesticides:

■ Thomas Prior of Maplewood, N.J., said his brother died after being exposed to a chemical applied to a golf course he had played.

■ Sharon Malhotra, a nurse from Murrysville, Pa., said the chemicals used outside her town house have made her so sick she has had to leave home during spraying.

An 11-year-old boy from Arlington Heights, Ill., said he "can't even play in my own yard because my neighbors spray their lawns and

Kevin Ryan said that past exposure to the chemicals has brought on numbness, chest pressure, aching joints, respiratory discomfort, nausea, stomach pain, memory loss, irritability, depression and fatigue.

The committee chairman, Sen. Harry Reid, D-Nev., said the EPA 'does not appear to have given a very high priority to testing lawn-care chemicals."

He said more than 7 million Americans use lawn-care services, which he said gross more than $1.5 billion annually.

Testimony presented to the committee by the lawn-care industry said that proper precautions are being taken by applicators and that the chemicals are safe.

Roger Yeary, of Chemlawn Services Corp., said lawn-care services present no special or unusual hazard.

Even though more pesticides are used on agricultural land, treated residential lawns show concentrations of up to 10 times the toxic chemicals used on farms, Reid said.

The GAO report was a follow-up of one it did four years ago.

JAMMIN',__

BY JIM ROURK ■ The Texaco Met-

is Puccini's "La

Boheme" featuring Ralf

■ The Ebony

Theatre Production and

K-State Players presentation of "Long Time Since Yesterday" opens

at 8 p.m. today in the Purple

Tickets are $1 and $2 at the

The productions continues Fri-

A Faculty Artist recital will

Presented by three members of be presented at 8 p.m. today in the All Faiths Chapel Auditorium.

the music faculty, the program will consist entirely of works for voice and clarinet, some accompanied by piano and several for

■ Monday starts the "Panorama of American Music." This week-long celebration is presented by the K-State Department voice and clarinet alone.

Masque Theatre.

day and Saturday.

Weikert conducting.

Programs continue through ropolitan Opera Broad-April 7. ■ The Concert Jazz Ensemble cast may be heard this will present a concert at 8 p.m. Saturday at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday in the All Faiths Chapel on KANU-FM and KHCD-FM. The opera Auditorium.

■ Baritone Steve Rushing will present a concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the All Faiths Chapel Auditorium.

■ Touchstone, a K-State literary magazine, is now accepting submissions for its annual undergraduate poetry and short fiction awards.

Students may submit poems or short stories to Touchstone magazine, in care of the English Department, Denison Hall.

Deadline for submission is Friday. Photocopies can be submitted, and no manuscripts will be returned. Winners in each category will receive a $50 prize.

■ The Kansas City Symphony will perform at 8 p.m. Friday in McCain Auditorium.

The orchestra is under the direction of William McGlaughlin.

Tickets are available at the McCain Box Office from noon to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Friday the box office will remain open until the performance.

Nixon's book describes inner peace

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Richard Nixon says that a most unfortunate disclosure during Watergate was that he used foul language in the Oval Office. Other presidents also swore, he says, "but none of them had the bad judgment to have it on tape."

Most people swear at one time or another, he says, "but since neither I nor most other presidents had ever used profanity in public, millions were shocked. I have heard other presidents use very earthy language in the Oval Office."

Bridal Registry

Nixon says this in "In the Arena," a book summing up his life. The seventh book he has published since resigning the presidency in 1974 is the most personal statement of how he has come to feel at peace with himself. "Only when you have been in the depths can you truly appreciate the heights," he says.

"In the end what matters is that you have always lived life to the hilt," he writes. "I have won some feel fortunate to have come to that time in life when I can finally enjoy what my Quaker grandmother would

Later, the blanks were filled in and

新 数 数 数 图 B

LEAONEECON 1124 Moro Show Aggieville

Kansas State

Oklahoma

Friday, March 30 7:00p.m. Saturday, March 31 5:00p.m. Sunday, April 1 12:30p.m.

Frank Myers Baseball Field (next to Bramlage Coliseum)

Tickets available at the gate. For more ticket information

532-6920

YOUR OLD BRA IS WORTH

When you trade it in for a new bra at Undercover.

We have your size!

32A 32B 32C 32D 32DD 34A 34B 34C 34D 34DD 36A 36B 36C 36D 36DD 38A 38B 38C 38D 38DD

All Brands

Vanity Fair, Maidenform, Olga Sport Bra, Warners and Jezebel. Patricia's

UDERCOVER

Lingerie 1224 Moro Manhattan Aggieville

great victories and suffered some devastating defeats. But win or lose, I have called 'peace at the center."

At the height of the Watergate scandal, in April 1974, Nixon released a 1,300-page volume of transcripts of secretly taped conversation. They were heavily edited to put private comments in the most favorable light and are especially remembered for hundreds of designations, "expletive deleted."

Nixon's heavy use of barnyard language was laid bare.

The 369-page book is to be published by Simon & Schuster on May 2. Excerpts appearing in the current issue of Time magazine focus on his attempts to debunk "myths" about his role in Watergate. He characterizes as "the most blatantly false myth" the assertion that he knew in advance about the 1972 break-in at Democratic headquarters in the

You're Invited To Help Us Celebrate Our

Fifth Anniversary!

Fri., Sat., Sun., March 30-31, April 1

PRESENTING

The Comedy Magic of Mr. Rex Getz In Our Store All Three Days!

Meet and be mystified by professional magician Rex Getz. He will combine humor, mystery and sleight-of-hand to entertain you. All of his magic will be performed right at your table just a few feet from you as you enjoy the most creamy, delicious taste-like-ice cream frozen yogurt you've ever eaten!

The Magic Words Are I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!"

FREE Frozen Yogurt!

Free cup of delicious ICBIY soft frozen yogurt to the first 100 persons in our store on Friday, Saturday and Sunday!

FREE Plastic Souvenir Cup!

Purchase frozen yogurt in an anniversary cup and keep the cup

FREE Yogurt When The Alarm Goes Off!

Our alarm clock will be set to ring at various surprise intervals during each of the three days. If you are at the cash register when the alarm rings, your purchase will be FREE!

Nine Flavors Served Daily Seating for 42 People Cones-Shakes-Parfaits-Sundaes

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Boyd, Owners Larry Boyd, Manager

We Thank You!!

Five years ago, we pioneered frozen yogurt in Manhattan and your enthusiastic response surpassed our greatest expectations! We have sold our premium frozen yogurt to over one million satisfied customers since our St. Patrick's Day opening in March, 1985!

Our store has ranked among the top franchises in sales nationwide each of the five years.

Join us during our Anniversary Celebration so we can thank you personally for your business!!

Can't Believe It's

Professional Magician Rex Getz

Drawing for $300 Worth of Our Frozen Yogurt!

We will hold a drawing for $100 worth of ICBIY Frozen Yogurt each evening at 8 p.m. Register every time you're in the store. Do not have to be present to win.

FREE Balloons For Everyone!!!

Have You Tried Our Delicious Non-Fat or Sugar Free Flavors?

Come in for a FREE Sample!

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville 11th and Moro in Manhattan PHONE 537-1616

OPEN: 11 A.M.-11 P.M. Daily Noon-11 P.M. Sundays

Geography stressed

Pre-Convocation panel presents statistics

By Anne Krause Collegian Reporter

Recent international political developments have placed new emphasis on the geographic illiteracy of U.S. students, panelists at Wednesday's Pre-Convocation forum said.

Ben Smith, professor of social science education, recently conducted a survey of juniors and seniors in the College of Education to determine their level of knowledge about geography.

"Of the students I surveyed, 84 percent didn't know where Nigeria or Yugoslavia were, and 50 percent didn't know where Beijing was located," Smith said. "Nine percent didn't even know where Mexico was."

Stephen White, professor in geography, said a recent study showed that about 92 percent of students at K-State have had no formal geographic instruction since the eighth grade.

"It's like an English teacher trying to teach students good writing when they have a limited vocabulary," he said. "How can you learn geography when you have a limited geography vocabulary?"

White said one reason less emphasis has been placed on geography is a misconception of what geography is.

"Recent media attention has left the public with the idea that geography is only knowing where places are located," she said. "It's more than that. It's the interaction of cultural, economic and political factors.'

The panelists agreed that increasing the amount of geography in schools didn't mean making it a separate class or taking time away from other subjects.

"You can use it as a complement to other disciplines," White said. "I don't know how you can discuss economics without knowing where natural resources or the best sea ports are located."

H.L. "Sy" Seyler, professor in geography, said the subject should be stressed on the elementary and secondary levels.

"All we can do at this level is damage control. We're asked to carry on remedial work," Seyler said. "Something needs to be done at a younger level, and we should work with folks getting ready to teach those children.'

Supplying teaching materials and innovative methods of teaching geography is one of the purposes of the Kansas Geography Alliance.

"Students are often taught by a teacher without a good geographical background," said Paul Phillips, director of the alliance. "We're trying to make up for some of that.'

The alliance wants to increase public awareness of geographic illiteracy through activities such as Geography Awareness Week and a Geography Bee for elementary students, Phillips said.

Smith said another problem is the lack of repetition in textbooks. "We throw a lot of names against the wall of the brains of children," Smith said. "They won't remember it if we don't repeat it." The purpose of the forum was to address the issue that Gilbert Grosvenor, president and chairman of the board of the National Geographic Society, will discuss at the Convocation Lecture 10:30 a.m. Friday in McCain Auditorium. The title of the lecture is "What Americans Don't Know About Geography and Why it is Hurting Them."

Study finds average weight may cause risks for women

By The Associated Press

BOSTON - An eight-year study of the dangers of fat concludes that being overweight causes about 40 percent of all heart disease in U.S. women, and putting on just 20 extra pounds during adulthood will double the risk.

While the report is not the first to suggest that being chubby is bad for the heart, it suggests that the hazard may be more serious than previously thought, especially for women.

The study in Thursday's New England Journal of Medicine found that the thinnest women generally have the healthiest hearts. Even being average size seems to increase the risk of heart disease.

"Obesity is a major cause of heart attacks in U.S. women," said Dr. JoAnn E. Manson. "The risks of obesity have been underestimated and underappreciated."

Manson's findings were part of the Nurses' Health Study, an eight-year review of 115,886 healthy U.S. women who ranged from ages 30 to 55.

The researchers, based at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston, divided the women into five weight categories and counted the number who had heart attacks or developed chest pain.

Among the results:

As far as the heart is concerned, the thinner the better. The leanest one-fifth of the women weighed 5 percent or more below the 1983 Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. actuarial tables of desirable weights for height and age. A 5-foot-4 woman in this category weighed less than 125 pounds. These slim women suffered the fewest heart attacks.

Those considered in the tables to be average weight - about 130 pounds for a 5-foot-4 woman - had 30 percent more heart disease than did the thinnest women.

■ Women 15 percent to 29 percent above their desirable weights had 80 percent more heart disease,

Female MUD Wrestlers

Blue River Pub

TONIGHT

9-11 p.m.

$5 cover charge

while the heaviest women - those 30 percent or more over their ideal weights - had more than three times the lean women's risk.

Women who gained more than 20 pounds since age 18 doubled their risk of heart attacks.

FRIDAY FREE MUNCHIES

5-7 p.m.

Read the Collegian ads

Try Our Non-Fat Frozen Yogurt!

It still tastes like ice cream but without the fat or cholesteroll

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville Phone 537-1616

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

THUNAM EXPRESS

1116 MORO 537-0886

This coupon good for

Sweet & Sour Pork

Not valid with any other special

Expires 4-4-90

Not good on deliveries

How does business do it?

Model 25 Package:

Mono, 2 drive system with DOS 3.3, mouse, and a starter k $35/mo

Model 30-286 Package: Color 286 system with a 20Mb hard drive 1Mb RAM, mouse and starter kit at

$75/mo

PS/2it

Connecting Point. COMPUTER CENTER

1115 Westloop • 539-0801 • Open M-Sat IBM, the IBM logo and PS/2 are registered trademarks of IBM Corp. Prices may change. F/T stude

1. 537-7533

ACROSS

- 2. Alphabet sororities and fraternities use 3. Restaurant that serves fantastic Greek,
- Mediterranean and American food 4. Sea connected to the Atlantic Ocean and
- south of Italy

Must be 18 to enter, 21

DOWN

- 1. Fermented beverage brewed from malt and served in bottles
- 2. Sandwich of pita bread filled with meat
- 3. Popular street in Aggieville
- 4. Rich baked pastes for crusts of foods such as pies and turnovers
- 5. Food center for residence halls which
- doesn't serve Sunday dinner Answers posted in the restaurant.

3:30 p.m., Little Theatre

Marcello Mastroianni, in an acclaimed performance, plays an idealistic architect who marries a banker's daughter and becomes absorbed in wealth and the high life while losing touch with his ideals. Based on short stories by Anton Chekhov. Not rated. In Italian and Russian with English subtitles. $1.75 and

DOUGLAS TURNER DEVITO

1101 Moro Open 11 a.m.-10 p.m.

Palm Tree Restaurant

989

We've knocked 20% off a passel of special readin' for wewboys' in those that wished they were, March 27-April at the K-Suis Union Read-

APER SPECIAL ket 8.5"x 11" regular automatic feed copies on white, etilow, buff, pink, green and blue zerox paper fer $.05. lopies on 8.5"x 11" offies bond on sale for $.08, March 27-

BULK CANDY SPECIAL furch 27-April 1 at the K-State Union In

STATEROOM SPECIAL JAI LENOVIM STATELLINE ASSESSED IN A MAINTENANCE AND THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPE

Injoy Biscuits-n-Gravy for $1.25 at the K-State Union Intercom, March 27-April 1.

RONZE RODEO AWARD DESIGNS BY BOB CLORE

Wk-state union

RODEO

ROPE TRICKS BY HARRY "SPUD" WHITNE

lay, March 30 at 1 p.m. In the K-State Union Courtyard. it prize, $25; second prize, two tickets to the K-State too; third prize, two film passes. Register in the UPC ice, third floor of the K-State Union.

CARRIAGE RIDES

Priday and Saturday, March 30 & 31 st 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 1 st 1:30 p.m. In Weber Arena. Tickets: $4.00 in advance, $5.00 at the door. Tickets for 12 and to the K-State Union Stateroom, Wednesday, March 2 the K-State Union Stateroom, Wednesday, March 2 side the K-State Union Statemorm, Wednesday, March 2 & Thereday, March 29 from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. as Priday, March 30 from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Spomeon by the KSU Rodeo Club. Ticket Info: 532-4029

k-state union

KTPK

FRIDAY & SATURDAY, 7 & 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall

Wk-state union

SUNDAY, 7 p.m., Forum Hall Michael Douglas and Kathleen Turner play Oliver and Barbara Rose, a couple whose seemingly perfect marriage can't survive their mid-life crises. Danny DeVito plays Douglas' friend who narrates the tale of how divorce can turn into a full-scale war. $1.75 and

K.S.U. I.D. Required.

k-state union upc feature films

SATURDAY & SUNDAY 2 p.m. Forum Hall

This classic Disney film will send you flying on pixie dust to Never Never Land with Peter, Wendy and Tinkerbell. You'll visit the island of lost boys. Captain Hook and the deadly "Ticking" Crocodile. Rated G. $1.50 and KSU I.D. Required.

Westate union

A STEP BEYOND SCIENCE FICTION.

FRIDAY & SATURDAY, Midnight, Forum Hall

This is science fiction as you've never seen it before. " Heavy Metal" is a daring animated anthology full of eye-popping graphics, scantily-clad heroines, bone-crushing violence and electrifying rock music. $1.75 and KSU I.D. Required.

532-6570

FOR A COMPLETE LISTING OF THIS

WEEK'S EVENTS, CALL THE UPC

ENTERTAINMENT LINE AT:

15th Annual

Information Available

Entries Accepted 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday - Friday March 20 - Friday, April 13

All entries will be displayed in the K-State Union

SURVIVAL GAME ADVENTURE April 21 Cost: $12

> Find out what hundreds of K-Staters have already discovered-the thrill of the Survival Game Adventure Teams outline their strategy in an effort to capture the opposition's flag using paint-pellet guns. This ever-popular > adventure will take place near Manhattan. Price includes nts and paint gun and pellet rental.

Info. Meeting: April 3, 7 p.m., Union Room 206 Sign-up Begins: April 4 in the UPC Office, 3rd Floor, K-State Union, 8 a.m.-4 p.m. First day

UPC Photography Contest

Monday, March 5 ... UPC Office

Lafene

after midnight.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 You see nothing but vastness and pasture. Still places that go forever

For Dierks, training a young horse and watching him develop "cow savvy" is one of the things that makes it all worthwhile.

"I work slow with a young horse," Dierks said. "I let them work with me and grow to respect me. The days of get on 'em and slab 'em and jab 'em

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

ing the past six months, an average of 1.3 students per night. There were 48 days in which no one used the service are gone. Horses are too expensive for that."

Dahlsten and Dierks agreed that the advent of the pickup truck and other types of mechanization is one of the biggest changes the industry has seen.

"I pulled one windmill not too long ago, and it was handy to have a pickup to drive back and forth to pull rods," Dahlsten said. "It would have been much slower with just a team of Nearly anyone can drive a truck, overnight services in the past six months, the per-patient cost to the student health center equalled about $175, the committee estimated.

"We would probably save around $25,000," Zweimiller said.

The other $50,000 would be used At an annual cost of $75,000, and to enhance other areas of the center, with only 201 students using the such as health education, but both men still see a future for cowboys on horseback.

Dierks also sees a need for cowboys to move and doctor cattle in bigger pastures.

Another big change in ranching has been the amount of recordkeeping that is done.

The thing I see in ranches is they do more with books than ever before," Dierks said. "A lot have gone computerized. They've gone through some tough times and are paying more attention to it now."

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

have to have wide appeal."

ation and staff is doing just a fantastic job." he said. "We're just going to

The Essential Edge Campaign will be officially started April 21, Dowell

Senate

Plan

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"We based her increase on the lowest paid salary for a student's attorney at our peer institutions," Beck said. If passed, Urban's salary will have increased $6,672 in two years.

There was also a major increase in the recommendation for Sports Club Council. The committee recommended the group, which received $2,693 last year, be allocated $7,159 for this year.

proposals were categorized.

budgeting process, he said.

Planning must be linked to the

Means

Beck said.

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7 ■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 sure the sanctity of the land. The farcreasing international emphases are mers are like the Indians, people of the five themes, under which the prethe land. They know that the land controls them, and they do not con> trol it.' The Associated Press contributed to this report.

arts and sciences editor and chairman of College Republicans. "We're not an issue-oriented group."

Beck, who is also a member of Finance committee also recom-College Republicans, said his inmended giving $180.90 to the Colvolvement had no bearing on the lege Republicans, who requested funding decision. funding for the first time this year.

"I didn't debate or vote on it," Beck said.

Senate will begin meeting Tuesdays and Thursdays during alloca-tions and have moved their meeting times to 6 p.m.

Chemical

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

through Aug. 5.

EST. 201-688-5607.

barrel and surrounded with absorbent material, Galitzer said. For example, bases are packed together and flammable materials are packed together. Few materials may be poured together for bulk shipment.

WE HAVE the ideal college job for fraternity and sororing members. Set own hours with extremely high monetary return. Job includes marketing imprinted

WHEAT HARVEST help, truck driver, 13 speed, com-

WORKING COUPLE outside of NYC looking for nanny

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell furniture. Lots of miscellaneous.

12 Houses for Rent

539-3672 evenings.

14 Lost and Found

in Aggieville. Call 532-4867.

$295. 539-1554.

WOHLER'S USED Furniture, 615 N. Third. Open 1p.m

NICE THREE-BEDROOM duplex, garage, fireplace, and washer/ dryer hookups. Available immediate only. 537-2276 or 776-0124.

ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks effast campus, laundry hookups. $285' month, utilifies, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1.

ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June 1.

FOUND: HIGHLAND Community College football jacket

LOST: BLUE nylon briefcase and tan jacket in parking

LOST: GOLD ADPi pinkie ring, around Seaton or the Union. Please call 537-1654; leave a message if

LOST: MEN'S Pulsar watch with brown leather band in the Union parking lot area Sunday after Please return. 539-6495.

(Continued on page 11)

N

٧

E

lot behind Weber. Reward. Phone 457-2179

to 5p.m. Saturday and Sunday; 6p.m. to 9p.m. Tuesday and Thursday evening, or call 539-3119. Appliances, modern and antique furniture, office sportswear and party favors to Greeks. Please ca T-Graphics, Inc. Lawrence, KS 1-800-633-0276.

bine operator. Prefer farm person, no drugs, mother's helper: Care for toddler, newborn, dog

Must drive, swim, cook. Non-smoker. Own room, bath, TV, car. One year minimum. Call between 9-5 noker, Monthly salary. 468-3371. May 20

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Gift

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecu tive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15

Announcements

A BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics.

A FREE gift just for calling. Plus raise up to $1,700 in only 10 days. Student groups, trats and sororities needed for marketing project on campus. For details plus your Free Gift, group officers call 1-800-765-8472 Ext. 50.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193.

CRAFTS 'N' Things. City Auditorium. 9a.m. to 3p.m. March 31. Crafts, Others, Snacks, Prizes. Many first time exhibiters, 42 booths. 539-4675. FACULTY MEMBERS— Going on sabbatical and need a housesitter? Responsible graduate student/ spouse would be interested in visiting with you. SALES OPPORTUNITY of the nineties, full/ part-time Present image improvement tools to women and men. Color analysis, beautycare, wardrobing and fashion accessories. Excellent income, flexible hours. Ms. Swanson, 7431 Quivira Road, Box 140, Shawnee, Kansas 66216. (913)631-0472.

for K-State Singers

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE JUNE 1 or before. One and two bedroom apartments, two blocks from KSU. $200 and $275 No pets. Lease required. 776-9401 or 539-8423. AVAILABLE AUG. 1: One-bedroom basement apart ment, 1100 block of Bluemont, one block from campus, 776-0683.

AVAILABLE AUG. 1: Mostly turnished two-bedroom apartment one block from campus. 776-0683.

FOR AUGUST or June. Next to KSU. Deluxe two bedroom apartment for three people. $440. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR THE next school year. Luxurious two-bedroom apartment. Near campus at 363 N. 14th. Central air, laundry, balcony, new carpet and off-street parking. $425. 537-0428.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. NEED ONE or two roommates for August. Near KSU.

Call Kevin, 537-8834 after 9p.m ONE- AND two-bedroom close to campus. Available June or August. Call 537-4648 between 4-6p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus, off-street parking, laundry. Available June 1, $275. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m. ROOMMATE WANTED: Non-smoker, luxurious three bedroom apartment. Very close to campus, Call 776-7698.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Large, two-bedroom, 1010 Thurston. Everything— central air, complete kitchen, etc. Rent negotiable. 537-3346.

WINDSURFING

simulator and on the water training.

Learn to ride the waves of Tuttle Creek Lake.

TWO-BEDROOM, one block from campus, Aggleville. Low utilities. Available June and July $270. 776-4574.

Apartments-Unfurnished

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coinoperated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required, $290, 539-1465.

LARGE, TWO-BEDROOM, air conditioning, pool. Sub-lease or year lease. Available June 1. 537-0450. PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two-

SHARP ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Walk-in closet. In a six-plex. Living room, dining, kitchen, bath and shower. Available April 30. $275 to $295. Phone

Horizon Apartments

Quality 2 Bedrooms

539-8401

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

AUGUST TO August. Next to campus luxury apartment complexes- East near Haymaker, two-bedroom, fireplace, laundry, natural gas heating, unfurn-ished, West across Goodnow and Marlatt, one- or two-bedroom, furnished, quiet. Evenings, veekends 539-2702

LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near campus. $375/ month including utitities. No pets. No smokers. Available

April 1. Call 776-1714. ONE AND two bedroom close to campus. Available

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT 11/2 blocks from KSU campus. Lease term negotiable. Available now.

ONE-BEDROOM, $250 plus utilities. Available June 1.

ROOMY ONE-BEDROOM. Walking distance to campus. Central air. Available June 1. $250/ month. Better hurry on this one. Now showing. 776-5578.

PCF Management

Efficiency $200

1 bedroom $250

2 bedroom $290

3 bedroom $440

776-4805—539-8401

K-Rentals

Efficiency $200

1 Bedroom $250

2 Bedroom $290

3 Bedroom $450

4 Bedroom $500 For Information Call

539-8401

Automobile for Sale

1972 PONTIAC Lemans, four-door, runs good. Call

1977 BLAZER 4x4, new transmi sion. $950 or best offer. 537-1539 or 537-9287.

1978 CHEVROLET Malibu Classic station wagon. Automatic, cruise control, tilt steering. Runs well, no body rust, new battery, good tires. Needs some minor engine work. $700 or best offer. Call John at 539-1371, leave message

1981 MONTE Carlo LS. Good condition. Must sell $2,895, 539-2321, Eric. Leave name and number. 1982 5.0 Mustang. 80,000 plus miles. Loaded, good condition. Ask for Lili at 539-7647.

1984 PORSCHE 944. 75,000 miles. Excellent condition. $12,000. Call 776-7698, ask for Ted.

1985 PLYMOUTH Voyager LE van. One owner, excellent condition, air conditioning, AM/FM, standard. See for yourself, $7,450, 784-5717 after 6p.m.

Computers

WANTED: A data base programmer to develop new for private business. Even

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

also servicing •PC compatibles & printers •Televisions & VCRs

BIG Screen TV rental MIDWEST SERVICES 106 McCall Rd.

Manhattan 913-776-6650

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution. ACT IN TV commercials. High pay, No experience. All ages— kids, teens, young adults, families, mature people, animals, etc. Call now! Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702. ADMISSIONS REPRESENTATIVE. Kansas State University is recruiting for the position of Admissions Representative. The person will be responsible for the development and implementation of an effecthe development and implementation of an effec-tive student recruitment program within a specific geographic region. The major responsibilities in-clude: Coordinating strategy and resource people for the region; serving as the primary recruitment representative; developing and maintaining service relationships with high schools and community colleges; attending major community events; and coordinating efforts for the region with K-State faculty and staff. Qualifications for the position include: a recent K-State bachelor's degree; family iarity and excitement for K-State; demonstrated student involvement/ leadership skills; strong com-munication skills (oral/ written); strong social skills for a variety of situations; willingness to travel extensively; ability to work independently; and overall high energy level and enthusiasm. Position will start July 1, 1990, and pay $18,000 for 12 months. Candidates should send a letter of application, vita, transcript(s), and the names and addres-ses of three references to: Search Committee. Kansas State University, 122 Anderson Hall, Man-hattan, KS 66506. Deadline for applications is Friday, April 13, 1990. Kansas State University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer

AEROBIC INSTRUCTOR needed. Ladies health club. Call 776-6469 for appoin

532-6555

ARLINES NOW hiring! Flight attendants, many other positions! $17,500 to $58,240. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext. X-1797.

$17,840 to $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885, Ext. R1797. ATTENTION-HIRING! Government jobs

ATTENTION: HIRING! Cruise ship, casino, hotel )

Free travel benefits! Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. Y-1797. ATTENTION: EARN money watching TV! $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext.

ATTENTION: EARN money typing at home! $32,000/ year income potential. Details: 1-602-838-8885 Ext. T-1797.

BANQUET EMPLOYEES needed, local hotel. Must be able to work daytime. 539-7531. Ask for Brett. BUS DRIVERS-$5 per hour. Must be 21 years of age have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. Part e 6:30a.m. to 8:30a.m. and 2:40p.m. to 4:30p.m Job description available. Apply USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 913-537-2400.

BUSINESS MANAGER, half time. Responsible for all financial accounting and record keeping. Experi-ence required, non-profit preferred. Flexible hours make this ideal for the right student. Complete job description available at UFM, 1221 Thurston or call 539-8763. Apply by April 2. EOE.

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimn canoeing, sailing, waterskiing, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B. Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. 708-446-2444.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home Call 615-473-7440, Ext. B288. EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home.

Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288. EXPERIENCED BICYCLE sales/ mechanic. Part time.

EXPERIENCED GARDEN store help needed to work immediately! Must have plant knowledge, sales experience and be willing to work hard. Full- or part-time for spring season including Saturdays Avenue. EOE. 539-2671. FRENCH AND Spanish interpreters wanted for simultaneous interpretation in grain storage and marketing course to be held at Kansas State University June 5 experience desired. Must have college degree or be enrolled at KSU. Contact Merla Brookman at 913-532-6161 for more information. Application deadline April 2, 1990. KSU Equal Opportunity

HARD WORKING, conscientious science student, to assist with NSF funded project, needed now through summer. A wide variety of skills and experience in general laboratory and microbiological techniques preferred. See Mrs. Manney, room 35 Cardwell Hall.

HELP WANTED! Bartenders, bouncers, waitresses Apply between noon and 4p.m. at Baystreet. HOTEL/ RESORT/ F&B Management. Don't limit your self to those few companies that recruit on campus. Explore all your possibilities. Call 508-943-8807.

LAWN CARE person wanted for large apartment community. Responsible for the maintenance of grounds and swimming pools. Horticulture or agricultural background helpful. Full time April through August. Send resume to Collegian, Box 8, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

Hunam Restaurant Free Delivery

539-8888

JUNGLE TALK

·Follow the rules: curl lashes first, then apply mascara. ·Long hair is still a favorite for smart women with great personal style. Hair is cut in one length, then worn straight or pulled back. ·Long hair, short hair, regular trims keep hair looking it's best.

JOYCE'S HAIRTAMERS

·Warm & Gentle Perm reg $48 now $38

·Quantum Perm reg $40 now $30

·Men's Perms 30 Cut & Style with all perms HAIRCUTS

Gal $12, Guys $8.50 Kids $65 Shampoo & Style with all cuts

2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd: 539-TAME

ONE HOUR MOTOPHOTO

PHOTO PROCESSING AT ITS BEST

40% off Processing (C-41)

Expires April 2, 1990

Across from Westloop

1134 Gardenway

Reprint Special

(35mm, 110, 126, Disc) Expires April 2, 1990

776-9030

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Saturday 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

LOCAL HOME furnishing store is looking for a salesper son who is able to work Saturdays and Sundays. Please send a resume to Box 4, K-State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66502. MANHATTAN COUNTRY Club is now accepting appli

"They were very well organized,

"There are no guidelines against

"If it was the same group under a funding a political group," Beck said.

"We couldn't think of any reason different name, there wouldn't be any problem," said Travis Stumpff, why it shouldn't be funded."

very upbeat, very student-oriented,' cations for short-order cooks. Must be available days and weekends and throughout the summer. Apply between 10a.m.- 2p.m. MARKETING AIDE. Half-time positions working with direct mail promotions for a national association. Learn important aspects of direct marketing, working with printers, mailing firms, copy, mailing lists, and marketers. Fill out application weekdays at LERN, 1554 Hayes Drive.

PART-TIME STUDENT worker. Mid-April on; summe included. Maintain subscription and purchasing records, update and formulate database records, clerical- personal computer work. Good oral and written skills. Work study preferred. Applications due April 2. Planning and Resource Development, Division of Continuing Education, College Court Bidg., Room 111, Manhattan, KS 66506.

PROGRAMMERS: THREE student programmers to start in May. Knowledge of and programming experience using COBOL, database applications, and FOCUS on both mainframe and microcompu-ters, along with GPA will be selection criteria. Undergraduates with employment potential of two years and year-round availability will be given preference. Contact receptionist, Room 21, Anderson Hall, by 5p.m. April 2. EOE.

RECREATIONAL SERVICES needs a microcompute systems manager. Student staff member responsi-ble for all aspects of existing microcomputer hardware and software including designing, deve-loping and maintaining new and existing software. te information available at Administrative Office, Peters Recreation Complex, telephone 532-6980. Starting wage— $6.50/ hour. Position

SUMMER WORK available at KSU Vegetable Research Farm, DeSoto (K.C. area). $4.50/ hour. Must have own transportation. Contact Dr. Charles Marr or Mrs. Elder at Horticulture, 532-6170 for application

TUTORS FOR University tutoring program. Begin fall semester, 1990. Majors with an emphasis in math, science and business are encouraged to apply. KSU students, minimum GPA 3.0. Flexible work hours. Ability to work with diverse groups. $5/ hour. Required to take two hour credit course on paraprofessional training, meets Thursdays 4:30-5:45p.m. throughout semester. Optional for persons who have tutored at least three semesters with program. Additional required training for every-one: August 20 and 21. Application deadline: April 6. Applications available: Educational Supportive Services, 201 Holton Hall, 532-5642. KSU is AA/EE

TYPIST/ DATA entry. $6-$9/ hour. Part time, full time

BRAS-BRAS-BRAS 32A 32B 32C 32D 32DD

34A 34B 34C 34D 34DD 36A 36B 36C 36D 36DD 38A 38B 38C 38D 38DD

Triple D Available

We have your size

Patricia's INDERCOVER Lingerie

Aggieville 1224 Moro

CONVOCATION LECTURE SERIES 1990 Mr. Gilbert Grosvenor

President of the National Geographic Society will present a Convocation Lecture

"What Americans Don't Know About Geography and Why it is Hurting Them" Friday, March 30, 1990 McCain Auditorium 10:30 a.m.

Pre Convocation Forum Wednesday, March 28, 1990 Little Theater, K-State Union 12:00 noon Co-Sponsored by the Kansas Academy of Science as part of the 122nd KAS Annual Meeting

Delta Upsilon Calendar Girls Competition 9 p.m.

Contestants

Lisa Cummins Christi Kahmeyer Jennifer Ray

Laura Dunbar Tammy Bannon Juli Hoffmann

Sponsored by Cools & V100.3

Proceeds go to the Villages

Now Deliver HOT Sandwiches & Fries Deliver All Day Sat. & Sun. 12-12 FREE MEDIUM SOFT DRINK with the purchase of any sub

12th & Moro-Aggieville

With This Coupon Only. Not Valid with Delivery.

Expires 4-12-90

Void with other offers

Community Enrichment

Take a Windsurfing Class through Community Enrichment.

class offers directions in rigging, sailing theory, safety, land

Optional one hour KSU undergraduate credit. The Windsurfing

April 10, 6:30-9:30 p.m. Orientation Meeting

Ahearn, room 205.

Lakeside instruction by appointment

Division of Continuing Education

Kansas State University

For registration information call: 532-5566

15"

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

WHY PAY rent? 14x72 mobile home. Two-bedroom, two-beth, excellent condition. Own for $350/ month. Call 537-3779.

18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

1988 ALUMINUM Trek mountain bike with many extras in great condition. Leave message, 539-3476. GUERGIOTTI 23-INCH racing, excellent condition, $625; Nashbar Sport EX, 23-inch, extras included, $175, 537-3159.

RISING HOUSE Discount Bicycles, Cambridge, Kan-sas. Muddy Fox, Rellex, Mammdth, Ritchey, Look, Vitus. In Manhattan, call 776-7929.

SNYDER'S HONDA on Stagg Hill Road is buying and selling new and used motorcycles. We are your motorcycle super market.

19 Music/ Musicians

NEW IBANEZ 550, Floyd Rose, Dimarzio pickups.

WASHBURN 12-STRING acoustic guitar. Beautiful condition. 539-7813 after 5p.m.

Haves House of Music

Guitar Strings & Drum Sticks Buy one set, get econd set for half price 776-7983

Ripple (or a reasonable facsimile thereof)

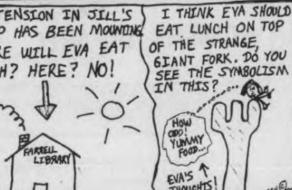

Eric Henry
By J. Hayden

EVA IS THE DARK-JILL IS SICK TODAY HAIRED CHARACTER SO I'M FILLING IN IN JILL'S STREP FOR HER. I USED TO WRITE A COLUNN THIS (TO ME, AT FOR THE COLLEGIAN. I DON'T ANYMORE. LEAST). I LOOK LIKE THIS ..

SHE LOOKS LIKE

EVA 7 (NOT JILL)

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

ERN CHO

OD RODA

BOARRAGE

Jim's Journal

Jean told me to

But nobody was in

1 DOU !

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Garfield

IF SHE DOES, WE'RE DEAD!

Peanuts

WHAT KIND OF A SHORTSTOP ARE YOU?! THAT BALL WENT RIGHT

By Charles Schulz

21 Personals

DANELL— HAPPY 22 bestest bud. What want? Red truck? Party with gooty blonde-haired boy and blue eyes? Whatever, Hope it's happy. Your best bud T.

DENISE—THANKS for setting me straight! You mean the world to me, if not more. I love you! Dan. DARREN E.: CONGRATULATIONS on asking her. We are so proud of you. Now if you can make it to the altar tool Love- your summer roommates.

HEY, MATT C.— Happy Birthday! Be prepared for some surprises. Ready for some tequila? Love, Lisa.

SAE PAUL S .- I have been admiring you from afar for several months now. Just wanted you to know. From, you guessed it, your secret admirer.

TAMMY— YOU'RE finally part of the 21 Club. Let's start it off right tonight in the Ville. Your Big Sis. TINA AND Carla— Casino night! What about our pool game? R.S.V.P. Moore 6. Chad/ Jeremy.

WILL THE person who mailed a money order to pay for a personal, please come to Kedzie 103 and show your I.D. Ad will not run until you do so. Thank you.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

BURMESE PYTHON: 2% feet long, excellent condition. Good eater. If interested, call 532-2057. Ask for SIX-MONTH MINI-LOPP litter trained. All accessories except hutch, $30. Call evenings and weekends 537-2082.

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits 1105 Waters 539-4751

23 Professional Services

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day results. For appointment call: Pregnancy Testing Center, 539-3338.

PERMS $17. His-N-Hers. Tel. 776-1330. All services on

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

24 Resume/ Typing Service

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms dissertations, theses, etc. Call 776-4214.

By Jim LETTER-QUALITY word processing. $1.25 double-Lawson, 776-0676.

NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals, re-sumes and more. Laser printing. Call 537-4146. WORD PROCESSING: College papers, resumes, let-ters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single. Quality Print. Betty, 539-6851, Claffin.

25 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE NON-SMOKER to share two-bedroom apar ment since school year. Two blocks from campus. $195 rent and one-half utilities. 532-2443. FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to find apartment for fall.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for next year to begin either June or August. Have own large bedroom and one-half bath close to campus in great complex. If you enjoy an easygoing environment and are interested, give us a call at 776-9308. Ask for Lori or Liz. Non-smokers please. FEMALE WANTED: Own room, $156.66, one-third utilities. Non-smoking. Call 539-6303 after 5p.m. NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, own room, by campus, $131.25 monthly, one-fourth utilities. Call 537-4641 or 776-2074.

ONE OR two non-smoking female(s) to share two- or three-bedroom apartment for fall. 532-2474.

ONE— TWO non-smoking females, furnished farm-house, free stall and pasture for horses, cattle, dogs. P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan.

WANTED: TWO roommates to share four bedroom house. $130 plus one-fourth utilities. Close to campus. Starts June 1, 776-9244.

26 Stereo Equipment

ADCOM CD player, $350; Onkyo G.I. preamp, $275; ones, $200; DBX 120 $50; DBX 400 route selector, $50; Audio Control C-101 equalizer, $240. Sacrifice prices. Must sell. Call Rob. 537-4985.

CARVER M-500t amp 251 watts/ channel, $375; Design Acoustics PS10 speakers, $250; Monster Cable interconnects, one-half retail price. Call Rob, 537-4985. Let's talk.

KENWOOD KR-V8010 receiver, 130 W/CH, Dolby Surround, remote; $425; Kenwood DP2010 CD player, 16 BIT/4X, remote, $150; Kenwood KX-3510 cassette deck, Dolby B.C.HX-Pro, auto reverse, $150; Infinity SM-120 speakers, $425. All under warranty. Call Jeff, 537-4377.

PIONEER LOUDSPEAKERS— Good condition. $125 or best offer, 539-4250.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

GUN AND Knife Show- March 31, 9-5; April 1, 9-4 National Guard Armory at Manhattan Airport. Buy, sell, trade. Information 1-922-6979. MOUNTAIN BIKE. A steal at $130. 539-7813 after 5p.m.

28 Sublease

A $100 sublease for summer. Own room in large house. Female preferred. 1818 Fairchild. Call 539-1457,

ANDERSON VILLAGE Apartments: Two nice, one bedroom apartments available June 1 to July 31. Call 776-4712 or 539-6560.

A NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, one-tourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New carpet. Available anytime. Call, leave message 537-7073.

APARTMENT FOR rent: Great location, like new apartment, one-bedroom, perfect for two people. June 1st- August 1st. $340/ month. Across the street from campus- Anderson Village. 539-4196. COLLEGE HEIGHTS— Big. two-bedroom, three-person apartment. Summer through July 31. $165 each. 776-1998.

FOR SUMMER— Nice, furnished two bedroom, great for three, close to campus. $360. 776-2378. FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, one block from campus. Washer/ dryer, June 1 to July 31, 539-8205, ask for John. No answer, leave message.

FURNISHED— ONE-BEDROOM, air conditioned, dishwasher. Available May to July 31. $300 or best offer. Call 539-1977.

GREAT APARTMENT, great location, for female non-smoker. All furnished, own bedroom, own half-bath, and two super roommates. Available mid-May. Rent negotiable. 539-3290. JUNE AND July: Two-bedroom apartment, room for four. Dishwasher. One block campus, Aggieville. 539-5543, 532-2898. JUNE AND July sublease. Two weeks in May free! One bedroom, unfurnished, nice. $250, 776-0486.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM apartment, close to campus. Rent negotiable. Call Mike, 537-8292. LARGE TWO- to three-bedroom main floor, full kitchen. Available for summer sublease. Only $250/ month. Call 537-3696.

SPACIOUS FURNISHED studio apartment next to campus. Laundry facilities and patio. Available June and July. Rent negotiable. 539-5736. Ask for SUBLEASE FOR June and July. Library Apartments, three bedroom, closest to campus. 537-3723. SUBLEASE JUNE, July. Three-bedroom, 1½ baths 1½ blocks south of campus, 539-5693.

SUBLEASE— TWO-BEDROOM apartment, good for three. Close to campus. Negotiable. Call 539-7423. SUBLEASE-JUNE 1 through July 31. Three-bedroom, $340/ month, washer/ dryer, two blocks from campus. 532-3458. If no answer, leave message.

SUBLEASE: 1800 block Laramie, four-bedroom house, price negotiable. Call 532-3609 or 532-3604, ask for Dailin or Brian. SUBLEASE- THREE-BEDROOM apartment near campus. Dishwasher, laundry facilities, two bath-rooms. Available mid-May through July 31st. Time available negotiable. $170 month plus electric. Call

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Two-bedroom, pool, washer and dryer, telephone and basic cable installed, turnished or unfurnished. Tom or Tim, 539-8187

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Two-bedroom furnished, close to campus, water and trash paid. Call 532-3124. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Room in a large house, 1818

Fairchild. $100/ month plus one-sixth utilities. 539-1457, ask for Denise. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Unfurnished, three-bedroom apartment, two bathrooms and deck. Next to Aggieville and close to campus. Call 776-5135.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Close to campus and Aggi Two large bedrooms. Best offer. Call 539-5519. SUMMER SUBLEASE, furnished, balcony, close to campus. For more info call 776-7034.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Nice, spacious turnished twobedroom apartment, one and one-half bath, dis-hwasher, close to campus, water and trash paid, $360 negotiable. 539-2625. APARTMENT FOR sublease— Within walking distance of campus. Furnished, clean, quiet. Call 539-4847.

SUMMER SUBLEASE—Nice, two-bedroom apartment for three people. Close to campus, washer, dryer, $150/ month plus utilities. 539-4784. SUMMER—ONE or two males. June 1 to July 31. New apartments. Unfurnished, three-bedroom.

532-3484 after 7p.m. THREE-BEDROOM, furnished or unfurnished, close to Aggieville and campus. 776-7493. THREE-BEDROOM, 1% bath, close to campus Aggleville. $350/ month (negotiable). Call 539-3719/ 539-1043.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, one-half block east of campus. Nice! Dates negotiable. 537-7982.

TWO-BEDROOM, four person apartment. One-half block from Aheam on College Heights. $540 monthly, water and trash paid. 1829 College Heights, #2. 537-7855. Call after 6p.m. For summ

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT available for summer hed. In Anderson Place. For more into call

539-9281. TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT available May 1. Call after 6p.m. 539-1199.

30 Travel

Traveler's Limousine Service Call 539-2284

31 Volunteers Needed

STRESSED OUT volunteers needed immediate Learn to manage stress and take part in a dissertation project on biofeedback. Practice sessions weekly for six weeks. Daily home practice 20 minutes. One participant will win a drawing for $250 at the end of the six-week project. Sign up at Counseling Service, Latene or phone 1-784-6762.

CANNON AE-1 camera body and 50mm FD lens. Asking $160. 537-9365.

Battery or AC powered, two font types, 16,000-character memory expansion card, spell corrector and many other features. Excellent condition. $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave

ODDS 'n ENDS THRIFT SHOP

Knick Knacks, Adults and Appliances,

611 N. 11th (Handi Corner)

Enjoy the look and style

1222 Moro-Aggieville-Manhattan TRETORN

33 Storage

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox

34 Beach Videos

BABES OF Daytona Beach! Hot! Two hours of girls, girls. girls! VHS. $15. Mike, 776-9224.

35 Fitness

GUYS AND Girls— Do you want an exciting benefit-filled part-time job? Schleibe may be what you need. Attend an informational meeting on March 31 at 1p.m. at Schliebe. Be prepared to work out. Any questions call 776-1750.

By Eugene Sheffer

33

44 45

Crossword

20 The works

22 Shorthand taker

novel

"Velvet

feather

breeze

30 Ogle

35 Impair

37 Let a into

Fog"

26 The

Yoko

for two

ACROSS 36 Artist 1 Ernst's art

5 Saloons 9 "Hail, fellow, well -12 Yoked

13 Tennis great Arthur 48 "The 14 Zsa Zsa's

15 "Mad Max" star 17 Backtalk 18 Queen of mysteries 19 Ping-pong

21 French article 22 Minuscule 24 Tibetan monk

27 Dined 28 Behind schedule 31 Pastoral poem 32 Lapidary concern 33 Thumbsdown vote 34 Lifeline

BONE RUM ONAN ALIT STO RUCE NIGHTNAR AGRA CONSRE SSTHER REG MORES

42 Mad king of drama 43 Truck

radio user 44 Schnozz 45 - out (supple ments) NIGHTOWL EDO INEE SAN ESSE 49 Before Yesterday's answer 3-39 50 Tall tale

23 Reminder 24 Chop off 25 Nabokov 27 Exceptionally eager 29 Prepare to

CRYPTOQUIP

VJFPVX CB XVJ

MFUSJLUJ KZU BCAHJM X C

NIGHT? A LUNAR ECLIPSE.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHAT MIGHT YOU CALL A GARDENER WHO TRIMS HIS HEDGES AT

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050

LOOKING FOR punch, imaging and clarity? See Rob's ads under Stereos— Must sell.

children's clothes, Furniture, Books, Kitchenware

American Classics.

of classic canvas Tretorns. Available in leather, too. Step into an American original.

Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

56 Part of

37 Lot unit 38 Dance 40 Do

preceder 41 Plant life beasts 43 Eye part 47 Oxygen: prefix

> Producers' director 51 Aries 52 Historic canal 53 Exploits

10 Demonic 39 Titles 54 Mine 11 VCR need 40 Craggy output 55 Cassandra16 Fury Solution time: 22 mins. 41 Casino

SAT

1 Rotunda

2 Skating

turn

3 Valley

6 Ninny

7 Greek letter

8 Actress

9 Bugs

Berger

Bunny's voice

4 Actress

Lansbury

5 Newborn

DOWN

3.29 UJZUCL, XVJ YZFL VCUSFXZO

KFXV AVJDY UJAWFHJ.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: V equals H

Paske

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 Oklahoma coach Billy Tubbs hovering around is rare, and this year was no exception. According to an Oklahoma City radio talk show, the Sooners are expected to sign Western Nebraska Community College's Eric Gore, a 6-foot-6 center from Niagara Falls, N.Y. Gore was a scoring machine in Hutchinson, leading the tournament with 111 points while playing one less game than the other top 10 scorers.

Gore played the post for the Cougars, but also showed his range from the perimeter. Against perennial power San Jacinto (Texas) College Central, Gore scored 49 points in a 112-90 loss. It looks like he should fit the mold of a Sooner player perfectly.

Another standout was Three Rivers (Mo.) Community College forward Latrell Sprewell. According to Basketball Times, Sprewell, 6-foot-5, had listed Kansas and Alabama among his top choices. However, the Jayhawks have reportedly backed off since Sprewell, a Proposition 48 casualty, must complete summer school courses to graduate.

Sprewell, who was among the nation's leading scorers this season at 27 points per game, led the Raiders to a fourth-place finish. He was placed at Three Rivers by Southwest Missouri State coach Charlie Spoonhour. The Bears are reportedly still in the

Smith

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

But regardless of his statistical prowess, and regardless of the number of college players declaring for the NFL draft prior to their senior seasons, don't look for Smith to exercise that option.

"I doubt if my parents would let that happen," he said. "They want me to finish my education."

His parents - Michael and Denise Smith of New Orleans - saw what Smith considered his best performance of his sophomore season, his 13-catch effort against Missouri.

"I'd say my best game was against Missouri on Parents' Day," Smith said. "I broke a record, and my parents got to see it."

ALL ROCK ALL THE TIME TONIGHT

60 oz. Pitchers No Cover!

OPEN at 4:00

702 North 11th

776-0077 Aggieville, USA

Students and faculty WE NEED YOUR IDEAS!

Union Governing Board (UGB) is a group of ten students, three faculty members, and one alum, who participates directly in the management and operation of the K-State Union. The board works with the staff to see that the Union is the kind of operation K-State should have. If you have a few hours to devote to make the Union a better place, come in and fill out an application.

3 two-year voting, 1 one-year non-voting student positions, and 1 two-year faculty voting positions are available.

Applications for positions are available in the Director's Office in the K-State Union. They are DUE Monday, April 9, 1990 at 5 p.m. Interviews will begin April 17.

K-State Union Host to the Campus

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS!

SELLING OUT BOTH STORES TO THE BARE WALLS ENTIRE AND COMPLETE—INCLUDING STORE FIXTURES AND EQUIPMENT

BOTH STORES HAVE BEEN CLOSED

All day Saturday, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to mark down all prices, hire and train extra help and to prepare our store and stock for This Great Sale. Every article will be marked in plain figures at Going Out of Business Sale Prices in both stores. Be here when the doors swing open at both stores Thursday, March 29th, promptly at 9:30 a.m.

MENS SPORTSWEAR

FINE QUALITY WOMEN'S WEAR AND MEN'S SPORTSWEAR

LOCATED IN WESTLOOP SHOPPING CENTER—MANHATTAN

GREAT $300,000 GOING

WITHOUT RESERVE OR LIMIT!

FAMOUS BRANDS ALL ON SALE

Cole-Haan, Boston Traders, Ruff-Hewn, River City Trading, Career Club, Byford, C.C. Sport, Interwoven, Austin Reed, Corbin, Leslie Fay, Rafaella, New Line, that's me!, Phoebe, Jeffrey & Dara, Petrena, Villager, Jessica, Mizz Lizz, EMO, Bonnie and Bill, Erika and a host of others!

JUST THINK WHAT THIS GREAT SALE MEANS TO YOU!

Corolog as it does in optic of today's higher prices. Over are here in lavich pleasy by reliable stores. You can come to this sale expending to buy the Greatest Money Saving Bargains—but we caudian you to come early. We have but one object and one aim and that is to sell out completely in the shortest time possible. Come Early—Stay Late but be here when the doors swing open Thursday, promptly at 9:30 a.m.

USE CASE—CHECK—VISA—MASTERCARD

GREAT SALE THURSDAY ......9:30 to 9

FRIDAY .....9:30 to 9 SATURDAY ...9:30 to 5:30 ALL SALES FINAL!

SALE BEGINS TODAY-THURSDAY MORNING PROMPTLY AT 9:30 A.M.

REGULAR TO $50.00 MEN'S

SPORT SHIRTS

sport shirts by famous makers, wanted styles. Out they go while they last at...

BLOUSES

One lot from famous Gianna, Leslie Fay, Lauren Lee, etc, solids, prints. Out they go at ..

active wear, better maker, 100% cotton, choice of colors. Out they go at ...

REGULAR TO $48.00 LADIES

SKIRTS

One lot better made skirts from fine makers, in the wanted colors, fabrics, etc. Out they go

REGULAR TO $57.50 MEN'S

SLACKS

One lot men's mos popular slacks from Higgins, River City Trading, etc. Out they go at ...

REGULAR TO $62.00 LADIES

SEPARATES One lot ladies fine silk separates, skirts, blouses, slacks better maker. Out they go at.

REGULAR TO $65.00 MEN'S

SPORT SHIRTS

makers sport shirts. Better fabrics and styles. While they last, out they go at.

REGULAR TO $30.00 MEN'S

PAJAMAS One lot men's pajamas better maker, popular colors. Out they go while they last at...

REGULAR TO $88.00 LADIES

BLOUSES One lot better ladies blouses, cotton, silk, etc. by Rafaella, La Chine, etc., solids, prints. Out

EXCHANGES! ALL ITEMS SUBJECT TO PRIOR SALE!

REGULAR TO $75.00 MEN'S

DRESS, CASUAL PANTS One lot men's slacks by famous makers. All in the good styles, fabrics and colors. Will go fast Thursday at...

REGULAR TO $60.00 LADIES SKIRTS

wanted skirts, solids, prints, etc., from Leslie Fay, that's me, etc. Don't miss at...

REGULAR $69.00 TO $198.00

DRESSES Fay, Caron, Gunnie Sax, etc. Solids, prints. Out

GO OUT

ENTIRE STOCK MEN'S UNDERWEAR in the wanted styles and fabrics

PRICES SLASHED!

by famous maker Munsingwear.

TIES In the fine fabrics, colors by famous makers Ferrel Reed, Bryer. These will sell fast Thursday at...

ENTIRE STOCK MEN'S

1/2 PRICE

ENTIRE STOCK MEN'S SOCKS, BELTS Better fabrics, styles by famous makers Cole-Haan, Interwoven, Byford, etc. Out they go. PRICES SLASHED!

ENTIRE STOCK MEN'S ROBES, PAJAMAS Several styles and fabrics by better makers Bill Blass, Christean Dior, Diplomat, etc. Out they go. PRICES SLASHED!

REGULAR TO $60.00 LADIES

REGULAR $30.00

MEN'S KNIT SPORT SHIRTS

BLOUSES One lot fine blouses,

One lot men's better knit sport shirts, choice of 3 popular colors, washable.

Out they go Thursday
while they last at...

wanted colors, prints by famous La Chine, Leslie Fay, Rafaella, etc. Out shirts from Boston Traders, New England Gentleman, etc. Solids, plaids, stripes. Out at... SAVE UP TO

REGULAR TO $50.00 MEN'S SPORT SHIRTS

REGULAR TO $80.00 LADIES DRESS, CASUAL SLACKS One lot better slacks, pleated, unpleated. belted, unbelted, by Rafaella, that's me!, etc. Don't miss at..

REGULAR TO $125.00 MEN'S INCLUDING BIG & TALL MEN'S

100% COTTON

One lot men's 100% cotton sweaters solids, acrylic from Boston Traders, Byford, Lord Jeff, etc. Out they go Thursday at ...

Friday, March 30, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 122

Senate funds

By Kirk Caraway Collegian Reporter

Student Senate voted overwhelmingly Thursday night to give College Republicans $180.90 to pay for advertising of political speakers appearing on campus in the first round of Senate's annual tentative allocations process.

Travis Stumpff, arts and sciences senator and chairman of College Republicans, said the money would be used only to advertise appearances by public officials who wanted to speak to the group. The speeches would be educational to the student body. However, when questioned by senators, Stumpff said the speakers would be mostly limited to Republican officials.

"We will not invite a Democrat to speak," Stumpff said.

Barry Beck, coordinator of finances and a member of College Republicans, said the group did not differ greatly from other groups funded by Senate.

"Show me a single organization that's not political," Beck said. David McIntyre, junior in electrical engineering and the only senator to vote against the allocation, said funding the group with student money was inappropriate.

"I feel this organization is a politi-

By Tomari Quinn

Staff Reporter

Women is protesting the selection process of the Delta Upsilon calendar girls and the manner in which the wo-

A letter of protest is being prepared to accompany last year's calendar and will be sent to the the Board of Regents, said Teresa Parsons, representative for the Manhattan chapter of the National Organization for Women. A further plan of ac-men are displayed.

Group protests

calendar process

cal organization and should not be funded," McIntyre said.

"Why didn't we fund the Young Democrats? Because they didn't ask for any money," Beck said in defense of the measure. "If the Young Communists came to us, I'd be in favor of funding them, too."

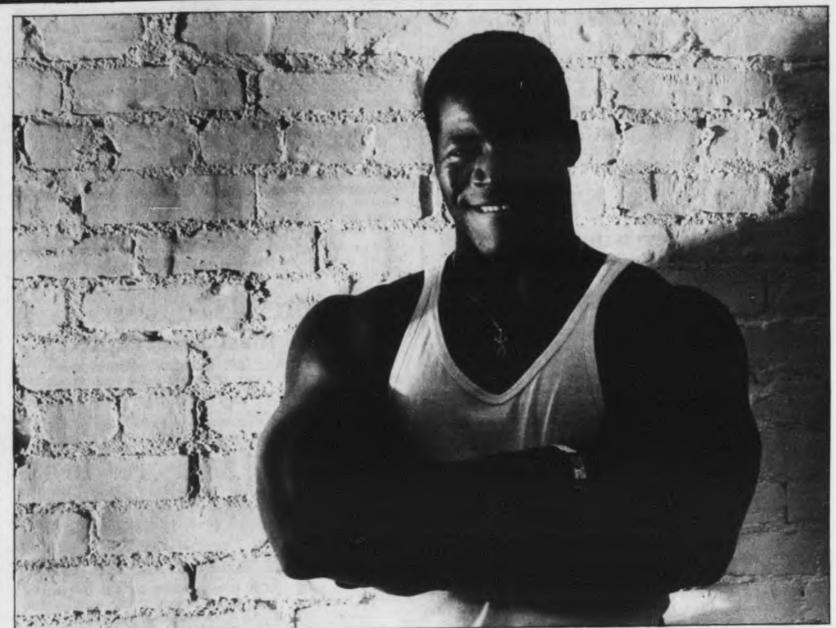

Other tentative allocations approved were $1,124 for the Women's Resource Center; $530.88 for Students for Handicapped Concerns and $1,505.02 for Hispanic American Leadership Organization.

Senate added $423.70 to Finance committee's recommendation for HALO when it was learned the group would play host at next year's annual Hispanics of Tomorrow conference.

Senate also approved a special allocation of $258.50 for Older, Wiser, Learning Students (OWLS) to pay for expenses incurred during the group's trip to the Fifth Annual Midwest Conference for Non-Traditional

Also approved was a special allocation of $200 for the Native American Student Body. This allocation is to pay for performers for their powwow March 31 in observance of Native American Heritage Month.

Resolutions commending Lon Kruger, Steve Henson and the men's basketball team were postponed.

Ron Love, professional body builder from Detroit, will be guest posing Saturday at the 1990 Big Eight Body Building Championships in McCain Auditorium. Love will conduct a question and answer session at 3 p.m. and pre-judging will begin at 10:30 a.m. Finals begin at 7 p.m.

Body builder to guest pose

Love hopes Mr. Olympia victory

By Craig Hamrick News Editor

Ron Love's dreams are reflected in his choice of jewelry. He wears a thick, gold chain with two pendants: a body builder flexing his biceps, and a number one.

'In 1990, I want to be number one body builder in the world." he said, touching the pendants. "And on the day of the Mr. Olympia competition, which is Sept. 15, I will be.' It's a title he has worked toward for 15 years, and at 38, he says he is at his peak. "I will be ready," he said. "I'm not ready today, but when I diet down and get in my best condition, I'll be ready.' Love will be a guest poser during the intermission of the finals of the 1990 Big Eight Body Building Championships, Saturday in McCain Auditorium.

Pre-judging will take place at 10:30 a.m., and the finals will begin at 7 p.m.

Marc Bamman, a K-State graduate who organized the event, said about 40 men and women have signed up to compete.

will crown 15 years of preparation day of the competition, so we aren't sure how many there will people coming from as far away as Indiana, ranging in age from 16 to 42. At 5 feet 11 inches tall and 255 pounds, Love said he is not in competitive shape, but those be." Bamman said. "We have who attend his posing routine should enjoy the show. "I'm in decent enough shape to guest pose," he said. "I'll be impressive. They won't be disappointed." Love has competed professionally since 1987, placing in the top 10 at the Mr. Olympia competition, the world championships, every year since then. He arrived in Manhattan Wednesday, only one day after returning from a one-month promotional tour in Australia.

While "down under," Love promoted the nutritional food line that he endorses, conducted seminars and made personal appearances.

Though he is on a leave of absence to pursue his body building career, Love has been a police officer for 17 years. He began working out with weights as rehabilitation when he was shot on the job in 1976. "I'm 'Robocop," he said and laughed. "I'm a cop in Detroit, and that's where Robocop lived in the movie."

He said he probably won't go back to police work. "Body building is what I'd rather be doing," he said. "Eventually I'll start my own gym, in the Detroit area, but that will take some time

Love earns his living conducting seminars, making guest ap-pearances at body building competitions, working as a personal trainer and marketing his own line of sports wear.

"You can make money in the sport, but it's more things that are connected with the sport," Love said. "There's no way you can make a lot of money in shows because there's too many people competing."

While in Manhattan, Love has conducted about eight personal training sessions with local body builders each day. "I try to show individuals the way to train their weaker body parts - how to train their muscles so they can get the best results from their exercises," Love said.

■ See LOVE, Page 16

tion has not yet been determined. One of the group's objections is that the calendars are printed at University Printing Services. "Our objection was the fact that these women are paraded around a local bar, and the winner is selected by the amount of shouting and cheering she receives," Parsons said. "We object to the fact that they are using K-State Printing Services which abides by anti-discrimination and harassment clauses found in state statutes. We feel this is a violation of these statutes and want to bring it to DU President Kurt Barrow, junior in mechanical engineering, said the The National Organization for competition was started six years ago and is a philanthropic event. The proceeds are given to the Villages in Topeka, an orphanage for homeless and abused children.

Barrow said the competition is not a sexist event.

"I don't know why (NOW) is obecting to it," he said. "I haven't heard their argument." Members of NOW want the contestants to be portrayed as rounded individuals and not as sexual toys. "We object that the women are being degraded into sexual objects and not shown as students," Parsons said. "We don't feel (the University) should be printing this material or that the DUs should be promoting it." Another of the group's objections is the way the women are being selected and clothed in the pictures. Parsons said the women in the calendar are wearing fewer clothes each year and that the calendar is obtaining a pin-up status. "We don't object to the DU's hav-

"People can still sign up the ■ See CALENDAR, Page 13 public attention." Haskell college addresses cultural diversity

By Anne Krauss Collegian Reporter

When American Indians were pushed from their homes to reservations, a guaranteed education was often part of the bargain. Haskell Indian Junior College in Lawrence is dedicated to fulfilling that promise.

Haskell is a federal government-supported institution, founded in 1884 as a boarding school for young American Indians. It evolved into a vocational school and became an accredited junior college in 1970.

"The strength of the program is that it is oriented to meet the needs of American Indians - it is sensitive to our culture," said Robert Daugherty, instructor in contemporary Indian affairs. "When teaching basic courses like English, we include aspects of Indian culture to help students relate to the

Haskell offers programs in business, humanities, life sciences, American Indian studies and industrial and mechanical technology Hannes Combest, adviser for the student newspaper, the Indian Leader, said while Haskell has strong recruiting programs, many students hear about the college through family and friends who have attended Haskell. "My mom graduated from here," said Mark Randolph, managing editor of the Indian Leader. "My great-aunt went here when it was still a high school. It's a family tradition. Everyone has at least tried it out." As of last fall, 827 students, representing 130 tribes from 33 states, attended classes on the 320-acre campus. "The cultural diversity is just incredible," Combest said. "We have students from Chicago who have never seen another Native American, and students straight off the reservation who could have English as their second language."

Daren Jeimausaddle, a student in natural resource management, said many people don't understand how much difference exists between tribes.

'Indians are different from other minorities," Jeimausaddle said. "There are Indians from the plains of Oklahoma, from Florida, Alaska and elsewhere, and each is different. There is no such thing as a typical Indian."

The recent deaths of three Haskell students, Christopher Bread, 19, Cecil Dawes Jr., 21, and John Sandoval, 19, spurred others at Haskell to organize a campaign to become more a part of Lawrence.

The three deaths have remained a mystery to the Lawrence police, Gov. Mike Hayden is offering a $5,000 reward for anyone who can provide information about Bread's death. Students worry about the lack of progress and the message it is sending to the public. "If three (University of Kansas) students were dead, more would be happening," Randolph said. "This sets a precedent that endangers the lives of the rest of us. It says you can kill an Indian, throw him in the Kaw River, and nothing will happen."

Haskell students organized a march and informational forum in early March to promote an understanding of American Indians and issues they and other minorities face. "Our theme is 'Community Unity,'" said

Kim McHenry, Haskell student senate president. "We want to make it safe for everyone." McHenry said she hopes to continue working with people in Lawrence to improve relations between the college and the community.

"We want to keep (the deaths) in the press," McHenry said.

This isn't the first time Haskell students have stood up for their convictions and fought to protect their rights.

In 1988, a series of controversies within the college led to a lawsuit between student journalists and the administration over the students' right to manage the school newspaper.

The suit was settled out of court and the paper is now completely student-run, except for a faculty adviser.

"In the long run it was a very positive thing, because now the students have a student-controlled forum of their own," Combest said. "But it did happen under another administration. Who knows if it would have been necessary under this one." Combest said the problem originally developed because the Indian Leader was sent to about 8,000 alumni, and the college president at that time was concerned about what topics were appropriate for alumni.

"Everyone wants to keep up with Haskell," Combest said. "At the time, the administration was controlling the newspaper and using it as a public relations tool. Students didn't feel that was right. It should be a student newspaper."

Native Americans often stereotyped

By Erica Yenni Collegian Reporter

Stereotypes and a lack of information on the part of whites is the hardest thing for Native Americans to deal with in the American culture, said Cheryl May, who is onequarter Cherokee.

May, director of University news services, said she doesn't see much negative imagery in this part of Kansas, but she doesn't see much understanding of the Native American culture either.

"I frequently realize that there is still stereotyping and we have a long way to go," May said. "I don't think people are unwilling to learn - we just need to become more

"If we want to get information across, we ence personal conflict in assimilating need to share it so people will realize we're not just curiosities," she said.

Education is the key to get people to stop

American culture. They face the problem of trying to retain the traditional values of their heritage and to fit in the white world.

stereotyping, said Dale Bushyhead, senior in education. "I've come to realize and understand that people make fun of things they're ignorant American values. about," Bushyhead said. "I'd like to see people educated. May said people tend to feel uncomfortable with Native Americans because of a fear of the unknown. "In the future I would like to see a greater understanding of all ethnic groups and races and an enjoyment of diversity," she said. Karren Baird-Olson, instructor of sociology, said some Native Americans experi-

Baird-Olson divided Native Americans into three groups. The first group, which she called traditional, resist adopting white

The second group, called the lost generation, have known traditional ways but are filled with self-hatred because they have been told they are not good Americans. This group, Baird-Olson said, is torn between the two worlds. The third group has found a balance between retaining and re-learning the traditional ways and living in the white world. This group won't accept the notion that the

■ See CULTURES, Page 16

Arms race reaches new stage

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) - Iraq's drive to eclipse Israel as the Middle East's paramount military power is gathering momentum, and its attempt to acquire trigger devices for nuclear weapons underlines that the regional arms race has reached a new stage.

Most analysts believe Iraq is still years away from producing a nuclear weapon. But, coupled with development of long-range missiles and chemical weapons, Iraqi efforts to acquire the trigger devices have raised concern that its nuclear program may be more advanced than anyone thought.

The sophisticated devices are believed to be available only to a few major powers.

The State Department called in Iraq's ambassador in Washington, Mohamed Al-Mashat, on Thursday and registered "deep concern" that Iraq is trying to circumvent U.S. restrictions on nuclear technology shipments. The department also reportedly reiterated U.S. opposition to the spread of missile technology in the Middle East.

The arrest of three people in London on Wednesday on accusations they were trying to smuggle the triggers to Iraq was the latest in a chain of indicators that Iraq is capable of developing high-technology weapons.

In December, Iraq surprised other nations by launching a rocket it said could be used to put a satellite into space.

Prime Minister wins 4th term

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) - Prime Minister Bob Hawke claimed victory Thursday in the March 24 general election, becoming the first Labor leader to win four consecutive terms. His opponent, Liberal Party leader Andrew Peacock, conceded

Final results still are not in, but preliminary results gave Labor 77 seats in the 148-seat House of Representatives. Peacock's conservative party won 70, and one seat was held by an independent.

Hawke, 60, has been in power since 1983 and is the longestserving prime minister in Australia's history. He campaigned on promises of stability. In his acceptance speech, he promised to work for "all Australians."

Nation

House supports day care plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House ignored a White House veto threat Thursday and tentatively approved an ambitious Democratic plan aimed at helping families find and afford day care for their children.

The House approved the plan on a largely party line vote, 263-158, after voting more narrowly to reject a conservative alternative that President Bush had endorsed.

The House also turned back amendments aimed at limiting federal aid for church-run day care centers.

The bill, which still must go to a conference to resolve differences with the Senate, would expand tax credits for working poor families to offset day-care expenses. It would create a system of state-issued subsidy vouchers for parents who want to use religious day-care centers, and would expand the Head Start program for poor children. It also would establish minimum standards for day care centers and provide money for a new program of day care based

The vote followed eight hours of sometimes emotional debate that masked the fact that there was actually bipartisan agreement on major portions of the competing versions.

Government chooses K.C. site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has approved a city-owned site in Kansas City, Kan. for a new federal building and courthouse, and selected a Wichita firm to design it, Kansas lawmakers announced Thursday.

Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., and Rep. Jan Meyers, an Overland Park Republican, said groundbreaking for the new building is expected in the spring of 1991 and it should be completed by 1993.

The General Services Administration selected a downtown site proposed by the city of Kansas City, Kan. and picked the firm of Gossen Livingston Associates for a $1.89 million contract to design the building, the lawmakers said.

The site for the $39 million building is bounded on the north and south by State and Nebraska avenues, respectively, and on the east and west by 5th and 6th streets.

Agent shown not cancerous

ATLANTA (AP) - A long-awaited government study of cancer among Vietnam veterans found no evidence linking the disease with exposure to the herbicide Agent Orange, officials said Thursday.

The study by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control, which looked only indirectly at Agent Orange, did find veterans at increased risk of a relatively rare cancer called non-Hodgkin's lymphoma. But researchers noted the risk was greater among veterans who served on ships than those who served on land, where the herbicide was used.

In Washington, Veterans Secretary Edward J. Derwinski quickly said he would order the Department of Veterans Affairs to pay disability compensation to vets suffering from non-Hodgkin's lymphoma.

Region

Crack in mail intercepted

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) - Federal authorities have seized more than 26 pounds of crack cocaine worth an estimated $1.4 million that was being shipped here through the mail, authorities said.

The packaged drugs were broken down into three smaller shipments and were intercepted last week, said KCK police spokesman Donald Ash.

Ash would not elaborate on where the shipments were to be delivered or where exactly they were seized.

Charges have not been filed in the case. The U.S. Postal Inspection Service, the KCK police department and the U.S. Attorney's office participated in the joint investigation.

Shoe theft ahead of its time

LENEXA (AP) - Two men who allegedly stole 57 pairs of athletic shoes from a delivery truck were a little ahead of their time - they chose a type of shoe that wasn't on sale yet at area stores.

The 57 pairs, worth about $1,300, were taken from a truck parked behind the office of the Athlete's Foot chain in Lenexa Wednesday, said Detective Mike Siebers of the Lenexa Police Department.

The theft was discovered shortly after a man had come into the office to ask for a job, Siebers said.

About two hours later, two men walked into an Athlete's Foot store in Kansas City, Kan., and asked to exchange a pair of shoes that didn't fit.

Store employees, who had been notified of the theft, recognized that type of shoe had not been delivered to any of the chain's retail stores.

The two men were released pending further investigation.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Announcements

- Today is the last day to drop a full semester course. A "W" will be
- Kappa Delta Pi scholarship applications are due today.
- Applications for "Chalkboard" editor are available in Bluemont 13 through Sunday.

3() Friday

- Convocation Lecture Series will present "What Americans Don't Know About Geography and Why It Is Hurting Them" at 10:30 a.m. in McCain Auditorium.
- "Violence Against Women and Children Is Not the Indian Way" will be presented at 10:30 a.m. in the Farrell Library Minority Resource Center in honor of Native American Heritage Month.
- "Skywatchers of Ancient Mexico" will be presented at 2:30 p.m. in Cardwell 102 in honor of Native American Heritage Month.
- Department of Plant Pathology will present seminars by C.A. Ryan, member of the National Academy of PTO, at 4 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.
- Sailing Club will have a garage sale at 5 p.m. at 1830 Rockhill Road.
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Dan Sullivan at 3 p.m. in Throckmorton 124. The topic will be "Thiosulfate as a Urease Inhibitor."
- Intervarsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union
- Southwind will have an informational meeting at 4 p.m. at Ecumenical Campus Ministry, 1021 Denison.

Saturday

- A Powwow with dancing, arts and crafts, fry bread, and Indian tacos will be presented from 5 to 10 p.m. in Hulbert Hall, CiCo Park, in honor of Native American Heritage Month.
- Sailing Club will have a garage sale at 8 a.m. at 1830 Rockhill Road.
- Trail One (Grand Canyon) will meet at 4:30 p.m. at the International Student Center.

Sunday

- Student Dietetic Association will meet at 7 p.m.
- Arts & Sciences Council will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 205.
- New Currents new age/jazz/fusion music club will meet from 4 to 5 p.m. in Union 203 to discuss Open House.
- K-Laires will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union K, S and U rooms.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, 80 percent chance for rain. High 40 to 45. North to northeast winds 10 to 20 mph. Tonight, cloudy with 60 percent chance for rain. Low around 40. Saturday, cloudy with a 30 percent chance for light rain. High in lower 50s.

Religious Directory

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH LAWorship at 8:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday School 9:40 a.m. (Collegiate Class)

10th & Poyntz

537-8532

UNITARIAN-UNIVERSALIST FELLOWSHIP of MANHATTAN 10:45 a.m. Service & Sunday School Nursery provided, everyone welcome On K-18, 1/2 mile east of K-177 For info: call 537-2349 or 539-5248

Sunday Worship 11 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. 2121 Blue Hills Rd.

539-8691

St. Luke's Lutheran Church Worship Saturday 6 p.m. Sunday 8 and 10:45 a.m. -Bible Class-Sunday 9:30 a.m. Weekly Small Group Bible Studies

Grace Baptist Church Student Sunday School

539-2604

330 N. Sunset

9:30 a.m. Worship Hour 8:30 and 10:45 a.m. Fellowship Hour 6 p.m. Mid-Week Prayer and Fellowship 7 p.m. Pastor Don Pahl

Students Welcome 2901 DICKERS AVE. 776-0424

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m. Dorothy Nickel Friesen, Pastor 1021 Denison

VINEYARD 627 Pecan Circle (across from Holiday Inn) Manhattan, KS 66502 (913) 539-0542 / 539-0590

CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP Sunday Celebration at 10:30 a.m. Friday Night Kinship Group at 7:00 p.m.

FIRST UNITED

METHODIST CHURCH

8:45 a.m. Communion

(first Sunday of the month)

9:45 a.m. Church School

8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship

Nursery provided for all services

John D. Stoneking, Pastor

St. Francis &

Canterbury Fellowship

Episcopal Campus Ministry

Holy Eucharist

Every Tuesday, 10 p.m. Danforth Chapel,

K-State Campus

Sunday Holy Eucharist

Rite 1, 8:00 a.m. Rite 2, 10:30 a.m. St. Paul's Episcopal Church

6th & Poyntz

The Rev. Susan Sawver.

Campus Chaplain

776-9427

612 Poyntz

Worship-8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Disciples of Christ 115 Courthouse Plaza 776-8790 Muslim Comm. Assoc. Friday's Prayer 12:30-1 p.m.

COLLEGE HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH

9:15 a.m. Sunday School

10:30 a.m. Worship Service

6 p.m. Training Hour 7 p.m. Worship Service

2221 College Heights Rd.

537-7744

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

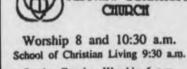

Church School-9:45 a.m.

776-8821

Islamic Circle 6-8 p.m. Islamic School Sat. 1-3 p.m. Sunday School 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m. 619 Sunset Ave. 776-8543 WESTVIEW COMMUNITY

CHURCH

Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m. 1st, 3rd, & 5th Sundays CARE CELLS (small groups) 6 p.m. 2nd & 4th Sundays Office at 2607 Allison Ave. 3001 FT. RILEY BLVD.

Valleyview Community Church Campus Bible Study

537-7173

Sunday Worship at 10:30 University Inn Lower Level For more information call 537-4602 Jeff Koester 776-0112 Dan Walter ....

University Parish of United Methodists Serving K-State

612 Poyntz Ave. 776-9278 Sheryl Witmer, Program Director

Picture & Poster Sale

Hundreds to choose from:

- -Photographs
- ☞Posters
- Fine Art Reproductions
- Foil Etchings
- Southwestern Art

Most Posters and Pictures are

₹6 and under

(prices range from 75e - $35.00)

Monday - Friday this week!

March 26-30

9 a.m. - 7p.m.

K-State Union 1st Floor Concourse

MONET M.C. ESCHER VAN GOGH SEURAT O'KEEFFE

P1CASSO

PENA

ANSEL ADAMS TRAVEL WILDLIFE CARS PERSONALITIES SPORTS FANTASY MILITARY SPACE

INDIAN ART SOUTHWESTERN ART EUROPEAN ART AFRICAN/AMERICAN ART ORIENTAL ART BLACK & WHITE IMAGES POSTERS FRAMES MUCH, MUCH MORE!

k-state union

Steve Wolgast/Staff

Gilbert M. Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic Society, spoke Thursday at the K-State Union on geographic education.

U.S. ignorance 'costly'

Grosvenor says geography is 'key' to future

By Stacle Sanders Collegian Reporter

Students are not getting the message that geography holds the key to their future.

"My basic premise is that Americans don't know enough about the world at a time when that ignorance is very costly to this country," said Gilbert M. Grosvenor, president and chairman of the board of the National Geographic Society.

Grosvenor spoke about geographic illiteracy in the United States to about 400 people Thursday night in the Union Ballroom.

In an international survey, the United States ranked last in geography knowledge, trailing Italy, Mexico and the Soviet Union, Grosve-

"Unfortunately this is also true for the sciences, chemistry, physics and biology," he said.

Grosvenor cited a recent survey that shows Americans believe global economic competitiveness as posing the nation's greatest foreign policy problem.

He said there is a need for a global perspective or appreciation of where the United States fits into the economic scheme of things.

"Our global village is interconnected and interdependent," he said. "What happens in Moscow influences what happens in Tokyo, which influences what happens in Manhattan, N.Y., and Manhattan,

He said Americans are missing many economic opportunities - opportunities that Europeans are taking advantage of, because they are unable to forsee the profitability of such opportunities.

Geography education can have a critical impact on a person's career, Grosvenor said. For example, a real estate agent must know geography in order to determine prime real estate locations. Professions in banking and environmental resource management also depend on

"In my opinion, education is the key to the future of this country,' Grosvenor said.

The National Geographic Society has decided to help educate Americans about geography, he said. The society chose to concentrate its efforts on students from kindergarten through the 12th grade by undertaking a $40-million effort designed to put geography back in the schools.

The program was formulated five years ago and is designed to train geography and social studies teachers to teach geography in exciting and innovative ways, Grosvenor

The society has set up geographic alliances in 35 states, bringing university geography professors together with the elementary and secondary schoolteachers in the state, he said. It is hoped that Kansas will join the alliance next year.

We intend to make a difference in the way Americans see the world," Grosvenor said.

Duane Nellis, program chairman of the Kansas Academy of Science Meeting and professor of geography, said Grosvenor brought out some critical issues in his presentation about the void areas in the educational system and what needs to be done to correct them.

Abortion bill to be rewritten

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - Refusal of the Senate Thursday to accept an abortion parental notification bill considered by most to be legally flawed sent antiabortion legislators back to the drawing board trying to draft a proposal that can gain Senate passage.

The Senate rejected, 19-21, a bill that would have required doctors to notify one parent at least 72 hours in advance when a girl younger than 18 sought an abortion, or face criminal prosecution.

In explaining their no votes during the final roll call, senator after senator denounced the bill, saying it would be unconstitutional if enacted or bad public policy.

Other opponents claimed the bill would endanger some girls, who could face physical harm if forced to divulge a pregnancy.

Supporters claimed the bill addresses a parental rights issue. They said parents of minor girls have a right to know if their daughters are having abortions.

Rejection of the bill was a stinging defeat for anti-abortionist senators who had crafted the bill in a subcommittee of the Senate Federal and State Affairs Committee, making it much tougher than a Houseapproved version.

The measure had been amended five times during floor debate on Wednesday, before it was tentatively approved and advanced to Thursday's final vote.

A majority of senators said they believed the Senate version contained unconstitutional provisions, including a judicial bypass that would be effective only if the federal courts said such a provision was required under the U.S. Constitution.

Students compete in state geography

By Margaret Clarkin Collegian Reporter

Students in grades four through eight will be competing today in the 1990 Kansas Geography Bee in McCain Auditorium.

The geography bee is in conjunction with the University Convocation lecture at 10:30 a.m. today. The lecturer is Gilbert M. Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic Society, which is a sponsor of the national geography bee.

About 102 students will participate in the preliminary competition, said Ben Smith, coordinator of the state bee and assistant professor of curriculum and instruction.

"It will be little sessions, 20 students with a professional geographer," Smith said.

The final competition of the day will consist of 10 students competing for first, second and third place. some of the questions," said Kathy

"We are doing this bee to get schools and children excited about geography," Smith said. "Geography has to do with culture, economics - lots of things.

Paul Sperlich, a fifth-grade student from Bluemont Elementary School will be one of the students competing in the bee.

"When he was taking the test, I looked over his shoulder and saw Lippert, Paul's fifth- grade teacher. "I thought, 'I don't know how well he'll do.' I didn't know the answers to some of the questions."

Lippert found it remarkable that Paul, as a fifth-grader, is competing against students from all across Kansas.

Smith said Jack Staddon, a student from Great Bend, won the national bee last year.

"Who knows, maybe we can place in the top 10 again. That would be fantastic," he said.

Although students learn about state capitals and the details surrounding them in school, overall, schools have not been pressed to teach geography, Smith said.

"You're expected to have an English vocabulary, but not a geographic place vocabulary," Smith said. "It's a shortcoming of the edu-

■ See BEE, Page 16

Housing promotion sparks controversy

By Heather Anderson Collegian Reporter

Incorrect marketing procedures provoked controversy early this semester between Brittnay Ridge Estates, a private townhouse development built primarily for student housing, and the University.

The marketing firm of Russell Sarver, located in Carbondale, Ill., was hired by the local developers of the townhouse and sent approximately 5,300 letters to the parents of freshmen and sophomores promoting the development, said Robert Krause, vice president for institutional advancement.

The letter incorrectly listed residence hall costs as $275 per month and identified the developers with the University.

"Our main concerns were that first of all, the University's name was being used without approval, and secondly, that the market- off-campus, Krause said.

ing strategy was using incorrect residence hall rates," Krause said.

Residence hall room and board rates at the University are about $2,260 a year, about $1,000 less than rates at comparable institutions, he said.

Residence hall rates also include the cost of utilities and a meal plan, which would be an additional expense for students who lived

Dan Weir, owner of Dan Weir Co. Real Estate and local developer of Brittnay Ridge, said the letter was mailed by the marketing firm without his consent. He said it was not his intent to misrepresent on-campus housing

"When we discovered that these letters were sent, I contacted them (Russell Sarver) and told them 'That's not the way things are done here at K-State," Weir said. "We are offering an option of owning a townhome, rather than paying rent, which is a new idea to K-State, although not to the college community.'

Individual four-bedroom units can be purchased by the parents of a student, who could then lease out the other bedrooms to roommates, Weir said.

The owner would then decide the amount ■ See ESTATES, Page 16

VIDEO and NINTENDO GAMES 99¢

Good through April 8

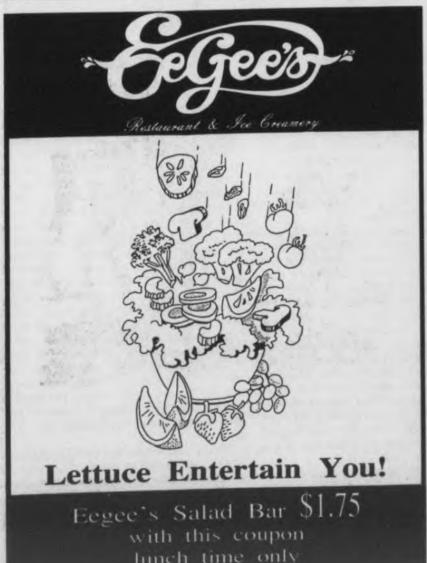

1129 Laramie

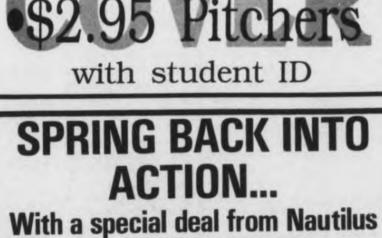

539-3510 720 N. 3rd

537-3999

Join now for our regular 12 month rate and get the 13th month FREE. Yes, not only are we the best club in town, but we know how to offer the best membership deal too.

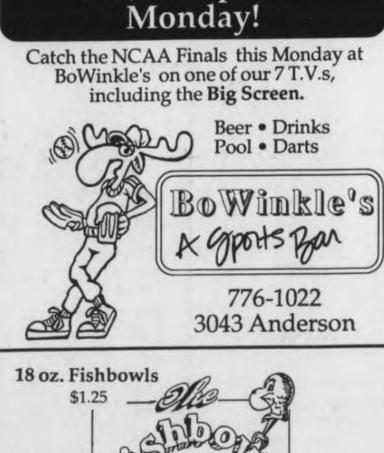

Stop by or call us at ...

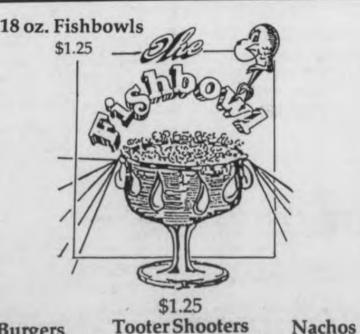

1100 Moro Aggieville

776-1654

Tooter Shooters Burgers (you keep the glass)

105 N. 3rd

776-987

EDITORIAL

Problem-solving ritual seems cyclical was huddled in one of the deep recesses of Stack Level 2A of Farrell Litoget ink on my nose. "I thought a consultant structionist, post-feminist critical modernism or something like that, when Bart Bryce stepped through the window from Stack Level 2 and knelt down beside me.

"Good news, D.L.," he said, digging in his back pack. "The winds of change are blowing in the wind."

"What's up, Bart?" I asked, tucking aside the dusty book I was reading and leaning back against the bookshelf.

"The administration is finally doing something which will ultimately help Farrell Library.' "Are they moving it to fourth on the list of improvements?"

"Better." "They're telling the state Legislature to get off their collective incumbencies and pass Margin of Excellence?"

"I give up, Bart. What else can be done?" Bart shoved an inky copy of the Collegian into my face. "They're hiring a consultant to come in and determine the needs of the library."

brary, researching Neo-decon- had already determined the needs of the library a few years ago."

"Well, that was a long time ago, D.L., The Dwayne needs of the library might have changed in the last few years.

"They've gotten worse."

"You see, that's a significant change the consultant will be on the watch for."

"How much are they paying this consultant?"

Bart looked at the article. "Twenty-five thousand dollars.'

"Twenty-five thousand dollars? I could tell them what's wrong for a heck of a lot less than 25 grand." I started counting on my fingers. "They need more space, more staff and more money. End of analysis. Now buy me a

"D.L., D.L., "Bart shook his head. "You just don't understand the administrative problem-solving ritual."

frowned. "Please enlighten me." 'It begins with an alleged need. If that need really exists, someone will eventually complain about it. When enough people complain, the administration makes a statement of support. If the problem still exists after the statement, a consultant is hired. If the consultant determines a problem exists, then a problem does exist, and the administration will take the problem into consideration."

"When do they act on the problem?" art studied the article for a second. "I'm not sure. I think they wait for several years, and if people are still complaining, another consultant is hired to reassess the needs. I think that's the stage Farrell Library is at." "I don't mean to be rude to the system, Bart, but if they just gave the $25,000 directly to the library, instead of to a consultant, couldn't some minor improvements be made, or more student staff hired?"

"But without a survey, how can you determine the needs that money would have to be spent on? We wouldn't want to fix more than we had to or spend any more money than is

"But haven't we determined what the needs of Farrell are by now? Isn't it just time to get to work?"

Bart nodded. "In a realistic sense you're right, D.L. We do know what the needs are and it would seem time to get to work. However, in an administrative sense, as well as a legislative sense, enough research has yet to be done on the issue to warrant a mandate to investigate the final needs in order to correct the alleged problems and satisfy the alleged

I was left momentarily speechless. There was something in that twisted logic that made a twisted sort of sense on a twisted level. I had to avert my eyes.

As I looked down at the floor, I realized that, between the seams in the ply-wood, I good see a type of translucent glass. I looked up and realized a similar substance covered the entire ceiling above me.

"Bart," I said, pointing to the ceiling. "Do you realize the floors in this place are made of Bart looked up. He, too, seemed a bit stunned. "I'd heard as much. But I never believed it could be true.'

'That's twisted. Can you imagine the mind-set of an architect who would give a building, a library, glass floors? What a Bart huffed in moral disgust. "Is it any wonder there's a flasher loose in this place? Or that they had to wall up one of the stacks because too many couples were ... well you know ... researching, with each other, in a non-ocular sense.'

I looked around behind me. "Well, one of the security guards here assures me that the flasher hasn't been around for a while."

'Maybe we should just give the flasher an office. He could deliver books or something. That would help meet the staff needs.'

I nodded. "That might work. Or maybe we should make members of the state legislature and the Board of Regents serve a two-week term here as a reference librarian. Then we might get something done."

"Yeah," Bart said. "They might hurry up and hire another consultant."

Senate committee out to slit UFM's throat

Barry Beck and the rest of the Student Senate Finance Committee weren't looking out for the students' best interests when they recommended that Senate deny $13,256.35 in student fee money for 1990-91.

Beck, coordinator of finances, said the programs UFM offers weren't conducive to higher education and that the finance committee only wanted to fund the "winners, not the losers."

The criteria the committee used to determine the winners obviously didn't include student participation or state and national recognition.

About 3,000 students and 2,000 the resources offered by UFM each year. Some of these include classes and seminars in family development, environmental issues and hobbies.

Students also assist UFM in some programs. University students help teach literacy in local schools and organize seminars such as Earth Day 1990.

The state Legislature makes available grant money for communities to set up programs like UFM. So far, UFM has helped 55 communities start communityeducation programs.

Perhaps the finance committee was using the same myopic vision as the University administrators

EDITOR.

when they cut the UFM budget by $8,000 this year and an additional $12,000 next year.

Both groups are sending a message to UFM and the community that supports its activities that UFM is unimportant. They claim the courses offered are outside the University's mission and could, in most cases, be offered by the city.

But only an organization like UFM, as part of the University, could integrate the knowledge, talent and resources of faculty and staff members into a community setting. UFM offers an eclectic mix of programs that may not appeal to everyone, but that's the intention. local residents take advantage of UFM should be viewed as a clearinghouse that matches resources with needs that don't fit the standard classifications of regular academic programs.

> UFM is invaluable if its worth is put in terms of its contribution to the community. It's probably the cheapest public-relations vehicle the University has to build a positive relationship with the community.

The money the finance committee did not recommend was itemized to cover UFM's operating costs, including telephone bills and office supplies. It essentially recommended that Senate slit the throat of an already wounded organization.

YOU'LL NO LONGER BE THE INVISIBLE SUFFERERS, THE FORGOTTEN PEOPLE, THE UNCOUNTED AMERICANS... NOW YOU'LL BE A STATISTIC. CENSUS

LETTERS

Save UFM

Editor,

I read with dismay and anger, the comments of Barry Beck, the coordinator of finances for Student Senate. His comments about UFM reflected an obvious lack of understanding and, it seemed, a streak of mean-spiritedness.

To say, as Beck did, that "there are a lot of classes like the 'care and appreciation of cats' and 'pine cone care' that are not conducive to higher education," is not only to trivialize the course offerings of UFM but also to ignore the numerous other activities UFM is in-

There are hobbies and crafts classes at UFM, as there should be, if people want to teach them and people want to take them, be they K-State students or not. There are also courses listed in the current catalog ranging from "Historical Preservation of Your Home" to a series of money management courses to computer classes to a series of sessions about local and national issues (such as one in April on "The Environment at Risk.") There's "Beginning Bird Watching" and "Alcoholism: Answers Behind the Disease." There's a course on "Liberation Theology" and a "Beginning Russian" course.

There's a hell of a lot more, too. Perhaps Barry Beck and the finance committee hadn't noticed these courses. But the point is this: there's substantially more to UFM than Beck's remarks indicate.

Furthermore, UFM asserts its presence in the community through other programs besides offering classes. Let me give an example. I'm working with UFM staff, community volunteers and K-State students on Earth Day 1990, which will take place April 22. Earth Day is an international event focusing attention on environmental issues.

Well, UFM has been serving as a coordinating agency, clearinghouse and support center for local Earth Day planning. I'm helping coordinate publicity for Flint Hills Earth Day 1990 events, and the stark fact is that few of the events planned throughout April . events in Manhattan and on campus — would be taking place unless UFM had taken a lead

In fact, Earth Day is a prime example of UFM's unique position to bring the campus and community together. Members of Students Acting to Save a Vulnerable Enviornment are themselves working hard on events they are planning - and they are working right alongside members of the Manhattan community. UFM has brought us together for a common goal.

It comes down to this: UFM is a community resource that matters. If members of the finance committee don't agree with that, let them talk to the students I'm teaching in a UFM creative writing class. They seem to think their UFM experience is worthwhile.

So, I urge the Student Senate to turn back the finance committee's decision and continue funding UFM this year and for years to come. It is a terribly important resource to the campus and the community. UFM should not they go roaring around the curves. Maybe it just bothers me more because it hasn't been that long since a young man on a motorcycle lost his life taking the curves too fast on the Spillway Marina Road.

> Christopher Cokinos staff assistant, Kansas Regents

Lastly, I want to thank the Collegian for printing this article. At first, I was incensed by the casual and encouraging attitude portrayed in the story, but after I calmed down, I realized what a favor you have done for us. We now know some of the names of the people who abuse the public roads where we live and I plan to send a copy of the article to the Pottawatomie County Sheriff. Hopefully, he can use the information to better control a very serious problem that has developed on the east side of Tuttle Creek.

> Lynne S. Ross assistant professor of speech

Bikers pose threat

The article, "The Need for Speed," that you published Wednesday was very informative - especially for those of us who live on the east side of Tuttle Creek and share the roads with bikers who need to speed. Reading about their backgrounds, bikes and ambitions gave some insight into the motivation it takes to willingly risk their lives and the lives of others as they ride at speeds greatly exceeding the 20 mph legal speed limit in the area often on the wrong side of the road as they go around blind curves. Perhaps it would be just as informative to them to hear how those of us who live in that area feel about their illegal and frightening behavior.

First of all, and most important, they threaten our safety and the safety of those who use the Spillway Marina State Park. It is frightening to be driving home from work and encounter three bikers taking up the whole road as they come around one of the curves practicing their race techniques. Maybe it is the "inexperienced bikers who create the bad image," but if you examine the Collegian photographs that accompanied the article, you may have noticed that the experienced biker was rounding the curve at the far side of the wrong lane. Not only do we drive in that area, but there are many who enjoy walking in the park - which we have learned to avoid when we hear the loud whine of bikers entering the park.

And that brings up another problem with the bikers who "need to speed." We dread to hear the loud, obnoxious, high-pitched whine of their machines because it also ruins the peace and quiet of the countryside. Sitting on your deck enjoying the sunset is not enhanced by the loud whine of several bikers racing through the park with a noise that puts your teeth on edge as you wait to hear a crash as

Beliefs imposed

In response to Matthew Wasko's article on abortion being wrong in any circumstance, I would like to address this narrow-minded columnist. I, for one, am getting extremely tired of people trying to inflict beliefs on everyone else concerning abortion. It seems to me that a vast majority of pro-lifers are men (like Wasko), who have not and will never face the loneliness and utter desperation an unwanted pregnancy brings a woman. I cannot believe that Wasko and his counterparts would wish that a raped woman - after going through the humiliation and psychological damage a rape brings - should go through a full-term pregnancy. How cruel and insensitive! If a woman is sure she can't handle the immense responsibility of bringing a life into this world, she should not be made to do so just because a bunch of hypocritical pro-lifers feel she must. Personally, I would have serious reservations about listening to a group of people who, because they don't feel like they get enough attention, go and bomb a few clinics. When pro-lifers so carelessly put lives in danger, it makes it hard to believe reverence for human life is so Wasko says to look into the facts and information, and make an educated decision on the abortion issue. My question to him is how are we going to make our own decision if the option to choose is taken away from us? Women need to stand up for rights - their right to choose.

> Christy Cullen sophomore in pre-professional secondary education

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

MANACINIC EDITOR	Cathodas David
THE RESERVE THE PROPERTY OF THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TWO IS NOT THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TWO IS NAMED IN COL	Catherine Loud
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Nancy Downing
COPY CHIEF	Wendy Nakoneczny, Jane Thompson, Angela Waltz  Lori Antrim, Paul Branson, Steve Franzen,
COPY EDITORS
STAFF REPORTERS	Cosima Hadidi, Lori Mikesell, Tomari Quinn, Melissa Simpson
The second secon	Cosima riadidi, Lori Mikeseli, Tolinari Quali Bryan Ackley
SCIENCE REPORTER	Margaret Clarkin, Oliver Kaubisch,
STAFF PHOTOGRAPHERS	Margaret Clarkin, Oliver Kaubisch, Brian Kratzer, Mark Leffingwell, David Mayes, Mike Venso, Steve Wolgast
SPORTS REPORTERS	Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan Wicker
COLUMNISTS	Kirk Caraway, Karin Dell'Antonia, Audra Dietz,
	Jana Leep, Liwayne Lively, John Musaman, Olad Schoolin
REVIEWERS	Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Mussman, Brad Seabourn Mark Butler, Rod Gillespie, Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggins
	Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Schogging
STRIP CARTOONISTS	Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hayden Richard Broadfoot
EDITORIAL BOARD
EDITORIA
	Susan L'Ecuyer, John Mussman, Jim Rourk,
	Erwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svoboda Kirk Caraway
	A describing Staff
	Advertising Staff
- PATERTICING MANACER	Sara Shutler  Dan Golden
ADVERTISING MAINAGER	Dan Golden Ronnie Metz
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MAINAGER
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCO
	Mauria Stonestreet Amy Zick
The same of the sa	Laura Boone, Paul Fleming
PHOTOGRAPHERS	Dana Franklin, Tammy Cinn,
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTAN	Doug Griffith, Tammi Landis
The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020),	a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications
Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.	The Collegian is published Monday through Friday data (
day and Thursday during summer session	s. Second. class postage pand at Authorities 103, Kansas State University, Manhat- snass State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhat-
POSTMASTER: Send address changes to K	THE STATE CONGRET, CITCHISTON DESS, RESERVE 100, PARTIES STATE OF THE ten Van 66506-7167.	W - W - W - W - W - W - W - W - W - W -

n, n.an. 0000-7107.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560, Classified word adving questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

VIRTUOSO

Dieball performs weekly at the Greenery.

FACING THE MUSIC

When a rare form of spinal cancer hit Jennie Dieball, she quit her daytime job and devoted her time to singing and performing. After working around Kansas City, she now performs around Manhattan.

hen Jennie Dieball, a fun-loving woman with curly blond hair, found out she had cancer of the spine in fall 1986, she quit her day job and started entertaining full-time.

"I quit my day job because I said life is too short and I got in the first band I could," Dieball said.

The band she joined was Parade, a top-40 and classic rock band in Kansas City. When she joined, the band traveled extensively, but she couldn't even stand up. She had to perform sitting on a stool, which, she said, was difficult to do.

"I have to work harder to give off more energy sitting down. I also had to learn to sing differently sitting down," said Dieball. "I also had to learn not to feel guilty about depending on other people to help me physically."

Dieball said she considers herself mainly a vocalist who plays the guitar and some keyboards and flute. She has been entertaining in one way or another for 25 of her 31 years. She sang her first solo, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," in church when she was 6.

she was 6.

Nine years ago, Dieball was in a country rock band called Prairie Star, based in Kansas City. They traveled in this area and played at the grand opening of the Ranch Saloon, which is owned by her brother, Bob Dieball.

Bob Dieball said he is proud of his younger sister.

"It's inspiring to listen to her. Not everyone can sing like she does," he said. "She makes me wish I could play the guitar."

She decided to move back home to Manhattan in June 1987 after she started to lose feeling in her legs because of the cancer in her spine. She had fallen a couple of times on stage and realized she needed more care than she could give herself.

The disease she has, astrocytoma, is a brain tumor on her spine and is very rare. A doctor in Kansas City told her it was the eighth documented case he'd seen in the United States in 25 years.

Even though she takes nine pain pills, three times a day for the pain, Dieball refuses to succomb to her disease. In fact, she said she thinks she is pretty lucky.

"Number one, if the tumor would have grown where it was supposed to; in my, head, it would have killed me a long time ago. Number two, it could've paralyzed me any day and it didn't and three, they weren't sure if I could walk after surgery and I beat that," she said.

Dieball is able to walk with braces on her legs and she has to drive with hand controls in her van. She said it was hard to accept at first, but now she has a good time with them.

The type of cancer she has won't spread to other tissue and Dieball said she feels lucky for that. "If it grows again, I'm screwed. But it's not going to," she stated.

There have been some difficulties for Dieball in moving back to Manhattan. She said the hardest thing was giving up her independence and admitting she needed help.

"If I ever feel too dependent on someone, it bothers me a lot," said Dieball. "I've always been a giver and when something like cancer happens, it makes you learn to get from others."

Something else she has had to get used to is her lack of stamina. She knows she has only so much energy for the day and has to pace herself.

"It's like what can I do for fun today? Who can I laugh with?" Dieball said. "Laughing is a natural painkiller so I try to laugh whenever possible."

Her brother, Bob Dieball, can attest to Jennie's positive outlook on "The most important thing is her talent and her personality," he said. "She can get along with everyone and that thing (cancer) isn't going to slow her down. She's going to do what she wants to do. She's pretty set in her ways."

in her ways."

Dieball said she misses the band excitement and crowd response she had in Kansas City, but doing the single act has made her a much better musician because there was no one else to depend on.

"I think I'd be lying if I said I didn't get satisfaction out of the attention — out of the response of others," she said.

But more importantly than that, she said music is what she bases her existence on.

"It's what I am — it's me. It's the most important thing in my life. It keeps me going through rough times and it's the best pain reliever I've found. It frees the spirit."

The group Dieball has now is called "Side Saddle," an all-female group. Sometimes it is only Dieball and sometimes it includes Kris Wingfield, who also sings and plays keyboards, and JoAnna Toenniessen, who plays the drums.

Dieball doesn't mind small crowds; her enjoyment comes from singing.

Side Saddle frequently plays at Town Center mall and the K-State Union. They also play at the Greenery Lounge in the All Seasons Motel at least once a week. They are looking for more female members as well as more places to book their band.

Dieball said one thing she would like people to learn from her bout with cancer is that they can be strong through something like that and know they can come out a better person than before. She said the only way to make it through is by having a good attitude.

"I can't say I don't have weak moments, but for the most part I'm stronger than I've ever been," said

Dieball.
In 1988, Dieball recorded a song in Nashville. She said it was fun and something she would like to do "The ultimate goal would be to have a big recording contract and to be singing for thousands of people," Dieball said, laughing.

Dieball said she enjoys writing her own songs especially about things close to her heart.

"Most of the tunes I write are expressing something I can't express any other way," she said. "I don't know where I'd be without my music. I think how lucky I am that I lost the ability of my legs and not my arms."

Dieball said she found she was stronger than she realized.

"You'd be surprised what you have in yourself when you really have to draw upon it," said Dieball.

PHOTOS BY STEVE WOLGAST STORY BY ERICA YENNI

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

Henson tallies 19 in defeat

East stars down West in coaches' all-star tilt

By Chris Hays Sports Editor

DENVER - For once in K-State guard Steve Henson's college basketball career, this one was just for Sure Henson wanted to show the numerous professional scouts on hand, like Los Angeles Laker general manager Jerry West, what kind of tools he had, but the McPherson native was just glad to be a part of the National Association of Basketball Coaches All-America game at the Denver Coliseum Thursday.

Henson showed he could play with the big boys, like LaSalle all-American Lionel Simmons, as he poured in 19 points and dealt out seven assists for the West squad in a 127-126 loss to the East.

"It was a lot of fun," Henson said. "It was a lot different from the way I'm used to playing. The tempo was a lot faster. We played faster that first five minutes than I played in a lot of games this year.'

Henson connected on 6-of-12 shots from the field, including three three-pointers, as he helped the West nearly pull off a victory in the

His last decision, however, was what he considered his worst of the whole evening.

After Connecticut's Tate George hit two free throws with four seconds remaining to put the East up 127-124, Henson took the inbounds pass and pushed it up the floor. Instead of taking the three-pointer he had open for just a second, he dished off to Colorado State's Mike Mitchell underneath for a layup. Mitchell's two-point bucket wasn't enough and the East hung on

"I made a bad decision there at the end," Henson said to West coach Steve Fisher of Michigan as the two met each other outside the lockerroom afterward.

But Fisher didn't seem to mind. At the end, the competitiveness in every player began to show, but for most of the 40 minutes, it was evident that the contest was more-orless just for fun.

Players ribbed each other, back and forth. Coaches yelled at officials and then just laughed. For once, it was just a game.

Fans that watched the game back in the K-State-Kansas area got something they had talked about all year long, but only briefly.

WEST (126)

Fisher 3-5 1-2 7, Mitchell 7-16 1-2 15, Davis 2-5 3-14 7, Mays 8-15 4-4 23, Henson 6-12 4-4 19, Buechler 4-12 4-4 12, Pritchard 4-9 1-3 11, Reese 4-11 3-4 11, Newbern 2-10 3-6 7, McArthur 6-10 2-4 14. Totals 46-105 26-47 126. EAST (127)

Simmons 4-8 2-4 11, Campbell 8-13 1-2 17, Ogg 4-5 0-0 8, George 6-9 2-2 15, Tillmon 3-8 2-3 8, Harvey 3-7 2-2 8, English 5-12 1-3 13, Thompson 8-13 2-7 18, Williams 4-9 3-5 11, Kessler 7-10 4-4 18. Totals 52-94 19-32 127.

Henson brings the ball up court during the National Association of Basketball Coaches All-Star game Thursday evening in Denver Collseum. Henson's West All-Stars lost to the East 127-126.

Steve Henson makes last minute preparations before taking the floor by lacing up his shoes. The Wildcat senior scored 19 points.

Fisher decided he needed more shooters in the game with four seconds left and George at the line, and he put in Henson to pair up with KU's Kevin Pritchard.

'You know, it's too bad we couldn't have done it a little bit more," Henson said, "but with the both of us being point guards, it was just kind of hard to do."

Henson probably impressed the Coliseum crowd most with his passing in the first half.

His needle-like bounce pass to Fame guard, turned GM, West. Alaska-Anchorage's Todd Fisher brought oohs and aahs from the 7,161 in attendance and then seconds later, he dealt a nifty assist to UTEP's Antonio Davis for a dunk.

Henson said he would have liked to think he impressed some of the scouts on hand, but that wasn't his main goal. There were plenty of people there whose main goal was to watch the players, like Hall of

"He's a nice player," West said. "And he was a good guard that played in a good conference.

"And people are always going to have an interest in a kid like him because he comes from a good program. Lon Kruger does a nice job at Kansas State, and the kids that come out of there are always very coachable."

Capriotti takes team outdoors

> By Scott Paske Sports Reporter

Back to the great outdoors. K-State track coach John Capriotti has always emphasized the importance of the outdoor season, and the Wildcats will get their first shot in 1990 by playing host for the KSU Invitational Saturday at R.V. Christian Track. The seven-team event begins at 10 a.m. with the pole vault and long jump. Running events are slated for 11 a.m.

"We wanted a pretty low-key meet to start the season so we could gauge where we're at," Capriotti said. "Actually, I think this has turned out to be a pretty good field of teams we have coming in."

Included on the list are Northern Iowa, Northwest Missouri State, Pittsburg State and Morningside College. Perennial junior college power Barton County and Coffeyville Community College complete the field. A small group of other schools will bring individuals to compete, including Big Eight foe Nebraska.

"This is a build-up meet for us," Capriotti said. "We're just trying to get people's engines warmed up, so to speak, if you can do that in this weather.'

For that reason, Capriotti will shuffle his personnel in certain events, particularly his distance runners.

"A lot of them will be running the shorter distances like the 1,500 meters," Capriotti said. "Also, many of our multi-event people will be doing some odd events to get them tuned up for the Texas Relays next week." The 'Cats are coming off a strong indoor season in which the women finished second and the men third at the Big Eight Championships.

For the first time in four years, K-State had four All-America performers from the NCAA Indoor Championships — Angie Miller (shot put), Carla Shannon (triple jump), Connie Teaberry (high jump) and Janet Haskin (3,000 meters).

K-State has already had one member qualify for the NCAA Outdoor Championships May 31 through June 2 in Durham, N.C., as senior decathlete Steve Fritz won the 10-event title at the Arizona Invitational March 15. Fritz scored 7,643 points in beating the first- and third-place finishers from last year's NCAA meet.

"I wouldn't be surprised if we get another NCAA qualifier at this meet," Capriotti said.

He said the three-week layoff between indoor and outdoor seasons has been beneficial.

"The biggest transition between seasons is in the psychological aspects," he said. "We always consider ourselves to be a better outdoor team, but you've got to get yourself ready because it's a big haul to the Big Eight meet."

Soccer team set to begin

By The Collegian Staff

The K-State women's soccer team will play host to its first tournament beginning Saturday at Frank Anneberg Park.

The 'Cats Classic will begin with seven first- and second-round games Saturday and continue with semifinal games Sunday morning at Anneberg. The championship game will be Sunday at 1 p.m. at Memorial Stadium.

Besides K-State, the field will include Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska-Omaha. K-State will get underway with a first-round game against Missouri at noon Saturday.

Three games will be played at noon Saturday. Second-round action will begin with two games at 2 p.m. and two games at 4 p.m.

The first two games of the K-State women's team's outdoor season were cancelled because of snow last weekend. The heavy storm that hit most of the Midwest postponed games that the Wildcat women had scheduled with Oklahoma State at Stillwater and Oklahoma at Norman.

During the indoor season, K-State breezed through a tournament at Nebraska in Lincoln, going 5-0 in the tourney, while defeating the host Nebraska squad, 3-0, in the championship game.

Fullbacks Margie Nass and Mo Hanek and center/halfback Gaby Hanek lead the offensive punch for the Wildcat women.

The women's soccer team will play host to its first tournament beginning at noon Saturday with two games in Frank Anneberg Park.

Final Four stage

Brian Kratzer/Staff

By The Associated Press

DENVER - Georgia Tech and Duke both hail from the Atlantic Coast Conference, and both rely on freshmen point guards. So much for similarities.

While it certainly isn't unusual for one conference to have two teams in the Final Four - it's happened three times in a row, six times in the last decade - rarely have they brought such different histories to the NCAA tournament.

Duke, which meets Arkansas, 30-4, in the first game of Saturday's semifinal doubleheader at 4:43 p.m., has become as much a fixture in the Final Four as frantic alumni begging for tickets.

The Blue Devils, 28-8, have been the last three in a row. Only John Wooden of UCLA with 12 appearances in 14 years surpasses what coach Mike Krzyzewski has done at Still, Krzyzewski has yet to have a national championship net draped around his neck.

Georgia Tech, which beat Duke in the ACC tournament semifinals after being swept by the Blue Devils in the regular season, faces UNLV, 33-5, the preseason No. 1 team and only top seed to get to Denver, in the second semifinal. The game will start 30 minutes after completion of the first there four of the last five years and ance after a decade of being expected to get there.

The Yellow Jackets, 28-6, are making their first Final Four appear- New York area.

Georgia Tech failed to advance past the first round of the ACC tournament the last three seasons and four other times since joining the conference in 1980.

The NCAAs were no better. The Yellow Jackets sandwiched firstround losses around a second-round knockout in 1988.

The teams do have one thing in common: freshman point guards.

Georgia Tech's Kenny Anderson and Duke's Bobby Hurley came on the scene at the same time after spectacular high school careers in the ### home to face Lobos

By Dan Wicker Sports Reporter

For the first time since Feb. 3, the K-State tennis team will be playing with the home court advantage instead of journeying to the enemy's ground.

The 'Cats take the home surface against regional rival New Mexico at 8:30 a.m. Sunday.

The non-conference match, which takes place just four days after K-State opened Big Eight play, should provide the team a great chance to improve for the Big Eight season, and provides a challenging opponent in New Mexico, Coach Steve Bietau

"They do have a good team. I think they may be down slightly from last year," Bietau said. "The way the scheduling ended up, we don't play another conference match until a week from Saturday. I normally don't play non-conference matches during the conference season, but this is one exception."

K-State has yet to face New Mexico in a match since Bietau has been coach. He said he has seen some New Mexico results from early March and realizes they will be a good opponent.

"I can't quote you scores, but what I can say is that they have had some good results against some good teams," Bietau said.

Another reason why Bietau believes the team will be a good opponent is that several of the players on the team know players at K-State. "They have a teammate that Sara (Hancock) and Helen (Schildknecht) knew from Midland (junior college in Texas), and they also have a girl from Topeka who was a high school teammate of Angie's (Gover). So we know some of the people on the team and that it is a pretty good program." K-State will be rebounding from a Big Eight season-opening loss to Kansas on Wednesday. Bietau said his team should respond well to the New Mexico match because it realizes how tough a match the Kansas

"I hope they respond positively. I think they will because they are a very mature team," Bietau said. "I think they see the match for what it was. It was a hard-fought, close contest, and we just came up a little short."

'Cats, OU begin series

K-State hosts streaking Sooners in Big 8 opener

By Scott Paske Sports Reporter

It's the time of the season K-State baseball coach Mike Clark has set his sights on since he brought out the bats and balls last fall - Big Eight Conference time.

Unfortunately, the Wildcats' preparation for tonight's conference opener with Oklahoma has been altered, twisted and moved inside because of recent showers that have hit the Manhattan area. K-State's last game was a 9-1 loss at Southwest Missouri State nine

"I really wish I knew if we were ready," Clark said. "The kids haven't had their cleats on dirt but two of the last 10 days. We haven't played in so long.

Should Mother Nature cooperate, the 'Cats and Sooners will begin a four-game series at 7 p.m. at Frank Myers Field. A doubleheader is slated for 5 p.m. Saturday, and the teams will conclude with a 12:30 p.m. game Sunday.

Clark said if tonight's game was rained out, a pair of doubleheaders would be scheduled for Saturday and Sunday. Saturday's starting time would be moved to early afternoon.

"We'd be trying to avoid having all of the games played in a short period of time," he said.

The matchup involves teams heading in different directions. The Sooners, 17-7, have won nine straight games, including a 7-6 win at home over defending Big Eight champion Oklahoma State Wednesday that opened conference

"We're starting off with one of the top teams in the league, there's no doubt about that," Clark said. "They'll be an awfully good challenge for us."

K-State, 8-11, has lost eight of its last 10 games, including a 2-6 mark during a spring break trip to Florida and Mississippi.

"There were some frustrations setting in during that time because we were in position to win a lot of those ball games," Clark said. "Hopefully, the layoff has done us some good in getting through that."

During the Florida trip, the 'Cats lost five games by a total of eight runs. Clark said the team's inability to deliver a key hit, which has helped account for a .244 team batting average, keyed the frustration.

"Our pitching and defense have been pretty solid to this point," he said. "Eventually, we're going to get one of those big hits to fall."

K-State's offense will be challenged by perhaps the league's most solid pitching staff, led by junior Kevin King and sophomore Matt Reubel. King, an all-Big Eight performer last season, has a 4-1 record, while Reubel is 3-0 with 42 strikeouts and 18 walks in 29% innings.

'They have great pitching," Clark said. "It's a real concern for us because we haven't seen a whole lot of live pitching lately."

Oklahoma has six hitters who have appeared in at least 18 games batting over .300. The Sooners are batting .318 as a team.

The 'Cats will counter with sophomore lefthander Chris Hmielewski tonight. David Hierholzer and Sean Pedersen are scheduled to pitch the doubleheader, while either Kent Hipp or Greg McNamara will throw on Sunday.

'We've only had three games out of our 19 that we haven't been in a position to win heading into the last couple of innings," Clark said. "Our staff's done a real fine job getting us into position. We just need to stop leaving so many runners on base."

'Cat games

The K-State baseball team opens Big Eight play this weekend against the Oklahoma Sooners, and WIBW Radio will be on hand.

The Topeka station, which flagships the Wildcat Football and Basketball Networks and the Kansas City Royals Network, will carry Sunday's game against Oklahoma. That broadcast is the first of 15 Wildcat games that will be carried by WIBW. Twelve of those contests are against Big Eight foes.

Mitch Holthus, the voice of K-State's football and basketball networks, and recently named as the Kansas Sportscaster of the Year, will call the action.

"We feel that baseball is an additional commitment that we can give Kansas State University," Holthus said. "This is one tangible

From Staff and Wire Reports way that we can support the athletic department."

WIBW to broadcast 15

"We have been impressed with the things that Mike Clark has been able to achieve with the program," Holthus added. "Packaged with the Kansas City Royals, we feel it gives area fans great weekends of Joining Holthus in the booth will be a series of three rotating color analysts, including two from Manhattan.

Ben Boyle, K-State assistant sports information director, will be one of the analysts. He worked as an analyst for WIBW during the recently-concluded Lady Cat

David Svoboda, Collegian sports reporter, will be another of the three analysts. Svoboda worked for KSDB-FM during the 1988-89 season as a Lady Cat analyst.

Schedule of games/broadcast times April 1, Oklahoma, single game, 4 p.m., April 7, at Kansas, doubleheader, 5 p.m.,

April 8, at Kansas, single game, 12:30 p.m.,

April 14, Missouri, doubleheader, 5 p.m.,

April 15, Missouri, single game, 4 p.m., tape delay. April 21, Iowa State, doubleheader, 5 p.m.,

April 22, Iowa State, single game, 4 p.m., tape delay. April 28, Northern Colorado, doubleheader, 4 p.m., joined in progress. April 29, Northern Colorado, single game,

4 p.m., tape delay. May 5, at Nebraska, single game, 4 p.m., May 13, at Oklahoma State, single game, 4 p.m., tape delay.

(All tape delay broadcasts will immediately follow Royals baseball. Start times approximate for tape delay. Actual start time for tape delay games is 12:30 p.m.)

Jordan: 'My best game'

By The Associated Press

RICHFIELD, Ohio - Michael Jordan didn't hesitate when asked what he considered to be the best of his many great games.

"This would have to be it," Jordan said after scoring a career-high 69 points and leading the Chicago Bulls to a 117-113 overtime victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers Wednesday night. "Everything seemed to fall and I found myself in a great rhythm." Jordan made 23 of 27 field goal attempts and 21 of 23 foul shots while compiling the ninth best single-game scoring performance in NBA history.

He grabbed a career-high 18 rebounds, had six assists and four steals. Jordan scored 16 points in the first quarter, 15 in the second, 20 in the third, 10 in the fourth and eight in

"I've been saying that I try to do whatever it takes for us to win, whether it's scoring points, getting rebounds or making assists," Jordan said. " ... I think this exemplified it."

Jordan's previous career high was 63 points in a double overtime 135-131 playoff loss at Boston on April 20, 1986. The 63 points is a record for an NBA playoff game.

His best regular season performance had been 61 points, at Detroit on March 4, 1987, in an overtime game, and equaled on April 16, 1987, at Chicago against Atlanta.

The scoring performance was the second-best ever by a guard. David Thompson, the last player to score more than Jordan's 69 points in a game, scored 73 for Denver on April

"I didn't think about being tired because I wanted to win the game," Jordan said after playing 50 minutes. "I've been in that situation where I've scored a lot of points and we lost and I didn't want that to happen.

"So I kept pushing myself, kept talking to myself, saying, 'Don't stop, don't stop. Keep going.' You feel better about the effort when you

Jordan lifted his league-leading scoring average to 33.6 points per game. He has led the NBA in scoring the past three seasons.

He is averaging 50.5 points in four games against Cleveland this season - all Chicago victories, Of Jordan's 98 games with at least 40 points, 19 have been against Cleveland. He has scored 50 points or more 24 times, six against the Cavaliers.

Jordan made a last-second jump shot to beat Cleveland in the fifth and deciding game of a playoff series last

"The guy did it over and over," Cleveland's John Williams said. "He's one in a million, one in a billion. I don't think we'll ever see a player like him again. He's probably the world's greatest athlete."

"I'll always remember this as the night that Michael Jordan and I combined to score 70 points," said Bulls' rookie forward Stacey King, who scored one point.

Colorado hires Harrington as new basketball coach

By The Associated Press

DENVER - Promising an uptempo style of play that will resemble Oklahoma, Joe Harrington was introduced Thursday as Colorado's new basketball coach.

Harrington, 44, who guided Long Beach State to a 23-9 record and an NIT berth this season, said at a news conference that he will sign a fiveyear contract. "We're still working on it, but I have no problem with it,'

Harrington succeeds Tom Miller, who was fired Feb. 26 after Colorado had finished last in the Big Eight for the fifth straight year — four under

Asked why he left a successful program at Long Beach for one that has languished, Harrington said, "I feel this is a step in the right direction professionally. This is a state university with fine academics and a great arena. It plays in a good conference. I'm looking forward to the challenge. Any coach who is competitive wants to play the best competition."

Colorado athletic director Bill Marolt said the school's search committee developed an "ideal profile" that called for the new coach to be "a proven recruiter, an individual who could mix well in the community and with the media, and most of all who was a good basketball coach. We want to consistently compete on the national level.

"As we worked through the process, it became more and more evident that Joe Harrington was the best match for the University of Colorado."

Harrington posted a 53-36 record in three seasons at Long Beach State. He has a 179-135 career record in 11 seasons, including stints at George Mason and Hofstra. One of his George Mason teams reached the NIT, as did two of his Long Beach teams, including this year's The 49ers beat Arizona State 86-71 in the first round and then lost to Hawaii,

In the 1970s he was an assistant at his alma mater, Maryland, under Lefty Driesell.

"It is with some sadness that I leave Long Beach," he said. "They've been great to me. I am leaving a great group of players without whose dedication I wouldn't even be

He said he would be visible in the community and would actively recruit in the inner-city of Denver.

"We'll push the ball on offense and press on defense," he said. "When we play Oklahoma, you'll see two teams a lot alike.

"We'll push the ball but we won't lose control on offense. We'll take a lot of 3-point shots, I guarantee you. We'll play the type of basketball that players like to play and fans like to watch. We'll be aggressive and we'll be in good condition."

Shaun Vandiver, who led Colorado this season with a 22.3 scoring average, had vowed not to return for his senior season if Miller were fired. He has since softened his stance.

"I haven't met Vandiver yet, but I'm sure he'll stay," said Harrington, who has scheduled a meeting with his new players on Monday.

"I'll tell them we're making a commitment to excellence," he said. "I'll set the tone on how hard we're going to work. Playing defense the way we want is really an attitude. We'll work on establishing that attitude right away."

The Partners and Professionals of the Kansas City Office of KPMG Peat Marwick are pleased to congratulate the Faculty of the Kansas State University College of Business Administration, Department of Accounting upon it's receipt of one of only five national grants from the Accounting Education Change Commission. We wish them success in their continuing commitment to accounting excellence.

Unveiled

O'Connor equals debut success

Mark Butler REVIEW

It is not an uncommon phenomenon to find a new artist who releases an album full of brilliance and imagination.

Likewise, it is not unusual to find the same promising artist follow up a stunning debut with an overblown attempt that falls flat on its overblown

This is not one of those albums. Irish rocker Sinead O'Connor has not only managed to match the promise of her debut, "The Lion and the Cobra," but she has created a stunning work that can be justifiably hailed as a modern classic.

"I Do Not Want What I Haven't Got" is a work of immediacy and urgency. O'Connor has expertly carved a niche between the sometimes histrionic bombast of her debut and the mainstream pop sound sought by her record company. The multi-instrumentalist has come up with a balance of raw emotion and appealing sound.

While O'Connor showed a great deal of latent talent on her debut, her assorted shreiks and wails were grating to the ears. Although her debut, as a whole, demonstrated promise, she was probably better known for her shaved head.

It was in the interim between albums when O'Connor displayed an imagination that matched her estimable abilities.

O'Connor began breaking ground and crossing barriers with her collaboration with New York rapper MC Lyte on "I Want Your (Hands On Me)." A driving contribution on the "Married to the Mob" soundtrack, the song "Jump in the River," also helped the diminutive singer keep a place in the public and critical eye. However, it was a breathy, heartmelting take on "Someday My Prince Will Come" on the Disney compilation "Stay Awake" that made a lot of people take notice of Sinead O'Connor.

When O'Connor resurfaced this year, she still managed to take the world by surprise with the first single from her new album.

"Nothing Compares 2 U" is a cover of a Prince song (originally written for his vanity project, the Family) produced by Soul II Soul's Nellee Hooper. O'Connor takes the song and makes it her own.

"Nothing" is a seductive piece of minimalist soul and, deservingly, an instant hit. Fortunately, it is no fluke because, in all likelihood, nothing compares to "I Do Not Want What I Haven't Got.'

The primal anger of "The Lion and the Cobra" has receded to reveal an arresting mix of passion and social concern on "I Do Not Want What I Haven't Got.

The album's lead-off, "Feel So Different," underscores that change. It begins with an invocation to gain "the serenity to accept change, the courage to change the things I can and the wisdom to know the difference."

Things take a radical turn on the next track, "I Am Stretched on your Grave." A sample of a James Brown beat that has launched a thousand raps is twisted into a hypnotic tribal beat. O'Connor's vocal follows a challenging melody which fuses Middle Eastern and Irish influences. The lyrics concern the death of a childhood friend. They simultaneously describe the wrenching pain on such a loss and the fleeting joys of

"Black Boys on Mopeds" is a haunting criticism of Margaret Thatcher's Britain. "England's not the mythical land of Madame George and roses/It's the home of police who kill black boys on mopeds,"

O'Connor sings. She takes a stand as a young mother who cannot bear the thought of her child growing up in such a place. It is that personalization that makes O'Connor the powerful wordsmith that she is.

The sparse musical underpinnings of the songs on "I Do Not Want" match the intent of the lyrics. The album is neither raw nor overwrought. O'Connor's versatility helps match the sound with the song perfectly.

The melancholy and introspection of "You Cause As Much Sorrow" are reflected in the quiet, country-tinged backing. In fact, it helps emphasize the acidic self-realization of the "Jump in the River" shows the singer can still rock out when she wants. O'Connor's lyrics hint at a playful love affair, but the song, as does life, is deeper than the surface. When she sings "You're not supposed to be here at all/It's all been a gorgeous mistake," she redefines any meanings of the printed words. O'Connor's emotional delivery is absolutely compelling.

Despite all her talent, it is the performance of Sinead O'Connor that makes her the powerful artist that she is. Fittingly, the final song (also the album's title track) is performed a cappella. The conclusion is powerful enough to inspire a repeated listen of the album.

"I Do Not Want What I Haven't Got" is an engrossing, passionate album. O'Connor has surpassed some formidable expectations based on her previous work and has established herself as a major talent to be reckoned with. This is an album to be cherished and remembered.

Read Collegian Ads! for special bargains

Workers disassemble the scaffolding used while painting over stains on the ceiling of the K-State Union Courtyard Thursday.

Suspected toxic wastes found

By The Associated Press

McPHERSON — State officials found eight drums of what is suspected to be toxic industrial waste Thursday in the McPherson County Landfill, but they said tests are needed to determine for sure.

Contractors working for the state had spent the better part of three days ering them Thursday morning.

Using a backhoe, workers lifted the drums one by one and placed them in larger metal safety barrels.

Ron Smith, on-scene coordinator and environmental technician for the Kansas Department of Health and looking for the drums before uncov- Environment, drew samples from the drums to send to a laboratory for analysis. He said results should be back in about a week.

> Until then, the state agency can't say for sure whether the substance is the toxic waste it has been trying to

Let's get growing Specials

Prevent weeds and conserve moisture with shredded cypress mulch.

$1.00 OFF each 3 cu. ft. bag! Start now-and have the first tomatoes in your neighborhood with Wallo'Water® Plant Protectors!

Sale prices effective through Monday, April 2.

Free Tomato Plant with Wallo'Water purchase!

2 ml. east of Manhattan on U.S. 24

Monday-Saturday 9-6 Sunday 12-6 776-5764

MODEL.....ME? WHY NOT!

ABZOLUT MODEL SEARCH 90

Tryouts Thursday, April 5th and Friday, April 6th at 3 p.m. at Snookies. Pick up entry forms and information at Eegee's, 12th & Laramie in Aggieville or at Snookies.

AGENCIES

ABZOLUT MODELS (Stockholm) FLAME (Paris)

CLiCK (New York) Vvtas International (K.C)

Coors. ILIGHTU

HEALTH & RACQUET CLUBS

Memorial Hospital

1105 Sunset Manhattan, KS 66502 913-776-3300

Doctors' Day

March 30, 1990

Memorial Hospital would like to take this opportunity to salute our active medical staff. Their collective dedication and commitment is a tribute to their profession, and their skill and compassion enriches the quality of life for each of us. In 1990, we welcome several talented people to this list, and we mourn the loss of old friends. Thank you, Doctors, today and every

Richard B. Baker, M.D. John F. Bambara, M.D. John M. Barlow, M.D. Tom L. Barth, D.D.S. George S. Bascom, M.D. Brent L. Benkelman, D.D.S. Greg A. Biberstein, M.D. Kenneth M. Boese, M.D. Paul J. Brown, M.D. Robert M. Brown, M.D. Charles H. Crane, M.D. Clark D. Danner, D.D.S. John P. Devine, M.D. William R. Durkee, M.D. Steven D. Eshelman, M.D. Rex R. Fischer, M.D. Fred A. Freeman, M.D. James D. Gardner, M.D. Gale M. Haley, D.P.M.

Daniel E. Hancock, M.D. Steven J. Haug, M.D. Rudy T. Haun, M.D. Cheryl Hemme, M.D. Harold J. Henning, M.D. Douglas P. Hinkin, M.D. William T. Jones, M.D. Thomas E. Kirk, M.D. Eugene A. Klingler, M.D. Stanley W. Lowe, M.D. Frank C. Lyons, M.D. Ronald L. Marshall, M.D. Palmer F. Meek, M.D. Michael L. Mosier, M.D. Steven J. Mosier, M.D. Gerald L. Mowry, M.D. Robert D. Olney, M.D. Peggy S. Peterson, D.O.

Jack T. Peterson, M.D. Jack T. Peterson, Jr., M.D. Joseph T. Philipp, M.D. Leland C. Reitz, M.D. Roger P. Reitz, M.D. Earl J. Reppert, M.D. Graham C. Rose, M.D. R. David Sager, D.M.D. Michael Sheffield, M.D. Thomas M. Shields, M.D. Rachel S. Smith, M.D. Joseph A. Svoboda, D.P.M. Barbara D. Taylor, M.D. William H. Tiemann, M.D. William H. Volkmann, M.D. Kevin K. Wall, M.D. Mark D. Wetzel, M.D. Anne Wigglesworth, M.D. Daniel M. Winter, D.D.S.

Kansas City symphony to perform

By Julie Wakeman Collegian Reporter

The Kansas City Symphony will perform with violinist Robert McDuffie at 8 p.m. today in McCain Auditorium.

The 83-member orchestra, directed by William McGlaughlin, will perform "(restless dreams before)
The Big Night," by Michael Schelle, "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in E minor, Opus 64" by Felix Mendelssohn and "Symphony No. 3 in E-flat Major, Opus 55, Eroica," by Ludwig van Beethoven wig van Beethoven.

McGlaughlin joined the symphony in 1986 after serving as music director/conductor for the Tucson symphony and the San Francisco chamber orchestra, according to the McCain program.

Since he joined the Kansas City Symphony, McGlaughlin has appeared as guest conductor with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, the New Orleans Philharmonic and in Alice Tully Hall in New York.

Last Easter, the Kansas City Symphony aired on National Public Radio and has had two nationwide telecasts on PBS, along with the recording of their first album.

Richard Martin, director of McCain, said the performance will be highly entertaining, considering the pieces they will play.

"This is going to be a really good concert," Martin said.

According to the Oct. 17, 1986 issue of the Oregonian, the soloist, McDuffie, has created an enormous repertoire and loves to play contemporary American music.

McDuffie studied under Dorothy DeLay at the Juilliard School in his teens and later moved on to Columbia Artists Management to begin his outstanding career, according to the Oregonian.

Recently, he has played with the Chicago Symphony, Atlanta Symphony, Czech Philharmonic, Cincinnati Symphony and Baltimore Symphony. In 1989, McDuffie made his debut with the Kansas City Symphony.

An article in "Musical America" discussed McDuffic's capabilities as "McDuffie is emerging as one of the most gifted violinists on the American scene," the article reported.

> For local and national news, read the Collegian

•$1.00 Bottles
•$3.49 ALL
YOU CAN EAT
SPAGHETTI
5-8 p.m.

$3.50 Admission Belore 6 p.m.

BORN ON THE 4th OF JULY R

BLUE STEELR

TODAY AT 4:35 AND 9:30
MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00

BLIND FURYR
TODAY AT 4:40 - 7:10 - 9:35
MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00

MY LEFT FOOTR
TODAY AT 4:30 - 7:10 - 9:35
MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:10

TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLESPG TODAY AT 4:30 -7:05 - 9:40 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKSPG-13 TODAY AT 4:35 - 7:05 - 9:40 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:10

THE HUNT FOR RED OCTOBERPG TODAY AT 4:15 -7:00 -9:45 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 1:30

NUNS ON THE RUN PG-13

TODAY AT 7:00 AND 5:00 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 3:00 AND 5:00

Fee considered again

Engineering deans propose $15 per-credit-hour charge

By Jan Puls Collegian Reporter

A $15 per-credit-hour restricted engineering fee has been proposed, for the second time, by the deans of the engineering schools of the Board of Regents.

Consideration of a $10 fee was postponed two years ago because there were no guidelines for setting up restrictive fees, Provost James Coffman said. The Tuition and Fees Task Force was then created by the regents to establish fee regulations.

The fee, expected to generate about $400,000 a year for equipment and equipment maintenance, has been recommended by the Council of Chief Academic Officers, Coffman said.

"We receive no direct support for equipment from the state," said Donald Rathbone, dean of the College of Engineering. "Engineering operates a lab-intensive program."

The department utilizes more than 50 labs and relies on the comprehensive use of computers, Rathbone said.

Engineering students would face an increase of $1,000 in total fees over four years, said Student Body President Todd Johnson.

Johnson said he does not support the proposal because he is afraid that the state will subtract the amount of income the fee generates from the base allocations the University currently receives.

"The bottom line is the engineering department needs money," Johnson said. "I just don't want to see the burden of the state shifted to the students."

Johnson said he is also fearful that the adoption of this fee will lead to the proposal and adoption of similar fees by other colleges within the University.

Other fees may be proposed, but the chances of them being implemented are not likely, Coffman said. The documentation for the need of engineering equipment by the Tuition and Fees Task Force is substantial.

"Given the fact that equipment, especially in the engineering department, is deficient, I strongly support the fee," Coffman said.

The fee will benefit the undergraduate students the most, because they spend more time in the labs, Rathbone said.

"If the money goes where it is supposed to, it will mean a better education and staying competitive with other universities," said Mike Walberg, junior in industrial engineering and engineering ambassador. "I don't like giving up the money, but it must come from somewhere."

"I'm against the fee," said Lisa Connell, junior in mechanical engineering. "I feel like the funds shouldn't have to come from the students."

Rathbone said the fee would help keep the University's engineering program competitive.

"Schools around the nation are doing this kind of thing," he said. "They are getting the job done. Unfortunately we are not."

The regents are expected to consider the fee proposal in November, Johnson said.

Bush declares war on AIDS epidemic

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Bush declared his administration "on a wartime footing" against AIDS Thursday and called for compassion, not discrimination, toward people infected with the virus.

"Our goal is to turn irrational fear into rational acts," he said in his first major presidential address on AIDS. For Bush, it was an unusually personal speech.

Addressing the National Leadership Coalition on AIDS, he said that education is the key to curbing the spread of the deadly disease.

"Every American must learn what AIDS is and what AIDS is not," he said.

Bush presented no new policy initiatives, instead spotlighting as unprecedented his proposed $3.5 billion in federal spending on AIDS research, treatment and education.

AIDS activists dismiss the proposal — although it would drastically escalate the federal commitment to the fight against AIDS — as a small fraction of what is needed to find a cure and to treat victims.

Bush vowed to press further research at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., and the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

"We're on a wartime footing at NIH and CDC. Tonight, like every night, the lights will burn late in Bethesda and Atlanta, as a group of American pioneers work to solve this problem."

Bush urged business executives in his audience not to fire employees infected with HIV, the human immunodeficiency virus that causes AIDS. These people, he said, deserve the same compassion as others who are sick

"There is only one way to deal with an individual who is sick — with dignity, compassion, care, confidentiality and without discrimination," he said.

"Once disease strikes, we don't blame those who are suffering. We don't spurn the accident victim who didn't wear a seat belt. We don't reject the cancer patient who didn't quit smoking. We try to love them and care for them and comfort them. We do not fire them or evict them or cancel their insurance."

Bush urged Congress "to get on with the job of passing a law" to prohibit discrimination against people infected with AIDS or HIV.

You're Invited To Help Us Celebrate Our

Fifth Anniversary!!

Fri., Sat., Sun., March 30-31, April 1

PRESENTING

The Comedy Magic of Mr. Rex Getz In Our Store All Three Days!

Meet and be mystified by professional magician Rex Getz. He will combine humor, mystery and sleight-of-hand to entertain you. All of his magic will be performed right at your table just a few feet from you as you enjoy the most creamy, delicious taste-like-ice cream frozen yogurt you've ever eaten!

"The Magic Words Are I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!"

Professional Magician Rex Getz

FREE Frozen Yogurt!

Free cup of delicious ICBIY soft frozen yogurt to the first 100 persons in our store on Friday, Saturday and Sunday!

FREE Plastic Souvenir Cup!

Purchase frozen yogurt in an anniversary cup and keep the cup

FREE Yogurt When The Alarm Goes Off!

Our alarm clock will be set to ring at various surprise intervals during each of the three days. If you are at the cash register when the alarm rings, your purchase will be FREE!

Nine Flavors Served Daily Seating for 42 People Cones-Shakes-Parfaits-Sundaes

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Boyd, Owners Larry Boyd, Manager

We Thank You!!

Five years ago, we pioneered frozen yogurt in Manhattan and your enthusiastic response surpassed our greatest expectations! We have sold our premium frozen yogurt to over one million satisfied customers since our St. Patrick's Day opening in March, 1985!

Our store has ranked among the top franchises in sales nationwide each of the five years.

Join us during our Anniversary Celebration so we can thank you personally for your business!!

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE-NATURALLY.

Drawing for $300 Worth of Our Frozen Yogurt!

We will hold a drawing for $100 worth of ICBIY Frozen Yogurt each evening at 8 p.m.
Register every time you're in the store.
Do not have to be present to win.

FREE Balloons For Everyone!!!

Have You Tried Our Delicious Non-Fat or Sugar Free Flavors?

Come in for a FREE Sample!

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville
11th and Moro in Manhattan
PHONE 537-1616

OPEN: 11 A.M.-11 P.M. Daily Noon-11 P.M. Sundays

Office inspects nuclear material used in research

By Samantha Farr Collegian Reporter

Before any radioactive materials can enter K-State research laboratories, the Radiation Safety

Office inspects them upon delivery to the University.

John Lambert, director of public safety, said the office is responsible for inspecting all radioisotopes, particle accelerators, X-ray machines and the University's nuclear research reactor.

"We make sure these operations stay within state and federal regulations," he said. "Also, because of environmental concerns, the organic solvents brought in are now biodegradable."

Inspections are conducted by one student and himself, Lambert said. The student inspector is responsible for carrying out lab checks on a monthly basis, taking samples of radiation levels in campus labrooms and keeping records.

"In addition, the (Nuclear Regulatory Commission) inspects the reactor about once every 18 months to two years," Lambert said. "Also, state inspections are conducted at about the same rate."

A presidentially appointed Radiation Safety Committee is made up of faculty who use radioactive material and are knowledgeable in the safe usage of it, Lambert

The committee consists of Lambert and representatives from seven different areas - agriculture, veterinary medicine, nuclear engineering, physics, chemistry, biochemistry and student health.

James Legg, head of the Department of Physics and committee member, said the committee is responsible for monitoring the usage of radioactive materials and approving any requests for new usage licenses.

"Any requests for usage comes through the committee," Legg said. "We look at it from our collective experiences, seeing if the usage would be at all dangerous and to make sure the usage is safe for both the experimenters and the community as a whole.

"The college has a good record of radiation safety. Part of the committee's responsibility is to ensure that this continues."

Lambert said the committee also handles renewal of previous licenses and amendments in current licenses for new projects.

The Radiation Safety Office is involved with community hospitals in radiation safety and community emergency responders in drills and exercises, Lambert said.

Alarms only warn occupants

Library must call to get firefighters

By Chris McEntee Collegian Reporter

A new fire alarm system installed in Farrell Library warns the building's occupants of a fire, but the fire department is still a phone call away.

"We are still physically calling the fire station ourselves once the alarm has sounded in the building," said Jean McDonald, administrative services officer for the library.

She said she had assumed that the alarm system would be hooked up automatically to the fire station.

The new alarm system was not hooked directly to the fire station because of a lack of necessary funds, said Ron Jones, electronic technician for University facilities.

Each floor in the library is a zone, with the exception of the six separate zones in the basement," he said.

There is a control panel box located in the mailroom at the rear of the library that is highly visible to firefighters, Jones said. The panel box tells where an alarm has been set off and is hooked up to all the floors.

Air handles on each floor keep the air circulating, like an attic fan. Each one is equiped with two smoke detectors, one for incoming air and one for outgoing air, he said. When the alarm is sounded the air handles automatically shut down.

Jones said the system does not immediately sound the alarm when the detectors sense smoke.

"When they sense smoke, they re-set and wait for 60 seconds," Jones said. "If there is still smoke in the smoke detector after 60 seconds then the alarm horns will sound.'

He said that at least two pull alarms are located on each floor. These alarms automatically start the alarm horns when pulled. The horns stop sounding after 10 minutes.

The new system was installed last semester and was put into effect over spring break, McDonald said. The library had no alarms prior to the new system except for smoke detectors. what floor the fire is on, Lambert "The new fire alarm is set up to go directly into the K-State Police Department once all the buildings are installed with the system," said John Lambert, director of public safety. All University buildings are scheduled to have alarm systems installed within five years, Lambert said. Alarms have been installed in seven buildings in the past three years. The buildings that require an alarm will be hooked into a panel box that will tell the police depart-

If there was a fire in the library, calculating the replacement value of the materials in the library is impossible, said Brice Hobrock, dean of

"Each volume is close to $50 to replace and the library has approximately 1.15 million volumes not to mention another 800,000 government documents, 700,000 microfilm items and 50,000 audio-visual ment exactly which building and items," he said.

ALL ROCK ALL THE TIME TONIGHT

$250 60 oz. Pitchers

No Cover!

OPEN at 4:00 702 North 11th

776-0077 Aggieville, USA

Up to 40% Off

Selected spring merchandise

March 29 through April 2

1225 Moro

M

ПКА

SAE

ΣΝ

TKE

ΘΞ

A

Aggieville

Restaurant FRIDAY EVENING BUFFET 4:30-9:30 $7.45 featuring: Seafood *Spicy, Tangy Beef •Tung An Chicken ·Empress Scallops ·Lotus Crabmeat Soup ·Sweet & Sour Shrimp •Egg Roll ·Sweet & Sour Pork -Crispy Wonton -Crab Rangoon ·Yu Shiang Fish ·Shrimp Egg Foo Yung Sweet Fruit Pastry ·Vegetable Deluxe ·Fortune Cookie ·Fried Rice ·Lake Pung Ping Shrimp 539-8888 1304 Westloop OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK FREE DELIVERY 11 A.M.-10 P.M. CHARIOT RELAYS 27th Annual Memorial Stadium Friday, March 30

4 p.m.
ALL PROCEEDS GO TO SPECIAL OLYMPICS

This year the Relay's Queen is revived!

Drop coins in the jar for your favorite candidate . . .

TODAY IN THE UNION!

HOUSES PARTICIPATING:

FH

ГФВ

KAO

KΔ

KKL

ПВФ

AKAK

ΑΔΠ

ΑΤΩ

 $A \equiv \Delta$

ΒΣΨ

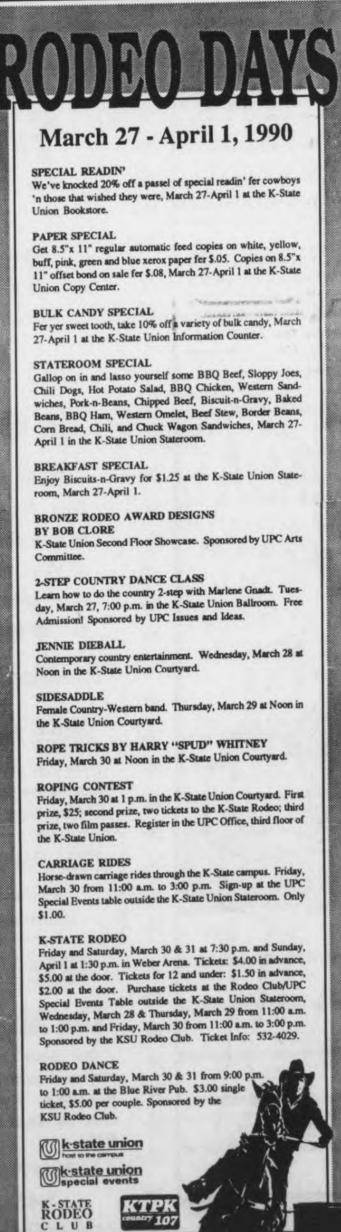

WITH KSU I.D.

539-1041

STAGG HILL GOLF CLUB

Depeche Mode displays wit

Recent album shows new creativity for British post-modern band

Depeche Mode, the British lynchpins of post-modern music, has cast away some previously glaring overindulgences to create its cohesive new album, "Violator."

While the band always had a knack for a catchy pop hook and innovative sonic textures, Depeche Mode albums often suffered from a bit too much pretentiousness and gloom. Previous releases like "Black Celebration" limited the band's appeal because of its grim tones.

The band's last studio album showed a change was imminent. "Music for the Masses" helped to dissipate some dark clouds, but it often was uncertain whether bandleader Martin Gore was writing pop songs or requiems. Recent experiments like the band's flirtation with house music on remixed versions of its singles may have stimulated new creative sparks in the long-running group. Quite possibly, Gore's "Counterfeit" EP, released last year, may have been an outlet for some of his indulgences that otherwise would have surfaced with Depeche Mode.

For whatever reasons, Depeche Mode has recorded an album that is undeniably Depeche Mode, yet sounds fresh.

"Violator," despite the sinisterly elegant Anton Corbijn cover, is an album of wit, innovation and economy. Gore's still-dark lyrics are often offset by woozy keyboards. Music with a clinical feel is uplifted with emotional vocals by Dave Gahan as well as gripping harmonies by the band. "Violator" benefits from a mature, although not staid, approach.

The pivotal track of "Violator" is buried at the halfway point of the album. "Waiting for the Night" is rife with muted, electronic locomotion, but the cold technological edge is tempered with passionate vocals and tender melodies.

The music owes its existence to Kraftwerk, the German synthesizer pioneers. However, where Kraftwerk celebrated the joys of machinery, Depeche Mode champions the fragility of humanity.

"Waiting for the Night" is a delicate lullaby that shows the band as flesh and blood. Depeche Mode is often stereotyped as cold and unfeeling. With "Violator," the group's electronic sound has begun to thaw.

Rather than kowtowing to public demands, Depeche Mode has struck out on its own path. It is widely agreed that "Violator" will be the Mode's commercial breakthrough, much like "Disintegration" was for the Cure.

Like the Cure, Depeche Mode has not compromised its sound. It is the record-buying public that has changed to fit Depeche Mode, rather than vice versa.

Evidence of this trend comes in the form of "Violator"'s first single, "Personal Jesus." This almost atonal, bluesy stomp is one of the group's strangest releases. However, it cracked the top 40 pop charts and sold more than 500,000 copies.

The new single, "Enjoy the Silence," lacks the swampy sound of its predecessor. Instead, it recalls the clean precision of previous Mode singles like "Strangelove" and "Never Let Me Down Again." This is probably the group's strongest single release in years. It is as catchy a song as the band's biggest hit, "People Are People," but benefits from a technically superior sound.

Indeed, most of "Violator" improves upon past performances. The emphasis is on songs, not atmospherics. Consequently, the album's ma-terial is full of infectious lyrical and musical distinction.

The album's opener, "World in My Eyes," is full of bounce and optimism. The narrative lyrics update the journey through life first chronicled on "Never Let Me Down Again" from "Music for the Masses." Gahan exhorts the object of his affections to "let me show you the world through my eyes" over a fat, choppy bass. The song is about as "up" as the Mode has ever been in recent years. It is not only a pleasant change of pace, but a strong new direction.

"Blue Dress" is a bizarre piece of twists and turns. A jazz-inflected guitar breaks through the banks of synthesizers. The song's playful tone belies its somewhat misogynistic

As evidenced by "Blue Dress," Martin Gore's lyrics often walk the line between observer and observed. They are cryptic enough to puzzle most listeners.

Depeche Mode manages to redeem Gore's occasionally dodgy lyrics on a few songs with some creative arrangements.

"The Sweetest Perfection" is a perfect example of this. The words are a mess of cliched phrases and overwrought cleverness. It turns out to be one of the best songs on

"Sweetest" features drunken synthesized guitar swoops, an artificial string quartet and a blazing one-note keyboard solo. It is a quirky melange of sounds that ultimately saves the songs. Credit can probably go to Mode keyboardists Alan Wilder and Andy Fletcher who seem content out of the limelight.

Depeche Mode should finally enjoy mainstream success with "Violator." The album is uncompromising yet entertaining. The band is showing growth at an age when most would show fatigue.

Former student to show roping tricks in Union

By Shannan Seely Collegian Reporter

A former K-State graduate will perform self-taught rope tricks at noon today in the K-State Union Courtyard.

Harry "Spud" Whitney Jr., a 1977 K-State animal science graduate, has been interested in trick roping since he was a child.

"I really learned about trick roping on my own," Whitney said. "I went to a K-State Rodeo when I was 5 or 6 years old and watched a man do rope tricks. After that, I wanted to learn how so I could be a trick roper when I was

"I dragged a rope everywhere I went as a kid," Whitney said. "I tried to rope anything that moved or that didn't move, like dogs and chickens."

In 1976, he performed in front of his first audience in Burlingame. Soon, he was hired to perform his roping act at rodeos, mainly performing in Kansas during his first year.

Whitney has continued to perform rope tricks in Kansas and 26 other states.

Harry Whitney Sr. said he is proud of his son.

"Spud would travel for the Dakota Assembly Association to provide entertainment as a oneman hour show," Whitney's father said. "He would visit up to four schools per day."

Whitney said he does not recall any special highlight of his career. "I don't have one experience that was more memorable than the others," Whitney said. "They are all just another rodeo to me. It pays good, and that's the reason

I'm still doing it." There are more trick ropers in the country than most people realize, Whitney said. A few young people are learning trick roping, but most people do not have an interest in learning it.

"It's a matter of doing something that motivates you," he said. "You have to be dedicated to trick roping because it takes hours to learn. I probably would not have been roping now if I would have had a TV to watch. I lived out in the country and did not have a TV or any neighbors to play with. I lived with a rope.

Whitney has also been a rodeo announcer and a rodeo clown. He has added animals to his acts throughout the years.

Hunam Restaurant Free Delivery 539-8888

The Miracle Continues!

First, you couldn't believe it was yogurt! Now, you can't believe it's non-fat yogurt!

Nautilus Towers-Aggieville

How can I find someone to lease my apartment this summer?

> Collegian Classifieds... your solution to any problem! 532-6555 Kedzie Hall Rm. 103 @ 1990 AT&T

IMPROVE COMMUNICATION SKILLS.

An ATET Card helps you communicate better, because you can use it to call from all kinds of places. Like a friend's, or a pay phone, or out on the road. You don't even need to have a phone in your name to get one. And every month you get an itemized bill stating where and when you used the card. To apply for the ATET Card, call us at 1800 525-7955, Ext. 630. Now, if only it were that easy to improve your grade point average.

What's in a hyphen?

Czechs, Slovaks debate national name

By The Associated Press

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia -After weeks of stormy discussion and mounting tension between Czechs and Slovaks, Parliament convened Thursday to decide what the country should be called.

Since the winter revolution, everybody - even the ousted Communists - agree that "Socialist" no longer has any place in their country's name.

But should the Czechoslovak Socialist Republic be changed to the Czecho-Slovak Republic? The Federation of Czecho-Slovakia? Or, for those in the anti-hyphen camp, Czechoslovak Federative Republic?

The debate over the hyphen, characteristic both of Czechoslovak love of detail and absurdity, has split the Czechs and Slovaks. After Thursday's debate, Parliament failed to come up with a suitable compromise.

Slovaks make up about onethird of Czechoslovakia's 15.5 million people. Taking their cue from writer-president Vaclav Havel, who proposed changing the country's name and coat of arms in January, they waged a solid campaign for the hyphen.

Their argument is that this would show the world that Czechoslovakia contains two distinct peoples - Czechs and Slovaks.

But Czechs and Moravians, who speak the same language and tend to regard the natives of rural Slovakia as country cousins, feel Slovak sensibilities have received enough

In 1969, under Communist leader Gustav Husak — a Slovak Slovakia became a separate republic. That entitled it to half of most federal resources.

The name and hyphen debate has raged for weeks in newspapers and over glasses of Czech beer and Slovak wine. It finally moved to Parliament after the government withdrew an attempt to get the issue put off until after the June Havel, hospitalized after a hernia operation, pleaded from his bed for what he termed the compromise solution of Czecho-Slovak Republic. That pleased the prohyphen Slovaks.

'Czechoslovakia so far has had two great presidents, Tomas Garrigue Masaryk and Vaclav Havel," Slovak deputy Roman Zelenay told fellow legislators. Masaryk was Czechoslovakia's first

"Both of them have put their signature under the same name of the republic," Zelenay said, referring to 1918 documents that agreed to set up a Czecho-Slovak republic. That hyphen was dropped for reasons of expediency shortly

Havel had a second compromise suggestion: Czechoslovak Federative Republic.

After intense debate, the Slovak deputies voted, predictably, en bloc for the hyphen. The Czechs and Moravians outnumbered them and opposed it, meaning "Czecho-Slovak Republic" failed to win the "Czechoslovak Federative Republic" almost made it. But it fell four votes short of the required two-thirds majority in the Slovak House of Nations.

Parliament agreed to form a commission and come up with yet another compromise.

Milos Zeman, a radical economist who sits in Parliament for Civic Forum, the movement that led the November revolution, reminded the nation during the televised debate that there were more crucial issues facing the nation.

Committee passes drinking bill; fines may double for underaged

By Julie Wakeman Collegian Reporter

A bill passed by the House Federal and State Affairs Committee this week could affect 18-, 19- and 20-year olds caught in possession of alcohol, either in bars or liquor

Rep. Ginger Barr, R-Auburn, said the bill will set uniform fines designed to deter people under 21 from breaking the law. Barr also said it will place more responsibility on the person and less on the bar and bar

The bill has set a minimum fine of $100 for anyone underage caught drinking or trying to possess alcohol. Currently, in Manhattan, the fines are about $50 or $60, according to local har owners.

and Grill, said bar owners are getting upset because the underage people are fined about $50, but the bar's fine is at least $500 to $1,000.

Rep. James Lowther, R-Emporia, said enforcement of the drinking age varies throughout Kansas. He said police departments in Lawrence enforce the law differently than police in Manhattan, and Emporia is also

"By setting a uniform fine, the underage person will think twice before breaking the law," Barr said. "This will make it more equitable for the bar.'

If a bar is aware of an underage person drinking, it can call the Alcoholic Beverage Control, but the bar will still receive a fine for serving the

TAKE IT OFF

Ed Thomas, manager of Kite's Bar alcohol. The new law, if passed by the Legislature, will help bars by making the punishment for underage drinking more strict. Barr said the legislation was brought to them by bar owners so there could be a set fine to post in the bar to warn underage drinkers. "When it comes to alcohol, everyone must be responsible for their actions," Barr said. "This law will put more responsibility on the youth to watch out for themselves."

> Be informed. Read the Collegian.

Salons provide quick tans

Authorities recommend caution to prevent physical injury

By Lori Stauffer Collegian Reporter

With warm summer weather just around the corner, students are beginning to get out their beach blankets to work on their tans. Some students have taken advantage of technology to get their tans, though. They head for the nearest tanning salon for a year-round tan.

"It makes me feel good, healthier," said Lora Gilliland, junior in radiotelevision. "I go for the reason a lot of people go - to chase away the winter blahs."

Quick tans are another reason to frequent the salons. A lack of information about the dangers has caused physical injury, said Lori Sotelo, New Beginnings employee.

Many people are taken in by the quick-tan theory and believe that a deep tan is possible in just one day, Sotelo said. A person would book appointments at salons all over town and tan five or six times in a day.

Sotelo described the tanning sys-tems as similar to a microwave. She said people who try to get a tan in one day are practically baking their

Sotelo said minimal exposure to the tanning rays will have few health effects and still put color in the skin. She said it is important to be cautious when using the rays.

Judy Willingham, environmental and health supervisor at the Manhattan Health Department, recommends no exposure at all to tanning rays.

The tanning systems are designed to give off two different forms of ultraviolet rays. The rays are invisible to the human eye and are potentially dangerous, according to "Toning and Tanning Guide for Salon Owners," provided by Brad Russell, owner of Tropical Tan.

Tanning lamps are designed to emit only the necessary combinations of UVA and UVB rays that will stimulate the body's natural tanning process, Russell said.

The Food and Drug Administration used to require that not more than 5 percent of the total radiation emitted by the lamps can consist of UVB rays. UVB rays activate the production of melanin, gradually turning the skin tones to tan. UVB rays are primarily responsible for sunburn and must be carefully limited, Robert H. Cathey, dermatologist, said.

The wrong types of ultraviolet rays or too much exposure to them can result in sunburning, wrinkling, premature aging and leathering of the skin, Cathey said.

Lotions should be an integral part of the tanning process to minimize the effects of too much exposure, Russell said. Cathey recommends the use of lotions, especially on the face and neck where skin cancer most commonly develops.

Not using protective eyewear can result in injury. Repeated exposure to ultraviolet light can cause irreversible damage to the eyes. Simply keeping the eyes closed in the tanning systems does not give enough protection. The guide reports that the rays pass through as if the eyelid weren't violet light on the eye can be both immediate and delayed, according to the guide. Immediate damage may be comeal burns from the UVB rays. Symptoms include discomfort, burning sensations and excessive tearing. The effect is temporary, lasting one or two days.

The effects of excessive ultra-

Brunescent cataracts from UVA rays are more delayed and more serious. Symptoms may be clouded lenses, which cause decreased night vision and color perception.

Because of the dangers to the eye, the FDA mandates that all tanning salons provide compliant eyewear for customers, as well as posting a disclaimer on the unit stating that use of a tanning unit without protection is

The eye protection used at salons filter out more ultraviolet light than the best sunglasses, according to the guide. This is necessary because of the higher concentration of ultraviolet light than natural sunlight.

Two kinds of tanning systems are available - the tanning booth and the tanning bed. The only true differences of the two are the time required for each session and the position the customer wishes to be in, either horizontal or vertical.

HUNAMS RESTAURANT and Lounge

Sunday Buffet 10% off with KSU ID

ticnoke, Call Deb. 55-5555 FURNITURE STRIPPING: | will strip and refinish your old furniture. Call Dave for an estimate. 555-5555 FOR SALE; Pit bull trainer pupples.

Collegian classifieds 532-6555

Old Texthook Sale

SALE BOOKS PRICED AT OR LESS!

- ·Hundreds of new & used textbooks
- ·Various fields of study
- ·Some previously used at K-State
- ·Some from other universities
- Old editions
- ·Wholesaler overstock

Don't pass up this great opportunity to add to your personal library at a fraction of the regular cost!

9-9 Mon.-Sat.

12-5 Sun.

AUDITION

for 1990-1991

K-STATE SINGERS

April 2-5 Soprano, Alto, Tenor, Bass Voices Piano and Drums

Info: McCain 229

(open only to non-music majors)

NOW RENTING Brittnay Ridge Estates

Exciting NEW Townhouse Development For STUDENTS Only

- Your own bedroom
- All appliances (including clothes washer, dryer and microwave)
- Eliminate parking problems.
- Gazebo with hot tub
- Recreation area
- · Pre-wired for computer, phone and cable TV.

PHONE TODAY-SPACE LIMITED 1-800-962-9636

GRAND OPENING SURPRISE!

2700 Anderson Ave.

$1 OFF Super Deluxe Burrito

Now thru Sunday, April 1, you can get $1.00 OFF the regular price of our SUPER DELUXE BURRITO. Our newest store in Manhattan is NOW OPEN at 2700 Anderson Ave. Come visit us TODAY and enjoy the great Mexican food at Taco Tico.

Not valid with any other discount, coupon or offer. No coupon necessary for this offer. Offer is also valid at our Tuttle Creek Blvd. location.

Susan Larsen, early childhood educator, leads a group of preschool age children in circle time just before snacks at the KSU Child Development Center in the L Building of Jardine Terrace Apartments earlier this semester. The center cares for 230 children.

Growth increases demand for care

By Tammy Rose Collegian Reporter

The University's recent growth has increased the demand for oncampus child care for students and staff members.

One such child-care facility is the KSU Child Development Center. The center, located in the L building of Jardine Residence Center, has been operating since September 1985.

Originally named the KSU Childcare Cooperative, the center cares for 230 children. Nancy Bolsen, director of the center, said the center is licensed to care for 223 children full time. The number of children enrolled in the center on a part-time basis allow for the

The center has a waiting list that keeps growing. Right now, there are about nine infants, 10 toddlers and five preschool-age children on the waiting list for the center, Bolsen said. These children must wait until an opening becomes available.

Bolsen said expanding the facility is not the answer. "We don't need to expand the building, we need to work within the perimeter of the existing build-■ See CARE, Page 16

Margaret Clarkin/Staff

Larsen, the lead teacher, reads a story that the children occasionally choose before they go out to the playground.

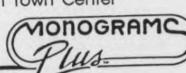

Add your own touch with a MONOGRAM

Get in shape for SPRING! Work out with our sweatshirts, t-shirts, boxer shorts and gym bags.

Greek lettering available

Manhattan Town Center

776-6767

K.C.I.

Road Runner Local Owners: Glenn & Ann Puett

LET US DO THE DRIVING Save over 50% on connection to K.C.I. Purchase your ticket with the driver anytime

Children (2-12) Military & Senior Citizen(62 & over) round trip-$46, $44, $20 One way-$25, $22, $10

Manhattan Holidome and University Inn Run-101 4:40 a.m., 103 8:40 a.m., 104 11:30 a.m., 105 2:30 p.m., 107 6:00 p.m.

201 7:30 a.m., 203 11:45 a.m., 204 2:15 p.m., 205 5:30 p.m., 207 10:45 p.m.

Arrival K.C.I.-7 a.m., 11:10 a.m., 2 p.m., 5 p.m., 8:30 p.m.

Arrive Holidome-9:45 a.m., 2 p.m., 4:30 p.m., 7:45 p.m., 1 a.m. Group Discounts available. Call 537-2086 or 1-800-826-8294

ITY LIGHTS AT

VODKA TONIC 21 Club UPSTAIRS

International Week

April 2-April 9

Check out the Union Courtyard everyday at noon for international performances

Watch the Collegian for details

Calendar

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 ing a calendar to contribute to their charities," Parsons said. "But we do object to the way the women are selected.'

Jennifer Sandberg, senior in English, was a calendar girl three years

"Nothing bad has happened since my involvement in the contest, just positive things," she said. "It won't affect my life one way or another, and I don't think it will affect any of the contestants' lives.

"At the time when I was in the calendar, I think it was different than it is now. I got to pick out what I wanted to wear in the photo,"

Barrow said the women are now required to wear a bathing suit because the calendar is a swimsuit edition, but the women are allowed to choose their own suits.

"I think they're pushing the edges of exploitation by making them wear swimsuits in the calendar," Sandberg said. "But I don't think the contest is exploitive in general because the women know what they're getting into when they enter."

"(The competition) is a way of controlling and demoralizing women," said Wally Martin, NOW member. "These women are also paraded at a local bar, where, I understand, that they are leered and jeered at. That is not appropriate for K-State; at least NOW does not think it

Keri Hachenberg, freshman in interior design, was a contestant in the early rounds of the competition, but was eliminated.

"I thought it was a fun experience even though I didn't make the finals," Hachenberg said. "I'm glad I did it."

She said the contestants were interviewed judged on poise, presentation, personality and audience response in the three categories of casual wear, formal wear and bathing

Martin said such calendars detract from relationships between men and women because the men look at the pictures and see the women as something to be controlled. Other qualities, such as intelligence and personality, are diminished in value and enforce the belief that what is important about women is their bodies, she

"Men want gratification and this is one way to get that gratification," Martin said. "Anytime you sell a picture of someone, you stand the chance of objectifying that person."

A calendar of men and women portraying the individuals as wellrounded students in all aspects would be more appropriate, she said.

"I think these women have the desire to be looked at as desirable because that is what women have been taught to believe," Martin said.

Look for the Collegian Auto Directory

PRIES FRIES

Buy One 12" Sub (1 through 17) & Large Drink at Regular Price & receive One Order of Fries Free

1443 Anderson 537-2426

211 S. Seth Childs 537-2411

Present coupon when ordering NOT VALID WITH ANY OTHER SPECIALS Expires 4-9-90 WE DELIVER

AUDITIONS

*********

for the

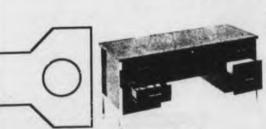

KANSAS STATE CHOIR

Monday, April 2, 1990 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, April 4, 1990 7-9 p.m.

Sign up for an audition time outside the Choral Office -Room 227 in McCain Auditorium office/

Westloop Shopping Center 776-6864 Open 10-2 SAT.

Metal Desks beginning at $139

HON

Furniture Supplies for Your Office

Stroh views events in India

By Angela Tholstrup Collegian Reporter

While a Senior Fulbright Lecturer in India, Charles Stroh, professor of art, saw the recent elections and changes first hand.

Stroh lectured about lithography at three art schools in India during the fall semester. He was at the Delhi College of Art in New Delhi; Kala Bhavana at Viswabharati University in Santiniketan; and the College of Fine Arts at M.S. University of Baroda. "New Delhi is the capital of India, so there is always political activity," Stroh said. "It's a bureaucratic sort of city." India elected a new government in December. Elections are held every five years, but the controlling party can call for an election at any time.

Stroh said he left New Delhi for Santiniketan, a small village in the state of West Bengal. Historically, West Bengal has been influenced by the Communist party, he said.

Rabindranath Tagore, a Nobel Prize winner in literature, founded the village and the university, Stroh said. The university was one of the hot spots for politics in the 1940s. There was a tremedous amount of activity and interest in the recent election because of the political history of the village," Stroh said.

The Congress Party ruled India for most of the time after independence from Great Britain, Stroh said.

Raiiv Gandhi was the leader of the Congress and prime minister until he was defeated in the December elections.

The Opposition party, a coalition of several parties, won the election. V.P. Singh was elected prime minister.

It was a strange coalition which included the right-wing BJP and left-wing Marxist parties, said Aruna Michie, associate professor of political science.

"A small number of people belonged to the BJP," Stroh said. "It's a Hindu people's

The BJP party emphasized that India was a Hindu nation and ought to be ruled by Hindu values and policies during the campaign, Stroh said.

India is the largest democracy in the world. Of the 852 million people 80 percent is Hindu, 11 percent is Muslim and the rest is made up of Sikhs and Christians, Michie

"For one party to declare the nation to be a Hindu nation, for example, suggests, to all the other groups the danger of oppression,"

There are about 20 major languages spoken in India, Michie said. There are also many different regional, cultural and tribal

"The BJP was phenomenally successful in the last election," Stroh said. "It suggests the potential of communal strife."

Communal strife means political, social and economic problems among the communities, Stroh said. There has already been some fighting in the villages and

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon

Deadline is noon the day before publication, noon
FRIDAY for Monday's paper.
Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alte

the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE tor a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

Announcements

- A BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics
- Janet Milliken, 539-9469. ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.
- COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp,
- CRAFTS 'N' Things. City Auditorium. 9a.m. to 3p.m. March 31. Crafts, Others, Snacks, Prizes. Many first time exhibiters, 42 booths. 539-4675.

SALES OPPORTUNITY of the nineties, full/ part-time. Present image improvement tools to women and men. Color analysis, beautycare, wardrobing and fashion accessories. Excellent income, flexible hours. Ms. Swanson, 7431 Culvira Road, Box 140, Shawnee, Kansas 66216. (913)631-0472.

VISA OR MASTERCARD! Even if bankrupt or bad credit! We guarantee you a card or double your money back. Call 1-805-682-7555 EXT. M-1199. (call 7 days a week)

AUDITION

Good Prices, Quality & Selection Friday, March 30, 9-4

Greenhouse behind Waters Hall.

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE JUNE 1 or before. One and two bedroom apartments, two blocks from KSU. $200 and $275. No pets. Lease required. 776-9401 or 539-8423. AVAILABLE AUG. 1: One-bedroom basement apartment, 1100 block of Bluemont, one block from campus. 776-0683.

AVAILABLE AUG. 1: Mostly furnished two-bedroo apartment one block from campus. 776-0683. FOR AUGUST or June. Next to KSU. Deluxe two-bedroom apartment for three people. $440: 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR RENT: Two-bedroom full basement turnished apartment. No pets, no smoking. 537-7558.

FOR THE next school year. Luxurious two-bedroom apartment. Near campus at 363 N. 14th. Central air, laundry, balcony, new carpet and off-street parking. $425, 537-0428.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. 539-1465.

NEED ONE or two roommates for August. Near KSU. Call Kevin, 537-8834 after 9p.m.

ONE- AND two-bedroom close to campus. Available June or August. Call 537-4648 between 4-6p.m. ONE-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus, off-street parking, faundry. Available June 1. $275. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Non-smoker, luxurious three-bedroom apartment. Very close to campus. Call

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Large, two-bedroom, 1010 Thurston. Everything— central air, complete kitchen, etc. Rent negotiable. 537-3346.

TWO-BEDROOM, one block from campus, Aggleville. Low utilities. Available June and July $270. 776-4574.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

1734% LARAMIE. June 1 lease for one-bedroom, heat, water, trash paid, range and refrigerator furnished, $260 per month. Call after 3p.m. Friday to see Saturday 3/31. (913)642-5354.

1734 LARAMIE. June 1 lease for two-bedroom. Range and refrigerator furnished. Suitable for two. Heat, water, trash paid, $490 per month. Call after 3p.m. Fridey to see Saturday 3/31. (913)642-5354.

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT. $195 per month. Gas, heat and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings and weekends.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coinoperated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required. $290. 539-1465. LARGE, TWO-BEDROOM, air conditioning, pool. Sub-lease or year lease. Available June 1. 537-0450. PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two-bedroom. Close to campus. 776-8381.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $355 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Available June 1. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings and weekends.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX, very clean. Cico Park, June 1st. No pets. 539-3913.

Horizon Apartments Quality 2 Bedrooms

539-8401

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

AUGUST TO August. Next to campus luxury apartment complexes— East near Haymaker, two-bedroom, fireplace, laundry, natural gas heating, unfurnished. West across Goodnow and Marlatt, one- or two-bedroom, furnished, quiet. Evenings.

LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near campus. $375/ month including utitities. No pets. No smokers. Available April 1. Call 776-1714.

ONE AND two bedroom close to campus. Available

ONE- AND two-bedroom apartments near campus and Westloop area. Call 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM, $250 plus utilities. Available June 1.

ROOMY ONE-BEDROOM. Walking distance to campus. Central air. Available June 1. $250/ month. Better hurry on this one. Now showing. 776-5578.

Sunset Apartments

Now leasing for June or August one bedroom. $280-295. Central Air, Gas, Heat & Laundry Facilities.

McCullough

776-3804

PCF Management

Efficiency $200

2 bedroom $290

3 bedroom $440

539-5051

after 5:30

1 bedroom $250

776-4805—539-8401

K-Rentals Efficiency $200

1 Bedroom $250

2 Bedroom $290

3 Bedroom $450

4 Bedroom $500 For Information Call

539-8401

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS

1408 Cambridge Place 539-2951

•1 and 2 bedroom •2 swimming pools and a heated spa ·Some utilities paid

·Across the street from Westloop Shopping Center ·Free private bus to campus leaving every hour. Pre-leasing for fall beginning now

Wildcat Inn

Three locations of one bedroom apartments still available for June or August leasing $310-340. Call for more information.

776-3804

McCullough

Weekdays until 6 p.m. Saturdays until 4 p.m.

5 Automobile for Sale

1972 PONTIAC Lemans, four-door, runs good. Call 776-9083 after 5p.m.

1977 BLAZER 4x4, new transmission. $950 or best offer. 537-1539 or 537-9287.

1978 CHEVROLET Malibu Classic station wagon Automatic, cruise control, tilt steering. Runs well, no body rust, new battery, good tires. Needs some minor engine work. $700 or best offer. Call John at 539-1371, leave message. 1981 MONTE Carlo LS. Good condition. Must sell.

$2,895, 539-2321, Eric. Leave name and number 1982 5.0 Mustang. 80,000 plus miles. Loaded. good condition. Ask for Lill at 539-7647. 1984 PORSCHE 944. 75,000 miles. Excellent condition

$12,000. Call 776-7698, ask for Ted.

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help. Confidential pregnancy testing Safe, affordable abortion services.Birth control-Tubal ligation-Gyn exams-

Testing and Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. Providing quality health care to women since 1974. Insurance, VISA & Mastercard accepted

omprehensive Lealth for Women

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe) Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400 Toll Free 1-800-227-1918

Look No Further...

2 bedroom, furnished, fireplace, dishwasher

1010 Thurston 1 bedroom, furnished, new carpet

$450-$475

526 N. 14th Villa II 2 bedroom, furnished, dishwasher

Pheasant Ridge

$395

$310

2 bedroom, stove, frig & dishwasher furnished $375 Gold Key 428-430 N. 6th

923 Fremont

776-1111

1985 PLYMOUTH Voyager LE van. One owner, excel

See for yourself. $7,450. 784-5717 after 6p.m. FOR SALE: 1983 Jeep, CJ7, four-speed, new top excellent condition. $4,500 or best offer. 537-8987.

7 Computers

WANTED: A data base programmer to develop new agricultural software for private business. Evenings. 456-9201.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

ACT IN TV commercials. High pay. No experience. All ages— kids, teens, young adults, families, mature people, animals, etc. Call now! Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702.

AEROBIC INSTRUCTOR needed. Ladies health club Call 776-6469 for appointment.

AIRLINES NOW hiring! Flight attendants, many other positions! $17,500 to $58,240. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext. X-1797

ATTENTION: HIRING! Cruise ship, casino, hotel jo Free travel benefits! Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. Y-1797. ATTENTION: EARN money watching TVI $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. TV-1797.

ATTENTION: EARN money typing at home! $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. T-1797.

BANQUET EMPLOYEES needed, local hotel. Must be able to work daytime. 539-7531. Ask for Brett. BUS DRIVERS-$5 per hour. Must be 21 years of age. have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. Part time 6:30a.m. to 8:30a.m. and 2:40p.m. to 4:30p.m. Job description available. Apply USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 68502. 913-537-2400.

BUSINESS MANAGER, half time. Responsible for all financial accounting and record keeping. Exper-ence required, non-profit preferred. Flexible hours make this ideal for the right student. Complete job description available at UFM, 1221 Thurston or call 539-8763. Apply by April 2. EOE. CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, salling, waterskiing, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary 5000 crafts. maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B. Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. 708-446-2444 CONSTRUCTION HELP wanted: Construction firm in Vail, Colo., seeking qualified person with construc-tion management or civil engineering degree. Surveying and commercial or residential construc-tion experience desired. Send resume to Craig Bruntz, c/o D.V.C., 1000 S. Frontage Road West, Suite 202, Vail, CO 81657.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440, Ext. B288. EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288.

EXPERIENCED GARDEN store help needed to work immediately! Must have plant knowledge, sales experience and be willing to work hard. Full- or part-time for spring season including Saturdays. Blueville Nursery. 2% miles west on Anderson Avenue. EOE. 539-2671.

EXPERIENCED BICYCLE sales/ mechanic. Part time.

FRENCH AND Spanish interpreters wanted for simulta neous interpretation in grain storage and marketing course to be held at Kansas State University June 5 to July 20, 1990. Translation or interpretation experience desired. Must have college degree or be enrolled at KSU. Contact Merla Brookman at 913-532-6161 for more information. Application padline April 2, 1990. KSU Equal Opportunity

HARD WORKING, conscientious science student, to assist with NSF funded project, needed now through summer. A wide variety of skills and experience in general laboratory and microbiological techniques preferred. See Mrs. Manney, room 35 Cardwell Hall. HELP WANTED! Bartenders, bouncers, waitresses Apply between noon and 4p.m. at Baystreet.

HELP WANTED: Grill cook/ Bus boy. Experience helpful, part-time, start immediately. Call for application and interview. 539-2651. HELP WANTED: Man with farm background for full-time employment on dairy. House and salary (913)257-3576. HOTEL/ RESORT/ F&B Management. Don't limit your-self to those few companies that recruit on campus. Explore all your possibilities. Call 508-943-8807.

LAWN CARE person wanted for large apartment community. Responsible for the maintenance of grounds and swimming pools. Horticulture or agricultural background helpful. Full time April through August. Send resume to Collegian, Box 8, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

LOCAL HOME turnishing store is looking for a salespe son who is able to work Saturdays and Sundays. Please send a resume to Box 4, K-State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66502.

MARKETING AIDE. Half-time positions working with direct mail promotions for a national association. Learn important aspects of direct marketing, working with printers, mailing firms, copy, mailing lists, and marketers. Fill out application weekdays at LERN, 1554 Hayes Drive.

PART-TIME HELP wanted evenings and weekends People with farm or livestock background preferred. For more information call 776-9401 Monday through Friday 8a.m. to 5p.m.

PROGRAMMERS: THREE student programmers to start in May. Knowledge of and programming experience using COBOL, database applications, and FOCUS on both mainframe and microcompuand POCOS on both maintaine and indicocompleters, along with GPA will be selection criteria.

Undergraduates with employment potential of two years and year-round availability will be given preference. Contact receptionist, Room 21, Anderson Hall, by Sp.m. April 2, EOE. RECREATIONAL SERVICES needs a microcomputer systems manager. Student staff member responsible for all aspects of existing microcomputer hardware and software including designing, developing and maintaining new and existing software.

Complete information available at Administrative Office, Peters Recreation Complex, telephone 532-6980. Starting wage— $6.50/ hour. Position available now. SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 opening National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

TUTORS FOR University tutoring program. Begin fall semester, 1990. Majors with an emphasis in math, science and business are encouraged to apply.
KSU students, minimum GPA 3.0. Flexible work hours. Ability to work with diverse groups. $5/ hour.
Required to take two hour credit course on paraprofessional training, meets Thursdays 4:30-5:45p.m. throughout semester. Optional for persons who have tutored at least three semesters with program. Additional required training for every-one: August 20 and 21. Application deadline: April 5. Applications available: Educational Supportive Services, 201 Holton Hall, 532-5642. KSU is AA/EE employer.

532-6555 SUMMER WORK available at KSU Vegetable Research

Farm, DeSoto (K.C. area). $4.50/ hour. Must have own transportation. Contact Dr. Charles Marr or Mrs. Elder at Horticulture, 532-6170 for application THINKING OF taking some time off from school? We need Mother's Helpers/ Nannies. We have prescreened families to suit you. Live in exciting New York City suburbs. We are established since 1984 and have a strong support network. 1-800-222-XTRA.

WE HAVE the ideal college job for fraternity and scrority members. Set own hours with extremely high nonetary return. Job includes marketing imprinted portswear and party favors to Greeks. Please call

T-Graphics, Inc. Lawrence, KS 1-800-633-0276. WHEAT HARVEST help, truck driver, 13 speed, combine operator. Prefer farm person, no drugs, non-smoker. Monthly salary. 468-3371. May 20

WORKING COUPLE outside of NYC looking for nanny/ mother's helper: Care for toddler, newborn, dog. Must drive, swim, cook. Non-smoker. Own room. bath, TV, car. One year minimum. Call between 9-5 EST. 201-688-5607.

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for spring, Christmas and next summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1 805-682-7555 EXT. S-1112. (call 7 days a week)

9 Food Specials

through Aug. 5.

MACDOUGAL'S RESTAURANT, 1103 N. Third weekend breakfast special. Farm breakfast served with sausage, green pepper and onion mixed on top of hash browns with two eggs on the side served with toast or biscuit. It's $3.59.

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

WOHLER'S USED Furniture, 615 N. Third. Open 1p.m. to 5p.m. Saturday and Sunday; 6p.m. to 9p.m. Tuesday and Thursday evening, or call 539-3119. Appliances, modern and antique furniture, office furniture. Lots of miscellaneous.

11 Garage and Yard Sales

COLLECTABLES FROM the 20s and the 60s. Quantities of kitchen and household items. Justin Hall 115. March 30 4-6p.m., March 31 8-11a.m.

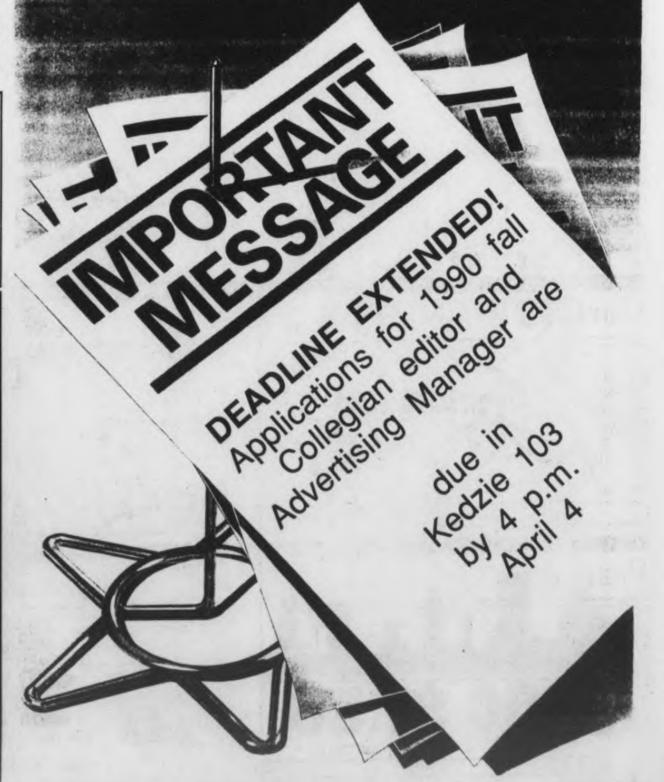

and Saturday, Furniture, TV, clothes, catamaran YARD SALE Saturday, 2029 Hayes Drive, 537-1777.

Wedding dress, stereo, TV, encyclopedias, camera, dishes, morel 12 Houses for Rent

ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks east campus, laundry hookups. $285/ month, utilities, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1, 539-3672 evenings.

ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June 1. $295. 539-1554.

(Continued on page 15)

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: BACKPACK at Dr. Mowry's or Dr. Alexander's office on March 22. Identify and claim by calling 776-4200.

FOUND: GOLDEN Lab, approximately one year old at Manhattan and Vattler on 3/28. Call 537-8794. FOUND: HIGHLAND Community College football jacket in Aggleville. Call 532-4867.

LOST: BLUE nylon briefcase and tan jacket in parking lot behind Weber. Reward. Phone 457-2179

LOST: GOLD ADPi pinkle ring, around Seaton or the Union. Please call 537-1654; leave a message if LOST: MEN'S Pulsar watch with brown leather band in the Union parking lot area Sunday afternoon. Please return. 539-8495.

LOST: PEPE jean jacket at Baystreet. Reward. Brad at

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

TWO-BEDROOM, 10x60 trailer. Good condition. Great location. Low rent and utilities. Washer/ dryer, storage. 776-5671.

WHY PAY rent? 14x72 mobile home. Two-bedroom, two-bath, excellent condition. Own for $350/ month. Call 537-3779.

18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

TE HE!

1988 ALUMINUM Trek mountain bike with many extras In great condition. Leave message, 539-3476. RISING HOUSE Discount Bicycles, Cambridge, Kan-sas. Muddy Fox, Reflex, Mammoth, Ritchey, Look, Vitus. In Manhattan, call 776-7929.

BUT SHE DIDN'T KNOW

THE SECRET HAND-SHAKE.

SNYDER'S HONDA on Stagg Hill Road is buying and selling new and used motorcycles. We are your motorcycle super market.

19 Music/ Musicians

MUSICIANS WANTED to perform for "Earth Day" activities April 22, 1990 in Manhattan City Park. If interested call 776-5705.

NEW IBANEZ 550, Floyd Rose, Dimarzio pickups 776-7668.

Hayes House of Music

Guitar Strings & Drum Sticks

Buy one set, get second set for half price 776-7983 327 Poyntz

AND THE "PROFESSORS"

EVA? SPEEDY RECOVERY SINCE

YOU CALLED - IN THIS MORNING?

SECTION WAS OUT.

By J. Hayden

Ripple

SHE EVEN

THOUGHT

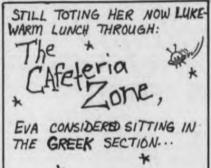

OF

LUNCHING

WITH HER

"SMOKING

FRIENDS,

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Garfield

By Jim Davis

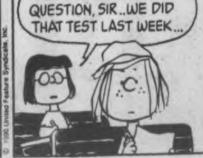

By Charles Schulz

THERE IS NO THIRD

20 Parties-n-more

Don't Forget Friday Ladies Nite

$1 Coolers Saturday No Cover with Student I.D.

Baystreet

21 Personals

ADPIS- THE Taus love your new tree decor and, of course, we're sorry about your underwear drawers.

Our Homecoming Duo will be the team to beat, but untouchable and will rise to new feats. We're pumped and can't hardly wait, so let's party together and start everything off great!

BABY DOLL, Without you there's no change. I Love

REAR- THANKS for the fun and memories of Spring Break—from running out of gas to getting hysterical at the border. The time we spent together was, okay! Love— your girl, in the crackerbox car.

BETA SIGS Brownie and Andy, Margaritas and Beer, Dancing till dawn, with Beta Sig dates we can't go wrong! Ax Love, Darla and Amy. DEANER— HAPPY Anniversary. It has been the two most wonderful years of my life. I Love You Always.

DELTS-SATURDAY is the day for the Delts to lead the way. Number one is where you'll be at the Greek Games of Alpha XII Good Luck! Love, your

KKG DATES Steinle, Goertz, Hiett, Beaman and Oard-Grab your ties, our formal is here. Lots of dancin' and laughin' and, of course, too much beer. The fun will not end 'til the wee morning light, the Kappas wanna party. See you Saturday night. Love, your

PI PHI Shanen, Steph, Tracy and Christy: Together we became the 1989 Pledge Class. Together we will leave. Thanks for the fun Wednesday night! It's only the beginning. We love ya! Pi Phi love— '89 Pledge

SIG EP Scott- KC's the place we're heading at five, Dancing all night is what I thrive, Margaritas for me Beer for you, You'll have my heart the whole night through! Love. Meggan.

SIG EPS, Greek Games are here so drink some beer! Good Luck Saturday! Love, your AZD Coaches. SIGMA CHI-Mark: Long time, no see! I miss you! Love, THETA XIS Randy and Jim: Chi-O reunion is here at last. We know with you two we'll have a blast. Being our dates, you have nothing to lose. Just bring yourself, we'll bring the booze! -Tania and Teri TINA AND Carla- Casino night! What about our pool game? R.S.V.P. Moore 6. Chad/ Jeremy.

TO THE AXO Pagre gais: Thank for the rides and good times. The Sigma Chi Padre Boys.

TO THE women of ADPi: The fun has started, there's paper in the air, midnight calls, you had bette beware. For you won us over in every way, and we come to you as if to say. Work all day and party all night, ADPi/ ATO, we do it right. The Men of ATO.

WILL THE person who mailed a money order to pay for a personal, please come to Kedzie 103 and show your I.D. Ad will not run until you do so. Thank you, ZANET- DINING, dancing and you as my date, Gold Rose Formal is sure to be great. So what if you're a little bit dangerous. I like to play with dynamite!?!

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

SIX-MONTH MINI-LOPP litter trained. All accessories

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits 1105 Waters 539-4751

23 Professional Services

FEEL GOOD AGAIN!

Call today for an appointment 537-8305

Dr. Mark Hatesohl Chiropractic Family Health Center 3252 Kimball Avenue Candlewood Shopping Center

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day results. For appointment call: Pregnancy Testing Center, 539-3338.

PERMS $17. His-N-Hers. Tel. 776-1330. All services on

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHER. 15 years of quality experience. 50 to 100 photos, plus free negatives. $150 complete wedding. $200 photos plus video.

24 Resume/ Typing Service

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms, dissertations, theses, etc. Call 776-4214. LETTER-QUALITY word processing. $1.25 double-spaced page. Next-day delivery available. Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals, re-sumes and more. Laser printing. Call 537-4146. RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to make an impression. One day service. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147.

WORD PROCESSING: College papers, resumes, let-ters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single. Quality Print. Betty, 539-6851, Claffin.

25 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER to share two-bedroom apart-ment since school year. Two blocks from campus. $195 rent and one-half utilities. 532-2443.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to find apartment for fall. FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for next year to begin either June or August. Have own large bedroom and one-half bath close to campus in great complex. If you enjoy an easygoing environment and are interested, give us a call at 776-9308. Ask for Lori or Liz. Non-smokers please

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share house close to campus, turnished, washer, dryer. Lease, deposit, utilities shared. Edie, 776-3066.

FEMALE WANTED: Own room, $156.66, one-third utilities. Non-smoking. Call 539-6303 after 5p.m. NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, own room, by campus, $131.25 monthly, one-fourth utilities. Call 537-4641 or 776-2074.

ONE— TWO non-smoking females, furnished farm-house, free stall and pasture for horses, cattle, dogs. P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan. ROOMMATE WANTED to share house trailer, $100 per month, half utilities. Call Allen 537-3909. WANTED: TWO roommates to share four bedroom house. $130 plus one-fourth utilities. Close to campus. Starts June 1. 776-9244.

26 Stereo Equipment

KENWOOD KR-V8010 receiver, 130 W/CH, Dolby Surround, remote; $425; Kenwood DP2010 CD player, 16 BIT/4X, remote, $150; Kenwood KX-3510 cassette deck, Dolby B.C.HX-Pro, auto reverse, $150; Infinity SM-120 speakers, $425. All under warranty. Call Jeff, 537-4377.

PIONEER LOUDSPEAKERS— Good condition. $125 or best offer. 539-4250.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

GUN AND Knife Show— March 31, 9-5; April 1, 9-4. National Guard Armory at Manhattan Airport. Buy. sell, trade. Information 1-922-6979.

28 Sublease

A $100 sublease for summer. Own room in large house. Female preferred. 1818 Fairchild. Call 539-1457,

A NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, one fourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New arpet. Available anytime. Call, leave 537-7073.

APARTMENT FOR sublease—Within walking dist of campus. Furnished, clean, quiet. Call 539-4847.

APARTMENT FOR rent: Great location, like new apartment, one-bedroom, perfect for two people. June 1st— August 1st. $340/ month. Across the street from campus— Anderson Village. 539-4196. FOR SUMMER- Nice, furnished two bedroom, great for three, close to campus, $360, 776-2378. FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, one block from campus. Washer/ dryer. June 1 to July 31, 539-8205, ask for John. No answer, leave message.

FURNISHED- ONE-BEDROOM, air conditioned, dishwasher. Available May to July 31. $300 or best offer. Call 539-1977. FURNISHED, CLOSE to campus, two-bedroom, three person apartment. Price negotiable. May free. Phone 776-0368. JUNE AND July: Two-bedroom apartment, room tour. Dishwasher. One block campus, Aggieville. 539-5543, 532-2898. JUNE AND July sublease. Two weeks in May free! One bedroom, unfurnished, nice. $250, 776-0486.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM apartment, close to campus. Rent negotiable. Call Mike, 537-8292. LARGE TWO- to three-bedroom main floor, full kitchen. Available for summer sublease. Only $250/ month. Call 537-3696.

SPACIOUS FURNISHED studio apartment next to campus. Laundry facilities and patio. Available June and July. Rent negotable. 539-5736. Ask for

23 Type type:

indicator spouses

24 Wind

25 Former

26 Give for a bit

28 Gingrich

of the House

29 Boxing

poke

32 Printing

33 Actress

men machines

27 Brain-

home

3 Archery hero

4 The M

of GM

6 Actress

lasting general plume

resort

need

16 Noted ski 36 Church-

7 Ever-

8 Union

9 - de

10 Mimic

53 "Othello" 11 Sawbuck 35 Eggs

5 Acid type

Ullmann

the wind

SUBLEASE JUNE, July. Three-bedroom, 1½ baths, 1½ blocks south of campus, 539-5693.

SUBLEASE— TWO-BEDROOM apartment, good for three. Close to campus. Negotiable. Call 539-7423.

SUBLEASE—JUNE 1 through July 31. Three-bedroom, $340/ month, washer/ dryer, two blocks from campus. 532-3458. If no answer, leave message.

SUBLEASE: 1800 block Laramie, four-bedroom house, price negotiable. Call 532-3609 or 532-3604, ask for Darin or Brian.

SUBLEASE— THREE-BEDROOM apartment near campus. Dishwasher, laundry facilities, two bath-rooms. Available mid-May through July 31st. Time available negotiable. $170 month plus electric. Call 539-3215.

SUBLEASE— TWO blocks from campus, nice two-bedroom apartment, $280/ two persons. 537-8674.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Nice, spacious two-bedroom apartment. Water and trash paid. $375. Call 776-6498.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Two-bedroom turnished close to campus, water and trash paid. Call 532-3124.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Room in a large house, 1818 Fairchild. $100/ month plus one-sixth utilities. 539-1457, ask for Denise.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Unturnished, three-bedroom apartment, two bathrooms and deck. Next to Aggleville and close to campus. Call 776-5135.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Close to campus and Aggleville. Two large bedrooms. Best offer. Call 539-5519. SUMMER SUBLEASE, furnished, balcony, close to campus. For more into call 776-7034.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Nice, spacious furnished two-bedroom apartment, one and one-half bath, dis-hwasher, close to campus, water and trash paid, $360 negotiable. 539-2625. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Nice, two-bedroom apartment for three people. Close to campus, washer, dryer, $150/ month plus utilities. 539-4784.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Nice and affordable onebedroom apartment. Near campus/ Aggieville. Call 539-2963 or 539-2007.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Nice, one-bedroom furnished apartment for two people. Near campus and Aggieville. Make offer. 539-4577. THREE-BEDROOM, furnished or unfurnished, close to

Aggieville and campus. 776-7493. THREE-BEDROOM, 11/2 bath, close to campus and Aggieville. $350/ month (negotiable). Call 539-3719/ 539-1043.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, one-half block east of campus. Nicel Dates negotiable. 537-7982.

TWO-BEDROOM, four person apartment. One-half block from Ahearn on College Heights. $540 monthly, water and trash paid. 1829 College Heights, #2. 537-7855. Call after 6p.m. For summer

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT available for summer Furnished. In Anderson Place. For more into call

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT available May 1. Call after 6p.m. 539-1199.

31 Volunteers Needed

STRESSED OUT volunteers needed immediately Learn to manage stress and take part in dissertation project on biofeedback. Practice ses sions weekly for six weeks. Daily home practice 20 minutes. One participant will win a drawing for $250 at the end of the six-week project. Sign up at Counseling Service, Lafene or phone 1-784-6762

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050. Battery or AC powered, two font types, 16,000-character memory expansion card, spet corrector and many other features. Excellent condi-tion. $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave

FRIDGIDARE PORTABLE Dishwasher, $30. Rita

ODDS 'n ENDS THRIFT SHOP

Knick Knacks. Adults and children's clothes, Appliances, Furniture, Books, Kitchenware

611 N. 11th (Handi Corner)

33 Storage

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox Lane Storage, Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

34 Beach Videos

BABES OF Daytona Beach! Hot! Two hours of girls, girls, girls! VHS. $15. Mike, 776-9224.

By Eugene Sheffer

35 Business Property

SUPER LOCATION adjacent to Kansas State Univer sity. Various retail sizes and rates available at First Bank Center. Contact Dan Weir Co. Real Estate.

Crossword

37 Grammar DOWN ACROSS 1 Cow's tense 1 Slugging 39 Come in need 2 Out of first 4 Like bulls and drakes 40 Argon or radon 8 Pesky 41 Polar insect feature 12 Pub quaff 45 Teen 13 Leave out hangout replaceamount villain

54 Opposite

55 Finale

ment

time

52 Great

drug

14 Hitchcock 48 Calming movie 15 Kinsman 50 Butter 17 "You said 18 Wrestling 51 At any 19 Actor Perlman 21 Player for bucks 22 "The Return of 26 Actor's hold

need 30 Price additive of TV

31 Utopia 32 Chum 33 Pauley 34 Part NYSE 35 Planet

36 Glens

Solution time: 28 mins. dialogue 29 Canning SIT 49 Ms. Peron Yesterday's answer 3-30

38 Dome home of "avec" 20 Rowing 39 Make broade 42 Quote 43 Bard's river 44 Await 45 Miss Piggy 46 in the segment

47 Trip

CRYPTOQUEP

QIVVHQQMIW LYHK NHSX ESH QHWWUKD VGKMUSFQ UB XEVYB BG BYHX YENH E GMMHS.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: AT THE HEIGHT OF FLU SEASON, THE MAIN HOSPITAL WAS FORCED TO DISPENSE WITH RHEUM SERVICE.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: S equals R

Love

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Trevor Howard, senior in park resources management, worked out with Love Thursday.

"We did as much in 30 minutes as I usually do in two hours," Howard said. "It was a really intense

At 3 p.m. Saturday, Love will conduct a question-and-answer seminar in McCain.

"Most of the people who come to the seminars really don't want to know much about body building," he said. "What they want to know about is what's going on in the body building world.

Love said he has been influenced by several professional body builders, including Arnold Schwarzenegger, who he knows well.

"Arnold is very arrogant," Love said. "But that's how he got where he is. He's definitely a special individual.

Love said he would like to follow in Schwarzenegger's footsteps, into the entertainment world.

"I would love to get my own movie - something like 'Ronbro,'" or "'Commandobro' or 'The Black Terminator." he said, laughing.

Estates

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 of rent for each room, although the developer also offers management services for owners, Weir said. The development company would charge renters $195 per month.

In effect, he said, the incoming lease money would offset the payments, and the owner's child would live virtually rent-free.

In information provided by the developer, the townhomes would also qualify for business tax deductions, as long as the rooms were rented out at a fair market value.

"To compare them to the dorms doesn't make sense; they're two dif-ferent situations," Weir said.

Weir said that the development doesn't want to compete with oncampus housing, but rather with the converted house-apartments in

Krause said the fault lies with the marketing firm and not with Brittnay

"In all fairness, the marketing strategies were developed by a marketing firm in Illinois. The local developers were surprised with the letter, although that is no excuse for a lack of communication," he said.

To correct the situation, the marketing firm paid for an additional letter

Love said life as a body builder is always being the center of attention.

"Everywhere you go you stand out, because you look different from a normal person," he said. "How many people do you see walking down the street who look like body builders? They've got lumps on every portion of their bodies. People on the street think you're deformed or something. You get a lot of attention.

Competing at the level of Mr. Olympia means going up against the biggest body builders in the world. Love said maintaining a positive attitude is important.

"You've got to look at it like, you're not the best in the city, the best in the state, or the best in the country you're one of the best in the world, and the world is a pretty big place. When you think about how many body builders there are in the world, to be one of the elite 10 in the world is

However, Love said, he keeps his life in perspective.

"I count my success as a blessing, and that's the reason I try to stay real, and enjoy the people who are around me," he said. "I'm not superhuman. I put my pants on the same way as everybody else — one leg at a time.

mailed to parents. The letter states that the University was not connected with the development.

The mailing list used by the marketing firm was obtained by from the University of Minnesota, which compiles lists of student names from national testing programs such as the PSAT, Krause said.

"We were concerned that a list of students was floating around that had been generated within the University," he said.

I've been fortunate enough to work to the point where I can be renowned in something. It happened to be body building.

In Detroit, Love's schedule is even busier than when he is on the road.

"At home, I work out twice a day," he said. "And I'm in the gym almost all day as a personal trainer at several gyms. I stay busy all the time."

Love said the only free time he gets is when he is on the road, and even that time is limited.

"I got two hours of free time between the airport and Manhattan. That was fantastic," he said.

Bee

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 cation system. If you know nothing, how can you react to what people say about news.

The National Geography bee should help correct the problem, he Lippert said the subject of geography is often overlooked. Competitions such as this one help students become more aware of an area that needs emphasis.

"I hope to see the program continue," Lippert said, "Paul is very honored and excited to be a part of

Care

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 13

ing," she said. The center employs 30 full-time and 70 part-time workers, Bolsen said. Many of the employees are students. They do hire students with work study, but it is not a requirement. The employees include childcare workers as well as janitors, who clean up after the children each night.

The child-care center is financially managed by the Department of Housing, she said. The center pays a total of $24,000 annually to rent the building from the housing department.

Daily rates for the center range from $21 for infants to $11.50 for school-age children. Fees also vary depending on whether the child is enrolled in the center full or part time. Parents pay according to the number of days their child is enrolled in the

One way students with families can get financial assistance is through the Student Government Association, Bolsen said. SGA offers a scholarship called Childships. This scholarship is designed to help student families pay for child care by paying part of the fees for them.

Childships pay $6 of the $15 daily fee for infants, $4 of the $10.50 for toddlers and $2 of the $9.50 for preschool children.

She said the center's income goes toward buying supplies and paying

Children enrolled in the center are served lunch and a snack. Funding for the meals is provided by the Childcare Food Program sponsored by the Department of Agriculture. The food is prepared at Kramer Food Bolsen said one of her concerns about the future of the center is the new minimun wage law, which raises minimum wage from $3.45 to $4.25. Student workers at the center receive minimum wage.

Cultures

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Indian way is bad. Baird-Olson considers herself and her family a part of the third group. "My children and myself are very comfortable with who we are and will speak up about it," she said.

Baird-Olson, who has lived on and off a reservation for more than 30 years, said an example of maintaining a balance between the two cultures was accepting modern technology in the material world - which is accepting a different way of doing things - but which doesn't mean a disloyalty to traditional beliefs.

Baird-Olson said culture shock was the hardest thing to adjust to when coming off of the reservation. She compared it to the same culture shock anyone coming from a different way of life would experience. "I have adapted to, but never become comfortable with, the segmentation in the Anglo life of separating personal and professional life," she

Leah Huckeby, junior in architectural engineering and a member of the Native American Student Body, said it is difficult to find a balance between the two cultures.

Native Americans have a definite generation gap, Huckeby said. The older Native Americans still adhere to the traditional and more spiritual ways, while the younger set is trying to fit into society, she said.

"It's hard to fit in with Americans and still express our own culture and traditions," Huckeby said. "We want to be proud of our heritage and make people understand and believe, and yet if we do that we're shunned."

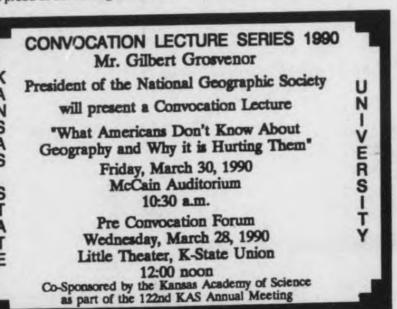

Huckeby said she thought most Native Americans either ignore their heritage and accepted American values, or they really believe in their Native American roots.

"It's one or another," Huckeby said. "There's no in-between, and it is really sad because it pulls people away from their parents and grandparents."

Bushyhead said he is often asked to speak about his heritage.

He didn't know much about his heritage until he came to the University in 1985, when he learned about the Native American tradition in history and anthropology classes. He helped re-found NASB last year.

written by Krause that has been 776-5577 776-5577 PIZZA SHUTTLE "NO COUPON SPECIALS" Everyday rime Time Two-Fers Special 3-10 in. Pizzas 2-10 in. pizzas 2—Toppings 1—Topping 2-Cokes 4—Cokes $8.00 °10.00 FAST N FREE DELIVERY

MANHATTAN, KS 66502 913-539-2622

BUY 4 FACIALS GET 1 FREE

Offer not good with any other promotion. Exp. 7/31/90

BUY 1 MASSAGE GET THE SECOND 1 ½ PRICE

Offer not good with any other promotion. Exp. 7/31/90

FREE MAKE-UP LESSON WITH PURCHASE OF 1 FACIAL

Offer not good with any other promotion. Exp. 7/31/90

BUY 1 MASSAGE GET A FACIAL FOR 1/2 PRICE

Offer not good with any other promotion. Exp. 7/31/90

COMPLETE SELL-OUT

SPECIAL SALE HOURS TONIGHT UNTIL 9 P.M. SATURDAY 9:30 A.M. TO 5:30 P.M.

weekends

MENS SPORTSWEAR

2 FINE STORES

WESTLOOP SHOPPING CENTER

GREAT $300,000 -GOING OUT OF-BUSINESS SALE

INVOLVING EVERY ARTICLE IN BOTH OF OUR STORES

REG. $30.00 MEN'S KNIT SHIRTS

REG. TO $45.00 LADIES BLOUSES One lot blouses in $1 Q99 Out they go at ...

HUNDREDS MORE BARGAINS NEVER MENTIONED!

REG. TO $48.00 LADIES SKIRTS One lot better made $1099 colors, fabrics. Fine makers. At ...

REG. TO $57.50 MEN'S SLACKS the wanted fabrics. $1099 styles from famous makers. Out at ...

USE CASH-CHECK-VISA-MASTERCARD

REG. TO $62.00 LADIES SEPARATES separates skirts, blouses, slacks, famous maker. Now at . . .

REG. TO $30.00 MEN'S SPORT SHIRTS makers. Wanted styles, fabrics. Won't last long at . . .

ALL SALES FINAL! ALL ITEMS SUBJECT TO PRIOR SALE!

Cole-Haan, Boston Traders, Ruff-Hewn, River City Trading, Career Club, Byford, C.C. Sport, Interwoven, Austin Reed, Corbin, Leslie Fay, Rafaella, New Line, that's me!, Phoebe, Jeffrey & Dara, Petrina, Villager, Jessica, Mizz Lizz, EMO, Bonnie and Bill, Erika, and a host of others!

ENTIRE STOCK COLE-HAAN SHOES DRASTICALLY REDUCED!

REG. TO $60.00 LADIES BLOUSES One lot. Better colors and prints. Fine makers. While they last at . . .

REG. TO $75.00 MEN'S SLACKS One lot. All in the good styles. fabrics. $7099 makers. Out at ...

STORE FIXTURES ALL FOR SALE!

REG. $30.00 MEN'S PAJAMAS

REG. $40.00 LADIES ACTIVE WEAR One lot of farmous active wear, 100% $1 599 cotton, choice of colors. Hurry! at . . .

SAVE UP TO

IJEGIAN

Monday, April 2, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 123

Kruger move stuns many

Florida hires away head coach; money apparently not a factor

By Chris Hays Sports Editor

In a move that stunned nearly everyone even distantly familiar with the K-State basketball program, Head Coach Lon Kruger resigned Sunday to take the vacant head coaching job at the University of Florida.

The fourth-year coach himself even said he had a tough time explaining why he would take over a program that appears to be headed for a probation period due to an ongoing NCAA investigation of the Gainesville, Fla., school's basketball program.

"We're gonna go to Florida," Kruger said. "There's a tremendous amount of disappointment in that decision, combined with a lot of excitement and enthusiasm for the opportunity at Florida.

"On the surface, I have a hard time explaining it. There aren't any ever, most of those same people hidden thoughts."

Kruger, who had just signed a contract extension with K-State last year, will receive a five-year deal at leave his alma mater for the position Florida, which sources in Florida estimate at $1.5 million, but he said money was not a factor in the decision and that his contract was comparable to his K-State agreement.

Florida Athletic Director Bill Arnsbarger announced the hiring of Kruger at 7 p.m. Sunday, ending rumors that had tied Kruger to the position, which was left vacant when mission to talk to Kruger, but did former coach Norm Sloan was not talk to Miller personally. ousted after reports of alleged NCAA rules violations.

names for our position, Lon was always mentioned as someone who statement. "At the same time, how-thought that we could not interest Lon from leaving his alma mater.

"The fact that he has chosen to at Florida says a great deal about what he believes he can achieve here during the decade of the

Kruger said he had been contacted by Amsbarger a little more than a week ago, and Athletic Director Steve Miller acknowledged that Florida officials had requested per-

Miller said the call from Florida was not a surprise because the de-"As we solicited and reviewed partment often gets calls when a coaching job opens.

"The fact of the matter is that they we would be very fortunate to at- call me all the time," Miller said. "I tract," Arnsbarger said in a prepared get calls about every major job that

■ See KRUGER, Page 7

K-State Head Coach Lon Kruger announced his resignation following a team meeting at Bramlage Coliseum Sunday evening. Kruger has accepted the head coaching position at the University of Florida.

Participants number 300

Students compete in rodeo for prizes

By Shannan Seely Collegian Reporter

Horses and cattle invaded Weber Arena this weekend as one of K-State's teams competed in its favorite sport — rodeo. Students participating in rodeos are college athletes just like basketball and football players, said Jeff Pendergraft, saddlebronc rider and senior in animal sciences and industry "There are over 100 rodeos in Kansas," Pendergraft said. "It is a sport, and not everyone can do it. It's like no other college sport. People you are competing against are helping each other, and it is not uncommon to borrow a competitor's horse and win with him.'

Pendergraft was one of about 300 Kansas and Oklahoma college students who competed Friday, Saturday and Sunday for money and prizes in the 34th Annual K-State Rodeo.

The K-State Rodeo Club, working under the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association, organized and obtained sponsors for the rodeo.

"Actually, there is not a big difference between this rodeo and others," Pendergraft said. "We ride the same roughstock that were in the professional and college national competitions."

Most students participating in the K-State Rodeo have competed in rodeos since they were young children, Pendergraft said.

Participating in rodeos is second nature to Pendergraft.

"I grew up on a ranch," Pendergraft said. "I have been riding ever since I was six months old, and my Dad carried me around on the horse."

Pendergraft said most college students started their rodeo careers at Little Britches rodeos.

"I started competing in bronc riding when I was in seventh grade," Pendergraft said. "But most are competing when they are a lot younger. For me, it wasn't a lot different than breaking colts, and there's a little more money in saddlebronc riding."

Pendergraft said that when he started competing in rodeos, his parents did not approve.

"I think it made my dad more nervous than me," Pendergraft said. "He went to every show I ever did. My mom would not go and would just look at the pictures of me riding instead. Now she watches."

Jill Harsch, junior in hotel and restaurant management and member of K-State Rodeo Club, has competed in barrel racing for nine years. She competed in high school rodeos in Iowa, qualifying for national finals in 1985 and 1986.

In Harsch's first year at the University of Iowa, she wanted a break from participating in rodeos at

"I just wanted to go to college to participate in college activities,"

After roping a calf, Monty Tunks of Panhandle State, Goodwell, Okla., jumps off his horse to tie three of the calf's legs in calf roping competition Sunday in Weber Arena during the 34th Annual K-State Rodeo.

Harsch said she missed rodeo competition, so when she changed her major, she also changed schools and came to K-State.

"Here at K-State, I felt the people had been around horses and understood a lot more," she said.

Pendergraft spent two years at Baker University, playing football and teaching gymnastics.

be flexible," Pendergraft said. "I think gymnastics and football helped me to prevent injuries in saddlebronc

According to the college rodeo program, a saddlebrone rider must stay in the bucking horse's stirrups for a full eight seconds.

The two judges award points to the horse for hard kicking, high bucking, lunging, twisting and spinning. They

"It is important to be in shape and also score the rider on how he handles the ride. The judges' average score can total up to 100 points.

Pendergraft said a score of 70 is considered a good ride, but the scores vary depending on the judges "I'm usually in the 60s or 70s," he Pendergraft said a positive attitude is important to prevent injury and win rodeos.

Military selects potential sites

From Staff and Wire Reports pecting the news and that he

Many landowners were taken by surprise Friday when the Army announced four possible land acquisition sites throughout Kansas.

The sections of land have been recommended as possible sites if the Army decides to expand training space at Fort Riley. The Army is considering land acquisition as one of about 10 possible ways to solve a shortage of training space.

The four are all within 60 miles of the base in north-central Kansas, but none of them are adjacent to Fort Riley. Each site is about 82,000 acres, the Army said. The first site, the most heavily populated, is 10 miles west of Fort Riley in Clay County and northeast Dickinson County. The second-most populated site is south of Fort Riley in parts of Morris, Chase and Marion counties.

The third site is northwest of Salina in Ottawa County bounded on the east by the town of Minneapolis.

The least-populated site is northwest of Salina in parts of Ottawa and Mitchell counties.

Emery Berry, landowner in Ottawa County, said he wasn't ex-thought the plan wasn't thoroughly planned out.

"It was a little bit of a shock," Berry said. "It looked to me like they mapped out an area where there weren't a lot of towns and didn't put much the decision at all."

Berry said he owns about 1,800 acres and that 400 to 800 acres will be affected in the two sites in Ottawa County.

Another Ottawa County landowner said he would fight to keep his land.

"As far as I'm concerned, I'll fight them for every inch of it," said Charles Carlson, rural resident. "But once (the Army) makes up its mind to do something, it doesn't matter what the public wants. I won't roll over and die though."

Carlson said his sons own farms in the areas being considered by the Army and that part of the land has been in his wife's family for more than 100 years.

Berry said he will become involved in attempts to stop the possible land acquisition and said he expects Farm Bureau Insurance ■ See FORT, Page 14

Sioux women lecture on domestic violence

By Elvyn Jones Collegian Reporter

The high incidence of domestic violence in contemporary Indian society resulted from the destruction of American Indian culture by oppressive and racist Christian missionaries, two Sioux women said Friday.

Tillie Blackbear, the first nonwhite woman to chair the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence, and Nadine Thunderhawk, spiritual healer, both said they were victims of domestic violence.

Blackbear and Thunderhawk are now involved in efforts to resurrect the spiritual heritage of the Sioux Indians to combat violence against women and children on the Rosebud Sioux Reservation in South Dakota.

Blackbear told an audience of about 70 people in Farrell Library she believes domestic violence was not part of traditional Indian culture. The early European settlers, who thought of women as property, did not respect or understand the role of women in the cultures they encountered, Blackbear said. When the male-dominated federal government and its missionary hirelings began to assimilate and acculturate the American Indians, they sought to eliminate that part of the society they didn't understand.

In so doing, they destroyed the matrilineal kinship system that had regulated Sioux society and protected women and children, she said.

Christian missionaries sought to establish their religion by forbidding the customs and spirituality of native cultures, Blackbear said. They were so successful that some tribes lost all knowledge of their sacred rites and customs. Some of those, like the Coeur d'Alene tribe in Idaho, have adopted the rites of Plains Indians. White culture also taught the Indians that to dominate another person was power, Blackbear said. "Men are violent because they have learned that is a means of controlling another person's behavior," she said. "A lesson learned so well from the church."

This, not alcoholism, is the cause of domestic violence in contemporary Indian society, she said.

See VIOLENCE, Page 14

Extremists blamed in riot

LONDON (AP) - Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and opposition politicians on Sunday blamed extremist groups for turning a carnival-like anti-tax protest in Trafalgar Square into one of London's worst riots this century.

On Sunday, about 100 protesters chanting "No poll tax!" and "Can't pay, won't pay!" clashed with police for a second day when Home Secretary David Waddington toured the scene of Saturday's riot. Four people were arrested.

A protest by 40,000 people against a new local tax turned violent Saturday when thousands of militants smashed windows, set cars ablaze and battled police for several hours. Hundreds of people were injured, and hundreds were arrested.

The so-called community charge, which took effect Sunday in England and Wales, replaces a property tax with a levy on each adult and increases the amount many pay by up to a third. Critics say it's unfair because Britain's richest man, the Duke of Westminster, pays the same rate as his gardener.

Nation

Greyhound driver shot

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - The driver of a Southeastern Trailways bus taking a Greyhound route through Tennessee was shot and critically wounded from a passing pickup truck, and doctors said Sunday his mangled arm may have to be amputated.

"It's an open and shut case of terrorism," said Fred Currey, chairman and chief executive officer of strike-plagued Greyhound Lines Inc. "We will not negotiate with people who are involved in terrorism."

Representatives of striking Greyhound drivers said they were not responsible, but Currey said he would not reopen talks until a week goes by without a shooting.

The bus belonged to Southeastern Trailways, an independent company, but operated on Greyhound routes with Greyhound passengers under a pooling arrangement, Greyhound spokesman George Gravley said.

Quarrel results in deaths

JUNCTION CITY (AP) - Police said Sunday they suspect a domestic quarrel sparked an apparent murder-suicide Saturday night that left a husband and wife dead.

The couple's names were not being released pending notification of relatives, but police said the husband was stationed at Fort Riley and confirmed the two were married.

Officers responding to a call in central Junction City about 6:40 p.m. Saturday found a woman lying in a front yard dead from gunshot wounds, according to a police report. Witnesses told police that the woman, who had been riding in a car with the man, fled the car as it approached an

The man chased the woman, threw her to the ground, shot her more than once and then left in the car, police said.

The car was found about 10 p.m. parked in front of a nearby building. When police attempted to enter an apartment in the building, they were told by its occupants that the man had just shot himself.

He was found in an upstairs bedroom and taken to Geary Community Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Timber Wolf wreck injures 35

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Engineers and electricians combed the tracks of a roller coaster Sunday at the Worlds of Fun amusement park to determine why one of the ride's trains collided with another that had stopped, injuring at least 35

Dinn Inc., the builder of the $3 million, all-wood Timber Wolf roller coaster, studied blueprints of the ride Sunday, but the cause of the accident had yet to be determined, said Lane Green, the park's public relations officer.

Business went on as usual on the second day of the park's new season except for a sign in front of the Timber Wolf reading, "This area closed."

Saturday's opening day collision occurred when one of the trains stopped just 100 feet from the end of the ride was rearended by another train.

The two trains each carried 24 persons in six cars. At least 35 people, mostly teen-agers and young adults, suffered injuries ranging from bruises to a broken leg, Green said. Nine people were admitted to hospitals overnight, five for observation, he said. The Timber Wolf opened last April and is the park's newest

John Hudacek, the park's general manager, said everything was being done to determine the cause of the accident and to prevent any future accidents.

"From time to time some of the electrical systems fail. It's just the nature of the product," Hudacek said.

Man shot in robbery attempt

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - A suspect was killed and an off-duty Kansas City reserve police officer injured during a robbery attempt Saturday night at a Pizza Hut restaurant where the officer worked as a security guard, police said.

The reserve officer, whose name police would not release, was shot when he confronted an armed man who had entered the restaurant, said police Major Sylvester Winston.

The officer returned fire, and the 30-year-old suspect was shot several times in the upper part of the body. He died later

The officer was taken to a hospital with injuries to the base of the neck. He did not need surgery and his injuries were not considered life-threatening, police said.

Landon Lecture canceled

U.S. Secretary of Labor Elizabeth Dole has canceled her April 11 Landon Lecture appearance.

A spokesman at her office said the cancellation was because of a scheduling conflict. "We were informed that she would be unable to honor her previous commitment, because she will be out of the country at this time," said Charles Reagan, chairman of the Landon Lecture Series on Public Issues.

University officials are working to reschedule the lecture for

"We have given them a list of possible dates for the fall, and they will get back to us to let us know which date would work," Reagan said.

No other Landon Lecture is planned for this semester. "We had two Landon Lectures last semester and Abba Eban this semester, so we really had planned to have Elizabeth Dole finish the year," Reagan said. "By the time we were notified that it would be canceled, it was too late to schedule someone else."

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Announcements

- University Activities Board Adviser of the Year nominations are due today in the SGS office.
- Application packets for Rhodes and Marshall scholarships are available in Eisenhower 113 until April 8.
- Alcoholics Anonymous meets at 12:05 p.m. every Monday through Friday at Ecumenical Campus Ministry, 1021 Denison.
- Deadline for registering for the LSAT is May 11. See Nancy Twiss in Eisenhower 113 for registration information.
- Deadline for registering for the mock LSAT is Friday. See receptionist in Eisenhower 113 for registration information.
- Applications for Arts and Sciences Student of the Semester are due April 13 in Eisenhower 113.

Monday

- Alcoholic Students Helping Alcoholic Students will meet at 9 p.m. in Lafene 231.
- Pre-Law Office will have a meeting on deadlines and application requirements for all students interested in attending law school in fall 1991 from 2:30 to 4:45 p.m. in Union 209.
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Kevin Bruce Simms at 10 a.m. in Bluemont 257. The dissertation topic will be "An Investigation of Enhancement Factors and Prohibiting Factors Impacting Collegiate Academic Participation and Completion by African-American Males."
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Habib Motallebi at 2:30 p.m. in Durland Conference Room EE. The dissertation topic will be "A Study of Thyristor Models."
- Society of Automotive Engineers will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Durland
- Varsity Water Ski Team will meet at 8 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3 for pictures.
- Campus Girl Scouts will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 208. Attendance is mandatory. Bring scissors.
- Gay & Lesbian Resource Center is sponsoring "Wear Blue Jeans to Support Gay & Lesbian Rights" day today.
- Collegiate FFA will meet at 8:30 p.m. at Hardee's in Aggieville.
- Gymnastics Club will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. in Natatorium 004.
- German Club will meet at 4 p.m. in Eisenhower 125.
- Chimes Junior Honorary will meet at 9:30 p.m. in Union 207.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, sunny and cooler. High 50 to 55. Variable wind 5 to 15 mph. Tonight, mostly clear. Low around 30. Tuesday, sunny and warmer. High around 60.

Some Students Don't Need A BANK IV Student Loan.

Studious

"I discovered heretofore unidentified organic compounds in ordinary dorm food which I processed to propel a spaceship the size of Duluth to the Andromeda galaxy and back..." On one hand: Won every scholarship known to humanity. On the other: Needs money only to buy pocket protector and dental floss.

(12 simultaneous part time jobs. Too busy to talk.) On one hand: Learns value of a dollar. On the other: Collapses of exhaustion 2 weeks before graduation.

Prankster

"... and then we'll get up to their campus, steal the weasel mascot, and hold it for 50 kegs ransom."

On one hand: Lots of laughs. On the other: All assets controlled by bail bondsmen.

Student Loan program.

Send me information on BANK IV's

Football Powerhouse Star

"Hi, Mom!"

On one hand: Can turn pro at any minute.

On the other: Needs to finish his education to understand the contract.

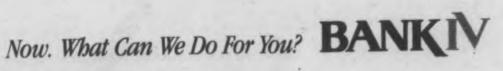

On one hand: Could qualify for a On the other: Hasn't applied yet.

BANK IV Student Loan.

A BANK IV Student Loan Isn't For Everybody.

But it's probably right for you. 'Cause BANK IV believes in you. And in the future you're building for yourself. So if you need money for school, send us this coupon. We'll send you complete details.

Social Security Number Clip out coupon and mail to: BANK IV Educational Loan Department

BANK IV Educational Loan Department / P.O. Box 1318 / Wichita, KS 67201 / (316)261-2103 or 1(800)283-LOAN

Mock murder helps Farrell Library

Play raises funds; Friends sponsor dinner for 200

> By David Frese Collegian Reporter

Three people were murdered Saturday evening during the Friends of the Library's annual library benefit dinner.

Sort of.

The benefit dinner doubled as a Victorian murder mystery, "Once Upon a Crime — A Step Back in Time," in which the Duke and Duchess of Bluemont, traveling with an entourage of foreign dignitaries, came to donate an ancient, supposedly cursed Egyptian scroll to the library.

The celebration was attended by about 200 people, most of whom had shelled out $50 per plate for the dinner to raise money for Farrell Library, and many of whom were costumed in Victorian attire.

This is their story.

What was supposed to be a gala event of wine, revelry and song turned to tragedy as Juliette Poyntz, Manhattan; Prof. Hannibal Rosetti-Stone, world-reknowned archaeologist; and a Times reporter known only as Ted were murdered savagely and in rapid succession at the benefit.

Details on the murders are a tad sketchy, but the first happened before the formal donation of the scrolls.

Poyntz, the first victim, and the Duchess of Bluemont had a brief altercation over an alleged affair Poyntz had with the Duke. After the shouting match, Poyntz became disoriented and dizzy, then screamed like a stabbed hyena and fell to the hard concrete floor.

Officials said she was poisoned, apparently from the wine she had been drinking.

"There's enough poison in this glass to kill 10 horses," said a man identifying himself as Dr. Dykstra. Poyntz was pronounced dead at the scene. The corpse was then carried off nonchalantly so guests could resume their petty party chatter.

Now this would be ample weirdness for most people to exit any party, but the hosts weren't about to let this festive bash end, come hell

Prince Tut, played by David Bucholtz, reads the ancient and supposedly cursed Egyptian scroll to the gathered crowd, while he is surrounded by the characters of the murder mystery including the murderer Rev. Timmy Bakkker, played by Rusty Bara, cowering on the floor next to his wife Fanny Fae Bakkker, played by Martha Kellstrom.

or high water.

The dedication of the scroll began. Oddly enough, Rosetti-Stone, the discoverer of the scrolls, was missing. In fact, no one had seen him the entire night. But once the veil was lifted from what was supposed to have been the scrolls' display case, it became obvious why Rosetti-Stone wasn't mingling among the diners. He was dead.

"He's been strangled," said Sheriff Seth Child, after examining the body that sat lifeless in the showcase.

"It's the curse!" screamed the Rev. Timmy Bakkker from the back of the room.

the building until the culprit could be found.

The weapon used to snuff Rosetti-Stone was a horse bridle not an ordinary-looking horse further because many of the guests bridle, but a horse bridle with a attending had last names beginning Guests were asked not to leave brass "B" emblazoned upon it. Also with "B." There were the Duke and body, fingers were pointed and see that cooler heads prevailed. found on the body was a handkerchief monogrammed with the letter

This complicated the mystery

ABOVE: Guests enjoy a candle-lit dinner, interrupted by only one murder, in the Gothic Room of Farrell Library during the annual Friends of the Library dinner. LEFT: Dr. Dykstra, Wally Cash, with the help of Deputy Sam Watson, Larry Marcellus, proclaim the death by poisoning of Juliette Poyntz, Marty Vanier.

Duchess of Bluemont, Timmy and Fanny Fae Bakkker, and Beatrice Bookend, the librarian in charge of Farrell's solitary book, to name but panic erupted. A small group of people in the back were planning to lynch President Jon Wefald. But amidst the madness, Master of Ceremonies and former President

"Let's eat," he declared. The guests adjourned to Farrell 315, also known as the Gothic Room, which had been turned into a ■ See MURDER, Page 14

Texthook Sale

SALE BOOKS PRICED AT ONLY $299 OR LESS!

- Hundreds of new & used textbooks
- Various fields of study
- Some previously used at K-State
- Some from other universities
- Old editions
- Wholesaler overstock

Don't pass up this great opportunity to add to your personal library at a fraction of the regular cost!

9-9 Mon.-Sat.

12-5 Sun.

AUDITION

for 1990-1991

K-STATE SINGERS

April 2-5

Soprano, Alto, Tenor, Bass Voices Piano and Drums

Info: McCain 229

(open only to non-music majors)

County Community College

Our Summer Will Suit You

Johnson County Community College has classes to suit your summer schedule. Fit yourself into a couple of our courses this summer and ease back into school next fall.

Courses are conveniently scheduled to blend with work, play and vacation schedules. And three credit hours cost only $84 for Kansas residents.

If you're coming home to Johnson County this summer, come to JCCC. You'll be glad you did! Call 469-3803 for admissions information.

Summer telephone registration is April 23 to May 4.

12345 College at Quivira, Overland Park, Kansas 66210-1299

EDITORIAL

Sexuality education needed in schools

... Sex is natural, sex is fun, but sex can't be tion in 1988. Still, in 1990 this mandate faces talked about by anyone.

o accurately quote George Michael's hit song, "... Sex is best when it's one on one. ..." Now, that's something parents don't usually tell their kids. Most college students have been raised in this no-talk, all-do generation of sexuality. This is ironic considering that in the past 20 years the public has awakened to sexual problems and concerns that exist in our society.

Abortion, the pill, AIDS and gay rights are dominating subjects in the media. Still, many people think sexual education should be stifled in the schools and, many times, even in the home. We breed dogs, cats and horses, and we are taught that the birds and the bees reproduce, but not humans. No, we all got here by immaculate conception, and our parents had nothing to do with it.

In 1987, the Kansas State Board of Education began an effort to correct this situation. The board approved a mandate requiring all accredited schools to implement elementary and secondary sexuality curriculums, including units about AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases. These provisions were authorized by, and implemented under, Article 6a, Section 2(a) of the Kansas Constitu- They end up learning the facts of life from severe opposition in many districts as cited in "Human Sexuality and AIDS Education," Kansas Department of Education Part I, Betsy Bergen, associate professor of human development and family studies, says progress in launching sexuality education across the state is slow. Bergen supports the mandate and says sexuality is a vital part of all aspects of education.

"Sexuality education is meant to give students information and teach them decisionmaking processes," she said.

Bergen also teaches "You and Your Sexuality" in addition to courses in family relations. Sexuality needs to be taken out of the bedroom and made a healthy part of public education. Teen-agers and adults cannot be expected to make informed, responsible decisions without offering sexuality education in the schools. Many argue that sexuality education belongs only in the home. But some parents and guardians can't give their kids this opportunity because they lack the knowledge and effective communication skills. As a result, many children suffer from incorrect information from the media and their peers.

-COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

bathroom walls and exaggerated locker room

Human sexuality is considered a basic just like the three R's under the mandate at all levels, kindergarten through grade 12. Teaching human sexuality is a building process, just like teaching math, science and English. Sexuality takes years of progressive learning to comprehend and should not be ignored by our schools.

Offering information concerning contraception in the schools faces the most opposition by districts, Bergen said. Many adults don't want kids to know that things such as birth control exist. Parents and teachers want teen-agers to abstain from sex, she said.

Reproduction is only a small part of a comprehensive sexuality curriculum. It is a big subject that can't be covered during that one big talk from Mom or Dad. Research clearly and religious beliefs. proves that female adolescents who have been exposed to a comprehensive sexuality program are less likely to become pregnant than those who have not had such education. Studies also show that teens who have had sexuality courses in school are more likely to postpone sexual activity.

Society's ignorance has made contraceptives contraband in the classroom while the number of teen-age and unwanted pregnancies and the number of sexually transmitted diseases continues to grow every year. Yet, administrators and parents fight to keep contraceptive information out of schools and to prohibit minors from purchasing contraceptives.

exuality courses can provide students with information and theories about all aspects of their sexuality, emotions and non-dating and dating relationships. This program is designed to enhance self-esteem and teach emotional development and decision-making processes. It also includes the study of psychology, history and philosophies that have affected society's attitudes. Society has spent hundreds of years condemning sex and putting men and women in many negative gender roles. The attitudes are reflected in television, radio, literature sexual decisions.

Sexuality must be introduced objectively, free from religious and sociological influences and the media. This is the only way students can make their own choices and form their own values concerning human relationships. Objectivity has a better chance of survival in the classroom than in any other environment.

The mandate, which is still fighting opposition, is in no way intended to interfere with the personal beliefs or value systems of parents or students. Under the mandate, parents are given the option of having their child excused from parts of sexuality courses if they are opposed to certain courses or objectives.

This mandate was based on a philosophy by Thomas Jefferson. He said "education is the business of the state because education is essential to the happiness, prosperity, and the liberty of the people, and it is for the maintenance and promotion of these, that the state exists."

A human sexuality curriculum must be introduced at the elementary level and made a permanent part of public education. Only through a comprehensive, continuing sexuality program will society be more informed and capable of making positive, responsible

Program puts universe back into University

Ever since the industrial revolution and the resulting specialization of work the division of labor has been reflected in the institutions of higher education.

Such divisions — today students call them "majors" - have served to educate students in the theories and skills of specific professions. This system of dividing knowledge has proved to be an efficient way of teaching information and skills in a specific area, but it has its flaws.

One of them is that students are applying what they know to the immediate tasks of the profession, but they are having problems when it comes to communicating the importance of their work and ideas to other professions - other people - in society as a whole.

Professions are realizing that the system of teaching has become perhaps too specific.

The accounting profession is one of these, and is taking steps to adjust. Two recent studies by the profession stressed "learning to learn" as a primary classroom objective and recommended that communication, intellectual and interpersonal skills, as well as knowledge of accounting, be taught.

To that end, the Accounting Education Change Commission, which was established as a result of these two studies, has granted K-State's Department of Accounting almost $250,000 to help lead in fostering change.

What is not so significant is the amount of money. K-State has certainly had larger donations. What is significant is the purpose for which it will be used.

The Department of Accounting will be using the money to develop a curriculum that broadens not only the accounting skills of its students, but their ability to relate to other people and professions in a society that, because of its increased complexity, requires even more desperately the ability to learn, understand and communicate.

In other words, K-State's Department of Accounting has been given the opportunity to lead the way in putting the "universe" back in "university."

NOW SEE HERE ... CRUSHING DEMOCRACY IS NOT SOMETHING I APPROVE OF BUT WE CAN STILL BE FRIENDS CAN'T WE?

allotment

Mussman

"Lack of money is the root of all evil." -

George Bernard Shaw. hen it comes to allocating funds, some things at K-State just aren't appreciated like they should be. John It seems the people in charge are suffering from "take it for granted" syndrome. They either take it for granted that something will always be there, or you can take it for granted that they don't care whether it stays or goes. As a result, some of the most important parts of the University are not getting the money they need. To take something for granted ... when I was a kid a couple of years ago, I used to think the phrase was "take it for granite." It seemed logical to me. I thought taking something for granite meant it might as well be written in stone. But nothing is written in stone.

You might say then, that taking something for granted is a pretty good indication of having a skull made of rocks.

Joe "Rockhead" Fundsman, K-State's budget-mentality man, told me what he has been saying lately about a few issues at K-

Education was the first topic. Joe's motto has been, "Research, research, research! Produce data or lose your tenure!" He doesn't seem to realize that student education should make up at least 50 percent of the University, and a fitting amount of money should be allocated to meet that need.

Joe has told the faculty, "If you feel you have to teach, then by God, you'll pay for your own bloody copying!

Students can pay for the copies in their classes, but don't they already pay more than $1,400 a year for tuition? I thought copying and other little things like that were supposed to be included in that fee.

Joe also had something to say about the lack of fire safety in Seaton Hall: "It will not burn down, I tell you! It hasn't in the past, has it? Besides, students are young, they can

Yeah, right. It would be quite a shame to lose one of the better architecture schools in the country and some of the best architecture students along with it. That's an understatement.

I asked Joe about parking. Students don't have enough, faculty doesn't have enough, and visitors don't have enough because everyone else doesn't have enough. Parking, in its small way, is a public relations machine. Joe takes it for granted that drivers - especially visitors - will not get irate, scurry off and tell their friends what a joke K-State is. Joe shot back, "But people can park in the Union! The parking meters create a great turn-around time."

Well, the meters do cut the waiting time for a parking space down to less than 15 minutes. But the turn-around time is the time people have before they need to go back and feed the meters. All the same, it would be nice to pay 40 bucks for a parking permit and get to use it once in a while.

How about University health, Joe? Lafene has lost its graveyard shift for want of money. That was a smart move. Accidents don't stop happening after midnight. First of all, bars close at 2 a.m., and the drunks go home - or try to. Not only are there drunk driving accidents, but there are fights and worse, overconsumption of alcohol.

During my short stay at K-State I have witnessed at least two incidents of alcohol poisoning. Luckily, Lafene was open in the wee hours and everything turned out fine. "Hospitals have emergency rooms!" Joe Hospitals are an option, but students don't, as a rule, have much money. I see the fateful time when someone will need Lafene's early morning shift and it is not there. Eventually, current and prospective students and faculty will get a clue and go elsewhere for their education and employment but Joe takes it for granted that they won't.

The latest rock-headed theory at K-State is Student Senate's idea of cutting the UFM budget - either all at once or over a "phaseout period." Joe Fundsman thinks UFM is not necessary, but there is probably nothing at the University that has such a large benefit to as many different people as UFM.

Students and faculty can use UFM for classes that the University doesn't offer. But more importantly, Manhattan residents can take classes from UFM. This benefits not only the University, but students and faculty as well. UFM is the link between K-State and the community.

Joe said, "But Senate Finance Committee chairman Barry Beck said that some of UFM's classes are not conducive to higher education." Wrong, Joe. K-State needs UFM to help maintain good relations with the people of Manhattan. For this reason, anything UFM does is conducive to higher education.

niversity students are often, and not always openly, treated like outsiders. While student money makes up an important part of Manhattan's commerce, students still suffer from a bad image in the eyes of the community. Students, both good and bad, are labeled as speeding, partying fools and generally disruptive to the peace of the town. Students go to school, so the University is blamed as the Manhattan residents often can be heard saying something like, "If it wasn't for that dad-blamed university over there, I could get some sleep after 11 o'clock."

Currently, residents can continue the sentence with, "But at least they offer those UFM classes - I guess it isn't so bad after all." Without UFM, Manhattan residents will have a hard time seeing the benefits of having a university in their town. Apparently, Joe takes good relations between K-State and the community for granted.

K-State's money people should take a closer look and put the available money where it would benefit the most worthy and needy parts of the University - because nothing should be taken for granted.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

	News Staff
	News Statt
DITOR	Erwin Seba Paula Selby
MANAGING EDITOR	Paula Selby Catherine Doud Craig Hamrich
SCISTANT MANAGING EDITOR	Cesia Hamrick
TEWS EDITOR	Craig Hamrick Eric Henry
POTTOPIAL PACE EDITOR	Eric Henry Brad Camp
DITORAL PAGE EDITOR	Brad Camp Chris Hays
THOTO EDITOR	Chris Hays Ellen Dayton, Susan L'Ecuyer
SPOKIS EDITOR	Ellen Dayton, Susan L'Ecuyer Robert Shor
CAMPUS EDITORS	Robert Short Julie Andsager
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Julie Andsage
FEATURES EDITOR	lim Rouri Chris Koge
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR.	Chris Koge Nancy Downing
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Wendy Nakoneczny, Jane Thompson, Angela Walti
COPY CHIEF
COPY EDITORS	Lori Antrim, Paul Branson, Steve Franzen
STAFF REPORTERS	Color Medidi Lori Mikesell Tomari Quinn, Melissa Simpsor
	Bryan Ackley
SCIENCE REPORTER	Margaret Clarkin, Oliver Kaubisch, Brian W. Kratzer  Mark Leffnowell, David Maves, Mike Venso, Steve Wolgas
STAFF PHOTOGRAPHERS	Mark Leffingwell David Mayes, Mike Venso, Steve Wolgas
	Cost Dake David Sychoda Dan Wicke
SPORTS REPORTERS	Mark Leffingwell, David Mayes, Mike Venso, Steve Wolgas Mark Leffingwell, David Mayes, Mike Venso, Steve Wolgas Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan Wicke Kirk Caraway, Karin Dell'Antonia, Audra Dietz Iana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Mussman, Brad Seabour
COLUMNISTS	Thomas I ingly John Mussman, Brad Seabour
	Mark Butler Rod Cilleanie
REVIEWERS	Richard Jones, Mark Butler, Rod Gillespie Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggin Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hayder Richard Broadfoot
NEL TREE TREE TREE TREE TREE TREE TREE TR	Richard Jones, Mark School Broadfoot IIII Hayder
CARTOONISTS	Pichard Broadfoo
EDITORIAL CARTOONIST	Julie Andsager, Ellen Dayton, Catherine Doud Craig Hamrick, Eric Henry, Chris Koger
EDITORIAL BOARD	Susan L'Equer John Mussman, Jim Rouri
	Frwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svobod
	Erwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svodod Kirk Carawa
	Erwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svodod Kirk Carawa Advertising Staff
ADVERTISING MANAGER	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle
ADVERTISING MANAGER	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle Dan Golde Ronnie Met
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle  Ronnie Met
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Johan Kor
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Johan Kor  OUNT EXECUTIVES  Paul Heter, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggin
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Debbie Dinges, Renee Harok  Paul Heter, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggin Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zic
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Debbie Dinges, Renee Hard  Paul Heter, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggin  Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zic
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle Dan Golde Ronnie Met Ronnie Met Rount EXECUTIVES Paul Heler, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggin Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zis Laura Boone, Paul Flemin Oliver Kaulpher, Cary Lyt'
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle Dan Golde Ronnie Met Ronnie Met Rount EXECUTIVES Paul Heler, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggin Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zis Laura Boone, Paul Flemin Oliver Kaulpher, Cary Lyt'
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle  Ronnie Met  Ronnie Met  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Louis Debbie Dinges, Renee Harole  Paul Heler, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggin  Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zic  Laura Boone, Paul Flemin  Olitore Kaublech, Cary Lvti
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC GRAPHIC ARTISTS PHOTOGRAPHERS ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTAN	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Ronnie Met  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Laura Boone, Paul Flemin  Oliver Kaubisch, Cary Lyti  Dana Franklin, Tammy Gin  Doug Griffith, Tammi Land  Student Publications Staff
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC GRAPHIC ARTISTS PHOTOCRAPHERS ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTAL	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Ronnie Met  COUNT EXECUTIVES  Paul Heler, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggin  Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zie  Laura Boone, Paul Flemin  Oliver Kaubisch, Gary Lyt  Dana Franklin, Tammy Gin  Doug Griffith, Tammi Land  Student Publications Staff
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC GRAPHIC ARTISTS PHOTOCRAPHERS ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTAL	Advertising Staff  Sara Shuth Dan Golde Ronnie Met Ronn
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC GRAPHIC ARTISTS PHOTOGRAPHERS ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTAN DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Ronnie Met  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Laura Boone, Paul Flemin  Oliver Kaubisch, Cary Lyt  Dana Franklin, Tammy Gin  Doug Griffith, Tammi Land  Student Publications Staff  Ron Johnso  Gloria Freelan  Ron Johnso  Gloria Freelan  Ron Johnso  Gloria Freelan  Linda Puntne
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC GRAPHIC ARTISTS PHOTOGRAPHERS ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTAN DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutta Dan Golde Ronnie Mei Ron Johnsc Ron Johnsc Gloria Freelan Linda Puntn Ann Fost
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC GRAPHIC ARTISTS PHOTOCRAPHERS ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTAN DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutia  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Ronnie Met  COUNT EXECUTIVES  Paul Heler, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggin  Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zie  Laura Boone, Paul Flemin  Oliver Kaubisch, Gary Lyt  Dana Franklin, Tammy Gin  Doug Griffith, Tammi Land  Student Publications Staff  Ron Johnso  Gloria Freelan  Linda Puntne  Ann Fost  Larkie Harra
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC GRAPHIC ARTISTS PHOTOCRAPHERS ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTAN DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING	Advertising Staff  Sara Shuth  Dan Golde  Ronnie Me  Ro
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC GRAPHIC ARTISTS PHOTOGRAPHERS ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTAN DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING ASSISTANT DIRECTOR BUSINESS MANAGER	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutk  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Ronnie Met  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Dan Golde  Ronnie Met  Ronnie Met  Ronnie Met  Ronnie Met  Ronnie Met  Ronnie Met  Laura Boone, Rene Harok  Laura Boone, Paul Flemin  Doliver Kaubisch, Gary Lyt  Dana Franklin, Tammy Gin  Doug Griffith, Tammi Land  Student Publications Staff  Ron Johns  Gloria Freelan  Linda Puntn  Ann Fost  Jackie Harms  Linda Watter
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC GRAPHIC ARTISTS PHOTOGRAPHERS ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTAN DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING ASSISTANT DIRECTOR BUSINESS MANAGER OFFICE MANAGER CLASSISTED ADVERTISING MANAGER	Advertising Staff  Sara Shuth Dan Golde Ronnie Mei Ronnie Harbi Debbie Dinges, Renee Harbi Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zie Laura Boone, Paul Flemin Oliver Kaubisch, Gary Lyt NTS Dana Franklin, Tammy Gin Doug Griffith, Tammi Land Student Publications Staff Ron Johnso Gloria Freelan Linda Puntna Ann Fost Jackie Harmo Londa Weathers
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC GRAPHIC ARTISTS PHOTOGRAPHERS ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTAN DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING BUSINESS MANAGER OFFICE MANAGER CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle  Ronnie Met Ronnie Met Rount Executives  Debtie Dinges, Renee Harole Paul Heler, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggin Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zic Laura Boone, Paul Flemin Oliver Kaubisch, Gary Lyt Dana Franklin, Tammy Ginz Doug Griffith, Tammi Land  Student Publications Staff  Ron Johnso Gloria Freelan  Ann Fost Jackie Harmo Linda Weather Connie Pulkerso David Svobod
ASSISTANT MANAGER CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGEI ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACC GRAPHIC ARTISTS PHOTOGRAPHERS ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTAN DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING ASSISTANT DIRECTOR BUSINESS MANAGER CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/DEVERTISING MANAGER ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/DEVERTISING MANAGER ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/DEVERTISING MANAGER ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT DIRECTOR/DEVERTISING MANAGER ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT	Advertising Staff  Sara Shutle  Ronnie Met Ronnie Met Rount Executives  Debbie Dinges, Renee Harold Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zic Laura Boone, Paul Flemin Oliver Kaublsch, Gary Lyti Dana Franklin, Tammy Ginz Doug Griffith, Tammi Landi Student Publications Staff  Ron Johnso Gloria Freelan  Ann Foste Jackie Harmo Linda Weatheri Connie Pullerso David Svobod

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and Monday and Thursday during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Canada Canad

tan, Kan. 66506-7167.
News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.
Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Ability Games offer opportunity to experience variety of handicaps

By The Collegian Staff

Creating awareness of what it feels like to be handicapped was the main objective of the Ability Games Saturday in Ahearn Field House.

The games were sponsored by Students for Handicapped Concerns.

"We wanted to get more people aware of what handicapped people go through every day," said Judine Telck, senior in social work and director of the Ability Games.

The five games were a blind basketball relay, an adaptive spoon relay, a wheelchair obstacle course, word

I wanted to participate because I have some handicapped friends. I wanted to know more about what it's like for them.

-Brian Pitman sophomore in mechanical engineering scramble and charades. Each game was designed to illustrate a different handicap, including blindness, hearing impairment and learning disabilities.

Five teams, each consisting of 10 members, participated in the games. The teams represented Haymaker, Marlatt and Edwards residence halls, Farm-House fraternity, and Student Governing Association.

"I wanted to participate because I have some handicapped friends," said Brian Pitman, sophomore in mechanical engineering and a member of the FarmHouse team. "I wanted to know more about what it's like for them.

The students who organized the event said the day was a learning experience for all who participated.

"I think things are going really well considering this is the first time we have had something like this," Telck said. "I would like for it to become an annual event."

Matt Hammeke, sophomore in secondary education, guides Darrin Clubine, sophomore in mechanical engineering, in a game simulating blindness.

"I'm happy about how things have worked out," said Tom Leikam, president of Students for Handicapped Concerns and junior iin journalism and mass communications. "There was more of a response than we thought, and it was also a lot more challenging."

The team from Marlatt Hall won first place. Second place went to Farm-House, and SGA took third.

Terry Milford, senior in marketing, laughs as he bumps into a wooden box while working his way through an obstacle course during simulated handicap games Saturday afternoon in Ahearn Field House. Milford was on the FarmHouse team.

Exhibits feature business trends

By The Collegian Staff

Hundreds of people gathered at Bramlage Coliseum and Brandeberry Sports Complex this weekend to attend the second annual Little Apple Business Show.

The show is sponsored by the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce to promote area bu-sinesses, and this year a boat and recreational vehicle show was set up on the floor of the coliseum. Area boat and RV dealers displayed the new models from their industry using close to 12,000 square feet of the coliseum floor, said Todd Loescher, a member of the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce.

Loescher said this year's fair was a big

"The attendance is up, the booths look really good and they're promoting some ex-cellent services and products," Loescher said. "The RV and boat show is a big attraction this year - a lot of people are walking around looking at all the different models.

A majority of the businesses at last year's fair returned.

'We've had about 60-70 percent of the businesses from last year return to try it again this year. It's only our second year and I hope to keep building each year," he said.

A stage on the coliseum floor featured models wearing the latest fashions from area men's and women's clothing stores, lingerie stores and bridal boutiques. Streetside and Manhattan Pops provided music to entertain the crowd, and a food court was set up in the coliseum.

The 1990 Little Apple Auto Sell-a-thon in the Brandeberry Sports Complex was cosponsored by Manhattan's New Car Dealers Association, who displayed the latest car

Sandy Randall, manager of Office Mart, said she enjoyed participating in the fair and believed it was beneficial to her business. "It puts us in front of the public and gets us noticed," she said. Randall said after participating in the fair last year, she did notice an increase in business.

The fair gave Manhattan residents a chance to check on new business trends.

"I enjoy seeing what's new and getting new ideas from the exhibits. It's really helpful, and the salesmen are very knowledgeable," Martha Potter, Manhattan resident,

SURVIVAL GAME ADVENTURE

April 21

Cost - $12.00

INFO MEETING: April 3, 7 p.m., Union Room 206. SIGN-UP: Begins April 4, 8 a.m.-4 p.m., UPC Office, 3rd floor K-State Union.

Teams of 8-10 compete to capture the flag. Sign-up on your own or in a group. All are welcome! Adventure includes: gun rental, paint pellets, and refreshments. The adventure will be held in the Manhattan area.

15th ANNUAL UPC PHOTOGRAPHY CONTEST

Entries Accepted 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday - Friday Tuesday, March 20 - Friday, April 13 K-State Union UPC Office

> All entries will be displayed in the K-State Union Art Gallery April 30 - May 11

SHOWCASE

Award Designs by Bob Clore March 26-April 6

k-state union

THE LAST TEMPTATION OF CHRIST

William DaFoe, Barbara Hershey and Harvey Keitel star in this powerful adaptation of Nikos Kazantzakis' thought-provoking novel. Acclaimed director Martin Scorsese worked for over a decade to bring this rich character study to the screen. The film follows the life of Jesus during the final months of his life leading up to the crucifixion and according to Kazanatzakis, the final earthly " temptation" offered by Satan.

Rated R. Wednesday, April 4 and Thursday, April 5, 7 p.m., Forum Hall & Thursday, 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre. $1.75; KSU ID Required.

Wik-state union

EASTER EGG DYEING CLASS

April 8 No Admission Charge Come join in the fun at the Easter Egg Dyeing class on Sunday, April 8 at 1 p.m. in the Union's K & S Ballrooms. Participants should bring their own hard-boiled eggs and call ahead 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Mon.-Fri., at 532-6571 to reserve a spot. Dyes, wax markers, and decals will be provided.

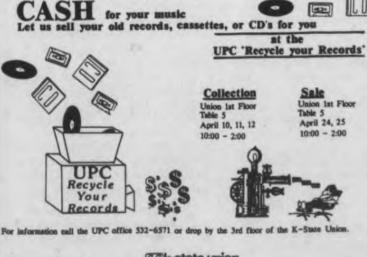

The K-State Union Program Council Issues and ideas Committee presents
GREENPEACE apokesperson Christopher Childs
Monday, April 9 at 8 p.m. in K-State Union Forum Hell.
GREENPEACE works to halt the exploitation of endangered animals such as whales, dolphins, seals, and elephants. The world-wide organization also protests environmental hazards and has drawn thousands of people across the country.

NO ADMISSION CHARGED For details, call 532-6571

C Property

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS MONDAY

Players shocked as Kruger resigns

By David Svoboda Sports Reporter

First came the shock, and then reality set in.

The reaction of two K-State players - one who will be back for two more seasons and another who has played his final game — to Coach Lon Kruger's resignation Sunday summed up the mood of the team.

"None of us had any idea. Nobody did," said center John Rettiger, who has two years of eligibility remaining. "So it's kind of a shock to us.

"I was at home (in Strong City) and just happened to call up here and heard we had a meeting. I hadn't even read the paper or anything, but then people were calling the rooms, so we kind of had an idea."

Rettiger, much like his teammates, got used to the reality of the situation as time went by.

"It's just a shock to all of us. Coach Kruger kind of goes hand in hand with K-State basketball, so it's hard to see him leaving. But stuff like this happens," Rettiger said. "He taught us a lot, and we'll be able to handle

For senior center Tony Massop, the career on the court for the Wildcats is over. But he's likely to be a part of helping his former teammates adjust to life after Lon.

"In the end, everything's well and done," Massop said. "When a thing like this happens, it is a shock, but it does happen, and you have to deal with it the best you can."

Massop, like many students, first learned of the pending resignation through the grapevine. He was at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex when he first was approached about the rumors.

"They asked me if it was true, and I said 'Is what true?" Massop said. "And then they said 'Coach Kruger is going to Florida.' I said 'Naw, that's just a rumor."

The rumor, now, is true.

Two other players - Jean Derouillere and Askia Jones - declined when asked for comment following Kruger's meeting with the team.

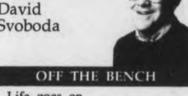

Steve Henson, considered by many to be the player closest to Kruger, was the lone player who did not attend the team meeting.

K-State's Jeff Troll tries to tag Oklahoma's Brent Bohorfen at second base in doubleheader action at Frank Myers Field Sunday afternoon. Bohorfen was ruled safe. K-State, however, went on to sweep Oklahoma. It was K-State's first series sweep of the Sooners since 1928.

Hoops coach leaves, but life continues

David Svoboda

Life goes on.

Sunday afternoon, Lon Kruger told his players that he was taking the head coaching job at the University of Florida.

The four-year run with the fair-haired native son as head coach at his alma mater was over. K-State no longer had No. 12 as it's head men's basketball

But life went on at K-State. Just a long fly ball away from where Kruger was delivering his farewell in the locker room at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State's baseball team was delivering a stunning blow of its own.

The four-game sweep of Oklahoma at Frank Myers Field by Mike Clark's squad would have been the top story on the Collegian sports page any other day but today - Monday, April 2.

The Wildcat dominance over the Sooners on the diamond Saturday and Sunday was no April Fools' joke. It was for real.

Just like Kruger's announcement.

And yet, though the four wins gave the Wildcat baseball team needed respect, life will go on and the team likely will see its share of defeats along with eye-opening victories.

Life's like that. While the announcement by Kruger left many virtually speechless, the beauty with which Clark and Co. dispatched the Sooners left many that way, too.

It's just too bad all that silence came on the same day. Or is it?

The lessons that can be learned from days like Sunday are many and varied.

First, one should never assume that good things will last forever.

Kruger brought the school an unprecedented four straight NCAA tourney trips and an increased amount of national publicity, but even fairy tales sometimes end.

Steve Henson graduated. Lon Kruger took the job at Florida. Good things don't last forever. Second, one should never assume that nice guys finish last. Mike Clark is a hard worker, and the K-State baseball program has struggled to earn respect while battling scholarship limits that programs like those at Oklahoma have never had to

But Clark, just like Kruger, has won where many said it could never be done.

Third, one person does not a program make.

Lon Kruger was a key in turning around the K-State basketball program over the past four seasons, but he didn't do it alone. There were assistant coaches, players, administrators, etc., that all played a major part in what Kruger has been able to do here. That should never be forgotten.

Clark has been a key in turning around the K-State baseball program, but he hasn't done it alone. Credit assistant Phil Morgan, the players that have come and gone, the administration that hired Clark, etc.

Fourth, one person's decisions can affect many other lives. In resigning, Kruger not only took his players on an emotional roller coaster ride, he took the supporters of the Wildcats along with him.

Will Kruger take his assistants with him? Those lives will be affected, too. Will Dana Altman, a former Kruger assistant, take his old boss' place? Altman's life, at K-State or at Marshall where he's head coach now will never be the same.

Finally, the experiences you face in life, though they may take you from one end of the emotional spectrum to the other, can either be looked upon as a series of tiny positives or a flood of little negatives. Either the glass is half empty, or it's half full.

Steve Miller, the K-State athletic director, has had to deal with more personnel changes over the past few weeks and months than he would care to think about.

Miller joked Sunday evening that he couldn't wait for the day he finally would become involved with athletics, not personnel. He is director of athletics, not hiring, after all.

But through all the adversity, Miller has just kept smiling. Kruger smiled quite a bit Sunday, too. So did Mike Clark. Each had a reason to be happy, while each also had a reason to be sad. Miller had lost a coach and friend, had gained a new headache, but knew he would wake up Monday with his office in Bramlage still in place and his family and friends still on his side. That's reason to smile.

Kruger had said goodbye to his players and alma mater, had gained the possibility of an NCAA probation on his new job, but knew he would wake up Monday with a future in Florida still in place and his most ardent supporters still behind him whether he was wearing purple or orange, whether he was a Wildcat or a Gator.

And Clark had lost the chance at seeing his team snare all the headlines, had gained the responsibility of being in first place in the Big Eight, but knew he would wake up Monday with his players happy as heck over their weekend success and his family and friends strongly behind him.

That's really what it's all about. Get a little share of happiness along the way, hand out some, too, and hope for the best. If it doesn't kill you, after all, it makes you stronger.

Life's like that.

Baseball squad sweeps OU

By David Svoboda Sports Reporter

Simply stated, it was one for the history books.

K-State's baseball squad swept a four-game weekend series from Oklahoma Saturday and Sunday at Frank Myers Field, and in so doing became the first Wildcat team to sweep the Sooners on the diamond since 1928.

Nope, that's not a mistake in editing. It really was 62 years ago that Coach Charles Corsaut's Wildcats beat the Sooners in a two-game set.

Mike Clark's troops, after 10 days off because of poor weather conditions in Manhattan and elsewhere, broke from the gates with a solid effort in Saturday's first game and never looked back. "These are the times in coaching and playing that you work for, that you dream about," Clark said Sunday night. "Right now, I'm on top of the moon. But it's like I told our kids. this is only one series. Our objective is to get to Oklahoma City.

If Clark's squad is to get to the Big Eight Postseason Tournament in Oklahoma City in May as one of four conference representatives, chances are the sweep of Oklahoma will have been a big reason.

Saturday's 15-13 series opener was the kind of game K-State has been on the losing end of in recent

Oklahoma held leads of 4-1 and 6-4 and knocked Wildcat starter

Chris Hmielewski from the box after just 21/3 innings, but K-State wasn't to be denied.

The Wildcats, down 6-4, exploded for six runs in the fourth to take the lead for good. Jeff Troll had three hits and three runs batted in to lead K-State. Dave Christensen, 2-1, picked up the win in relief, with David Hierholzer picking up his first save of the

"That's the type of game we normally don't win," Clark said of the effort in Game No. 1. "Or at least we haven't won those since I've been here. That's why I was really proud of our kids after it was over."

Hierholzer, who picked up the save in Game No. 1 on a rather noisy line drive to center off the bat of the lone hitter he faced, made sure the nightcap Saturday went quickly and quietly.

The senior righthander shut out the Sooners on just five hits, running his streak of innings without allowing an earned run to 39. The 4-0 Wildcat win ran Hierholzer's season mark to 4-1 and dropped his ERA to 0.43. Kevin Kaufman led the 'Cats in the second game, driving in two of the four runs on two hits. Brad Rippelmeyer, who had been struggling at the plate prior to the series, also had two RBIs for K-State.

"Dave does a good job of being ahead in the count and making the hitter hit his pitch," Clark said. "And Brad Rippelmeyer has been such a great competitor for us from the very start. He had struggled, but he's shown us in the past that he's the guy we want in there.

Rather than being satisfied with Saturday's doubleheader sweep the first back-to-back Wildcat wins over OU since 1970 - K-State came out Sunday with one eye on the Sooners and the other on the fans who were carrying brooms.

After spotting the Sooners a 3-0 lead on unearned runs in the top of said, came to play. the first, K-State chipped away at OU starter Korey Keeling before finally breaking through in the fifth.

With Oklahoma leading 4-2, K-State put five runs on the board to take command.

Leftfielder Brian Culp had three hits and three RBIs to lead the 'Cat offensive attack, and starter Kent Hipp, 3-2, picked up the win on the hill with Mike Hedrick registering his first save.

That left but one piece of unfinished business.

The business was finished, but not until extra innings. As was the case in Saturday's second game - also a seven-inning contest - Sunday's second contest was a battle of the men on the mound.

With OU's Matt Ruebel, 3-1, and K-State's Sean Pedersen, 3-2, matching each other pitch-for-pitch, it appeared as if the Sooners would make an unearned run scored in the second stand up for the win.

But before OU could even think of salvaging the final game and sending the brooms back to the closet, K-State scratched for a single tally in the bottom of the sixth to send the game into extra innings.

There, Dan Skala, who had been hit with a case of the flu before Saturday's opening game and had caught both games after his fever broke, knocked in the winning run on a solid single up the middle.

Clark's players, it can easily be

"You go into a series wanting to win three of four games, but going into a series against Oklahoma, things have to go pretty right for that kind of thing to happen," Clark said. They happened. My first words to the kids after the game were 'nice job,' but right after I said it, I went, What am I saying?' It was something I just couldn't put into words."

The numbers did the talking for him. With the sweep, K-State is now 12-11 overall. But, more importantly, the Wildcats are 4-0 in the Big Eight and stand alone at the top of the conference standings. The Sooners, who saw a 10-game winning streak snapped with the Wildcat win in Game No. 1, fell to 17-11 and 1-4.

"The one constant we've got through all of this is character," Clark said. "We're hungry, and we feel good about ourselves right now. I'm sure our kids will come to practice tomorrow (Monday) pretty pumped. And they deserve that.'

Netters topple New Mexico, 6-3

By Dan Wicker Sports Reporter

A home match was a new experience for the K-State tennis team, but nonetheless, the team fared successfully Sunday at the L.P. Washburn Complex.

The K-State women, playing at home for the first time since Feb. 3, eased past New Mexico with a 6-3 non-conference victory.

The Wildcats bounced back from a loss to Kansas in the Big Eight opener Wednesday. However, coach Steve Bietau said the team did not play as well as it played at Kansas.

"I did not think we played very well today to be very honest, but I think there were a couple of bright spots," Bietau said.

Marijke Nel attempts to return this shot in a doubles match against New Mexico Sunday. Nel and partner Valerie Rive won 6-3, 6-3.

The bright spots came at both ends of the singles. Marijke Nel rebounded from a loss to all-American Eveline Hamers of Kansas to record a 6-2, 6-3 victory.

"I think Marijke played a little bit better than she has," Bietau said. 'She was in a situation with a girl where she was able to render some mistakes and adjust her game and come back."

"I usually have a pretty slow start, but today, maybe it was because there was no pressure, I felt quite psyched from the very beginning and got a lot of momentum going in just the first few games," Nel said. "I was serving well, so it was easy to make the rest of my game pick up to the level I was serving at.

In a marathon match at No. 6 singles, Suzanne Sim fought back from several deficits in a match that lasted over three hours to capture a 3-6, 6-4, 7-5 win.

"Suzanne fought awfully hard in her singles. She was down 5-2 in the third and saved four or five match points," Bietau said. "She wasn't playing very well at the start and never really did, but through a big heart and a lot of fight she was able to pull the match off."

Bietau scheduled the match to keep his squad ready for the conference slate, but he was disappointed in the letdown from the Kansas match.

"I felt we played a pretty good match at Kansas. I was pleased with our efforts there," Bietau said. "I am not pleased with it here, and I don't just mean running for balls. I mean knowing what the game plan is, sticking to it, working hard to execute that and knowing when it is time to change it.

There were just several spots that I felt like we were not willing to adjust, willing to do whatever it took to win the match. I think we are fortunate to win, especially by a 6-3 margin. You will never complain about winning, but I just feel we can move forward and play better than we are right now.'

It was evident form Bietau's disappointment that the team is not moving forward to the level of play he thinks they should be at for the Big Eight season.

'Overall I am not happy. I don't think that we are playing and moving forward as well as we can," Bietau said. "We are just going to have to take a look at redoing our commitment and making a stronger effort to improve."

The K-State women have will now have three more home matches in a row beginning with Nebraska Saturday at 1 p.m.

RESULTS

No. 1 Marijke Nel KSU def. Jenny Cook UNM 6-2, 6-3; No. 2 Helen Schildknecht KSU def. Jen-nifer Toomy UNM 6-3, 6-3; No. 3 Rachel Wilson UNM def. Sara Hancock KSU 2-6, 2-6; No. 4 Inger Sanderud UNM def. Valerie Rive KSU 5-7, 3-6; No. 5 Thresa Burcham KSU def. Jill Baron UNM 7-6, 6-2; No. 6 Suzanne Sim KSU def. Tonna Reiger UNM 3-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Doubles
No.1 Schildknecht/Hancock KSU def. Wilson/ Toomy UNM 6-4, 6-4; No. 2 Nel/Rive KSU def. Cook/Baron UNM 6-3, 6-3; No. 3 Sanderud Reiger UNM def. Sim/Burcham KSU 7-6, 7-6.

Miller's double highlights KSU Invitational

Wildcat freshman pair also impressive

By Dan Wicker Sports Reporter

It looks as though Angie Miller is making the transition from indoor to outdoor track and field without much of a problem.

The senior shot putter and discus thrower led the way for the K-State women in the KSU Invitational, the opening outdoor track and field meet at R.V. Christian Track Saturday.

Miller, who achieved all-American status in the shot put during the indoor season, won that event Saturday with a toss of 47-7, and also captured the gold in the discus with a throw of 163-3.

Coach John Capriotti said the meet was a good place for his squad to start, but the performances were in no way what he is going to expect as the season progresses.

"I thought we did about exactly what I expected, but we still have a very long way to go," Capriotti said. "But everybody knows that, so I am not really worried."

Capriotti also mentioned that he was pleased with the performances considering the weather conditions.

"The weather was cold and rainy for most of the day," Capriotti said. "Most of the sprints were run into a head wind, and the times were pretty good. I thought we competed well for the conditions."

Besides the dual win by Miller, two K-State freshmen took the Paulette Staats, a native of Wichita, continued her strong freshman year with a win in the 1,500 meters,

The weather was cold and rainy for most of the day. Most of the sprints were run into a head wind, and the times were pretty good. I thought we competed well for the conditions.

> - John Capriotti track coach

clocking a time of 4:35.7, while Randy Helling, out of Stevensville, Mich., captured the gold in the 800 meters with a time of 1:52.2.

"Paulette Staats turned in a really good time for the conditions, and she is going to get better," Capriotti said. "Randy Helling was running in his first meet. He was injured during the indoor season, and 1:52 was a good run for those conditions." Capriotti also said that he saw promise in the relay teams. The men's 4x100-meter team was edged out at the line by Barton County, as was the women's squad.

"Basically, our relays did a good job," Capriotti said. "They had some bad handoffs, but once we get those down, they will be good relays."

Other top three performers for the men were Richard Croll, second in the javelin, Tyrone Watkins, second in the 400 meters, Clifton Etheridge, second in the 100 meters, Dwayne Murphy, third in the triple jump, and the mile relay team, which captured a

On the women's side, Carla Shannon was second in the long jump, Shannon Flanagan captured third in the shot, Janet Haskin was second in the 1,500 meters, Joy Jones won the 400 meter title, and Connie Teaberry won the high jump.

Becky Ives and Ellarie Pesmark captured second and third in the 800 meters, Debbie Schimdt got a second in the javelin and Renee Russell captured a third in the 3,000 meters.

"Right now it is kind of early in the season," Capriotti said of trying to judge his squads' performances, "but as the meets progress and get larger and better, we'll get better too.'

The K-State track squad will now travel to the Texas Relays this weekend, with competition beginning on Friday.

Firing

shocks

officials

By The Associated Press

DENVER - Brent Mus-

burger, the primary voice of

CBS Sports during the 1980s.

was fired by the network Sunday in a move that shocked officials at CBS and other

Because the move was announced on April Fool's Day and one day before the NCAA which Musburger is scheduled to broadcast - many television officials at first dismissed

A worker at CBS Sports' studios in New York called

The Associated Press insisting

the announcement was not true, even while CBS Sports president Neal H. Pilson was discussing the move at the Fi-

"It is not a joke," Pilson said.
"It's a difficult decision. It's never easy to deal with individuals with whom you have personal or business contract expires in July, will broadcast Monday night's championship game between UNLV and Duke as his final

"I was surprised, but it was a

Musburger, whose 51/4 -year

nal Four in Denver.

relationships.

basketball championship - networks.

it as a joke.

K-State's Terry Van Laningham placed third in his heat of the men's 110-meter hurdles with a time of 15.6 seconds Saturday at the KSU Invitational at the R.V. Christian Track.

Duke, UNLV set for championship match

By The Associated Press

DENVER - When the nets are cut down following Monday night's NCAA championship game, a few things will be certain.

Either UNLV or Duke will have won its first national title; a lot of points will have been scored; and some of the best man-to-man defense in the game will have been played.

It sounds incongruous, but this title game should be the highestscoring one since 1978, when Kentucky beat Duke 94-88, and probably the one with the most tenacious defense since 1980, when Louisville beat UCLA 59-54.

fense, but I don't think it will be a low-scoring game," UNLV coach Jerry Tarkanian said Sunday, the eve of his first championship game in three trips to the Final Four.

"For the past eight years, next to UNLV, Duke has been my favorite team," said Tarkanian, who could be the first Western coach to win the title since John Wooden's UCLA dynasty ended in 1975. "Their defense is very similar to ours, and we're probably the only two teams I can think of still playing the type of defense we do. We pressure the ball at halfcourt, deny the lead pass and

"Both teams will play great de- front the post. There aren't very many teams doing that. College basketball has changed."

Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski, making his second appearance in the title game for a school 0-7 in Final Fours, agrees with Tarkanian.

"We both have good ball pressure," he said. "We deny wing entries, are very active and help inside. The principles of both are exactly the same. They look a little different but are pretty much the same defenses."

The offenses are close with Duke averaging 89.5 per game, 14 more than the opposition, and UNLV gets 93.2 per game, 14 more than the Runnin' Rebels allowed.

UNLV, the only top-seed to reach the Final Four this season and just the first preseason No. 1 to reach the final game since North Carolina in 1982, waited until the second half against Georgia Tech on Saturday before giving a defensive clinic in its 90-81 semifinal victory.

The Runnin' Rebels (34-5) smothered Kenny Anderson and bothered Dennis Scott enough to overcome a seven-point deficit and hand the Yellow Jackets their first loss of the season by more than five points.

"We weren't moving quickly in the first half, so we went with more zone," Tarkanian said. "We're not going in against Duke thinking about playing zone, but if the game dictates, we will."

Duke (29-8) wore down Arkansas, outscoring the Razorbacks 24-9 over the last seven minutes in the 97-83 semifinal win.

"Our depth really helped us, and our foul trouble actually turned out to be a blessing for us," Krzyzewski

Both teams had foul trouble Saturday and neither can afford it Monday

Kruger CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 has ever opened.

"Lon requested that I not discuss it publicly, and I didn't, not thinking anything would become of it. However, circumstances changed, and Lon has made a decision that I'm going to respect."

Miller said Kruger called him at his home late Saturday night to tell him of his decision, at which time Miller began working well into Sunday morning to try to counter Florida's offer. But, however, he said Kruger had already made up his mind.

The Topeka Capital-Journal first broke the news Sunday that Kruger was possibly considering the Gator position, but Wildcat players knew nothing of the situation until Kruger and Miller called a team meeting at 6 p.m. Sunday at Bramlage Coliseum. "It was very difficult," Kruger said of the decision. "Obviously, the most difficult part is talking to the players, and Steve Miller, and President (Jon) Wefald. "It's extremely difficult because of the people at Kansas State. They're very special people and we've been part of it for more than 20

With the decision, K-State is now put in an uneasy situation with NCAA national-letter-of-intent signing day a little more than a week away. Miller said he had already contacted some possible candidates to replace Kruger by early Sunday morning, and that the athletic department would move as quickly as possible to fill the void. "My reaction is a mixed reaction," Miller said of the situation. "One of American. surprise and a certain degree of disappointment, but nevertheless, also a certain degree of focus, and a look ahead to try to regroup and address

"Now we've got to move ahead and hope to name a new coach just as

As quickly as the rumors surfaced that Kruger may be leaving, rumors also surfaced that a possible replacement could be former Wildcat assistant and Marshall University head coach Dana Altman.

Altman took the Marshall job last year and his squad went 15-13 overall and 9-5 in the Southern Conference. Marshall, however, was just recently hit with NCAA sanctions.

Kruger hired Altman from Moberly (Mo.) Community College in 1986 when he took the K-State job after a four-year stint at Pan

"Dana Altman's name is on the list. He's one of the people that I feel is very competent," Miller said. "He's an outstanding coach. He did a great job here and has done a good job at Marshall. So he certainly would get some consideration."

Kruger leaves K-State after taking the Wildcats to a school-record four straight NCAA Tournament appearances, compiling an 81-46 record in the process. His overall record as a head coach is 133-105.

Kruger was close to leaving K-State after the 1988 season when the Wildcats made it to the NCAA Tournament Final Eight and Texas officials appeared to have lured the Silver Lake product southward.

Kruger, however, said he was not offered that job, which was eventually filled by Tom Penders. Ironically, Penders had been reported to be the leading candidate for the Florida position after leading Texas to the Final Eight this season.

Kruger's acceptance of the job left nearly everyone puzzled Sunday.

He takes over a program that had apparently hit rock bottom and was marred by admitted NCAA violations. Former coach Sloan has said he provided an airline ticket for former Florida standout Vernon Maxwell, who has admitted having an agent while in school.

Kruger said he had not had time to talk with his coaching staff about joining him at Florida, but that he hoped they would consider the move.

There was no evidence of the possibility of players transferring, and Kruger said there was definitely "not a possibility," of players going with

He also said he would continue to help K-State recruit players who he had contacted prior to his move.

Stanford women nab NCAA title

By The Associated Press

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. - Stanford completed a five-year climb to the top of women's basketball Sunday by defeating Auburn 88-81 in the NCAA championship game behind the record 3-point shooting of Katy Steding and Jennifer Azzi.

Steding made six 3-pointers and Azzi four as Stanford won its first national title and handed Auburn its third straight loss in a championship

The Cardinal did it by going over the top of Auburn's zone defense instead of trying to go through it, and Steding, Azzi and Sonja Henning made that approach work. Steding and Azzi both shattered the previous championship game record of two 3-pointers by Auburn's Ruthie Bolton against Louisiana Tech in 1988. Steding finished the five-game tournament with a record 12 3-pointers, topping the old mark of 10 by Stephen F. Austin's Mozel Brooks in 1988.

The game also produced an attendance record. There were 20,023 tickets sold and 16,595 people in the arena. The previous high for a women's championship game was 15,615 at Austin, Texas, in 1987.

The Stanford victory capped a building project that Coach Tara VanDerveer began when she took the job five years ago. Stanford was 13-15 in her first season, 1985-86, but improved each year thereafter and finished 32-1 this season.

Henning finished with 21 points to lead a balanced Stanford offense. Steding scored 18 and Azzi, who is from nearby Oak Ridge, Tenn., added 17. Azzi was named the outstanding player of the Final Four. Trisha Stevens contributed 16 points and 10 rebounds for the Cardinal.

Auburn, which lost to Louisiana Tech in the 1988 title game and to Tennessee last year, closed at 28-7. Carolyn Jones led Auburn with 24 points, 16 in the first half.

Stanford overcame an eightminute shooting drought and ninepoint deficit in the first half to get control of the game early in the second half.

The Cardinal ended the first half with a 9-0 run to tie the score at 41. Then, with Auburn leading 46-43, Steding nailed a 3-pointer from the left of the key to start a 9-0 run that put Stanford ahead to stay.

Stanford went on to outscore Auburn 22-7 over an eight-minute stretch to open a 65-53 lead in Henning's jump shot with 10:13 left. Azzi's 3-pointer made it 70-57 with 7:54 left.

Auburn managed to cut the lead to 70-64 on Linda Godby's basket with six minutes left but got no closer. Henning and Steding countered with back-to-back 3-pointers to return the lead to 12 and Stanford was out of Stanford made 10 of 15 free throws in the final 1:35, seven by Henning, to stay on top.

event for CBS. great run and I have a million memories, and I leave behind a lot of good friends," Musburger said in a statement read by Jimmy Tubbs, his personal assistant. "At this time, I'm going to take an extended vacation, and I'll be working again someday, somewhere. Musburger, who has been with CBS Sports since 1975, was scheduled to become the main voice for CBS' baseball coverage, which begins April 14. He also was in line to be the host for the network's coverage of the 1992 and 1994

Winter Olympics.
Pilson said that negotiations for a new contract had been going on for several months between the network and Todd Musburger, who represents his brother.

"It wasn't right out of the blue," Tubbs said. "He knew for a couple of days that things were not going well in contract negotiations. Negotiations had been going on and they just broke off."

The first hint of the move came when CBS spokeswoman Susan Kerr read a terse two-paragraph statement.

'CBS Sports announced today that it had declined to renew Brent Musburger's employment agreement, which expires within the next few months," the statement said. "Brent's final event for CBS Sports will be the NCAA men's championship game on Monday, April 2, 1990."

Musburger is in his sixth season as lead play-by-play man for the NCAA basketball tournament and has been host of "The NFL Today".

Scoreless tie

K-State's Gordon Rames struggles with a Kansas defender during a 0-0 tie at Memorial Stadium Sunday.

The women's soccer tournament was postponed due to poor field conditions.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN FOCUS

The best of the

Elaine Ritter, senior in foods and nutrition science, gets a kiss and a trophy from guest poser Ron Love. Ritter won the women's overall title.

Endurance Onori, a junior at Emporia State University, throws his arms into the air as he is announced men's overall winner of the Big Eight Body Building Championships at McCain Auditorium Saturday. Onori stands with Nolan Barrett of Fort Riley, winner of the lightweight title, Valesco Smith of Wichita, winner of the light heavyweight title, and Kyle Inkman of Topeka, winner in the heavyweight classification.

Valesco Smith flexes his chest muscles.

K-State senior takes women's overall title at 1990 Big Eight Body Building Championships

K-State senior won the women's overall title at the 1990 Big Eight Body Building Championships in McCain Auditorium Saturday.

Elaine Ritter, senior in foods and nutrition science, also won her weight class and was part of the winning pair in the mixed pairs division.

Ritter's partner in the division was Norm Lecomte, graduate student in foods and nutrition science.

Ritter said she was at last year's Big Eight championships, but only as a spectator, watching acquaintances compete.

"Last year I just sat in the audience and was really tense, so I thought, if I'm going to be this tense, I might as well compete," she said.

Endurance Onori, an Emporia State University junior, won the overall men's title.

Onori competed at last year's Big Eight championships, placing first in his weight class.

He said this year's competitors were impressive.

"I was nervous all the way through, because there were some really big guys here," Onori said. Onori, who won the body building title of Mr. Lawrence last month, said he next plans to compete at the Mr. Kansas competition, scheduled for September in Wichita.

Competitors Saturday ranged in age from 16 to 42.

Matt Wohlers, a 16-year-old from Mexico, Mo., competed in the men's lightweight class. He said this was the second competition he has entered. Although he did not place in the top three, he said it was a good learning experience.

"The first time I competed I was really nervous and I couldn't even look at the audience," he said.
"This time I was used to it. It was a piece of cake." Ron Love, a professional body builder from Detroit, performed a guest-posing routine during the competition. Love has placed in the top 10 in the world championship body building competition, the Mr.

Olympia, for the past four years. Body building competitions like Saturday's event help promote the sport of body building, Love said.

"A lot of times you'll have people come to the show who have never been to a body building show before or never worked out," he said. "They see how interesting it is, and they'll go into a gym and start working out. I think most people who started out just working out, never had the aspiration to be body builders, until they saw what their bodies could actually do. I never had any aspirations to be a body builder until my body started to develop and I stuck with it, and look at me now."

Keenan Post, one of the organizers of the championships, acted as master of ceremonies. He said about 600 people watched the competition, down from about 800 last

"The lower audience turnout is probably because we had to charge more for tickets this year to cover expenses," said Post, junior in accounting.

Last year Marc Bamman, K-State graduate, organized the first Big Eight championships. He returned from the University of Alabama, where he is a graduate student in exercise science, to organize this year's competition as well.

Cathy Houghland, Leonardville, competed last year and returned Saturday. She placed first in her weight class.

Houghland said the midwest is a good area for body building.

"Besides the west coast, most of the well-known body builders come from the midwest," Houghland said. "I'm really excited to see a competition getting started in this area."

Photos by Oliver Kaubisch Story by Craig Hamrick

Carlin meets with students

Gubernatorial candidate discusses needs of higher education in state

> By Todd Fertig Collegian Reporter

Kansas needs to be prepared to meet the costs if it wants to maintain a competitive system of higher education, said former Gov. John Carlin, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for

"I think we need to be really honest with ourselves about where we are and where we need to go with education to be competitive," Carlin said. "We need to develop a plan of action rather than reacting to the crisis of the day."

Carlin met Saturday with representatives of Student Senate in the Union Director's Conference Room. He discussed his reasons for returning to politics and addressed issues pertinent to the University.

Carlin emphasized the speed at which the world is changing and said education must keep up with the changes. He said that the state must prepare to meet the costs of education and human resource development.

"If you think education is expensive, try ignorance," he said. "I'm one who strongly believes that education must be a priority every year. It must be seen as an investment rather than an expenditure. We must work to make sure the students of today and tomorrow get the education they need and be willing to make the investment to accomplish that."

Carlin said that while funding education was a necessity, discretion was needed because of the

Is your car on its last leg,

and you need a fuel-efficient car? Read the Classifieds.

Self Serve

Vpewriters

kinko's

the copy center

1329 Anderson

Manhattan, KS

(913) 537-7340

FAX*537-0967*FAX

1304 Westloop

Not good on delivery

MAKTH

Restaurant

Monday Coupon

Buy one entree and get the second of equal or less value for

99° with coupon

·NOW OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK.

TACOS...... 3 for $1 reg. 60° ea. CHILI BURRITO......$1.77 reg. $2.25

Prices Good Thru Sat., April 7

TACO W

On The Hill Over Looking Westloop Starting April 1, 1990 open Sun-Thur. 11 a.m.-10 p.m. Fri. & Sat. 11 a.m.-12 midnight limited amount of funds available. "We must always be setting priorities," Carlin said. "We can't afford to be all things to all people. We must properly fund the things that must be done."

COLEMAN

AMERICAN

Todd Heitschmidt, campus director of the Associated Students of Kansas, described the University's child care program and asked Carlin's opinion on the future of such programs.

"Quality child care is no longer a luxury. It has become a necessity," Carlin said, noting that America's work force is no longer as plentiful as it once was. "Whether or not we have the quality trained work force we will need to remain competitive on into the 21st century depends on how we take care of our human resources."

Following the meeting, several student government representatives expressed hope that contact with political figures such as Carlin could build valuable relations within the state government.

"I think he got a lot of good feedback about the University (and) what our needs are," said Fred Wingert, chief of staff to Student Body President Todd Johnson, following the informal discussion. "Taking time to meet with us shows his concern for students. He can get a unique view of higher education from meeting with students because we are, in a sense, the ones in the trenches."

Wingert said Senate has extended invitations to several political figures to meet with student

NIGHT

STEN & DANCE

to the latest

MUSIC.

(not valid with any other offer)

539-8888

Havel asked to give Landon Lecture

By Cosima Hadidi Staff Reporter

Czechoslovakian President Vaclav Havel has been invited to speak at K-State as a Landon Lecturer.

Joseph Hajda, professor of political science who returned last week from a 16-day visit to that country, met with several high government officials, including two of Havel's advisers. He presented them with a personal invitation from President Jon Wefald asking Havel to visit the University as a Landon Lecturer.

"The advisers, one of whom is responsible for Havel's appointments, assured me that they will try and schedule him to come to K-State," Hajda said.

Hajda also sent a letter to the U.S.

ambassador to Czechoslovakia, Shirley Temple Black, asking her to support the invitation.

"I told everyone that it would be a good idea for President Havel to visit the East Coast, the West Coast and Kansas, which is in the center of the United States," Hajda said.

Hajda, who was born in Czechoslovakia, has visited the country twice before in his capacity as a political scientist.

The first visit was in 1968 as a member of an official U.S. delegation to discuss economic cooperation between the United States and Czechoslovakia. The second was in 1969, when he researched economic agriculture and the state of reform in Czechoslovakia. Hajda visited Czechoslovakia after receiving an invitation from the them. The cost of living would be Czech Academy of Science to lecture only about one-tenth of what they on democratic structures, processes and problems.

"They wrote me that they have a severe shortage of individuals in the field of political science to teach about these topics, so I thought I could help them," he said.

two research institutes in Bratislava, Charles University and the School of Economics in Prague, and Masaryk University in Brno. He also appeared on a television talk show and was featured on radio programs and in newspapers all over Czechoslovakia.

During this visit, Hajda's lectures focused on democracy and international relations, two very important issues in Czechoslovakia after its recent reforms.

The students there were very interested in what I was saying, and they asked very good questions," Hajda said. "Many of the lectures went way beyond the scheduled time because of the many questions."

Hajda also met with several university and education officials with whom he discussed options for possible exchange programs between K-State and various universities in Czechoslovakia.

"I indicated to them the requirements for students from Czechoslovakia to come to study at K-State, such as the knowledge of English and the financial aspect as well," he said. "They were all very interested, but there may be problems with the financing of study in the U.S. because of the current exchange rate. Students would have to rely on assistant-ships and fellowships,"

On the other hand, the exchange rate is very favorable for American students ineterested in educational exchange with Czechoslovakia, Hajda said.

'It would be very inexpensive for spend here," he said.

Before studying in Czechoslova-kia, however, students would have to learn the Czech language, Hajda said. But one option for students is a special summer school offered at Charles University in Prague, which During his visit, Hajda lectured at has a tremendous interest in increasing the enrollment of American students in this course, he said.

This University offers a language course in the Slavonic languages school," Hajda said. "Students don't have to be fluent in Czech to attend this course.'

Robert Kruh, vice provost for academic services, said the possibility of an exchange program with a Czechoslovakian university would be a very exciting prospect. He said that in light of the recent developments in Eastern Europe, increased educational exchange would be

Their side is very eager to learn at U.S. institutions, and we also can learn from them as more people visit himself.

the East bloc," Kruh said. "There have been a lot of moves made by corporations and educational institutions to increase exchange."

Hajda said he learned a great deal from his visit to Czechoslovakia and is planning to incorporate what he learned in his lectures and talks to civic groups, high schools and in the classes he teaches.

Hajda has been invited to return to Czechoslovakia this summer to present a series of lectures in several cities and conduct seminars for scholars and government officials.

He has agreed to co-author a book on the politics of Czechoslovakia and is planning to write a couple of books

Collegian Line-up

Thursday—Coupon Page Friday-Religious Directory Entertainment Page

Collegian Advertising We're leaving our competition behind. 532-6560

Students and faculty WE NEED YOUR IDEAS!

three faculty members, and one alum, who participates directly in the management and operation of the K-State Union. The board works with the staff to see that the Union is the kind of operation K-State should have. If you have a few hours to devote to make the Union a better place, come in and fill out an application.

non-voting student positions, and 1 two-year faculty voting positions are available.

Director's Office in the K-State Union. They are DUE Monday, April 9, 1990 at 5 p.m. Interviews will begin April 17.

Hair Design and Body Toning

Easter Special

$5 Off Haircut with style

$10 Off Perms

Reg. $42.50 and Up

Call For FREE Introductory Body Toning Sessions!

Mon. thru Wed. Offer good thru Sun. April 15

1129 Moro

With Coupon 537-1332 Private parking in Rear

Monday Specials

Month of April

16 oz. T-Bone (choice of Salad or Potato)

*7.95

*14.95

T-Bone for Two Cut on Primes, No Waiting, Every Monday, Don't Miss It! 539-2651 while supplies last Village Plaza Shopping Center

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help. Confidential pregnancy testing Safe, affordable abortion services Birth control Tubal ligation Gyn exams

Testing and Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. Providing quality health care to women since 1974. Insurance, VISA & Mastercard accepted

omprehensive Tealth for Women

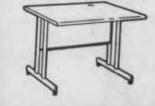

4401 West 109th (1-435 & Roe) Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400 Toll Free 1-800-227-1918

Westloop Shopping Center 776-6864

Computer Furniture Machine Stands

10-20% OFF

Sale thru April 14

Union Governing Board (UGB) is a group of ten students,

3 two-year voting, 1 one-year

Applications for positions are available in the

Tired of waiting for your Summer Highlights? GET 'EM NOW!

Carol Tomlin is offering $5 off all creative coloring expires April 30 evalid with coupon 539-1177

1106 Laramie

LARGE PIZZA ONLY $550

with One Topping

Dine In or Carry Out

"premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price"

523 South 17th Room 537-1484

AUDITIONS for the

KANSAS STATE CHOIR Monday, April 2, 1990

7-9 p.m. Wednesday, April 4, 1990 7-9 p.m.

outside the Choral Office -Room 227 in McCain Auditorium

Sign up for an audition time

Offers 35% Off on interstate moves and 12% Off on intrastate

Administrator sought

By Lori Stauffer Collegian Reporter

K-State is searching for a new assistant dean for graduate development and assistant provost for multi-cultural affairs.

Created as a result of President Jon Wefald's agenda on social issues, the new office will address women's opportunities, provision of scholarships for minority students, multi-cultural concerns and the graduate program, said Associate Provost Robert Kruh.

The new administrator will help recruit and retain high-quality graduate students, particularly minorities, Kruh said. The new administrator also will be expected to "stimulate the coordination of activities directed toward minority students," he said.

"He or she will be the person to get us all involved in multi-cultural aspects of K-State as well as graduate program development," Provost James Coffman said.

The three candidates for the position are scheduled to tour the campus and meet with various groups within the next week.

Charles E. Stikes, dean of arts and sciences at the Milwaukee Area Technical College, will be on campus April 9.

Stikes was assistant chancellor for student affairs at the University of Wisconsin in Milwaukee from 1987 to 1989 and has been a consultant to many institutions of higher education and public

He is also a fellow of the American Council on Education Academic Administration Program, a member of Phi Delta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, Blue Key and was mentioned in "Outstanding Young Men in America."

Doris J. Wright is the program director for consultation in the Counseling and Mental Health Center at the University of Texas in Austin. She will visit the campus April 10.

Wright, a K-State graduate, has been active in cultural diversity training for youth opportunity programs and has a special expertise in student recruitment and retention.

She is a member of various organizations, including the Association of Multi-Cultural Counseling and Development and Phi Delta Kappa. Wright has also been recognized in "Outstanding Young Women in America" and "Who's Who in Colleges and Universities."

Mordean Taylor-Archer, assistant dean for the School of Social Work at Virginia Commonwealth University, will be the final candidate to tour the campus, April 11. Taylor-Archer has been responsible for planning recruitment and retention of minority students and also has an extensive background in student affairs. She is a member of several national organizations including Black Social Workers and Student Personnel Administrators.

Each day, the visiting candidate will make a 20-minute presentation and then answer questions at an open meeting 10:30 a.m. in the Union, Kruh said.

Stikes and Wright will speak in Union 212, and Taylor-Archer will speak in Union 213.

The seven members of the search committee will gather information and present their recommendations to Coffman, who will make the final decision.

Open House Specials

From the

K-State Union Bookstore

April 2 - 6, 1990

(We'll be open April 6 until 7 p.m. for your convenience) Get these specials from our

Arts & Engineering Department

while quantities last!

Environment may be new source of world's tension

By Anne Krauss Collegian Reporter

Environmental issues will replace military issues in the political and diplomatic arenas by the next century, Gilbert Grosvenor, president and chairman of the National Geographic Society, said during Friday's Convocation.

"In years ahead, the environment will cause far more friction than unfair trade has," Grosvenor said. "It will be a new form of diplomacy."

Understanding geography is es-sential to an understanding of world environmental questions, he said. Few people realize the impact geography has on the world.

"One problem is geography has a dull image," he said. "People think of studying the earth as flat, lifeless and boring. I think of it as exciting, lively and fun. It is also our future."

Grosvenor said the concept of a global village has become a reality. Any environmental action taken by one country will inevitably affect the rest of the world.

"It is difficult to believe, as we sit here in the heart of Kansas, that in areas of South America, people drive of the day because it is too dark to see with the burning of tropical rain forests," he said.

Besides destroying the world's largest source of oxygen and causing global warming trend, deforestation leads to the loss of food and medicine sources, Grosvenor said.

A rain forest can yield more than 1,000 species of plants, including an exotic herb that can be used to detect colon cancer, he said.

"People ask why we should bother to protect one herb in a rain forest," he said. "(We should) because approximately 60,000 people in America died from colon cancer last

Grosvenor said future leaders will also be faced with tough decisions about nuclear contamination, toxic waste, destruction of the ozone layer, ocean pollution, desertification, population increases and climate

Today's students must have a solid background in geography so they can make the right decisions.

"There's more to understanding geography than knowing things,

EMERGENCY

TRAUMA

with their headlights on in the middle Grosvenor said. "It is a question of morality and ethics when you have to deal with what happens when man proceeds in ignorance."

He said each country is likely to have a unique environmental agenda and foreign relations will require more diplomacy than ever before. One of the toughest challenges will be for big consumers of natural resources, like the United States and the Soviet Union, to cut back on their usage while convincing Third World countries to preserve them.

"How is the president of 2020 going to face deforestation?" Grosvenor asked. "How is he or she going to tell the Third World they can't continue burning wood for cheap heat? That they have to keep their standard of living low to preserve forests?"

Grosvenor said one alternative that has been discussed is to exchange debt for permanent protection of forests.

He said that Americans need to learn about geography by taking an active interest in world and local affairs so they can make informed environmental decisions.

Cruise Colors!

New hot tropical color Birkenstocks on sale now through April 14.

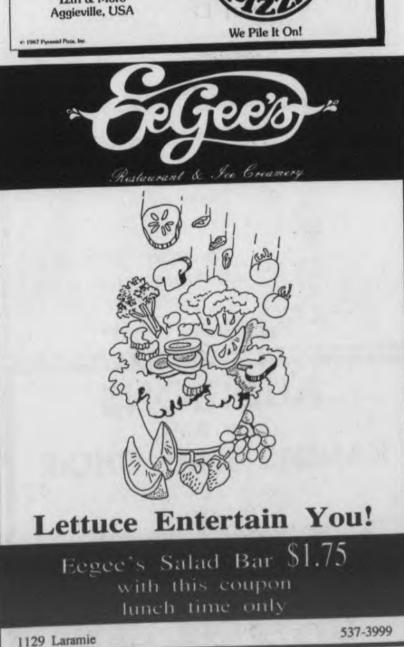

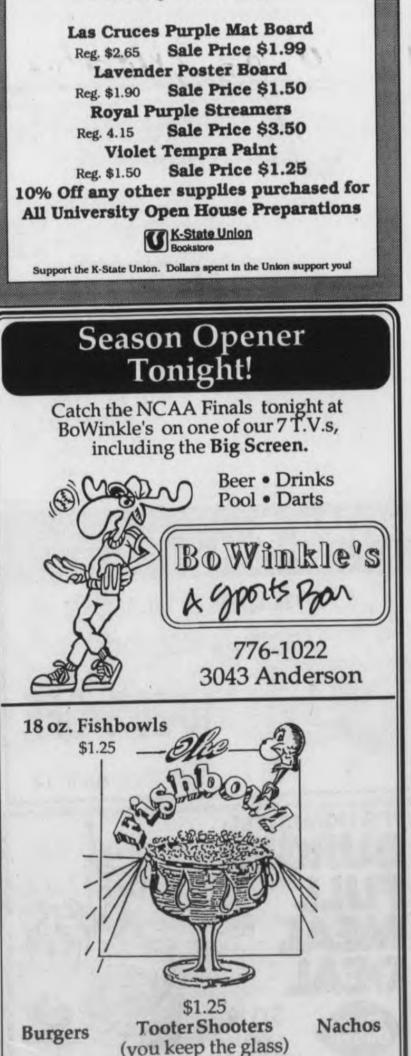

Register to win a Birkenstock fold-up beach chair to be given away.

Birkenstock

OLSON'S 1214-C Moro Aggieville

Wildcat Buffet $2.99

All-You-Can-Eat, Lunchtime, Monday-Friday

105 N. 3rd

776-9879

Peace Corps offers education, culture

By Monica Marcotte Collegian Reporter

The Peace Corps might be billed as the "toughest job you'll ever love," but the reasons for loving it are different for each student who considers becoming a volunteer.

Peace Corps volunteers serve for two years, living on a grass-roots level with their hosts, said Derek Stanfill, Peace Corps recruiter and former volunteer. Volunteers receive intensive training in a country, a living allowance, medical and dental care, vacation days and pay.

"We are looking for people who have skills, can adapt those skills to another culture, are willing to learn a second language and can fit into a culture that is far different from our own," Stanfill said.

Peace Corps programs exist in 68 countries around the world, including Botswana, Ecuador, Morocco and Zaire, said Melanie Martin, public affairs specialist for the Peace Corps. Several island locations have Peace Corps programs, including Haiti, Jamaica, Barbados, Antigua and the Fiji Islands.

Susan Bock, graduate student in agricultural economics, is a former volunteer who served her assignment in Botswana.

"At times it was really hard, but I would do it again in a minute," Bock said. "There was always something going on. We would go watch elephants mate or something like that. It was like living in an adventure

The Peace Corps turned out to be a

$1 Longnecks

Firstbank Center

Come watch NCAA Championship

Big Screen

NEIGHBORHOOD BAR

atablished 1983

TONIGHT

OPTOMETRISTS

Drs. Price, Young, and Odle

We'd like to be your Optometric office.

FOR YOUR

 Extended wear, gas permeable, tinted extended wear, tinted soft contact lenses.

Free consultation and trial contact lens fitting.

 Approx. 5,000 contact lenses in stock. ·Low contact lens replacement costs.

1119 Westloop Place, Manhattan, 537-1118 also at 2800 SW Wanamaker, Topeka

WAL-MART Pictureland Portrait Studio

1-8x10, 2-5x7s and

10 wallets*

Plus a FREE 8x10 and 16 FREE Mini-Portraits! on your choice of a traditional, nursery, spring or fall background

Easter

Portrait

Special!

FREE 8x10

And 16 FREE Mini-Portraits

PLUS $3 OFF the regular $9.95 package price

great career move for Bock, she said. "While in Botswana, I happened to get involved in a project K-State was working on at the time, and when I got out of the Corps I was accepted into grad school at K-State," Bock said. "It gave me valuable experience in my field." Barry Michie, assistant professor of anthropology, was a Peace Corps volunteer 22 years ago. His assignment was in India, and while there he met his wife, Aruna, associate professor of political science.

"At first it's very exciting, but then, at about the sixth month, you go through a period of depression culture shock, if you will — and it hits very hard," Michie said. "But that subsided after a while, and I enjoyed the rest of my time there."

"But if you go into the Corps with the idea that you are going to sacrifice two years of your life for whatever reason, then you will be miserable," he said.

John Lavin, senior in geography, has not yet been involved with the Peace Corps, but said he wants to explore different parts of the world instead of just learning about them in the classroom.

"It makes you aware of the disparity between developed and underdeveloped countries," Lavin said. "I wanted to get involved and not just say 'Too bad' and not do anything

Bock said he is trying to organize a group of returned Peace Corps volunteers, several of whom are K-State professors.

$2 Margaritas

776-4111

Council plans cultural event

International Week enables students to experience other countries' customs

By Lori Stauffer Collegian Reporter

Students will get a chance to experience other cultures during International Week, which begins today and runs through Sunday, said Anwar Dabbas, coordinator of the week's events.

International Week, sponsored by the International Coordinating Council, is scheduled each spring to promote the different cultures represented at the University.

The purpose is to get more people knowing about the different customs and cultures on campus and promote interaction between the cultures and American students," Dabbas said.

Foreign movies, cultural displays and traditional performances by students are scheduled for each day. An open house on Saturday and a potluck dinner will round out twice a day in the Little Theatre free the week.

The performances will be presented in the Union Courtyard at noon. Today, Arabian students will perform two traditional dances from their country. An Indian student on Tuesday and African stu-dents Thursday will be playing percussion instruments in rhythms of their native countries. On Friday, Latino and Puerto Rican students will entertain with singing and guitar playing.

Cultural displays will be set up in the Union Courtyard on Tuesday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Information about different cultures will be available, and international students, some in native dress, will be on hand for discussion.

Along with the performances, international movies will be shown of charge. Matinees will begin at 3:30 p.m., and evening shows will start at 7. The movies are either in English or have subtitles, said Olufunke Ilumoka, head of the movie committee.

"Runaway," a romantic comedy set in China about a couple running off to elope, will be shown this afternoon and Thursday night.

A Korean romance, "Warm It Was The Winter," will be playing Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday

Ilumoka said the Chinese and Korean films are a modern look at the countries. She said Asians are often stereotyped into unemotional

"These movies show they are equally emotionally aware of what is going on around them as anyone else," she said. "We decided on a more modern movie to dispel some of the common stereotypes."

Wednesday's matinee will be "Permissible Dreams" about a typical day for a woman in Egypt. It will also be shown Friday night.

"Blood of the Condor" is a black and white film from Bolivia about U.S.-imposed population controls and the reaction of the natives to American Aid programs. It will be shown tonight and Thursday afternoon.

"Blood of the Condor' is probably the best of the lot," Ilumoka said. "Even though it is in black and white, the story behind it is really good. It was a unanimous decision to show this one."

An African film entitled "Jom" will play Tuesday evening and Fri-

■ See WEEK, Page 14

2 bedroom, furnished, fireplace, dishwasher

1010 Thurston

$450-$475

1 bedroom, furnished, new carpet

Villa II

$310 526 N. 14th

2 bedroom, furnished, dishwasher

923 Fremont Pheasant Ridge

$395

2 bedroom, stove, frig & dishwasher furnished $375 Gold Key 428-430 N. 6th

For more information call Moore Management

776-1111

ALL ROCK ALL THE TIME TONIGHT $200 60 oz. Pitchers

No Cover!

OPEN at 4:00 702 North 11th

776-0077 Aggieville, USA

YOUR FAVORITE SPECIALS from 8 p.m. to closing Sunday-Thursday.

APRIL 1-5:

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Village Plaza Shopping Center

Congratulations to the new Beta Alpha Psi officers President Kristi Murphy Vice President Dave Meyer Vice President of Programs Kyle Essmiller Treasurer Laura Breneman Corresponding Sectetary Shannon Stites Recording Secretary Dan Daveline

Buy Our Food Bar at Regular Price and Get All The Shrimp You Can Eat For Under Two Clams.

$1.99 When You Buy Our Regular Price Food Bar.

Only BONANZA gives you all the golden fried shrimp you can eat and your choice of potato, at a price this easy to swallow. Simply order our regular FRESHTASTIKS* Food Bar and while you're dining on a plate of shrimp, you can save a few clams.

Where The Extrus Don't Cost Extrus

622 Tuttle Creek Blvd., Manhattan, KS

POWE 94.5

NOW

Manhattan, KS 628 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Rioters overrun English

By The Associated Press

MANCHESTER, England - About 700 inmates rioted at a crowded 19th century prison Sunday, occupying rooftops, smashing windows and setting fires. At least 50 guards and inmates were injured, police Television newscasts carried unconfirmed reports that witnesses had seen up to 12 bodies. A police spokesman said inmates brought out of Strangeways Prison also reported deaths, but that police would not be able to confirm this until they reached the center of the complex.

The Home Office said no hostages were being held, and police said talks with prisoners were under way. There was no clear indication of the cause of the rioting at the medium-security prison, built in the Victor-

Home Office spokesman Charles Keseru said prison officers regained control of one wing of the jail Sunday evening and found no seriously injured inmates. The office said 12 injured staff members and 25 inmates taken to hospitals, a police spokesman said, were taken to area hospitals.

Prisoners were surrendering to authorities and about 400 had given up late Sunday night, Keseru said. The prison houses about

Hundreds of riot police surrounded the medium-security Strangeways prison. A police helicopter hovered overhead as flames leaped 20 feet into the air from the prison gymnasium where a fire burned out of control.

Twenty-five firefighters under police protection battled the blaze as dense black smoke billowed above the building. Fires were also reported to have been set in three cells and a classroom as large groups of inmates rampaged inside. The fires were later reported under control.

Some 500 prisoners reportedly surrendered to authorities and arrangements were being made to transfer them to other

Fifty people, mostly prison guards, were city center in central England. The Home adding that police were unable to confirm inmates' reports of fatalities.

As many as 80 prisoner reportedly made their way on to the rooftops of the jail's F wing, the prison chapel, and adjoining buildings. A central turret linking several wings had its windows smashed as prisoners made their way to the roof.

Prisoners on the roof tore rooftiles up and hurled them into the prison courtyard where there were believed to be groups of riot police and prison officers.

Greater Manchester assistant chief constable Malcolm George gave few details of the disturbance.

"We have a serious situation in the prison with officers surrounding the prison," he said at the scene. "Our main strategy is to resolve this quickly and without any major conflict."

Scores of police vans lined side streets around the prison, a mile from the Manchester Office, responsible for prisons and law enforcement, said the perimeter of the prison was secure.

Greater Manchester police refused to comment on first reports that some prison officers had been taken hostage. A police spokeswoman also was unable to confirm reports of fatalities.

A Home Office statement said the uprising began in the prison chapel at 11 a.m., when 300 inmates attacked staff members.

"Those prisoners then gained access to the chapel roof and then broke into the living accommodation in the main prison. Other prisoners, including those on remand, joined in the disturbance and staff had to be withdrawn," the statement said.

Press Association, the British domestic news agency, said there were reports of large-scale disturbances apparently involving more than 1,000 inmates who had seized keys to a large part of the jail. But the report could not be immediately confirmed.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Opendine is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)
Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, pational origin say appears.

national origin, sex or ancestry

Announcements

A BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp,

SALES OPPORTUNITY of the nineties, full/ part-time Present image improvement tools to women and men. Color analysis, beautycare, wardrobing and fashion accessories. Excellent income, flexible hours. Ms. Swanson, 7431 Quivira Road, Box 140, Shawnee, Kansas 66216. (913)631-0472.

VISA OR MASTERCARD!

Even if bankrupt or bad credit! We guarantee you a card or double your money back. Call 1-805-682-7555 EXT. M-1199. (call 7 days a week)

ODDS 'n ENDS THRIFT SHOP

Knick Knacks, Adults and children's clothes, Appliances, Furniture, Books, Kitchenware 611 N. 11th

AUDITION

(Handi Corner)

K-State Singers

SURF'S UP. Enjoy the stimulating sensation of riding the apparently untameable seas. For one undergra-duate credit hour join the Windsurfing class which starts April 10. Register in College Court Building, room 131, 1615 Anderson Ave. or call 532-5566, Monday through Friday, 8a.m. to 6p.m.

ON CAMPUS

ENROLL NOW! Five Ad Production Internships available for Fall 1990

Title of course: Publications Practice, 1 credit hour, JMC 360. Must attend 8:30-11:30 a.m. one day a week. You pick the day based on availability. The class is held in Kedzie 113.

The experience you gain here increases the chance of a PAID part-time position on staff the following semester.

Come to Kedzie 113 immediately for more information and instructor's permission.

Hunam Restaurant Free Delivery 539-8888

Live from Manhattan, Collegetown, U.S.A. Heartbreak City...it's...

Everyone is Welcome to Hear Lem Howard on SUCCESS=SATISFACTION? Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity 1632 McCain Ln Tuesday, April 3, 10 p.m. Door prize from Kennedy's Claim

Sponsored by: Campus Crusade for Christ

2 Apartments—Furnished

FOR AUGUST or June. Next to KSU. Deluxe twobedroom apartment for three people, $440. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR RENT: Two-bedroom full basement apartment. No pets, no smoking. 537-7558. FOR THE next school year. Luxurious two-bedroom apartment. Near campus at 363 N. 14th. Central air, laundry, balcony, new carpet and off-street parking. $425. 537-0428.

1106 Laramie

and receive 5 FREE TANS

offer good with

Carole, Julie, Gail or Carol

McCullough

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No

NEED ONE or two roommates for August. Near KSU. Call Kevin, 537-8834 after 9p.m.

ONE- AND two-bedroom close to campus. Available June or August. Call 537-4548 between 4-6p.m.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Non-smoker, luxurious three bedroom apartment. Very close to campus. Call 776-7698.

Wildcat Inn

Three locations of one available for June or bedroom apartments still

August leasing. $310-340.

Call for more information.

776-3804

Weekdays

until 6 p.m.

Saturdays

until 4 p.m.

pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. 539-1465.

1219 KEARNEY, Basement, One- two bedroo

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

Gas/ water included. June lease, $250. No pets. 539-5163.

814 THURSTON, carpeted, efficiency. Gas/ water included. June lease, $235. No pets. 539-5136.

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT. $195 per month. Gas, heat and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings and weekends.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coin-operated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required. $290. 539-1465.

PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two-bedroom. Close to campus. 776-8381. TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, $355 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Available June 1. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings and weekends.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX, very clean. Cico Park, June

Horizon Apartments Quality 2 Bedrooms 539-8401

Apts.-Furn. or Unfurn.

LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near campus. $375/ month including utitities. No pets. No smokers. Available April 1. Call 776-1714.

PCF Management Efficiency $200

1 bedroom $250 2 bedroom $290

3 bedroom $440

776-4805-539-8401

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS

532-6555

1408 Cambridge Place • 539-2951 •1 and 2 bedroom ·2 swimming pools and a heated spa ·Some utilities paid ·Across the street from Westloop Shopping Center

·Free private bus to campus leaving every hour. Pre-leasing for fall beginning now

Sunset Apartments

Now leasing for June or August. One bedroom. $280-295. Central Air, Gas, Heat & Laundry Facilities.

776-3804 McCullough

(Continued on page 13)

539-5051

after 5:30

KSU Hospitality Management Society, a group of hotel & restaurant management students want you to win a cruise for 2 to the Bahamas!

Contest Rules

- •must be 18 or older
- certain restrictions apply
- non-transferable

Phone _

•need not be present to win

Take this entry blank and aet official cruise stamps at both Carlos O'Kelly's and International Tours Travel Agency.

Name ____ Address_

Winner Drawing: April 11, 1990

sponsored by:

International Tours

GUARANTEED STUDENT LOANS

IT'S NEVER BEEN SIMPLER!

- · Loan Approval in as Little as 2 Days
- · Largest Local Student Loan Lender.
- · Over 30,000 Student Loans Processed.

Let Our Professional In-House Staff Assist You with Your Next Student Loan.

Lender Code #821176

Westloop • Downtown • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, 537-4400

ROOMY ONE-BEDROOM. Walking distance to campus. Central air. Available June 1. $250/ month. Better hurry on this one. Now showing. 776-5578.

K-Rentals

Efficiency $200

- 1 Bedroom $250
- 2 Bedroom $290
- 3 Bedroom $450
- 4 Bedroom $500 For Information Call 539-8401
- 5 Automobile for Sale
- 1972 PONTIAC Lemans, four-door, runs good. Call 776-9083 after 5p.m.
- 1979 VW Rabbit, four-door, air conditioning, stereo. Good exterior, great interior, $650. Perfect for the woman or "man-about-town." Also good for road trips. 539-5393, please leave message.
- 1984 PORSCHE 944. 75,000 miles. Excellent condition, $12,000. Call 776-7698, ask for Ted.
- 1985 PLYMOUTH Voyager LE van. One owner, excellent condition, air conditioning, AM/FM, standard See for yourself. $7,450. 784-5717 after 6p.m.

FOR SALE: 1983 Jeep, CJ7, four-speed, new top excellent condition, $4,500 or best offer. 537-8987.

6 Child Care

LOVE CHILDREN? Become a live-in nanny! Your ability to nurture children is highly sought after by Boston area tamilies. One year commitment. Most active Nanny Network in the Northeast. One on One, Inc., 93 Main St., Andover, MA 01810. (508)475-3679.

7 Computers

MAC II, two MB RAM, 40MB HD, software, $2,950 (CPU only) or $4,200 (includes CPU, TPD monitor and video card). 776-7435.

WANTED: A data base programmer to develop new agricultural software for private business. Even-ings. 456-9201.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

- ACT IN TV commercials. High pay. No experience. All ages—kids, teens, young adults, lamilles, mature people, animals, etc. Cell now! Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702.
- AEROBIC INSTRUCTOR needed. Ladies health club. Call 776-6469 for appointment.
- AIRLINES NOW hiring! Flight attendants, many other positions1 $17,500 to $58,240. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext. X-1797.

ATTENTION: HIRING! Cruise ship, casino, hotel jobs! Free travel benefits! Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext.

- ATTENTION: EARN money watching TVI $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. TV-1797.
- ATTENTION: EARN money typing at home! $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-836-8885 Ext. T-1797. ATTENTION: HIRING government jobs— your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-502-838-8885 Ext
- tant for 20-30 hours' week during summer semester and 12-15 through the school year. Clerical experience necessary plus Word Perfect and dBase III+. Pick up application form at Kansas Careers, 304 Fairchild Hall. Deadline April 11.
- BUS DRIVERS—$5 per hour. Must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. Part time 6:30a.m. to 8:30a.m. and 2:40p.m. to 4:30p.m. Job description available. Apply USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502, 913-537-2400. EOE.

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys' girts summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B. Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. 708-446-2444.

Show Class, Read the Collegian.

Ripple

By J. Hayden

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

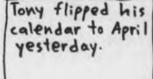

AND I REALIZED I'VE

Jim's Journal

It's the sports Illustraited swim. suit calendar. He got it for Christmas.

I love it, he said today. "But I get sick of seeing the same girl all month."

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

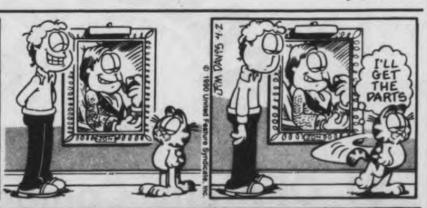

LOOK, GARFIELD.
I'VE HAD MY PORTRAIT

PONE!

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

By Jim Davis

CONSTRUCTION HELP wanted: Construction firm in Vali, Colo., seeking qualified person with construction management or civil engineering degree. Surveying and commercial or residential construction experience desired. Send resume to Craig Bruntz, clo D.V.C., 1000 S. Frontage Road West, Suite 202, Vali, CO 81657.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288.

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare-time assembly. Easy work at home. Exceptional pay. No experience needed. Call 1-601-388-8242 ext H1395. Open 24 hours including Sunday.

HARD WORKING, conscientious science student, to assist with NSF funded project, needed now through summer. A wide variety of skills and experience in general laboratory and microbiological techniques preferred. See Mrs. Manney, room 35 Cardwell Hall.

HELP WANTED: Man with farm background for full-time employment on dairy. House and salary. (913)257-3576.

LAWN CARE person wanted for large apartment community. Responsible for the maintenance of grounds and swimming pools. Horticulture or agri-cultural background helpful. Full time April through August. Send resume to Collegian, Box 8, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

LOCAL HOME furnishing store is looking for a salespe son who is able to work Saturdays and Sundays. Please send a resume to Box 4, K-State Collegian, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, KS 66502.

MARKETING AIDE. Hall-time positions working with direct mail promotions for a national association. Learn important aspects of direct marketing, working with printers, mailing firms, copy, mailing lists, and marketers. Fill out application weekdays at LERN, 1554 Hayes Drive.

NATIONAL MARKETING firm seeks mature student to manage on campus promotions for top companies this school year. Flexible hours with earnings potential to $2,500 per semester. Must be organized, hard working and money motivated. Call Lisanne or Myra at 1-800-592-2121.

PART-TIME HELP wanted evenings and weekends. People with farm or livestock background preferred. For more information call 776-9401 Monday through Friday 8a.m. to 5p.m.

RECREATIONAL SERVICES needs a microcompute CREATIONAL SERVICES needs a microcomputer systems manager. Student staff member responsible for all aspects of existing microcomputer hardware and software including designing, developing and maintaining new and existing software. Complete information available at Administrative Office, Peters Recreation Complex, telephone 532-6980. Starting wage— $6.50/ hour. Position parallelse.

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for spring, Christmas and next summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1-805-682-7555 EXT. S-1112. (call 7 days a week)

SUMMER CAMP Counselors- Men and women Generalists and specialists. Two overnight eight-week camps in New York's Adirondack Mountains have openings for tennis, waterfront (WSI, ALS, sailing skiing, small crafts), all team sports, gymnastics, arts/ crafts, pioneering, music, photogra phy, drama, dance and nurses. We're interested in people who are interested and love children and in having fun with them. Men reply: Prof. Robert S Gersten, Brant Lake Camp, 84 Learnington St. Lido Beach, N.Y. 11561. Women reply: Sherie Aiden, Camp Point O' Pines, Brant Lake, N.Y.

SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 openings National parks, forests, fire crews. Send sta free details. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901

SUMMER WORK available at KSU Vegetable Research Farm, DeSoto (K.C. area), $4.50/ hour. Must have own transportation. Contact Dr. Charles Marr or Mrs. Elder at Horticulture, 532-6170 for application

THINKING OF taking some time off from school? We need Mother's Helpers/ Nannies. We have pre-screened families to suit you. Live in exciting New York City suburbs. We are established since 1984 and have a strong support network. 1-800-222-XTRA. WE HAVE the ideal college job for fraternity and sorority members. Set own hours with extremely high monetary return. Job includes marketing imprinted sportswear and party favors to Greeks. Please call -Graphics, Inc. Lawrence, KS 1-800-633-0276. By Jim WHEAT HARVEST help, truck driver, 13 speed, combine operator. Prefer farm person, no drugs non-smoker. Monthly salary, 468-3371. May 20 through Aug. 5. WORKING COUPLE outside of NYC looking for nanny mother's helper: Care for toddler, newborn, dog Must drive, swim, cook. Non-smoker. Own room bath, TV, car. One year minimum. Call between 9-5 EST. 201-688-5607.

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

WOHLER'S USED Furniture, 615 N. Third. Open 1p.m. to 5p.m. Saturday and Sunday; 6p.m. to 9p.m. Tuesday and Thursday evening, or call 539-3119. Appliances, modern and antique furniture, office furniture. Lots of miscellaneous.

12 Houses for Rent

ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks east campus, laundry hookups. $285/ month, utilities, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1. 539-3672 evenings.

ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June 1

4 Lost and Found

FOUND: BACKPACK at Dr. Mowry's or Dr. Alexander's office on March 22. Identify and claim by calling

FOUND: GOLDEN Lab, approximately one year old at Manhattan and Vattier on 3/28. Call 537-8794.

FOUND: HIGHLAND Community College football jacket in Aggieville. Call 532-4867. LOST: GOLD ADPi pinkie ring, around Seaton or the Union. Please call 537-1654; leave a message if

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

TWO-BEDROOM, 10x60 trailer. Good condition. Great location. Low rent and utilities. Washer/ dryer, storage. 776-5671.

18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

SNYDER'S HONDA on Stagg Hill Road is buying and selling new and used motorcycles. We are your motorcycle super market.

19 Music/ Musicians

MUSICIANS WANTED to perform for "Earth Day" activities April 22, 1990 in Manhattan City Park. If interested call 776-5705.

21 Personals

LAMBDA CHIS- For Homecoming '90, the choices were made. Now with this awesome duo, the plans can be laid. We'll set out to party and be nur one. For winning and good times, we're second to None! The Tri Deltas.

SIGMA NU Pat- Good Morning! Wow, Hey, Happy Birthday! Now you can sit around the house in your underwear and scratch yourself. —Bart, Lisa and TANKITY-TANK-TANK: Congratulations on your promotion. Don't let it go to your head. Remember I still got that flight pay. Love, Wop-Wop-Wop.

TINA AND Carla— Casino night! What about our pool game? R.S.V.P. Moore 6. Chad/ Jeremy.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

CUTE, FUN-LOVING ferret for sale. Descented and neutered. Call 776-0941 for more info.

SIX-MONTH MINI-LOPP litter trained. All accessories except hutch, $30. Call evenings and weekends Green Thumb Pets

Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits 1105 Waters 539-4751

23 Professional Services

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day re For appointment call: Pregnancy Testing Center

PERMS $17. His-N-Hers. Tel. 776-1330. All services on

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free preon. test. Confidential, Call 537-9180, 102 South Found St., Suite 25. SUFFERING FROM abortion? Write: Hearts Restored add years to your life and life to your years!

Chiropractors

Call today for an appointment 537-8305 Dr. Mark Hatesohl 3252 Kimball Avenue

Candlewood Shopping Center

24 Resume/ Typing Service

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms

dissertations, theses, etc. Call 776-4214. LETTER-QUALITY word processing. $1.25 doublespaced page. Next-day delivery available. Susar Lawson, 776-0676.

NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals, resumes and more Laser printing. Call 537-4146. RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to make an impression. One day service. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th, 539-5147.

25 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER to share two-bedroom apartment since school year. Two blocks from campus. $195 rent and one-half utilities. 532-2443. FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to find apartment for tall.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share house close to campus furnished, washer, dryer. Lease, deposit, utilities shared. Edie, 776-3066. FEMALE WANTED: Own room, $156.66, one-third utilities. Non-smoking. Call 539-6303 after 5p.m. NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, own room, by campus, $131.25 monthly, one-fourth utilities. Call 537-4641 or 776-2074. ONE- TWO non-smoking females, furnished farmhouse, free stall and pasture for horses, cattle, dogs. P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share house trailer, $100 per month, half utilities. Call Allen 537-3909.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for August 1990: Reasonable price, huge pad. Should be liberal, intelligent and willing to help keep the place clean. If interested call Dan at 539-5894 for appointment. Smokers

WANTED: TWO roommates to share four bedroom house. $130 plus one-fourth utilities. Close to campus. Starts June 1. 776-9244.

28 Sublease

A $100 sublease for summer. Own room in large house. Female preferred. 1818 Fairchild. Call 539-1457,

A NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, onefourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New carpet. Available anytime. Call, leave message

APARTMENT FOR sublease— Within walking distance of campus. Furnished, clean, quiet. Call 539-4847. FURNISHED, CLOSE to campus, two-bedroom, three person apartment. Price negotiable. May free. Phone 776-0368. JUNE AND July, one-bedroom furnished apartment. Last half of May free. $265 a month. 539-8606. LARGE ONE-BEDROOM apartment, close to campus.

Rent negotiable. Call Mike, 537-8292. LARGE TWO- to three-bedroom main floor, full kitchen. Available for summer sublease. Only $250/ month. Call 537-3696.

NEED PERSON for three-bedroom apartment. Furn-ished, own room, close to campus. June and July. $175. Time and price negotiable. 776-0890.

SPACIOUS FURNISHED studio apartment next to campus. Laundry facilities and patio. Available June and July. Rent negotiable. 539-5736. Ask for SUBLEASE- TWO blocks from campus, nice two bedroom apartment, $280/ two persons. 537-8674. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Nice, spacious two-bedro apartment. Water and trash paid. $375. Call 778-6498

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Room in a large house, 1818 Fairchild, $100/ month plus one-sixth utilities 539-1457, ask for Denise. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Close to campus and Apple

Two large bedrooms, Best offer, Call 539-5519.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, furnished, balcony, close to campus. For more into call 776-7034. SUMMER SUBLEASE-Nice, spacious furnished two-Bedroom apartment, one and one-half bath, diswasher, close to campus, water and trash paid.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Nice, wo budloom apartment to three people. Close to cample, wather dryer. £150/ month plus utilities. £39-4784.

profession spartment New rampus Aggreville, Call 539-2563 or 539-2007. SULMIER SUBLEASE—Nick or a befroom furnished appringer for two papels. Near campus and Apprint. Make other 509-4577.

SUMMER SUBLEASE. Nice and affordable one

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Two-bedroom lurnished operiment, near compus and Aggrevite terms negotiative. 1-494-8221

SUMMER SUBLEASE Purposed was bedroom a to carrigus, see negotiable. Call 532-3124. THREE BEDROOM APARTMENT, one-nalf block east of mous Nicel Dates negotiable, 537-7982.

THREE ECORDOM, TWO bath, in Aggleville, Available Way through July, Great location, 776-4760. TWO-REDROOM, four person apartment. One-balf black from Ahearn on College Heights, 8540 morely, water and train gold 1829 College Heights, 82 597-7855 Callatie Rom. For austiner

TWO-BEDPOOM BASEMENT IVENEDIS May 1. Call aber 50.my 539-1199:

TWO-BEDROOM, one block from campus. Aggieville. Low utilitie: Available June and July $270. 776-4574.

30 Travel

Viscas, Reno, Lake Tahoe, Disney World, Atlantic City, Hawali or Disneyland vacation, a $250 gift chuck in 15mm pamera and 100 tolls of fi $25 processing fee to: J.D. Gardner, Rt. 2, Box $12. Dadge City, KS 67801.

GETTING TO K.C.I. AIRPORT SHOULDN'T BE A HASSLE! $25 or less Call 539-2284 or 1-800-383-2817 or call your travel agent.

TRAVELERS

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050. Battery or AC powered, two font types 15,000-character memory expansion card, spell corrector and many other features. Excellent condition, $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave

FOLIR-HEAD HG stered VCR for sale, 537-1052. FRIDGIDARE PORTABLE Dishwasher, $30. Rita

33 Storage

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

41 Praise 4 Move at ACROSS 42 Wading high speed 1 Makes a

bird

slang poetic shark

poison 53 Marvin or Cobb

sashes

55 Put to the

56 Young boy

partner

1 Anagram

proof

57 Roll's

DOWN

2 Frolic

52 Arrow

54 Broad

51 European boo-boo 45 Captured: passim 8 Skier's aid 49 Obscure: 12 Do it for team 13 Actress - Alicia 14 "Cogito,

the home

15 Filmdom's Sharif 16 Photo lab

18 Bed cover

nuts 21 Turkish flag 23 Middle of the wk.

24 Deprived

20 Praline

of light Small Corrida cheer 32 Cries uncle 34 Brazilian bird 35 Pith 37 Song based on "Otchi

Tchorniya'

39 Clasp's

place

3 Bellow for one Solution time: 26 min. MINES UNITED THE TANK OF THE VALUE OF TANK OF for sore 22 Purple up" stuff 33 Predatory sea gull husbands 36 " - to Ride" of London 38 Reporter's Baldwin boss 40 Slippery 42 Mine opening 43 Barn

24 Ending

25 He had

5 Became doleful

lifetime

7 Find fault

rhyming

6 Once -

8 Three lines

9 Great

White athletic

Way

10 Greek

11 Gypsy

17 Suburb

Heart,

19 Actor

for bird or hang feet of Clay?

back to health

out of whack

29 Ending

30 "Fill 'er

26 Brings

44 Pinball no-no 46 Gray wolf 47 Heroic in scale 48 Place

38 Down

50 Teacher's

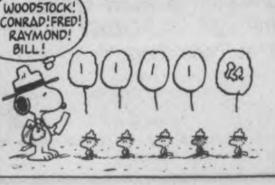

27 Knocked for vamp 43 53 CRYPTOQUIP

VGM IUKFR-FMC HYM RMZHX-ZBFL ZKEV RHRF'V IMYKQEM GM CKE VBFL-VHMR.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHEN VERY SUCCESS-FUL BUSINESSMEN ARE SELLING THEIR BOATS, IT CONFIRMS THEY HAVE A YACHT TO OFFER.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: V equals T

House passes proposal twice

Child victim hearsay legislation to be considered by conference committee

By Paula Selby Managing Editor

An amendment allowing child victim hearsay testimony in certain divorce proceedings was passed Thursday by the Kansas House, 123-0, as part of a child abuse re-

The House had previously passed a bill allowing child victim hearsay in divorce proceedings, but the Senate Judiciary Committee failed Wednesday to move the legislation.

Rep. Denise Everhart, D-Topeka, a member of the House Judiciary Committee, attached the amendment to the bill.

"I was pretty upset about (the Senate's failure to move the bill)," Everhart said. She said she hopes the Senate understands that by passing the legislation twice, the House is committed to the policy.

The Senate had passed the bill before the hearsay amendment was added, so the new bill will go before a conference committee this week. The committee will consist of three members from each house of the Legislature, including the chairmen of both judiciary committees.

The bill details who can obtain Social Rehabilitation Services' or law enforcement agencies' records on abused or neglected children. People interested in the child's welfare or who could be useful to an investigation into the alleged abuse would have access to that information, Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, said.

Everhart attached the amendment because she said it is a law that would protect abused children by allowing their testimony to be admitted in certain divorce cases, while still being subjected to the same scrutiny a judge would use in criminal proceedings.

Before hearsay statements are admitted in court, the judge determines the reliability of the statements and instructs the jury on reliability considerations.

Opponents to the legislation argue the bill will increase use of child abuse accusations as a weapon in divorce cases.

"(The bill) will just increase the bitterness and acrimony in divorce cases," said David Troup, a Junction City attorney who submitted testimony opposing the bill at a Senate hearing.

Virginia Arthur, director of Manhattan Counseling Services and clinical social worker, said the admissability of a child's hearsay statements is very important.

"A lot of times it's the social workers or teachers that hear about what goes on," Arthur said. "Who's the child supposed to talk to? Who's going to talk for the child but the adult who says nothing happened? How do we protect the children?"

A Kansas statute already allows the child victim hearsay exception in criminal, child-in-need-of-care and juvenile offender proceedings. The constitutionality of the statute is being tested before the Tenth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver. The case has been pending for about one year.

Under the legislation the House passed Thursday, the exception would be extended to divorce cases when a child of both parents makes a statement alleging sexual or physical abuse by one party of the Troup said the bill would extend an already bad policy and that hearsay statements should not be allowed in any cases.

"Child hearsay had not been admitted for a long time until recent years, and people have still been convicted of child abuse," Troup said. He said he has read that there is a higher incidence of false allegations in custody cases than in any

Allowing testimony from professionals, Arthur said, would lessen the childrens' burden.

The legal system is set up very differently from the clinical system. It's difficult for the two systems to talk to each other and be able to use each other in a way that protects children," she said.

traditional spirituality, Blackbear said. Women participate in lodge gatherings and the young go through Activities such as these are a concern to organized religions that continue to have a strong presence on reservations, Blackbear said. It is not uncommon to see 10 to 15 churches their work in the last 100 to 150 bud reservation, Blackbear said. The Jesuit school has been turned over to the Sioux, who now run it as an In-

The seminar was sponsored by the

"As if somehow they haven't done

Things are changing on the Roserituals like the sundance.

for a population of 1500.

Women's Resource Center.

years," she said.

dian school.

Murder

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 makeshift candlelit dining hall.

The grisly turn of events dulled no one's appetite. Guests were entertained by Gen. George Armstrong Custer's Regimental Band, and dancing and cavorting ensued. Suddenly, a shout came from above.

It was Ted, the Times reporter, babbling in a drunken stupor from the balcony above that he had discovered the identity of the murderer.

"I know who killed them!" he screamed. "I know the identity of the killer. ...

But Ted was rudely cut off by gunshots through his skull.

Ted was dead.

It was beginning to be a bit much. The guests were becoming restless. There was a mild bit of consternation as to just who would be next. Some had begun to look for a way out of this nightmare. But it was hopeless.

Finally the proverbial bull was taken by the horns, and the guests were asked back into the front room for questioning.

An obviously insane man dressed as Sherlock Holmes began the interrogation by asking all whose names began with "B" to step toward the front. It was a good start because someone cracked.

The Duchess of Bluemont rose from her chair and gloated about how easy it was to kill the young Poyntz woman. She said she had slipped by Poyntz and poisoned her wineglass. Her motive was jealousy.

"It was so easy," the Duchess said. "I brushed up against her and released the poison hidden within my

But she said the Poyntz murder was the only atrocity she committed that strange night.

This was certainly perplexing, simply because an ancient and perhaps cursed Egyptian scroll was still missing and a murderer was still at

But not for long, as someone noticed an old piece of paper portruding from Fannie Fae Bakkker's elaborate headdress.

"It's the scroll!" voices shouted

BOOKS

FOR CHILDREN

30-50% off Hundreds of

Special Sale Books

PLUS

10% off ALL Childrens

Books In Stock

*GREAT SELECTION!

*GREAT SALE PRICES!

*FREE HELIUM BALLOONS

April 1-14

justice was served. Sort of. Week

complication.

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 11 day afternoon. The movie is about life in rural Africa and the changes it goes through into big cities.

from around the room. There was a bit of confusion. Timmy Bakkker attempted to flee the library. A mad chase followed as the dignitaries ran after the reverend. Finally, he was the floor and trembled with fear.

Bakkker curled up into a ball on

"Oh, no," Fanny Fae said.

Apparently, Timmy Bakkker and his wife had stolen the scroll in an attempt to fund a new church for them to bring the Lord's Gospel to the plains. Murder was an unexpected librarian, the mystery was solved and

And so, the scroll was given to the surrounded and captured.

Timmy's gone fetal.

An open house at the International Student Center is scheduled for Saturday. Dabbas said it will give students an opportunity to visit the center, see the cultural displays and learn about what the center has to offer.

The finale of the week will be the potluck dinner at 7 p.m. Sunday at the center. Dabbas said the dinner is open to anyone who brings a salad or dessert.

YOUR OLD BRA IS WORTH

When you trade it in for a new bra at Undercover.

We have your size!

32A 32B 32C 32D 32DD 34A 34B 34C 34D 34DD 36A 36B 36C 36D 36DD 38A 38B 38C 38D 38DD

All Brands

Vanity Fair, Maidenform, Olga Sport Bra, Warners and Jezebel. Patricia's

ND=RCOV=r

Lingerie 1224 Moro Manhattan Aggieville

Violence

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Blackbear and Thunderhawk said that while growing up, they were discouraged from speaking their native language and practicing native customs in the Jesuit school on the Rosebud Sioux reservation.

Thunderhawk said she came from a family that had traditionally been spiritual leaders in the tribe. This made it difficult to accept the teachings in the Jesuit school. She said she had trouble understanding the Jesuit ceremonies, was forced into practices against her belief and experienced violence at the school. Thunderhawk dropped out of school in the seventh grade with the support of her and the Kansas Livestock Association to become involved as well.

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"These people here take good care of their land," he said. "(The Army) is going to run tanks through it and tear it up. It's not possible for them to Army officials told him the sites have not been ranked according to prior-

Rep. Jim Slattery, D-Kan., said be good for the land."

Before 3 p.m.

539-4321

Fort

traditional father.

Thunderhawk turned to the myths, customs and language of the Sioux to find her own spirituality. A Sioux myth teaches creation was a balance of male and female processes, she

"Any culture that has balance between men and women is nonviolent," Thunderhawk said.

Although wars were fought by the Sioux Indians, they were always fought with tribes other than Sioux, she said. Rituals were performed before and after the warfare to purify the warriors and ensure the killing was not brought into the tribe.

Thunderhawk said through the meaning of Sioux words she was able to forgive the violence whites and

ity. He said in a statement that the Army should announce its rankings knows which site Fort Riley prefers, then I believe the public should

Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan.,

said the announcement of the sites should help clarify both the direc-

However, Kassebaum emphasized

tion and magnitude" of the proposed

"When one person in the Army to avoid any land speculation.

know," he said.

-Call for Reservations-

531 N. Manhattan

Christianity inflicted upon her and her tribe.

The Sioux people need to turn back into their own spiritual realm to rediscover their non-violent society, Thunderhawk said.

Blackbear said she and women like Thunderhawk have introduced a cult of spiritualilty by reintroducing secret rites among women at the abuse shelter she runs.

Ceremonies, like the purification rite of Sioux women, teach women the power they have within themselves and the power they had in traditional society. Blackbear said it reintroduced the concept of women supporting women that existed in traditional society.

Young people are bringing back

tion include reclaiming land used for other purposes, slowing the tempo of training at the base, simulating training or moving troops and equipment elsewhere, the Army said.

The next step in the process is an outside study that will rank the alternatives. The Secretary of the Army then will make a final decision.

If land acquisition is chosen, an environmental impact study would have to be done.

that the Army's action was only a small part of a larger study necessary to consider alternatives to the expansion. That study is to be finished later this year and "should demonstrate how much, if any, land is needed,"

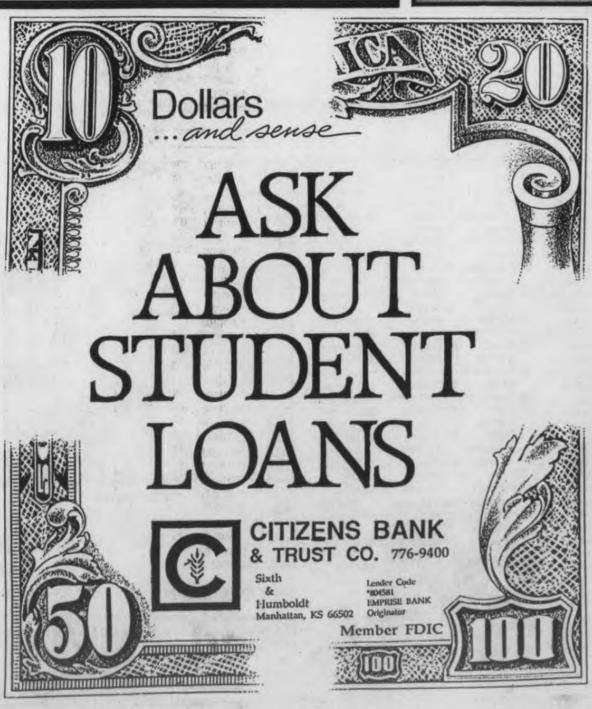

The possible sites were picked by the Army Corps of Engineers, which said in a news release that no sites abutting the fort could withstand training requirements.

Alternatives besides land acquisi-

Comedy Invasion Monday, Tuesday Appearing this week Ollie Joe Prater Wednesday Sig Ep Fite Nite Knockouts Proceeds go to the Amer. Heart Assoc. After 3 p.m. 539-9727

GRAND OPENING SURPRISE!

2700 Anderson Ave.

$1 OFF any Combo Platter

Now thru Sunday, April 8th, you can get $1.00 off the regular price of any Combo Platter of your choice. Our newest store in Manhattan is NOW OPEN at 2700 Anderson Ave. Come visit us TODAY and enjoy the great Mexican food at Taco Tico.

Not valid with any other discount, coupon or offer. No coupon necessary for this offer. Offer is also valid at our Tuttle Creek Blvd. location.

COLLEGIAN

Tuesday, April 3, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 124

Student says case mishandled

K-State officers attribute delay to lack of training

> By Robert Short Special Projects Editor

@1990, Student Publications Inc.

Editor's note: It is the policy of the Collegian not to report the names of sexual assault victims.

A female student kidnapped and sexually assaulted in 1989 says her case was mishandled by the K-State Police.

She said insufficient questioning by a campus police officer led to a lesser charge being filed against the man who assaulted her. The incident occurred on April 16.

"There is no way this should have slipped through the cop's fingers who came to (the residence hall)," said the victim of the assault that after she was forced into a car and abducted from Aggieville.

After being taken to a park area in Pottawatomie County by three men, being sexually assaulted by one and then returned to Manhattan, the victim said she phoned the campus police to report the incident, K-State Police Officer James Lehne met her at the residence hall to take the

The victim said after being ini- ficer injured or killed, or get the peo-tially questioned by Lehne, she was was wrong." told he would be in contact with her by telephone. Lehne filed the report as a misdemeanor sexual battery.

The following afternoon, the victim said, she again phoned the campus police to report the incident.

"I knew that this was much more serious than I was led to believe that night," she said. "That is why I called members and the victim that in the next day. I knew something afternoon.

Former campus police Officer Ron Wood, who left the force in February to take a job in California, responded to the second report at about 3:30 p.m. Wood said the victim had reported being harassed by telephone by one of the suspects in the assault. Wood met with residence hall staff

"The case had already been reported as a sexual battery," Wood said. "(The victim) got a phone call from one of the suspects, supposedly. She called the KSU Police and said she was being harassed." Wood said he has a policy of familiarizing himself with other officer's cases when he becomes involved with them.

"I (told her) it is my policy - my procedure - to ask some questions about the entire case to better understand what is going on," Wood said.

During preliminary questioning, Wood said, he believed the descriptions of the incident given by the victim constituted a rape, not the misdemeanor crime of sexual battery. He said better training by the department would have made a difference in the way it was initially reported.

wondering what to do," he said.

"If you do not know the correct response, you are worthless out there,"

he said. "You become more of a hazard by creating another problem.

Years may go by without anything ever happening, but then there is that one time when you need to be alert enough and ready to respond and that partment should also implement more programs that train officers to investigate major criminal offenses

as well as perform service functions.

Some of these areas include inter-

Wood said the campus police deis what training is all about."

The case was later turned over to investigators with the Riley County Police Department, which resulted in a Manhattan man being convicted of felony aggravated sexual battery in Pottawatomie County District Court.

Wood said he believes a lack of training offered by the department prevented the initial reporting officer from identifying the incident as a felony assault.

"It was not the officer's fault on that case," Wood said. "He went in with what he had available to him the background and the training and did the best he could do with his interviewing techniques."

K-State Police Chief Charles Beckom said he could not comment on the case because of federal laws preventing the release of information about students. Lehne said his interview with the victim immediately after the incident indicated that only a sexual battery had occurred. "The night before she said nothing happened, other than they took her from Aggieville and rode her around and threatened her - fondled her and that sort of thing," Lenhe said. "She was embarrassed and didn't want to talk about it."

Lehne said the victim did not give details of the incident during his interview with her.

"I talked to her, and the staff talked ■ See CASE, Page 8

Officers: Departmental training programs leave police unprepared for major crimes

By Robert Short Special Projects Editor

@1990, Student Publications Inc.

Several K-State Police officers say occurred in Pottawatomie County, a lack of training leaves officers unprepared to deal with dangerous situations or to effectively investigate major crimes that occur on campus.

A comprehensive training schedule is essential in a university setting because of the diverse services expected of an officer, said Ron Wood, a former K-State police officer who left the force in February for a position in Los Angeles.

"A lack of training can get an of-ple he is trying to protect injured or killed," Wood said. "The most welltrained police officer can be killed in the line of duty, but the chances are slimmer because of his training. Training develops instinct."

Wood said officers are not trained to respond correctly to serious crimes in progress. Situations occur on campus that require officers to make snap judgments.

Two such incidents took place in November 1988. In one, President Jon Wefald was wrestled to the floor of his office by a University graduate on Nov. 28.

Earlier that month, Nov. 20, a high-speed car chase ended on campus near Putnam Hall. After colliding with two other parked cars, the driver was arrested and a handgun was taken from him. A 12-gauge shotgun and ammunition were also discovered in his car.

A campus officer, who asked his name be withheld, said training can counter the effect of a lack of practical experience in dealing with emergency calls involving an armed individual or crimes in progress.

"If you are are out here writing parking tickets all of the time and the time comes for you to react in a decisive manner, you are going to be

■ See TRAINING, Page 8 Exotic animals to be treated Instructors in veterinary medicine

'excited about potential for program' By Clinton Wolf

If Dr. James Carpenter has his way, students graduating from the College of Veterinary Medicine will be able to treat camels, eagles, leopards and lizards as well as dogs, cats, cattle and horses. Carpenter was appointed head of Exotic Animal, Wildlife, and Zoo Animal Medicine this semester.

Collegian Reporter

The majority of veterinary work and research is focused on traditional animals, Carpenter said, which leaves few veterinarians to work in exotic animal medicine, a diverse field ranging from insects to Previously, Carpenter was a research veterinarian at the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Patuxent Wildlife Research Center, where he worked with captive breeding and release of endangered species.

Until the past 10 years, he said, little training has been available in exotic animal medicine, but an explosion in the number of exotic pets is forcing this to change. Carpenter said 25 million to 50 million exotic pets, besides fish, now exist in the United States. Of those, 20 million to 30 million are pet birds. Because of this, veterinarians in general practice will be seeing a significant number of exotic animals at clinics, Carpenter said. Only twothirds of the 27 American veterinary colleges offer opportunities to study exotic and wildlife medicine. Carpenter said he makes it his responsibility to introduce students to roles in exotic animal medicine. About 60 students are involved in the Special Species Club that Carpenter advises. "Some of them have a very strong interest in exotics," Carpenter said.

Dr. Alan Brightman, section head of small animal medicine, said the presence of exotic animal programs at K-State is important to the community and to the state.

"I think it's one of our strengths," Brightman said. "We're pretty excited about the potential for that program."

Most exotic animals brought into the clinic are pets such as birds, reptiles and ferrets, Carpenter said. Wildlife and zoo animals may also be treated. Usually three or four exotics are brought to the clinic each

The work done at the University with exotics is usually challenging, because many of the cases are those that other veterinarians have had difficulty diagnosing and treating,

■ See DOCTOR, Page 3

David Mayes/Staff

Dr. James Carpenter examines the tusks of a Muntjac, a small Asian deer, with the help of Sunset Zoo curator Mike Quick. Carpenter was appointed as head of Exotic Animal, Wildlife, and Zoo Animal Medicine in the College of Veterinary Medicine this semester.

UFM reviews costs needed for operation

By Sandy Hegarty Collegian Reporter

Cutting student funding of University for Man would cut 32 percent of the organization's operating money.

UFM director Richard Friesen said most of the student funds UFM receives are used to produce the UFM catalogs that list its courses and services.

"All the different budgets add up even though SGA doesn't look like much," Friesen said. "SGA funds are very crucial."

Friesen, David Stewart, chairman of the UFM board, and Barry Beck, coordinator of finances for Student Senate, answered questions about the UFM budget cuts in an informal forum Monday in the Union.

Beck said Senate didn't want students funding something that wasn't very beneficial.

"The benefits of UFM are not proportional to the costs of it," he said.

Friesen said many relevant questions were brought up during the forum. He said the most difficult question for him to answer was the dollar amount of student funds UFM would absolutely require to

"It's hard to pinpoint the amount we would need," he said. "I don't know where that magic line is. We would need to shut our door with no funding at all. If we're no longer doing classes we are no longer doing community education, so there is more funding lost.

"We would love to see UFM on a solid financial basis," Stewart said. "The future is quite uncertain at this time.

In the past couple of years, UFM has received an average of $10,000 annually ■ See UFM, Page 3

Altman returns 'home'

Former assistant 'excited' to be named 18th head basketball coach

By Scott Paske Sports Reporter

A two-day period of rumors, speculating and forecasting culminated Monday night at Manhattan Municipal Airport. Dana Altman has come home.

Altman, 31, who coached basketball at Marshall University last season, stepped off a Universitychartered airplane as the Wildcats' 18th head coach, succeeding Lon Kruger, the man he served for three years as an assistant from 1986-89.

"My wife and I and family are very excited to be back," Altman said. "It all happened very fast and really hasn't sunk in yet." Official word of Altman's hiring is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. today at a press conference in the K-State Union Big Eight Room. Altman arrived in Manhattan at 8:30 p.m. Monday to join family and friends. He is scheduled to meet with Wildcat players this

Athletic Director Steve Miller acknowledged a report Monday afternoon that Altman had been offered the job, citing the Wil-

See related story/Page 5 ber, Neb., native's close ties with the University and recruiting reputation as determining "I hired Dana because I thought he was the best guy," Miller said. "I think he's developed so many friendships and so many positive relationships on this campus and in the other parts of the state that it's a natural." Miller said Altman was offered a five-year contract with a base salary in excess of $80,000. The figure excludes all incentives. Altman's recruiting expertise at K-State is well-documented, as he is recognized as the man who brought all-America selection Mitch Richmond to Manhattan from Moberly (Mo.) Junior College. Prior to his tenure as Kruger's top assistant and recruiting coordinator, Altman posted a 94-18 record at Moberly, leading the Greyhounds to consecutive national tournament appearances.

A graduate of Eastern New Mexico, Altman began his coaching career as an assistant at Western State (Colo.) College from 1980-82. He guided Fairbury (Neb.) Junior College to a 29-6 record in 1982-83 and a third-place finish in the national tournament.

With the national letter-of-intent signing period beginning April 11 for community colleges and high school prospects, Altman said recruiting would be his immediate focus.

"It's a critical period," he said. "The signing date is eight days away and the two weeks after that are critical also as players continue to make visits.

■ See ALTMAN, Page 5

World

Iraq admits to binary weapons

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi President Saddam Hussein said for the first time Monday that his country has deadly binary nerve gas weapons, and he threatened to use them on Israel if the Jewish state attacks Iraq.

Binary weapons, usually artillery shells or missile warheads, contain two relatively safe compounds that combine to produce toxic nerve gases. They are outlawed under a 1925 treaty.

Iraq is already seen as a front-runner in a Middle East drive to develop arsenals of long-range and surface-to-surface missiles. Its development of chemical weapons, and possibly nuclear arms, has raised fears of an arms race in the volatile region.

In Israel, government officials warned Monday that Israel would retaliate if Hussein used chemical weapons against it. The U.S. State Department denounced Hussein's chemical weapons threat as "inflammatory, irresponsible and outrageous." Hussein, in a speech broadcast by Baghdad Radio, denied Iraq has nuclear weapons. Concerns about this were raised last week by the interception in London of 40 Iraqi-bound trigger devices that officials said were designed for nuclear bombs.

Lithuania wants gradual move

MOSCOW (AP) - Lithuania's president Monday invited Kremlin officials to Lithuania to discuss the republic's secession drive and struck a conciliatory note by saying Lithuania wants gradual, not immediate, full independence.

While government officials sought a compromise solution to the dispute, 1,000 pro-independence demonstrators rallied at the Lithuanian prosecutor's office to protest its occupation by Soviet Washington deplored Moscow for ordering all 100 foreign journalists in the republic to leave by Monday.

There was no immediate response from Moscow to the invitation from President Vytautas Landsbergis of Lithuania.

Landsbergis told Lithuanian legislators that officials face "political difficulties" in dealing with Lithuania's March 11 declaration of independence.

Nation

Buffalo restarts subway

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) - The region's transit agency voted Monday night to restart bus and subway service after a two-day shutdown forced soggy commuters to walk, bicycle or form car pools to get to work.

The Niagara Frontier Transportation Authority commissioners agreed to restart service as of 5:30 a.m. Tuesday after the last $3.7 million of a $15.6 million funding gap was erased by a combination of state and city grants and bookkeeping maneuvers by the county.

normal during the morning rush hour. "There may be a little disruption, but it won't be signific-

Executive Director Alfred Savage said service should be near ant," Savage said.

After the vote, NFTA Chairman Robert D. Gioia made a plea to riders: "We need you, and we need you back immediately."

The vote came 11 hours after the commissioners failed to approve a bailout package that included fare increases, the layoff of 125 of the system's 600 drivers and the end of all weekend

The new package includes the fare increases but envisions no service cuts beyond cancellation of a few outlying routes that were axed earlier this year.

Junction City couple slain

JUNCTION CITY (AP) - An Army officer and his wife were the victims of an apparent murder-suicide over the weekend in Junction City, investigators said Monday.

First Lt. James Edward McCoy, 27, a platoon leader at Fort Riley, apparently shot and killed his wife, Sheryl McCoy, 27, after she ran from their car in Junction City Saturday night.

McCoy was found fatally wounded in an apartment 10 blocks away about four hours later. Police said he died of a selfinflicted gunshot wound a short time later at Geary Community

Police said the shooting was the result of a domestic quarrel but disclosed no other motive.

Capt. Charles Winters, head of the police investigations division, said McCoy, who had been at Fort Riley since December 1988, apparently shot himself with a .380-caliber semi-automatic handgun that was recovered at the apartment. He said shell casings from a .380-caliber weapon were recovered at the homicide scene.

McCoy, who is from Salisbury, Md., was a firing platoon leader with Headquarters Battery, 4th Battalion, 5th Field Artil-lery, said Army spokesman Mark Meseke. He said the couple had two children.

Police said officers were called first about the woman's shooting and found McCoy dead from gunshot wounds.

Witnesses said the vehicle in which the couple had been riding sideswiped a parked car before the incident. As the vehicle neared an intersection, Sheryl McCoy got out and fled, with the man chasing her on foot.

Skinnydipping may be illegal

LAWRENCE (AP) — The Douglas County Commission may change the fact that current law doesn't cover nude swimming

Commissioners on Monday scheduled a public hearing for April 11 on a proposal that would prohibit nudity at the lake, which is southwest of town. Violators would be fined up to Local officials had assumed current laws prohibited nudity at the lake until some people told the sheriff last fall they planned to do some nude swimming, county administrator Chris McKenzie said.

The sheriff told the would-be skinny dippers they couldn't swim nude at Clinton Lake but later learned no laws forbid it, McKenzie said.

The county does have regulations prohibiting nude swimming or sunbathing at Lone Star Lake, which is also southwest of the city, McKenzie said.

Allocations to be considered

Student Senate will handle its second round of tentative allocations at 6 p.m. tonight in the Union Big Eight Room.

Allocations to be considered are $12,489.75 for the Fone Crisis Center, $12,480.72 for U-LearN, $7,159.65 for Sports Club Council and $2,898.50 for the K-State chapter of Associated Students of Kansas.

Finance Committee recommended a large increase for Sports Club Council, which received only $2,693.90 last year. The increase is due mainly to the addition of the Wildcat Triathlon Club, Water Ski Team, Rock Climbing Club, Lacrosse Club and Women's Rugby Club to the council. Also, large increases were recommended for Women's Soccer and Parachute Club.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Announcements

- Application packets for Rhodes and Marshall scholarships are available in Eisenhower 113 until Friday.
- K-State Dance Program will present Spring Dance '90 at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in McCain Auditorium,
- Deadline for registering for the mock LSAT is Friday. See receptionist in Eisenhower 113 for registration information.

Tuesday

- French Table will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom
- OWLS will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.
- Education Council will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont 106.
- Department of Geology will present "Retreat of the Yangtse Platform Margin, Guizhou, China," a seminar by Paul Enos, at 4 p.m. in Thompson ■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doc-
- toral dissertation of Marjorie Ann Williams at 9:30 a.m. in Bluemont 106. The topic will be "Curriculum Programming for Adolescent Parents: A Case Study with Implications for Kansas City, Mo., Schools." ■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doc-
- toral dissertation of Mark Stephen Smeltzer at 2 p.m. in the Veterinary Medicine Library, Trotter Hall. The topic will be "Iron Acquisition in Actinobacillus Pleuropneumoniae." ■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doc-
- toral dissertation of Byron William Jenson at 9:30 a.m. in Bluemont 257. The topic will be "College Music on the Konza Prairie: A History of Kansas State's Department of Music from 1863 to 1990."
- Wheat State Agronomy Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton 131. John Havlin will discuss cropping systems in India.
- Astronomy Club will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Cardwell 119 to discuss
- Circle K International will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 207.
- IIE Engineering Assembly will meet at 7 p.m. in Paslay Lecture Hall in Durland.
- Ad Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Kedzie Library.
- AATCC will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Justin 327 to bake cookies for Open
- Business Education Club Student Teacher Forum will meet at 7 p.m. in Bluemont 106.
- Spurs will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 208.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, sunny and warmer. High 60 to 65. Light southeast winds. Tonight, mostly clear. Low around 40. Wednesday, partly cloudy with a 20 percent chance for showers. High around 65.

YOUR FAVORITE SPECIALS from 8 p.m. to closing Sunday-Thursday.

APRIL 1-5:

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

IT'S NEVER BEEN SIMPLER!

- Loan Approval in as Little as 2 Days
- Largest Local Student Loan Lender. Over 30,000 Student Loans Processed.
- Let Our Professional In-House Staff Assist You with Your Next Student Loan.

Lender Code #821176

Suds Y'r Duds Laundry

Customer Appreciation Special Every Wednesday in the month of April Free dry with wash from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. 1453 Anderson Ave.

Westloop

Restaurant

Tuesday Coupon

Buy one entree and get the Second of equal or less for

99¢ (with coupon) (not valid with any other special)

Not good on delivery

Hair Design & Skin Care Studio

218 So. 4th (V.F.W. Plaza) Call for your appointment at 776-5651 SAT. HAIR EXTENSIONS-25% OFF RELAXERS/CURLS-15% OFF HAIR REMOVAL-15% OFF SHAMPOO/SETS-20% OFF 16 HIGHLIGHTS-20% OFF 23 SCULPTURED NAILS-15% OFF

Bring Calendar in for Service Desired.

ELECTRICAL AND COMPUTER ENGINEERING STUDENTS

Pre-Enrollment Advising Began Monday, March 19. EECE Students should make an appointment NOW with Professor Hunt in Durland 261

Students who obtain pre-enrollment advising are given priority in the department at the time of pre-enrollment.

DONUT LOVERS DOZEN

DOZEN

One Offer per Coupon

DOZEN

UPC to show 'Temptation'

Panel to discuss religious consequences of controversial movie about Christ

By Todd Fertig Collegian Reporter

A panel discussion will follow the showing of "The Last Temptation of Christ" in the K-State Union to allow viewers to share their opinions of the controversial film.

The movie, which is being presented by Kaleidoscope Films, has never been shown in Manhattan theaters. It will run in the Union Forum Hall at 3:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday.

Portraying Jesus Christ in an image deemed blasphemous by some, the movie has been a source of dispute since its release. Because of the controversy, many theaters refuse to show the movie.

The panel will consist of representatives from faculty and campus ministry who have varying opinions of the movie, committee chairwoman Shelby Shanks, senior in social sciences, said.

Anthony Schiappa, assistant professor of speech, will serve as mediator. Each panelist will be given a few minutes to express his particular opinion before the discussion is opened to the floor.

The Kaleidoscope committee, an entertainment committee of the Union Program Council, hopes that an open expression of opinions will help produce a better understanding of the movie and will promote consideration of the good and bad qualities of the movie, Shanks said.

"The Last Temptation of Christ" has been greeted in the past by protesters, picket lines and even bomb threats, said Paul Donovan, freshman in preprofessional secondary education and a Kaleidoscope member who helped organize the panel. Members of the committee anticipated adverse reactions when they decided to show the movie.

"For a while, we were expecting the worst," Donovan said. "We don't really know what to expect at the movie or in the discussion. We've tried to prepare for anything that might come up, but we're going to have to play it by ear."

Donovan said so far, no dissatisfaction has been expressed. He said he wouldn't be surprised if some form of protest occurred at or prior to the movie and that the committee encourages those opposed to the movie to participate in the discussion and to express their views openly. The committee intends to reply to protests with a statement of Kaleidoscope's intentions in presenting such films.

"We will say that we are just following our mission of showing movies of educational or artistic merit and are giving people the opportunity to make their own decisions,' Donovan said.

Shanks said the committee selects its films based upon artistic merit, critical acclaim or quality of filmmaking craft. She described these movies as non-mainstream.

"We deal with some topics that some might consider controversial," Shanks said. "But the purpose of Kaleidoscope is to provide an opportunity for people to see movies they might not get to see otherwise. We feel it is the people's right to make up their own minds about the issues which make the movies controversial."

The committee knew of the movie's reputation, but Shanks said Kaleidoscope has an obligation to provide the opportunity to see the movie as a service to the public.

Though she supports the expressions of those opposed to the film, as a member of the panel, Witmer said she hopes that opposition doesn't hinder the educational possibilities of the movie.

"Personally, I have no problem with the movie," Witmer said. "I am able to accept that there are some people who object to some things in the movie. However, I am frustrated by those who haven't seen it, yet are openly opposed to others seeing it.'

Sheryl Witmer, program director of the University Parrish of United Methodists will be one of the panel members. She said she read the book on which "The Last Temptation of Christ" is based while in seminary school. She said the book helped her realize the humanness of Jesus, something she said was important in her Christian development. Witmer said, however, that many of the messages contained in the book aren't successfully conveyed by the movie, making Christian principles less evident.

"I hope that Kaleidoscope is able to set up the right element to expose the beneficial things in the movie," Witmer said. "I don't see it as an evangelism tool by any means, but it's a movie with a human side. Anyone who struggles with sin in life can relate to the portrayal of Christ in this story."

The potential for controversy made the Kaleidoscope committee hesitant to show "The Last Tempta-tion of Christ," Donovan said. However, he said, the committee believes in the importance of its mission and shouldn't be discouraged by resistance.

"If something like this should come up again, hopefully we wouldn't back down if we felt the movie was of merit," Donovan said. "If we have a bad experience with this movie, I don't think it should scare us off from showing another potentially controversial

Doctor

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Carpenter said.

The clinic receives referral cases from several states, Carpenter said. This is the appropriate place for these cases because we have the expertise and support services," Carpenter said. Brightman said none of the neighboring veterinary colleges have similar programs, and he said he expects a continued increase in referrals to K-

The exotic animal staff consists of Carpenter and temporary instructor Karen Munana, who will be replaced by an intern in June. Carpenter said the two consult heavily with experts in medicine, surgery, toxicology, anesthesiology and physiology, depending on the case.

"Nobody can be an expert on all these animals," he said.

Brightman described Carpenter's job as one of funneling referrals to experts in the college. Working with exotic animals is always a team effort, Carpenter said.

"I have found without exception that faculty are not only willing to participate, but are also excited about exotic animal work," Carpenter said.

After he came to the University, Carpenter outlined needs he saw in the exotic animal program. Inadequate space needs were alleviated by increased surgery and intensive care areas, expanding wards for each species, and providing a separate examination room with a conference room

The resulting doubling in space for exotic animal work is encouraging, Carpenter said.

"Most of the staff and faculty recognize the importance of exotics," he said.

Interest in the program is strong not only among faculty, but also with graduate and post-graduate students, Brightman said. The program meets a long-time desire for training in exotic animal medicine, he said.

Carpenter also works as the veterinarian in charge of health care at the Sunset Zoo. Although his previous work has been primarily with wildlife and birds, he said he looks forward to working with reptiles and primates at the zoo as well.

Carpenter wants to build an extinction awareness among the nearly 50 students he gets a chance to work with each year.

"If we can help foster a conservation ethic in these students, when they go out, they can take that ethic with them and translate it into something productive," Carpenter said.

According to an article Carpenter published in Zoo Biology, the pressure on wildlife species from environmental pollution and agricultural and urban expansion is increasing. Between 1980 and the year 2000, 25 percent of all animal and plant species could be lost. More than 500 species and subspecies of animals and plants have become extinct in the United States since 1620.

"I think it's too easy for us to get too focused on our own little problems, our own little ecosystem, rather than seeing the bigger problem," Carpenter said.

The biggest cause of extinction is habitat destruction, he said. In many areas of the world, people are destroying forests, draining wetlands, expanding urbanization and chemically contaminating the environment.

Carpenter said that although the Patuxent center is a leader in research on known contaminants, work there is minimal when compared with future problems.

"We don't know what the longterm problems are when (new contaminants) get into the food chain," Carpenter said.

Countries including the Soviet Union and Japan are making efforts at wildlife conservation, but many developing countries are not, Carpenter said. Understanding habitat destruction is an unaffordable luxury where people face poverty and starvation.

"It's hard to put our standards onto these countries," he said. "It's hard to tell people who are starving to preserve habitats and not make them into farms."

Panorama of Music begins tonight

Composer, pianist bring varied talents to annual festival

By Donna Warren Collegian Reporter

Composer, conductor and percussionist William Kraft and jazz pianist and musicologist James Dapogny are the featured artists in the Panorama of American Music that begins today and lasts all week.

Craig Parker, associate professor of music, originated the idea for a festival emphasizing American music. He said the main reason the festival was started was to make the community aware of the various started in 1987.

Each year at the festival, a prominent American composer in residence at K-State presides over concerts, surveying their musical output, Parker said. The composers lecture and present master classes to K-State students and to student composers from U.S.D. 383.

Parker said a composer is brought to the festival to help dispel the notion people have that all great music is written by dead people. This also gives students the chance to see composers with national and international reputations.

This year's composer in residence is William Kraft. Kraft, a visiting professor of composition from the University of California, Los Angeles, was a member of the Los Angeles Philharmonic for 26 years as percussionist, timpanist and assistant conductor.

Kraft's compositions have been commissioned by many of the major orchestras and chamber ensembles in the United States, Parker said. Kraft has also written film and television scores, including several for episodes of the TV series "Ripley's Believe It or Not." More than 30 of his compositions have been commercially recorded and several have been nominated for the Pulitzer Prize. "Kraft is one of the most significant composers in America today and sion composer," Parker said. While at K-State, Kraft will conduct the KSU Percussion Ensemble

12-5

Sun.

probably the world's greatest percusin three children's concerts April 4, present master classes to K-State and U.S.D. 383 students, and conduct a concert of his compositions at 8 p.m. Friday in All Faiths Chapel.

The festival officially begins tonight at 8 with a concert of big band music by the KSU Concert Jazz Ensemble directed by Ben Rohrer.

Other events for the festival will include a concert of 19th century American vocal music by the Konza Quartet at 8 p.m. Wednesday, a concert of music composed by K-State students at 11:30 a.m. Thursday and a concert of music by Kansas composers at 8 p.m. Thursday. All of these concerts will be in All Faiths Chapel and are free to the public.

UFM

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

from fund-raising campaigns. Friesen said they are finding it difficult to send out the yearly fundraising letter, however.

"It's tough to send out fundraising letters when there are threats of shutting down," Friesen said. "We need to be able to say that UFM will exist before sending out a letter or it year."

won't be very productive."

The Student Senate wants to benefit as many students as possible, Beck said. The question is who will benefit most from the funds.

Friesen said UFM offers several opportunities for students, including internship programs, which can also be used for course credit.

"We are also offering more internships this year than ever," Friesen said. "It has been a very productive

Old Texthook Sale

SALE BOOKS PRICED AT ONLY $299 OR LESS!

- ·Hundreds of new & used textbooks
- Various fields of study
- ·Some previously used at K-State
- Some from other universities
- Old editions
- Wholesaler overstock

Don't pass up this great opportunity to add to your personal library at a fraction of the regular cost!

9-9 Mon.-Sat.

April 4, 7:00 p.m. Engineering Fresh. & Soph. Paper Tower Design Contest April 6, 12:00

AUDITION

for 1990-1991

K-STATE SINGERS

April 2-5

Soprano, Alto, Tenor, Bass Voices Piano and Drums

Info: McCain 229

EDITORIAL

New York trip sobering, yet unsobering

e're cruising at 28,000 feet and I can see the lights of what I think is Chicago slowly passing below us, fading to the north as we head home to Kansas City. The last bottle of rum is long since empty and I think I'm going to have to call the flight attendant for another of these damned expensive airplane drinks. But what the hell. It's cheaper than most places in New

New York. The Big Apple. The city that doesn't sleep. Party capital of the world. We did it all, or at least as much as a group of halfcrazed journalist types can do in five days and live to tell about it.

When the chance came to attend a college journalism conference in New York the week after spring break, I jumped at the opportunity and started packing my bags. Spring break was already turning into a week of hell. So I said goodbye to it all and left instructions on what to do with my possessions if I didn't return. After all, we are talking about New York.

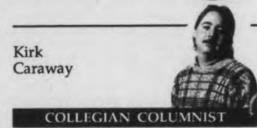

We stayed five days in the other Manhattan, an island separated from the mainland by the Hudson, East and Harlem rivers. A Dutchman named Peter Minuit "bought" the island for about 60 guilders worth of fishhooks and glass beads from the Indians who lived there. The Indians had no concept of owning land, but accepted the presents to humor these strangers from across the sea.

I wonder how Donald Trump would deal with an idea like that - no land ownership, no real estate agents, no landlords. I should have asked him these questions when we ran into him at Trump Tower. Tomari and I were coming down the escalator when we noticed the king of New York, flanked by four bodyguards, walking towards us.

"Hey Don, there are some people outside who say this isn't your land. Any comment?" "Tell Ivana she's not getting the Tower! She's already getting $150 million! Does she think I'm made of money or something?" I guess Donald is having enough problems as it is without bringing up land rights of the American Indian. But hey, half of $5 billion isn't peanuts.

Peanuts. Just another of the items we got from the Indians. More than 60 percent of what the world eats was developed by the American Indian. The pilgrims would have starved had it not been for the kindness and generosity of their native hosts. I wonder what contact my ancestors had with the Indians when they invaded the country in 1642.

That was only 150 years after the Indians discovered Columbus and saved him from his mutinous crew. Columbus thanked the Indians by killing a couple of million of them. And for this, we honor him with a national

As children growing up in this country, we learned a sanitized version of history, clean of any reference to the contributions of the Indians. I grew up next to the Missouri River where several Indian tribes made their homes. Yet, I cannot tell you a single thing about their history or, more importantly, where they are now.

It's funny what the drone of jet engines and Chippewa word meaning cutthroat.

a couple of rum and cokes can make you think about. Rum, from the islands Columbus called the West Indies. There are no Indians there now. They are extinct, their bones scattered by their European murderers.

e went to Staten Island one night on the ferry and drank a few beers as we sailed away from the tall towers of Manhattan and past the Statue of Liberty. It welcomes those invaders from across the ocean to come to this "empty" land and make their homes.

We waited for the next boat back to Manhattan, sitting in the ferry terminal full of homeless people, drunks and drug addicts. Indians used to roam the shores of this island until 350 years ago when Willem Kieft ordered their massacre while they slept. Men, women and children were bayoneted while they slept and their villages were burnt to the ground. There are no Indians here now.

I gaze out the window to the west at the dark ground with a few scattered lights. South Dakota is out there somewhere, home of what is left of the Lakota Indian Nation. We call them Sioux, a French version of a

They have tried to gain their independence from their white masters for 150 years. Just as the people in Lithuania want independence, the Lakota want to be free. No government handouts or forced dependency. If we can hail the Lithuanians for their courage and act to see them free, why can't we press for the freedom of those Indian nations that want it?

Soon we'll be landing in Missouri, from there we'll drive across eastern Kansas to Manhattan, the little apple. Missouri, Kansas and Manhattan are all names of Indian tribes, yet I've never seen any there.

The tens of millions of Indians that roamed this continent before Columbus have dwindled down to just a few. The laws of nature dictate that a population of living beings, given adequate resources for life, will reproduce and become larger. And while the settlers' numbers have risen, the Indians are close to extinction. Out of sight, out of mind. That was Hitler's solution too.

New York, by the way, was great. We did our share of fear and loathing, and the city may never be the same. But then, most things never are.

Blue jean day serves to increase awareness

Blue jeans made more than a fashion statement Monday.

The Gay and Lesbian Resource Center proclaimed Monday as "Wear Blue Jeans to Support Gay and Lesbian Rights" day. GLRC did not promote the event before Monday, causing outcry among people who resented being linked to homosexual rights.

That was the whole point, though. GLRC designed the event to raise consciousness, to show the people who ridicule or discriminate against homosexuals another perspective. Gay men and lesbians don't choose to be homosexual any more than the people against them jeans.

Had GLRC given advance notice, the point would not have been made. As it was, many people were angry at being caught unaware. Would they have been upset if the blue jeans symbolized civil rights, women's rights or the rights of any other minority? Why is homosexuality still such a black-and-white, all-or-nothing issue?

Some may argue that blue jeans day only served to further alienate homosexuals, but chances are these people are the ones who will never understand a minority point of view. People with open minds or opening minds - may have chose to support gay and lesbian benefited from the opportunity to rights Monday by wearing blue see life for the day from another perspective.

Kruger's departure leaves only questions

Lon Kruger is the new basketball coach at the University of with one man, and that man is re-Florida.

That's a fact.

are having a tough time why Lon Kruger is the head coach understanding.

Why would a man leave his alma was said to be. mater for a job at a university with a scrutiny? Why would a man leave school-record fourth-straight NCAA tourney for a job at a school where there may not even be basketball next year?

Why, why, why?

demi-god of sorts. He was the native son coaching at the school at which he had played. He succeeded his coach as coach, and all was way, and that's what Kruger was well.

Or was it?

EDITOR

MANAGING EDITOR

NEWS EDITOR.

SPORTS EDITOR

PEATURES EDITOR

ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR.

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR.

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR...

Kruger faced ongoing recruiting challenges that never went away at K-State. Now he's gone away. But why?

The answer to that question lies ally at a loss for any concrete answers himself at this point. Lon And it's a fact that many people Kruger says he doesn't even know at Florida now. A career move, it

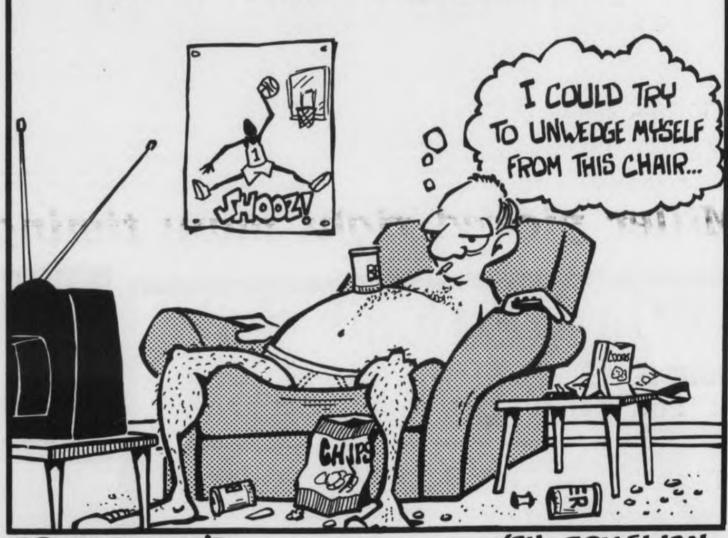

Kruger should be commended basketball program under NCAA for taking a K-State program that was struggling four years ago and the school that he had taken to a turning it around virtually overnight. He should be commended for giving his alma mater a degree of class rarely seen in college athletics today.

And he should be commended Kruger had a situation at K-State , for having the sense to hire Dana where he was the king of campus, a Altman, K-State's new coach, as his top assistant when he came back to Manhattan in 1986.

> Lon gave Dana to K-State, in a all about - giving.

> It's just too bad he hasn't been able to give K-State an answer to the question the whole campus and state is still asking: Why, Lon, why?

SPORTS NUT ARNIE WIDDLE MAKES HIS PLANS FOR THE WEEK BETWEEN THE END OF THE NCAA BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT AND OPENING DAY OF MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL ...

New art needed

Editor,

We are writing in response to the editorial, "New, aesthetic artwork should replace mobile," that appeared in the Collegian March 19. At last, a chance to update our art collection on campus is in front of us. The permanent removal of the mobile from the Union courtyard is the first step toward improving the K-State art collection. We agree that the mobile is no longer symbolic of the entire student population. However, simply replacing the mobile with a new piece that would be displayed for another 20 years is not a

By making the courtyard a rotating exhibit area, students could experience many different types and pieces of art. By obtaining works from donations or university loan-out programs the display area could change at the beginning of each school year, leaving the work displayed long enough to be appreciated while offering the opportunity for many styles of art to be shown.

It is time for K-State students to become aware of the artwork around them on campus. We urge the student population to take this rare opportunity and act. Let's open the courtyard to many artists and styles by putting the 20 year-old mobile away and bringing in a rotating display area.

Jill Holzmeister sophomore in elementary education and 11 others

Event a trick

...... Paula Selby Catherine Doud ... Craig Hamrick

... Eric Henry ...Brad Camp ...Chris Hays

...Julie Andsager ......Jim Rourk

Ellen Dayton, Susan L'Ecuyer Robert Short

I am writing regarding the event sponsored by the Gay and Lesbian Resource Center, Wear Blue Jeans to Support Gay and Lesbian Rights" day. Imagine my surprise when I walked into a room Monday morning and people started snickering about the fact that I was wearing jeans! I was confused, and asked for an explanation. They pointed out the notice in the Campus Bulletin section of the Collegian about the event.

My original surprise quickly turned to anger. The vast majority of students on this campus wear jeans to class daily, which is no doubt the reason this particular action was chosen. I'm sure I was not the only one who was totally unaware that this event was scheduled - I looked through Friday's Collegian, and was unable to find any reference to Supporting a given group, any group, should be a conscious, informed decision. I resent being manipulated into "making a statement" by the way I dress. This whole event was nothing more than a childish, irresponsible publicity stunt on the part of the GLRC. If their goal is truly to establish support and better relations with the student body, they would do well to consider their efforts a bit more carefully. Alienation is not an effective public relations tool.

Wendy R. Justice senior in park resource management

Coercion prevalent

Matt Wasko makes a strong case against choice in his editorial published last Tuesday (try as he might to make it seem unbiased).

There is something very fundamental in the anti-choice movement which really bothers me and keeps me on the other side of the fence: There seems to be a strong element of coercion in the basic tenets of the pro-life doctrine. One hears nothing in their pronouncements which indicates a concern for the life or welfare of the mother who must bear the child. Neither have I heard a whole lot about what they propose to do with all these children they would force women to bear against their will. They cry constantly for the life of the unborn child but what about the life of the child once it has emerged?

It would seem that pro-life is not so much a doctrine of concern but one of force. The simple fact is that it provides a lot of folks the opportunity to impose their will on a relatively defenseless segment of the population. They have no concern for what happens after they have forced the mother to bear the unwanted child.

How about if all pro-life women volunteer their uteruses and have those unwanted fetuses implanted so that they might be brought into the world by women who want them? Think they'd do it? Don't plan on a run on maternity wards ...

> Dennis Chappell graduate student in business

GUEST COLUMNS to the Collegian are encouraged. The column should be no longer than two doublespaced typed pages, and the author will be notified if it will run in order to be photographed.

Send submissions to the Collegian in Kedzie 116.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. Letters should be kept as brief as possible. All letters are subject to editing on the basis of space, style and taste.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to Kedzie

COPY CHIEF The Kansas State Collegian (USI'S 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hali 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and Monday and Thursday during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhat-News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

Altman arrives to replace Kruger

By David Svoboda Sports Reporter

Steve Miller is convinced he's chosen the right man, and Dana Altman is hoping his new boss is

For the K-State athletic director and his new men's head basketball coach, the 72 hours just gone by were a bumpy ride down an emotional highway.

But Miller and Altman ended up in the same place with the same conclusion.

After Lon Kruger told Miller late Saturday evening of his plans to resign, Miller went to work, first trying to keep his coach in Manhattan, and then trying to find a suitable replacement.

That replacement, as it turns out, found Miller. Altman, formerly the head coach at Marshall, wanted the job that badly.

"It was a kind of funny turn of events," Altman said Monday night, just moments after stepping off the University-chartered flight from Huntington, W.Va. "He (Miller) talked with the athletic director at Marshall (former K-State assistant AD Lee Moon), but I was unable to contact the athletic director at Marshall, and I wanted to talk to him

"So I eventually talked to Lee and then I talked to Steve. Basically, I made those contacts because I really felt like they'd do something quick, and I was very excited about the possibility of maybe coming back to Manhattan.'

When Miller started his search, there were "three or four variables" he was looking for in a coach. He thinks he's found them in Altman.

"Knowing the territory was important. When I say knowing the territory, I'm talking about everything from knowing the players to knowing the coaches, to knowing the people, to knowing the University, to knowing the constituents. That was very, very important," Miller said, in recounting his first change everything."

Miller's second criteria was expertise. "Dana's expertise is probably going to be said to be recruiting, but people tell me he's a pretty good bench coach," Miller said. And No. 3?

"No. 3 is familiarity," Miller said. "That's the familiarity I referred to in the beginning and more. Familiarity with our current players, familiarity with those people involved with the program. Understanding the mentality, and understanding what Lon did in those four years, with Lon is important. Altman made his familiarity while still maintaining a close tie

"This program has been strong and it always will be strong," he said of K-State. "The great coaches that

I did not hire Dana because I was worried about him recruiting during this period. I hired Dana because I thought he was the best

- Steve Miller athletic director

have passed through here - (Jack) Gardner, Tex Winter, Cotton Fitzsimmons, Jack Hartman and Coach Kruger — extended that. I just hope I can hold up the tradition and continue what those guys have always had in place here.

Miller's final requirement, in a day and age where collegiate sports are marred by scandal, was finding a coach whose character was above reproach. "I think the fourth thing is that you want a guy with integrity," he said. "You want a guy like Lon. Lon has good attributes. You don't say 'we're making a change, so let's

"He (Altman) has some similar attributes. Finally, I think he's a great team player. I think he's for the University in general, he's for the basketball program specifically, but he's a team guy."

It was that "team guy" nature that made Altman's decision to leave Marshall after just one season such a difficult one for him.

"When you're 30 and you get the opportunity to coach a Division I basketball team, you appreciate that," Altman said of the chance Marshall gave him last year. "The people at Marshall were very good to me, and I didn't take that lightly.

"But I also realize that your opportunities to coach at a school with the tradition Kansas State has are not ones that are going to come along very often. So, after giving it some consideration, the opportunity to come home — or close to home made it a pretty easy decision."

Miller appreciated the tough nature of the decision Altman had to

"I think that's why, when we discussed it at the outset, he (Altman) said 'Gee, I don't know," Miller said. "I think loyalty's an issue. But loyalty depends upon in whose eyes you're looking. I think that we had Dana's loyalty, and we have it, because he's been involved in this program."

Miller wanted to make sure the rapid-fire hiring of Altman was not misconstrued.

"I did not hire Dana because I was worried about him recruiting during this period," Miller said of the week leading to signing day April 11. "I hired Dana because I thought he was the best guy. People have said to me in this process 'don't hire anyone too soon.' I agree with that.

"But if I waited until after the recruiting period, I wondered what kind of person would go through a negotiating process, continue to recruit his kids, sign those kids, and then come to Kansas State? That left me very, very dry."

After Lon Kruger headed for Florida, Wildcat athletic director Steve Miller hired former Kruger assistant Dana Altman (right).

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 "Those people who follow K-State basketball know we need some players. We lose a player in Steve Henson who is impossible to replace, and with those four frontliners leaving, it's going to be a tough chore.

Altman

Sophomore center John Rettiger, one of several current players recruited by Altman and Kruger, echoed teammates' opinions that Altman was a favorite to get the job.

"He's a great guy and a good coach," Rettiger said. "Just being an assistant under Coach Kruger is good enough for me.'

Altman said NCAA probationary sanctions placed on Marshall two

He's a great guy and a good coach. - John Rettiger, basketball player weeks ago did not affect his decision to leave the Huntington, W.V., school.

"We went through a lot this season and had gotten very close," Altman said. "I had talked everybody into staying because our five seniors were able to go (because of NCAA rules regarding probation). And now I was leaving them.'

No Marshall players are expected to transfer to K-State, Altman said. He added that he would not name his assistant coaches until after the Marshall vacancy was filled by Thundering Herd athletic director and former K-State administrator Lee Moon.

"I'm hoping that one of my staff members will be hired at Marshall," Altman said. "So I'm waiting to see what happens there, and I'll make a decision on my staff as soon as they clear up that situation."

Marshall's assistant coaches include Dwight Freeman, Bob Marlan and Greg White.

Altman is married to the former Reva Phillips of Stranton, Neb. They have three children: Jordan, Chase and Spencer.

Miller picked right man; timing now key for Altman

Chris Hays

As far as Athletic Director Steve

IT'S JUST MADNESS

Miller was concerned Saturday night, he probably didn't think he had much of a choice.

Late Saturday, of course, was when Miller was first informed by Lon Kruger that the fourth-year coach had decided to take the Florida post.

It couldn't have been too long after Miller realized it wasn't just a bad dream, before he decided he had better get in touch with Dana

Besides the fact that Altman has already proved himself as a competent basketball coach, due to the time involved, he was really the only choice as a replacement for Kruger.

Today at 9:30 a.m., that choice will become a reality when Miller makes the announcement at the K-State Union Big Eight Room, and it may be the only decision Miller will ever make that doesn't draw a barrage of criticism.

There are always skeptics, especially in athletics, and Miller knows that better than anyone. But I have to think that Miller may have been wrong Sunday when he said that whatever his decision, he would be criticized.

Nobody in their right mind would criticize this move. Altman is the man for the job, and, with K-State in dire need of filling a very large hole in the basketball program, Altman couldn't have come along at a better time.

He may have opted to fulfill his commitment at Marshall, where he took over a down-trodden program last year - a program which eventually was slapped with NCAA sanctions after former coach Rick Huckaby left it in a shambles.

Altman was even instrumental in a marked turnaround in his first season at Marshall, going 15-13 overall and 9-5 in the Southern Conference, good enough for a second-place

But Altman opted to come "home," as he called it, and help repair the damage. And, with NCAA national signing day set for next Wednesday, Altman has some quick mending to do if he hopes to secure the recruits that Kruger had already established communications with. For the Wildcats sake, Miller moved fast enough to assure any player being recruited by K-State that the program is still as stable as it was before Kruger chose to go his separate way.

At least it will assure the current Wildcat players, all of whom were recruited by Altman. Senior-to-be Jean Derouillere even said Tuesday that Altman's choice as the head coach would be a favorite among the players.

So the move to hire Altman should help to keep the Wildcats' team cohesiveness intact.

The problem surrounding Altman, however, will be reviving the interest among K-State's hopeful recruits. The shock of the news that Kruger was leaving may have been all a prospective Wildcat needed to hear if he was weighing his decision between K-State and another

What Altman has going for him is his experience as a recruiter and the contacts that he has already made with the K-State program while em ployed as a Wildcat assistant.

He proved that he could make the big sell at Moberly Community College in Springfield, Mo., which is not your average basketball hotbed by any means.

But Altman proved he could talk the recruting lingo with the best of them by landing the likes of former Wildcats Charles Bledsoe and Fred McCoy, and also, his most famous recruit, former all-American and last year's NBA rookie of the year Mitch Richmond.

Altman's credentials are welldocumented, and he could be headed for a bright future. But let's hope, for a while, that he doesn't find that future in greener pastures.

Hamilton leaves O-State

By The Associated Press

MIAMI - Leonard Hamilton, lured from Oklahoma State by what he described as unlimited potential at the University of Miami, became the Hurricanes' new basketball coach Monday.

Hamilton, 41, said the decision to accept the job was a difficult one. Miami's program last winter averaged just 2,000 fans for home games and has yet to earn a post-

Steve Wolgast/File

Oklahoma State coach Leonard Hamilton announced Monday that he is taking the coaching position at the University of Miami-Florida.

season tournament berth since the school resumed basketball in 1985 after a 15-year hiatus. But Hamilton said he has high expectations. We would like very much to compete on the highest level," he said. "I feel the potential here at Miami is unlimited.

"You have a great, great city with a lot of things going on that you can sell to a young man. And more than anything else, there are a lot of (potential) recruits in this "To be honest with you, we didn't enjoy those things in Stillwater, Okla.

Hamilton had a 56-63 record in four years with the Cowboys. They were 17-14 last season, with seven losses to Top Ten teams, and reached the second round of the NIT.

Hamilton went to Oklahoma State after 12 years as an assistant coach with Kentucky. He helped the Wildcats win the 1978 national championship and earned a reputation as a strong recruiter. Hamilton succeeds Bill Foster, who resurrected the Miami program and announced last fall that he would resign after the season. The Hurricanes were 78-71 under Foster, including 13-15 the past year.

Hamilton's decision comes just one day after K-State coach Lon Kruger was also lured away by a school from the Sunshine State Florida.

takes title

By The Associated Press DENVER - The NCAA's ultimate Rebel won its biggest prize. UNLV ended the tournament of thrills and close finishes with the largest margin of victory in a championship game, a 103-73 win over Duke on Monday night.

Jerry Tarkanian, the coach who fought the NCAA in the courts for the past 15 years, guided UNLV to its first national title and Duke continued as the school with the most frustrating of postseason records.

The Runnin' Rebels became the first team to score more than 100 points in the championship game. They are also the first preseason No. 1 to win the title since North Carolina in 1982 and the first Western team since UCLA won in 1975.

They did it with the style they have made famous — tenacious man-to-man defense — as they rattled Duke, a team known for its savvy and poise.

The Rebels literally stole the title from Duke, which was making its eighth Final Four appearance. The Blue Devils went home again without a trophy, extending the longest streak of national semifinal futility.

UNLV broke the tournament record for steals in a game with 16, eclipsing the mark set by Duke in the 1986 championship game and matched by Oklahoma in the 1988 title game.

The Runnin' Rebels also set a record for most points scored in a tournament with 571, just better than their regular-season average of 92.3. Until Monday night, the largest margin of victory in a championship game was 23 points, when UCLA beat North Carolina 78-55 in 1968.

For Tarkanian, the man who sits on the bench looking as though it pains him to watch his team win, getting the trophy capped a long battle with the NCAA, which ordered the school to suspend him for violations. He went to court for an injunction and the case eventually reached the Supreme Court, which ruled in favor of the NCAA.

But no court could stop the Runnin' Rebels on Monday night.

UNLV managed a 10-point lead just 7:26 into the game as the Rebels forced Duke into turnover after turnover, mostly by simply stealing the

They scored the first points of the game, and never trailed.

Duke, which averaged 17.2 turnovers per game this season, had 14 at halftime and 10 of those were on steals by the Rebels.

The first 10-point lead came on a sequence of four UNLV steals in four consecutive possessions — the last was by Stacey Augmon, who took the ball from Phil Henderson near midcourt and sailed in for a dunk. That made it 21-11.

The lead extended to 41-25 with 3:46 left in the half as UNLV contested every pass made by Duke. The Rebels had 16 points off turnovers in the first half as they took a 47-35 halftime lead.

Duke got within 10 points, 57-47, with 16:24 to play, but the larcenous crew from just off The Strip went to it

Men golfers 6th

Staff and Wire Reports WICHITA — Led by fresh-man Richard Laing, the K-State men's golf team is in sixth place at the second annual Shocker Classic after two rounds of play Monday. K-State posted a first-round score of 309, and a second-round tally of 318 for 627 total.

Texas Wesleyan, the num-ber one team in the nation in NAIA rankings, is leading the 13-team field with a 596. After the first two rounds, Laing is battling for the individual title, Laing's 145 is a single stroke off tournament leader Richard Blackwell's Other K-State scores include: Jeff Sedorcek, 155;

Chris Thompson, 162; Brett

Vuillemin, 166; and Bobby Donnellan, 175. Women in 12th

Staff and Wire Reports NORMAN, OKLA. - The K-State women's golf team ran into early trouble Monday at the Sue Berning Classic, and are currently in the 12th and final position after 27 holes.

The 26th-ranked Oklahoma Sooners are leading the field with a 473.

Chris Adams tops the K-State golfers with a 131. Other Wildcat scores include: Theresa Coyle, 137; Jill Zientara, 140; Valerie Hahn, 140; and Ashley Johnson, 149.

BOOKS

FOR

CHILDREN

30-50% off Hundreds of

Special Sale Books

PLUS

10% off ALL Childrens

Books In Stock

*GREAT SELECTION!

*GREAT SALE PRICES!

*FREE HELIUM BALLOONS

April 1-14

"We sell more than just textbooks"

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch;
Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4.30 p.m. two days before publication.)
Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

Announcements

BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics. Janet Millken, 539-9469.

WIN A HAWAIIAN VACATION OR BIG SCREEN TV PLUS RAISE UP TO $1,400 IN JUST 10 DAYS!

Objective: Fundraiser Commitment: Minimal Money: Raise $1,400 Cost: Zero Investment Campus organi-ations, clubs, frats, sororities can OCMC at 1 (800)932-0528/1 (800)950-8472 ext.

Live from Manhattan, Collegetown, U.S.A. Heartbreak City...it's...

Everyone is Welcome to Hear Lem Howard on SUCCESS=SATISFACTION? Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity 1632 McCain Ln Tuesday, April 3, 10 p.m. Door prize from Kennedy's Claim

Sponsored by: Campus Crusade for Christ

Westloop Shopping Center 776-6864

Computer Furniture Machine Stands

10-20% OFF

Sale thru April 14

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nalls —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

532-6555

SALES OPPORTUNITY of the nineties, full/ part-time.

Present image improvement tools to women and men. Color analysis, beautycare, wardrobing and fashion accessories. Excellent income, flexible hours. Ms. Swanson, 7431 Qulvira Road, Box 140, Shawnee, Karsas 66216. (913)631-0472.

ON CAMPUS

ENROLL NOW! Three Ad Production Internships available for Fall 1990

Title of course: Publications Practice, 1 credit hour, JMC 360. Must attend 8:30-11:30 a.m. one day a week. You pick the day based on availability. The class is held in Kedzie 113. .

The experience you gain here increases the chance of a PAID part-time position on staff the following semester.

Come to Kedzie 113 immediately for more information and instructor's permission.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193.

AUDITION

K-State Singers

2 Apartments—Furnished

A LARGE two-bedroom sublease, 1010 Thurston. Everything— central air, full kitchen, etc. $399 negotiable, 537-3346.

FOR AUGUST or June. Next to KSU. Deluxe two-bedroom apartment for three people. $440, 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR THE next school year. Luxurious two-bedroom apartment. Near campus at 363 N. 14th. Central air, laundry, balcony, new carpet and off-street parking. $425. 537-0428.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. 539-1465.

NEXT TO campus—Apartment complex, 1832 Claffin Road across Goodnow and Marlatt. One bedroom, furnished, central air, off-street parking, quiet. Evenings 539-2707. ONE- AND two-bedroom close to campus. Available June or August. Call 537-4648 between 4-6p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM EFFICIENT apartment for one per son. Near campus. Quiet conditions, ample park-ing. Available June 1, $215 a month. 776-3624. ROOMMATE WANTED: Non-smoker, luxurious threebedroom apartment. Very close to campus. Cal 776-7698.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

1219 KEARNEY. Basement. One— two bedrooms. Gas/ water included. June lease, $250. No pets. 539-5136.

814 THURSTON, carpeted, efficiency. Gas/ water included. June lease, $235. No pets. 539-5136. EFFICIENCY APARTMENT, $195 per month. Gas, heat and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings and weekends.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location, Coin-operated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required. $290. 539-1465.

"Doesn't every Pre-med deserve a choice?"

Tom Garcia, M.D. (UAG '75) Cardiologist Houston, Texas

"The right choice was there when I needed it. I made that choice, and now I'm a physician. My alma mater may be just right for you. It's your choice."

Universidad Autónoma de Guadalajara School of Medicine Guadalajara, Mexico

The International Choice

For your free video preview call: 1-800-531-5494

PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one bedroom. Close to campus. 776-8381.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $355 per month.
Across street from Ahearn Field House, Available
June 1, Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings and weekends.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM near campus. $375/ month including utilities. No pets. No smokers. Available April 1, Call 776-1714.

ONE- AND two-bedroom apartments near campus and Westloop area. Call 776-1340.

K-Rentals

Efficiency $200 1 Bedroom $250 2 Bedroom $290

3 Bedroom $450 539-8401

Wildcat Inn

Three locations of one bedroom apartments still available for June or August leasing. $310-340.

Call for more information. 776-3804

McCullough

5 Automobile for Sale

McCullough

1972 PONTIAC Lemans, four-door, runs good. Call

PCF Management

Efficiency $200

1 bedroom $250

2 bedroom $290

776-4805-539-8401

Sunset

Apartments

Now leasing for June or August. One bedroom.

$280-295. Central Air.

Gas, Heat & Laundry

539-5051

after 5:30

Facilities.

776-3804

1979 VW Rabbit, four-door, air conditioning, stereo. Good exterior, great interior, $650. Perfect for the woman or "man-about-town." Also good for road trips. 539-5393, please leave message.

1984 PORSCHE 944. 75,000 miles. Excellent condition. $12,000. Call 776-7698, ask for Ted.

1985 PLYMOUTH Voyager LE van. One owner, excel lent condition, air conditioning, AM/FM, standard. See for yourself. $7,450. 784-5717 after 6p.m. FOR SALE: 1983 Jeep, CJ7, four-speed, new top, excellent condition. $4,500 or best offer. 537-8987.

(Continued on page 7)

Ben Franklin Better quality for less

Weekdays

until 6 p.m.

Saturdays

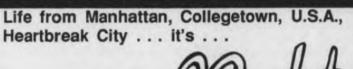

until 4 p.m.

through Sunday, April 8, 1990

Westloop Shopping Center Manhattan 776-4910 Mon.-Fri. 9-9, Sat. 9-7, Sun. 1-6

Everyone is Welcome to Hear Lem Howard on

SUCCESS=SATISFACTION? Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity 1632 McCain Ln Kennedy's From

Tuesday, April 3, 10 p.m. Sponsored by: Campus Crusade for Christ

Look No Further...

2 bedroom, furnished, fireplace, dishwasher

1010 Thurston

$450-$475

1 bedroom, furnished, new carpet

Villa II

526 N. 14th

$310

$395

2 bedroom, furnished, dishwasher

Pheasant Ridge

923 Fremont

2 bedroom, stove, frig & dishwasher furnished $375 428-430 N. 6th Gold Key

For more information call Moore Management

776-1111

ALL ROCK ALL THE TIME TONIGHT Longnecks

No Cover! OPEN at 4:00

776-0077 Aggieville, USA

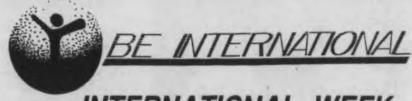

Artwork by Ann L. Carter Now on display.

Double Cappuccinos $1.31

(Limit one per customer order, please)

702 North 11th

INTERNATIONAL WEEK April 2-April 9

Check out the Union Courtyard at noon for daily international performances The following international movies will be shown in K-State Union Little Theater. Entrance is free to the public.

Monday 3 p.m. Run Away (Chinese)

7 p.m. JOM (African)

Wednesday 3 p.m. Permissible Dreams (Egyptian)

Tuesday

7 p.m. Blood of the Condor (Bolivian) 3 p.m. Warm it was that winter (Korean)

Friday

Thursday 3 p.m. Blood of the Condor (Bolivian)

7 p.m. Run Away (Chinese)

3 p.m. JOM (African)

7 p.m. Permissible Dreams (Egyptian)

7 p.m. Warm it was that winter (Korean) Sponsored by International Coordinating Council

NANNY: LOVING person to care for 2-year-old and infant. One year minimum commitment, 40 miles north of NYC in Connecticut, must swim, no smokers, prefer experience with young children. Ask for Susan Taylor day (212):230-3223 or evening after 7p.m. (203):329-2809.

Computers

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service also servicing

•PC compatibles & printers •Televisions & VCRs BIG Screen TV Rental

MIDWEST SERVICES 624 Tuttle Creek Blvd. 4

Ripple

HEY JIM, NIKKI,

HOW'D YOU GUYS DO

ON THE TEST?

OH NO.

Jim's Journal

to the library to a good idea to 8

PR-P

do some homework study in a differ-

Calvin and Hobbes

ent place.

THE FIENDISH BABY SITTER GIRL

HAS A LOCAL HOUSEHOLD IN

THE MAN OF MEGA MIGHT

ZOOMS TO THE RESCUE!

HER IRON GRIP OF TERROR.

WHERE'S

JANA?

I DUNNO.

PROBABLY

ON THE PHONE.

Making the Grade

TALKING

MAC II, two MB RAM, 40MB HD, software, $2,950 (CPU only) or $4,200 (includes CPU, TPD monitor and video card). 776-7435. WANTED: A data base programmer to develop new agricultural software for private business. Evenings. 456-9201.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

ACT IN TV commercials. High pay. No experience. All ages— kids, teens, young adults, families, mature people, animals, etc. Call nowl Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702.

AEROBIC INSTRUCTOR needed. Ladies health club. Call 776-6469 for appointment.

ATTENTION: EARN money typing at homel $32,000/ year income potential. Details, 1-602-838-8885 Ext. T-1797.

ATTENTION: HIRING government jobs— your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-802-838-8885 Ext

ATTENTION: KANSAS Careers needs a student assistant for 20-30 hours/ week during summer semester and 12-15 through the school year. Clerical experience necessary plus Word Perfect and dBase III-. Pick up application form at Kansas Careers, 304 Fairchild Hall. Deadline April 11.

BUS DRIVERS—$5 per hour. Must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. Part time 6:30a.m. to 8:30a.m. and 2:40p.m. to 4:30p.m. Job description available. Apply USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502, 913-537-2400.

.. SHE CAN'T

HEAR ME.

HEY JASPER, GO GET

CHECK SOME ANSWESS.

I was sitting were two people giggling

and whispering, so

I couldn't concen-

I'M IN LUCK! BABY SITTER

GIRL IS MOMENTARILY

DISTRACTED!

trate.

YOUR TEST. I WANT TO

CAN SHE

TALKING? PROBABLY

TALKING ABOUT ME.

YOU KNOW, THAT'S

JUST THE KIND OF PERSON JANA IS. SHE.

OR

DOSOHOT.

JIM DID

OKAY.

Today I went / I thought it'd be But next to where I moved to a

FRANK?

RICHARD?

BEHIND MY BACK!

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B268.

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare-time assembly. Easy work at home. Exceptional pay. No experience needed. Call 1-801-388-8242 ext H1395. Open 24 hours including Sunday.

FULL-TIME ASSISTANT needed for optometric office Will train above minimum wage if experienced, pay negotiable. 537-1118. HELP WANTED: Man with farm background for full-time employment on dairy. House and salary. (913)257-3576.

LAWN CARE person wanted for large apartment community. Responsible for the maintenance of grounds and swimming pools. Horiculture or agri-cultural background helpful. Full time April through August. Send resume to Collegian, Box 8, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

MARKETING AIDE. Half-time positions working with direct mail prornotions for a national association. Learn important aspects of direct marketing, working with printers, mailing firms, copy, mailing lists, and marketers. Fill out application weekdays at LERN, 1554 Hayes Drive.

PART-TIME HELP wanted evenings and weekends.
People with farm or livestock background preferred.
For more information call 776-9401 Monday through Friday 8a.m. to 5p.m.

SUMMER CAMP Counselors— Men and women—
Generalists and specialists. Two overnight eightweek camps in New York's Adirondack Mountains have openings for tennis, waterfront (WSI, ALS, salling, skiing, small crafts), all team sports, gymnastics, arts/ crafts, pioneering, music, photography, drama, dance and nurses. We're interested in people who are interested and love children and in having fun with them. Men reply: Prof. Robert S.
Gersten, Brant Lake Camp, 84 Learnington St.
Lido Boach, N.Y. 11561. Women reply: Sherle
Alden, Camp Point O' Pines, Brant Lake, N.Y.
12815.

By J. Hayden

MEAN, I WOULD

A FRIENDSHIP

By Bob Berry

YES,

400

SERRY.

HOWE YOU BIG.

HAPPY B-DRY, MOM!

By Jim

different part of the library, but then it was too

By Bill Watterson

HI CHARLIE, IT'S ROSALYN.

MONSTER'S HOUSE AGAIN.

YEAH, I'M OVER AT THE LITTLE

HMM? NO, ACTUALLY HE'S BEEN

PRETTY GOOD TONIGHT. YEAH,

I CAN'T BELIEVE IT.

guiet.

HATE TO RUIN

122

BE RIGHT BACK

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canceing, sailing, waterskiing, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also litchen, office, maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B. Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093, 708-446-2444.

SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 openings. National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

WE HAVE the ideal college job for fraternity and sorority members. Set own hours with extremely high monetary return. Job includes marketing imprinted sportswear and party favors to Greeks. Please call T-Graphics, Inc. Lawrence, KS 1-800-633-0276.

WHEAT HARVEST help, truck driver, 13 speed, com-bine operator. Prefer farm person, no drugs, non-smoker. Monthly salary. 488-3371. May 20 through Aug. 5.

WORKING COUPLE outside of NYC looking for nanny mother's helper: Care for toddler, newborn, dog. Must drive, swim, cock. Non-smoker. Own room bath, TY, car. One year minimum. Call between 9-5 EST. 201-688-5607.

STUDENTS FROM KANSAS CITY OR WICHITA

Part Time Wanted: K-State students from KC or Wichita for jobs taking KC or Wichita inventory in retail stores. Work from this summer, Manhattan during the school year. Availability on weekends a MUST. 10-key experience helpful but not mandatory. $5 an hour to start. If interested call 776-8884,

9 Food Specials

5 interview.

Manhattan Job

Thursday, April

Service. Call for a

Hunam Restaurant Free Delivery 539-8888

Che 111 S. 4th

all you $450 can eat includes salad bar

12 Houses for Rent 1101 DENISON, 1846, 1814 Platt, one to five be to see evenings Tuesday, Wedi 7-9p.m. 539-3993. ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks east campus, laundry hookups. $285' month, utilities, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1. 539-3672 evenings. ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June 1. $295. 539-1554.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: BACKPACK at Dr. Mowry's or Dr. Alexander's office on March 22. Identify and claim by calling 776-4200.

FOUND: GOLDEN Lab, approximately one year old at Manhattan and Vattler on 3/28. Call 537-8794. LOST: BLACK Lab neutered male. Lost Friday Aggieville area. Reward. 776-8417 or 539-8365.

LOST: TWO gold rings in or around old football stadium. 776-7621. Reward.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

TWO-BEDROOM, 10x60 trailer, Good condition, Great location. Low rent and utilities. Washer/ dryer, storage. 776-5671.

18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

SNYDER'S HONDA on Stagg Hill Road is buying and selling new and used motorcycles. We are your cycle super market.

21 Personals

GIRL IN emerald green dress Saturday night, Thanks for the perfect night. It wouldn't have been the same with any girl from the "other" sorority. Guy in the JENNIFER R. and Juli H.— Congratulations on the calendar. Great job. Tarmmy O.

J HARDY— Q kxgo yrb txd nrka cootodb. Cwxnb vwx nqto aw zw wxa rzrqd? Trn D=n.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

CUTE, FUN-LOVING ferret for sale. Descented and neutered. Call 776-0941 for more info.

SIX-MONTH MINI-LOPP litter trained. All accessor except hutch, $30. Call evenings and weekends 537-2082.

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits

1105 Waters 539-4751

23 Professional Services

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day results. For appointment call: Pregnancy Testing Center, 539-3338.

PERMS $17. His-N-Hers. Tel. 776-1330. All services on

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM abortion? Write: Hearts Restored, Box 295, Colby, Kansas 67701. Confidential response will follow.

24 Resume/ Typing Service

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms, dissertations, theses, etc. Call 776-4214.

LETTER-QUALITY word processing. $1.25 double spaced page. Next-day delivery available. Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals, re-sumes and more. Laser printing. Call 537-4146. RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to make an impression. One day service, Ross *Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147.

25 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER to share two-bedroom apart ment since school year. Two blocks from campus. $195 rent and one-half utilities. 532-2443.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKING roommate to share gor-geous house. Own room, washer/ dryer, sun porch, dishwasher, fireplace. For summer, possibly fall. $250' month, utilities paid. Laura 776-7561.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to find apartment for fall.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share house close to campus, furnished, washer, dryer. Lease, deposit, utilities shared. Edie, 776-3066.

FEMALE WANTED: Own room, $156.66, one-third utilities. Non-smoking. Call 539-6303 after 5p.m.

MATURE, NON-SMOKING female to share house for next fall. 776-3860 after 5p.m. NEED ONE or two non-smoking roommates for August.

Near KSU. Call Kevin, 537-8834 after 9p.m. NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, own room, by campus, $131.25 monthly, one-fourth utilities. Call 537-4641 or 776-2074.

ONE— TWO non-smoking females, furnished farm-house, free stall and pasture for horses, cattle, dogs. P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share house trailer, $100 per month, half utilities. Call Allen 537-3909.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for August 1990: Reasonable price, huge pad. Should be liberal, Intelligent and willing to help keep the place clean. If interested call Dan at 539-5894 for appointment. Smokers

26 Stereo Equipment

KENWOOD KAC-820 power amp for car. $200. Call Scott 776-6240 after 4p.m.

28 Sublease

A JUNE— July sublease, two weeks in May Free, one-bedroom, unfurnished, $250/ month. Negoti-able, 776-0486.

NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, one fourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New carpet. Available anytime. Call, leave message

A NICE, three-bedroom, available mid-May through mid-August. Cable, partially furnished, two blocks from campus, $150/ month each person (negoti-able). Call 776-0535.

APARTMENT FOR sublease—Within walking distance of campus. Furnished, clean, quiet. Call 539-4847.

BEFORE YOU decide on a summer sublease, you must see this house located two blocks northwest of campus. Three bedrooms, washer/ dryer, dis-hwasher, large living room and kitchen, furnished. 539-3563.

FREE SIX-PACK to first people to sublease our apartment. Balcony, swimming pool, two-bedroom. 537-1565.

FURNISHED, CLOSE to campus, two-bedroom, three person apartment. Price negotiable. May free. Phone 776-0368.

GREAT TWO-BEDROOM, three person furnished apartment. Near campus/ Aggleville. Sublease, $125 each. Call 776-7095.

JUNE AND July, one-bedroom furnished apartment. Last half of May free. $265 a month. 539-8606. Available for summer sublease. Only $250/ month. Call 537-3696. LARGE TWO- to three-bedroom main floor, full kitchen.

NEED PERSON for three-bedroom apartment. Furn ished, own room, close to campus. June and July. $175. Time and price negotiable. 776-0890.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment close to campus. Balcony, dishwasher and laundry facilities. Three people, $300, two people $270. 776-3340.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate to sublease furnished apartment this summer. Own room, washer and dryer. $150 per month and one-half utilities. Call 776-4728.

SPACIOUS FURNISHED studio apartment next to campus. Laundry facilities and patio. Available June and July. Rent negotiable. 539-5736. Ask for

SUBLEASE— TWO blocks from campus, nice two-bedroom apartment, $280/ two persons. 537-8674.

SUBLEASE: ONE- three people for three-bedroom apartment. June— July. Rent $395. Call 537-2666, ask for Melissa or leave message. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Nice, spacious two-bedre apartment. Water and trash paid. $375. Call 776-6498. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Close to campus and Aggieville. Two large bedrooms. Best offer. Call 539-5519.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, furnished, balcony, close to campus. For more info call 776-7034 SUMMER SUBLEASE-Nice, spacious furnished twobedroom apartment, one and one-half bath, dis-hwasher, close to campus, water and trash paid, $360 negotiable. 539-2625.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Nice and affordable of bedroom apartment. Near campus/ Aggieville. Call 539-2963 or 539-2007. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Nice, one-bedroom furnished apartment for two people. Near campus and Aggieville. Make offer. 539-4577. SUMMER SUBLEASE— Two-bedroom furnished apartment, near campus and Aggieville, terms negotiable. 1-494-8221.

SUMMER SUBLEASE. Furnished two-bedroom, close to campus, fee negotiable. Call 532-3124.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Two-bedroom apartment good for three. Two blocks from campus. Negoti-able. Call 539-7423. SUMMER- TWO-BEDROOM close to campus. $200/month, Call 539-5358. THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, one-half block east of campus. Nicel Dates negotiable, 537-7982. THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath, in Aggieville. Available May through July. Great location. 776-4760.

THREE BEDROOMS, one and one-half bath, one-half block from campus and Aggieville. Parially furnished. Call 776-3448.

TWO-BEDROOM, one block from campus, Aggieville Low utilities. Available June and July $270 776-4574.

30 Travel

THE FIRST 100 who respond will get a virtually Free Las Vegas, Reno, Lake Tahoe, Disney World, Atlantic City, Hawaii or Disneyland vacation, a $250 gift check, a 35mm camera and 100 rolls of film. Send $25 processing fee to: J.D. Gardner, Rt. 2, Box 512, Dodge City, KS 67801.

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050. Battery or AC powered, two font types, 16,000-character memory expansion card, spell corrector and many other features. Excellent condition. $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave

FOUR-HEAD HQ stereo VCR for sale, 537-1052.

33 Storage

NEED A place to store your things? For June and July, $20/ month. May Free. 776-1367.

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

Garfield

A BOLT OF FIERY CRIMSON

STREAKS ACROSS THE SKY!

IT'S STUPENDOUS MAN!

By Jim Davis

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

ACROSS 38 India, for one 1 — Worth,

the price

need of land

51 Parcel

52 Treaty

53 Repair

54 Ram's

mate

q.e.d.

1 Type of

55 Part of

DOWN

2 Spicy

stew

Window"

39 Teenager's 5 French Texas 5 Beaver's dream 40 Native pride of Qum 8 Anagram 43 D or F for Sara

47 Reduce 12 Olive genus 13 Swiss 49 Dietary canton 50 Wings 14 It might be tall 15 Actor Thicke 16 Twiddle one's thumbs

18 American

poet Edwin 20 Consumer advocate Goddess of dawn

22 Cul-de-

23 - and Soul" 26 Stock and common 30 Biblical

31 Assistance 32 It's before classic 33 Gamblers 10Us

36 Type of pad

Solution time: 24 mins.

Yesterday's answer

4 Commercial 26 Fit or cast lead-in 27 Required subj. 28 Drink

29 Scale 7 "Bei member Bist Du 31 Clumsy Schoen" boat 8 Assault 34 Cramped, 9 Sudden vessel author

6 Ancient foray

entertainer

11 Prophet

wood

19 Word be-or foot amateur

24 Baseball

22 Blue

23 Radio

25 Make public

fore dog

17 Knot in country

muscle 10 Egyptian 35 Geraint's wife 36 Civil or as a common follower 37 Fur of royalty 39 Italian nobleman

40 Moslem prayer leader 41 Chest sound isles 43 City in the Ukraine tree 45 Film Nino 46 Nautical

42 Irish

44 Sandarac composer mile 48 Corrida cheer

"for two" CRYPTOQUIP

E ANKCDWQJM: MR TZQIRX QJ FNP DEGRDJ BED

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE BRAND-NEW ICE DELIVERER DIDN'T LAST LONG BECAUSE HE WAS

KNSAX MEHR IQKCRX.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Q equals I

Training

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 viewing victims of a violent crime, such as rape, and interrogating

The officer who asked his name not be used, said he agrees the K-State Police department is lacking in effective investigative training programs for officers.

There has been very little policerelated training," he said. "It has been a hit-and-miss-type deal. There is nothing like hands-on practice and getting face to face with a lecturer."

Areas he said the department should review included investigative work, report writing, traffic stop techniques and traffic statutes. Many officers nationwide are killed each year during routine traffic stops.

"Some of the training is repetitive and it drills into you how to react with the correct response," he said, regarding the training he would like implemented in the department.

Other members of the department said they lacked basic training in procedural activities.

"I could use classes on interrogation techniques and techniques of field report writing," said K-State Police Officer Mike Baysinger. "A report either makes or breaks a case."

Baysinger said when a case is turned over to the County Attorney's office for review, a sloppy or poorly written report will often result in the case being dismissed.

He said the programs selected by K-State Police Chief Charles Beckom are not always necessary training for the officers. A program offered more than two years ago to teach officers American Sign Language has not been followed up on by the department.

"I have only encountered one person who was deaf (during an investigation) in the seven years I have been here," Baysinger said.

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

to her, and we tried to get her to say more. She just wasn't talking that night, which is one of the problems with sexual assault," Lenhe said. "It didn't have anything to do with training. It was strictly her call. The night before, that is what she wanted to call

it. We tried to get her to say more.

That night she wasn't saying it."

the victim did not indicate that a more serious crime had occurred.

that she wanted to tell us about it in case these guys did it to somebody else," Lehne said. "(The victim said) they didn't do anything to her, but she thought they might do something

Lehne said the harassing telephone calls prompted the victim to call the campus police a second time.

her the next morning, she changed her mind," Lenhe said. "Now she is

The victim said, however, that the type of questions asked by Wood were more specific in nature than those asked by Lehne. "I was in shock when he talked to me," the victim said. "It was just 10

She said the initial reporting of-

"If he would have asked me to go ficer did not ask for details of the

with him for a rape kit, I would not have refused," the victim said. "He never pursued anything I said."

A campus police officer, who asked that his name be withheld, said he believes a lack of proper training for dealing with criminal investigaminutes after it had happened."

scared, and she tells the truth."

'When (one of the suspects) called to someone else."

incident.

Lehne said the accounts given by 'Her story the night before was

Case

He said without additional training, the basic skills are easily

Baysinger said he attended a seminar on rape and also a class on the handling of firearms on his own time because he could not get departmental approval for the classes.

"Most police departments would want their officers to have as much training as possible to avoid any (mistakes)," he said.

Beckom said the training programs he chooses meet state requirements. Training programs are selected according to what is available and what is affordable.

All Kansas law enforcement officers are required to log at least 40 hours of in-service training annually to retain their certification through the Kansas Law Enforcement Training Center in Hutchinson.

The training that is received here is accepted by the state," Beckom said. "It meets state requirements." Ed Pavey, assistant director of the Kansas Law Enforcement Training Center, said individual departments are responsible for choosing the training programs they believe their officers need.

Beckom said most officers earn more than their required 40 hours, some as many as 60 hours or more. Classes covering hazardous materials and Kansas criminal law have been offered recently to officers.

After a change in Kansas' standardized accident report forms earlier this year, additional training was offered to educate officers on proper procedures for completing the forms, Beckom said.

Officers also qualify to use their firearms four times during the year, as required by the state, Beckom said. Each handgun training session qualifies for two hours of training toward the 40-hour minimum.

Pavey said training programs sponsored by state police depart-tions contributed to the delay in the identification of the incident as a fe-attitude they have up there," he said. When officers come into police work, they are not up to it. When they have a crime that occurs — a rape, a burglary, a D.U.I., a hit-and run accident - I don't think they are thorficer conducted a limited amount of questioning and, as a result, received

Wood said the initial reporting of-

The questions asked by the reporting officer and the answers given by the victim were not sufficient to show a rape had occurred," Wood said. "The series of events she described to me indicated she had been tion to the campus police, and then later to the RCPD. Investigators from the RCPD agreed with Wood that according to the accounts given by the victim, a rape may have occurred.

RCPD and Pottawatomie County

Sheriff's Department, the three suspects involved in the case were

A Manhattan man was eventually charged with felony counts of rape and aggravated sexual battery in Pottawatomie County District Court. Rape, a class B felony, carries a sentence of five years to life in prison and a maximum fine of $15,000. Aggravated sexual battery, a class D felony, carries a sentence of two to 10 years and a maximum fine of

as the act of sexual intercourse without that person's consent. Sexual in-

Under Kansas law, rape is defined identified.

$10,000.

After an investigation by the Wood said he reported the situa-

"A big part of the problem is the lony sexual assault.

oughly investigated.'

insufficient information.

ments must first be approved through the Kansas Law Enforcement Training Center before they can be offered to other law enforcement agencies for credit.

A six-member training committee, consisting of K-State officers and administrators, met for the first time March 16 to review training needs in the department.

The committee will help administrators better delegate responsibilities in the department, Beckom said.

When all of the training is dumped on one sergeant, he can get extremely busy," he said, regarding training Sgt. Dave Johnson.

Johnson said he makes recommendations for training programs. These recommendations are then approved Beckom.

Beckom said he was unaware of Wood's concerns about training.

Being happy on the job is a state of mind," he said. "The hardships and the challenges you have — you can accept them or you can roll over and let them get the best of you. "My door is open to anybody," Beckom said.

Wood said, however, that he pushed for improved training while he was in the department, but was told by upper-level police administrators that he was too aggressive.

They told me if you just coast and collect your paycheck, you'll fit right in," Wood said. "I can't do that. I couldn't do that. That is why I left the KSU Police department. That is why I resigned."

Training programs vary distinctly among police departments at universities in the state.

Lt. John Davis of the Wichita State University police department said officers at WSU are trained in service and investigative areas, including crime scene investigation.

"We've had everything from homocide to dogbite," Davis said. "You cannot rule out any crime."

tercourse is defined as penetration of the female sex organ by any object.

According to Pottawatomie

Officers also receive about 40 hours of in-house training after they are hired, he said.

The campus police department at the University of Kansas offers a program to train officers immediately after they are hired.

Sgt. John Brothers, training coordinator for the KU police department, said officers hired by KU receive an additional four to eight weeks of in-class training after they are hired. After completion of classroom work, the officers are started on a supervised field training program.

Brothers said many officers can be off probation and complete their training in about nine months. State classified employees, which includes all campus police officers, are required to be on probation a minimum of six months.

"Only after five months are we able to get any work out of them," he said. "(The program) is tremendously expensive in terms of overtime and taking people off the street and putting them in the classroom."

"It gives them a lot better base of information to draw from, and better confidence and background," he

The KU police department requires officers to have one year of prior law enforcement experience or four-year college degree,

KU has 34 full-time officers, he

The K-State Police department is authorized to have 21 officers, but only two have previous full-time law enforcement experience at a municipal police department.

Police officers at K-State said after they were hired, little training was offered to prepare them for patrol

"The training consisted of reading from the departmental manual and maybe skimming over the traffic ordinances and that was about it," said one officer. "No refresher courses were given on traffic stop techniques, felony arrests or handcuffing a D.U.I. arrest. It was just - 'Go out there and do it."

Wood said he received less than two weeks of training before he was allowed to take over patrol duties. "I was out on the road, stumbling around, looking for buildings, Wood said.

A second officer, who also asked his name not be used, said he supports a recent move by the department to require at least one year of law enforcement experience for all prospective department employees. Until the department acquires "some new blood, there will be some blundering."

"It is not that people don't know what they are doing, it is that they do not get that much practice," he said. Budget restrictions have played a role in the limited training of police officers, the officer said. 'That is not the police department's fault, that is the (University) administration's fault," he said.

Beckom said he agreed a limited budget comes into play when considering training programs. Such programs can cost as much as $500 per

'We are on a fixed budget," he said. "One thing that I look at before I put money into it is the actual funding resources available.

"There has been some disgruntlement resulting from efficiency," Beckom said. "Why should I send someone to some school they will never use? That runs against many officers' grain.'

He said he looks for training programs that offer the highest level of practical application to campus. As an example, underwater diving and rescue training would not be practical to a campus police officer at K-State, Beckom said.

"We cannot throw money away on whims," he said. "The money has to come back and affect those we serve."

Wamego Tulip Festival

Beckom said he also must consider when officers will be available due to scheduling and vacations.

John Lambert, director of public safety, which includes the police department, said law enforcement training should be diverse enough to cover most of the situations an officer will encounter. "What is enough training? If you are not trained for something that happens tomorrow, you are undertrained," Lambert said. "If you train over and over for something that never happens, you are overtrained." He said it is impossible to be trained for every situation that may occur on campus. Wood said he helped organize training activities while working for the campus police department.

According to a letter written by Johnson, K-State police training director, Wood used his previous background to train other officers.

"I was very much impressed with the training session you (Wood) presented to our department on cover and concealment," according to the letter. "It was obvious you were well prepared in the subject area and that you are an effective presenter."

Wood was previously employed by the Junction City Police Department for more than six years, said Junction City Police Chief Jerry Smith. Wood was a competent officer, he said.

"Ron (Wood) was very much devoted to law enforcement." Smith said. "He understood the responsibilities of an officer and accepted them fully. I think his judgment is very

"I would place a great amount of trust in Ron (Wood)," Smith said.

YOUR OLD BRA IS WORTH

When you trade it in for a new bra

at Undercover. We have your size!

32A 32B 32C 32D 32DD 34A 34B 34C 34D 34DD 36A 36B 36C 36D 36DD 38A 38B 38C 38D 38DD

All Brands

Vanity Fair, Maidenform, Olga Sport Bra, Warners and Jezebel. Patricia's

ND=FCOV=F Lingerie

1224 Moro Manhattan Aggieville

Comedy Invasion Monday, Tuesday Appearing this week Ollie Joe Prater

Wednesday Sig Ep Fite Nite Knockouts Proceeds go to the Amer. Heart Assoc.

Before 3 p.m. 539-4321

-Call for Reservations-531 N. Manhattan

After 3 p.m. 539-9727

$2 Pitchers NO COVER

Come see the newly remodeled Back Bar.

County District Court records, the man charged with the two felonies pleaded no contest on Aug. 1 to the aggravated sexual battery charge. The forcible rape charge was dismissed by the state. He was sentenced Sept. 7 to two to 10 years in prison, according to court records. Wood said while he was employed with the Junction City Police Department for more than six years, he investigated a number rape cases. "I have been involved in many, many rape cases," he said. "Not every rape case is the same, but the preliminary questioning is the same." Detailed questioning allows an officer to determine the seriousness of a sexual offense, Wood said. Although any type of sexual offense is traumatic for the victim, the investigating officer must be persistent during questioning to gain all the facts. A second campus police officer, who also asked his name be withheld, said law enforcement training helps counter the absence of dealing with major criminal incidents on a routine

"All your police skills are something you need to practice," he said. "I think that some of the officers' investigative skills have caused some cases to be mishandled."

Wood said a more comprehensive training schedule in the department would help officers identify major crimes when they occur.

"It is not (the officer's) fault for not asking the proper questions," Wood said. "It is not lack of training on his part," but a lack of training by the department, he said.

Look for the Collegian Auto Directory

WANT TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE?

Catskill Mountains of New York. Receive a meaningful and exciting summer experience working in a residential camp with adults who have disabilities. Positions are available for COUNSELORS, CABIN LEADERS, and PRO-GRAM SPECIALISTS. All students majoring in allied health field are encouraged to apply. Season dates: June 6 to August 23rd.

Good Salary, Room,
Board, and possible travel allowance. Call
Laura at (913) 594-2323 or send letter to Camp Jened, P.O. Box 483, at Rock Hill, NY 12775, (914) 434-2220.

Equal Opportunity Employer M/F.

AUDITIONS

for the

KANSAS STATE CHOIR

Monday, April 2, 1990

7-9 p.m.

Wednesday, April 4, 1990

7-9 p.m.

Sign up for an audition time outside the Choral Office -

Room 227 in McCain Auditorium

African Students Union

Presents: AFRICAN

An evening to experience: African dishes, African drums, attire show,

Venue: City Auditorium

Tickets sold in the Union for $4.

Children under 12: $2

At Gate: $5

Time: April 7, 7 p.m.

dance and more.

NIGHT

Juried Art Show April 21 & 22, 1990 Senior Center Wamego, Kansas The Wamego Arts Council announces the 1st Annual Tulip Festival Juried Art Show Competition and Exhibition at the Wamego Senior Center, 501 Ash, Wamego 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, April 21 and 12 noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, April 22 For entry information, please send a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Warnego Arts Council P.O. Box 351 Wamego, KS 66547

WANTED:

Student Governing Assn. Elections Committee Chair & Vice-Chair

Responsible for the equitable running of the KSU SGA elections (for student body president, Student Senate, Board of Student Publications): Oct. 30 & 31, 1990

Applications available in the SGS Office and are due by 5 p.m. Wed. April 11th.

Wednesday, April 4, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 125

Dana Altman, new head coach of the K-State men's basketball team, responds to a question during a press conference Tuesday morning in the K-State Union. Altman replaces former head coach Lon Kruger.

Policies waived in coach's hiring

By Steve Franzen Staff Reporter

Although done quickly, the hiring of the new head basketball coach adhered to affirmative action regulations.

On the heels of Lon Kruger's resignation late Sunday, the hiring of Dana Altman bypassed normal University recruitment and hiring procedures. Altman was officially announced as the new men's basketball coach at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at a press conference in the Union Big Eight Room - almost two days after Kruger's resignation.
"We didn't change the recruiting policies; we just waived them," said Jane Rowlett, director of Office of Affirmative Action. She said the normal procedures were waived upon the request of President Jon Wefald because of the national basketball letter-of-intent signing day set for April 11.

'The circumstances necessitated speed," said Steve Miller, director of the KSU Athletics Department.

Those circumstances, he said, were inree-ioid.

The first was the opening of the national letter-of-intent signing period. The second was to prevent disruption in the men's basketball program. The foremost reason for the quick hiring, however, is what Miller called the backside of recruiting, or the effect it has on other people and universities.

Miller said if he had used the normal procedures, he would be hiring a coach after the April 11 signing period. This might cost K-State some players and foster questions about the fact that the new coach would have signed recruits for his former college and then resigned from that college.

Once the affirmative action office waived the normal recruiting procedures, Miller said he called a number of athletic directors and formed a short list of possible candidates. Between Saturday and Sunday, Miller contacted the candidates and narrowed the field to

"I met Sunday with my administrative staff and then with the Uni-See POLICY, Page 9 Procedures for filling unclassified faculty, administrative and staff positions

 A Positive Description Form listing both necessary and preferred qualifications should be filled out. Minority persons and women should be included on the search committees whenever possible.

• The most recent Utilization Analysis/Goals and Timetables of the Affirmative Action Plan should be reviewed to determine whether underutilization exists in the unit in which the vacancy exists.

• The Recruitment Plan should be completed. The plan should make use of methods that will encourage applications from minorities

 Regular professional positions should be advertised nationally in professional publications and listed with placement services within the discipline. Prior to recruiting, completed copies of the Unclassified Faculty and Staff Position Description Form, and the Recruitment Plan should be sent to the Affirmative Action Of-

· All publicity must include the statement

*KSU is an affirmative action/equal opportu-nity employer. Women and minorities are en-couraged to apply.

Both the screening and evaluation of appli-cants must be objective and based upon the cants must be objective and based upon the requisite qualifications in the position description. When candidates are equally qualified, the person who will further the affirmative action goals of the University shall be chosen.

• Prior to interviewing applicants, completed copies of the Affirmative Action Recruitment Report should be submitted to the Affirmative Action Office for review. Following the office's approval, the interview process may begin.

• The Unclassified Appointment Report and a completed Affirmative Action Recruitment Report must be submitted to the provost or appropriate vice president before offering a position to a selected candidate. Following Affirmative Action approval, the provost or appropriate vice president will authorize the formal contract letter. appropriate vice presi formal contract letter.

Source: University's Affirmative Action Plan

Altman takes over

Former assistant faces difficult, hectic job of recruiting

By Chris Hays Sports Editor

With time being of the utmost importance during this stretch run of the collegiate basketball recruiting season, new Wildcat coach Dana Altman didn't waste any of it.

Even before he was officially introduced by Athletic Director Steve Miller as the 18th K-State head basketball coach, Altman had already been on the phone making his pitch to prospective recruits.

After meeting with the Wildcat players upon his arrival in Manhattan Monday night, he quickly started making some contacts.

"We got in (Monday) night and began the process," Altman said. "It does create a time problem, so we're gonna have to get to work.

"(Today) starts another live period and a chance for us to go make contacts off campus, and it's important, in the next week before signing day, that we are very active and meet with the players that have al-ready been on Kansas State's campus, and also meet with a number of new recruits." Altman said he knew who former coach Lon Kruger had contacted, and the two staffs would be working together in the recruiting process.

It was obvious, from listening to Altman Tuesday, that he felt right at home within K-State surroundings. He had left the program only a year ago, as Kruger's former top assistant, to accept the position as head coach at Marshall University in Huntington, W.V. "It's great to be back," he said. "I did meet with the players last night and I know they're looking forward to the future of Kansas State basketball, just as well as I am."

Miller wasted no time in letting Altman know what was expected of him. Although it may have been a humorous gesture, Miller presented Altman with a K-State jersey that was embroided with the number 23 the number that former all-American Mitch Richmond, an Altman recruit, wore while at K-State.

"I'm going to give (Altman) this jersey," Miller said. "We had a pretty good player that wore this jersey ... and we want Dana to fill this up again."

During his first month as the head coach of the Wildcats, Altman will concentrate most of his duties on recruiting, while also trying to fill the holes in his coaching staff.

When Altman first took the K-State job, he recommended his top assistant Dwight Freeman to replace him at Marshall. Tuesday, Marshall athletic director Lee Moon accepted that recommendation and Freeman took the job.

Also taking a head coaching position Tuesday was another Altman assistant Greg White, who accepted the job at the University of Charleston (W.V.), an NAIA school.

So that leaves Altman with one assistant, Bob Marlan, who he can bring with him to K-State, while K-State officials are also considering the possibility of hiring, as Altman's assistants, an assistant from a four-year school, as well as a head coach from the Kansas juco ranks.

Butler County's Randy Smithson was rumored as a possible Altman assistant Tuesday, but Altman was waiting to find out the status of his Marshall assistants.

As far as Altman's recruiting ■ See ALTMAN, Page 9

Student back as dispatcher

Employee says he was dismissed, rehired after appeal to administrators

By Robert Short

Special Projects Editor @ 1990. Student Publications Inc.

Although Greg Girard said he has been reinstated as a student dispatcher at the K-State Police Department, he is still uncertain about the nature of his dismissal.

"I still have never been told whether I was fired or I quit," said Girard, junior in criminal justice.

Girard said he believes he was fired by Dispatcher Laurie Harrison because he did not agree to a surprise change in his work schedule Feb. 15.

"I was told, 'If you can't get your priorities straight, we'll have to let you go. I hate to do so, because you are good," Girard said.

After sending a letter of appeal to K-State Police Chief Charles Beckom and six other administrators, he was allowed to return to work March 24.

A campus police officer, who asked that his name be withheld, said because many students apply for positions with the police department, police adminstrators know replacements are easy to find. For every student hired, 10 are turned down for the same position.

"Student employees are easy to come by," the officer said, "I don't think they handled that thing with Greg very well."
He said he was aware of a personality conflict between police administrators and Girard, and that they said he had an "attitude problem." "They were looking for something to nail him on and they found it," the officer said. "He is an excellent dispatcher - a natural at it." Girard wrote the letter to Beckom appealing his dismissal on Feb. 20. According to that letter, Girard was given less than 48 hours to respond to a change in his work schedule. Girard said because he plans to pursue a career in criminal justice, he did not want an unjustified blemish on his record. "Losing my job over there was not See DISPATCHER, Page 8 that bad," Girard said. "I could get a job that paid better and I could be better treated. That aspect doesn't bother me. The fact that I am in criminal justice and had done nothing wrong does (bother me)." A prior commitment with his Riley County Police Auxiliary Unit prevented him from agreeing to work, he said.

A second officer, who also asked that his name be withheld, said Girard was mistreated by the department's administration.

"He was the best dispatcher they had, full-time or part-time. He took an interest in the work," he said. "They gave him the shaft."

Other officers who had worked with Girard said he excelled as a student dispatcher.

Ron Wood, a former campus police officer, said Girard understood the responsibilities of being a dispatcher. "There were some pretty stressful situations that came up out on the street, and he did real well with them," Wood said. "He hung right in there. Greg (Girard) impressed me, and I told his supervisors that he has impressed me for what he knows." In the letter to Beckom, Girard said he had a good working relationship with other patrol officers.

"As far as my work performance is concerned, there was nothing wrong," Girard wrote. "I have been commended by all of the secondshift officers and by others at the department for my ability and competence as a dispatcher. By no means was I a poor-quality employee."

According to Girard's work schedule, he had worked more than 400 regular hours in the 18 months he was employed by the K-State Police. He also substituted or had been called in to assist 72 hours in addition to his regular schedule.

"To me, that doesn't seem unreliable or undependable," Girard said. In a letter to Girard, dated March

Making bubbles

"I love blowing bubbles," said Beth Karpowich, junior in marketing, as she blew bubbles at the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority Monday.

Education bills face final House vote

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - Two bills that would allow the state to spend more than $2 billion on primary and secondary education, community colleges and the university system received tentative House approval Tuesday.

Representatives are scheduled to take final votes on the bills Wednesday.

The first bill would allow state Board of Regents institutions to spend $904.6 million in fiscal year

1991, which begins July 1. The measure includes money for the board's Topeka offices, six state universities at Lawrence, Manhattan, Wichita, Pittsburg, Emporia and Hays, the Kansas College of Technolgy in Salina, the University of Kansas Medical Center in Kansas City and the Kansas State University College of Veterinary Medicine in Manhattan.

There were 14 attempts to increase spending in the bill, and all failed. The second bill would appropriate

$1.11 billion to the state Department of Education for fiscal 1991. It includes state aid to school districts, community colleges, area vocational-technical schools and

Washburn University of Topeka. Both measures were advanced to final action on voice votes, after members spent nearly eight hours discussing them. The Senate has already approved them, but senators will have to consider amendments made by the House and its Appropriations Committee if the bills pass the

The House's Republican leaders attempted to defeat amendments adding money to the bills, and their allies argued that the state could not afford them in a tight budget year. The regents bill would allow a 4 percent increase in faculty salaries and a 2 percent increase in all other operating exepenses, except utilities. The institutions would be allowed to spend $46.1 million more than in the current budget year, or 5.4 percent.

Representatives rejected on voice vote an amendment to the regents budget that would have added $16.3 million to finance the final year of the regents' so-called Margin of Excellence program. The Margin is a three-year plan designed to increase financing for programs and faculty

BRIEFLY

World

Soldier seizes jumbo jet

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — A soldier carrying grenades seized a New York-bound jumbo jet at Haiti's airport and threatened to blow it up Tuesday if he was not flown to the United States.

A radio report, however, said the 20-year-old soldier had let the handful of passengers and crew aboard American Airlines Flight 658 get off. Officials confirmed he was alone on board the craft.

Pvt. Pierre Gerald, an airport security guard, boarded the Airbus A300 on Monday afternoon as it was preparing to leave for New York, said Radio Haiti Inter and an American Airlines spokesman.

The radio said the young soldier was armed with grenades when he commandeered the plane in an attempt to desert the army after he was reprimanded by an officer for alleged insubordination. It said Gerald had been in the army two years.

Nation

Cocaine implanted in thighs

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — U.S. Customs inspectors at San Juan's international airport arrested a man from Colombia after finding a pound of cocaine surgically implanted in his thighs, officials said Tuesday.

"In more than 20 years with the U.S. Customs Service, this is the most bizarre form of drug-smuggling I have ever encountered or heard about," said Mamie Pollack, the agency's district director.

Roberto Julian O'Neil, 23, a Colombian citizen, was arrested Saturday on drug-smuggling charges after arriving at San Juan's Luis Munoz Marin International Airport on a flight from Bogota, the Customs Service in Miami said in a statement.

It said O'Neil was waiting to board a flight to Madrid when he attracted the attention of a Customs inspector by the stifflegged way he walked.

Inspectors took O'Neil to a private room, where during a pat-down they discovered what at first they thought to be something taped to his thighs, the statement said.

Further examination revealed bulging, badly infected incisions covered only by strips of adhesive tape, the Customs Service said.

O'Neil was taken to a hospital, where doctors removed his stitches and took a half-pound of cocaine from each thigh, the statement said. It said the cocaine was in four packets, each containing a quarter pound of cocaine.

Shevardnadze arrives in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze arrived Tuesday for wide-ranging talks with President Bush and Secretary of State James Baker III and pledged to hold honest dialogue with secessionist Lithuanians.

Shevardnadze is expected to give Bush and Baker a message from Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev. Administration officials hope it will spell out Moscow's promise to deal peacefully with the independence movement in the Baltic republic.

While Shevardnadze's remarks on arriving at Andrews Air Force Base had a conciliatory ring, the foreign minister emphasized the significance the Kremlin attaches to the Soviet Constitution and laws in the face of the Lithuanian challenge.

"You must understand the importance of that question for the Soviet Union and the Soviet people," Shevardnadze said as he set the stage for talks with Baker beginning Wednesday afternoon and with Bush on Friday.

Bush possible witness in trial

NEW YORK (AP) — Imelda Marcos' attorney contended Tuesday that George Bush urged her husband to invest in U.S. real estate and that the CIA was aware of every transaction for which she is on trial on racketeering charges.

In opening arguments, defense attorney Gerald Spence also said he plans to call Bush as a witness.

The lawyer said that Bush, then the vice president, was concerned about the Marcoses negotiating an oil deal with Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi and suggested to Marcos during a 1981 meeting in Manila, "Why don't you invest in American properties?"

The Marcoses, "who saw themselves as children of America," took the advice, Spence said. "They abandoned any further attempt to invest in Libya and began to put their money into New York real estate."

Region

House rejects abortion ban

TOPEKA (AP) — The House overwhelmingly rejected a proposal Tuesday to ban all abortions at the state's premier teaching hospital, the University of Kansas Medical Center.

Representatives voted 42-81 to reject an amendment to the Med Center's budget that would have prohibited the use of state funds to finance the use of facilities or to pay personnel that are used in performing abortions. The net effect would be to ban abortion at the Kansas City institution, the only public hospital in the state at which abortions are performed.

The vote means the House, which so far has proven itself more liberal on the issue of abortion than the Senate, is nowhere near accepting a goal long sought by anti-abortion activists. The Senate Federal and State Affairs Committee has before it a bill similar to the amendment.

The debate on the amendment turned from a debate over the use of tax dollars for abortions, either directly or indirectly, into a debate over abortion itself.

Desegregation plan questioned

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Lawyers for suburban school districts say it is questionable whether a voluntary desegregation plan will funnel many minority students from inner-city to suburban Kansas City schools.

But a desegregation lawyer said Tuesday that an order issued Monday by a federal appeals court for an interdistrict transfer program should be pretty convincing to suburban school districts that they must comply or face discrimination charges.

"It's not a mandate. It would be a voluntary plan," said Reg Rowe, a Kansas City School District spokesman. "However, the language is very firm in the order concerning participation."

Attorneys for the Independence, Lee's Summit and North Kansas City school districts still contend the suburban districts may not be quick to participate.

Jury selection for Baker starts

TOPEKA (AP) — Jury selection began Tuesday for a Topeka man accused of murdering an elderly woman and kidnapping three others in a burglary that went awry last December in Topeka's affluent Westboro neighborhood.

Tyrone Baker, 20, is charged with murdering Ida Mae Dougherty, 72; kidnapping Lester Haley, 87, his wife, Nancy Haley, 69, and Verne Horne, 68. He also is charged with aggravated burglary and conspiracy to commit aggravated burglary.

In December, he was charged with two counts of first-degree murder, two counts of aggravated kidnapping and one count of aggravated assault in adjacent Douglas County.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Announcements

- Deadline for registering for the LSAT is May 11. See Nancy Twiss in Eisenhower 113 for registration information.
- Deadline for registering for the mock LSAT is Friday. See the receptionist in Eisenhower 113 for registration information.
- Applications for Arts and Sciences Student of the Semester are due April 13 in Eisenhower 113.
- Application packets for Rhodes and Marshall scholarships are available in Eisenhower 113 until Friday.
- K-State Dance Program will present Spring Dance '90 at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in McCain Auditorium.

4 Wednesday

- OWLS will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Tonye E. Numbere at 2:30 in Waters 230. The topic is "Chemical Manipulation of Apple Tree Growth with the Use of some Triazole Plant Growth Retardants."
  - University Activities Board will meet at 4 p.m. in Union 203.
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Elizabeth Anne Simons at 12:30 p.m. in Bluemont 106. The topic is "Identifying Gender-Neutral Topics of High Interest to Elementary Students."
- Pre-Law Office will have a meeting on deadlines and application requirements for all students interested in attending law school in fall 1991 from 2:30 to 4:45 p.m. in Union 209.
  - Gymnastics Club will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. in Natatorium 004.
  - Outstanding Ag REP Applications are due at 5 p.m. in Waters 177.
- Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers will meet at 7 p.m. in Durland 163.
- Alpha Chi Sigma will meet at 6 p.m. in Willard 218. Officers meet at 5:45 p.m.
- Spanish Table will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom
- Students Acting to Save a Vulnerable Environment will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 213.
- College Council Presidents will meet at 11:30 a.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, partly cloudy and mild. High around 65. Northeast winds 10 to 20 mph. Tonight and Thursday, mostly cloudy and colder with a chance for showers. Low tonight in upper 30s. Highs Friday 45 to 50. Chance for rain, 30 percent tonight and 30 percent Thursday.

Cruise Colors!

New hot tropical color Birkenstocks on sale now through April 14.

Register to win a Birkenstock fold-up beach chair to be given away.

Birkenstock

OLSON'S 1214-C Moro Aggieville

ELECTRICAL AND COMPUTER ENGINEERING STUDENTS

Pre-Enrollment Advising
Began Monday, March 19.
EECE Students should make an appointment NOW with Professor Hunt in Durland 261

Students who obtain pre-enrollment advising are given priority in the department at the time of pre-enrollment.

Look No Further...

1 bedroom, furnished, new carpet Villa 11 526 N. 14th $310

2 bedroom, stove, frig & dishwasher, furnished 428-430 N. 6th Gold Key '375

For more information call Moore Management 776-1111

African Students Union Presents: AFRICAN NIGHT An evening to experience: African

An evening to experience: African dishes, African drums, attire show, dance and more.

Venue: City Auditorium
Time: April 7, 7 p.m.

Tickets sold in the Union
Wed., Thurs. & Fri. for $4

Wed., Thurs. & Fri. for $4 or 532-6448, 532-6164 day; 537-3221, 539-7610, 776-0293 eve. Children under 12: $2 At Gate: $5

Saturday, April 7 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

1990 Arts & Sciences All University Open House
Exhibits and Activities
LOCATED FIRST FLOOR IN THE UNION

Experience the excitement of...
Arts & Sciences

ATTENTION!!

The 1st Annual ADPi/ATO Men's & Women's Softball Classic is now open to independent teams.

PLACE: Twin Oaks Park ENTRY FEE: $80/Team

2 regulation softballs

DEADLINE: April 10

For further information, please contact:

Michelle Dutton at 539-2334

Bob Clore, associate professor in art, makes bronze plaques with powdered bronze and a casting resin base in the basement of his home. Clore is also owner and designer of B-C Rodeo Awards.

Cowboy

sculptor

Professor of art designs

By Sandy Hegarty Collegian Reporter

Bob Clore is an artist — and a cowboy. An associate professor of art and chairman of the design area in the art department, Clore said that, above all, he is a contemporary artist. But it wasn't always that way.

The sport of rodeo has always been an important part of Clore's life.

"When I went to my first rodeo and saw the Lone Ranger, I knew right then I wanted to be a cowboy," he said. "I am also a big fan of Howdy Doody and Buffalo Bob."

Clore carried his desire to be a cowboy throughout his childhood and into high school, where one of his competitions in a rodeo earned him a rodeo scholarship to Casper College in Casper, Wyo. Clore said while in college, he started as a business

"How could you go wrong in business?" he said. But after he enrolled in an art class to fill a humanities requirement, he changed his major to art, so that when Clore received his associate of arts degree, he was presented awards for both his scholastic performance and his service to the rodeo team.

He continued his education at the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley, where he received his bachelor of arts degree in art education and his master of arts degree in sculpture and painting. Clore finally ended up in Kansas, where he received a master of fine arts degree in three dimensional design at the University of Kansas.

Throughout his college career, Clore started competing in rodeos full time, riding in an average of 60 rodeos a year for about 15 years.

Clore was able to pursue his two interests at K-State, where he taught art classes and coached the rodeo team for 10 years after he was hired here in 1970.

And he started a business. As a member of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association, the organization came to him with a problem that allowed him to start his business - designing B-C Rodeo awards. They were dissatisfied with the championship buckles at the rodeos," Clore said. "They knew I was an artist and asked me to design something bronze buckles for rodeos Clore made a proposal to the NIRA, which then commissioned him to design a set of awards exclusively for the association. This year marks the 14th consecutive year he has designed the awards, and he now designs all the rodeo awards for the 11 NIRA regions in the United States. "I was getting so busy that I had to come out with a catalog," said Clore, who has taught at K-State for 20 years. "I have designed awards for people in the United States, Canada and even in Mexico." His rodeo award artwork characterizes individual rodeo events. Each piece is created of cold-cast bronze cast of a sculptor's blend of finely powdered bronze with a high-quality casting resin, which creates an actual bronze surface.

■ See CLORE, Page 10

Expansion opposed

Dickinson County Commission against growth of Fort Riley

By The Associated Press

ABILENE - The Dickinson County Commission has agreed to oppose possible expansion of Fort Riley into the county.

"We oppose it because it involves Dickinson County families, Dickinson County lives and Dickinson County acres," Chairwoman Elaine Hassler said after the commission met with seven Dickinson County farmers Monday.

The commission moved to draft a resolution opposing expansion of the fort into the county.

Fort officials have proposed expanding the base by 100,000 acres to provide more space for training troops. Four proposed expansion sites, including a section of southcentral Clay County and northern Dickinson County, were announced last week.

Expansion must be approved by the Army and funding must be approved by Congress. Land acquisition would begin no sooner than

The Dickinson County farmers posed numerous arguments against the expansion at the meeting

The Clay-Dickinson county site is the most populated of the four areas, they said, and about 225 farm families would be forced to leave their land if it were chosen. "It's been their home too long," said Stan Scripter, who organized the Scripter and his son farm about 500 acres south of the Clay-Dickinson county line and stand to lose about half their land.

The loss of the land and its residents would erode the tax base and severely cripple funding for schools, townships and counties, Hassler said.

Student celebrates history through Highland Games

By Lori Mikesell Staff Reporter

Gregg Hammond may be a softspoken graduate student in adult occupational education, but behind his innocent blue eyes and soft voice is a rugged Highland Games veteran

The athletic competition is unlike any other. A combination of Scottish athletics, field events, sheep herding, bagpipe playing and dancing, the Highland Games are a celebration of Scottish history.

Hammond, whose ancestors came from Scotland, became interested in the games while watching the competitions. He decided to give the 56-pound pole throw for height a try, ended up winning the competition and has been participating in the Highland Games ever since.

Hammond said the games originated in Ireland with what was called the Clammart, or stone of strength. The tribes that migrated from Ireland to Scotland brought their athletics with them. Scottish chieftains modified the tests to select the strongest warriors. The Highland Games were

Today's events, all of which are carried out in traditional Scottish dress, include the caber throw, Hammond's favorite event. The caber, a 12- to 20-foot long pole weighing up to 240 pounds, resembles a telephone pole and is tossed end over end. But caber throwers don't strive for distance. Accuracy is the key to winning.

the better you get," Hammond said. "It's more than just muscle. The caber requires speed, timing and technique.'

Athletes tend to be in their mid-30s and 40s. Hammond said participants hit their peak around age

Also included in the Highland athletic events are the 56-pound throw for height, the 56-pound throw for distance and the sheaf toss, in which a ball of compressed straw is thrown into the air with a pitchfork and judged for height. Competitors also heave the stoneput, an event similar to the shotput, and can compete in the 22-pound hammer throw. Many of the Celtic events were forerunners to modern track and field events.

Hammond takes the competitions seriously. He trains year round, powerlifting during the winter and switching to heavier weights and practice throws as the games' season approaches.

He has competed professionally in the Celtic Highland Games circuit for five years. A two-time winner of the U.S. Western Highland Games in Estes Park, Colo., he has also been the overall Rocky Mountain Regional Champion twice.

Hammond and other Highland Games participants don't just compete for the sake of competing. Prize money is also at stake. For the last three years he has been the top professional money winner in Colorado. In addition, Hammond was invited to I'm 80," Hammond said, laughing.

"The longer you throw the caber, compete in Dallas in the Dewars North American Gathering of Champions.

Besides the prize money, Hammond said he participates for the personal satisfaction gained and the camaraderie shared among contestants. The Games are also a good way to celebrate Scottish heritage.

"It's more of a fellowship than a sport," he said. "The athletes are a lot older, and a die-hard core of 20 tend to compete at each game. Participants tend to be of Scottish or Irish descent. It's a sport rich in tradition passed on from father to son."

The five-time participant in Scottish Games said that in Scotland, Highland Gamers compete in a circuit of contests throughout the summer. The competitions resemble county fairs, with traditional folk dancing and bagpipe-playing. Women and children also join the festivities, competing in special events of their own.

The Scottish increase the difficulty of the caber throw, soaking the poles in water to make them even Hammond said the Highland Games are gaining in popularity throughout the United States, There's a competition in Kansas the Kansas City Highland Games held in June.

Hammond thrives on the unusual sport and has no plans to quit. In fact, he expects to keep on throwing.

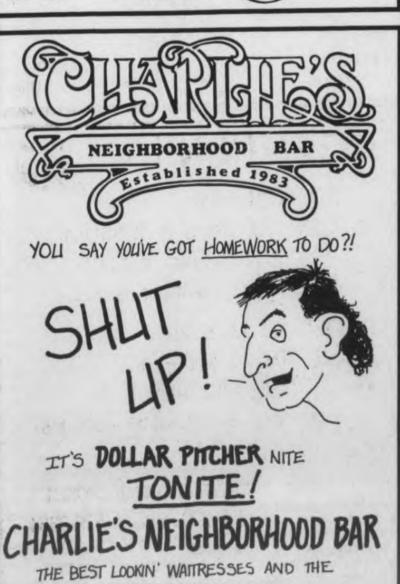

"I hope to keep on throwing till

5th & Poyntz 1227 Moro Downtown Aggieville 776-9067 539-1891

A Treasure Treasure April Special 20% OFF

LIGHTEST DOORMEN IN TOWN

Host to the Campus

She's losing a lot on this diet. Perhaps her life.

Already under 80 pounds, she's determined to get even thinner. A distorted view of her own body size leads her to turn down meals. Or to binge on food, then force vomiting. Or to exercise obsessively. Eating disorders like anorexia nervosa (voluntary starving) and bulimia (binging and purging) are serious psychological problems. With physical effects that can even lead to death. Charter Counseling Center, in cooperation with University of Kansas School of Medicine - Wichita, has programs specifically designed to treat anorexia and bulimia. Call Charter Counseling Center of Lawrence today to arrange an evaluation.

(913) 841-6000 3210 Mesa Way, Suite B Lawrence, Kansas 66044

of Lawrence

lf you don't get help at Charter, please get help somewhere.

EDITORIAL

Salivation not sincere form of flattery

because it is what women have been taught to believe," said Wally Martin, a National Organization for Women member speaking of the Delta Upsilon calendar-girl contest. Yes, it is a dangerous, dangerous disease being a wanted woman, or a wanted "girl," as the contest insists. (I bet none of the contestants look like adolescents and the audience would be quite disappointed if they did). Being wanted — it causes blindness. It causes mental foreclosure. Being wanted puts a woman on stage, even as she walks along the sidewalk to class, she can't help noticing a stare, a second glance. She can't help wondering if this is what it is - if it's that stare that makes her real, if that line around her eye or color livening her lip, if that's what makes her real, and wanted, and stared at.

I stare at the television. I stare at textbooks. inhabit the pages of magazines. But nothing life one way or another, and it won't affect think these women have the de- is real when stared at, when wanted so badly, sire to be looked at as desirable that to take it home and put it by your pillow would leave you feeling quite comfortably victorious. Buy a DU calendar and put that by your pillow.

"Men want gratification and this is one way to get that gratification," said Wally Martin with NOW. Neither men nor women will ever find gratification by flipping to a new babe/new hunk at the beginning of each month. This only creates longing, longing in the loins. Remember Pavlov and his dogs? This is the same trick. In Victorian times, men would salivate at the sight of a woman's ankle. Now men salivate incessantly.

But we are forgetting women. What do they want? Women want gratification, too. Is it gratifying to be salivated on? No, I don't think so. But do some women think so? I guess so, or there wouldn't be any contestants for this contest.

"Nothing bad has happened since my in-I stare at the beautiful men and women who volvement in the contest. It won't affect my any of the contestant's lives," said Jennifer Sandberg, senior in English. Juxtapose that statement with her next. "I think they are pushing the edges of exploitation by making them wear swimsuits in the calendar." Sandberg may need to define exploitation. Why is it that this "swimsuit issue" has necessitated a reaction within Sandberg, within NOW, and why not before, when the women wore clothing, but still worked to be stared at, to be wanted? Of course this contest will affect

One calendar girl may be swamped with phone calls and dates during her month's appearance, and then no phone calls, no dates, after her inevitable disappearance. One may be able to brag to her schoolmates from her hometown that a bar full of drunken hormones screeched with more intensity for her than for the other chicklings flapping their wings. Or another may even relish her position between the pages of this calendar, as an athlete relishes a trophy or a new record.

But do these women realize their glory will be short-lived, that their bodies will be relished and hung on walls like heads of hunted animals? Only the mold of their bodies will be known. The women will be meaningless except for the longing that they will create.

"(The competition) is a way of controlling and demoralizing women," said Wally Martin with NOW. And Jennifer Sandberg: "But I don't think the contest is exploitive in general because the women know what they are getting into when they enter." Both the women and men involved, contestants, audience, fraternity men, all are choosing

(whether it is a conscious choice or not) to be controlled and demoralized. Controlled by a learned reflex: for the men, to salivate; for the women, to want to be salivated on. Both men and women are losing touch with what is real about being human and what is real within e have all experienced the shock of getting involved in something and later finding ourselves disappointed, hurt or trivialized. We have all experienced the shock of finding that we have hurt someone without intention, without premeditated purposes. The DU men and the calendar contestants seem distant from the concerns that are being expressed; these men and women don't seem aware of the harm being perpetrated upon others, and upon themselves. Perhaps the emptiness will settle within them, the emptiness of objectifying another human, of objectifying oneself, and then perhaps, the shock will become real and concrete, and then, perhaps, they too will become real and human.

EDITORIALS

Child hearsay proposal deserves ratification

Legislators are elected to pass laws that improve the safety of citizens' lives. Senators and representatives are expected to scrutinize proposed legislation according to its policies and consequences.

Wednesday, the Kansas Senate Judiciary Committee considered a bill that would allow a child's hearsay statements into divorce cases when the child has allegedly been sexually or physically abused by one of the parents.

Child victim hearsay testimony is already allowed in criminal, child-in-need-of-care and juvenile offender proceedings.

Allowing such testimony in divorce cases, where visitation and custody are issues, would help protect children from continued abuse while slow-moving court action determines the validity of the allegations.

A child's statements are admissable in criminal cases in which someone could be thrown in jail, but not in divorce cases in which custody could be changed or visitation could be restricted, monitored or terminated.

Allowing professionals, who are trained to listen and document disclosures, to recount statements relevant to the allegations guarantees children a voice in their future. Children are more likely to talk openly and honestly to someone they trust, in a neutral environment, than to a stranger, in an intimidating environment in front of two parents they love and want to

More false allegations of abuse are made in custody cases than in any other, but that doesn't merit ignoring the children or assuming they are lying.

The most reliable accounts of what a child has experienced are statements made following the abuse. It is unrealistic to expect a small child, with drastically inferior memory capabilities than those of an adult, to recount something that happened years before the case finally makes it to trial.

The Senate committee let the bill die after the House passed it, 119-6. Assuredly, many pros and cons contributed to the committee's decision. Sen. Lana Oleen, R-Manhattan, said senators were concerned about a conflict of interest because the author of the bill is a lawyer in a related case. Oleen was referring to Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan.

Hochhauser was not the author of the bill. She asked the House Judiciary Committee to introduce the bill, and she testified in support of Hochhauser is representing a Manhattan woman in a divorce case where the father is alleged to have sexually abused his now 4-year-old twin daughters.

David Troup, a Junction City lawyer representing the father, sent written testimony opposing the legislation to the Senate and House committees.

Troup's interest in the bill could be motivated by his role in the same related case. Senate did not consider his involvement a conflict of interest.

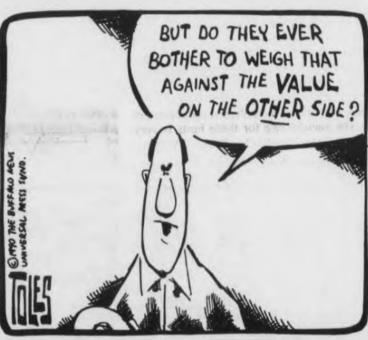

Legitimate arguments have been made for and against the hearsay proposal. Senate should have decided its action based on those arguments, not the motivation of parties concerned about the bill.

The hearsay legislation has been amended onto another bill, which passed the House, 123-0. The new bill now goes to a joint conference committee.

The committee's decision should reflect its opinion of the policies in the bill, not its supposition as to what motivates the individuals fighting for the bill's success or failure.

Raises inequitable

I'd like to clarify a slight inaccuracy in the March 23 Collegian. In your story, "Committee recommends salary study," whereby 30 members of the speech department faculty were said to have received $125,000 in salary increases. I wish it were true, because if it were, our average raise would have been $4,166. Our actually salary increase, for 311/2 percent faculty, was $77,015, which means our average raise was $2,444.

Although your article doesn't mention it, the primary cause of the growing inequity in faculty compensation compared to administrator compensation is that raises are determined by percent. Thus, the significantly higher pay of administrators means that their actual salary increase will be far greater than the average faculty increase. For example, according to the K-State Budget office, the average nine-month faculty salary is $35,713, while the average administrative salary is $59,438. The average faculty raise was 9.69 percent, or $3,460; the average administrative raise was 9.18 percent, or $4,997. The faculty and administration have agreed that administrative raises will not exceed the same percentage raise given faculty, but it is also important to note that a high percentage faculty raise will not come close in dollars to a low percentage administrative raise. In fact, the lower paid academic departments will continue to fall further and further behind with this system. That certainly seems to be true in the English Department which has found itself in the embarrassing position of hiring teachers for the beginning Composition I position at a salary of $16,000, $4,000 below that of a first-year teacher at our local high school. The $16,000 figure, by the way, nearly represents the size of one administrator's 1989-90 raise, with raises in the $7,000-$9,500 category being fairly common with the upper echelon of the administration.

There may be a relatively painless way to begin correcting these faculty inequities, especially those that exist in the lower ranks. If the administrative salary pot of $959,390 for 1989-90 had been reduced by 10 percent, that would have lowered the administrative average pay raise to 8.26 percent - $4,497 per administrator, still $1,000 more than the average faculty - and generated $95,939 that could have been used to correct such problems as the inadequate instructor salaries for the English Comp I classes. Further, if that pattern of salary increases were to continue over a period of time, many - if not most of the more glaring inequities would disappear. Perhaps Faculty Senate should consider recommending such a proposal to the administration for 1990-91.

> Phillip Anderson instructor, department of speech

Protect country

This letter is in regard to the letter by R.A. Cook in Wednesday's Collegian.

The Western world will have to be put to sleep. So we shall begin by launching the most spectacular peace movement on record. There shall be electrifying overtures and unheard of concessions ... As soon as their guard is down, we shall smash them with our clenched fist." This quote was made in 1930 by Dimitry Manuilsky, an instructor at the Lenin School of Political Warfare in Mikhail Gorbachev is a hardcore, doctrinaire Marxist-Leninist. The recent concessions that Gorbachev is allowing in the Soviet Union are for one reason: Western capital. The Soviet government needs Western money to strengthen the oppressive communist system. Americans need to realize that the goals of communism have not changed and react to protect our country.

> Amy D. Miller senior in biology

Contest respectful

Editor,

Pertaining to the article that appeared in the Collegian Friday, "Group protests calendar contest," we feel there are some misconceptions that must be cleared up.

This philanthropy project is designed to promote the women of K-State in a positive manner. We in no way intend for it to be degrading or demoralizing. We have taken many steps to ensure that each participant is treated with the utmost respect and decency. Over the past two years, we have mailed out questionaires to the former participants asking them to comment on various aspects of the competition. We have used this information to ensure that the men of Delta Upsilon and other parties involved have acted in a respectable and professional manner. Last year, the K-State chapter of Delta Upsilon donated $3,000, from the proceeds of the calendar project, to the Menninger Foundation in Topeka. This money went to provide families and homes for the care of troubled and orphaned children.

We hope the Manhattan and K-State communities will continue to support our efforts in raising money for the Menninger Foundation.

> Kurt Barrow president, Delta Upsilon

Enthusiasts obey

Editor.

Your article, "The Need for Speed," will make a few more opponents for motorcycling in general. It is too easy to lump all motorcycle riders together as trouble-makers and see only the negative. The truth is, people that exceed the speed limit are dangerous, not only to themselves but also to others.

Real motorcycle enthusiasts observe speed limits and are aware of their actions in relation to others. They realize every time they ride they are being judged by many. I have felt the thrill of speed, the Adrenalin rush of competition, but I also realize that this type of activity can only be enjoyed safely on a closed-course race track. Please realize the effect of your actions on others, physically as well as mentally. Is a quick thrill worth all the harmful consequences it may cause? Go ahead, Swor, McIlree and Hatcher, get your road-racing licenses and compete at Heartland Park in Topeka, I will be there to cheer you on. There will be two road-race schools this summer. The sport of motorcycling doesn't need any more negative examples.

> David Mitchell and 40 members of the Blue Valley motorcycle club

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

	News Staff
EDITOR	Erwin
ACCOUNT A SET A SEA A SEA CITATO EDUTION	Catherine
TOTAL EDITION	Craig Clair
DEPOSITAT DACE EDITOR	Enc r
WIOTO PIPEOD	Drag \
money portors	CALIS
THE PERSON NAMED OF THE PE	Ellen Dayton, Susan L Day
TOTAL TOTAL CONTROL CONTROL	RODER :
THE PARTY OF THE P	Cans I
TARE DEPOPTEDS	Lon Antrim, Paul Branson, Steve Fra
	Costona Hadidi Lori Mikesell, Tomari Quinn, Mensia Sun
CHARLE DEDORTED	Bryan A
TARE DISCOVERABLIEDS	Market Curkity Ouver Auto
	Brian Kratzer, Mark Lettingwell, David Mayes, Mise Venso, Steve Vic
SPORTS REPORTERS	KIPK CAPAWAY, KAPIN DELL'ABIORIA, AUGUS A
	Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Musaman, Brad Seab Mark Butler, Rod Gille
REVIEWERS	Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scro
	Rob Recor Dichard Broadfoot IIII Ha
STRIP CARTOONISTS	Richard Broa
EDITORIAL CARTOONIST	A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR
nc, Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.	a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publica The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and s. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.
POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Ka	inaas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Ma

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN FOCUS

PROJECT: RELEASE

Injured animals nursed back to health, returned to wild

After being released, the robin circled tentatively overhead before settling on a low branch. Roger Wallace flushed the bird from its perch, and the robin flew with greater strength to a higher branch.

with greater strength to a higher branch.

Wallace is treasurer for the Project Release Wildlife Rehabilitation Center, a non-profit organization established in 1989 to nurse animals back to health and return them to the wild.

About 30 minutes after its release, the robin was still hanging around the recovery site north of Manhattan. Wallace said having the release site in a secluded area is an advantage, because this was normal behavior for most newly released birds. No dogs or cats are near the site to prey on them.

"Most birds take a while to recover their senses, except great horned owls," Wallace said. "They head for the horizon."

Although returning a recovered robin to the wild may not be as dramatic as the release of a great horned owl, red-tailed hawk or bald eagle, it represented another success for the center.

Project Release membership is available to anyone with an interest in wildlife, but most of the members are either veterinary medicine or biology students,

Stephen Hoffman, president, said.

Animals need human care provided by Project Release, said Dr. Karen Munana, assistant instructor of surgery and medicine. Gunshot wounds and being hit by cars are the two primary causes of injuries to animals treated in the project, Munana said.

Animals are given an exam when they are brought to the K-State Veterinary Clinic, she said. If surgery is needed, animals are kept in the clinic until they heal. The rest of the recovery is in the more natural environment Project Release provides.

Wallace said the recovery sites are located in secluded areas, which are less stressful than the clinic. In the clinic, animals are surrounded by human activity and the sounds and smells of other animals.

"The whole idea is to isolate them as much as possible," Hoffman said.

In the recovery sites, 20-foot long flight cages allow injured raptors, like the three great horned owls currently recovering, to exercise their injuries, Wallace

Orphaned small mammals and songbirds represent another group of animals in the project.

"If contact with humans is not kept to a minimum, orphaned animals will destroy their chances of successfully adapting to the wild by imprinting with their caretakers," Wallace said.

The animals in the recovery sites are fed and watered once a day. At that time, their cages are cleaned, and volunteers check on their welfare. Otherwise, human activity is kept to a minimum, Hoffman said.

Wallace said the organization hopes to raise $10,000 this year through membership fees and fundraising activities. Much of the money will go toward food, but Project Release plans to add another cage at its site north of Manhattan this year, Wallace said.

Until recently, 80 to 90 percent of the animals in the program have been birds, many of them raptors, Wallace said. Project Release has already successfully released many raccoons, skunks and a beaver.

At this time of year, many orphaned songbirds are brought in. The success rate for these birds is very good if they have started to develop feathers, Wallace said.

Although the project already attracts animals from all across Kansas, Wallace said volunteers are in the process of setting up a transportation network of drivers and drop-off points to get the animals to K-State.

Local veterinarians may care for an animal if its injury is minor, but they often lack the training, space or the permits to care for the raptors, Munana said.

Not all the animals that come into the project recover enough to be successfully released to the wild, Munana said. In such cases, Project Release tries to place them in zoos or other educational programs.

Wallace said he comes to know the different animals he cares for, and he never has found a great horned owl that liked humans.

"They are all different," Wallace said. "All have different personalities: you can tell them apart."

TOP: This prairie falcon will have to spend the rest of its life in captivity due to a gunshot wound. Project Release hopes to give the bird to an educational group or zoo. LEFT: Erik Christensen, sophomore in veterinary medicine, prepares to release a great horned owl under the supervision of Project Release treasurer Roger Wallace (left). ABOVE: Dr. Karen Munana gives a kestrel its final examination. The kestrel was released later the same day.

PHOTOS BY DAVID MAYES

STORY BY ELVYN JONES

SPORTS

New coach not so new to 'Cats

Steve Wolgast/Staff

Former K-State basketball assistant and Marshall University head coach Dana Altman was a welcome sight to Wildcat players after he was named the replacement to former coach Lon Kruger Tuesday.

Players pleased with Altman

By David Svoboda Sports Reporter

In the space of just 48 hours, Jean Derouillere's basketball nightmare turned into one of the most pleasant dreams he's ever had.

For the K-State guard, Sunday's announcement by Lon Kruger that he was taking the head coaching job at Florida was a shock, to be sure.

But the announcement late Monday that Dana Altman, the man who had recruited Derouillere for K-State, was returning to Manhattan had Derouillere all but jumping for joy.

"I'm really excited about this happening," Derouillere said Tuesday morning, following the press conference formally announcing Altman's hiring as the school's 18th men's basketball coach.

"Dana Altman is one of the big reasons I came here. When he left (to take the head coaching position at Marshall), it was a big reason I was having trouble deciding whether or not to come to K-State. But he told me that I was going to be playing for Coach Kruger and that I should honor my committment."

That committment is now to

"Him coming back is a real plus for me," Derouillere said. "Depending on who came here, I was one of the players who was thinking about leaving if we didn't get the coach we wanted.

It's a plus in Derouillere's eyes for several reasons, not the least of which is that it helps heal some wounds that were opened Sunday. However, the hurt went away in a hurry, Derouillere said.

"I don't know that (Kruger's leaving) is a real downer, because Coach Altman is coming back," Derouillere

Derouillere said as a junior college player at Miami's Dade North Community College he had a good feeling about Altman the first time he met

"I remember talking to him late at night in his hotel," Derouillere recounted. "We talked about Kansas State and basketball. After we were done, I went to the court and put on a jersey. I was so fired up I started playing.

Keith Amerson didn't have the same type of exposure to Altman, having been recruited by another as-

I don't know that (Kruger's leaving) is a real downer, because Coach Altman Is coming back.

- Jean Derouillere basketball player

sistant and never having played under Altman. But the guard said he likes what he's seen thus far.

"When we heard that Coach Altman got the job, we knew that nothing was going to change," Amerson said.

Amerson's first encounter with Altman came following K-State's loss to Oklahoma State in the first round of the Big Eight Tournament in Kansas City.

"I met Coach Altman at the Big Eight Tournament," Amerson said. "He came inside the locker room after our loss. I was really impressed with him and the way he talked. He made me feel totally comfortable."

Amerson said he did not fault Kruger for leaving for Florida.

"You can't fault a man for wanting to move on," he said. "I think about myself coming here from California. I'd been there all my life, and I wanted to leave also.'

Men golfers sixth

Staff and Wire Reports

WICHITA — K-State's men's golf team finished exactly where it left off going into the third and final round of the second annual Shocker Classic Tuesday. The Wildcats posted an improved round of 305, but still finished in 6th place with a total of 932. Texas Wesleyan won the 13-team tournament by shooting 290-306-305 — 901.

The University of Wyoming finished second at 910 and Wichita State captured third-place honors at 917.

Individually for K-State, Richard Laing and Jeff Sedorcek both finished in fifth place with three round totals of 226, while Chris Thompson was 34th at 241, Brett Vuillemin was 35th at 241, and Bobby Donnellan was 56th at 254.

Next up for the K-State men will be the University of Missouri Invitational on April 9

Women golfers

Staff and Wire Reports NORMAN, Okla. - The K-State women's golf team opened the spring portion of their season at the Sue Berning Classic and finished in 12th place after 54 holes Tuesday. The Wildcat women posted scores of 368-365-360 -

The 26th-ranked Oklahoma Sooners dominated the tournament field and continued to improve with each round as they won their home tournament by posting rounds of 323-308-304 -935. Kansas finished in second with a 957 total.

Individually for K-State, Chris Adams led the Wildcat women with a three-round total of 256, while Valerie Hahn was 42nd at 267, Jill Zientara was 52nd at 277, Theresa Coyle was 56th at 282, and Ashley Johnson was 59th

Las Vegas celebrates Running Rebels' title

LAS VEGAS — College basketball's new national champions returned home Tuesday as the premier attraction in this city of the stars.

Names of UNLV Runnin' Rebel players flickered across Strip marquees and residents of this city of 750,000 remained in a party mode following Monday night's 103-73 victory over Duke for the national

The Rebels arrived on a charter flight shortly after 3 p.m. EDT at a restricted area of McCarran International Airport. The arrival was closed to the public because several thou- shot." sand people mobbed the UNLV players on their arrival home following the West Regional last month.

Rebel coach Jerry Tarkanian said Monday night's victory was "just beginning to sink in.

"I feel real good now," Tarkanian said. "I felt too emotionally drained last night to realize what had happened. It really hit me this morning."

"Our kids played their best game in their biggest game," he said. "I told our kids before the game it would come down to the last shot, and I was hoping we'd have that last

A parade was planned Tuesday night through downtown's Glitter Gulch and along the Las Vegas Strip. A welcome home ceremony was set for the 18,500-seat Thomas & Mack Center, where the Rebels play.

Strip marquees which feature top names in the entertainment world carried messages of congratulations, along with the names of the Rebel

Las Vegas Metro Police braced for a second night of rowdyism as Rebel faithful celebrated their first national championship in three trips to the Fi-

Police closed Maryland Parkway, the main street through the UNLV campus, Monday night because of the celebrants. The street was reopened after crowds thinned out.

One officer suffered a minor injury and one person was arrested after some 800 people gathered at Tarkanian's Celebrity Sports Club, across from campus. Police said 800 people packed the lounge at one point. Another person was injured when cut with a broken beer bottle at Cheers Bar and Grill, near the

Some car windshields were broken at the Thomas & Mack Center, where thousands of fans gathered to watch the game.

At least two thrown beer bottles hit police cars in front of the Slots A Fun Casino on the Strip.

More than 2,000 Las Vegans who went to Denver for the basketball classic headed home late Monday and early Tuesday. More than 500 returned on four charter flights in the pre-dawn hours.

Denver's Stapleton Airport echoed with chants of "Rebels, Rebels" as fans headed for flights home.

Baseballers sweep Emporia St.

By Scott Paske Sports Reporter

Coach Mike Clark said his baseball team is hungry right now. Starving might be a better word.

The Wildcats, coming off a fourgame sweep of Oklahoma over the weekend, used a pair of dramatic comebacks in the second game Tuesday to claim a doubleheader sweep over NAIA opponent Emporia State at Frank Myers Field.

K-State won the first of two seven-inning contests, 8-4, and captured the nightcap, 10-9, in extra innings.

The sweep gave the 'Cats a sixgame winning streak and improved their overall record to 14-11. K-State leads the Big Eight race by two games with a 4-0 mark.

"The kids are in that mood where somebody's going to get the job done," Clark said. "Everybody feels it, and you can feel it in the dugout. It's a fun place to be."

In the nightcap, the 'Cats rallied from an 8-5 deficit off Hornet reliever Mark Kanger, Chris Hmielewski and Blair Hanneman drew back-to-back walks to start the first comeback. After L.J. Twyner grounded into a fielder's choice, Jeff Troll's single scored Hmielewski.

First baseman Kevin Kaufman followed with a line drive down the leftfield line that would have scored Hanneman, but the home plate umpire ruled it a foul ball. After fouling off several pitches, Kaufman delivered a sacrifice fly to center that cut the lead to 8-7.

With two outs, pinch hitter Brian Culp tied the game by doubling to center on Kanger's first pitch, scor- home run gave K-State a 6-0 lead.

"We could have laid down and been satisfied in the seventh inning of the second game, but the kids kept fighting," Clark said. "These kids don't want to lose."

After Emporia State got an RBI single from Chris Kallaher in the top of the ninth, K-State was forced to fight again.

The 'Cats began the gamewinning rally with one out. Kaufman and Culp drew consecutive walks off reliever Bruce Huelsmann. Shortstop Craig Wilson

We're getting fantastic leadership.

- Mike Clark, baseball coach drove in pinch runner Mike Dunaway with a single to center, and catcher Jeff Ryan's infield single scored Culp for the win.

"We're getting fantastic leadership from some of our kids," Clark said. "And we're getting this against quality, quality opponents."

Ryan's heroics salvaged a win for Hmielewski, who came on in relief of sophomore Greg Laddish in the sixth inning. Greg McNamara pitched a complete game in the opener for the win.

"Mac and Greg both gave us great outings," Clark said. "McNamara was strong after a rough outing last time and Laddish kept us in it going into the sixth. What a pickup they were."

McNamara was aided by a twoout grand slam by right fielder Scott Stroth in the second inning. Stroth's

The 'Cats' power punch, a rare commodity during the first half of the season, came to the forefront Tuesday. In addition to Stroth's blast, third baseman Brad Rippelmeyer and Hanneman added tworun home runs in the nightcap.

"These were not really pivotal wins for us, but it certainly builds more confidence," Clark said.
"We've struggled at times up to this point, but instead of getting on them, what we did was kind of back away from them a little bit."

K-State continues its weekday schedule Thursday with a rescheduled doubleheader with Tarkio College. The first of two seveninning contests is slated for 2 p.m. at Frank Myers Field.

Clark said he would use a "potpourri staff" on Thursday, meaning several pitchers will take the mound for anywhere from one to four innings of work. The 'Cats' top four starters will be saved for the upcoming weekend series at Kansas, which begins with a 7 p.m. contest Friday at Hoglund-Maupin Stadium.

Oliver Kaubisch/Staff

Greg Laddish helped pitch K-State through a doubleheader sweep of NAIA power Emporia State Tuesday at Frank Myers Fleid.

Kruger introduced as Florida coach

By Jason Davis Contributing Reporter

GAINESVILLE, Fla. - Lon Kruger was introduced Tuesday as the head basketball coach at the University of Florida, fully aware of the Gators' beleaguered program, yet filled with optimism for the future.

"The situation here provided a tremendous amount of potential," said Kruger, who was hired Sunday after spending four years as head coach at K-State. "I know there has been some trouble here, but this opportunity intrigues us.'

Kruger takes over a program that has been under NCAA investigation since 1989. He replaces Norm Sloan, who was forced to retire Oct. 31, in the wake of NCAA rules violations; and interim coach Don DeVoe, who said he would not seek the full-time job after drawing the ire of fans critical of Florida's 7-21 record last Kruger, who will earn nearly $245,000 a year excluding perks, said he was not disappointed in his job at K-State, his alma mater. He said Florida's offer was too good to

"I was totally pleased with the people at Kansas State," Kruger said. "It was a difficult decision, because that's home.

"To put my finger on one tangible reason is very difficult. We feel like this is a challenge of a different Kruger said the continuing NCAA investigation concerns him, but had little factor in making his decsion.

"It's very obvious the university has cooperated with it (the probe), Kruger said. "(Florida Athletic Director) Bill Arnsparger has made it clear he wants a person who won't cut any corners and will do things the right way."

Kruger was approached about the job "about 10 days ago," he said, and was offered the position on Friday.

Kruger has a reputation as a player's coach. That became obvious after several Florida players talked with him.

"I talked to him on the phone, and he showed a lot of interest in the team," said Gators star forward Livingston Chatman, who left the team in January after disagreements with DeVoe. "I don't see any problems with him. He is a people person."

Chatman said he plans to talk more to Kruger before deciding to rejoin the squad.

Several other players agreed with Chatman's impression of Kruger. "He seems to be very open, really positive," said starting guard Re-naldo Garcia. "He wants to give us the best opportunity to win.' But there's more than just winning in Kruger's game plan. 'We'll assess the strengths and weaknesses in our players, but that'll come later," Kruger said. "Our philosophy is to visit with players a lot and get to know them. "We want them to hang around the office between classes. We want to get the coaches in the dorms. There's certain amount of confidence that needs to be there."

Jason Davis is the sports editor of the University of Florida's student newspaper, the Independent Florida

Film creates realistic view

Director rejects stereotypes in version of Christ's life

Director Martin Scorsese's The Last Temptation of Christ" is an ambitious film that fights against 2,000 years of popular opinion.

The film, perhaps better known for its controversy than its content, is an intense, occasionally flawed work by the acclaimed director.

"The Last Temptation of Christ" is unlike the stereotypical Hollywood interpretation of the life of Christ. The film eschews special effects and glossy Technicolor dreamscapes. Instead, it attempts to recreate a more realistic version of life in Christ's era.

Scorsese's recreation of the past is far from idyllic. It is a life of harsh reality in the desert. Its characters are not saints; they are human. On a grand scale, the film is a study of human nature.

An important and often overlooked point about "The Last Temptation of Christ" is the fact that the film is not a Biblical interpretation. It is based on the novel of the same name by Greek author Nikos Kazantzakis.

Like the film, Kazantzakis' book was no stranger to criticism. Both focus on Christ the man rather than Christ the savior.

The paradox between humanity and divinity has intrigued Scorsese for almost twenty years since he first read Kazantzakis' book. If it were not for the fact that the subject involved was Jesus Christ, the film would have escaped controversy and been tential is not realized. judged solely for its contents and merits.

This simplistic view is, of course, not the case for "The Last Temptation of Christ." Scorsese's imposing task is to strip away preconceptions and myths that have arisen since the dawn of Christianity.

Despite the fact the film is not drawn from the Bible, it is full of Bowie's portrayal of Pontius Pibiblical scenes and characters.

The challenge is to view the film objectively. Perceived plot inconsistencies are stumbling blocks for heightened understanding. Scorsese is not telling Bible stories. He is involved in exploring the psyches of the film's

To achieve his goal, Scorsese enlisted Willem Dafoe to play the title role. Dafoe's Christ is human and, as a result, victimized by human foibles. The actor expertly portrays a seesaw battle between Christ's divine mission and his human flaws and desires roiling within him.

It was in this film that Dafoe proved himself more than capable of any acting challenge. It was one thing to portray a Vietnam soldier as he did in "Platoon." To portray the figurehead of a major religion in a unconventional light is stupefying. Dafoe brims with contradictions and emotions in "The Last Temptation of Christ."

Likewise, Barbara Hershey is stunning as Mary Magdalene. Her involvement with the film goes beyond her onscreen performance. In fact, it was Hershey who persuaded Scorsese to make the film after she read the novel. Her obvious passion for the project radiates from the screen. She brings an unexpected sensuality to her role as the prostitute who becomes a confidant of Christ.

Dafoe and Hershey's scenes together are intense. The relationship between Christ and Mary Magdalene epitomizes the paradox of passion and piety. Christ's fantasies involving Mary Magdalene are provocative, but they support the film's intent.

Unfortunately, the principals are not supported by the cast as fully as could be expected. While the talent is there in theory, its po-

Harvey Keitel plays a bold Judas who is puzzled by his friend and leader's confusion. While Keitel reinterprets a character previously thought of onedimensionally, his credibility is undermined by a thick New York accent. It is a jarring revelation when Keitel utters his first lines.

Even more upsetting is David ■ See REVIEW, Page 10

Film boosts Monroe's career

Modest role helps actress to stardom

By Richard Jones Collegian Reviewer

"I want to stay in the fantasy of Everyman." — Marilyn Monroe.

With the success of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," came the distinc-tion, for both Marilyn Monroe and co-star Jane Russell, of making their hand and foot prints in the wet cement on the famed sidewalk in front of Grauman's Chinese Theater. That film completed, Marilyn returned to the set to make "How to Marry a Millionaire.'

Nunnally Johnson had written the story about three models and their plan to trap wealthy husbands. Marilyn starred as Pola Debevoise, the character Johnson had created with her in mind.

As Pola, Marilyn plays a nearsighted model whose insecurity about her glasses leads to several

Lauren Bacall plays Schatze Page, the sensible model who initiates the idea of the three ladies moving into a New York high rise and sharing the expenses.

"How to Marry a Millionaire" also features Betty Grable as Loco Dempsey. At one time, Grable had earned the distinction of being 20th

Oversize

Copies

kinko's

the copy center

1329 Anderson

Manhattan, KS

(913) 537-7340

FAX*537-0967*FAX

Tom Brookman, played by Cameron Mitchell, a man who pursues her Bridal Registry E. E. E. E. E. 1224 Moro Singrin Assis

Grable's career began a steady decline that continued throughout

"How to Marry a Millionaire."

Originally, Grable had top billing in the film, but before the picture was finished, she terminated her contract and Marilyn became the film's star.

marry men they love, rather than with a wealthy married man, but falls in love with Eben, a forest ranger played by Rory Calhoun.

Determined to board a plane without the use of her glasses, Pola mistakenly takes the wrong flight. Her misadventure leads to an introduction to Freddie Denmark, played by David Wayne. Freddie not only wears glasses himself, but also convinces Pola that she is just as beauti-

Schatze finally gets a wealthy older man to the alter, but, at the last minute, acknowledges her love for ful wearing hers.

ones they know to be wealthy.

Ultimately, the ladies meet and

Loco goes away for the weekend

The Ranch

Thursday Night "Diamond Rio" Band

9 p.m. $2 cover charge

$2 Pitchers

Century Fox's biggest star, but, with throughout the film. Marilyn's increasing popularity, Much to her surprise, one of the women unknowingly marries a wealthy man.

"How to Marry a Millionaire" was the third film Marilyn completed in less than two years and, in some opinions, was the first movie in which the public liked Marilyn for herself. She attributed this to the fact that Pola was the first character she ever played that was modest about her appearance.

Marilyn's courtship with Joe Di-Maggio was very well-publicized, and any doubts she had earlier expressed to Jane Russell concerning the relationship disappeared in late spring of 1953. DiMaggio's brother, Mike, had been found dead in Bodega Bay, and during the funeral Marilyn saw a side of her lover that lessened her doubts.

Buffy, top hair designer specializes in long hair, and men's styling. For introduction, Buffy is offering 50% off (reg. $16) cut with style through April 14.

Call Buffy for your personal appointment.

Behind the scenes of "How to Marry a Millionaire," Marilyn often spoke to Bacall about her children and home life, two things Marilyn had always wanted but never had. Grace McKee, who had once been her legal guardian, had taken her own life in September of 1953 with an overdose of barbiturates, the same drug that later killed Marilyn.

Editor's note: In this series of articles about Marilyn Monroe pertinent details concerning the actress' life come from Anthony Summers' biography "Goddess: The Secret Lives of Marilyn

-TONIGHT- 9 p.m. Support Sig Ep

> Fite Nite with Knockouts

Penny Gregg ГФВ Robin Turner KA Gail Anson ΣΣΣ Natalie Hurtig XQ Christie Peterson KAO Cheryl Gregory AXΩ Lisa Armstrong AΔΠ Stephanie Johnson ПВФ Susie McCullough ΔΔΔ Sally Meadows KKT Stacy Berberich AE∆

> FITE NITE April 18-22 Weber Arena

Proceeds go to American Heart Association

WAL-MART Pictureland Portrait Studio

1-8x10, 2-5x7s and

10 wallets

on your choice of a traditional nursery, spring or fall background

Easter Portrait Special!

FREE 8x10 And 16 FREE Mini-Portraits

PLUS $3 OFF the regular $9.95 package price

Plus a FREE 8x10 and 16 FREE Mini-Portraits!

6 Days Only! Tuesday, April 3 through Sunday, April 8

Manhattan, KS 628 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

WANTED:

Student Governing Assn. Elections Committee Chair & Vice-Chair

Responsible for the equitable running of the KSU SGA elections (for student body president, Student Senate, Board of Student Publications): Oct. 30 & 31, 1990

Applications available in the SGS Office and are due by 5 p.m. Wed. April 11th.

INTERNATIONAL WEEK

April 2 - April 9

Schedule of Events

Traditional Arab Dance - "The Dabkah" 12:00pm Monday (Arab Students Association) Run Away (Chinese) 3:00pm Blood of the Condor (Bolivian) 7:00pm Indian Drums - "The Tablah" 12:00pm (Indian Students Association) Warm it was that Winter (Korean) 3:00pm 7:00pm JOM (African) International Exhibits Wednesday 12:00pm (10:00am - 3:00pm) Permissive Dreams (Egyptian) 3:00pm Warm it was that Winter (Korean) 7:00pm African Drummers 12:00pm Blood of the Condor (Bolivian) 3:00pm Run Away (Chinese) 7:00pm AJO DEL PAIS (Garlic of the Land) 12:00pm Friday Latin American Music JOM (African) 3:00pm Permissive Dreams (Egyptian) 7:00pm

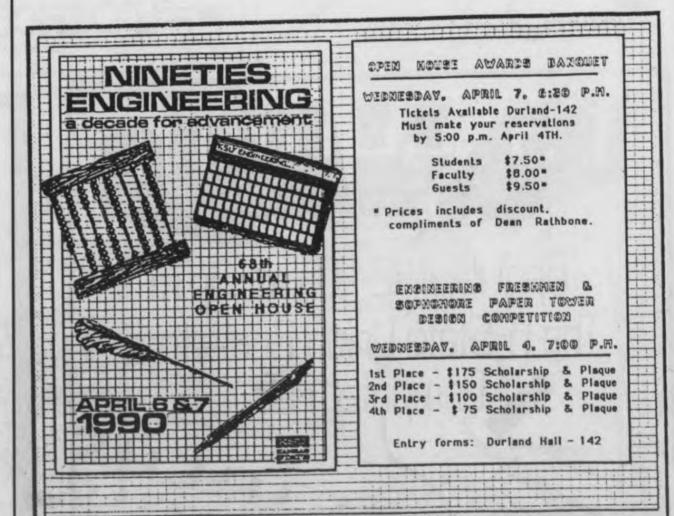

International Students Center Open House

King's Potluck Dinner Sunday

International Students Center

* Movies will be shown at Little Theatre All noon activities will be at the Union Courtyard.

All activities are free to the public

Mike Venso/Staff

Luminous sculptor

Brad Anderson, graduate in ceramics, works on a clay sculpting project Monday evening in his ceramics studio in West Stadium.

Dispatcher CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

15, Beckom responded to the appeal. Beckom wrote that Girard had never been fired.

However, Girard said, he was not allowed to work from Feb. 16 to March 24 and was removed from student work schedules.

According to Beckom's letter, Girard was still an employee of the department.

"First, I would like to inform you that as of this date you still appear as an employee with us," Beckom wrote. "Contrary to what you have just stated in your letter, neither (Laurie Harrison) nor anyone else has dismissed you from employment with this department."

Girard, however, wrote in his letter to Beckom that he was fired for failing to agree to comply with the shift change.

"My employment at the Kansas State University Police Department was terminated by Laurie Harrison, under the direction of Lt. Robert L. Mellgren," Girard wrote in his letter.

A student employee for the campus police department, who asked not to be identified, said Girard's name had been crossed off the schedule of student dispatchers Feb. 16.

Employees within the department were told Girard was fired, she said. The student employee said when she asked Harrison whether Girard had been fired or had quit, she was told he had been fired.

The student said the police department's night dispatcher was informed Feb. 16 not to let Girard into security areas where only employees are allowed.

Later, employees were told Girard had decided to quit his job, and that he was not fired, she said.

"Then, everything got turned around, somehow they manipulated it to where he just quit or did not show up," the student said. "But, in fact, he was fired." Girard said he did not quit his job with the police department. "If I had quit Saturday, why was I whited off the schedule Friday?" Girard said. "All I had to go on was rumors, no one communicates with you.

John Lambert, director of public safety, also received a copy of the letter to Beckom written by Girard. In an interview before Girard was reinstated, Lambert said he did not foresee him getting his job back.

"I talked to the people who worked on his shift, and I also talked to the administrators in the department," Lambert said. "The police administrators do not want him working

He said it was Beckom's decision whether or not to allow Girard to return to work.

Look for the Collegian Auto Directory

Bumper sticker bill passes Senate

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — The Senate Tuesday passed, 29-8, a bill that some lawmakers hope will force people to clean up their bumpers.

Dubbed the "dirty bumper sticker bill," the measure makes it clear that present obscenity laws pertain to bumper stickers.

The bill is the brainchild of Sen. James Francisco, D-Wichita, who said he got tired of seeing such bumper stickers on cars.

The measure now goes to the House.

Francisco originally wanted to outlaw seven specific words on bumper stickers, or make them so small they could not be read, but lawmakers were reluctant to put those words in the state statute books. Those seven words were the ones banned by mission from the air waves. Lawmakers also were worried that the original bill had some constitutional problems regarding free

the Federal Communication Com-

Francisco said the new bill simply spells out that what appears on bumper stickers is covered by the state obscenity laws.

"That message needs to get out," Francisco said. The senator, however, predicted the House would not pass the bill.

He said he has received about 70 to 80 letters about the issue since he first introduced the bill in the Senate Transportation and Utilities Committee. Most of the letters have been in support of the bill, he said.

"You can't legislate good taste," said Sen, Janice McClure, D- Sublette, who voted against the measure. She said the bill is likely to goad people to see how much they can get away with on their car bumpers.

Sen. Wint Winter, R-Lawrence, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said Attorney General Robert Stephan indicated the bill is not necessary, since bumper stickers are covered presently under the state obscenity laws.

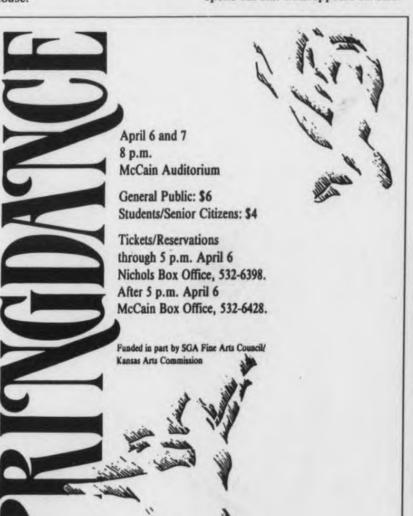

"This is legislative overkill," Winter said.

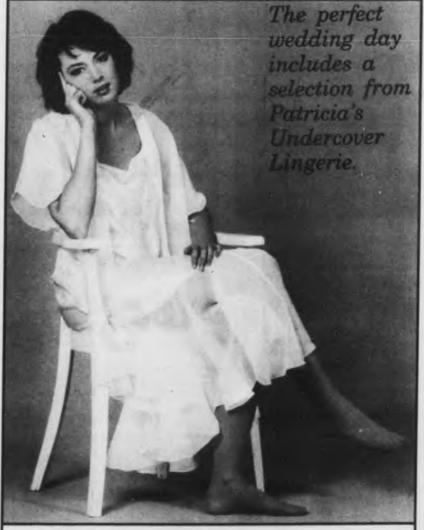

at the Forum Thursday, April 5 7-9 p.m.

Tickets 5 & 7

For advance tickets call 537-9560

1224 Moro Aggieville

Lay-A-Way

Patricia's

Lingerie

M-F 10-6 Thur. 10-8 Open House Specials From the K-State Union Bookstore

(We'll be open April 6 until 7 p.m. for your convenience)

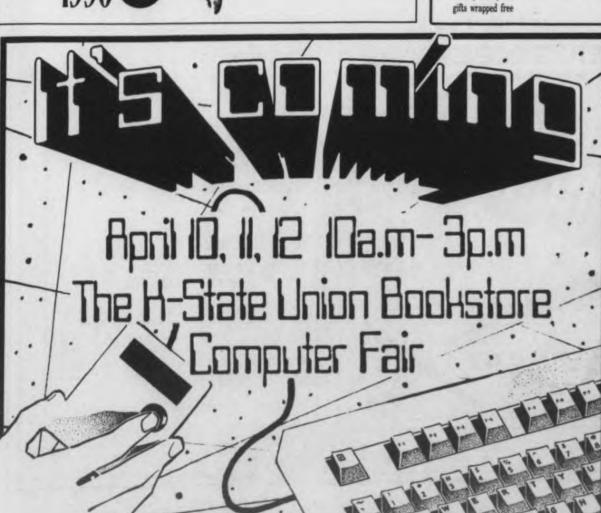

Get these specials from our Arts & Engineering Department while quantities last!

Las Cruces Purple Mat Board Reg. $2.65 Sale Price $1.99 Lavender Poster Board Sale Price $1.50 Reg. $1.90 Royal Purple Streamers Sale Price $3.50 Reg. 4.15 Violet Tempra Paint Sale Price $1.25 Reg. $1.50 10% Off any other supplies purchased for

K-State Union Bookstore

All University Open House Preparations

Support the K-State Union. Dollars spent in the Union support youl

Texthook Sale

SALE BOOKS PRICED AT

ONLY $299 OR LESS!

- ·Hundreds of new & used textbooks
- Various fields of study
- ·Some previously used at K-State
- ·Some from other universities
- Old editions
- Wholesaler overstock

Don't pass up this great opportunity to add to your personal library at a fraction of the regular cost!

Mon.-Sat.

12-5 Sun.

Sexual harassment cases area, speaker says

By Angela Lawson Collegian Reporter

Most cases of sexual harassment do not fit the classic example of clear-cut harassment.

The classic example of sexual harassment is that 'you do something for me sexually, and I will do something for you organizationally," said Skip Saal, professor of psychology. "This includes not only money, but also promotions."

Saal said this type of sexual harassment is only 3 to 5 percent of the cases reported. The other cases involve a much grayer area where the perpetrator often does not realize he is doing something wrong.

Saal spoke Tuesday evening at the first in a series of lectures entitled "It's An Attitude", a series about self-defense for women.

Around 40 to 60 percent of all women have been subjected to some form of sexual harassment in the last two years, Saal said.

male fine of the constant with the recognizes sexual harassment as any sexually oriented behavior that has the effect of creating a hostile work environment.

"The good and bad of this definition is that it lets harassment lie in the eye of the beholder," he said. This allows the individual to decide what makes her uncomfortable, Saal said, but does not put the actions in black and white.

The usual reaction to sexual harassment is to ignore it, he said. Unfortunately, this will not stop it.

The first step is to tell the person that what they are doing is making you uncomfortable," Saal said. "If you don't like them putting their hand on your shoulder, tell them that 'you and I don't know each other that well. Would you mind not putting your hand on my shoulder?

'Sexual discrimination is not the same thing as sexual harassment,' he said. "(Discrimination) does not He said the federal government have the sexual component that sexual harassment does, but it is still very wrong."

Sexual harassment could be the telling of sexual jokes, frequent advances, a touch, or anything that is of a sexual nature and makes a woman feel uncomfortable, Saal said.

Although men have been victims of harassment, Saal said it was very rare and a different type of experience.

'As a group, males are more inclined to look at a questionable behavior and say that it is okay," he said. "They are also more likely to look at the behavior and say that it is sexual in nature."

Programs in "It's an Attitude" are scheduled for every Tuesday in April. The first presentation was the lecture and group discussion led by Saal.

About 20 people attended the lecture in the Manhattan Public Li-

Policy

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 versity administrative staff and interested parties," Miller said. "I made the decision on Sunday night."

According to University policy, after normal procedures are waived, the department hiring must follow three steps.

First, a job description including duties and qualifications must be prepared. Next, candidates should be reguired to compile credentials such as a curriculum vita, names of references and a letter stating their priorities, he knows what he has to son), that's a major concern," Altman said. "And we need to replace a

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"We need to replace Steve (Hen-

Altman

Finally, a committee representing

University interests must be appointed by the appropriate administrative authority to evaluate, interview and recommend the candidates for the position.

"To the greatest extent, we followed the procedures," Miller said. The job description was already on file, he said, and Altman's responsibilities as coach at Marshall University in West Virginia and the current situation qualified him.

"I think we involved all the necessary parties," Miller said. The views of affirmative action, the University administration, the athletic department and other interested parties, such as alumni, were all represented,

With Tony (Massop) gone, and

Lance (Simmons) gone, and Reggie

Britt and Billy Smith, we've got a lot of players leaving on that front line.

Howard, but other than that, we need some size. So, we're definitely gonna have to get to work and get some players that can help us.'

"John Rettiger's back, and Wylie

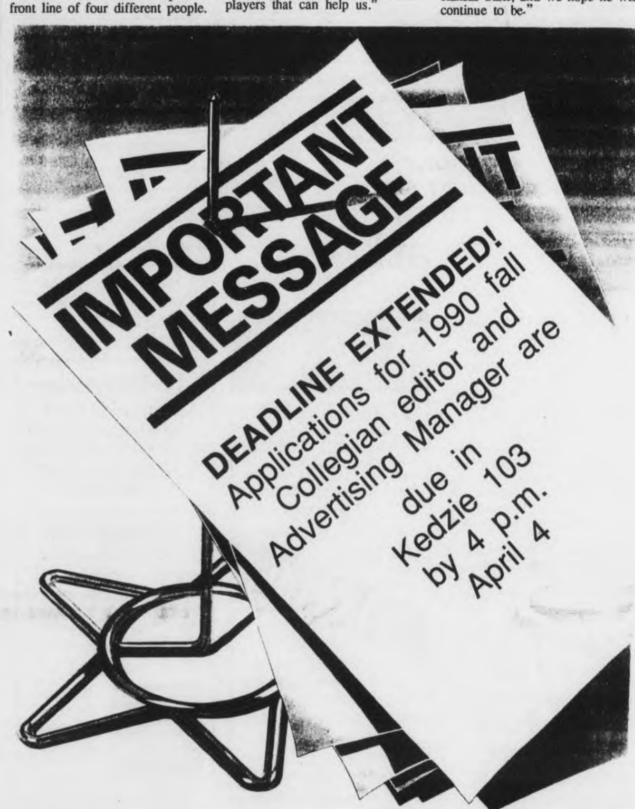

Altman's hiring also raised ques-tions about the University hiring freeze. Provost James Coffman said if the president or vice president approved the hiring and the department had identified and marked the money for the budget recision, the department was free to hire.

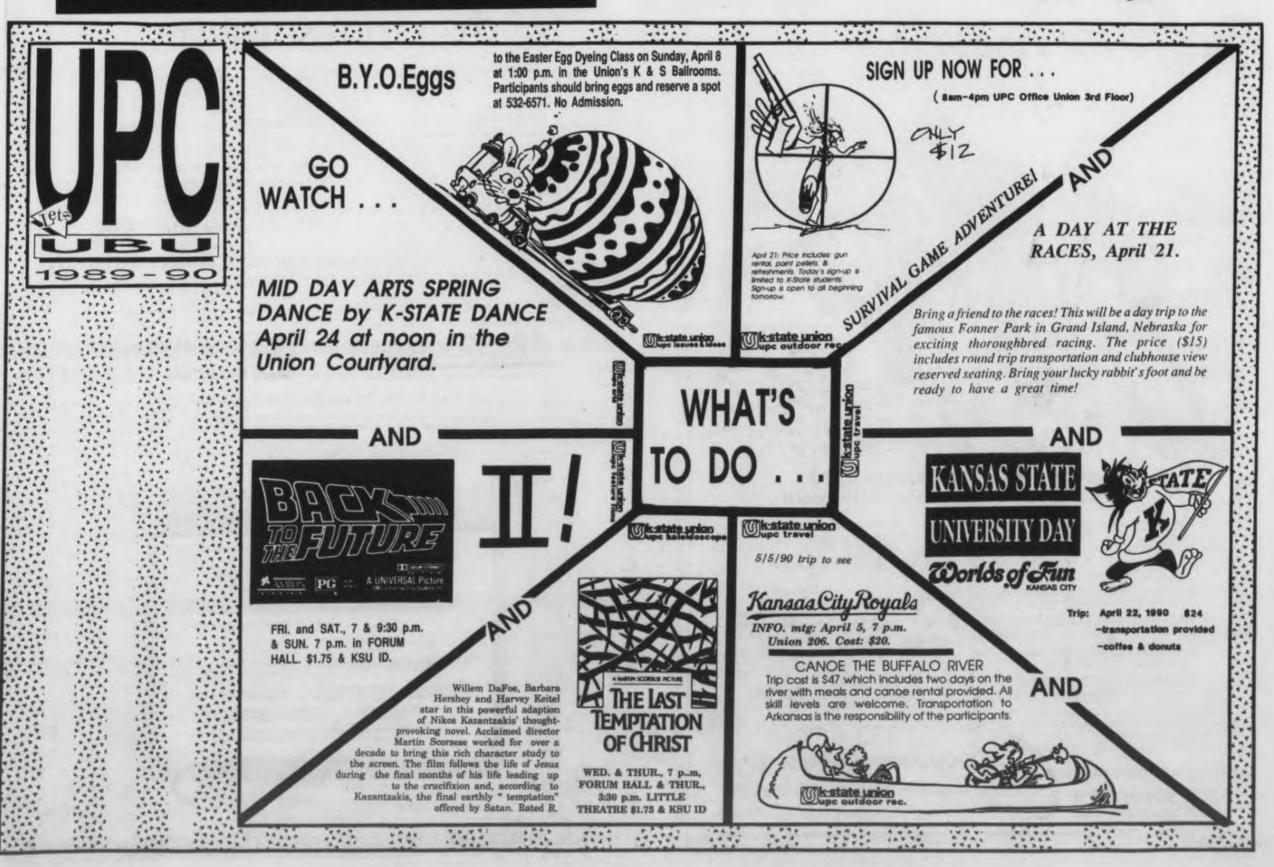

The money for the men's head basketball coach is provided mutually from the department and University funds, Miller said. The money was allocated at the beginning of the year, and the hiring did not create any increase in expenditures, he said.

With the immediacy of Altman's recruiting priorities, and his success at the junior college ranks in the past, he will most likely go the junior college route right away. We need some players who can play immediately, and the junior college player has been successful at Kansas State, and we hope he will continue to be.'

Review

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7 late. Bowie is an accomplished actor when he wants to be as is evident by his role in Nicolas Roeg's "The Man Who Fell To Earth." For Scorsese, Bowie merely plays Bowie.

The director himself falters on occasion. Scorsese is a master of urban dramas like "Taxi Driver" and "Raging Bull." Consequently, he had to step out of his element to make an historical recreation.

Ultimately, Scorsese's convictions overshadow any faults and inconsistencies. It is his belief in the film that makes the film succeed.

"The Last Temptation of Christ" is a complex film with as many meanings as there are viewers. It is sure to offend some and to enlighten others. However, it is almost certain that no one will be unaffected by the film.

The Last Temptation of Christ" is a Union Program Council Kaleidoscope film and is rated R. It lasts 164 minutes and will be shown at 7 p.m. today in Forum Hall, at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in Little Theatre and at 7 p.m. Thursday in Forum Hall. Admission is $1.75.

A panel discussion about the film is scheduled after the 7 p.m. shows Wednesday and Thursday in Forum Hall. Panel members include Jim Hamilton, associate professor of philosophy; Orma Linford, associate professor of political science; Ed Schiappa, assistant professor of speech, and Sheryl Witmer, program director of the University Parrish of United Methodists.

Clore

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

The core is filled with a highquality casting resin. The plaques are then hand-polished to a finish reminiscent of traditional classic bronze. Clore does all his own engraving using computer programs. "I used to do it all by hand, but now I am too busy," said Clore, who designed the awards for the K-State rodeo this past weekend. "This is the first year we have given awards away at the rodeo," said Daryn Kunkel, president of the Rodeo Club and junior in animal sciences and industry. "They express a lot of the western value of each

"I like teaching, but I am glad that I have my other business," Clore said. "This is important to me. I am not a Western artist. I am a contemporary artist."

Is your car on its last leg, and you need a fuel-efficient car? Read the Classifieds.

CE TO THE FINI

Kedzie 103

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper. Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the adver-tiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error ex-ists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by dalling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day; $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, nal origin, sex or ancestry.

Announcements

A BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics. Janet Milliken, 539-9469.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor. 539-2070.

airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193. COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five

SALES OPPORTUNITY of the nineties, full/ part-time. Present image improvement tools to women and men. Color analysis, beautycare, wardrobing and fashion accessories. Excellent income, flexible hours. Ms. Swanson, 7431 Ouivira Road, Box 140, Shawnee, Kansas 66216. (913)631-0472.

U.G.L.Y.— You ain't got no alibi... not to be at Kite's Bar and Grille tonight for U.G.L.Y. Nite. Ugly DJs Jerry Dixon and John Fuller, waitress auction and more Proceeds help fight M.S. See you there!

ON CAMPUS

ENROLL NOW! Three Ad Production Internships available for Fall 1990 Title of course: Publica tions Practice, 1 cred JMC 360. 8:30-11 ay based . The class is

The experience you gain here increases the chance of a PAID part-time position on staff the following semester.

Kedzie 113.

Come to Kedzie 113 immediately for more information and instructor's

Enter Our Sweepstakes Today And Finish At The Most Exciting Race In Europe...The Tour De France!

2 Apartments—Furnished

A LARGE two-bedroom sublease, 1010 Thurston. Everything— central air, full kitchen, etc. $399 negotiable, 537-3346.

532-6555

FOR AUGUST or June. Next to KSU. Deluxe two-bedroom apartment for three people. $440. 539-2482 after 4p.m. FOR THE next school year. Luxurious two-bedroom apartment. Near campus at 363 N. 14th. Central air, laundry, balcony, new carpet and off-street parking. $425. 537-0428.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. 539-1465.

NEXT TO campus— Apartment complex, 1832 Claffin Road across Goodnow and Mariatt. One bedroom, furnished, central air, off-street parking, quiet. Evenings 539-2702.

ONE- AND two-bedroom close to campus. Available June or August. Call 537-4648 between 4-6p.m. ONE-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus, off-street parking, laundry. Available June 1. $275, Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

1219 KEARNEY. Basement. One bedroom. Gas/ water included. June lease, $250. No pets. 539-5136. EFFICIENCY APARTMENT. $195 per month. Gas, heat and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings and weekends.

GREAT APARTMENT for rent or sublease. Perfect location! One bedroom, just right for two people $340/ month. Sublease June 1 to Aug. 1 or rent for next year June 1 to June 1, 1991. 539-4196.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coinoperated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required. $280, 539-1465.

PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two-bedroom. Close to campus. 776-8381. TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $355 per month.

Across street from Ahearn Field House. Available June 1. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 nings and weekends. TWO-BEDROOM, central air, 1½ bath, laundry, nice location, available June, 537-8800.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

ONE- AND two-bedroom apartments near campus and Westloop area. Call 776-1340.

STUDIO APARTMENT. Located above a bar. $155 plus electricity. Call 539-6813 after 7p.m.

K-Rentals

Efficiency $200 1 Bedroom $250

2 Bedroom $290 3 Bedroom $450

539-8401

Wildcat Inn

Three locations of one bedroom apartments still available for June or August leasing. $310-340. Call for more information.

Weekdays until 6 p.m. Saturdays until 4 p.m.

PCF Management

Efficiency $200 1 bedroom $250

2 bedroom $290 776-4805-539-8401

APARTMENTS 1408 Cambridge Place

PARK PLACE

·Small pets ·Some utilities paid

•Free transportation to campus

Apartments available now Pre-leasing for Fall beginning now

Sunset Apartments

Now leasing for June or August. One bedroom. $280-295. Central Air, Gas, Heat & Laundry Facilities.

539-5051 776-3804 after 5:30

McCullough

5 Automobile for Sale

1978 ALFA Romaeo convertible for sale. Red, with new top, new tires and great stereo with cassette and equalizer, $3,750. Call John 1-456-7050.

1979 VW Rabbit, four-door, air conditioning, stereo. Good exterior, great interior, $650. Perfect for the woman or "man-about-town." Also good for road

1985 PLYMOUTH Voyager LE van. One owner, excellent condition, air conditioning, AMFM, standard. See for yourself. $7,450, 784-5717 after 6p.m.

1987 DODGE Aries LE 2500 cc engine. Excellent buy. Assumable power train warranty. Phone Lee, 532-5804 days, 539-0168 evenings.

FOR SALE: 1983 Jeep, CJ7, four-speed, new top, excellent condition. $4,500 or best offer. 537-8987.

6 Child Care

COME BE a nanny in a lovely New England home located 20 minutes north of Boston. Professional couple is seeking summer help for their two charming children, 5 and 10. Call Sandi at

NANNY: LOVING person to care for 2-year-old and infant. One year minimum commitment, 40 miles north of NYC in Connecticut, must swim, no smokers, prefer experience with young children. Ask for Susan Taylor day (212)230-3223 or evening after 7p.m. (203)329-2809.

7 Computers

MAC II, two MB RAM, 40MB HD, software, $2,950 (CPU only) or $4,200 (includes CPU, TPD monitor and video card). 776-7435.

WANTED: A data base programmer to develop new agricultural software for private business. Evenagricultural software ings. 456-9201.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification.

Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

ACT IN TV commercials. High pay. No experience. All ages—kids, teens, young adults, families, mature people, animals, etc. Call nowl Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702.

ADMISSIONS REPRESENTATIVE. Kansas State University is recruiting for the position of Admissions Representative. The person will be responsible for the development and implementation of an effecthe development and implementation of an energive student recruitment program within a specific geographic region. The major responsibilities include: Coordinating strategy and resource people for the region; serving as the primary recruitment representative; developing and maintaining service relationships with high schools and community colleges; attending major community events; and coordinating attents for the region with K-State. coordinating efforts for the region with K-State faculty and staff. Qualifications for the position include: a recent K-State bachelor's degree; familiarity and excitement for K-State; demonstrated student involvement/ leadership skills; strong communication skills (oral/ written); strong social skills for a variety of situations; willingness to travel extensively; ability to work independently; and overall high energy level and enthusiasm. Position will start July 1, 1990, and pay $18,000 for 12 will start July 1, 1990, and pay $16,000 for 1, 1990, and pay $16,000 for 1, 1990, and the names and addressors of three references to: Search Committee, Kansas State University, 122 Anderson Hall, Manhattan, KS 66506. Deadline for applications is Friday, April 13, 1990, Kansas State University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer.

AEROBIC INSTRUCTOR needed. Ladies health club. Call 776-6469 for appointment.

ATTENTION: EARN money typing at home! $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. T-1797.

ATTENTION: HIRING government jobs— your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext

ATTENTION: KANSAS Careers needs a student assistant for 20-30 hours/ week during summer semester and 12-15 through the school year. Clerical experi-ence necessary plus Word Perfect and dBase III+ Pick up application form at Kansas Careers, 304 Fairchild Hall. Deadline April 11.

BUS DRIVERS-$5 per hour. Must be 21 years of age. have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. Part time 6:30a.m. to 8:30a.m. and 2:40p.m. to 4:30p.m. Job description available. Apply USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502, 913-537-2400.

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B. Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288.

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare-time assembly. Easy work at home. Exceptional pay. No experience needed. Call 1-601-388-8242 ext H1395. Open 24 hours including Sunday.

FULL-TIME ASSISTANT needed for optometric office. Will train above minimum wage if experienced, pay negotiable. 537-1118.

GENERAL CAMP counselors, arts and ecology consulants, kitchen and waterfront staff needed for resident Girl Scout Camps in Vermont and New Hampshire, June 16 -Aug. 22. Campers and staff work and play hard together and have an awesome time. Write or call Missy/ Nancy, Swift Water Gir out Council, 88 Harvey Road, Manchester, N.H. 03103. 603-627-4158.

HELP WANTED: Man with farm background for full-time employment on dairy. House and salary (913)257-3576

HIRING PART-TIME leasing agent for Friday after-noons and daytime Saturdays. Apply in person at 1408 Cambridge Place.

HORTICULTURE STUDENT interested in perennials and annuals to help with planting and maintenance.

Call 539-5439. LAWN CARE person wanted for large apartmen NN CARE, person warned for large spanning community. Responsible for the maintenance of grounds and swimming pools. Horticulture or agricultural background helpful. Full time April through August. Send resume to Collegian, Box 8, Kedzie Hali, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

LOOKING FOR a fraternity, sorority or student organiza tion that would like to make $500 to $1,000 for a one-week on-campus marketing project. Must be organized and hardworking. Call Amy or Jeanine at

PART- OR full-time help needed for general farm and livestock work. 913-456-7215.

PART-TIME HELP wanted evenings and weekends. People with farm or livestock background preferred. For more information call 776-9401 Monday through Friday 8a.m. to 5p.m.

STUDENTS FROM KANSAS CITY OR WICHITA Part Time

Wanted: K-State

students from KC or Wichita for jobs taking inventory in retail stores. Work from KC or Wichita this summer, Manhattan during the school year. Availability on weekends a MUST. 10-key experience helpful but not mandatory. $5 an hour to start. If interested call 776-8884, Manhattan Job Service. Call for a Thursday, April 5 interview.

(Continued on page 11)

Win the computer you need to succeed in the real world and a chance to use it there.

It's easy. Just try our Real World Demo on a Macintosh® computer to enter Apple's Real World Sweepstakes.

If you're one of 14 Grand Prize winners, you'll get to spend a week this summer at the organization of your choice listed below, where you'll see Macintosh computers hard at work. And when you get home, use your own new Macintosh SE/30 to write your resume and follow-up letters. There will also be 20 First Prize winners who will receive Macintosh SE computers and 1,000

Second Prize winners who will get Apple "T-shirts. You really can't lose if you come in and get your hands on a Macintosh today. Because once you do, you'll see how easy it is to use and how much one could do for you now. You'll appreciate the value of a Macintosh computer after you leave campus and head out into the real world too. But don't take our word for it. Come in and try a Macintosh and see for yourself. And if you win the Grand Prize, you'll be seeing the real world sooner than you think Enter Apple's Real World Sweepstakes and you could win a week at one of these leading organizations and a Macintosh computer.

es' participation in the "Real World Program" does not constitute endorsement of Apple® products or services.

See us at the Computer Fair April 10-12! See your Campus Computer Reseller for Sweepstakes Rules and Regulations.

O Apple Computer, Inc. Apple, the Apple logo, and Macintosh are registered trademarks of Artile Computer.

As you race to the finish of the school year, be sure to enter our "RACE TO THE FINISH" Sweepstakes, where you could win one of these

GRAND PRIZE—ONE WINNER
An all-expense-paid trip for two to Paris for the 1990 Tour de France. FIRST PRIZE—50 WINNERS
A Raleigh Assault* or Finesse* All-Terrain Bike.

SECOND PRIZE-500 WINNERS A go-anywhere Fanny Pack. THIRD PRIZE-1,000 WINNERS

A sports water bottle. To enter, just race over to the campus contact listed at right and ask to take a free test drive on one of our featured desktop PCs. It just might be the most rewarding test of your college career!

ZENITH DATA SYSTEMS INNOVATES AGAIN

Form No. 1246A

Buy A PC, Get A Bike FREE!

c-state union

HURRY! SWEEPSTAKES ENDS JUNE 8, 1990! Graphics simulate Microsoft* Windows, a product of Micro Qualifying systems include Z-286 LP Model 20, Z-286 LP/12 Model 20, Z-286 LP/12 Model 40 when purchased with any Zenith Data Systems VGA Monito

SUMMER CAMP Counselors— Men and women— Generalists and specialists. Two overnight eight-week camps in New York's Adirondack Mountains week camps in New York's Adirondack Mountains have openings for tennis, waterfront (WSI, ALS, salling, skiing, small crafts), all team sports, gymnastics, arts/ crafts, pioneering, music, photography, drama, dance and nurses. We're interested in people who are interested and love children and in having fun with them. Men reply: Prof. Robert S. Gersten, Brant Lake Camp, 84 Learnington St., Lido Beach, N.Y. 11561, Women reply: Sherie Alden, Camp Point O' Pines, Brant Lake, N.Y. 12815.

WE HAVE the ideal college job for fraternity and sorority members. Set own hours with extremely high monetary return. Job includes marketing imprinted sportswear and party favors to Greeks. Please call T-Graphics, Inc. Lawrence, KS 1-800-633-0276. SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 openings National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

9 Food Specials

Hunam Restaurant Free Delivery

539-8888

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

AND THAT'S A DETAIL
SENTENCE FOR A YOU'RE FINE ARTS MAJOR NOBODY'D TAKE M SERIOUSLY.

Ripple

By J. Hayden

NOW I'LL HAVE

TO GET THIS

TAT REMOVED

BY RICHARD BROADFOOT

EVEN AFTER FILLING HIS PUMP ATHLETIC SHOES WITH HELIUM, JEFF WAS STILL A GOOD FOOT AND A HALF SHORT OF BEING ABLE TO DUNK ...

Jim's Journal

By Jim

In my class today I didn't really before he showed up.

We just sat there But before I could the professor was have anybody to for ten minutes with answer, the professor ten minutes late talk to. There was out talking, then he came in and every and everybody talked a guy next to me said, what do you!

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

ANYWAY CHARLIE, I'M SORRY WE COULDN'T GO OUT TONIGHT BUT THIS LITTLE CREEP'S PARENTS ARE SO DESPERATE TO GET AWAY FROM HIM ONCE IN A WHILE THAT THEY ...

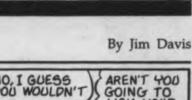

TAME! FREEDOM AND

By Charles Schulz

Show Class, Read the Collegian.

12 Houses for Rent

- 1101 DENISON, 1846, 1814 Platt, one to five bedrooms to see evenings Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 7-9p.m. 539-3993.
- ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks east campus, laundry hookups. $285' month, utilities, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1, 539-3672 evenings.
- ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June $295. 539-1554.

14 Lost and Found

- FOUND: SMALL dog, possibly Yorkie-poodle cross. Recently spade female approximately 8 months old, Found vicinity of Laramie and Juliette on April 1.
- LOST: BLACK Lab neutered male. Lost Friday Aggle-ville area. Reward. 776-8417 or 539-8365.
- LOST BY mistake: Black leather jacket given out by mistake Friday night at Charlie's. Initials B.G. on inside label. I have your jacket. Please call and we can exchange. 537-7309. Leave message. LOST: TWO gold rings in or around old football stadium. 776-7621. Reward.

15 Meetings/ Events

ZEN BUDDHIST priest-teacher Teijo Munnich will give public talk and respond to questions April 6, 7:30p.m., Bluemont 122.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

- 12x65 MOBILE home. Two bedrooms, 1% baths. Excellent condition. Call 537-2993.
- 1974 MOBILE home for sale. 12 feet by 65 feet. Three bedrooms. Call Kevin, 776-8797.
- 1988 14x70 Schult mobile home with three bedrooms 1½ baths, 8x10-foot deck. Call 776-8477
- TWO-BEDROOM, 10x60 trailer, Good condition, Great location. Low rent and utilities. Washer/ dryer storage. 776-5671.

18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

SNYDER'S HONDA on Stagg Hill Road is buying and selling new and used motorcycles. We are your cycle super market.

21 Personals

- AKL BRYSON: I've never met anyone quite like you before. Meet me lower level Union, 2:15. AF
- AKL SEAN P., Sean K. and Joe Blow, the future Chippendale strippers: Thanks for the sneak pre-view and a great evening. Pump, pump, pump it up
- Lucious and Delicious. BRUNETTE WORKING at Christine's around 2:10 to 2:30 Saturdays. Would like to learn more about you. Please respond. Guy getting fitted for Matthew B.
- GIRL IN EeGee's Friday night— I sat frozen by your smile, its beauty stopped the words. I want to speak to you! Respond in Personals.
- KKG FORMAL dates Randy and Mark- Nyark, nyark nyark, nyark, nyark, nyark, nyark, skittledy-dee and whoopty-doo. Nothing compares, Nothing com-pares to you! With warmest regards, Carrie and

SAE PAUL S.: By the way, the S stands for Shaffer

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

SIX-MONTH MINI-LOPP litter trained. All accessories except hutch, $30. Call evenings and weekend: 537-2082

SNAKE CAGE- 135 gallon aquarium and redwood Leaks. As is, $200. Repaired, $250. 776-3785.

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits

1105 Waters 539-4751

23 Professional Services

- CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day results. ent call: Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338. PERMS $17. His-N-Hers. Tel. 776-1330. All services or
- PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

Health Insurance. It pays to compare.

Excellent rates. Free quotes, call Tim Engle 537-4661

SUFFERING FROM abortion? Write: Hearts Restored, Box 295, Colby, Kansas 67701. Confidential re-sponse will follow. WEDDING PLANS? Contact the professionals at Living

- Image Video. Book now. 539-0168.
- WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY. Over seven years of experience with wedding photography. Call for samples. 776-3785.

SLAFLIN Books & Copies

 Books/Cards •5¢ Self Service Copies Resumé Service Dissertation Copying

776-3771 Open Every Day till 9 p.m. 1st Bank Center

TAILORING ALTERATIONS REPAIRING DRY CLEANING

SOWELL'S TAILORS

219 S. 4 (So. of Sears) 776-6912 Manhattan 8-5:30, M.-F. Sat. 8-12

People think headaches are normal... I don't! Call today for an appointment

537-8305 Dr. Mark Hatesohl Chiropractic Family Health Center 3252 Kimball Avenue

24 Resume/ Typing Service

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms. dissertations, theses, etc. Call 776-4214.

Candlewood Shopping Center

LETTER-QUALITY word processing, $1.25 double spaced page. Next-day delivery available. Susan Lawson, 776-0676,

- NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals sumes and more. Laser printing. Call 537-4146. RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to make an impression. One day service. F Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147.
- WORD PROCESSING: College papers, resumes, let-ters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single. Quality Print. Betty, 539-6851, Claflin.

25 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER to share two-bedroom apan ment since school year. Two blocks from camput $195 rent and one-half utilities. 532-2443

- FEMALE, NON-SMOKING roommate to share gor geous house. Own room, washer, dryer, sun porch dishwasher, fireplace. For summer, possibly fall, $250/ month, utilities paid, Laura 776-7561. FEMALE ROOMMATE to share house close to campus
- furnished, washer, dryer. Lease, deposit: utilities shared. Edie, 776-3066. FEMALE ROOMMATE(S) needed for upcoming school plus KPL Call 537-2186 (Tammie) or 532-2182
- FEMALE, UPPERCLASSMAN or graduate student Private bedroom, laundry, one block off campus, off street parking. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m. MATURE, NON-SMOKING female to share house for
- next fail. 776-3860 after 5p.m. NEED ONE or two non-smoking roommates for August.
- Near KSU, Call Kevin, 537-8834 after 9p.m. NEED TWO roommates for summer. Next to campus near Aggieville. $140 plus one-third utilities. 539-4711.
- ONE- TWO non-smoking females, turnished farm house, free stall and pasture for horses, cattle, dogs. P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan.
- ROOMMATE WANTED to share house trailer, $100 per
- ROOMMATE NEEDED for August 1990: Reasonable price, huge pad. Should be liberal, intelligent and willing to help keep the place clean. It interested call Dan at 539-5894 for appointment. Smokers

26 Stereo Equipment

KENWOOD KAC-820 power amp for car. $200. Call Scott 776-6240 after 4p.m.

28 Sublease

$134/ MONTH, per person, plus utilities. om apartment, furnished, by City Park

- 15 SECONDS from campus. Single, furnished. $230 plus electricity. June- July. Part of August free. 532-6334.
- A JUNE— July sublease, two weeks in May Free, one-bedroom, unfurnished, $250/ month. Negoti-able, 776-0486.
- A NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, one-fourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New carpet. Available anytime. Call, leave message
- A NICE, three-bedroom, available mid-May through mid-August. Cable, partially furnished, two blocks
  - from campus. $150/ month each person (negoti-able). Call 776-0535.
- A NICE two-bedroom furnished apartment 1% blocks from campus. Two to four people. $250-$490. 537-8581. A SPACIOUS three-bedroom apartment. Swimming - pool, dishwasher, washer and dryer, partially furnished. Price and time available negotiable. 1530 College Ave., Apt. A-9. 776-0549. BEFORE YOU decide on a summer sublease, you must see this house located two blocks northwest of campus. Three bedrooms, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, large living room and kitchen, furnished.
- BIG TWO-BEDROOM, furnished, near campus and Aggieville. Available June to August. Clean. $425. 532-2479.
- FREE SIX-PACK to first people to sublease our apartment. Balcony, swimming pool, two-bedroom. 537-1565
- FURNISHED, CLOSE to campus, two-bedroom, three person apartment. Price negotiable. May free. Phone 776-0368.
- GREAT TWO-BEDROOM, three person furnished apartment. Near campus/ Aggieville. Sublease, $125 each. Call 776-7095.
- NEED ONE or two roommates to sublease 1822 Elaine. $125/ month for one; if two, split $125. Paid utilities free washer and dryer, deck in backyard. 537-4634.
- NEED PERSON for three-bedroom apartment. Furnished, own room, close to campus. June and July. $175. Time and price negotiable. 776-0890.
- NEWLY REMODELED one- to three-bedroom apartment. Close to campus/ Aggieville. Call 776-4018.
- NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment close to campus.
- Balcony, dishwasher and laundry facilities. Three people, $300, two people $270, 776-3340. NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate to sublease furnished apartment this summer. Own room, washer and dryer, $150 per month and one-half utilities.
- ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, 1% blocks from cam-
- pus Call 537-1365 SPACIOUS FURNISHED studio apartment next to
- campus. Laundry tacilities and patio. Available June and July. Rent negotiable. 539-5736. Ask for
- SUBLEASE- TWO blocks from campus, nice twobedroom apartment. $280/ two persons. 537-8674. SUBLEASE: ONE- three people for three-bedroom apartment June— July. Rent $395. Call 537-2666, ask for Melissa or leave message.
- SUMMER SUBLEASE, furnished, balcony, close to campus. For more info call 776-7034. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Nice, spacious furnished twobedroom apartment, one and one-half bath, dis-hwasher, close to campus, water and trash paid.
- $360 negotiable, 539-2625. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Nice and affordable one - bedroom apartment. Near campus/ Aggieville. Call 539-2963 or 539-2007. SUMMER SUBLEASE-- Nice, one-bedroom furnished apartment for two people. Near campus and Aggleville. Make offer. 539-4577.
- SUMMER SUBLEASE- Two-bedroom furnished apartment, near campus and Aggieville, terms negotiable, 1-494-8221.
- SUMMER SUBLEASE. Furnished two-bedroom, close to campus, fee negotiable. Call 532-3124. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Two-bedroom apartment good for three. Two blocks from campus. Negoti-

- tile. Call 539-7423. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Spacious, furnished, twobedroom apartment close to campus. $375. Chris or Pat. 539-3097
- SUMMER-TWO-BEDROOM close to campus. $200/ month. Call 539-5358. THREE-BEDROOM. TWO bath, in Aggreville. Available
- May through July. Great location. 776-4760. THREE BEDROOMS, one and one-half bath, one-half block from campus and Aggleville. Panally turnished. Call 776-3448.
- THREE-BEDROOM, two full baths, one-half block west of campus; dishwasher. Dates/ rent negotiable. 776-7945.

30 Travel

THE FIRST 100 who respond will get a virtually Free Las Vegas, Reno, Lake Tahoe, Disney World, Atlantic City, Hawaii or Disneyland vacation, a $250 gift check, a 35mm camera and 100 rolls of film. Send $25 processing fee to: J.D. Gardner, Rt. 2, Box 512, Dodge City, KS 67801.

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

- PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050 Battery or AC powered, two font types, 16,000-character memory expansion card, spell corrector and many other features. Excellent condition. $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave
- FOUR-HEAD HO stereo VCR for sale, 537-1052. WANTED TO buy: White lab coat. Call Terry at

33 Storage

- NEED A place to store your things? For June and July. $20/ month. May Free. 776-1387.
- STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

By Eugene Sheffer

Garfield

Peanuts

crossword

- ACROSS collection 28 Zodiac 30 Mrs., in 3 Poet
- Madrid 7 Rail bird 8 Containers 33 Challenge 10 Cherrystones
- 11 Canadian capital 13 Tries to prove - longa

1 Phnom

land:

abbr

4 Forbid

Penh's

chieftain 18 "Live and Let -19 Sister of Ares

17 Arab

brevis

Persian 21 Promote 23 Goddess of peace 25 Ball or cake

26 Fall -

(fail) lead-in

20 Early

- 27 Literary DOWN 1 Covers with paint 2 Fortifies
- Lee 4 Wash braggart? 5 Late 36 Comfort bloome 37 Appearing 6 Undiluted

Edgar

- 7 Discredit 38 Pairs of 8 Dove antlers shelters 39 Rave 9 Scandi-40 French navian
- military country leader 10 Tax 41 Stallone's nickname

Yesterday's answer

- 12 Stage whisper 14 Leave out 15 Head of fairway 19 Lunch ending
- payment 22 Henry Clay. for one 23 Seine

21 Extra

- of bacon 25 Surpass 26 Discharges 28 Swiftly
- 29 Role for 41 Across 30 Cold and unfeeling 31 Auto-body problem
- 32 "Tarzan" extra 34 - Bator 35 Soviet
- OGQ river
- 20 Satisfied sights 24 Servings CRYPTOQUIP

DPX BDWKYAXBD TGIYX XIXQ

SR SJJGTKVYBPTXRD

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: FORMER BURGLAR JUST BECAME A LOCKSMITH; HE GRIPED IT WAS THE SAFEST JOB HE COULD HAVE PICKED.

OYVTAGT.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: T equals M

Open House

The sky's the limit! Saturday, April 7, 1990

Sample of Events

Open House is a great opportunity for currently enrolled K-State students to explore career possibilities and to visit the academic displays. Join us on Saturday, April 7, 1990.

A complete list of events will be available Saturday at the Open House information table at the north end of the K-State Union.

Pre-Open House Events Friday, April 6, 1990

Engineers' Open House Parade. Mid-Campus Drive, from Petticoat Lane to Seaton Hall.

12:10 p.m.

Engineering Opening Ceremonies: torch runner arrival, presentation of Yellow Brick Award, crowning of St. Pat and St. Patricia. Front steps of Seaton Hall.

1:30 p.m. Classes cancelled.

1:30 to 4 p.m.

Engineering Awareness seminar for high school students. Registration at 1:30; seminar 2-4 p.m. Paslay Lecture Hall, 173 Durland Hall.

5:30 to 9 p.m.

Open house of facilities, engineering students' displays, industrial displays. Durland, Seaton, and Ward Halls. College of Engineering.

Movie: Back to the Future II. Forum Hall, K-State Union. $1.75.

8 p.m. to midnight

All-University Dance. Music by Band X. Dance preceded by Casino Night. Free refreshments. Sponsored by the KSU Student Foundation. All K-State students and high school juniors and seniors welcome. Free admission. Ballroom, K-State Union.

9:30 p.m.

Movie: Back to the Future II. Forum Hall, K-State Union, $1.75.

Saturday, April 7, 1990

General information tables located on the main floor, north end of the K-State Union are:

- Admissions, · Student financial assistance,
- · Housing, and
- · Student services.
- Residence Halls
- Fraternities Sororities
- Cooperative Houses

Information is also available at the Kansas State University Association of Residence Halls (KSUARH), Greek Affairs, and cooperative houses tables in the K-State Union.

Shuttle bus transportation to academic colleges and residence halls, originating on the hour from the outside northwest corner of the K-State Union beginning at 9 a.m., with the last bus leaving the K-State Union at 3 p.m. Sponsored by Army ROTC.

Walking Tours: Begin on the hour at campus tours information booth in the K-State Union.

Student Life exhibits: More than 100 department, college, and student organization displays in the K-State Union with student and faculty representatives to answer questions.

K-State Union

Exhibit: KSU Department of Art MFA. Exhibit by Laurie Klopp in the Union Art Gallery.

Display: Artwork by Bob Clore in the Union Second Floor Showcase.

Movie: "Back to The Future II." Starring Michael J. Fox and Christopher Lloyd. Friday and Saturday, 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall $1.75. Sunday, 7 p.m. Forum Hall $1.75.

Union Courtyard Entertainment 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Featured groups include:

- Amanda Arnold's Juggling Pandas
- · Amanda Arnold's Jump Roping Pandas
- Central State Jazz Festival Honor Band · Cloud County Community College Jazz Band
- · Highland Park High School Stage Band · International Student Center
- Kansas State Choral
- Kappa Pickers
- K-State Gymnastics Club · K-State Men's Glee Club
- · K-State Women's Glee Club
- Olathe North High School Drill Team Sharron Washington Dancers
- Streetside Quintet

College of Agriculture

Meats Lab. Guided tours of Weber Hall and the renovated Meats Lab. Meat samples available from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

College of Architecture and Design 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

College and studio tours. On the half hour. Front entry to Seaton Hall.

College of Arts and Sciences 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Solar observations with telescopes (weather permitting). Department of Physics. Front of Cardwell Hall

9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Art meets science! In recognition of the 150th anniversary of photography, the Department of History will display antique photographic equipment and photographs. Information on the history of photography and opportunities for history majors will be available. K-State Meet a radio disk jockey. A live remote by student-run KSDB-FM radio will give you a chance to star on radio and get a complimentary record album. School of Journalism and Mass Communications.

College of Business Administration

Academic displays

- Alpha Kappa Psi · Alpha Mu Alpha
- Association of Collegiate Entrepreneurs • Beta Alpha Psi
- Collegiate International Trade Association
- Finance Club • Financial Management Association
- Graduate Student Association
- · Marketing Club
- · Minority Business Students in Action
- Phi Beta Lambda Pi Sigma Epsilon
- · Society for the Advancement of Management Business Administration Pre-Professional Club

College of Education

9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Video sessions of the 1990 Educational Symposium Conference. Career opportunities for prospective teachers. 116 Bluemont Hall.

College of Engineering

9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Industrial Engineering: the assembly line; plant

'ayout design methods; work environments, people vs. machines; tobots in industry; the importance of quality control industry; industrial engineers in management. 47, 49 Durland Hall.

College of Human Ecology 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Sensory Analysis of Foods. What do fat and salt do for the flavor of food products? Trained analysts can tell you: do you taste the difference? 145 Justin Hall.

College of Veterinary Medicine

9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Dental care for dogs and cats. Veterinary students will demonstrate and discuss the most advanced methods to prevent periodontal disease and unnecessary tooth loss. 104 Trotter

Ad sponsored by the K-State Union.

IJEGIAN

Thursday, April 5, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 126

John Zerger, graduate student in mathematics, started running competitively in high school and now competes in ultra-marathons — races in which runners cover as much distance as possible in one day. Zerger's personal record is 110 miles.

By Monica Marcotte Collegian Reporter

People who can go out and run two or three miles may feel pretty good about themselves, but imagine running 110 miles at one time. That's how far John Zerger ran in a 24-hour race last spring.

Zerger, graduate student in mathematics, is an ultramarathoner. Ultra-marathoners are runners who run races of 50 miles or longer.

"People say I'm crazy," Zerger said. "They think I'm going to ruin my knees. (They ask), why would I want to run that far? I used to think they were crazy, too, but it's no different from my telling students they can do calculus. Most people should like math, but they can't accept that either."

Zerger started running competitively in high school and ran his first marathon while he was a sophomore in high school. A standard marathon is 26.2 miles.

"About that time my father

Marathon mentality

Case of 'mind over matter' allows ultra-runners to overcome stress had just turned 40 and quit smoking and was getting kind of fat, so he took up running," Zerger said. "Eventually, he got interested in ultras, and it has been a family activity since then."

Zerger said he usually runs 30-40 miles a week. He has never been injured running ultra-marathons.

"It was much more intensive running at the college and high school level," he said. "I had a lot more injuries then."

Blisters are the most severe injury Zerger has been inflicted with while running ultramarathons. He said he received quite a few of them last summer, during the Pike's Peak

"The Pike's Peak Run was 131/2 miles straight up and went from an elevation of 9,000 to 14,000 feet," Zerger said. "It took three hours and 23 minutes to get to the top."

Not everyone can run such a marathon, said Dr. Larry

Moeller, chief of staff at Lafene Health Center. "Healthy exercise is not running marathons," Moeller said. "Certainly marathoners are an elite group of people, and this is a case of mind over matter."

Marathons are punishing to the body, and after a certain point the mind goes into what Moeller termed "mental overdrive" to compensate for the stress put on the body.

"Ultras are definitely a state of mind," Zerger said. "I'm not doing it for the physical aspect as much as the mental one. Ultras are not for everyone."

Most ultra-marathoners peak between the ages of 35 and 45, and the top ultra-marathoner in the nation is 43 years old, Zerger said.

Zerger's father, Ted, is 54 and actively running ultramarathons. The Zergers recently organized the first ultra in Kansas this past December called the Ph.D. Run. Ph.D. stands for

■ See RUN, Page 9

Proposed vote pleases U.S.

Baker: Lithuanian referendum would allow self-determination

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Secretary of State James A. Baker III said Wednesday he was encouraged that the Soviet Union seems to be considering a referendum in Lithuania to determine the future of the independence-minded Baltic republic.

"A referendum is, of course, one way for parties to express selfdetermination," Baker said as he opened three days of talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze on such diverse issues as Lithuania, arms control and the Soviet economy.

'We will be exploring the question of the degree to which there is, in fact, the beginning of some dialogue in Moscow," Baker said.

Talking to reporters, Baker said he intended to ask Shevardnadze about the cancellation of scheduled meetings between Lithuanians and officials of the Soviet Interior ministry. Shevardnadze, however, seemed to be unaware of such scheduled meetings.

"What happened today I have no information yet," the foreign minister said through an interpreter.

Responding to another question, Shevardnadze insisted the Soviets had not used force to deal with the secession movement in Lithuania.

"Of course," he said, "in any country, in any state, measures are taken in order to have order, in order to have a normal situation. And this is the elementary order that is being established."

The State Department lobby was cordoned off and dozens of uniformed guards and security agents in civilian garb kept watch. A guard with a German Shepherd dog stood at the entrance. Lithuania is expected to be high on the agenda when Shevardnadze meets Friday with President Bush.

"It is a matter where we want the Soviets to know our views," said White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater.

On Capitol Hill, lawmakers pushed Bush to take a stronger stand on Lithuania.

House members voted 416-3 to approve a resolution urging the president to reaffirm his commitment to an independent Lithuania and take steps to normalize diplomatic relations between Washington and Lithuania.

The resolution, which carries no legal weight, is similar to one passed earlier by the Senate.

Meanwhile, 31 senators told Bush in a letter that U.S. warnings against the use of military force in Lithuania have not been effective. The administration, the letter said, must spell out the consequences Moscow will face if more force is used.

Gennadi Gerasimov, the Soviet foreign ministry spokesman, told Mutual NBC Radio News on Wednesday that under no circumstances would force be used to keep Lithuania within the Soviet Union.

The Baker-Shevardnadze sessions are expected to produce a date for Bush's Washington summit meeting with Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev. U.S. officials said several options were being considered for holding the summit before the Soviet People's Congress in Moscow in early July.

"We're pretty flexible on dates," Fitzwater said.

Shevardnadze is expected to deliver a reply from Gorbachev to messages from Bush urging a peaceful settlement in Lithuania. The contents were not sent in advance to the State Department, as Moscow sometimes

The administration has been banking on a peaceful solution to tensions between Lithuania and the Kremlin over the independence movement, but Baker's remarks were the first endorsing a specific approach.

"A referendum is a starting point on the road to independence, which we support," said a U.S. official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The new Soviet Constitution set five years as the maximum time for implementing a referendum.

In the interim, the official said, the Lithuanians and the Soviets would try to resolve economic and political questions raised during the independence drive.

Baker registered "a degree of concern" about the Lithuanian situation even though a Soviet foreign ministry official reaffirmed the Kremlin's pledge to deal with the secessionists peacefully.

■ See BAKER, Page 9

Amendment interpretation varies

Two of Kansas' largest universities restrict access to student records

By Robert Short Special Projects Editor
9 1990, Student Publications Inc. Four of the six largest universities in Kansas release student criminal and accident records to media, although officials at the U.S. Department of Education say these records are protected by a 16-year-old federal law.

The law, named after then-Sen. James Buckley, was approved by Congress in 1974 as the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act. It restricts unauthorized access to students' scholastic records.

However, a debate has arisen as to whether criminal reports or accident records fall under the generic term of "educational records."

Some campus police departments, including agencies at K-State and the University of Kansas, apply the Buckley Amendment to police reports as well as academic information. These law enforcement agencies withhold names of students involved in criminal activity or who are victims of an accident that occurs on

Those institutions that release names include Wichita State, Pittsburg State, Fort Hays State and Emporia State universities.

Mark Goodman, executive director of the Student Press Law Center in Washington, D.C., said the difficulties in interpreting the Buckley Amendment arise from defining the term, "educational records." The question for many law enforcement agencies is whether students' criminal records are also considered

"Whether or not that phrase was meant to include campus police and security reports is just not clear," said Goodman, who is also an attorney. "It is something that is being argued all over the country."

penalties if they are found in violation of releasing academic information, he said.

"If a school reveals student educational records in violation of the Buckley Amendment, they run the risk that the Department of Education will take away their federal funding," Goodman said. "That is the only penalty in the Buckley Amendment.'

Goodman said a move to create legislation that would clarify the Buckley Amendment is being discussed with some members of Congress.

A student journalist at Southwest Missouri State University is preparing to challenge the usage of the Buckley Amendment to withhold Universities and colleges can face criminal records in Springfield, Mo., he said. This is the first situation of the Buckley Amendment specifically being challenged in court.

Ron Johnson, director of student publications at K-State, said he believes the names of students found on police reports should be public record. "Obviously, whenever you have a policy that inhibits the free flow of information, you have a problem," Johnson said. "I worry the picture we are getting may not be accurate."

He said college newspapers want only to report accurately what is occurring on campus, not sensationalize information.

"It is ridiculous when we have a picture of an accident and we cannot even tell readers who was injured,"

Johnson said.

On Sept. 21, a photo was taken on the K-State campus of two cyclists who collided near Danforth Chapel. Although the photo was later published, the campus police withheld the names of the two victims.

'Students have a right to their academic privacy," Johnson said. "We want to know who is committing the crimes."

Recently, news writers for the University Daily Kansan, the University of Kansas daily newspaper, were informed of the alleged abduction and drugging of a female stu-dent. Because KU police also have a policy of not releasing names, staff members at the Kansan said they

■ See RECORDS, Page 7

Loan program allows default grace period

By Lori Stauffer Collegian Reporter

Students who default on their Stafford Loans can take advantage of a six-month grace period to pay off the loans without penalties and become eligible again for student

The Special Payoff Program, authorized by provisions in the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1989, was developed for borrowers who have defaulted on their Guaranteed Student Loans. Students may contact the guarantee agency holding the loan and arrange to repay the loan in full before August 31, said Larry Viterna, director of student financial assistance.

The program, a one-time opportunity, began March 1. Viterna said students should take advantage of the grace period even though it started a month ago.

"This is a chance to clear up credit ratings, prevent offsets of income tax refunds and once again be eligible for federal student financial aid," he said.

According to a release from the United States Department of Education, approximately 2.5 million borrowers are in default on $6.8 billion in student loans.

The University has 217 borrowers in default, with a cohort default rate of 6.3 percent, according to a letter from the U.S. Depart-■ See LOANS, Page 8

'Temptation' protested

Policy exception allows opposing views of film to be expressed

By Todd Fertig

egian Reporte The K-State Union made a policy exception to allow those opposed to the showing of "The Last Temptation of Christ," to protest in the Union Forum Hall Wednesday About six protestors used the opportunity to voice their opposition while a large

Although policy prohibits those not affiliated with the University from voicing their opinions on Union property, an excep-crowd attended the Kaleidoscope Films' who wished to express their views outside the theater, said Sylvia Scott, assistant director of the Union.

The Union normally restricts protesting groups to Seaton Court outside the Union, Scott said. Protestors of the movie, however, were allowed to set up tables in the hallway and to stand outside the south entrance of the Union in order to be near the flow of traffic into the theater.

"We wanted to work with people to allow them to express themselves, and that's why we came up with letting them set up

tion was made to accommodate protestors here," she said. "We made exceptions to all the rules, basically." Bonnie Berggren and Loys Guest were two who protested the movie in the hallway where they could be seen by those entering

"We didn't want a large group here to protest," Berggren said. "We just wanted to get our message out."

Berggren said the movie was blasphemous and not a truthful representation of Christ's life. She said that if a movie were to be made misrepresenting a character

■ See TEMPTATION, Page 12

Premier calls China strong

BEIJING (AP) - A confident, smiling Premier Li Peng asserted Wednesday that China's leadership is united and strong and that the public does not want a renewal of the massive pro-democracy protests of last year.

Li's comments to reporters were his first since the protests were crushed in June. Also Wednesday, the Chinese Parliament wrapped up its two-week annual session with measures calling for freer business practices but tougher law and order policies. The 3,000-seat National People's Congress, which largely rubber-stamps decisions by top Communist Party and government officials, also gave final approval to the basic law under which Hong Kong will be governed after Britain returns it to China in 1997.

Legislators in Hong Kong immediately said the law was not democratic enough and asked that it be amended.

Li was among top leaders on the rostrum at the congress' final meeting in the Great Hall of the People. Afterward, he told the annual post-congress news conference that the session was "inspiring and heartening."

Nation

Trade negotiations continue

WASHINGTON (AP) - U.S. and Japanese negotiators, insisting that they were making progress, struggled Wednesday to resolve final differences on an unprecedented agreement attacking the huge trade imbalance between the two nations.

The discussions, which originally had been scheduled to end Tuesday, were taking much longer than planned.

U.S. officials said the two sides would meet again Thursday in the hope of wrapping up the talks, which are aimed at altering fundamental economic and business practices in both countries to help reduce America's huge $49 billion trade deficit with Japan.

U.S. Trade Representative Carla Hills denied that the extra negotiating sessions indicated the talks had run into unexpected

"There is no deadlock. We are making progress," she told

But in a speech Wednesday to a U.S. manufacturing group, Hills sounded a warning on the possible consequences if Japan fails to agree to American demands to open its markets to more foreign goods.

Honored teacher almost quit

WASHINGTON (AP) - Janis T. Gabay of San Diego, teacher of the year with a crystal apple and a presidential salute to show for it, says she once thought of quitting because she saw such lack of respect for her profession.

But Gabay declared herself optimistic about U.S. education Wednesday as President Bush and his wife, Barbara, honored her at the White House.

"The kind of people Jan represents are ambassadors to the most powerful province mankind might command - that great undiscovered realm right under your hat," Bush told a crowd that included 11 members of Gabay's family.

"For almost 40 years, the Teacher of the Year program has singled out the few, really because they represent the many," he said. "The program's goal is really not to identify the best teacher but the best in all teachers."

Fighting back tears, the petite high school English teacher accepted the award from Bush and a kiss from the first lady, thanking officials for giving "a credible and assertive voice to this nation's concerns about education."

Dole to visit Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., will leave Saturday for a week-long trip to the Middle East along with five other senators.

The bipartisan delegation plans to meet with leaders of Israel,

Egypt, Syria and Jordan.

"My message will be — let's get some peace in the Middle East," Dole said in a statement Wednesday announcing the trip. "Everywhere else in the world, peace is breaking out except in this troubled region. We want to see more progress and we want to see more talking and negotiating."

Other members of the delegation are Sens. Alan Simpson of Wyoming, the No. 2 GOP leader; James McClure, R-Idaho; Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio; Charles Grassley, R-Iowa; and Frank Murkowski, R-Alaska.

The group will leave Washington on Saturday and travel to Syria, where the senators tentatively plan to meet with President Hafez Assad. The delegation travels next to Egypt, then Jordan and arrives April 12 in Jerusalem, where the lawmakers hope to meet with Israeli officials and some "moderate" Palestinian

The group is to depart for the United States on April 15. The trip will occur during the Senate's Easter recess.

Pageant to return to Wichita

WICHITA (AP) - Miss USA pageant officials were so pleased with how things went during last month's 1990 competition in Wichita they have signed a contract to bring the show back at least twice more.

Mayor Bob Knight announced Wednesday a contract has been signed designating Wichita as the pageant site for 1991 and 1993. The city also has options on having the contest in 1992, 1995 and 1996.

Officials said Wichita could become the permanent home of

"That would be a dream come true," said Michael Clark, president of Madison Square Garden Television Productions, the company that produces the contest.

Tax lid endorsed by Senate

TOPEKA (AP) - Senate committee Wednesday endorsed, 6-3, a modified version of a House bill that would impose a permanent lid on the amount of money cities and counties can raise from property taxes.

The bill is designed to help quiet the anger of homeowners and small businesses hit hard by property tax increases. Supporters say the measure is also designed to help cities and counties deal with costs over which they have little or no control.

However, critics say it is nothing more than a public relations gimmick. Some of them have dubbed it the "ironclad tax sieve.'

The Senate Assessment and Taxation Committee endorsed the bill, after agreeing to amendments proposed by the League of Kansas Municipalities and the Kansas Association of Counties.

If the House agrees to those amendments, the bill will go to the governor for his signature. If not, the bill will go to a joint conference committee.

Under the bill, as amended by the committee, cities, counties, townships and community college districts could not raise more money than they did in 1988 or 1989 (their choice), except as a result of new improvements and added personal property. The proposal is designed to prevent the state from penalizing taxing districts that held the line or decreased taxes between those two years.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Thursday

- KSU Horticultural Therapy Chapter of AHTA will meet at 5 p.m. in Waters 18A.
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Theodore Harris at 8:30 a.m. in Justin 256. The topic is "Prediction of Plant Canopy Temperature Through Remote Sensing in the Presence of Spatial Trend and Spatial Correlation."
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Mohammed Said El-Samhouri at 2:30 p.m. in Waters 329. The topic is "Flexible Exchange Rates and Export Instability: An Empirical Examination of the Impact of the Post-1973 International Monetary System on the Developing Countries."
- Icthus Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union Little Theatre. Dennis Wallace will speak.
- KSU Horseman's Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Weber 146.
- Forestry and Park Resource Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Call 205 for Ag Science Day preparation. Damian Bresnan will present a slide show and discuss his Peace Corps experience.
- SME Education Night and Plant Tour sign-up deadline is today. See Vickie in Durland 237.
- Wildlife Society will meet at 7 p.m. in Ackert 120.
- Social Work Organization will meet at 4 p.m. in Waters 132.
- Teachers of Tomorrow will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont 238 for officer elections.
- Society for the Advancement of Management will meet at 7 p.m. in Calvin 116.
- Campus Crusade for Christ will meet at 8 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.
- Little American Royal will have a mandatory contestants' meeting at 7 p.m. in Weber Arena.
- Phi Theta Kappa will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 205.
- Agricultural Education Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Bluemont 106.
- Sailing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.
- Minority Assembly of Students in Health will meet at 6 p.m. in Union
- Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Danforth Chapel.
- Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 203 for the film "Abortion for Survival."

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, windy and cold. Rain likely, changing to snow by afternoon. Temperatures dropping into the lower 30s in the afternoon. Gusty northeast winds 15 to 25 mph. Chance for precipitation, 60 percent. Tonight, a 50 percent chance for light snow. Low in the mid 20s. Friday, partly cloudy and continued cold. High in the lower

Look No Further...

I bedroom, furnished, new carpet 526 N. 14th 310 Villa 11

375 428-430 N. 6th Gold Key

For more information call Moore Management

776-1111

LARGE PIZZA ONLY $550

with One Topping

Dine In or Carry Out "BEST DAMN PIZZA"

"premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price"

523 South 17th Room 537-1484

Buy One Get One For 99¢ 620 N. Manhattan S 537-8700

> Buy any 12 inch sandwich & a medium drink and receive a second 12 inch sandwich of equal or lesser value for 99¢ with this ad. Expires 4/30/90

ATTENTION!!

The 1st Annual ADPi/ ATO Men's & Women's Softball Classic is now open to independent teams.

DATE: April 28 & 29 PLACE: Twin Oaks Park ENTRY FEE: $80/Team,

2 regulation softballs

for further information contact: Michelle Dutton at 539-2334 ** All proceeds are donated to The Ronald McDonald House

Westloop Shopping Center 776-6864

Computer Furniture Machine Stands

10-20% OFF

Sale thru April 14

Saturday, April 7 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

1990 Arts & Sciences All University Open House Exhibits and Activities

LOCATED FIRST FLOOR IN THE UNION

Experience the excitement Arts & Sciences

CONTESTANTS WANTED

Trunk you're "loo short" to compete suc-cessfully in a beauty pageant? Well, not anymore!
THE AMERICAN PETITE BEAUTY PAGEANT is the only national competi

$50,000 PRIZE PACKAGE! Including:

* A histochin/pissocial appearance command. * Appearance some flowal television talk shows (just winners have appeared on shows such as NUC's "Late Night with David Lotterman") * A starring rule in national tolewision and radio commercials. * An international tour representing the Pagoaut. * A $10,000 potite designer wardrobe. * A dream Caribbean holiday for two. * And much more!

TO APPLY: Send a clear photo (any size) with your name, address, tele phono E, height, weight, and, bithikate and $20 photo evaluation fee to THE MISSOURI/KANSAS PETITE BEAUTY PAGEANT, P.O. Box 5991. Kenses City, MO 64111, Phone (816) 561-3163.

PHOTO DEADLINE: July 16, 1990.

SHUTTLE SERVICE

7:30 am 4:45 am 5:00 am 9:45 am 7.15 am 11:00 am 8:15 am 8:30 am 1:00 pm 10:40 am 10:25 am 3:30 pm 1:00 pm 12:45 pm 3:00 pm 5:30 pm 2:45 pm 6:30 pm 9:00 pm 6:15 pm 7:45 am 10:15 am 10:30 am 10:00 am 12:30 pm 12:45 pm 12:30 pm 3:00 pm 3:15 pm 3:30 pm 6:00 pm 6:15 pm 5:45 pm 8:15 pm 8:30 pm

8:00 pm 10:30 pm

1:00 am

KCI PICK-UP POINTS: Terminal A - Gate 1

Terminal B - Gate 40 Terminal C - Gate 63

Driver gratuities acceptable

10:30 pm

SCHEDULE

Reservations required $25.00

FARES

MILITARY 20.00 40.00 SENIORS (62 yrs 20.00 40.00 CHILDREN (3-12) 20.00 Children under 2 FREE FREE

Front Door Pick Up Available. Free Hotel pick-up/drop

on request 539-2284

1-800-383-2817 Or contact your travel agent

Pickups also in Junction City and Fort Riley Owners: John & Susan Furney Town East Shopping Center 463 East Poyntz

10:45 pm

1:15 am

The state of the state of $45.00

The Quality Name in Airport Transportation

Student support helps alcoholics

By Sandy Hegarty Collegian Reporter

Alcoholic Students Helping Alcoholic Students is not a therapy group for alcoholics; it is a support group for students who feel they have a problem with alcohol or other drugs.

The group is actually for alcohol and other drug abuse people," said Bill Arck, director of alcohol and other drug education service. "There are no fees or charges, no policies and no pressure to participate."

ASHAS was started in spring 1988 by a student named Roger Drake, Arck said. Drake didn't feel comfortable with counseling and wanted more of a support group.

"Roger came into the office and wanted to know what kind of support was available for students with a problem with alcohol," he said. "He wasn't satisfied, so I asked him what he wanted."

The result of this discussion was the foundation of a group of students supporting other students, Arck said. University Counseling Services supports the group through newspaper advertisements and posters on ASHAS is small and informal, Arck said. It meets Mondays at Lafene Student Health Center. Five or six people usually attend the meetings.

'There have never been more than eight people here," said Teri McCann, group facilitator and counselor at Lafene. "It's a good size. It's much easier to talk with fewer people around."

"Occasionally we have a student that comes with another member to get an understanding of the group and get some feedback," Arck said. "But two or three of the same ones are always there."

Most of the students that attend are traditional students ranging in age from 18 to 25, but the groups is open to all students. There are usually an equal number of males and females.

"All come for support and offer it, too," McCann said. "There are people who come in that don't label themselves as alcoholic. They just come in if they're unhappy with their drinking behaviors."

In ASHAS, there is no pressure to speak. Gatherings are nonconfrontational, and all meetings are strictly confidential, she said.

"I think people misunderstand ab-out ASHAS," McCann said. "It's not only alcoholics who attend the meetings. It's anyone who needs help in

David Mayes/Staff

International fair

Students examine the cultural exhibits and pause to talk to members of the K-State international population, including some in traditional dress of their home countries. The exhibits in the K-State Union Courtyard Wednesday were part of International Week.

Senate allocates funds

Sports clubs receive additional money; 2 salary increases defeated

By Kirk Caraway Collegian Reporter

Student Senate Tuesday night tentatively allocated $7,243.55 to Sports Club Council and voted down proposed salary increases for the director and assistant director of the FONE Crisis Center.

The Sports Club Council budget survived four hours of debate with only minor changes to the Finance Committee's recommendation. Gymnastics Club was allocated an extra $120 in travel to fund trips taken to competitive meets, while women's rugby was cut $16 in telephone expenses and men's soccer $20.10 in advertising.

The allocation was handled on a clubby-club basis, with the equipment budgets attracting the most attention. After the individual club budgets were passed, Joel Gruenke, graduate student in statistics, moved an amendment to cut all the equipment budgets in half.

"I support Sports Clubs at twice the level they got last year, but not three times that," said Todd Johnson, student body president, referring to the $2,693.90 the council got last year.

"If we cut them now, we have wasted all our debate," said John Woodbury, agriculture senator. The amendment failed by

Earlier in the evening, a lengthy discussion was sparked by salary increases proposed by Finance Committee for the director and assistant director of FONE Crisis Center. The increases were part of an overall policy of the committee to raise all salaries under their control and was not requested

"I've been after salaries for years," said Sally Routson, coordinator of student activities. "I think it's a good place to put extra money when you have it."

"I don't think we should be giving groups more than they request, especially when other groups are getting cut," said Stacy Lacy, engineering senator. The total salary increase of $790 was amended to its current level by a vote of 31-19, bringing FONE's total tentative allocation to $11,795.25.

Just after midnight, a motion was made by Tony Hoffman, engineering senator, to move the controversial budget request of UFM to tonight's agenda. Several senators said they should deal with the UFM question as soon as possible, because any attempt to re-establish its funding could affect all other groups. Finance Committee rejected all of the $13,256.35 UFM requested from senate this year. The motion failed; UFM will be brought up as sche-

■ See SENATE, Page 9

Detection procedures medically researched

Physician's cancer test studied by specialists for claimed results

By The Associated Press

BOSTON - Four years ago, a new test that seemed to detect all forms of cancer from tiny blood samples appeared destined to revolutionize the way doctors screen people for the disease.

Now, many specialists doubt the method will ever live up to its promise. For reasons they cannot explain, the test seems to work only in the hands of the physician who invented it. In 1986, Dr. Eric T. Fossel of Boston's Beth Israel Hospital said he had found a way to tell whether a patient had cancer simply by examining a bit of his blood in a nuclear magdetect tumors too small to feel or spot on X-

Fossel continued to work on the method and reported more encouraging results as he tested thousands of blood samples. The discovery was so important that many other doctors hurried to try it out. Apparently without exception, they failed.

Two studies published in Thursday's New England Journal of Medicine — the journal that first described Fossel's apparent breakthrough - add to the mounting evidence against it.

"We were unable to determine whether or not a person had cancer based on the blood test," said Dr. Paul Okunieff of Massachusetts General Hospital.

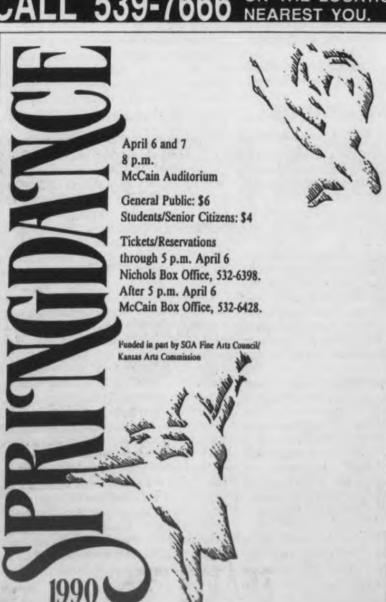

Carefully mirroring Fossel's methods, Okunieff tested blood from 79 people with cancer or pre-cancerous diseases and 66 people in the hospital for other reasons. The test could not tell them apart.

Show Class, Read the Collegian.

CALL 539-7666 OR THE LOCATION NEAREST YOU.

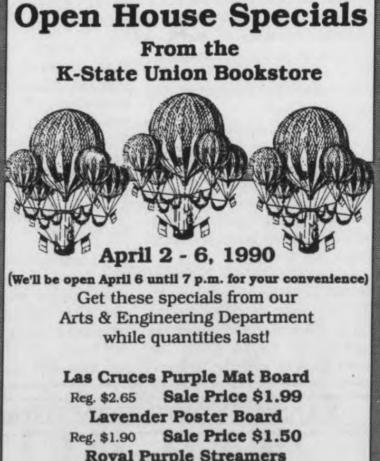

Ms. Anne Murphy Executive Director, American Arts Alliance will present a Convocation Lecture "Exploring Truth: Art in a Political World"

Monday, April 9, 1990 McCain Auditorium 10:30 a.m.

Pre Convocation Forum Thursday, April 5, 1990 Room 212, K-State Union 12:00 noon

Royal Purple Streamers Sale Price $3.50 Reg. 4.15 Violet Tempra Paint Reg. $1.50 Sale Price $1.25 10% Off any other supplies purchased for All University Open House Preparations K-State Union Bookstore

Support the K-State Union. Dollars spent in the Union support youl

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIAL

April marks return of income tax woes

a few of our hard-earned bucks with a deserving government? But seriously, filling out your tax forms is some of the most fun you can have at home without hiring some large, sweaty thugs to come in and steal all your prized posessions. And unless you wimped out and mailed your accountant your life story and about five zillion wadded up bits of paper and receipts that you found stuffed in a box under your bed, then filling out your tax forms is exactly what you have to do. You must fill them out soon because hefty penalties are the Internal Revenue Service's favorite thing and April 15 looms menacingly on your calendar.

To fill out your tax return, the first thing you have to do is get one. That's easy. They're everywhere - libraries, the Union, grocery stores. It's easy, that is, until you get home, glance at the instructions, and realize that because you have a dependent who is a half-blind, one-legged son of Elvis who was brought up by apes in Africa until he was discovered by the National Enquirer and returned to you - his third cousin's greatuncle's stepdaughter on his mother's side you need Form #w438*578-2b. This form is dreamed of is in that notebook in random ort's that time of year again — tax time. specially designed for just such a problem and boy howdy, isn't everybody just and can't be found this side of the Mississippi thrilled to death to share river. But of course, you look anyway. You start with the public library, where helpful clerks offer you everything from Schedule A: "Itemized Deductions," to Schedule Z: "Little Things You Sold In Your Neighbor's Garage Sale That You Thought the IRS Wouldn't Find Out About But Will," but no Form #w438*578-2b.

> So you continue your hopeless quest and move on to Farrell Library. Of course, they haven't had anything you've needed since 1987, when you went in to read the Manhattan Mercury, which they couldn't find, but you managed to find the information you needed in an obscure scientific journal from 1953 written in an Oriental dialect which fortunately your roommate had learned in order to understand her statistics teacher. When you finally track down someone who knows where to find tax forms - "I think they're in Documents." "Where's Documents?" "They moved it - it used to be on the fourth floor. I think. Ask someone else." - the person at the desk looks at you as they might look at a poisonous Belgium slug. They then slowly draw a huge notebook out of a drawer and hand it to you. Every tax form you ever der, and to use them, you have to photocopy them, and I don't think the nickel is tax

Now that you have your forms (don't forget to photocopy the directions), you can clear a space on your desk, order a pizza and get down to business.

The first line on the directions reads "You must furnish this information to the government so that we can ensure that you are doing your taxes correctly. Estimated times to complete the form: Reading directions, 34 hours, 23 minutes. Understanding the laws, 7 hours, 18 minutes. Gathering the information, 54 hours, 1 minute. Filling out the form, 23 hours. Wadding it up, throwing it away, and deciding not to take the deduction, 2 minutes, 36 seconds." Wad up the form and throw it ow is the time to realize that one of ducted later in the national form and everythe most important things the IRS wants to know is how much money you made last year. They also want to know that everybody who actually paid you anything sent you a little form telling you how much, right around New Year's. You put all the little forms somewhere special so you wouldn't lose them, and now you have lost

While everyone else is digging through their drawers, I only have one thing to say to everyone out there who is laughing and saying, "I didn't make enough money to pay taxes. I get a refund." Yeah, right. You have to file a return to get that refund. Go get your

Now we come to one of the charming things about state and local taxes. For some reason, even if you start out with zero income on the short form, they make you add back all sorts of things, like money to drive on the highways and money for the privilege of being represented in Topeka by all those people who keep taking away our funds. You can end up owing them money even though you didn't make any. The long form doesn't do that. It's a neat trick, because no one in his right mind willingly fills out the long form, so the state gets extra money that can be de-

THE CHEMICAL COMPANIES

Refuse to sell us the ingredient needed to Produce Poison GAS.

one is happy

Now you're back at your desk with your cold pizza to fill this out once and for all. Name. Social Security number. Easy so far.

Married or single? I might point out that married people pay more taxes than single people. The government hates to see people happy. There's still time to get that annulment.

Want to give money to an election fund? One dollar of the money you have to pay anyway could go toward the election of the candidate of your choice. Of course, you don't get to pick who gets it. Don't worry, I-don't understand it either. Now to the fun part.

Income, interest income, deductible interest income, losses, casualties, annuities, child support, add, subtract, line 13 from line 38 and divide by two percent of your something

Head spinning yet? Good. Now pack up the whole mess in the box with the cold pizza and send it to an accountant. You can deduct his fee next year. Why didn't they tell you that in the first place? It's no fun. Besides, it's only deductible after it combines with other deductions and exceeds two percent of your adjusted gross income. ...

Well, Then, Tell GADHAFI We'D LIKE

PHARMACEUTICALS.

TO ORDER SOME

Bad precedent set by funding republicans

The students of K-State are now helping to fund the activities of College Republicans.

The allocation of $180.90 to the group by Student Senate is a small but sad landmark in Student Government history. Traditionally, there has been an unwritten rule that political groups do not get funding. Groups like Amnesty International and Coalition for Human Rights have, in the past, been forced to walk a razor's edge to get funding because they were threatened with cuts for being "too political."

But, as Coordinator of Finances Barry Beck contends, "every group is political." Let's look at groups like U-Learn and the Sailing Club. In this light, Beck's assertion is not only proven to be incorrect, but it is also shown to be nothing more than a rationalization to justify funding for a group of which he is an active member.

Another assertion made during the debate was that College Republicans, according to the group's chairman, student senator Travis Stumpff, "are not an issue-oriented group." Anyone who believes that must be ripe to buy some swamp land in Florida. This ridiculous statement was also made by the same person who told Senate the next day, "We will not invite a Democrat to speak."

But now the precedent has been set and the floodgates are open. A myriad of other political groups, from the Young Nazi Skinheads for Christ to Communist Gun Owners for Stalin, may now come to Senate for funding. Pandora's box is now open. Let's sit back and

Point ruined

Editor. In response to Jana Leep's column, "Salivation not sincere form of flattery," I would like to ask, why me?

Jana Leep has taken my quotes out of context and portrayed me as one who "may ... brag to her schoolmates from her hometown that a bar full of drunken hormones screeched with more intensity for her than for the other chicklings flapping their wings," or as one who "may relish her position between the pages of this calendar, as an athlete might relish a trophy. I was called by Tomari Quinn at my workplace to give a quote for the article referred to by Leep. I did not really have time, as I was working, but I felt sorry for Quinn when she told me that I was the only one she could reach. I guess what I am trying to say is that I gave my quote in fear that I would be made to sound bad. After I read the article by Quinn, I was relieved to know that it was not as I had feared. However, after the editorial by Leep, I realized just how I had been set up for this personal attack. Leep refers to me as a calendar contestant as unreal and not human. In her closing statement she says, "Perhaps the emptiness will settle within them ... then, perhaps, the shock will become real and concrete, and then, perhaps, they too will become real and human." Well, I guess then, I am not either real or human, according to Leep. Whether or not, this is a personal attack against me. My question is simply, is this really necessary to drive the point home? I feel that Leep could have made a great point, which was ruined by her personal attack on me. I would also like to express my disappointment in the Collegian for allowing this to be printed. I guess my hurt and disappointment over this must mean that I am human after all. I guess Leep, like the Delta Upsilon fraternity (or so she claims), can hurt

Jennifer Sandberg

senior in English Action uncalled for

In the grand scheme of things, what I want to talk about may seem insignificant to a lot of people. However, I believe it needs to be brought to the attention of the student body and the administration. April 3, the bathroom on the fourth floor of Haymaker was locked because the guest of one person on that floor chose to write on the mirrors with a magic marker. The bathroom was subsequently locked, thereby depriving all the residents from those facilities to which they are entitled.

While the need for some type of disciplinary action may be called for, this was totally inappropriate. After discussion with friends I have found this is a common form of punishment. The men and women of K-State, who pay a good deal of money to live in residence halls, deserve respect if for no other reason than because of that money. This action is not only ethically but legally questionable. There must be state regulations that govern facilities provided, or required to be provided. The arbitrary decision to withhold the right of access is risky at best. We strongly urge the administration to look into this practice and find another method of enforcing its policies.

> Troy Calkins freshman in computer science

Priorities wrong

Editor.

I am writing in reference to the recent article concerning the policies that were waived in Coach Altman's hiring. Although I am not at all concerned with the selection, I am concerned with the procedures that were taken by the affirmative action office, and by the administration.

It seems apparent that when it comes to athletics, the administration bends over backward to accommodate the athletic department, regardless of the prodecures that should be taken to make certain decisions. My question is, why doesn't the administration take the same attitude when it comes to the multicultural issues of hiring on this

In my opinion, the administration is more concerned with the revenue the basketball program is bringing in instead of being concerned with the students who pay tuition to attend the University. It seems strange that a basketball coach can be hired practically overnight, but it takes the same administration almost two years to hire a multicultural provost. As an African-American student here at K-State I am quite sick of being put on the "back burner."

It is obvious there are things that can be done here to improve the University multiculturally, that is only if the administration wishes to do so. I am specifically referring to some of the recommendations that the multicultural task force made about two years ago.

I truly believe now that the administration does what it wants when it wants, and is not totally focused on what the real priorities should be here at K-State.

Aireka Key president, Black Student Union

Remarks shallow

Editor,

The remarks of Barry Beck, coordinator of student finances, concerning the Student Senate Finance Committee's desision to cut all student government funding for UFM are disturbing on at least two levels: his perception of a university's role in general, and his disregard for the role UFM plays in this University community.

He explained the committee's decision to eliminate funding for an institution that does not serve only K-State students but also the community at large this way: "We decided to reward the winners, rather than support the losers." Should K-State, or any of its arms student government, administration, financial aid, the faculty — choose only to associate with perceived "winners," what will the consequences be? Imagine the fate of the football team, Farrell Library, students without wealthy families or anyone below a 3.5 GPA, I imagine Beck would not counsel me to grade only the work of students who have earned A's and B's in their previous classes, or to refuse to meet with a student who had failed a midterm, thereby proving him/ herself a "loser."

I have found many reasons to admire UFM and to appreciate the opportunities it offers. Although university towns are often plagued by serious town/gown rifts, UFM signifies just the opposite: it is a healthful forum in which students - both undergraduate and graduate - can join in learning with other Manhattan residents. It also suggests lessons that Beck clearly hasn't grasped yet: learning is not confined to the years one spends in college, and at least one goal of an education is to teach one to teach oneself.

The kind of "non-academic" learning that takes place in some of UFM's courses, while superfluous to the shallow careerist who sees college as a hoop through which to leap toward a high salary, is often the kind of learning that makes life more rich and meaningful. I expect students find the same true of many courses they take at K-State.

> Elizabeth Dodd assistant professor of English #### recognize Lithuania As the anxiety created by the confrontation between Lithuanians and the Soviet government waxes and wanes with each day's news reports, the convenient amnesia

Administration should which has afflicted the Bush administration threatens to make a mockery of a historic American stance on the status of Lithuania and its fellow Baltic republics, Es-

Since Soviet dictator Joseph Statonia and Latvia.

lin ordered the takeover of those nations in 1940, the United States has maintained that they are not part of the Soviet Union. However, President Bush, for all his expertise in foreign affairs, seems to want to forget this policy.

As the Soviets have tightened the screws on the Lithuanians, by arresting army deserters seeking refuge in hospitals and closing the borders, the United States has toned down its criticism of President Mikhail Gorbachev.

see what pops out.

Feeling caught between a rock and a hard place, Bush has chosen not to further increase the pressure on an equally straitjacketed Gorbachev.

It is simple what the United States should do. It should recognize the independent Lithuanian government. The Soviet Union needs Western funding if perestroika is to go forward. By taking such a position, Bush would place Gorbachev on warning that he would lose future economic aid if the Soviets violently crack down on Lithuania.

Without such an action, the United States will once again be dumbfounded when it discovers that high ranking Bush Administration officials visited the Soviet Union a few short weeks after the tanks roll into Vilnius.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

ANAGING EDITOR	Paula S
SSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR
JEWS EDITOR	Craig Han
DITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Eric H
HOTO EDITOR	Brad C
ORTS EDITOR
AMPUS EDITORS
PECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
	Julie Ande
RTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Chair V
OVERNMENT EDITOR.	Chris K

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classifing questions should be directed to (913) 532-6565.

Oliver Kaubisch/Staff

Clear for takeoff

Bret Rings, sophomore in veterinary medicine, throws his model airplane into the air to practice his radio control steering skills on the playing fields by the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex Tuesday. Rings crashed the plane and broke the fuselage but said, "It's easy to fix."

JAMMIN

■ Wagner's "Die Walkure," will be broadcast live from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera house this Saturday at 11:30 a.m. This is one hour earlier than usual. The braodcast may be heard over KANU-FM or KHCD-

"Impressionism: Selections from Five

American Museums" will be on display at the Nelson-Atkins Museum of Art in Kansas City, Mo., April 21 through June 17.

This is an exhibit of 85 paintings and sculptures by 21 Impressionist and Post-Impressionist masters. Information about the viewing schedule can be obtained by calling (816) 751-1331 and ticket information is available by calling (816) 741-1ART.

Tickets are available for specified viewing times, and after the tickets are sold out the exhibit will not be available for view.

Manhattan Civic Theatre's final production of the 1989-90 season, "The Boys Next Door" by Tom Griffin, opens at 8 p.m. today in the Wareham Opera House and runs through Sunday.

The play tells the story of a compassionate young man whose job it is to monitor the daily lives of four developmentally disabled men tryBY JIM ROURK

ing to make it on their own in a group home in a regular apartment

One character, Lucien, sings the "Alphabet Song" before a Senate subcommittee.

Norman works in a doughnut shop and cheerfully consumes each day's broken rejects. Barry is a golf pro who works for $1.13 an hour.

Tickets are now on sale at the Wareham Opera House.

History provided by ranch records

Archive collection to benefit students by displaying agricultural information

By Clinton Wolf Collegian Reporter

The records of Kansas ranch families may provide valuable information about the economic and social development of Kansas.

A University Archives project is coordinating the collection and storage of these records to be made available to the public.

Anthony Crawford, University archivist and curator of manuscripts, said the project is still in its early stages.

"We're very interested in increasing our collection of Kansas farming and ranching records," Crawford

Robin Higham, professor of history, said although old ranch records may seem worthless to family members who move away from Kansas, they can be valuable to students in various fields. 'There's an enormous amount of information in them," Higham said.

Many rural residents have financial records, cattle breeding records and photographs that give the history of ranching in the state, Higham said. The records should be useful to students researching livestock breeding, agricultural economics, social pattems and banking, he said.

Higham said the last generation knowledgeable of early Kansas ranching is disappearing as the rural population declines. Because the University's extension services have been historically involved in ranching throughout the state, it is natural for the University to preserve these records, he said.

Don Good, professor emeritus of animal sciences and industry and director of development for the Livestock Meat Industries Council, said the records will provide a better perspective on K-State's role as a landgrant university, as well as on agricultural development in the state.

bone of the state," Good said. "It's kind of important to know where we've been and then where we are and where we're going."

'Agriculture is of course the back-

The information in the records may dispel some myths about Kansas agriculture in the past, Higham said. "I think some of these records will give us a far different impression of Kansas during the Depression," Higham said.

He said he has seen one ranch's financial records that showed nearly $1,200 worth of taxes being paid during 1939. Such information makes the image of starving ranchers somewhat inaccurate, Higham said.

"We've tended to have this hokey picture of a farmer in a sand dune with a half-buried plow and a halfburied house," he said.

One donation of records has already been made to the archives. Crawford said the records of the Alfalfa Lawn Farm near Larned, operated by the Lewis family, were obtained by the University and are currently being processed.

"It's an excellent collection of the Lewis family going back to the 1910s," Crawford said.

Another set of ranch records has been promised to the University but has not been donated as of yet, he

Good said he has been working with the archives in locating possible sources of records.

"They're old, established ranches I happen to know about," Good said. Because of his work with the animal science industry, Good said he

the state. Donors of the records are usually long-time pioneer families who have held positions in the Legislature and livestock associations, Good said.

knows several ranchers throughout

"These people have made real contributions to industry and to society," he said.

Good said the historical perspective of food and fiber development in the state will help ensure resources are used efficiently in the future. He noted that agriculture is the largest source of employment in the state.

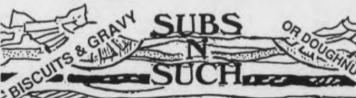

"I think the records are beneficial to all citizens of Kansas," Good said. "Kansas can provide food and fiber for the whole world."

While the Lewis family readily donated its records to the University, Good said other families have been more hesitant.

"It's just like anybody," Good said. "If you have records and it's your life, you're kind of reluctant to turn it over."

■ See ARCHIVES, Page 9

STOP IN MORNINGS FOR

CARE-N-TASTE OF HOME IN EVERY INCH! 443 ANDERSON

African Students Union

Presents: AFRICAN NIGHT

An evening to experience: African dishes, African drums, attire show, dance and more.

Venue: City Auditorium

Time: April 7, 7 p.m.

Tickets sold in the Union
Wed., Thurs. & Fri. for $4 or 532-6448, 532-6164 day; 537-3221, 539-7610, 776-0293 eve. Children under 12: $2 At Gate: $5

Sunday • April 8 • 7:00 p.m.

FORSHE' & RAZ-MATAZ

LIVE ROCK-N-ROLL

CHILI BURRITO......$1.77 reg. $2.25 Prices Good Thru Sat., April 7

taco nu

On The Hill Over Looking Westloop Starting April 1, 1990 open Sun.-Thur. 11 a.m.-10 p.m. Fri. & Sat. 11 a.m.-12 midnight

If you need abortion or birth

control services, we can help. Confidential pregnancy testing Safe, affordable abortion services Birth control Tubal ligation Gyn exams

Testing and Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. Providing quality health care to women since 1974. Insurance, VISA & Mastercard accepted.

omprehensive Lealth for Women

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe) Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400 Toll Free 1-800-227-1918

Buy Our Food Bar at Regular Price and Get All The Shrimp You Can Eat For Under Two Clams.

$1.99 When You Buy Our Regular Price Food Bar.

Only BONANZA gives you all the golden fried shrimp you can eat and your choice of potato, at a price this easy to swallow. Simply order our regular FRESHTASTIKS* Food Bar and while you're dining on a plate of shrimp, you can save a few clams. Offer expires 5/6/90.

Where The Extrus Don't Cost Extru.

622 Tuttle Creek Blvd., Manhattan, KS

ROCK N ROLL

TONIGHT!

$1.50 BOURBON DRINKS THURSDAY $1 WELLS FRIDAY $1 PITCHERS SATURDAY CHARLIE'S NEIGHBORHOOD BAR

YOUR HOME OF LIVE MUSIC

SPORTS

Throwin' blanks

Wildcat ace making opponents earn runs

By David Svoboda Sports Reporter

When the 1990 baseball season ends for David Hierholzer, his parents will probably be more upset about it than he is.

For the Wildcat pitcher, the 1990 season has already brought a great deal of individual attention. And on top of the personal accolades, Hierholzer has seen his team break new ground by sweeping Oklahoma in the first Big Eight series of the year.

But, although he was an all-Big Eight performer in 1989, and though he's well on his way to duplicating that feat this season, Hierholzer is probably playing out the

The dream of being a major leaguer is just that — a dream. When you're 5-foot-10 and 155 pounds, it's hard to make an impact on big league scouts.

"Hopefully I'll have a job lined up by summer and can get on with my life. I'm 23, still 5-10, and that's not going to change," Hierholzer said. "It's going to be harder for my parents to believe it's over than it will be for me.

"Every kid has a dream of playing in the majors, but there's a big difference between being effective against college hitters and being effective as a professional."

Effective is exactly what Hierholzer has been against his collegiate opponents this season. The Big Eight Pitcher of the Week for his shutout performance against Oklahoma, Hierholzer is 4-1 and has a 0.43 earned run average.

He has thrown 39 straight innings without allowing an earned run, and 19 straight without allowing a run of any sort. On top of that, his strikeout-to-walk ratio is an impressive 44-to-16.

Hierholzer pays attention to the numbers, but he's a realist where his success is concerned.

"I have a feeling that as Kansas State baseball continues to get better, those records I set will disappear," he said. "But I do pay attention to what I'm doing.

The goals set by the Overland Park resident prior to the 1990 season weren't numerical, however.

"My personal goal was to not have a bad outing. I had a couple last year and I didn't want to have any this season," he said. "My team goals were to show a little leadership and help get the team to the (Big Eight postseason) tourney."

As a returning all-conference performer, Hierholzer is a bit of a marked man each time he takes the cal" pitcher when not on the mound. mound. But he hasn't let it bother

"I really haven't felt any pressure," he said. "Most people think they can hit off any pitcher on a Kansas State staff. They're begin-

K-State's David Hierholzer has established himself as one of the best pitchers in the Big Eight this season. He has already been named the league's pitcher of the week twice this season and has a 0.43 ERA and a record of 4-1 going into a weekend series at Kansas.

ning to learn they can't."

Helping his teammates to learn by setting an example while he's on the field is important to Hierholzer. He admits, though, that he's a "typi-

"I don't think, in practice, I'm not much of a leader at all," he said. "The position players know the pitchers are different than they are.

"When I'm not pitching, I'm in the dugout cutting up or in the press box charting pitches. Most of my senior duties are things I take care of when I'm playing."

When he's playing, Hierholzer is often relying more on his knowledge of pitching than on his physical talent.

"Dave's greatest asset is his ability to set up hitters," said K-State coach Mike Clark, "He makes them hit his pitch. You add to that the fact that he's such a competitor, and he's very tough to beat."

Hierholzer prides himself in winning the mental battles that take place during the course of the game.

"Pitching for me is almost all mental," he said. "A pitcher has got to know how to set up hitters to be successful."

Success in life, for Hierholzer, will likely not involve baseball after 1990. He's prepared for that eventuality, however, being on schedule to graduate in May with a dual degree in finance and management.

His parents - David and Vicki - might have a tougher time seeing their son in a business suit than in a baseball uniform, but while he's in uniform, they're enjoying what they

WILDCAT NOTE: Today's scheduled action against Tarkio has been cancelled.

Valvano willing to compromise with N.C. State

By The Associated Press

RALEIGH, N.C. — Jim Valvano is willing to compromise on the $500,000 buyout clause his contract requires North Carolina State to pay if the school forces the basketball coach's resignation, his lawyer said Wednesday.

"He doesn't want to stick it to the university that's been good to him," attorney Woody Webb said. "By the same token, he's been good to it, too."

Though Valvano's contract has said, "It's safe to say he's willing to come off that."

Webb said a compromise proposal would be delivered to university attorneys, who have told Valvano he would not be permitted to remain as

Webb also said he thought State was softening on its initial offer of a $106,000 payoff, but he declined to give details.

Valvano's salary is $100,035, but sneaker contracts, product endorserams would make his total income many times that amount.

Meanwhile, N.C. State guard Chris Corchiani was still pressing for an exemption to NCAA rules that would make it easier for him to transfer should Valvano leave, the player's attorney said.

Attorney Mark Rodgers, in a telephone interview from West Palm Beach, Fla., said he filed an appeal Tuesday with the NCAA Rules Interpretation Committee. A hearing will the $500,000 buyout clause, Webb ments and local TV and radio prog- be held by teleconference April 13. have shut out Valvano's overtures to Rodgers said it would b unlair for Corchiani, who will be a senior, to sit out a year before playing for another > team as NCAA rules specify. "For him to transfer to another school and sit out a year means he will have to stay in school one more year than he'd anticipated," he said. "It's almost like a one-year probation to the kid."

Webb said several members of the Board of Trustees are annoyed with reports that the school's attorneys of any wrongdoing.

Valvano, who has coached the Wolfpack the last 10 years, led North Carolina State to the NCAA championship in 1983. Since January, however, he and the basketball program have been the targets of controversy. State was placed on two years' NCAA probation last fall for violations involving the sale of sneakers and tickets, although Valvano was never accused

SPORTS BRIEFLY

Lady Cats' Miller honored

Postseason honors continued to roll in for K-State forward Diana Miller, as the junior from Buhler was named to the Kodak All-District V Team to become the first Lady Cat since Carlisa Thomas in 1987 to achieve the honor.

Miller, who earlier this season was named co-Big Eight Player of the Year, was joined on the all-district team by Liz Brown of Oklahoma State, Char Govan of Illinois State, Jan Jensen of Drake and Amy Rakers of Southern Illinois-Carbondale.

Each of the nine Women's Basketball Coaches Association districts selected a five-member squad with the pool of 45 players qualifying for the Kodak All-American Team, which was announced last weekend at the Final Four in Knoxville, Tenn.

"It's a great honor to be chosen one of the top 45 players in the country," Miller said. "Now all that's left for me next year is to be an all-American. Hopefully this will bring some more national recognition to the Kansas State program as well."

Fritz chosen for camp

K-State senior all-American Steve Fritz has been invited to participate in the first-ever Visa Gold Medal Athlete Program for 1992 U.S. Olympic hopefuls.

Fritz was one of just 18 U.S. decathletes chosen for the training program which will take place on the campus of San Francisco State today through Sunday.

The program will feature U.S. gold medal decathletes Bob Mathias (1948 and 1952), Milt Campbell (1956), Rafer Johnson (1960), Bill Toomey (1968) and Bruce Jenner (1976) as members of the coaching staff. "This is a big honor for Steve because The Athletic Congress has recognized him as one of the top decathletes in the country," K-State coach John Capriotti said. "Steve's goal is to win the NCAA championship this year and then start training for the 1992 Olympics. This program will be a big boost toward his training for that goal.' In addition to testing each decathlete's performance in the 10 events, each athlete will also be provided with on-site physiological and psychological testing to prepare them for Olympic competition.

Snyder names player reps

Wildcat football coach Bill Snyder has announced the names of his player represenatives for the upcoming season.

The players, who will act as a service liason between the players and the coaching staff, are sophomore linebacker Brooks Barta, senior running back Richard Boyd, junior tight end Russ Campbell, senior linebacker James Enin-Okit, junior cornerback Rogerick Green, senior safety Danny Needham, junior wide receiver Michael Smith and senior quarterback Carl Straw.

Quest for green jacket begins at Augusta today

By The Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Ga. — Greg Norman faces an old friend and a new nemesis - Jack Nicklaus and Robert Gamez - in his quest for the elusive green jacket this week in the 54th Masters. "Jack is Jack," Norman said Wednesday of Nicklaus, who last week won his first start on the Senior PGA Tour, "His confidence is high and on the rise. "He's hitting the ball extremely well; hitting it high and long. He has a new driver, a new putter. He's lost some weight. He strong and fit. He looks and acts like he's 35 instead of 50. He has that pride. He thinks he can win." So does Gamez, the 21-year-old rookie who has won two times on the PGA Tour this year. The second came at the expense of Norman, when he holed a 176-yard shot for an eagle-two on the final hole at Bay Hill in Orlando.

Gamez, not awed after his first trip over the Augusta National Golf Club course, said he viewed the Masters "as another tournament," and was "confident enough I can win the championship on Sunday."

"Gamez obviously is a very competent individual, but he hasn't felt it before," Norman said. "He hasn't felt the Amen Corner or somebody's bad breath down the back of his neck. The more you play here, the more it drains you."

Only a last-hole bogey kept him out of playoffs in two the last four years. Only Larry Mize's playoff pitch-in deprived him of a Masters title in 1987.

I feel very confident. When you've won a tournament twice you feel more comfortable.

- Seve Ballesteros professional golfer

Those near-misses, his obvious affinity for the course and the tournament, and a strong start to the season make him the obvious choice as the most likely to succeed in the 85-man field set to open play today.

Half of the last 10 Masters have been won by Europeans, who like to boast that leadership in the game has moved across the Atlantic.

Seve Ballesteros, twice a Masters, champion and a contender on an almost annual basis, is the European leader and obviously is playing well. "I feel very confident," Balles-teros said. "When you've won a tournament twice you feel more comfortable." Among other European stars competing are defending champion Nick Faldo of England, former Masters champions Bernhard Langer of West Germany and Sandy Lyle of Scotland, along with Ian Woosnam of

The U.S. counters with two-time U.S. Open winner Curtis Strange, current British Open title-holder Mark Calcavecchia, Tom Kite and Paul Azinger.

Although he hasn't won this season, the aggressive Calcavecchia may be playing the best of all. He has been a runner-up four times this season, including three in a row before he took a pre-Masters break, and has more than $551,000 in earnings at this early point of the season.

Royals split pair with Bosox

By The Associated Press

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. - Thomas Dunbar ignited a two-run, 11thinning burst with his fourth hit, leading the Kansas City Royals to a 7-5 split squad victory over the Boston Red Sox Wednesday.

In a second split-squad game between the two teams, Bill Buckner had four hits and Roger Clemens threw seven shutout innings as Boston beat Kansas City 8-0.

Dunbar, a catcher headed back to the minors, had a double and three singles, driving in one run and scoring three runs. He began the 11th with a single off rookie Daryl Irvine and scored on Jeff Conine's 420-foot double to center. Pat Tabler, who hit a sacrifice fly during a three-run seventh against Greg Harris, singled home Conine.

Carlos Maldonado settled down after giving up a game-tying double to Bob Zupcic with two out in the ninth and earned the victory.

Kurt Stillwell had three hits and Gerald Perry two in the Royals' 14-hit attack.

Zupcic, a minor leaguer, had two hits and Luis Rivera had a two-run double for the Red Sox.

Kevin Appier allowed four hits and two runs, both on a misjudged fly ball, in the first five innings, then left to join Omaha, Kansas City's top

Boston rookie Dana Kiecker allowed one run and five hits.

squad to Texas

By The Collegian Staff

The K-State track team will venture to Austin, Texas, today to compete in the Texas Relays, but getting a jump on the rest of the competition were the athletes in the multi-events, which began Wednesday. Terry VanLaningham and

Karen McGaughey represented K-State in the decathalon and the heptathalon, respectively. VanLaningham finished the first day of competition in 11th place out of a field of 16 men, compiling a total of 3,541 points. The men finish the final five events today. McGaughey set personal records in two of the four events of the heptathalon, but she is still in 17th place out of what assistant coach Cliff Rovelto called a very tough field of 19 women. She had 2,788 points. The final four events of the women's competition concludes today as well.

The rest of the competition begins Friday and K-State will be concentrating on the relay events. The Wildcat men will be running in the 4x100-meter, 4x400-meter, 4x800-meter and sprint medley relays, while the women will be entered in all but the 4x400-meter relay.

"We'll run a lot of relays," K-State coach John Capriotti said. "I'll be anxious to see how we look. This is a really big relay meet. There will be over 70 teams there."

Also competing in the open events for the men will be Pat Allen and Richard Croll in the javelin, Chris Samuelson and R.D. Cogswell in the high ump, Orlo Berry and Dwayne Murphy in the long jump, and Clifton Etheridge in the triple competing in the women's open events for K-State will be Debbie Schmidt in the javelin, Angie Miller and Shannon Flanagan in the shot put and discus, Connie Teaberry in the high jump, Becky Ives and Paulette Staats in the 1,500 meters, and Carla Shannon in the long and triple jumps.

Abortion topic of new bill

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - A new abortion parental notification bill was readied for introduction Wednesday, one patterned after a proposal made by Gov. Mike Hayden before the 1990 session opened.

It came from an unlikely source, the Senate Ways and Means Committee, after the Federal and State Affairs Committee seemingly had given up on the issue for this session.

About mid-morning Wednesday, Sen. Gus Bogina, R-Lenexa, denied a rumor that his Ways and Means Committee would take up a bill addressing parental notification for teen-agers seeking abortions.

However, about noon, the committee authorized for introduction in the Senate a bill on that very topic.

What happened?

"I've never denied a committee member the opportunity to introduce a bill in my committee," said Bogina, chairman of the committee. " But I will request that it not be sent to this committee. I don't want it. We've got too much else to

The committee member Bogina was referring to is Sen. Frank Gaines, D-Augusta, who introduced what he called a "clean version" of a parental notification bill.

"This is cleaned up," Gaines said. "It's not abortion bill; it's a parental rights bill."

Gaines said he did not think other lawmakers understood the bill they rejected last week because it had been amended so heavily in the House and the Senate Federal and in the State Affairs Committee. Gaines said he considered it unconstitutional himself and he wants to give it another try.

'We need to get the issue back on the floor," he said. Now the question is, what will happen to the bill?

Senate Majority Leader Fred Kerr, R-Pratt, said he is not planning to debate it Thursday. In fact, the most that can ppen Thursday is that the bill will be introduced in the Senate and referred to a committee.

Sen. Bud Burke, president of the Senate, said the bill likely would be referred to the Federal and State Affairs Committee or the Judiciary Committee Thursday.

Nor will it be debated Friday, because the Senate is taking up tax issues, Kerr said.

That leaves Saturday, when the Senate is taking up school finance, or the wrapup session that begins April 25. Many senators would like to address the issue before April 25.

"We'd like to debate it on the floor before the recess so we don't get harassed during the break," Kerr said.

Burke said he preferred doing it in the wrapup session.

SRS bill passes Records

Budget increased $56 million

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — The Senate passed Wednesday, 28-12, an appropriations bill that exceeds Gov. Mike Hayden's welfare recommendations by $56 million, which some lawmakers say could invite a veto.

The Senate passed a budget for the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services that would spend $409 million in state tax money for the 1991 fiscal year, which begins July 1. Hayden had recommended an SRS budget of $353 million.

The House-passed version of the bill exceeded Hayden's recommendation by $34 million, and the Senate Ways and Means Committee added $22 million to that. The Senate passed the committee's recommendation without making a single change.

The measure now goes back to the House, where representatives are likely to reject the proposed increase in spending, putting the bill into a joint conference committee, which will attempt to resolve differences.

Hayden proposed a cut in Aid to Families with Dependent Children payments of $9 a person a month, but the Senate restored $5 of that.

Senate President Bud Burke, R-Leawood, who voted against the measure, called it a "budget buster."

"It is obvious that this level of spending will force the governor into a veto," Burke said. "He has no

The measure also could force Hayden to make across-the-board cuts for all state agencies, which could create a major crisis for some departments unable to absorb cuts, Burke

However, supporters of the bill said most of the increases were necessary because of hgher caseloads in welfare programs and by federal mandates.

Sen. Gus Bogina, R-Shawnee, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said the federal government has given some people a credit card to pay for health care costs, with a portion of the bill going to the state.

"We have problems as far as runaway costs," warned Bogina, who supported the bill. "This bill is well above the governor's recommendation. It's going to be difficult to absorb that."

"If we did not put this (extra) money into it, it would be like not paying the mortgage for a month and hoping the bank would forget about it, added Sen. Wint Winter Jr., R-Lawrence.

The Senate added $7 million for costs associated with federally mandated policies on medical assistance. It also added another $7 million in medical assistance for projected caseload increases above SRS' estimates for the 1991 fiscal year.

Legislator creates statistic on voting

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - In a legislative world obsessed with numbers, computer runs and cost estimates, Rep. J.C. Long, R-Harper, has created a new

It's called "votes per minute," and it's designed to prove the theory that a representative's arguments become less effective the longer he or she

Long pulled a yellow stopwatch from his desk and timed the debate on various amendments to bills Tuesday and Wednesday. He then divided the number of votes each amendment received by the time it took to debate them to come up with the new ratio for measuring legislative efficiency.
"The theory is — I don't know,"

Long said Wednesday. "I thought it would be kind of interesting to clock the votes per minute ratio - while sitting there and following the debate very intently."

For the record, Long's friend Rep. Kerry Patrick, R-Leawood, so far holds the record for both best and worst votes per minute ratios.

Patrick offered two amendments Tuesday to a bill that appropriates money for the state university sys-

UNLIMITED

•DWARFS

·SATINS

·MINI LOPS

tem. One amendment garnered 14 votes after 16 minutes of debate, for a "vpm" of 0.88. The second amendment was approved on a voice vote after fewer than five minutes of debate, a vpm of 21, because Long counts voice votes as 100-vote victories.

"On the successful amendments, the average runs about 11," Long

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 were forced to write an incomplete story.

"A lot of times we write a story that does not identify the person (involved)," said Candy Niemann, Kansan campus editor. "It is a frustrating

Charles Beckom, K-State chief of police, said he is aware of the controversy surrounding the amendment's interpretation.

"A lot of people consider it ambiguous, the media especially," Beckom said. "If I was doing a news story, I might look at it as somewhat

The law was designed to protect the identities of students, he said. Kansas has an open records law which requires public law enforcement agencies to make available information regarding police activities. "Now, I guess the ambiguity comes in the interpretation of what can lead to identification," Beckom said. "The conflict arises on whether the (federal law) supercedes the state law. That is where the media have difficulties."

Beckom said his department could face legal action if it were to release the names of students.

'The way the statute is written, if we make the mistake, we end up in court," he said. "I don't think the media are going to turn one iota of a hand to defend us for doing exactly what they want us to do - violate the Goodman said, however, there are no criminal penalties for violating the Buckley Amendment.

John Lambert, director of public safety, said he is also aware of the controversy surrounding the Buckley Amendment, however, K-State bases its interpretation of the law on a 1987 recommendation by the Department of Education.

In 1987, Lambert's office contacted Hazel Fiers, director of the Student and Family Education and Privacy Office in Washington, D.C., for an interpretation of the Buckley Amendment regarding police records.

In Fiers' response, she stated that criminal records of students may only be released to another law enforcement agency.

"If the records are disclosed to any other party, then they become education records and can be disclosed only with the consent of the student," according to the letter.

A spokeswoman for Fiers' office said the 1987 interpretation is current and police records on students are not to be released to the public.

She said criminal records are not considered educational records unless they are shared with anyone other than law enforcement officials of the same jurisdiction. Criminal records are to remain separate of academic records.

The spokeswoman said her office works with other universities and colleges, bringing them up to date on current interpretations of the Buckley Amendment. Unless a complaint is made to her office, they do not actively search for schools in violation of the law.

"We don't go out trying to find who is in compliance," she said. Some university police officials disagree with the current interpretation.

Wichita State Police Chief Milt Myers said he believes the Buckley Amendment was not intended to be used to withhold names of students involved in criminal acts. "I don't think it has any effect on the victim of a crime," Myers said. "The Buckley Amendment was not intended to protect them, it was intended to protect scholastic records. "If they get involved in criminal activity, they have no protection under Buckley," he said.

Names of suspects are withheld until a warrant is issued by the district attorney's office in Wichita, Myers said.

Officials at KU say they are required, under terms of the Buckley Amendment, to withhold names of suspects and victims in criminal cases from the public. Sgt. Schuyler Bailey, a member of the crime prevention division for the KU police department, said no identifying information, besides race and gender, is made available to local media.

"We work quite well with the newspaper," Bailey said. "The only thing they don't get is names."

Capt. Guy Kidd, Emporia State police chief, said his department follows Kansas open records laws in making their records available to local media.

"The only time we withhold names is if it involves juveniles," Kidd said. "We have never found that the Buckley Amendment was applicable to a criminal offense. If there is an arrest made, that becomes immediate public record.

"We have not had a situation where this has been challenged." Situations involving ongoing investigations sometimes preclude the release of names, he said. In some situations, students can successfully request their names be withheld. All state law enforcement agencies, including university police departments, use standardized incident reports that are sent to the Kansas Bureau of Investigation monthly. Many times, the front pages of these multi-page reports are made available to the public by the reporting

Bailey said due to the federal regulations outlined in the Buckley Amendment, the KU police department whites out the names of students on the front pages of the criminal incident reports before they are given to local media.

"It has its purposes," he said. "We do not release names to anyone. I have never seen us try to hide information."

At Fort Hays State, after charges are filed or a complaint is signed, the information becomes public record, said Chief Sid Carlile. They provide the front page of the criminal incident report to the media and general public.

Carlile also said the Buckley Amendment does not apply to his

"It hasn't been used here as such," he said. "If you are of legal age, it is

Be informed. Read the Collegian.

Expires 4-4-90

re-Easter Sale

539-4751

Headquarters for all your bunny accessories GREEN THUMB

PLANTS - PETS (Across from Alco)

1105 Waters 9:00-5:30, Mon.-Sat., 12:00-5:00 Sun., Thurs. till 8:00 p.m.

LEASE Brittnay Ridge Estates

Exciting NEW Townhouse Development For STUDENTS Only

- 4 bedrooms 2½ baths
- All appliances (including clothes washer, dryer and microwave)

236 parking spaces

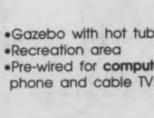

Limited number of Units 776-5599

Gazebo with hot tub

 Pre-wired for computer, phone and cable TV.

DAN WEIR COMPANY

2601 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66502 913/776-5599 * Fax913/776-3805

Precedent set

House passes representation bill

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - The House overwhelmingly approved Wednesday a bill that makes it general state policy to attempt to ensure proportional representation of minorities and women on state boards — a plan supporters say is the first of its kind in the nation.

The bill, approved 100-24, states that officials making appointments to boards and commissions should try, when possible, to ensure that appointments make the membership of a board representative in gender and race of the population it serves.

The measure also contains a clause that says a person's qualifications should be considered first. The bill now goes to the Senate.

"It sets a goal that's equal, right and just," said Rep. Joan Wagnon, D-Topeka. "There are plenty of qualified and competent women out there. This bill is about sharing access and sharing power."

However, some members raised questions about the bill. Rep. Vem Williams, R-Wichita, deemed it "just plain silly."

Williams said the appointment of women and minorities will become more common as they became more involved in politics.

"This natural solution will undoubtedly result in more qualified selections than mandated appointments."

The bill originally began as a proposal to create a general policy of attempting to ensure gender balance on boards and commissions. However, the House Governmental Organization Committee added the race provision.

If it passes the Senate, it would make Kansas the first state with a policy on both race and gender, supporters said.

The opinion of the House's female members was not unanimous, with six of 33 women voting against it.

Loans

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 ment of Education, Office of Student Financial Assistance, to President Jon Wefald.

The cohort rate is based on the percentage of a school's students entering repayment on Stafford loans in the 1987 fiscal year who defaulted before the end of the 1988 fiscal year.

"Default rates at K-State are quite reasonable compared to the national average (cohort rate), which is nearly 30 percent," Viterna said.

The overall default rate at the University, which is based on how many people have defaulted on loans since the inception of the program, is 13.32 percent, Viterna said.

"Because the cohort rate is significantly lower than the overall rate, it is a sign that fewer former K-State Stafford Loan borrowers are defaulting than in earlier years," he said. "This is a positive sign and points up the value of careful loan counseling and follow-up, as well as a get-tough approach by the U.S. Department of Education.

The government is trying to keep students from having outstanding debts in student loans through the amount that is available to them, said Larry Moeder, assistant director of student financial assistance.

A freshman or sophomore who applies for federal aid is only eligible for a maximum of $2,625 per year, Moeder said. Juniors and seniors may receive $4,000 per year and graduate students can get $7,500.

The increasing amounts offered are partly because of higher expenses, he said. When the loan amounts are figured, the government looks at the national picture and not at the individual schools.

The primary reason for the lower awards for freshmen and sophomores is to reduce the amount of loans they are required to pay back, Moeder said.

"The success rate for these students is not as secure. The drop/add rates are greater," he said.

CURRENT & CLASSIC ROCK TONIGHT

Bud & Bud Light Cans No Cover!

OPEN at 4:00 702 North 11th

776-0077 Aggieville, USA

Alchemedians II

Bob Berky and Michael Moschen Tuesday, April 17, 8 p.m.

Team a mime who's like a cross between Robin Williams and Groucho Marx with a nimble-fingered wizard who's been called the Nijinsky of juggling. Give them toys from Pee-Wee's Playhouse and you've got the Alchemedians. Join them in their fanciful laboratory for a delirious evening of man and machine situations filled with comedy, breathtaking beauty, and magical virtuosity.

General Public: $12 Senior Citizens: $10 Students/Children: $8

A Mid-America Arts Alliance Program with the Kansas Arts Commission

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University Tickets now on sale. Call (913) 532-6428 and charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Transportation for senior citizens available through Kansas State Bank, in cooperation with the Manhattan Arts Council. For information and reservations, call Marie Dellen at 537-4400, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Determining hoaxes costly to Coast Guard

By The Associated Press

BOSTON — The call, on a marine hailing frequency, was urgent and chilling: A ship somewhere on the freezing waters off Massachusetts was transmitting a last-ditch plea for "This is the fishing vessel Sol E Mar," a male voice shouted in frenzy. "We're sinkin'. We need help now!"

The plea rose into a scream. The transmission was abruptly cut. Then, there was only crackling static. Coast Guard radio monitors on Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard tried desperately to get the caller back to locate the ship and send help. But just over a minute after the first call, another distress signal came in.

"SOS, I'm sinking," a male voice said. And then he laughed. The Coast Guard officers didn't dispatch rescue planes or boats. The calls, they thought, were just part of the rising number of hoaxes. Last Friday, five days later, they discovered they were wrong. The Sol E Mar was reported missing and the Coast Guard began a search for the father and son who manned the 50-foot fishing vessel.

By then, it was too late. The Sol E Mar and the two men were presumed lost at sea somewhere south of Martha's Vineyard. The search was called off Sunday The family grieved, fishermen along the New England coast mourned the loss of more of their own, and the Coast Guard was left wondering how to deal with hoaxers who think they are being clever by faking a call for help. "Things might have been different," said Lt. Paul Wolf, the Coast Guard spokesman in Boston. "I can't say the fake call killed them. But it certainly lessened their chances." Bogus distress calls were once just a nuisance to Coast Guard rescuers. Now they are considered a serious

Watch for the Collegian Auto Directory, Monday, April 9

Baker

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Baker was buoyed by the meeting Alexandr N. Yakolev, a close adviser to Gorbachev, held in Moscow on Tuesday with a delegation of officials from Lithuania, and the pledge of an "honest dialogue" by Shevard-nadze in an arrival statement.

"There would appear, at least, to be the beginnings of such a dia-logue," Baker said. "We are encouraged as well that we see references coming from both sides to the concept of the possibility of some sort of a referendum approach."

Run

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Pre-holiday Depletion. The run, which took place in Salina, is planned to be an annual event.

The 24-hour run, which took place in Dallas last year, is Zerger's farthest distance. The run is set up around Zerger's most recent run was the Jackson Five-O Jan. 20 in Dallas. He placed seventh out of 101 runners. The winning runner was 42 years old, and the oldest and youngest runners were 69 and 18.

ation in obtaining the records, Higham said.

"We don't want to turn away records just because we don't have room for them," Higham said, "because that's a sure way to lose them."

Archives

cords are not lost.

of old records.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5

Higham said he hopes these re-

"My interest is basically in saying,

'Look, these records are there, let's not lose them,'" Higham said. He said he would love to hear from anyone who is considering disposing

Availability of space is a consider-

Senate

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 duled on April 10.

Other groups to receive tentative allocations were U-LearN and Associated Students of Kansas at KSU. U-LearN's allocation of $12,480.72 passed with no debate, while the ASK budget took more than an hour because of amendments to reduce the salary of the director and increase the advertising and subsistence budgets. Senate voted not to change Finance Committee's recommendation of $2,898.50 for ASK.

Senate will hear funding requests from Legal Services, Touchstone Magazine, Black Student Union and Students Acting to Save a Vulnerable Environment at 6 p.m. tonight in the Union Big Eight Room. Also to be voted on is a resolution objecting to the implementation of the $15 per credit hour Engineering equipment fee now being proposed by the engineering deans of K-State, the University of Kansas and Wichita State University. Also up for a vote are revisions to the Educational Opportunity Fund guidelines, which govern about $220,000 available to campus groups and organizations. Special allocations for the Illuminating Engineering Society and Student Governing Association will be up for first readings. IES is asking for $583 to purchase a light meter that will be used to determine campus lighting problems in conjunction with the Division of Facilities Management. SGA is requesting $837 to supplement its printing budget and $1,042.44 to add to its telephone

JOYCE'S HAIRTAMERS

"Bright minds...read the Collegian"

·Warm & Gentle Perm reg $48 now $38 ·Quantum Perm rea $40 now $30

Men's Perms 30

Cut & Style with all perms

HAIRCUTS

in the Bluemont Room, 2nd floor 10% OFF ANY $1.50 OR MORE BREAKFAST UNTIL 10 A.M. FRUIT PIE ALA MODE $1.35 - TOP YOUR PIE AT THE ICE CREAM STATION

40% OFF REGULAR PRICED ART PORTFOLIOS & PRESENTATION CASES 40% OFF ALL REGULAR PRICED in the K-State Union Bookstore

LARGE BOX OF POPCORN FOR THE PRICE OF A SMALL BOX at the K-State Union Information Counter

15% OFF COPIES ON FINE RESUME PAPER (8.5"X11") Your choice of Linen, Gilcrest and Parchment paper with matching envelopes in the K-State Union Copy Center K-State Union

Host to the Campus

in the K-State Union Stateroom

·Multi-length hair is a popular option today. Longer front offers feminine fashion options while the back bares the neck. ·Short or long let your stylist custom cut the best look for you. 2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd: 539-TAME

Kids $650 Shampoo & Style with all cuts

Gal $12, Guys $8.50

JOHN WATERS FILM IOHNNY DEPP He's a doll. He's a dreamboat. He's a delinquent. SUSAN TYRRELL • IGGY POP • RI

MASSINE MANDERS AND CO. DECEMBER 1

OPENS FRIDAY, APRIL 6TH AT A THEATRE NEAR YOU.

Original ... Or Golden. Which of our famous pizza models suits you best? At Godfather's Pizza", you choose your own unique style ... and all the fresh toppings you love. Pick the model you like most ... and have a great time together!

ORIGINAL You know the type.... through and through. Has impeccable taste

Godfathers Pizza.

539-5303 1118 Laramie

> Medium Combo

Medium or Large

Godfather's Pizza Godfather's Pizza

FREE Breadsticks

and Dessert with the purchase of medium or large pizza or Pizza Doubles valid everyday, 5 to 9 p.m. May be used with other coupons. Dine-in only. Expires: 5/18/90 KSU 000 Godfather's Pizza.

Medium One Topper With purchase of any Golden Crust medium pizza at regular price.

Godfather's V Pizza

Wildcat Buffet $2.99

All-You-Can-Eat. Lunchtime. Monday-Friday

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4,25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications.

Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper. Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the adver-tiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter

the value of the ad.
Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Announcements

- A BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics Janet Milliken, 539-9469.
- ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor,

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp.

The Community Service Program

Volunteer Network

would like to thank you for participating in the Texas Alternative Spring Break trip:

Laura Vetter Randy Pasley Jenny Reschke Shelby Shanks Heather Adams Brett Thompson Suzanne Pohl Greg Davis John Monforte Edward Elder

Chanmaravirick Lean Teresa Pennington

2 Apartments—Furnished

A LARGE two-bedroom sublease, 1010 Thurston. Everything— central air, full kitchen, etc. $399 negotiable. 537-3346. FOR AUGUST or June. Next to KSU. Deluxe two for three people, $440. bedroom apartment 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR THE next school year. Luxurious two-bedroom apartment. Near campus at 363 N. 14th. Central air, laundry, balcony, new carpet and off-street parking. $425. 537-0428.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. 539-1465.

NEXT TO campus— Apartment complex, 1832 Claffin Road across Goodnow and Marlatt. One bedroom, furnished, central air, off-street parking, quiet. Evenings 539-2702.

ONE-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus, off-street parking, laundry. Available June 1. $275. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

Why worry about roommates?

Affordable, nicely furnished, studio apartments.

Mont Blue Apartments 1431 McCain Lane

One block from campus, on site laundry facilities. $250, $250 security deposit, low utilities.

539-4447

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

1219 KEARNEY, Basement, One bedroom, Gas/ water included. June lease, $250. No pets. 539-5136. EFFICIENCY APARTMENT, $195 per month. Gas, heat and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings and weekends.

GREAT APARTMENT for rent or sublease. Perfect location! One bedroom, just right for two people. $340/ month. Sublease June 1 to Aug. 1 or rent for next year June 1 to June 1, 1991. 539-4196.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coinoperated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required. $280. 539-1465.

PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two-bedroom. Close to campus. 776-8381.

TWO-BEDROOM, central air, 1½ bath, laundry, nice location, available June. 537-8800.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

PCF Management

Efficiency $200 1 bedroom $250 2 bedroom $290

776-4805-539-8401 Sandwich Shop

LIMIT: one (1) per customer

Expires 4-19-90

Westloop area. Call 776-1340.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

STUDIO APARTMENT. Located above a bar. $155 plus icity. Call 539-6813 after 7p.m.

Sunset Apartments

Now leasing for June or August. One bedroom. $280-295. Central Air, Gas Heat & Laundry Facilities.

776-3804 539-5051

after 5:30

McCullough Development 2700 Amhers! (913) 776-3804

Wildcat Inn

Three locations of one bedroom apartments still available for June or August leasing. $310-340. Call for more information.

> 776-3804 Weekdays until 6 p.m. Saturdays until 4 p.m. McCullough Development 2700 Amhors! (913) 776-3804

K-Rentals

Efficiency $200 1 Bedroom $250

2 Bedroom $290

3 Bedroom $450

539-8401

5 Automobile for Sale

1978 ALFA Romaeo convertible for sale. Red. with new top, new tires and great stereo with casse equalizer. $3,750. Call John 1-456-7050.

1979 VW Rabbit, four-door, air conditioning, stereo. Good exterior, great interior, $650. Perfect for the woman or "man-about-town." Also good for road trips. 539-5393, please leave message.

1987 DODGE Aries LE 2500 cc engine. Excellent buy. Assumable power train warranty. Phone Lee, 532-5804 days, 539-0168 evenings.

DATSUN 280Z, 1977. Great engine, good gas mileage. Body needs work. $1,250. 776-4574.

FOR SALE: 1983 Jeep, CJ7, four-speed, new top excellent condition. $4,500 or best offer. 537-8987

Auto Insurance too high? We have excellent rates, free quotes. Call Tim Engle 537-4661.

6 Child Care

COME BE a nanny in a lovely New England home located 20 minutes north of Boston. Professional couple is seeking summer help for their two charming children, 5 and 10. Call Sandi at

NANNY: LOVING person to care for 2-year-old and infant. One year minimum commitment, 40 miles north of NYC in Connecticut, must swim, no smokers, prefer experience with young children. Ask for Susan Taylor day (212)230-3223 or evening after 7p.m. (203)329-2809

7 Computers

MAC II, two MB RAM, 40MB HD, software, $2,950 (CPU only) or $4,200 (includes CPU, TPD monitor and video card). 776-7435.

Authorized Warranty Service also servicing

•PC compatibles & printers Televisions & VCRs

BIG Screen TV Rental MIDWEST

SERVICES

Manhattan 913-776-6650

BARTENDING

Even if you're not 21 you can learn to tend bar!

Come join the Tuesday-Thursday class starting tonight at 4 p.m. in the Last Chance Outback.

Price: $39.95

Questions or signup, call 532-5103 sponsored by:

WANTED: A data base programmer to develop new agricultural software for private business. Even-ings. 456-9201.

XT IBM compatible, 14-inch color monitor, two disk drives 3½, 5½, 640k, printer. Make an offer. Call

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution

ACT IN TV commercials. High pay. No experience. All ages— kids, teens, young adults, families, majure people, animals, etc. Call now! Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702.

ATTENTION: EARN money typing at home! $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. T-1797.

ATTENTION: HIRING government jobs— your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext

ATTENTION: KANSAS Careers needs a student assisten from: AANSAS Gareers needs a student assis-tant for 20-30 hours' week during summer semester and 12-15 through the school year. Clerical experi-ence necessary plus Word Perfect and dBase III-Pick up application form at Kansas Careers, 304 Fairchild Hall. Deadline April 11. BUS DRIVERS-$5 per hour. Must be 21 years of age.

have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. Part time 6:30a.m. to 8:30a.m. and 2:40p.m. to 4:30p.m. Job description available. Apply USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502. 913-537-2400. CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming. canceing, sailing, waterskiing, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B. Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. 708-446-2444.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288.

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare-time assembly. Easy work at home. Exceptional pay. No experience needed. Call 1-601-388-8242 ext H1395. Open 24 hours including Sunday.

FULL-TIME ASSISTANT needed for optometric office. Will train above minimum wage if experienced, pay negotiable. 537-1118.

GENERAL CAMP counselors, arts and ecology consulants, kitchen and waterfront staff needed for resident Girl Scout Camps in Vermont and New Hampshire, June 16 -Aug. 22. Campers and staff work and play hard together and have an awesome time. Write or call Missy/ Nancy, Swift Water Girl Scout Council, 88 Harvey Road, Manchester, N.H. 03103. 603-627-4158.

GET IN shape. Construction labor, $4/ hour, 20 hours

HELP WANTED: Man with farm background for full-time employment on dairy. House and salary, (913)257-3576.

HIRING PART-TIME leasing agent for Friday afternoons and daytime Saturdays. Apply in person at

1408 Cambridge Place. HORTICULTURE STUDENT needed for planting and ning perennials and annuals. LAWN CARE person wanted for large apartment community. Responsible for the maintenance of grounds and swimming pools. Horticulture or agricultural background helpful. Full time April through August. Send resume to Collegian, Box 8, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

NATIONAL MARKETING firm seeks part-time individual to manage on-campus promotion. Must have strong communication skills and be well organized. Call Amy or Jeanine at 1-800-592-2121.

PART- OR full-time help needed for general farm and livestock work. 913-456-7215.

PART-TIME HELP wanted evenings and weekends People with farm or livestock background preferred. For more information call 776-9401 Monday through Friday 8a.m. to 5p.m.

SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 openings. National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

TECHNICAL SUPPLIES manager, Varney's Book Store, Manhattan, Kansas, We are seeking an energetic, knowledgeable individual committed to giving excellent customer service. Reponsibilities include purchase, merchandising and sale of art and technical supplies. Experience with purchasing and inventory control systems and demonstrated supervisory experience required. Prefer individua with knowledge of art materials and related technical supplies. Prefer bachelor degree, Competitive salary, bonus and fringe benefits are offered Deadline to apply: April 23, 1990. Submit letter of application, resume and references to: Jon Levin, Varney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave. an, Kansas 66502.

WANTED: STUDENT to work summer on hog and crop farm. Call evenings, 539-1930.

WE HAVE the ideal college job for fraternity and sorority members. Set own hours with extremely high monetary return. Job includes marketing imprinted rtswear and party favors to Greeks. Please call T-Graphics, Inc. Lawrence, KS 1-800-633-0276.

9 Food Specials

Hunam Restaurant Free Delivery

> 539-8888 (Continued on page 11)

Tonight

Pitchers Kamis Longnecks

Come check out the newly remodeled back bar.

. . . . .

" . " ve'

THE LAST TEMPTATION

OF CHRIST em DaFoe, Barbara Hershey and Harvey Keltel star in Wednesday and Thursday at 7 p.m. in Forum Hall and this powerful adaptation of Nikos Kazantzakis' thoughtprovoking novel. The film follows the life of Jesus during the final months of his life leading up to the crucifixion and, according to Kazantzakis, the final earthly "temptation" offered by Satan. Rated R. Will be showing the state of the state Thursday at 3:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre. Cost is $1.75

Kanaaa City Royala

Baseball, hot-dogs, and apple pie. Come enjoy an American tradition, it's a fun-filled day at the ball park on May 5. Be there when the K.C. Royals take on the Chicago White Sox. Transportation and Plaza Reserved seats will be included, but you buy the Dogs! Cost is $20.

Information meeting April 5, 7 p.m. in Union Room 206. Sign up in the UPC Office starts April 6, from 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

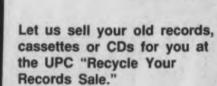

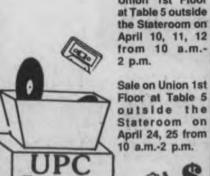

Brown (Christopher Lloyd) rushes in to tell teenage Marty McFly (Michael J. Fox) about new emergencies in the year 2015 or 1955 or an alternate 1985 (brought about by their disrupting the space time continuum), and they go hurtling off to set things right. Rated PG. Cost is $1.75 with KSU ID. Friday and Saturday shows at 7 and 9:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday. All shows are in Forum Hall.

"You're gonna love BACK TO THE FUTURE. This movie is the big one. It's a wonderful movie."

- Joel Siegel, GOOD MORNING AMERICA

Recycle

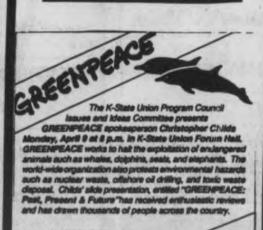

Your Records Collection on Union 1st Floor at Table 5 outside the Stateroom on April 10, 11, 12 from 10 a.m.-

k-state union

outside the Stateroom on April 24, 25 from 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

B.Y.O.E."

(Bring Your Own Eggs) Come join in the fun when UPC Issues and Ideas presents an Easter Egg Dyeing class on Sunday, April 8 at 1 p.m. in the Union's K and S Ballrooms. Participants should bring their own hardboiled eggs and call ahead to reserve a spot. Dyes, wax markers, and decals will be provided.

Canoeing

....

25.4

Join Union Program Council's Outdoor Recreation Committee on this paddling adventure and experience plenty of thrills and excitement on the Buffalo National River in Arkansas on April 28-29. Cost is $47. For more information call the UPC Office at 532-6571 or visit us on the third floor of the K-State Union.

Take the Ropes Course Challenge on May 5 or 6 with UPC Outdoor Rec.! This low ropes course is designed to go beyond the physical challenge. It is a great opportunity for campus organizations and individuals alike to sharpen their skills in leadership, cooperation. and group problem solving. This event will be held at Rock Springs Ranch near Junction City. Attend an information meeting April 10 at 7 p.m. in Union Room 209. Sign-up begins April 11, from8 a.m.-4 p.m. in the UPC Office. Cost is $6.

k-state union

LOST: BLACK Lab neutered male. Lost Friday Aggieville area. Reward. 776-8417 or 539-8365.

LOST BY mistake: Black leather jacket given out by mistake Friday night at Charlie's. Initials B.G. on inside labet. I have your jacket. Please call and we can exchange. 537-7309. Leave message.

LOST: TWO gold rings in or around old football stadium 776-7621. Reward.

ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks east campus, laundry hookups. $285/ month, utilities, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1. 539-3672 evenings.

ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June 1.

FINE AKTS

YET.

200/200

to bunk was

EXCEEDED

ONLY BY HIS

HEIGHTS...

Ripple

WELCOME TO

THE STUDENT

HEALTH CENTER

(DIGGD-LIAVOEN

Today I was wandering around the apartment

when no one else

OK CALVIN, YOU WANT TO

GREAT MOONS

OF NEPTUNE!

SHE MUST HAVE

SUPER POWERS

Too!

PLAY ROUGH, HUH?

was around.

Jim's Journal

FEAR OF

C'NON BIG MAN...JUMP

H1 ... UM ...

Do you BY

ANY CHANCE

REMOVE ... UH,

TATTOOS?

Mr. Peterson followed me around.

YOU'VE GOT TWO

SECONDS TO GET

YOUR CAPED BUTT

IN BED, OR I'LL

PUT IT THERE

FOR GOOD!

THE EVIL

AMAZON IS

USING SOME

PSYCHO-BEAM

TO WEAKEN

MY STUPEN-

DOUS WILL

Calvin and Hobbes

Making the Grade

SO YOU'RE A

MAJOR?

SPACIOUS THREE-BEDROOM, two-bath house be tween campus and stadium, walking distance. Partially furnished. Available Aug. 1, $500/ month. Buy option. 913-685-3418.

GRAPHIC DESIGN.

WHAT'S YOUR

14 Lost and Found

BROWN LEATHER jacket stolen from The Forum near entrance. If you have informated information of the same of the sa

FOUND: ONE set of keys near Holton Hall. Call 7305 or FOUND: SMALL dog, possibly Yorkie-poodle cross. Recently spade female approximately 8 months old. Found vicinity of Laramie and Juliette on April 1.

SO WHILE I'M

GOING TO SE A

FOOR STARNING

ADIST ...

By Bob Berry

MOVE ME

CLOSER.

By J. Hayden

BOY,

THE LIBRARY

SHOULD

GET IN ON

A SCHEME

LIKE THIS.

By Jim

I went into steve's room and everything was neat and clean.

IM GOING

TOPIMP

OF TO WHOEVERS

MAKING THO

VINUA TURTLE

CRAP.

BY RICHARD BROADFOOT

REGULAR ONES

FIFTY BUCKS.

LON KRUGER

TATTOOS, DOUBLE

I went into Tony's room and looked at all the bumper

11307

Lin LNEG

Print BRE

I'M COUNTING!

ONNNNE.

#GASP#

I., I., MUST

RESIST!

stickers on his trash can.

15 Meetings/ Events

ZEN BUDDHIST priest-teacher Teijo Munnich will give public talk and respond to questions April 6, 7:30p.m., Bluement 122.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

12x65 MOBILE home. Two bedrooms, 1% baths. Excellent condition. Call 537-2993.

1972 CHAMPION 12x60, two-bedroom. Good condition. With 8x10 deck. Avaiable June 1. Evenings, 537-4279.

1974 MOBILE home for sale. 12 feet by 65 feet. Three bedrooms. Call Kevin, 776-8797.

1988 14x70 Schult mobile home with three bedrooms, 1% baths, 8x10-foot deck, Call 776-8477, TWO-BEDROOM, 10x60 trailer. Good condition. Great location. Low rent and utilities. Washer/ dryer storage. 776-5671.

18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

SNYDER'S HONDA on Stagg Hill Road is buying and selling new and used motorcycles. We are you motorcycle super market.

21 Personals

AKL BRYSON-I know there's someone in your life, but I want to get to know you. Call me. Al

ARLO- HAPPY B-day and Happy one year. Here's your personal (finally). Get ready for your surprise!
Love, MAB,

AXO SUSIE- A very Happy 19th Birthday to you, Kid! Cheers, Dana.

AZD BEAN: I bet you thought this day would never come! Well, it is here. You are finally 21! I hope you are ready for the time of your life. Oh, and don't forget, you're entitled to a piggyback ride home from the Villet Luv, Stacey.

BRUNETTE WORKING at Christine's around 2:10 to 2:30 Saturdays. Would like to learn more about you Please respond. Guy getting fitted for Matthew B.

CHEERLEADERS, REMEMBER what it takes to be winners. Good luck in San Antonio, Scott J. FORENSICS TERRY- Good luck at Nationals! Blow 'em away!

GIRL IN EeGee's Friday night- I sat frozen by your smile. Its beauty stopped the words. I want to speak to you! Respond in Personals.

GUY IN EeGee's Friday night - How do I know it was my smile? Describe me

JENNIFER M.— Good luck tonight. Don't worry, you'll do great. Relax! Tammy O. NANCY- THANK you for saying yes! I'll do my best to fill your life with moonlight, wine and roses. Add banana splits, also, or was that hot fudge sundaes? ROB ON third floor Haymaker. Do you wear contacts or are those really your true baby blues? Guess who. SNAPPER, D., Ankles, Columbian, and the 8th Wonder— Thanks for the most interesting past two weeks and all the gerat times. Love— The Girls.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

EASTER'S ALMOST here! Registered mini-Lopp bunny, food and cage. For more information, cal 776-6691.

SNAKE CAGE— 135 gallon aquarium and redwood stand. Leaks. As is, $200. Repaired, $250.

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits 1105 Waters 539-4751

23 Professional Services

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day results ment call: Pregnancy Testing Center, Eric Wisdom, D.D.S.

NEW PATIENT SPECIAL

Cleaning, Exam and 2 X-rays

ONLY $28 reg. $59

24 hr. Emergency Number

A BIG two-bedroom house/ apartment with garage for summer. $100 monthly. Call Becky at 539-2381. WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY. Over seven years of

A JUNE— July sublease, two weeks in May Free, one-bedroom, unfurnished, $250/ month. Negoti-able, 776-0486. experience with wedding photography Call for samples. 776-3785. A NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, one-fourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New carpet. Available anytime. Call, leave message 537-7073.

A NICE, three-bedroom, available mid-May through mid-August Cable, partially furnished, two blocks from campus. $150/ month each person (negoti-able). Call 776-0535.

A NICE two-bedroom furnished apartment 1% n campus. Two to four people. $250-$490.

A SPACIOUS three-bedroom apartment. Swimming pool, dishwasher, washer and dryer, partially lumished. Price and time available negotiable. 1530 College Ave., Apt. A-9, 776-0549.

BEFORE YOU decide on a summer sublease, you must see this house located two blocks northwest of campus. Three bedrooms, washer dryer, disner, large living room and kitchen, furnished.

BIG TWO-BEDROOM, furnished, near campus and Aggieville. Available June to August. Clean. $425. 532-2479.

FIRST-CLASS APARTMENTS for June- July subleases. Both one and two bedrooms, turnished or unfurnished, decks available, great locations. Call the Curtin Companies at 776-1222.

PERMS WITH cut, $25 to $30. Shampoo, cut, style, $10. Tanning, 10 for $18. 776-1330.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM abortion? Write: Hearts Restored, Box 295, Colby, Kansas 67701. Confidential re-sponse will follow.

WEDDING PLANS? Contact the professionals at Living Image Video. Book now. 539-0168.

Show Class,

Read the Collegian.

24 Resume/ Typing Service

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms discertations, theses, etc. Call 776-4214.

LETTER-QUALITY word processing. $1.25 double

NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals, re-sumes and more. Laser printing. Call 537-4146.

RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to make an impression. One day service. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147.

WORD PROCESSING: College papers, resumes, let-ters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single. Quality Print

FEMALE, NON-SMOKING roommate to share gor geous house. Own room, washer/ dryer, sun porch

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share house close to campus

FEMALE ROOMMATE(S) needed for upcoming school

FEMALE, UPPERCLASSMAN or graduate student.

MATURE, NON-SMOKING female to share house for NEED ONE or two non-smoking roommates for August Near KSU. Call Kevin, 537-8834 after 9p.m.

NEED TWO roommates for summer. Next to campus

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share nice apartment one block from campus. $157.50/ month, one-half

ONE— TWO non-smoking females, furnished farm-house, free stall and pasture for horses, cattle, dogs. P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan.

ROOM FOR rent in six-bedroom home. Four blocks

ROOMMATE WANTED to share house trailer, $100 per

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Own room. $150

KENWOOD KAC-820 power amp for car. $200. Call

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

WINDSURFER ONE design, three sails, $750; Rocket

$134/ MONTH, per person, plus utilities, summer. Two-bedroom apartment, furnished, by City Park.

15 SECONDS from campus. Single, turnished. $230 plus electricity. June- July. Part of August free. 532-6334.

A $100 sublease, large room in big house, 1818. Fairchild, 539-1457, ask for Julie.

Express, 10-foot, 6-inch transition board, 5.6m2 sall, $600, 776-6073.

plus one-third electricity. Close to campus. 537-2863.

month, half utilities. Call Allen 537-3909.

26 Stereo Equipment

Scott 776-6240 after 4p.m.

28 Sublease

776-3797.

from campus. $135 a month plus percent of utilities. Share kitchen and laundry facilities. Call either 913-966-2265 or 913-966-2171.

near Aggieville. $140 plus one-third utilities. 539-4711.

utilities, washer, dryer, off-street parking.

next fall. 776-3860 after 5p.m.

dishwasher, fireplace. For summer, possibly fall. $250/ month, utilities paid. Laura 776-7561.

furnished, washer, dryer. Lease, deposit, utilities year. One block from campus. Washer/ dryer. $120 plus KPL. Call 537-2186 (Tammie) or 532-2182

Private bedroom, laundry, one block off campus, off street parking. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

Betty, 539-6851, Claffin.

shared Edie 776-3066.

25 Roommate Wanted

spaced page. Next-day delivery available. Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

FOR SUMMER— Large, two-bedroom. Great for three close to campus. $360 or best offer. 776-2378.

FREE SIX-PACK to first people to sublease our apartment. Balcony, swimming pool, two-bedroom 537-1565.

NEED ONE or two roommates to sublease 1822 Elaine. $125/ month for one; if two, split $125. Paid utilities, free washer and dryer, deck in backyard. 537-4634, ask for Nanci. NEED PERSON for three-bedroom apartment. Furnished, own room, close to campus. June and July. $175. Time and price negotiable. 776-0890. NEWLY REMODELED one- to three-bed ment. Close to campus/ Aggieville. Call 776-4018.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment close to campus. Balcony, dishwasher and laundry facilities. Three people, $300, two people $270, 776-3340.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate to sublease furnished apartment this summer. Own room, washer and dryer. $150 per month and one-half utilities.

Call 776-4728.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, 11/2 blocks from campus. Call 537-1365.

SPACIOUS FURNISHED studio apartment next to campus. Laundry facilities and patio. Available June and July. Rent negotiable. 539-5736. Ask for

SUBLEASE- TWO blocks from campus, nice two-bedroom apartment, $280/ two persons. 537-8674. SUBLEASE: ONE- three people for three-bedroom apartment. June— July. Rent $395. Call 537-2666, ask for Melissa or leave message.

SUBLEASE: TWO-BEDROOM, one bath, pool, with option to rent. Open June 1, 539-4931 after 6p.m. SUBLEASE- NICE two-bedroom apartment for three to four people. One block from campus. Washer, dryer, dishwasher. $450 month. 539-4784.

SUMMER- FOUR-BEDROOM, two-bathroom apartment with balcony, dishwasher, and laundry facili-ties. Near campus and Aggieville. Rent negotiable.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Nice and affordable onebedroom apartment. Near campus/ Aggieville. Call 539-2963 or 539-2007.

SUMMER SUBLEASE-Nice, one-bedroom furnished apartment for two people. Near campus and Aggieville. Make offer. 539-4577.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Two-bedroom furnished apartment, near campus and Aggleville, terms negotiable. 1-494-8221.

SUMMER SUBLEASE. Furnished two-bedroom, close to campus, fee negotiable. Call 532-3124.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Two-bedroom apartment good for three. Two blocks from campus. Negotiable. Call 539-7423.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Spacious, furnished, twobedroom apartment close to campus. $375. Chris or Pat. 539-3097.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Large, two-bedroom unturn-ished apartment. $450 plus electricity. Negotiable. Close to campus. 537-2863.

SUMMER SUBLEASE-June 1 -July 31 and/ or lease available through Aug. 1, 1991. Furnished, one large bedroom, excellent condition, private balcony, across from Ford Hall. Perfect for one to three people. Price negotiable. Call 776-0715. Best between 5:30- 7p.m.

SUMMER SUBLEASE—one to two rooms in house with another roommate, right across the street from campus. Male only, 776-5799.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Large, three-bedroom, across street from campus, one block from Aggleville. Call 776-9802.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom, furnished or unfurnished. Close to Aggieville and campus. Price negotiable, 776-7493. SUMMER-TWO-BEDROOM close to campus. $200/

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath, in Aggieville. Available May through July. Great location. 776-4760.

THREE BEDROOMS, one and one-half bath, one-half block from campus and Aggleville. Parially furnished. Call 778-3448.

THREE-BEDROOM, two full baths, one-half block west of carripus; dishwasher. Dates/ rent negotiable 776-7945.

TWO-BEDROOM, FURNISHED, one block from campus. Aggieville. Available June and July. $270. 776-4574.

30 Travel

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050. Battery or AC powered, two font types, 16,000-character memory expansion card, spe corrector and many other features. Excellent condition. $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave

FOUR-HEAD HQ stereo VCR for sale. 537-1052. WANTED TO buy: White lab coat. Call Terry at 539-1691

33 Storage

NEED A place to store your things? For June and July, $20/ month. May Free. 776-1387.

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

Garfield

By Jim Davis

By Bill Watterson

IN A

VERMILLION FLASH,

STUPENDOUS

MAW IS IN

THE AIR!

3.

Z iowi

Peanuts

AND WHILE WE'RE SETTING UP

THE MARSHMALLOWS ...

By Charles Schulz

ACROSS

36 Long -(winter under-5 "- a boy!" wear) 8 Actress 37 Refined in speech 40 Knocks 41 Menlo

Park

genius review

49 "Goose egg"

53 Walk

star Lendl 13 Grass 45 Clarinet coating 14 Actress 47 Bad Garr

1 Act the model

Loretta

12 Tennis

15 Transmit 16 Compass 17 Verve 18 Wool type victim 22 Aptly constructed 26 Cut lumber

29 Actor

20 Early

Cariou 30 Altar vow 31 Begged 32 Road 33 "— a Kick Out of You" one

34 Slippery 35 Long. long time

55 Force DOWN fixture 3 Hit the

4 Supplied with funding 5 Perfect 6 Decimal base 7 Cardigan helm 50 Egg shape 9 Almost 51 Frigid 52 Midterm 10 Nest egg 35 Sixth acct. container through 19 Blushing water 21 Bakery 54 Teaching product Solution time: 23 mins.

CASES CATIONA PUTSTOTHETEST 43 Algerian Port ARS EMEER OTHE PORT PORT BOOST I RENE CORN FLAT
ANA ARIES SRA
PUTUPORSHUTUP
SOLACE EROSE
the

Yesterday's answer 4-5

23 Grassy plain 24 Actress 1 Tower town Barbara 2 Pizzeria 25 Braille bits 26 Throw out high C's 27 Out of the wind 28 Like a bookworm 32 Part of some tennis shots 8 Take the 33 Separated charges sense

11 Sardine 36 One of Clampetts 38 Soup server 39 "Born

> Free' setting 42 Voluptuous

Gabors 48 Top pilot programme and the second secon

CRYPTOQUIP

AIPCNXSLCXIPG CI AOLNAO TJNJWQ TRGIPNO CXCOJG CORC SXPK.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE STUPIDEST MOVIE EVER MADE WAS AN ACCOMPLISHMENT FOR FILMDOM.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: N equals R

Temptation

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 such as Martin Luther King, it would never be allowed on a college

Tom Jones, a senior in political science and a member of Kaleidoscope, said that during the movie, one of the protestors took from remarks Jones made about the movie that he was influenced by demons. He said the protestor started talking in a way that seemed to be an attempt to "exorcise" those demons.

Such statements, Jones said, were an abuse of the privilege given the protestors by the Union and that the individual was practicing her religion in a way that was disrespectful of the rights of others.

"Protesting is one thing, but this was too far," he said. "She was infringing upon others' rights. I think there's a big question why this exception was made."

Jones said the woman protested Kaleidoscope's fairness in selecting the panel chosen for the discussion following the movie. He said the woman argued that no representation would be made in the discussion to represent the Christian perspective.

Paul Donovan, freshman in preprofessional secondary education and a Kaleidoscope member who helped organize the panel, said invitations were extended to several organizations representing the Christ-

The panel for the discussion consisted of Ed Schiappa, assistant professor of speech, who served as mediator; Jim Hamilton, associate professor of philosophy; and Sheryl Witmer, program director of the University Parish of United Methodists.

"As I was watching the movie, I had some thoughts about the flack the movie receives from some parts of the religious community, and feel that it overlooks what the movie intends to do," Witmer said in the discussion. "I believe that it was never the purpose of Kazantzakis (the author of the novel upon which the movie was based) to make any realistic representation of Christ."

Witmer referred to the disclaimer which appears on the screen prior to the movie explaining the movie is not based upon the Bible, but upon the fictional exploration into the struggle with sin.

"The movie never pretends to be true, it explicitly states it is based on a novel, not upon Scriptures," Schiappa said. "I think the Union was correct in allowing the showing of this movie. The University is the perfect place to bring out issues such as these for consideration."

 $\triangle$ HYUND $\Delta$ I Practical Compatibles.

Fast 16 Mhz 80386ex, 40MB Hard Drive High Resolution VGA Color Monitor

STUDENTS, FACULTY & STAFF ONLY

Offer ends 31st May '90

Connecting Point. COMPUTER CENTER

539-0801 1115 Westloop Ctr Open Mon-Frl: 10-6 Sat: 10-4 not to IRM list prices. Wild in a mag<sup>the</sup> of IRM Co

BIKE CLOSE OUT SALE

Some Western Flyers Have a Lifetime Warranty Details in Store.

Bikes sold in Factory Fresh Cartons. Assembly Available.

"Mountain" All-Terrain 18-Speed Tackle the toughest terrains!

Shimano Tourney derailleur. Men's frame with doublewelded rear support. Side-pull caliper brakes. Men's or women's. 1-yr. frame & fork warranty. 34-2018-9

Mountain. Town & Country City 10-Speed

99 26 in. men's or women's frame. Spring saddle. Ea. 34-2028, 29

STOP A WESTERN "Alta Tecnica"

12-Speed Racer 99 Fully lugged frame. Men's or women's. Lightweight front fork. 34-2988, 89

WEIG

ALL BIKE PARTS AND ACCESSORIES

40% off

Boy's 20 In. "Avenger"

.

99 Rear freewheel. Stretch frame. Caliper brakes. 34-2756-4

Freestyle Stunt Track Certified BMX 99 360° rotor. Front/ . rear stunt pegs. CD chain wheel. 10 In. 34-2762-2

Shop Our Convenient Location in Manhattan! 2301-2305 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Phone (913) 539-0535

Store Hours: 9 to 5 Sunday 8 to 8 Monday-Friday 8 to 6 Saturday

ANOTHER! IMPORTANT! BIG CUT IN PRICES! STOREWIDE FOR THE ### FINAL WIND-UP STORES HAVE BEEN CLOSED

All day yesterday Wednesday, April 4th, to again mark down prices on every article throughout both stores creating hundreds of new bargains and make final preparations for the FINAL WIND-UP. Be here when the doors open Thursday promptly at 9:30 a.m.

weekends

MENS SPORTSWEAR

LOCATED-WESTLOOP SHOPPING CENTER-MANHATTAN

GREAT $300,000 GOING OUT OF BUSINESS SALE

NVOLVING AND DISPOSING OF ALL MERCHANDISE THROUGHOUT BOTH STORES

GREAT SALE DAYS

TODAY 9:30 TO 9:00 FRIDAY 9:30 TO 9:00 SATURDAY 9:30 TO 5:30

other! Important! CUT IN PRICES on oth of our stores will create hundreds we bargains for Thursday. This is a sa om end to end! Nothing Reserved-Nothin

FAMOUS BRANDS ALL ON SALE

Hart, Schaffner & Marx, Austin Reed, Corbin, Cole-Haan, Boston Traders, Career Club, Ruff-Hewn, River City Trading, Byford, C.C. Sport, Interwoven, Leslie Fay, Rafaella, New Line, that's me, Phoebe, Jeffrey & Daia, Mizz Lizz, EMO, AND MANY

PROMPTLY AT 9:30 A.M SELLING BEGINS

REG. TO $45.00 LADIES' BLOUSES One lot of better blouses, famous makers. Out they go Thursday at ...

REG. MEN'S PAJAMAS

$30.00 One group fine pajamas, choice $ of colors, famous maker. Out they go Thursday at ...

REGULAR TO $30.00 MEN'S SPORT SHIRTS

One lot famous makers sport shirts, excellent styles, fabrics, etc. Out they go Thursday while they last at ...

ALL SALES FINAL-NO REFUNDS-NO EXCHANGES

REGULAR TO $57.50

MEN'S SLACKS

One lot men's slacks in the wanted styles, fabrics, colors from better makers. Out they go Thursday at ...

Q88

REGULAR $40.00 LADIES' ACTIVE WEAR

One lot better ladies' active wear, assorted colors, better style. Famous maker, while they last Thursday at ...

88

HUNDREDS OF BARGAINS

REGULAR TO $30.00

MEN'S KNIT SPORT SHIRTS One lot better men's knit sport shirts, assorted colors, better fabrics. Out they go Thursday while they last at ...

100

TOO NUMEROUS TO LIST!

REGULAR TO $48.00 LADIES' SKIRTS

One large lot ladies' better made skirts by famous makers, excellent fabrics and styles. Out they go Thursday at . .

Q88

HURRY! FIRST COME-FIRST SERVED! ALL ITEMS SUBJECT TO PRIOR SALE! REG. TO $60.00

REG. TO $198.00 DRESSES

55% OFF

One lot ladies' most

MEN'S

COLE HAAN

SHOES

PRICES

CUT AGAIN!

NOW AT LEAST

MEN'S SPORT COATS One large lot men's sport coats in the better styles, fabrics, etc. from Austin Reed, Corbin, etc. Out they go Thursday at ... TO $175.00 TO $195.00 TO $245.00 TO $295.00

$99

BLOUSES One lot fine blouses,

wanted colors, prints by Leslie Fay, Rafaella, etc. Out at ... $2688

ENTIRE STOCK MEN'S TUXEDOS DRASTICALLY SLASHED IN PRICE!

REGULAR TO $60.00 LADIES' SKIRTS

wanted skirts, solids, prints, etc. from Leslie Fay, that's me, etc. Out they go Thursday

OPEN TONIGHT

UNTIL 9 P.M.

288

REGULAR TO $75.00 MEN'S SLACKS

One large lot bet 88 men's slacks in the wanted fabrics, styles, colors. Famous makers. Out they go Thursday while they last at ...

REGULAR TO $50.00 MEN'S SPORT SHIRTS

shirts in the popular styles, tabrics from Boston Traders, New England Gentleman, etc. Solids, plakts, stripes, Out at

88 REGULAR TO $125.00 MEN'S

100% COTTON SWEATERS cotton sweaters by famous makers Boston Traders, Lard Jeff, Byford, Out they

NOW LEAST

REGULAR TO $62.00

LADIES' SEPARATES

senarates, blouses, skirts, stacks in the better fabric by betier maker. Out they Thursday while they

88

Friday, April 6, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 127

ROTC cadets counseled

Public speaking graduate assistants use racist comments as class examples

> By Lori Stauffer Collegian Reporter

The leaders of the Army and Air Force ROTC programs on campus have become concerned about allegations of racist and sexist remarks made by some cadets in the program.

Two Army and two Air Force cadets came under fire in a letter written by Karen Haase, graduate teaching assistant for the speech department. The Army and Air Force branches would not release the names of the four cadets involved.

The letter stated that on Feb. 9, while Haase was sitting in the cadet lounge between classes she was "subjected to the most sickening display of verbal bigotry." She said she was the only other person in the Haase said the discussion had gone on for quite awhile and she had initially tried to ignore it. She said she began to listen when the participants began making sexist comments about women.

"It was the women's issues that caught my ear," Haase said. She said she was especially disconcerted about this because two of the cadets were women.

The letter stated that "for the entire hour, the four individuals passed the time discussing the 'Spicks' who have 'invaded K-State,' the 'Chink,' 'Gooks,' and 'Slant-eyes' who 'Should have stayed in the ricepaddies,' and the 'niggers' who are so stupid 'they should die."

Haase originally submitted the letter to the Collegian editor on Feb. 12, but it was not published.

Eric Henry, editorial page editor, said there was a concern that portions mad," he said. of the letter met criteria for libel.

"We held it to protect ourselves and Karen," Henry said.

Haase said when her letter wasn't printed in the Collegian, she was just going to drop the issue. She was then approached by two graduate teaching assistants in the speech department who wanted to use the letter in their Public Speaking I classes as an example of offensive language.

"I thought this was a good example (to show students) how words effect attitudes," said Jon Mertz, GTA. Haase was teaching Mertz's classes the day of the incident.

Mertz said he stressed to his students that the letter was not about the ROTC program as a whole, but about four individuals.

Mertz also said he has heard similar language in the lounge.

"Since then, I've kept away from the lounge because it made me so

"The Air Force doesn't condone this kind of language and this attitude the attitude reflected in that language," said Air Force Col. John B. McTasney, professor of aerospace studies.

McTasney said the people involved have received counseling and have been reminded this behavior is not condoned.

"To the best of my knowledge, we have not had a recurrence," he said. Army Lt. Col. Bill Cook, professor of military science, said he had not read the letter, but had heard about it and called in the two cadets for counseling.

Cook said the cadets told him they were discussing names and adjectives people have used to described the different racial groups and that

■ See ROTC, Page 12

U.S., Japan find trade agreement

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - U.S. and Japanese negotiators on Thursday announced completion of an unprecedented agreement pledging to reduce trade frictions by making broad-based reforms in the economies of both countries.

The agreement, reached after four days of marathon discussions, set forth a complex set of proposals aimed at lowering America's huge $49 billion deficit with Japan by attacking structural barriers to trade.

Under Secretary of State Richard McCormack, the leader of the U.S. negotiating team, said the talks produced "substantive progress" in resolving trade differences between the two economic my country," Kaifu said.

A White House statement praised the agreement as "an important way station along the road leading to a strengthened U.S.-Japan relationship.

In Tokyo, Japanese Prime Minister Toshiki Kaifu said carrying out some of the deep economic reforms promised in the talks could be painful, but in the end would improve the lives of the Japanese.

Speaking at a news conference, Kaifu called the reforms a duty that "Japan must discharge as a responsible member of the international community."

"I ask for the understanding and cooperation of the people of

Marian Petersen, senior in education, and Mitzi Sneath, sophomore in dance, prepare for Spring Dance '90 at dress rehearsals Thursday in McCain Auditorium. Performances will be Friday and Saturday.

Faculty, students to dance in recital

By Heather Anderson Collegian Reporter

Dance pieces choreographed by faculty and students will be featured in Spring Dance '90.

Spring Dance '90 performances begin at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in McCain Auditorium.

Liz Leon Ernst, dance instructor and choreographer, said the dance pieces will vary from ballet on pointe to modern and jazz dances.

"This would be a great thing for first-time audience members to go see, because they would get to see everything," Ernst said. "Mainly, the concert is faculty work, with the exception of two student choreographers." The concert will last about two hours, with an intermission, and a reception following Friday night's performance to give the audience a chance to talk with the dancers and choreographers, Ernst said.

Choreographers include faculty members Ernst, Judith Quirk Chitwood and Bill

Christine Rome, junior in dance, and Amy Newton, senior in retail floriculture, created modern pieces for the event.

Auditions for the dances began in September, and each choreographer conducted practices at least twice a week, Ernst said.

The performers are mainly students, including dance majors and non-majors. Some of the students perform in more than one dance.

Jeff Cowgill, freshman in arts and sciences, is in two different pieces and has been practicing since early February. He said he will perform in a jazz dance choreographed by Ernst and a modern piece choreographed by Bissell.

The modern dance, which Ernst described as a multi-media piece, will be performed behind a scrim, a transparent sheet of material, while slides are simultaneously projected on the front of it, Cowgill said.

"The sheet changes the appearance of things, but it is transparent, and you can still see faces and shapes," Cowgill said.

Panelist: censorship creates awareness

By Lori Stauffer Collegian Reporter

People who attempt to censor art are more dangerous than the art itself, a preconvocation speaker said Thursday in the K-State Union.

"It's the small-minded folks who are always protecting us from ourselves," said Michael Jild, professor of art at Fort Hays State University. "My personal opinion of censorship is that you can't have it in a free society."

The pre-convocation forum was a panel discussion titled "Cross Fire: Censorship in Contemporary America - The Arts.

There is no image, no matter what the image, no matter how awful it is, it can't be more dangerous to society than the people who are trying to censor it," Jild said.
"Pictures can't hurt people," he said.

Because the controversy gives publicity to the art and the artist, however, Jild said he believes a certain amount of censorship is healthy "as long as it doesn't turn into the major thing in civilization."

"The real issue in this whole controversy is not whether an artist gets to produce, but really whether we get to see what the artist has done," said Leland Warren, panelist and professor of English.

The opportunity to see different forms of art is not as great in Kansas as it is in California or New York, Warren said. Councils such as the National Endowment for the Arts give people exposure to the arts. Warren said he finds that legislators pushing to eliminate the national organization are outrageous.

"It is as much the function of the federal government to support the arts as it is for the federal government to care about the physical health of citizens or about our protection against attack from other nations," he said. "If we don't have the arts supported in this way, a vast majority of our citizens will have a very limited opportunity to experience the arts." The Kansas Cultural Arts Commission was developed in 1966 to give citizens the exposure to the arts, said Bertram Biles, panelist and assistant dean for sponsored programs. The commission was created when the National Endowment for the Arts offered $25,000 grants to each state wanting to form a state organization for the arts.

At the time of the commission's inception, most communities did not have formal organizations or structures to help support the arts except in metropolitan areas, Biles said. With the new commission, communities discovered that others were having problems bringing the arts to Kansas, supporting the arts and trying to increase arts programs in the schools.

Today, the purpose of the Kansas Arts Commission is to provide funds, services and information to artists, art organizations and communities; to promote the arts in their richness and variety for all the citizens and visitors to Kansas; and to support works and performances of artists in its continuing commitment to excellence, Biles said.

"What has clearly happened in the 20-plus years since the Kansas Arts Commission was created is that, in fact, more and better arts are being produced and being experienced by the citizens and the artists of Kansas," he said.

Richard Martin, panelist and director of McCain Auditorium, said those taking advantage of the opportunity to experience the arts are the ultimate censors.

"They can stay away." Martin said. ■ See ART, Page 12

Fee release bill reinstated

Committee rejects enrollment adjustment proposal

By Lori Antrim Collegian Reporter

Some of the differences in the Board of Regents funding bill between the House and Senate were reconciled Thursday night, said Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan.

The fee release for K-State, which is 75 percent of tuition received, was reinstated after being voted down by the House Tuesday. Although this will give the University another $752,000, it will not be added to the base budget. Therefore, next year those funds won't automatically be given to the University, Hochhauser said.

Also, no further funds were added to the enrollment adjustment of $2.1 million, which originally was $4.6 million. Hochhauser tried to amend the bill Tuesday to add the $2.5 million, but it was voted down. Rep. Katha Hurt, D-Manhattan, tried to add an amendment to restore $1 million to the fund, but that was also voted down.

Some shrinkage was also added back into the regents budget. This amounted to about $2.87 million dollars of the $3 million that was cut, said Stanley Koplik, regents executive director.

On Tuesday the House voted down proposed cigarette and liquor taxes that could have raised $20 million to help fund higher education. But, another cigarette tax bill was introduced on Wednesday, Hochhauser said.

"There is not a lot of support on this type of bill in the House," she said. "The House has received a lot of mail on this issue. Some think it's not fair to tax only smokers to fund higher education.'

An increase of 5 percent for student salaries was also cut from the regents budget, she

"Based upon those decisions, we did as well as anyone expected," Koplik said. He said there is no chance to get the full-base budget restored next year. "We just pick up the pieces from this year," Koplik said. "I don't see that this really hurt us. It slowed down the pace of the Mar-■ See BILL, Page 12

Class helps homeless, hungry

Students prepare, serve nutritional meals at shelters, food centers

By Sandy Hegarty

Students enrolled in the course Food Service Systems learn about homelessness and hunger, while practicing techniques of food service.

'Students get the experience of walking in totally cold and coming out with a finished product," said Sharon Morcos, instructor of hotel, restaurant, institutional management and dietetics. "I wanted students to get out of the ivory tower and use their expertise with food systems for the homeless and hungry in

"After two trips to Mexico and holding a dying Third World child in my arms, I became aware of the issue of global hunger, and my life was forever changed," said Morcos, who teaches the class.

First, students review current literature to become familiar with the needs of homeless and hungry Americans, she said. Then, they are assigned to work at various area shelters and food distribution centers. "After obtaining some basic information, students go to three different agencies," Morcos said. "At church food pantries, the students prepare three-day emergency food baskets for individuals and families referred (to the pantries) by various social agencies."

The next stop is the Flint Hills Breadbasket, a community food bank where students learn how surplus, and salvagable food can be used to reduce hunger.

'We have learned to rely on this participation from the class," said Atina Hanna, executive director of the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

As a volunteer, a student may do various jobs, ranging from clerical work to transporting food, Morcos said. They also aid in the distribution of USDA commodities.

"I have become real involved," said Darren Landis, junior in hotel and restaurant management. "It's important that these people get a well-balanced meal. It's a very enjoyable experience."

At the Manhattan Emergency Shelter, students prepare evening meals for shelter guests from donated food.

"We are very pleased with the effort that has come out of this," said Michael Cody, life skills/literacy coordinator at the Manhattan Emergency Shelter. "They work with normal, everyday people."

The students also talk to the shelter's guests about how the meals are prepared. The guests are then asked to rate the meals.

'We are exposing the guests to nutritious meals so they can do it themselves someday," Landis said.

World

China prevents mourning

BEIJING (AP) - Authorities staged all-day rallies in Tiananmen Square on Thursday, China's annual day for mourning the dead, preventing unofficial visits to the symbolic center of last year's crushed democracy movement.

It was the second time in a week city officials held official activities in the square as an excuse for closing it to the

The method appeared successful. There were no reports of attempts to lay wreaths near the square or otherwise honor the hundreds and possibly thousands of people killed June 3 and 4, when the army opened fire on pro-democracy protesters and retook the square where they had camped.

In Hong Kong, however, an estimated 20,000 people marched in honor of the Beijing dead, many carrying banners or bouquets of flowers.

A wreath was left from Chai Ling, a leading activist in the Beijing uprising who escaped to the West last week after 10 months on the run in China. "Patriotic heroes will live forever," read a banner on the wreath.

Thursday was China's annual Qingming, or Clear and Bright Festival, when families traditionally visit graves to mourn their dead. Chinese dissidents abroad, through faxes and mailed leaflets, urged Beijing residents to stroll through Tiananmen Square on Qingming in memory of the slain protesters.

Nation declared democracy

EAST BERLIN (AP) - East Germany's first freely chosen Parliament declared the nation a democracy on Thursday and began building a political system that will lead it to unification with West Germany.

The lawmakers, elected March 18 in the nation's first democratic ballot, convened for the first time and formally dismantled the Communist system that ruled four decades.

Meeting in the Palace of the Republic built by the former Stalinist regime, the 400-member Parliament began rewriting the constitution to mirror that of West Germany.

The new legislature and the government it creates could be East Germany's last as a sovereign state because of the moves toward unification with West Germany.

The Parliament empowered Christian Democrat leader Lothar de Maiziere, whose party holds the most seats in Parliament, to build a new government from the 11 parties represented in the legislature.

Clean air bill goes to floor

WASHINGTON (AP) - A House committee cleared away the last major obstacle to approval of a clean air bill late Thursday with a compromise agreement on reducing acid rain.

The Energy and Commerce Committee voted 34-4 to approve a complex allowance system aimed at helping Midwest states ease the cost of reducing acid rain pollutants and soften regional opposition to the legislation.

The acid rain issue has dominated three days of closed-door bargaining among members of the House panel, which is putting the finishing touches on the pollution control measure that will impose new emission curbs on industry, automobiles and electric power plants.

Committee members were working under a deadline to complete action on the complex and controversial air pollution control legislation by the end of the week before Congress begins its Easter recess.

Gerber caters to market of 1

NEW YORK (AP) - A Gerber research plant is retooling to resume production for a market of one: a profoundly allergic 15-year-old boy who cannot live without a special baby formula the company stopped making five years ago.

For a few days this month, one quarter of the production space at the Gerber Products Co. research center in Fremont, Mich., will be devoted to making MBF, a formula only Raymond Dunn Jr. wants or needs.

"People here are working on this on their own time," George Purvis, Gerber research director, said Thursday. "We all have our own jobs, and this is one we added on."

"I don't want to talk too much about it," he added. "It's just something we can do, so we're doing it. It's a volunteer project. The Dunns have nowhere else to turn."

Raymond, who lives with his parents in the Catskills town of Yankee Lake, weighs only 31 pounds. He was born with an abnormally small head and brain. He is severely physically and mentally retarded, and cannot speak or see. He cannot move his arms or legs without help.

Woman found dead in park

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - The discovery of the partially nude body of a young black woman in Gillham Park Thursday morning renewed fears of a serial killer operating in the area. Police said a serial killer was a possibility, but that they did not have evidence linking the latest death with other similar crimes.

It was the seventh time since September that a black woman in her 20s or 30s has been found dead in the same general Midtown vicinity, said Sgt. Greg Mills of the Kansas City Police Department. He said four of the bodies were found in Gill-

All the women had been strangled, Mills said, and their killings have not been solved.

The latest discovery came about 8 a.m. Thursday. Mills said a woman out walking her dog found the body in a area of bushes not far from Gillham Road, a major thoroughfare going through the park.

Mills said the body was that of Michelle Mitchell, 22, of Kansas City. He said the Jackson County medical examiner's office determined she had been strangled.

Judge delays Baker trial

TOPEKA (AP) - A judge Thursday delayed indefinitely the trial of a young Topeka man accused of murdering three elderly Topeka residents last December, just as it was about to begin.

Shawnee County District Judge James Buchele granted a defense motion to to continue the trial so that the defendant, Tyrone L. Baker, 20, can undergo psychiatric evaluation. Buchele did not set a new trial date.

Buchele said from the bench Thursday morning that he had just reviewed psychiatric records on Baker that he had received

He then dismissed the jury, which had been selected just the day before. The judge's actions mean that a new jury will have

In Shawnee County, Baker faces one count of first-degree murder, three counts of kidnapping, one count of aggravated burglary and one count of conspiracy to commit aggravated burglary.

In adjacent Douglas County, he faces two counts of firstdegree murder, two counts of aggravated kidnapping and one count of aggravated assault.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Campus organizations are encouraged to use the Campus Bulletin. All an nouncements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday.

Friday

- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Freddie Ray Lamm at 9:30 a.m. in Seaton 133. The topic is "Partitioning of the Sprinkler Irrigation Amount by a Fully Developed Corn
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Kristina J. Hennessy at 9 a.m. in VMS 343. The topic is "Characterization of Pro-Opiomelanocortin Gene Expression in Bovine Peripheral Blood Mononuclear Cells."
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Noor Ullah at 10 a.m. in Shellenberger 204. The topic is "White Sagebrush Artemisia Iudiviciana Nutt. (Asteraceae) Flower Extract as a Protectant for Stored Wheat."
  - Gymnastics Club will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. in Natatorium 004.
- College of Ag Ambassadors/Ag REPS Applications are due in Waters 117 at 5 p.m.
- Southwind will have an organizational meeting at 4 p.m. in Union 213.
- Rock Climbing Club will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Union 202.
- New Currents will meet from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in Union 202. Meet for dinner at the Hibachi Hut at 6 p.m.
- Hillel will meet at 6:30 p.m. at Yael's.
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Shahla Gharib at 11:30 a.m. in Bluemont 364. The topic is "Evaluation of Selected Sources and Channels of Information Used to Improve Farming Practices Among Iranian Farmers.'

Saturday

- Big Boys of Manhattan will meet at 4 p.m. in the Union Courtyard.
- Little American Royal will be at 1 p.m. in Weber Arena.
- Phi Eta Sigma new members deadline for initiation and banquet R.S.V.P. is today.

Sunday

776-5577

- Gymnastics Club will meet from 7 to 8 p.m. in Natatorium 004.
- Arts and Sciences Council will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 205.
- Collegiate 4-H will have officer elections at 8 p.m. in Union 208.

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

FAST N FREE DELIVERY

Everyday

Two-Fers

2-10 in. pizzas

2—Toppings

$8.00

2-Cokes

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, sunny but very cool. High in the mid-40s. North winds 10 to 15 mph. Tonight, clear and cold. Low in the lower 20s. Saturday, sunny and warmer. High around 60.

Prime Time

Special

3-10 in. Pizzas

1—Topping

s 10.00

4-Cokes

776-5577

Colllegian Classifieds...

your solution to any problem!

Look No Further...

I bedroom, furnished, new carpet

Villa 11 526 N. 14th *310

428-430 N. 6th Gold Key 375

776-1111

CONVOCATION LECTURE SERIES 1990

Ms. Anne Murphy Executive Director, American Arts Alliance will present a Convocation Lecture

> Monday, April 9, 1990 McCain Auditorium 10:30 a.m.

"Exploring Truth: Art in a Political World"

Pre Convocation Forum Thursday, April 5, 1990 Room 212, K-State Union 12:00 noon

TONIGHT!

$1 WELLS FRIDAY $1 PITCHERS SATURDAY CHARLIE'S NEIGHBORHOOD BAR YOUR HOME OF LIVE MUSIC

Open 8-8 Mon.-Sat. • 12-5 Sunday

Downtown Wamego

509 Lincoln

456-9100

K.C.I. ocal Owners: Glenn & Ann Puett

LET US DO THE DRIVING Save over 50% on connection to K.C.I. Purchase your ticket with the driver anytime

Children (2-12) Military & Senior Citizen(62 & over) One way-$25, $22, $10 round trip-$46, $44, $20

Manhattan Holidome and University Inn Run-101 4:40 a.m., 103 8:40 a.m., 104 11:30 a.m., 105 2:30 p.m., 107 6:00 p.m. Departure K.C.I. 201 7:30 a.m., 203 11:45 a.m., 204 2:15 p.m., 205 5:30 p.m., 207 10:45 p.m.

Arrival K.C.I.-7 a.m., 11:10 a.m., 2 p.m., 5 p.m., 8:30 p.m. Arrive Holidome-9:45 a.m., 2 p.m., 4:30 p.m., 7:45 p.m., 1 a.m. Group Discounts available. Call 537-2086 or 1-800-826-8294

Music production recomposed

K-State Players create realistic poetic reflection

> By Todd Fertig Collegian Reporter

When the K-State Players bring "Medea" to the stage later this month, it will not be in the traditional setting.

tional setting.

Director Charlotte MacFarland said the classic Greek tragedy will feature a surrealistic quality, and new music composed just for the Manhattan presentation.

The Players will present the drama in Nichols Theatre April 19-21 and April 25-28.

The text for the production is an adaptation of Euripides' play by poet Robinson Jeffers. MacFarland said Jeffers' version, written in 1946, is modern in style and posesses poetic imagery.

The play focuses on the plight of Medea, wife of the mythological Greek hero Jason. When Jason abandons her and their two young children in favor of a more politically advantageous marriage, Medea reacts violently. Though she is a powerful sorceress and helped Jason achieve his high stature in society, Medea is stripped of all her significance, which was the state of all women in the Greek culture. For her mistreatment, Medea seeks revenge, not just upon Jason, but upon the entire society which has forced her into such oppression.

Calling the story a commentary on the hopeless fury of the oppressed, MacFarland, assistant professor of theater, said the theme of the play is expressed in Medea's line "Annihilation, that word is pure music."

The mythological characters of the play are difficult to perform, said MacFarland. To portray such larger-than-life figures which possess heroic qualities as believably deep, emotional characters is difficult for actors, she said.

Maria Santucci, freshman in theater, will perform the role of Medea, a role which many consider one of acting's most challenging. Dwight Tolar, junior in applied music, will play the mythological hero Jason.

MacFarland said that in developing their version of the play, the Players have sought to utilize sym-

Gary Lytle/Staff

Aegeus, King of Athens, played by Adam Wiggs, offers sanctuary in his city to Medea, portrayed by Maria Santucci, who is planning to flee the city of Corinth, as two women listen in. The drama will be presented in Nichols Theatre April 19-21 and April 25-28.

bolism and imagery to express the injustice and brutality felt in the play. She said that through development of costume, staging, music and the adaptation of the characters in the chorus, the players have given their "Medea" a uniquely surrealistic feeling.

"It's different in its conception," MacFarland said. "We wanted to bring it out of being realistic. Instead of sticking with the traditional Greek setting, we are lifting it out of time, making it symbolic, abstract rather than tied to a particular setting."

Dana Pinkston, a graduate student in speech, has designed an original costume concept for the play following the non-realistic setting MacFarland desired. Pinkston, who spent about three months helping to develop the high-concept setting, said the opportunity to create such imaginative costume design is rare.

"As soon as Charlotte said 'I don't want this to appear like the traditional Greek production,' the opportunities were endless," Pinkston said. "I used several sources to get ideas for the design, which is based upon the Greek style of dress but has the influence of things from historical drawings to pictures for punk magazines. The concepts of history are there, but you won't actually see it by looking at the costumes."

The rigid structure of the Greek society, the suppressive treatment of women, and the brutality of mankind are symbolized by dark imagery throughout the play. All the characters in the play wear basically unornamented black costumes which are highly symbolic of the society and of each character.

"All the metaphors are of dark imagery," Pinkston said. "When the audience sees the setting and costumes, though they may not pick up

Westloop

Shopping Center

776-6864

all the symbolism, they will realize that the concept is not realistic. It sets up that the characters are bigger than life."

New music was composed especially for the Players' performance of "Medea" by Mike MacFarland, a senior at Manhattan High School and son of Charlotte and David MacFarland, associate professor in journalism. Charlotte MacFarland said Mike created the entire score on a complex electronic synthesizer after reading the play several times. Included in the score is a musical theme which portrays each which portrays each

 See MEDEA, Page 12

Balloons to guide visitors

By The Collegian Staff

K-State will have about 20,000 visitors Saturday during the 12th annual All-University Open House.

Various departments and colleges have organized the display of more than 3,000 academic exhibits, said Pat Bosco, dean of student life and open house coordinator.

More than 1,200 students will perform during open house, ranging from gymnasts to jugglers to vocal groups from local high schools.

Michael Kadel, senior in agricultural economics and student coordinator of open house, said the three goals of the event are recruitment of new students, letting current students look at other colleges and projecting the unity of the campus.

More than 2,500 students, faculty, and staff have been working on this

66

What I like most is to highlight the highlights.

—Michael Kadel student coordinator, Open House year's open house, Bosco said. Com-year's open house, Bosco said. Committees began planning the event during spring 1989.

Events are added to the open house schedule each year to meet student and visitor needs.

"New this year will be a hospitality room in the Union open throughout the day for out-of-state students and their families," Bosco said. This year, each college will be assigned a different colored balloon.

The balloons will be strung in trails leading to the each college.

"Then when someone asks us where a particular college is, we can where a particular college is, we can tell them to follow the red balloons," Kadel said.

Todd Amstein, chairman of the special projects subcommittee and senior in milling science and management, said the balloons will be colored red for arts and sciences, blue for agriculture, purple for human ecology, orange for business, green for architecture and design, yellow for engineering and white for education.

Kadel said his favorite part of open house is projecting the positive image of the campus.

"What I like most is to highlight the highlights," he said.

GET READY SIG EP FITE NITE

April 19-22 at Weber Arena

Sponsored by: Sigma Phi Epsilon and

TONIGHT Ladies Night

(No cover for the Ladies)

$1 Wine Coolers
 FREE Sandwiches

4-7

SATURDAY

No Cover With Student I.D.

•50¢ Tequila Shots

Computer Furniture Machine Stands

10-20% OFF

Sale thru April 14

teams.

ATTENTION!! The 1st Annual ADPi/ ATO

Men's & Women's Softball
Classic is now open to independent teams.

DATE: April 28 & 29
PLACE: Twin Oaks Park
ENTRY FEE: $80/Team,
2 regulation

2 regulation softballs for further information contact:

Michelle Dutton at 539-2334

" All proceeds are donated to The Ronald McDonald House

ABZOLUT MODEL SEARCH '90

Don't forget tryouts today at Snookies at 3 p.m.

A professional model photographer from Europe who works with FLAME & ABZOLUT MODELS, will be photographing the entrants. These pictures will be viewed by a panel of judges from the participating agencies who will select 36 contestants from the Manhattan area.

Wear Casual Wear Entry Fee $20

AGENCIES

ABZOLUT MODELS (Stockholm)
FLAME (Paris)
CLiCK (New York)
VYTAS INTERNATIONAL (K.C.)

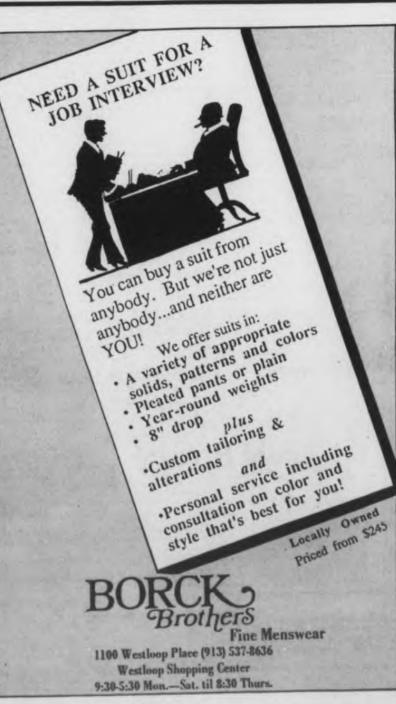

Coors.

| LNCP" | POWER 94.5

EeGee's Chally

DOMINO'S PIZZA

EDITORIAL

Bush's broccoli ban threatens nation

George Bush as a president. He is the luckiest president we've ever had. Many historical events, including the tearing down of the Berlin Wall, have occurred during his presidency. While he tends to take credit for these events, he never points to a direct link between something he's done and the event.

I also used to agree with the wimp image. I understood its origin (it's real bad when a presidential candidate is afraid to debate other candidates), and even found myself wondering if Saturday Night Live's Dana Carvey didn't do a better imitation of a president than George Bush did.

Yes, George Bush did make efforts to change his image. He did invade Panama, but this is the type of testosterone-driven-Rambo-macho that gives not being a wimp a

At last, however, and as you will see, unfortunately, George Bush has taken his first real steps towards becoming a man - in a similar, but less bloody, stereotypical-malemasculine-macho-Rambo-testosterone sense. After 60-some years of living as a dianly killed his mother and is standing on his strong they will make their own flesh and admit that I've had my doubts about own. He achieved this level of non-wimp manhood with his powerful denunciation of broccoli in a statement much stronger than any he has taken on such peripheral issues as education, the environment and Lithuanian independence.

The president said he ate broccoli when he was a young boy because his mother made him, but now, more than 50 years later, he is president and he's "not going to eat it any more." He hates broccoli.

He has even taken a stand against his wife. He's showing the world that unlike first lady Nancy Reagan, first lady Barbara Bush doesn't run her husband's show.

That the president didn't check any of the dozens of public opinion polls before making this deliberate, harsh pronouncement is also incredible. George Bush is risking an incredible amount of his all-important approval rating by taking such a strong stand on such a controversial issue. Broccoli means so much

Personally I believe a loss in the allimportant approval rating is inevitable for President Bush. Broccoli, after all, is very popular among the nation's population of wimp, he has, finally, mentally and Freu- mothers. Their feelings about broccoli are so blood sit in vigil over the vegetable for hours on end until their plate is clean and they can finally get dessert. It's unlikely the mothers of America will give up such a sacred part of their menus without a fight.

George Bush's popularity will also be hurt when these same mothers join forces with nutritionists and high school cooks after the connection between the broccoli stand and his affinity for pork rinds is revealed. Pork rinds, after all, are nothing more than fat which is deep fried in melted fat and then doused with heaps of salt. Mmm, mmm, good. Hear those arteries a hardnin'. Hear that blood pressure rise. This Mother-Nutritionist-High-School-Cook Coalition will be very powerful indeed. Their grass roots campaign will leave the president innundated with broccoli-laden letters and large broccoli piles in the front lawn of the White House. In order to keep the vegetable away from him, the president will be forced to declare an all-out ban on broccoli sales, shipment and production, resulting in an even larger loss in his all-important approval rating.

his is where it gets bad: The M.N.H.S.C. Coalition will not tolerate a broccoli ban and a new smuggling problem will be created. No longer will we hear of starving kids in Africa who would kill for our broccoli, now we will hear about how we should eat broccoli in defiance of a president who would kill anyone who ate the vegetable. The death penalty will be enacted for any broccoli related killings.

A Broccoli Cartel will be formed in all the usual countries and it will be very powerful because a broccoli ban would result in the price of broccoli rising astronomically as its availability dwindles, and illegal broccoli gardens would become a new cash crop worth billions. The Cartel will kill to protect their market.

The military of course would be called in to interdict drug smuggling routes, fly over gardens in search of "the Evil-Green" and invade one or two broccoli-producing countries with men and moths. More money would of course have to be spent on defense to cover increased use of the military

Geraldo Rivera will be called in to expose illegal Broccoli houses and broccoli pushers in our grade schools as well as pointing out the connection between Satanism and broccoli (hence the name "The Evil-Green").

A student protest movement will arise, of course. Military science buildings will be torched, as will Nichols Theater, and thousands of people will be arrested. The movement will culminate in a giant concert called Brocstock, or something to that effect, and this movement will be put down by increases in police activity and the removal of those trivial rights of privacy and peaceful assembly.

Such a United States, with pork rinds as the national dish, would be a terrible place to live and raise a family; ironic for a president who expressed support for the family during his campaign.

Even though I'm pleased the president is finally a man, I hope, for the sake of our nation, and more importantly his all-important approval rating, that he swallows his pride, reconsiders his broccoli ban, and eats his

Officers need training, budget to be effective

Many people have the impress- the campus safe. ion that members of the K-State only University security personnel in other words, professional just service activities. ticket writers.

at any other police department.

ceive much the same training of- training in a variety of areas. fered to police officers across the serious criminal situations.

and assault demonstrate that K-State is not immune to serious crimes, protect students and keep life saver.

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR.

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR

ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR.

NEWS EDITOR

PHOTO EDITOR

SPORTS EDITOR .... CAMPUS EDITORS

FEATURES EDITOR

SCIENCE REPORTER

SPORTS REPORTERS...

REVIEWERS

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHERS.

GOVERNMENT EDITOR.

Campus police need proper law Police are not real police officers, enforcement training in the areas of serious criminal offenses - not

Budget limitations play a role in The fact is, they wear guns, have selecting which training programs badges and are certified with the will be offered to officers. Howstate, like any other police officers ever, because a diverse training schedule is necessary in a univer-Police officers at K-State re- sity setting, officers should receive

Recently, some officers have exstate. The question recently raised pressed the belief that they lack by some officers, however, is adequate training to investigate whether the training offered by the and deal with serious crimes department is preparing them for leaving them unprepared if dangerous situations should arise. They Past incidents involving rape sound disgruntled, and they have good reason.

Training programs are like incrime. The attack on President Jon surance policies — as long you Wefald and a high-speed chase that don't need them, you wonder why ended on campus, both in Novem- you're spending the money. But ber 1988, show that the K-State po- when a serious situation occurs, an lice must be more than just ticket insurance policy, like an adequwriters. They must investigate ately trained police officer, can be a

Wendy Nakoneczny, Jane Thompson, Angela Waltz
Lori Antrim, Paul Branson, Steve Franzen, Cosima Hadidi, Lori Mikesell, Tomari Quinn, Melissa Simpson

Margaret Clarkin, Oliver Kaubisch, Brian W. Kratzer,
Mark Leffingwell, David Mayes, Mike Venso, Steve Wolgast
Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan Wicker
Kirk Caraway, Karin Dell'Antonia, Audra Dietz,
Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Mussman, Brad Seabourn
Mark Butler, Rod Cillennie

Mark Butler, Rod Gillespie,
Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggins
Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hayden

HONEY...WE'VE BEEN WAITING SUCH A LONG TIME FOR I THINK I'M TOO OLD FOR AFFORDABLE DAY CARE ... DAY CARE, ISN'T THIS WONDERFUL ?! MOM.

Don't fund UFM

......Paula Selby Catherine Doud

Craig Hamrick

Robert Shor

Chris Koge

..Julie Andsage

Ellen Dayton, Susan L'Ecuyer

I would like to express my views on student funding for the UFM, a non-profit organization dedicated to providing opportunites for life-long learning and self-development in a supportive and informal setting accessible to all. This aim is reached by a variety of programs including non-credit classes, lecture series and other programs in cooperation with many other organizations.

My concern is the use of student monies to fund UFM. That concern was echoed by the Student Governing Association Finance Committee when they recommended that UFM receive none of the $13,000 they requested. Hurray for the committee! Hurray for the students!

The benefits accrued by K-State students are not proportional to the amount SGA gives UFM, especially in relation to the amount of funding received by other organizations on campus.

An issue that drew my attention to this controversy was a UFM pamphlet claiming that the K-State Student Governing Association provided 3 percent of their total financial support. That small percentage looks good to students paying fees. But when that support is endangered, the percent of UFM financial support that comes from students' pockets magically became 32 percent, without which UFM must close their doors, according to Tuesday's Collegian article.

Secondly, the number of students accruing benefit is low. Some proponents of UFM claim that 15 percent of students are affected by UFM programs. That is a total of 3,000 students. I hope they are not counting the approximately 2,000 students who attend the Lou Douglas Lecture series which is a separately SGA funded honorarium. This percentage of students would then magically change from 15 to 5 percent.

Of the monies available for student groups, $13,000 is almost 10 percent. It is comparable to funding for the Fone Crisis Center, Legal Services and U-LearN - all organizations that deal with as many or more students. Numerous campus groups benefit many more students, yet receive thousands of dollars less. If UFM is funded, will not other groups' fundings be cut in order to provide the

If UFM is valuable to the community, it should be reflected by community funding. What funding does the city of Manhattan provide? I do not want my money used to pay for a class on constructing "Bookmarkers." Another class UFM offered and students funded was "Introduction to the Current Middle Ages" (which includes a feast). I paid $730.64 this semester to take "Humanities; Medieval and Renaissance" (without the

Student money should be spent to benefit

Byron Bigham senior in pre-medicine and microbiology

Funding wrong

I agree with Thursday's editorial that a bad precedent was set when the Student Senate funded the College Republicans. However, I also agree with Student Senator Travis Stumpff (who is, coincidentally, the president of College Republicans) that his is "not an issue-oriented group." That is exactly the difference between his group and student organizations like Amnesty International and Coalition for Human Rights. Those groups are issue-oriented and are "political" only in the sense that the issues with which they are concerned occur in a political arena. Those groups try to educate students on the merits of specific issues. The only "issue" which seems to concern College Republicans is whether someone is a Republican. Even Student Senate Finance Coordinator Barry Beck (another member of College Republicans) should be able to differentiate his brand of party politics from the "politics" of human rights and environmental groups. The tradition that party-affiliated student organizations do not get funds should be made explicit. I would urge Student Senate to deny requests by any party-affiliated political groups in the future.

> David C. Margolies assistant professor of entomology

Viewer grateful

I was a born-again Christian of 21 when I read "The Last Temptation of Christ" by Nikos Katzantzakis. It moved me deeply. I felt that the author was on as intense a journey with Christ as I was; here was a soul brother. The author made it clear that his writing was of his own spiritual quest and struggle, and was not to be taken as a biblical account of the life of Jesus. Over the years, I have gradually learned that I need not fear having my faith shaken by the ideas of experiences of other people. God has proven to be capable of handling all my questions, doubts and new encounters with new or differing ideas. If faith is grounded in a living God, and not a God of our own limited understanding and constructions, then different ideas will surely give us a means of further expanding and/or defining our own

Whenever I have seen the film of "The Last Temptation," I have found the discussions following give me new ideas to reflect upon, new avenues for prayer. I am grateful that Kaleidoscope decided to show this film and hope for other stimulating films with religious themes in the future.

> Susan Carter Sawyer Episcopal Campus Minister

Bikes dangerous

Since the request of a solution to biking problems in the early 1970s, a bike path for cyclists has been placed on our campus. About $18,000 was spent on the construction of the path, yet there is still a bike problem.

In 1972, the Bicycle Study Committee proposed a bikeway "to promote the bicycle as a safe means of transportation, help alleviate parking problems and traffic congestion ... decrease wear and tear on our present streets and roads and promote the physical fitness of the citizens of Manhattan." Biking is not a safe means of transportation when bikers continuously drive on sidewalks rather than the bike path constructed for them. And parking is still a problem when bikers park bikes attached to building railings rather than in nearby bike racks.

As I walked past McCain last week, three bikes were chained to the outside rails of the building. Within walking distance, there was a bike rack with 12 spaces and only five of those spaces were taken.

As a suggestion to the campus police, I would like to remind them to enforce of the rules and regulations of bicycling. Bicyclists are to obey all traffic regulations as though driving an automobile. A moving vehicle, whether a car or bicycle, should ride with traffic, not against it. A biker should stop at stop signs. Bicycles should be driven on bike paths, where available, and should be parked only in bicycle racks and not on building rails or inside.

Until the police really "toughen 'soft' bicycle law policy," as stated in a 1983 edition of the Collegian, pedestrians should watch their backs. Bikers, please be considerate and obey the law.

> Sheila Graber junior in radio and television

STRIP CARTOONISTS	Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hayden
COMPANIAL CANDONICT	Richard Broadtoot
EDITORIAL CARTOONIST	Craig Hamrick, Eric Henry, Chris Koger, Craig Flamrick, Enc Flenry, Chris Roger,
	Susan L'Ecuyer, John Mussman, Jim Rourk, Erwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svoboda
	Kirk Caraway
	Kirk Caraway
Advertisi	ing Staff
ADVERTISING MANAGER	Sara Shutler
A CONTRACT LABORATED	Content
THE PERSON OF A PROPERTY AND A PARTY CED	Rolling Mick
A DVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXECUTIVE	S Debbie Dinges, Renee Harold,
ADVERTIBILITY RES RESERVED	raul fieler, Lean Levetich, Montage Schools
	Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zick
CRADUIC APTISTS	Laura Boone, Paul Fleming
A DIVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS	Land Flanking Land Committee Committ
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS	Doug Griffith, Tammi Landis
Student Publ	ications Staff
Student Lubi	Ron Johnson
DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER	Ron Johnson Gloria Freeland CARRIERS
	V Casta University is published by Student Publications er at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications blished Monday through Friday during the school year and Monday and Thursday during summer sessions. Second class por POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian	n, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167. News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 53	22 4554 or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.
News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 33	tising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.
Kanaas State Collegia	n Subscription Rates
One Semester (Fall or Spring)	$25
W. L. W. M. Handlers Wash	Izie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

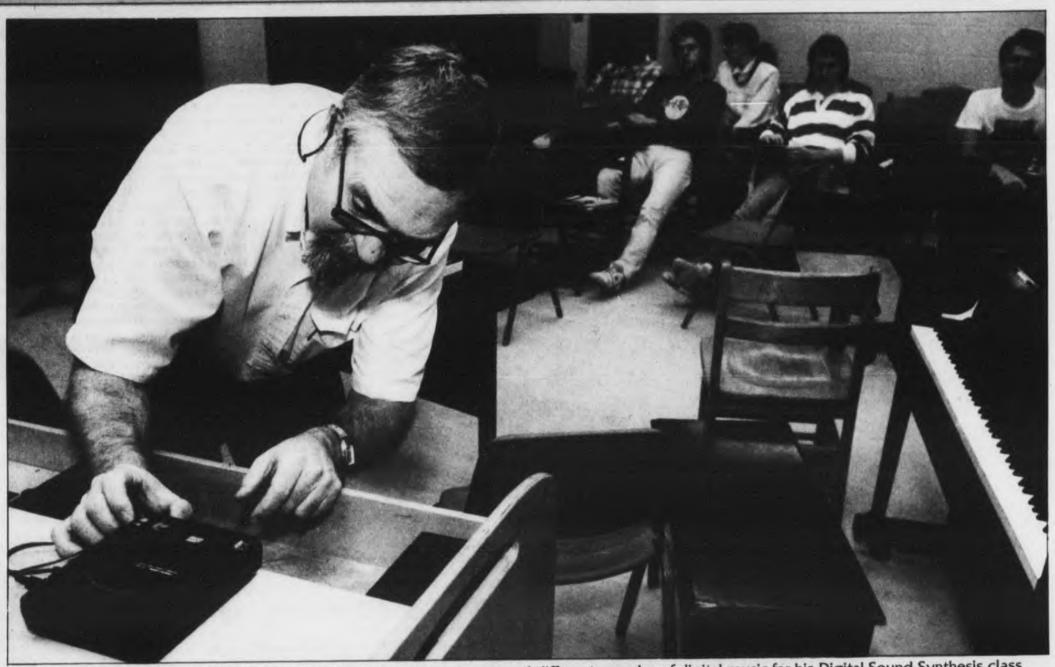

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VIRTUOSO

Todern Music

Music professor Hanley Jackson plays a compact disc containing several different samples of digital music for his Digital Sound Synthesis class.

cians today as violins were to Mozart. The past 25 years have seen an explosion in the creation and advancement of electronic music. It has gone from a hobby that occupied the spare time of electrical engineers and computer programmers to a popular music form useable to most musicians in a studio or on a stage. Hanley Jackson, a music professor at K-State for the past 22 years, has been at the forefront of the development of electronic music. He helped develop one of the first commercial synthesizers and helped K-State develop the first electronic music studio at a university in Nebraska, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

K-State has had an electronic music studio since 1970. It was first housed in a room in McCain originally intended to be a janitor's closet, Jackson said. When a McCain addition was built, Jackson had the opportunity to design a room devoted entirely to an electronic music studio.

The studio is equipped with two digital synthesizers, an eight-track recorder, a cassette recorder, a drum machine, a keyboard sampler and other equipment.

Students have the opportunity to use this equipment in two classes Jackson teaches - Techniques of the Electronic Studio and Digital Sound Synthesis. Both are open to non-music majors. Because of the nature of the classes, Jackson said he gets an interesting mix of music and electrical engineering majors. Many engineers enroll in the classes because they are interested in electronic music and because the classes fulfill a humanities requirement.

Lentz Upshaw, senior in electrical engineering, said he took the class because of his interest in music and because it combined music and his major.

"The things I'm learning right now here are the same things I'm learning in one of my engineering classes, except it applies to music," he said.

Jackson teams students into groups of two. He said sizer, the first one to use encapsulated circuits. This one student knows about the narm other knows more about how and why the sound is

Patty Russell, graduate student in music, said the engineering students are slightly ahead of the music students because they know more about the technical

"I never would have made it through the class if my partner wasn't there," he said. "But I think the engineers have problems putting all the pieces of music

Students are assigned projects and are expected to devote time in the studio to work on it. Jackson said these projects range from imitating the sound of a European police siren to entering a musical composition into the synthesizer.

The lab time is the most important part of the class, but he said students should go in with a plan and not try to do everything by trial and error.

"Kids can't learn anything unless they get their hands on it," Jackson said. "But you just can't start pushing buttons on a computer and not know what's Jackson said his first contact with electronic music came in the mid-1960s, while he was doing his undergraduate studies at California State University, Northridge, and graduate studies at California State University, Long Beach.

"I was fortunate that my teachers were avant-garde composers who were really into electronic music,"

Jackson said. "There weren't any classes then, so I kind of looked over their shoulders. I wasn't afraid to experiment." The first types of electronic music were made by collecting sounds on tape and manipulating the tape, he said. Speeding up, slowing down or running the tape backwards made different sounds. "It would be a sound collage that bore no resemblance to the acoustic world," Jackson said.

In 1968, Robert Moog introduced the Moog synthe-

he usually tries to put a music major with an engineer so made the synthesizers smaller and more useable to a

Until the time of the Moog, any computerized electronic music was programmed on big mainframe computers, Jackson said. The information for each note had to be punched onto a card. Information for a whole composition might require a huge stack of cards, and if one was out of order, the whole composition would be

After the Moog synthesizer came the ARP synthesizer, developed by Allen R. Pearlman, Jackson said. It had a better design than the Moog, but still had encapsulated circuits.

We have one of the very first ARP's ever built, and it's a really fine teaching instrument," Jackson said. "It still goes great guns, but by today's standards, it's a dinosaur.'

The first affordable eight-bit micro-computers, which were introduced in about 1978, opened up new doors for affordable electronic music. Smaller and more powerful synthesizers that were easier to use could be produced for the music industry

Jackson helped design one of the first fully digital synthesizers introduced in the early 1980s. He worked on a development team for Music Technology, a now defunct New York firm. For his efforts, the company donated to K-State a powerful computer-based, preproduction synthesizer and its commercial version, called the Synergy. These two synthesizers comprise a major portion of the electronic music studio in McCain Auditorium.

The next step in the development of electronic music was the sampler, which can use and change regular sounds into different ones, Jackson said.

"You actually put a mike on a sound," he said. "The analog signal is converted to digital pulse code that the computer can understand and store. It creates an exact digital representation of the original sound."

The first samplers in 1982 and 1983 were drum machines, Jackson said, because computer memory was still very small and drum sounds were short and didn't use much memory.

In 1984 the first commercial samplers were introduced that could modify any sound, from a car horn to a human voice, for music. E-Mu Systems introduced the Emulator, a fully operational and useable sampler, for about $8,000.

A company called Ensonic introduced a sampling keyboard soon after, which was as powerful as the Emulator, but sold for only about $2,000, Jackson said.

Some musicians will sample all the instruments in an orchestra, so that one person may be able to play a whole composition on a keyboard sampler. Other musicians, including Jackson, don't agree with this

'If I write a piece for a string quartet, then I want a string quartet playing it," Jackson said. "If I'm writing for electronic music, then I write for electronic sounds that acoustic instruments can't do.'

The sampler is a great teaching tool, he said, because it allows students who might not ever hear their compositions to experience their music the way it is supposed to sound.

K-State has an Emulator II in the electronic music studio which the College of Engineering helped

Although Jackson has seen electronic music evolve into a useable tool for the modern musician, and even had a part in developing an innovative machine, he is still in awe of how it has developed.

"All of it is very, very amazing to me," Jackson said.
"I look at things we only dreamed about in 1970 that are rather commonplace now, and they aren't priced beyond the reach of a gigging musician who has a few bucks and wants to upgrade his equipment."

Electronic music equipment is a great help to the students outside of the classroom as well as in, he said.

"I remember hauling around an old upright piano from apartment to apartment in my college days," Jackson said. "Now a student can buy an electric piano, put it under his arm and go wherever he wants to. He can even plug in earphones and won't bother anybody."

David Nulton, senior in electrical engineering, and Patty Russell, graduate student in music theory and composition, work to program the electronic music lab computer to create sounds on the lab's keyboards. After struggling to solve their problem, Jackson offered some assistance, and they were able to create their first digital sound.

SPORTS

Rivals to meet on diamond

By David Svoboda Sports Reporter

There's nothin' like fun at the old ballpark.

If you're a believer in that old baseball axiom, this weekend's four-game series between K-State and Kansas at Hoglund-Maupin Stadium in Lawrence should be just what you've been waiting for.

"In talking to the kids today (Thursday), I told them 'this is why you came to Kansas State to play baseball," Wildcat coach Mike Clark said of the excitement surrounding the matchup between the two state rivals.

Kansas enters the series with a record of 14-14 overall and a 2-2 Big Eight mark. K-State, as has been well documented, is 14-11 overall and a surprising 4-0 in conference

The Wildcat conference mark puts the team on top of the league by two games over the nearest pursuers. Kansas is one of four teams currently tied for second.

With the early success of the two teams, the series has become even more significant, Clark said.

"The fact that both teams have strong pitching will make all four games competitive," he said. "The days of one team dominating are probably over."

Two seasons ago, Clark took the Wildcats into Lawrence and the team swept the Jayhawks. Last season, the 'Cats took the opener of the series in Manhattan, but KU ran off three straight wins to end the series.

The losses to Kansas in 1989 all but took the wind right out of K-State's competitive sails, Clark

"Last year when we dropped three of four to them, it was pretty major," he said. "But now, we're both in a position where this is not a do-or-die series.

"That's not to say we both don't want to win. We're going to have some of the intensity and emotion that surrounds postseason

This series will be the closest thing to a postseason atmosphere either team has seen for quite some

The chill in the air of the opener tonight at 7 will lend a playoff feel, and the Saturday afternoon tailgate party sponsored by Lawrence area K-State fans will make the atmosphere even more festive. Add statewide radio coverage of the Saturday doubleheader, and you've got something this state hasn't seen on the diamond in quite a while, Clark said.

'We try to equate it to the series between Oklahoma and Oklahoma State," he said. "They play every game before 8,000 fans. We won't get that, but it should be exciting."

The excitement felt by the players will be because both teams are battling for the top spot in the league, not to stay out of the league cellar. KU coach Dave Bingham and Clark have brought their teams to the point where this series means a lot more than a way to salvage some pride.

"We (he and Bingham) both ame in trying to rebuild programs and get them on an even keel with the rest of the league," Clark said. "As a result, we're both where we

"The nervousness and anxiety the kids feel about this series is for all the right reasons. These kids are playing for something."

That something, Clark said, is a trip to the Big Eight postseason tourney in Oklahoma City. K-State hasn't been there since 1985. The KU drought dates back to 1981.

'We haven't really said anything this week about it being Kansas that we're playing this weekend," Clark said. "We need to win eight more games in order to get to Oklahoma City. That's our focus, and I'm sure it's theirs, too."

In addition to tonight's contest, the teams will play the Saturday doubleheader at 4 p.m. and a single game Sunday at 1 p.m.

K-State will send junior Kent Hipp, 3-2, to the mound tonight. David Hierholzer, 4-1, and Sean Pedersen, 3-2, will pitch Saturday, and Chris Hmielewski, 1-2, will start the series finale Sunday afternoon.

The top Kansas pitcher is Steve Renko, the son of the former major leaguer of the same name. The younger Renko has a 4-3 record and is in the top 10 at Kansas in six career pitching categories. He is an impressive 3-1 against teams in the Top 25.

Clark said there are two keys to the success of his team this weekend: pitching and continued improvement at the plate.

We've got to throw strikes," he said. "If we will make them hit the ball, we've got an opportunity to be successful with the way we've been playing defense.

"And we've got to continue to hit. If we can continue to do it like we have been, we'll be OK. Oklahoma tried to pitch around certain guys in the order last weekend and got burned doing it."

One player who might rejoin that batting order at one point or another this weekend is preseason All-American Russ Ringgenberg, who has been sidelined following back

Ringgenberg is back to near 100 percent in every area but throwing, and only the possibility of having to slide - that's how he's injured the back twice - has the senior worried, Clark said.

Longshots run ahead of legends

By The Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Ga. - The longshots left the legends behind at Augusta National on Thursday.

Mike Donald, playing in his first Masters, came within a single shot of the tournament record with a windblown 64 Thursday and took a 2-shot lead after 18 holes.

"The round of my life," the 34-year-old journeyman said of the eight-birdie effort that gave him the lead over another Masters rookie, John Huston.

The 28-year-old Huston shot an errorless 66 in earlier, more calm conditions. He didn't miss a green and wasn't even close to a bogey.

Meanwhile, some of golf's great names - Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino, Greg Norman and Tom Watson among them - struggled and strained in swirling winds.

Veteran Peter Jacobsen's 5-under 67 had him in good position.

Norman, the muscular Australian who came into this 54th Masters a favorite, found more trouble than he could handle. He shot 78.

So did Trevino.

Palmer, 60, was two shots better at

Watson, like Palmer, had a 40 on the back nine and struggled home with a 77. Paul Azinger, a winner earlier this season, took a 10 on the 13th hole and "On the 15th, I threw up wind four times and it blew in four different directions," two-time U.S. Open champion Curtis Strange said. He then hit his second shot through three green and had to work hard to salvage his par-5 on the way

He was tied at that figure with Billy Glasson and a flock of former Masters champions: 50-year-old George Archer; Ray Floyd; Larry Mize; and West German Bernhard Langer, who scored best of the Europeans. Defending champion Nick Faldo of England was at 71, as was PGA title-holder Payne Stewart.

Two-time Masters winner Seve Ballesteros of Spain went from woods to water in a 74. Current British Open champion Mark Calcavecchia had the same total.

Senior catcher Dan Skala will be one of the K-State starters when the Wildcats open a four-game weekend series against Kansas at 7 p.m. in Lawrence. The two teams will battle for first place in the Big Eight.

Crew to compete in San Diego race

Men's team to face national powers in 2nd largest collegiate rowing classic

> By Dan Wicker Sports Reporter

The men's varsity heavyweight eight shell of the K-State Rowing Association has been invited to a meet that might finally give recognition to the Midwest, where the sport of crew is not highly publicized.

Today and Saturday the men's eights will compete in the San Diego Classic, the second largest collegiate crew classic in the United States.

"We want to be put on the national map," said Eric Custer, men's varsity co-captain. "Right now we are one of the best teams in the Midwest, but we want to make ourselves established as a good rowing school nationally." Most of the strong teams from the

This meet is a chance to get out of the Midwest and compete against some east and west coasts will be compet-

-Eric Custer

strong crew teams.

men's varsity co-captain ing, along with some international teams, Custer said. K-State received the invitation for the competition in the heavyweight event Visitor's Cup, as did 15 other schools based on reputation. Seven of the 15 responded and will be in San Diego to race. Custer said it is a great honor to be invited to this meet, but the team did not get there without the dedication and hard work of all the rowers.

"This meet is a chance to get out of the Midwest and compete against some strong crew teams," Custer said. "It is the culmination of a lot of hard work. Six out of the eight guys in our boat are seniors. We have some really dedicated people." The team got to compete in the IRA last year, which was considered a national meet, so the team has an idea of what to expect. However, they remain a little on the dark side about the competition having only raced against one of the teams competing.

'We all have kind of an idea what to expect because six out of the eight guys have gone to IRA where we placed 14 out of 16 teams," Custer said. "However, we don't really know what to expect. We beat Notre Dame in Texas so we know where we can place relative to them."

Although this will be the largest crew classic K-State has attended, Custer believes the team is consistently improving and will be able to hold their own against the national

"I think we will be in the running for this race. We have not lost a race yet and we have raced against some pretty good teams," Custer said.

The preliminary heats for the tournament will run Friday, and the finals are Saturday. Along with the Vistors Cup, there will also be competition for a Cal Cup between California schools and a Big Copley Cup which includes all the perennial powers of the east and overseas. The top three finishers in the Visitors Cup race will go on to race the top three finishers in the Cal Cup. Custer also pointed out there are other advantages of going to such a large meet. He said the team can improve itself just through watching the schools where rowing is as big as basketball is at K-State.

"One thing that benefits us is to watch the really good crews," Custer said. "Just watching you can learn a

The rest of the squad, the varsity women and junior varsity men, will also be competing this weekend at Lawrence for state championships.

OU reinstates program

Senate resolution factor in return of women's basketball

By The Associated Press

NORMAN, Okla. - Bowing to a public outcry and facing imminent legal action, Oklahoma officials announced the reinstatement Thursday of the university's women's basketball program.

The announcement by president Richard Van Horn and athletic director Donnie Duncan was greeted by a chorus of cheers from members of the Sooner women's basketball team.

The announcement came a day after attorneys for the Sooner players threatened a lawsuit if the program was not brought back.

Van Horn said the outpouring of public support for the program as well as the Oklahoma Senate's resolution condemning the university for its action were more a factor in the reinstatement than was the threat of the lawsuit. He said the lawsuit threat was not a significant

But, Tammy Rogers, senior captain of the team, said it appeared more than coincidence that the program was reinstated on the same day a lawsuit was to have been filed against the school.

"I think it made the decision come a lot quicker than maybe they wanted it to," said Rogers, of Mont Belvieu, Texas. "This is an enormous victory for the student athletes, women's sports and everyone who believes in equal opportunity for women," said attorney Arthur H. Bryant, executive director of the Trial Lawyers for Public Justice.

Van Horn said he could not pinpoint when the decision was made to reinstate the program, but said they clearly started to rethink the decision after Tuesday's Senate action and the public outcry. He also said there are no plans to consider disbanding women's basketball in the near future. Duncan replied "no" when asked if the decision to drop the program was a mistake, adding he was "dealing with reality" at the time. Van Horn said he initially thought a long, drawn-out public discussion of eliminating the women's basketball would be detrimental to the athletic program. But he said that in the future, such decisions would be more openly discussed. Van Horn and Duncan said the public reaction indicated the university could best serve Oklahoma citizens by reinstating the program. Both said they had planned to reallocate the money to other women's sports, thereby giving more in athletics.

They said the women's basketball program had a budget of $300,000, which represents about a quarter of the total budget for women's athletics and involves 13 to 15 athletes.

Last week's decision to disband the program created a furor. The Women's Basketball Coaches Association threatened a lawsuit and players rallied on the campus in attempts to fight for their program.

On Wednesday, Bryant said his Washington-based public interest law firm was representing the players and warned he would file a lawsuit by the end of the day Thursday if the program was not reinstated.

Attorneys for the players said the disbanding violated the Title IX provision of federal law requiring equal opportunities for women in women an opportunity to take part college athletics.

Buck replaces Musburger

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK - Jack Buck replaced Brent Musburger as CBS' top baseball announcer on Thursday and the network filled Buck's spot on the second unit with Dick Stockton.

CBS Sports executive producer Ted Shaker said the network met earlier this week with ABC's Al Michaels and Arthur Kaminsky, Mi-

"We discussed the possibility of Michaels, sure we did," Shaker said. "But he's under contract with ABC, and that takes care of that.'

CBS announced Sunday that it would not retain Musburger after 22 years with the network and its affiliates. Shaker said he picked Buck on Wednesday but decided to wait a day before finalizing his choice.

Shaker said the two teams named Thursday would be CBS' announcers for the entire season, and that there would not be any changes.

"We looked at all the options and decided this is the best way to go," Shaker said. "Al Michaels is under contract with ABC and that wasn't an option. If he comes over here, it will be a surprise to me." "I don't think he's going to get out of his contract," Shaker said. Shaker said CBS also considered

Bob Costas, under contract with NBC into 1993, and Vin Scully, a free agent who left NBC during the Musburger and McCarver were scheduled to be CBS' top announcing team, backed up by Buck and Jim Kaat. Shaker said the two new teams were equal, but said Buck and McCarver would broadcast the All-Star Game and the World Series. CBS starts a four-year, $1.06 billion contract to televise baseball on April 14, taking over from NBC and ABC. Buck and McCarver will open with the Chicago Cubs' game against the Pittsburgh Pirates. Stockton and Kaat will open with the Los Angeles Dodgers' game against the Houston

"We have very big shoes to fill," Shaker said. "NBC has written the book on how baseball should be covered on television over 40 years with the 'Game of the Week.' We hold them in high regard."

Musburger made his final appearance for CBS when be broadcast Monday night's NCAA basketball

Shaker said Musburger "has acted only in a first-class manner both Monday night and subsequently. Believe me, I wish him only the best. ... He's going to go on and have a distinguished career elsewhere."

Buck, 65, has broadcast St. Louis Cardinals games for more than 35 years and called the World Series on CBS Radio from 1983-89. He was inducted into the broadcasters wing of the baseball Hall of Fame in 1987.

Putting him with his wonderful wit and way of looking at the game with someone as fresh and bright and brutally honest as Tim McCarver can be is going to make for some interesting television," Shaker said.

City acquires Union Pacific depot

Proposals for building, land submitted by more than 100 interested citizens

> By Bill Sier Collegian Reporter

The city of Manhattan is searching through proposals from the public to help decide the future of the Union Pacific depot located on Fort Riley Boulevard, near the Manhattan Town Center.

The city recently acquired the title to the depot and surrounding land, said Bruce McCallum, director of Manhattan public works. McCallum said the city agreed on a transfer of property with Union Pacific to acquire the depot.

"We are now the proud owners of the depot," McCallum said.

Part of the land given up by the city for the depot was land used by Union Pacific to move its rights of way, which were disrupted by the construction of the mall.

He said the process of choosing from all of the proposals will now begin.

"There is no shortage of ideas on how to use it," McCallum said, and estimated that there have been about a hundred ideas proposed for its use over the past few years.

Royal Dowdy, owner of The Master Gamer in Manhattan, said he had approached the city to possibly buy the depot to turn it into a specialty railroad hobby shop.

"The city told me that they really only wanted a restaurant or a museum to go in there," Dowdy said. McCallum said no such determination has been made yet, however. "The City Commission has developed no guidelines for the build-ing's use as of yet," McCallum said.

Jim Watson, local businessman and railroad buff, approached the city with a proposal to turn it into a transportation museum. Watson arranged to have the caboose near the depot brought to town as part of his proposed attraction.

Watson is active in the Manhattan Rail Joiners, a model railroad club, and owns an extensive model railroad layout.

He estimated it would cost about $100,000 to get the building in proper shape for use, because Union Pacific left only the shell.

"There is no plumbing, no wiring or fixtures in the building anymore," Watson said.

Watson said he would like to see the depot restored to the way it appeared in its most interesting era, the period between World War I and World War II.

"We could even set up a miniature replica of the way downtown Manhattan looked during that period," Watson said.

He said the display could be set ■ See DEPOT, Page 12

The fate of the Union Pacific Depot near Manhattan Town Center is being considered by the city of Manhattan, which recently acquired the building. The depot may be turned into a museum or restaurant.

Greenpeace relies on local groups

By Elvyn Jones

Collegian Reporter Interest in environmental issues is growing on the grass-roots level, said Christopher Childs, Greenpeace spokesman. Childs will present a lecture and slide show titled "Greenpeace: Past, Present and Future" at 8 p.m. Monday in Union Forum Hall. Greenpeace is an international organization with more than one and a half million contributing members, Childs said.

The public face of the organization is the activity of Greenpeace ships. He said an example of that activity was when the Rainbow Warrior confronted whaling ships at great potential risks to its crew.

The basis of Greenpeace's work, however, is door-to-door fund raising and grass-roots lobbying, he said.

Greenpeace works with community groups to seek solutions to environmental problems, he said. The organization's biggest contribution to local groups is support and experience.

Childs said Greenpeace is dedicated to non-violence and recommends non-violent action by groups on all levels.

'We advocate people doing what works," he said. "If that means blockading a toxic waste dump, then people have to take that stand."

At one time in his varied career, Childs performed a one-man show based on the life of Henry David Thoreau's essays on nature and every 60 seconds," he said.

advocacy of civil disobedience would seem to make him a natural forefather for Greenpeace.

"That has been suggested, but Thoreau was not a pacifist," Childs said. "He endorsed John Brown and said on his death bed, in 1862, he would have fought in the Civil War."

Media campaigns by industry that emphasize environmental awareness are about 80 to 90 percent public relations, he said. American industry has a history of dragging its feet and changing as slowly as possible, Childs said. Something needs to be done to speed up the pace of change because of the problems they are

"American industry produces 1 million pounds of hazardous waste

Studies show an increased risk of cancer to those exposed to the more than 2.5 billion pounds of pesticide used every year, Childs said. In addition to endangering the health of humans and animals, Childs said he believes the increased use of pesticides is ineffectual.

Childs said once farmers recognize the increased risk of cancer they are exposing themselves to, they are more open to listening to the creative ideas in pest management from people like Wes Jackson of the Land Institute in Salina.

To stop the exploitation of mineral assets, Greenpeace is advocating making Antarctica a world park to the United Nations and the Antarctica Treaty nations, Childs said.

Performers to play early jazz scores

By Donna Warren Collegian Reporter

"James Dapogny's Chicagoans," a jazz trio that specializes in early jazz, will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday in All Faiths Chapel to conclude the 1990 Panorama of American Music.

The week-long festival featured music indigenous to the United States through various concerts and lectures.

In addition to Saturday's performance, a concert at 8 p.m. today in All Faiths will feature the music of William Kraft, the festival's conductor in residence. A concert presenting highlights from the festival is scheduled for 10:45 a.m. Saturday in All Faiths. Dapogny is a jazz pianist, a professor of music theory and the director of the American Institute of Music at the University of Michigan. "In addition to being one of the world's experts on recreating early jazz, Dapogny is a phenomenal performer as a jazz pianist," said Craig Parker, associate professor of music

■ See TRIO, Page 12

Have Your Shade and Eat It,

Select your favorite mouth-watering Dwarf Fruit Trees

> Now $5,00 Off! Choose from 9 varieties

> > Monday

Tuesday

Thursday

Friday

Saturday

Sunday

12:00pm

3:00pm

7:00pm

12:00pm

3:00pm

7:00pm

3:00pm

7:00pm

12:00pm

3:00pm

7:00pm

12:00pm

7:00pm

7:00pm

Wednesday 12:00pm

Too! Also get special prices on all one gallon potted fruits through Monday,

April 9.

Saturday, April 7

Stop by the Garden Center for all your hardening supplies. The Riley County Master Gardeners will be available from 1:90-3:00 p.m. to answer all your questions!

2 ml. east of Manhattan on U.S. 24.

INTERNATIONAL WEEK

April 2 - April 9

Schedule of Events

Run Away (Chinese)

International Exhibits

African Drummers

JOM (African)

International Students Center Open House

King's Potluck Dinner

All activities are free to the public

Run Away (Chinese)

JOM (African)

Blood of the Condor (Bolivian)

Warm it was that Winter (Korean)

(10:00am - 3:00pm)

Warm it was that Winter (Korean)

AJO DEL PAIS (Garlic of the Land)

Latin American Music

International Students Center

Permissive Dreams (Egyptian)

Blood of the Condor (Bolivian)

Permissive Dreams (Egyptian)

Indian Drums - "The Tablah"

Traditional Arab Dance - "The Dabkah"

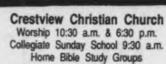

(Arab Students Association)

(Indian Students Association)

Monday-Saturday 9-6 Sunday 12-6

776-5764

Religious Directory

4761 Tuttle Creek Blvd. (on Hwy 24 across from State Park) 776-3798

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH Worship at 8:30 and 11 a.m.

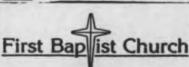

10th & Poyntz

Sunday School 9:40 a.m. (Collegiate Class)

537-8532

UNITARIAN-UNIVERSALIST FELLOWSHIP of MANHATTAN 10:45 a.m. Service & Sunday School Nursery provided, everyone welcome On K-18, 1/2 mile east of K-177

For info: call 537-2349 or 539-5248

Sunday Worship 11 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. 2121 Blue Hills Rd.

539-8691 St. Luke's Lutheran Church

Worship Saturday 6 p.m. Sunday 8 and 10:45 a.m. -Bible Class-Sunday 9:30 a.m. Weekly Small Group Bible Studies

Grace Baptist Church Student Sunday School

539-2604

330 N. Sunset

9:30 a.m. Worship Hour 8:30 and 10:45 a.m. Fellowship Hour 6 p.m. Mid-Week Prayer and Fellowship 7 p.m. Pastor Don Pahl

Students Welcome 2901 Dickens Ave.

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship

Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m. Dorothy Nickel Friesen, Pastor 1021 Denison

VINEYARD CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP 627 Pecan Circle (across from Holiday Inn Manhattan, KS 66502 (913) 539-0542 / 539-0590

Sunday Celebration at 10:30 a.m. Friday Night Kinship Group at 7:00 p.m.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

8:45 a.m. Communion (first Sunday of the month) 9:45 a.m. Church School 8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship Nursery provided for all services

John D. Stoneking, Pastor 776-8821 612 Poyntz

> Episcopal Church Holy Week Services.

Tuesday, April 10 6:00 p.m. - Passover Meal & Service, St. Paul's 10:00 p.m. - Holy Eucharist, Danforth Chapel, KSU

Maundy Thursday 7:00 p.m. - Holy Eucharist, Washing of the feet, Stripping of the Altar and All-night Vigil, St. Paul's

Good Friday

- Ecumenical Service, First Presbyterian Cl
5:00 p.m. - Stations of the Cross, St. Paul's
7:00 p.m. - Good Friday Litungy, St. Paul's

Holy Saturday 7:00 p.m. - The Great Vigil of Easter, St. Paul's

Easter Sunday 8:00 a.m. - Rite I Holy Eucharist 10:30 a.m. - Rite II Holy Eucharist

St. Paul's Episcopal Church St. Paul's Episcopal Church
Sixth and Poynts
The Very Rev. Dr. Robert Sanders, Rector
The Rev. Susan Sawyer,
Associate Rector and Campus Chaplain,
St. Francis & Canterbury Fellowship
Episcopal Campus Ministry.
776-9427

COLLEGE HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH 9:15 a.m. Sunday School 10:30 a.m. Worship Service 6 p.m. Training Hour 7 p.m. Worship Service 2221 College Heights Rd. 537-7744

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH Church School-9:45 a.m. Worship-8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Disciples of Christ 115 Courthouse Plaza 776-8790 Muslim Comm. Assoc.

Friday's Prayer 12:30-1 p.m. Islamic Circle 6-8 p.m. Islamic School Sat. 1-3 p.m. Sunday School 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m. 619 Sunset Ave. 776-8543

Worship 8 and 10:30 a.m. School of Christian Living 9:30 a.m. Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m. 1st, 3rd, & 5th Sundays CARE CELLS (small groups)

6 p.m. 2nd & 4th Sundays Office at 2607 Allison Ave. 3001 FT. RILEY BLVD. 537-7173

Valleyview Community Church Campus Bible Study

Sunday Worship at 10:30 University Inn Lower Level For more information call 537-4602 Jeff Koester .....

776-0112

University Parish of United Methodists Serving K-State

612 Poyntz Ave. 776-9278 Sheryl Witmer, Program Director

* Movies will be shown at Little Theatre All noon activities will be at the Union Courtyard.

Students groom horses, cows for annual American Royal

By Ingrid Erickson Collegian Reporter

Weber Arena will be filled with livestock Saturday as about 150 students compete in K-State's 62nd Annual Little American Royal livestock show beginning at

Students from all majors will be competing for trophies in the horse, swine, sheep, and beef and dairy cattle divisions. Contestants will be judged on how well the animal is groomed and how well the participants present themselves, said Damon New, LAR chairman and junior in agricultural economics.

The top two individuals from each round will compete for the grand and reserve champion winner in their respective divisions. Each student showing an animal will receive a participation ribbon.

"I don't care if I win or not," said Lea Starkebaum, sophomore in elementary education. "I've worked with horses all my life, and it's nice to work with someone else's. I get pleasure out of working with a horse and meeting vari-

Early in the spring semester, students wanting to compete in the LAR sign up for the type of animal they wish to show. All animals are owned by K-State. Three weeks prior to the show date, students start working with the animal they've been assigned to, except for those showing swine, New said. Students showing swine were allowed only one week to start grooming their animals.

"This was totally foreign to me. I'm from Kansas City and I've never done this before," said Peggy Hague, program chairperson and junior in animal sciences and Hague said swine are the easiest animal to show because they don't have to be fitted or taught to lead. After being assigned an animal, students spend many hours teaching them to lead and respond to commands.

"I've been going out and working with my horse at least one to two hours every day or every other day," said Gwen Rieck, sophomore in elementary education.

The Block and Bridle and Dairy clubs are the official sponsors of the LAR. They are responsible for hiring judges, ordering awards, running the concession stand and obtaining masters of ceremonies, said Miles McKee, professor of animal sciences and industry. The sponsoring clubs received help from the Department of Animal Sciences and Industry in providing equipment, animal feed and animal transportation to and from Weber

Although the LAR is an extracurricular activity, students participating can receive extra recogni-tion through scholarships. Five students will receive $150 each based on their activities, scholarship, LAR participation and financial

"The Little American Royal is part of our teaching program. Ex-■ See ROYAL, Page 12

South African talks set

Leaders plan to discuss political violence, new constitution

By The Collegian Staff

Africa is coming to Manhattan. Campus and community members will have the chance to experience the taste, sound and rhythm of the African culture during the annual African Night Saturday at 7 p.m. in City Municipal Auditorium, 1121 Poyntz

The event is sponsored by the African Student Union and the International Coordinating Council.

"The African Night is going to feature African drumming and music, a traditional costume parade, poems dedicated to Africa by African writers and an African dinner," said Yemi Ogunrinola, ex-officio member of ASU and graduate student in food science.

The dinner will consist of a variety of African dishes prepared by members of the ASU.

"Among the dishes that we are going to serve is a chicken dish prepared with spices flown in from Africa, rice prepared with African spices, spinach with melon-seed and fried plantain, which is a very popular dish," Ogunrinola said. The African Night has been organized by the African Student Union

'We have had it every year since, and one year we even had it twice because it was so popular," Ogunrinola

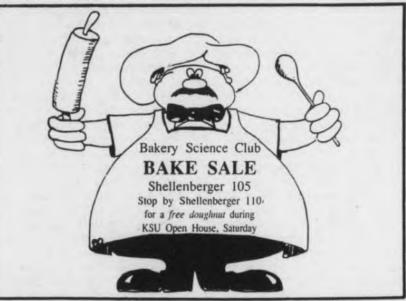

About 50 students from 13 African countries are participating in the event this year, said Busie Maziya, vice-president of ASU and graduate student in food science.

"We try to represent the continent at large in the African Night and will feature music and food from various countries," Maziya said.

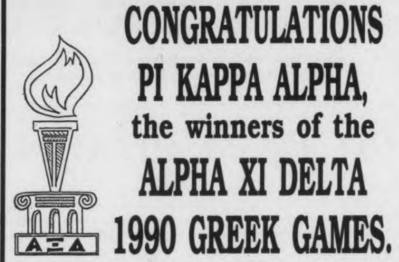

The audience will be invited to participate in African dancing at the end of the evening during the finale of the show, Maziya said.

Tickets for the African Night are $4 in advance and $5 at the door. For children under 12, tickets are $2. Advance tickets will be sold today in the K-State Union.

Collegian Coupons— ¢ They make 'Cents!' ©

KAPPA DELTA

Would like to thank those who helped prevent child abuse by donating and participation in our cause:

The Palace Ice Cream Social Espresso Royale Kistners KMKF Pi Beta Phi Theta Xi

Lambda Chi Alpha Chi Delta Delta Delta Sigma Nu Delta Upsilon Tau Kappa Epsilon Alpha Xi

The Little American Royal Tomorrow 1:00 Weber Arena Admission $2 Kids under 12 get in free.

Don't Forget

AM I HAVING FUN YET...

HAPPINESS IN ADULT LIFE

- Saturday April 14
- 9 a.m.-noon
- Betsy Bergen, Ph.D.

Does it always seem like other people are having more fun than you are? Do you wonder when the fun will begin in your life. . . maybe it has and you just don't recognize it. Come explore the possibilities at this most intriguing workshop — for both men and women.

For more information and reservations call The Saint Mary Hospital Education Department, Susan Noblett, 776-2855.

the saint many hospital

Member CSJ Health Systems of Wichita

1823 College Avenue

Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Congratulations and many thanks to the student callers in the College of Engineering Telefund 1990. Another new record was set in both dollars and pledges.

Julianne Linscott

Craig Luckner

Jeremy English Greg Abel Kathy Alexander Jennifer Fakler Denise Allacher Michael E. Fall Anthony Fangman Tim Altsadt Kurt Anderson Wes Feimster Matt Argo Tamara Feuerborn Michael Armour David Foust Brian Armstrong John Fuller Chris Baldwin Karl Good Linda Gunkel Leslie Barnt David A. Basel Larry Hackleman Dan Baumchen James C. Hall Patrick Baxa Kenneth Hamman Steve Beatte David Hammes Steve Berndsen Robert Harris Douglas Berndt Andrew N. Hawkins Brent Bestwick Brent Hawley Dan Biggs Gregory Hayes Bart L. Heinz Bradley L. Breault Rex Hendrickson Mike Herzog Steven Brev Ronald Brockhoff Pete Hilger Tim Browder Brent Hoffman Nicki Hollandsworth Doug Browne Aaron R. Holm Chris Brunner Terry Hon Matt Burger Lyle Burkholder Barclay Hornung Daryl Horton Eric Carley Mike Howey Kathy Carroll Glenn W. Hubbard Rick Carver Tim Chadwick Jeffrey Hunt David A. Church Carl A. Huslig Dave D. Husted Brad Clem Sergio Alberto Jimenez Connie Coltrane David E. Johnson Joey Cottam Jennifer Johnson Don Couch Greg Covington Robert A. Johnson Craig Cowley Tim Johnson James E. Kamphaus Ward J. Davis Mary Keearns Derrick D. Day Lindy Dearasaugh Kelly Keimig Angela Deatrick Warren B. Kennedy Sue Kim Mike DePinto Doug Klingler Gale Deters Brent Korte Eric DeVolder David Disberger Kyle Kramer Paula Kruse Sean Donahue Leigh Ann Kuhn Mike Dresher Antonio Alba Lau Dale Droste Clinton Eads

Carey Leonard Chad Leonard Shelli Letellier

Joe Lutgen Mark Maier Galen Manners Brent D. Marquart Terry Maskil Megan Maskil Robert Matejicka Steven L. Matthews Michael A. Mattingly Scott Mauler Shari A. McCormick Michael McCullough Phillip McElwee Kip McNorton Janet Metcalf Scott Miller Jenniser Mitchell Lara Montulli Rodger Moon Ron Moon Lance Moore Burt Morey Jeff Morris James J. Morrov Jim Munda Kyle Murdock Craig Murphy Wissam Naouss Carolyn Ogden Matthew J. Opitz Janet Berry Oswalt Margaret Peil Chris Pinkerton Brian Todd Pitman Dane Plummer Dan Pope Troy Porak Greg Quigley Joseph Rakestraw Brian Rust Kristina Reece Leon Regehr Doug Rephlo Tim Rice Mark Reimann Doug Robinson Susan Russell

Brendan Ryan

John D. Rye

Barbara L. Sawyer Joe F. Scarfino Craig Alan Scheidt Kathleen Scherer Kim R. Schlaefli James H. Schnieders Craig Schraad Tim Schumacher Tyler Seals Terri Shearer Cliff Sheets Eric Sher Sherrill L. Shue Kathrine Shurtz Sean Skelton Joel Sommer Douglas W. Sommers Susan Spangler Suzanne Spring Eric R. St. Pierre Joe Stallbaumer Mark H. Sterdy Eric Stenzel Ross Stites Bradley Strahm Helen Strunk Tim Sullivan Michael J. Swofford Angela Talarico L. Jeff Tawney Mike Tomlinson Jomari S. Torres Tai Tran Van E. Underwood Scott Unger Dwayne D. Vaughn Amy Vincent Steve Vohs Mike Walberg Alex Weidman Kevin Weishaar Dale Westhoff Skip White Corey Williams David Winrick Paul Winston Rodney Wise Augustine Yang

Obed Saint-Louis

Morwan M. Salih

Kevin Sampson

Greg Savaiano

Gerald Edwards

Kyle Elmore

Everything old's new again

Scarcity of actual antiques available for sale increases popularity of recent collectibles

By Lori Stauffer Collegian Reporter

It may only be a period of time before antiques disappear. Dealers are finding it more difficult each year to find true antiques.

"They are simply running out," said Robert Redman, owner of Oldtimer's Collectibles, 315 S. Fourth

As pieces become less available, prices soar.

"The scarcity of an item makes the prices high," said Paul Boles, a dealer at the Country Antiques, 3316 Anderson Ave.

The disappearance of the fine furniture is caused by various reasons. Some pieces are lost through fires or are damaged beyond repair. Others are bought by hotels and restaurants that use the pieces for decor, he said.

The continuing rise in the number of individual buyers is also a contributing factor in the shortage. Jean Bigbee, manager of Tuttle's Antique Market, 2010 Tuttle Creek Blvd., said more individuals are now looking to buy antiques because they are known to last. The buyers know if the furniture has lasted this long - some pieces more than 100 years - they are going to last a little longer, she said.

"I see a real trend in young people going back to tradition. The home and family are becoming important again and people are looking for something with substance," Bigbee

Because of the diminishing number of antiques, Redman said dealers are forced to turn to furniture of the 1930s, '40s and '50s.

"A few years ago, used furniture dealers sold them to college students," said Redman.

Now, furniture just a few decades old is being sold in antique shops as

The differences between a collectible and an antique are detailed in the Tariff Act of 1930.

According to the act, antiques are

"works of art (except rugs and carpets made after the year 1700), collections in illustration of the progress of the arts, works in bronze, marble, terra cotta, parian, pottery or porcelain, artiste antiquities and objects of art of ornamental or educational value which shall have been produced prior to the year 1830."

Customs officials of the Department of Treasury interpret this to mean that anything made 100 years before the importation date is an antique, according to the "Official Price Guide to Antiques and Collectibles."

The guide also said many dealers, collectors, authors and other experts commonly use the term antique to include all items of intrinsic value, rarity and fitting commonly or widelyaccepted ideas of beauty and worth.

For this reason, many fine objects made 50 years ago are considered antiques by some.

On the other hand, particularly in the field of furniture, some experts claim only pieces made before 1830 are antique.

A collectible, however, is generally described as any object which, because of its significance in pop culture, regardless of beauty or rarity and regardless of intrinsic value, has value to collectors.

Some examples of collectibles are plastic Art Deco items, ashtrays, comic books, comic character toys, Avon and Jim Beam bottles, Depression glass, Carnival glass and memorabilia of movies, world's fairs and world wars.

Another classification of antiques are country pieces. According to "Antique Furniture," many examples encountered today are likely to be country pieces. Standards of craftsmanship by country woodworkers were equal to their London counterparts. The fact that larger quantities of provincial antique furniture have survived in good condition is due principally to the high degree of craftsmanship involved.

Boles said auctions are a great place to buy antiques especially with country flavor. He described many of the pieces he has obtained for Country Antiques as primitive. They are characterized by crisp lines and functional properties.

A trunk made to fit along the running boards of wagons, a pie safe that was used to keep newly baked pies warm and a crank type butter churn developed in the 1900s are among the functional items in the shop.

Oldtimer's Collectibles has more of the decorative pieces in stock. Redman said many of the antiques he purchases through estates, auctions and other individuals come from the Victorian or Eastlake periods.

One of the more ornate pieces from these periods is a walnut settee covered in wine colored velvet built around 1910. This piece shows the amount of work that went into each piece during this time with elaborately carved lines and a smooth

Another piece from the Victorian era is an Alder organ. The pump organ was built out of oak wood in Louisville, Ky. in 1897.

Redman has pieces dating from the Civil War era up to at least 1925 but he said he has many of the best pieces at home.

"If you want a real story about antiques, you should go to an antique dealer's home," said Redman.

There are 14 dealers who keep many of their antiques in Tuttle's Antique Market, said Jean Bigbee.

Jean Bigbee, Manhattan, manages Tuttle's Antique Market, a cooperative business consisting of 14 dealers. Each dealer takes his turn working in Bigbee's market which is located on Tuttle Creek Boulevard.

The antique cooperative gives the buyer a varied supply of antiques ranging from vintage clothing and costume jewlery to true antique furniture and collectible pieces. Most of the items typically come from the East, Bigbee said, and many of them are older than the state of Kansas.

Bigbee finds it interesting to guess what will be a collectible in the

"It's hard to know what we're using now that would be considered a collectible 50 to 100 years from now. One guy who is a regular here has decided that A&W root beer mugs are going to be popular and has begun to collect those. But, I don't know," said

Let your opinions be known with a letter to the editor

One of the most popular collectibles are the English Flow Blue set of dishes. The name comes from the smeared look of the pattern, Bigbee said. During the final heat process in making the sets, the blue in the pattern began to run.

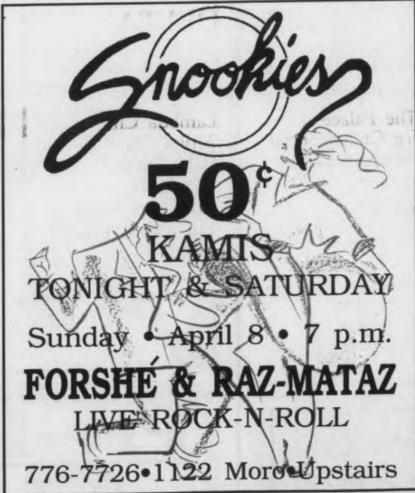

"At the time they were made, the dishes were not desirable. People wanted the pattern to be more defined and distinctive. They are highly collectible now," she said. A piece Bigbee said was made at the height of Victorian snobbery is the Tree of Life compote. She said the designers of the crystal compote are thought to be rather presumptous in designing the tree of life held up by a human hand.

An unusual item at the market are panels taken from a horse drawn hearse. Bigbee said the panels were found in the rafters of a blacksmith shop and were at least 70 to 80 years old. The panels were handcarved to look like curtains drawn back by ropes. The curtains are so detailed that when painted the original color black, a person would have to touch the wood to know it wasn't real cloth, said Bigbee.

The time it takes to pay attention to such detail is not used anymore, said Boles. This is the reason none of the dealers could see furniture made today lasting hundreds of years.

August 1-3

July 27-Aug.1

July 27-Aug.1

July 27-Aug.2 July 27-Aug.2

July 27-31

July 25-27

July 27-31

May 31-June 7

May 26-June 2

June 27-Aug.16

July 31-Aug.16

June 12-July 11 & July 16-Aug.14

Have we got the stuff for your Easter Basket

Candy, Grass, Tissue Baskets Koosh Balls Crabtree and Evelyn Balloons Greeting Cards

704 N. Manhattan • Aggieville • 539-7654 Mon.-Thurs. 8:30-8:30 • Fri.-Sat. 8:30-5:30 • Sun. 12:00-5:00

SUMMER IN SANTA FE 1990

The New Technology and the Music Classroom The Santa Fe Art Experience Santa Fe Style--Inside and Out Press F1 for Help: Library Automation the Pleasant Way! Virtual Reality: Information Scenarios for 2020 Technologies Elderleam: Santa Fe--A Taste of the Southwest Opera: Behind the Scenes The Santa Fe Custom Entrepreneur

> FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT: Continuing Education and Public Service Program Development Services

(405) 325-5101 or (800) 522-0772 ext.5101 (in OK) (800) 523-7363 ext.5101 (outside OK)

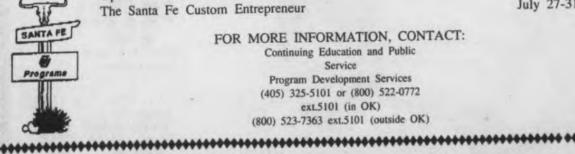

2700 Anderson Ave.

OFF any Combo Platter

Now thru Sunday, April 8th, you can get $1.00 off the regular price of any Combo Platter of your choice. Our newest store in Manhattan is NOW OPEN at 2700 Anderson Ave. Come visit us TODAY and enjoy the great Mexican food at Taco Tico.

Not valid with any other discount, coupon or offer. No coupon necessary for this offer. Offer is also valid at our Tuttle Creek Blvd. location.

The University of Oklahoma Invites You to Enrich the Summer of '90 with Travel-Study

New York Fashion Study Tour The Eagle and the Bear-Soviet-American Relations

28th Annual Summer Session in France

24th Annual Summer Spanish Session Field Techniques in Geography: Antigua in the Caribbean

DAIRY QUEEN FROZEN ICE CREAM CAKE

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT:

Continuing Education and Public Services Program Development Services (405) 325-5105 or (800) 522-0772 ext.5105 (in OK) (800) 523-7363 ext. 5105 (outside OK)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Kedzie 103 CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon

FRIDAY for Monday's paper.
Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classifled Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex or ancestry.

Announcements

A BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics. Janet Milliken, 539-9469.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

211 S. Seth Childs 1443 Anderson -01-537-2411 537-2426

Hunam Restaurant

Free Delivery 539-8888

LATE NIGHT GRILL

Fri. & Sat. 10 p.m.-1 a.m.

The best and fastest breakfast in town. Burgers & Fries, Omelettes & Egg orders just $2.50 an order with 2 items.

539-1571 Candlewood

WESTLOOP CINEMA 6

TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLES PG TODAY AT 4:30 - 7:05 - 9:30 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 12:00 & 2:00

BLIND FURY<sub>R</sub> TODAY AT 4:40 -7:10 - 9:35

LOVE YOU TO DEATHR TODAY AT 4:40 - 7:10 - 9:35 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:10

THE FIRST POWERR TODAY AT 4:40 - 7:10 - 9:40

MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:10 OPPORTUNITY KNOCKSpg-13 TODAY AT 4:35 - 7:05 - 9:40

MATINEE SAT. & SUN AT 2:10 HE HUNT FOR RED OCTOBERPG

TODAY AT 4:15 - 7:00 - 9:45 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 1:30 CAMPUS HEART OF ASCENSE

NUNS ON THE RUN PG-13 TODAY AT 7:00 AND 9:00 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 3:00 & 5:00

Join Us This Weekend for

•$1.50 Blue Hawaiians

•1.50 Water Melons

Comedy Invasion Mon. & Tues. 9 p.m. Eddy Strange

VISA OR MASTERCARD!

Even if bankrupt or bad credit! We guarantee you a card or double your money back. Call 1-805-682-7555 EXT. M-1199. (call 7 days a week)

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193.

2 Apartments—Furnished

- LARGE two-bedroom sublease, 1010 Thurston. Everything— central air, full kitchen, etc. $399 negotiable, 537-3346.
- FOR THE next school year. Luxurious two-bedroom apartment. Near campus at 363 N. 14th. Central air, leundry, balcony, new carpet and off-street parking. $425, 537-0428.
- FREE COUNTRY living for responsible student in exchange for occasional assistance to wheelchair-bound landlady. 913-494-8201.
- LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. 539-1465.
- NEXT TO campus— Apartment complex, 1832 Claflin Road across Goodnow and Marlatt. One bedroom, furnished, central air, off-street parking, quiet. Evenings 539-2702.
- ONE-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus, off-stre parking, laundry. Available June 1. $275. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.
- ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO in complex, 1219 Claffin. Next to campus. $275 plus electric plus deposit. August, June lease. No pets. 537-1180.
- TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT for sublease. Close to campus, everything included. Rent negotiable. Call 539-0926.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

1219 KEARNEY, Basement, One bedroom, Gas/ water ncluded. June lease, $250. No pets. 539-5136. AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom, ground floor duplex. Laundry room, nice yard. 539-3672 evenings.

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT, $195 per month. Gas, heat and water included. Lease and deposit required Call 537-7794 evenings and weekends.

FOUR-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $485 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Available June 1. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coin-operated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required. $280. 539-1465.

ONE-BEDROOM, clean, carpeted, central air, no pets, 5th and Osage. $265 plus utilities, water, trash.

PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two-bedroom. Close to campus. 776-8381.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENTS in new complex. Leasing for August. Close to campus and Aggle-ville. Call 776-1509.

TWO-BEDROOM, central air, 1% bath, laundry, nice location, available June. 537-8800.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS

- 1408 Cambridge Place 539-2951 •1 and 2 bedroom
- ·2 swimming pools and a
- heated spa ·Some utilities paid
- ·Across the street from Westloop Shopping Center ·Free private bus to campus leaving every hour. Pre-leasing for fall beginning now

Wildcat Inn

Three locations of one bedroom apartments still available for June or August leasing. $310-340.

Call for more information. 776-3804

> Weekdays until 6 p.m. Saturdays

until 4 p.m.

McCullough Development 2700 Amhersi (913) 776-3804

Jiffin (jifin) AKA TGIF'N-

- 1. Kicking back and relaxing on a Friday afternoon after a most heinous week.
- 2. Blowing the froth off a few.

Jiffin' starts here at 2:00 p.m. with

$2.75 Busch 60 oz. Pitchers!

702 North 11th

105 N. 3rd

776-0077

Aggieville, USA

776-9879

K-Rentals

Efficiency $200

- 1 Bedroom $250
- 2 Bedroom $290
- 3 Bedroom $450 539-8401

Sunset Apartments

Now leasing for June or August. One bedroom. $280-295. Central Air, Gas Heat & Laundry Facilities.

539-5051 776-3804 after 5:30

McCullough Development 2700 Amhors! (913) 776-3804

PCF Management

Efficiency $200 1 bedroom $250

2 bedroom $290 776-4805-539-8401

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

ONE- AND two-bedroom apartments near campus and Westloop area. Call 776-1340.

STUDIO APARTMENT, Located above a bar, $155 plus electricity. Call 539-6813 after 7p.m.

WANTED: ONE-BEDROOM or efficiency apartment to rent from July/ August to December. John, 537-0477.

NOW LEASING

Furnished/Unfurnished 12 plex

> 9th & Moro 2 bedroom $375

Call Bill at 776-0644 or Kay at 539-8846

5 Automobile for Sale

- 1978 ALFA Romaeo convertible for sale. Red, with new top, new tires and great stereo with cassette and equalizer. $3,750. Call John 1-456-7050.
- 1979 VW Rabbit, four-door, air conditioning, stereo. Good exterior, great interior, $650. Perfect for the woman or "man-about-town." Also good for road trips. 539-5393, please leave message.
- 1985 PLYMOUTH Voyager LE mini, one owner, excel-lent condition, air, standard, AMFM, five-seater. See for yourself. On Fort Riley. $6,950. 1-784-5717.
- 1987 DODGE Aries LE 2500 cc engine. Excellent buy. Assumable power train warranty. Phone Lee, 532-5804 days, 539-0168 evenings.
- DATSUN 280Z. 1977. Great engine, good gas mileage Body needs work. $1.250. 776-4574. FOR SALE: 1983 Jeep, CJ7, four-speed, new top, excellent condition. $4,500 or best offer. 537-8987.

6 Child Care

COME BE a nanny in a lovely New England home located 20 minutes north of Boston. Professional couple is seeking summer help for their two charming children, 5 and 10. Call Sandi at 617-334-4337.

NANNY: LOVING person to care for 2-year-old and infant. One year minimum commitment, 40 miles north of NYC in Connecticut, must swim, no smokers, prefer experience with young children. Ask for Susan Taylor day (212)230-3223 or evening after 7p.m. (203)329-2809.

Computers

- MAC II, two MB RAM, 40MB HD, software, $2,950 (CPU only) or $4,200 (includes CPU, TPD monitor and video card). 776-7435.
- WANTED: A data base programmer to develop new agricultural software for private business. Evenings. 456-9201.
- drives 3%, 5%, 640k, printer, Make an offer, Call 539-8053. XT IBM compatible, 14-inch color monitor, two disk

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of ertisements in the Employment classification ders are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

- ACT IN TV commercials. High pay. No experience, All ages—kids, teens, young adults, families, mature people, animals, etc. Call now! Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702.
- ATTENTION: EARN money typing at homel $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. T-1797.
- ATTENTION: HIRING government jobs— your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext R1797.
- ATTENTION: KANSAS Careers needs a student assistant for 20-30 hours/ week during summer semester and 12-15 through the school year. Clerical experi-ence necessary plus Word Perfect and dBase III+. Pick up application form at Kansas Careers, 304 Fairchild Hall. Deadline April 11.
- CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B. Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. 708-445-2444.
- CONSTRUCTION HELP wanted: Construction firm in Vail, Colo., seeking qualified person with construc-tion management or civil engineering degree. Surveying and commercial or residential construction experience desired. Send resume to Craig Bruntz, c/o D.V.C., 1000 S. Frontage Road West, Suite 202, Vail, CO 81657.
- EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288.

(Continued on page 11)

"THE ASSEMBLY" PRESENTS IN CONCERT: Monday, April 9, 7:00 p.m.

- •1981 Grammy Award for: Best Gospel Album
- •1985 Dove Award for: Song of the Year

across the country Assembly of God Church

Frequent TV Appearances

- ·Writers of the 1985 Grammy winning song sung by Donna Summer
- ·Have written together well over 1000 songs
- ·Nominated for numerous other Grammy and Dove Awards

Everyone Welcome! No Admission!

Kansas State Collegian

Graduation Gift Guide

Run Date: April 24, 1990 Deadline: April 19, 1990 Call 532-6560 for more information.

Friday means JIFFIN' at two of the areas hottest bars.

-AND The newest sports bar. Catch your favorite team on our Big Screen.

(you keep the glass)

Pre-Easter Sale SAVINGS ON JUNIOR & CONTEMPORARY MISSES FASHIONS AT

TURTLENECKS COMPARE AT $16-22 SAVE OVER 30%! OUTBACK OUTBACK • RED BELTED PLEATED PANTS Hunters Run

OUTBACK • RED

DESIGNER AND NAME BRAND FASHIONS FOR LESS!!

Fashion Company

EAST MANHATTAN

(Continued from page 10)

EXCELLENT WAGES for spare-time assembly. Easy work at home. Exceptional pay. No experience needed. Call 1-501-388-8242 ext H1395. Open 24

GENERAL CAMP counselors, arts and ecology consul-ants, kitchen and waterfront staff needed for resident Girl Scout Camps in Vermont and New Hampshire, June 16 -Aug. 22. Campers and staff work and play hard together and have an awesome time. Write or call Missy/ Nancy, Swift Water Girl Scout Council, 88 Harvey Road, Manchester, N.H. 03103. 603-627-4158.

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for spring, Christmas and next summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1 805-682-7555 EXT. S-1112. (call 7 days a week)

I'M TELLING 400

JOE, IT'S WERD.

Ripple

WELL, NOW JANA.

YOU'VE COME ABOUT

A TATTOO REMOVAL?

Q

WELL, AS YOU

CAN SEE, FELLOW

LON - FANATICS,

THE DOC JUST

THROUGH WITH IT.

SO I AM STUCK

WITH MY TATTOO

I had to go to the library today to check out a

WITH STUPENDOUS SPEED,

STUPENDOUS MAN IS OUT

THE DOOR!

Garfield

LOVELY STATUE

book.

Iim's Journal

FOR LIFE.

COULDN'T GO

Making the Grade

I GO HALF A SEMESTER

MITHOUT EVEN KNOWING

THIS GIRLS NAME AND NOW

WE'RE TALKING LIKE LONG

LOST PRIENDS.

HEH, HEH. YOU

YOUNG PEOPLE

WHAT IS IT, A

ARE SO IMPETUOUS.

BOYFRIEND'S NAME

LAWN CARE person wanted for large apartr community. Responsible for the maintenance of grounds and swimming pools. Horticulture or agricultural background helpful. Full time April through August. Send resume to Collegian, Box 8, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

PART- OR tull-time help needed for general farm and livestock work. 913-456-7215.

SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 openings. National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

tree details. East Wyoming, Railspell, MT 19901.

TECHNICAL SUPPLIES manager, Varney's Book Store, Manhattan, Kansas. We are seeking an energetic, knowledgeable individual committed to giving excellent customer service. Reponsibilities include purchase, merchandising and sale of art and technical supplies. Experience with purchasing and inventory control systems and demonstrated supervisory experience required. Prefer individual with knowledge of art materials and related technical supplies. Prefer bachelor degree. Competitive salary, bonus and fringe benefits are offered. Deadline to apply: April 23, 1990. Submit letter of application, resume and references to: Jon Levin, application, resume and references to: Jon Levin, Varney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, Kansas 66502.

SHE HAVE BLG HOOTERS?

UMM, NOT EXACTLY.

BUT THE RELATION

YOU TON'T

MEAN ..

SHIP WILL HAVE

When I tried to realized I forgot to bring my student

check it out, I

ID.

TO END.

THEREFORE,

OF IT AS

LOSING A

COACH

MUSTN'T THINK

WHAT?

HIRING PART-TIME leasing agent for Friday after-noons and daytime Saturdays. Apply in person at 1408 Cambridge Place at Park Place Apartments.

HORTICULTURE STUDENT needed for planting and maintaining perennials and annuals. Call

WANTED: STUDENT to work summer on hog and crop rm. Call evenings, 539-1930.

WE HAVE the ideal college job for fraternity and sororit members. Set own hours with extremely high monetary return. Job includes marketing imprinted sportswear and party tavors to Greeks. Please call T-Graphics. Inc. Lawrence, KS 1-800-633-0276.

11 Garage and Yard Sales

HOOTERS

GAZEBOS.

HEADLIGHTS,

TORPEDOES.

IS SHE

STACKED?

(GULP)

FOUR-FAMILY SALE- 139 E.J. Frick, baby and children's clothes, Fischer Price toys, Little Tyke picnic table, New Aire fireplace insert, electric ice, army cots, appliances, misc.; 7a.m.- noon, Saturday, April 7.

By Bob Berry

By J. Hayden

I CANT!

NOT

ANOTHER

LON

KRUGER

REMOVAL

17'S TOO

PAINFUL

BUT AS

GAINING

SHE'S FLIPPED

So I had to walk

all the way back home to get it.

A TEAM.

0

By Jim

HONEY, WE CAME HERE

TO RELAX.

LET'S TALK

ABOUT

SOMETHING

ELSE.

2

NEVERMIND.

JOE.

12 Houses for Rent

1101 DENISON, 1846, 1814 Platt, one to five bedrooms to see evenings Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 7-9p.m. 539-3993.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1. Two-bedroom, yard, $345 plus utilities. Lease and deposit. 539-3672 evenings.

ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks east campus, laundry hookups. $285/ month, utilities, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1, 539-3672 evenings.

ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June 1. $295, 539-1554

SPACIOUS THREE-BEDROOM, two-bath house be tween campus and stadium, walking distance. Partially furnished. Available Aug. 1. $500/ month. Buy option, 913-685-3418.

14 Lost and Found

BROWN LEATHER jacket stolen from The Forum near entrance. If you have information, please call 539-2134. Cash reward.

FOUND: SMALL dog, possibly Yorkie-poodle cross. Recently spade female approximately 8 months old. Found vicinity of Laramie and Juliette on April 1.

LOST: BLACK Lab neutered male. Lost Friday Aggieville area. Reward. 776-8417 or 539-8365

LOST BY mistake: Black leather jacket given out by mistake Friday night at Charlie's. Initials B.G. on inside label. I have your jacket. Please call and we can exchange. 537-7309. Leave message.

LOST: TWO gold rings in or around old football stadium. 776-7621. Reward.

15 Meetings/ Events

ZEN BUDDHIST priest-teacher Teijo Munnich will give public talk and respond to questions April 6, 7:30p.m., Bluemont 122.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

12x65 MOBILE home. Two bedrooms, 1½ baths. Excellent condition. Call 537-2993.

1972 CHAMPION 12x60, two-bedroom. Good condition. With 8x10 deck. Avaiable June 1. Evenings, 537-4279.

1974 MOBILE home for sale. 12 feet by 65 feet. Three bedrooms, Call Kevin, 776-8797. 1988 14x70 Schult mobile home with three bedrooms,

11/2 baths, 8x10-foot deck, Call 776-8477. 18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982 HONDA Civic. Fuel efficient, 45 mpg. Immaculate. Low, low miles. Sony AM/FM cassette. Sporty wide tires. Silver. $2,195. 537-2396.

SNYDER'S HONDA on Stagg Hill Road is buying and selling new and used motorcycles. We are your motorcycle super market.

21 Personals

AKL BRYSON— Our time together was perfect! I'll remember this week forever. A.F.

AX NICOLE: Losing you, peanut butter cup slide, all nighters, purple dice, fg taxies, lowa to come in a green Omega. You make ordinary things exciting. Keep smiling. Happy birthday! Gibbins.

CNS OPEN House Chairman: With a stud like you in charge, how can you lose? Good luck today! Love,

GIRL IN EeGee's Friday night— I sat frozen by your smile. Its beauty stopped the words. I want to speak to you! Respond in Personals.

GIRL IN EeGee's- Short blonde hair, light colored white slacks. Said bye when left. Interested? Guy.

GOTCHAI PSYCH you lose! Who's Angle anyway? -AF- April . Jols.

HEY FLY- Tonight's the big bash and we're going to get trashed. You can flirt with the men, but hopefully you won't bed them. Happy B-day. Love, Hoser.

KD SUSAN— Congrats on your journalism internship with National Kappa Delta. Love, Your KD Sisters

NSK EMPLOYEE: Five years of college and not a personal to be. Well, here's a special one for my tavorite Meseke. Congrats on your job, ball bearings you will make; a year in Japan is all it will take. I'm so exciting and happy for you, I only wish I was going, too! Love, Me. PSYCHO DUDE- Surprise! Did you know that I miss you? I miss your smile, your hug, your kiss. I'm glad that you aren't confused now. Forbidden Chick.

ROADKILL SPOT. Hi dork! Oh "Hi" to my tango partner, too. Well, did I embarrass you this week? What are the two of you going to do to hold me down?

STEPH S.— Hope you had a great day yesterday! But, anyway, Happy Birthday! Meg.

TO GUY in EeGee's Friday night. I'd like to talk to you, too. Any ideas? Smile.

TO THE biology TA Wednesday— Thanks for the chair. Do you want to go for a Coke?

TROY— I'm not for sure why you are getting a personal.
After all, a year is no big deal, right? Happy 1st anyway. I love you. Kelly.

WANTED: GORGEOUS nympho girl, from Wichita, rich, great personality, fun and faithful. Please reply.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

EASTER'S ALMOST here! Registered mini-Lopp bunny, food and cage. For more information, cal 776-6691.

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits 1105 Waters 539-4751

SNAKE CAGE— 135 gallon aquarium and redwood stand. Leaks. As is, $200. Repaired, $250. 776-3785.

23 Professional Services

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES and soronties! Spruce up your carpets and floors prior to the party season. Call TNT Professional Cleaners for a tree estimate. 539-8120. Alumni owned and operated.

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day res For appointment call: Pregnancy Testing Center, 539-3338. PERMS WITH cut, $25 to $30. Shampoo, cut, style, $10.

Tanning, 10 for $18. 776-1330. PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM abortion? Write: Hearts Restored.

Box 295, Colby, Kansas 67701. Confidential response will follow.

WEDDING PLANS? Contact the professionals at Living Image Video. Book now. 539-0168. WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY. Over seven years of experience with wedding photography. Call for samples. 776-3785.

WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHER. 15 years of quality experience. 50 to 100 photos, plus free negatives. $150 complete wedding. $200 photos plus video.

24 Resume/ Typing Service

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms, dissertations, theses, etc. Call 776-4214. LETTER-QUALITY word processing. $1.25 double spaced page. Next-day delivery available. Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals, re-sumes and more. Laser printing. Call 537-4146. RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to make an impression. One day service. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147.

WORD PROCESSING: College papers, resumes, let-ters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single. Quality Print. Betty, 539-6851, Claffin.

25 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE(S) needed for upcoming school year, One block from campus. Washer/ dryer. $120 plus KPL. Call 537-2186 (Tammie) or 532-2182

FEMALE, UPPERCLASSMAN or graduate student. Private bedroom, laundry, one block off campus, off street parking. Call 537-4947 after 6p m.

MATURE, NON-SMOKING female to share house for next fall. 776-3860 after 5p.m.

NEED TWO roommates for summer. Next to campus near Aggieville. $140 plus one-third utilities. 539-4711.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share nice apartment one block from campus. $157.50/ month, one-half utilities, washer, dryer, off-street parking, 776-0063, leave message.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, own room by campus. $131.25 monthly, one-fourth utilities. 776-2074 or 537-4641.

ONE- TWO non-smoking females, furnished farm house, free stall and pasture for horses, cattle, dogs. P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan.

ROOM FOR rent in six-bedroom home. Four blocks from campus. $135 a month plus percent of utilities Share kitchen and laundry lacilities. Call either 913-966-2265 or 913-966-2171.

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Own room. $150 plus one-third electricity. Close to campus. 537-2863.

26 Stereo Equipment

KENWOOD KAC-820 power amp for car. $200. Call Scott 776-6240 after 4p.m.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

WINDSURFER ONE design, three sails, $750; Rocket

Express, 10-foot, 6-inch transition board, 5.6m2 sail, $600, 776-6073.

28 Sublease

$134/ MONTH, per person, plus utilities, summer. Two-bedroom apartment, furnished, by City Park. 776-3797.

15 SECONDS from campus. Single, furnished. $230 plus electricity. June- July. Part of August free. 532-6334.

A $100 sublease, large room in big house, 1818 Fairchild, 539-1457, ask for Julie.

A BIG two-bedroom house/ apartment with garage for summer. $100 monthly. Call Becky at 539-2381.

A JUNE- July sublease, two weeks in May Free.

one-bedroom, unfurnished, $250/ month. Negotiable, 776-0486.

NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, one-fourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New carpet. Available anytime. Call, leave message mid-August. Cable, partially furnished, two blocks from campus. $150/ month each person (negoti able). Call 776-0535. A NICE two-bedroom furnished apartment 11/2 blocks

A NICE three-bedroom available mid-May through from campus. Two to four people. $250-$490. 537-8581.

A SPACIOUS three-bedroom apartment. Swimming pool, dishwasher, washer and dryer, partially turn ished. Price and time available negotiable. 1530 College Ave., Apt. A-9. 776-0549.

BEFORE YOU decide on a summer sublease, you must see this house located two blocks northwest of campus. Three bedrooms, washer/ dryer, dis-hwasher, large living room and kitchen, furnished.

BIG TWO-BEDROOM, furnished, near campus and Aggieville. Available June to August. Clean. $425. 532-2479.

1st-CLASS APARTMENTS for June- July subleases. Both one and two bedrooms, furnished or unfurnished, decks available, great locations. Call the Curtin Companies at 776-1222.

FOR SUMMER— Large, two-bedroom. Great for three, close to campus. $360 or best offer. 776-2378.

FREE SIX-PACK to first people to sublease our apartment. Balcony, swimming pool, two-bedroom 537-1565.

NEED ONE or two roommates to sublease 1822 Elaine. $125/ month for one; if two, split $125. Paid utilities, free washer and dryer, deck in backyard. 537-4634.

NEWLY REMODELED one- to three-bedroom apartment. Close to campus/ Aggieville. Call 776-4018. Is negotiable.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment close to campus. Balcony, dishwasher and laundry facilities. Three people, $300, two people $270, 776-3340.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate to sublease furnished apartment this summer. Own room, washer and dryer. $150 per month and one-half utilities. Call 776-4728

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to sublease furnished apartment. $125/ month and one-fourth utilities.

776-2076. ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, 1% blocks from campus. Call 537-1365. SPACIOUS FURNISHED studio apartment next to campus. Laundry facilities and patio. Available June and July. Rent negotiable. 539-5736. Ask for

SUBLEASE: ONE- three people for three-bedroom apartment. June— July, Rent $395. Call 537-2666, ask for Melissa or leave message

SUBLEASE: TWO-BEDROOM, one bath, pool, with option to rent. Open June 1, 539-4931 after 6p.m. SUBLEASE- NICE two-bedroom apartment for three dryer, dishwasher. $450 month. 539-4784. SUMMER- FOUR-BEDROOM, two-bathroom apartment with balcony, dishwasher, and laundry facili-ties. Near campus and Aggieville. Rent negotiable.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Nice, spacious two-bedroom apartment. Water and trash paid. $375. Call 776-6498 SUMMER SUBLEASE- Two-bedroom furnished apartment, near campus and Aggieville, terms negotiable, 1-494-8221. SUMMER SUBLEASE. Furnished two-bedroom, close to campus, fee negotiable. Call 532-3124.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Two-bedroom apartment good for three. Two blocks from campus. Negotiable. Call 539-7423. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Spacious, furnished, two-bedroom apartment close to campus. $375. Chris or Pat, 539-3097. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Large, two-bedroom unfurnished apartment. $450 plus electricity. Negotiable. Close to campus. 537-2863. SUMMER SUBLEASE- June 1 -July 31 and/ or lease available through Aug. 1, 1991. Furnished, one large bedroom, excellent condition, private bal-people. Price negotiable. Call 776-0715. Best between 5:30- 7p.m. SUMMER SUBLEASE—one to two rooms in house with another roommate, right across the street from campus. Male only. 776-5799.

cony, across from Ford Hall. Perfect for one to three

SUMMER SUBLEASE—Large, three-bedroom, across street from campus, one block from Aggieville. Call 776-9802

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom, furnished or unfurnished. Close to Aggieville and campus. Price

SUMMER- TWO-BEDROOM close to campus. $200/

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath, in Aggieville. Available May through July. Great location, 776-4760

THREE BEDROOMS, one and one-half bath, one-half block from campus and Aggleville. Parially furnished. Call 776-3448. THREE-BEDROOM, two full baths, one-half block west of campus; dishwasher. Dates/ rent negotiable. 776-7945. TWO-BEDROOM, FURNISHED, one block from cam pus, Aggieville. Available June and July. $270. 776-4574.

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050. Battery or AC powered, two font types, 16,000-character memory expansion card, spell corrector and many other features. Excellent condition. $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave

FOUR-HEAD HQ stereo VCR for sale. 537-1052.

33 Storage

NEED A place to store your things? For June and July. $20/ month. May Free. 776-1387.

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS 40 The

3 Makes hooch 4 Oliver 41 Fontanne's of films 5 Home for back,

9 Spoken

Herbert classic

reading

10 Frank

11 Proof-

at times

4 Boutique partner 42 Mileage 50 Across 6 "My - and Only" Sommer 47 Teen's 7 Golf goal 8 Quarter-

(bored) 50 Drones, 15 Find 51 Hurricane center DOWN

1 Flower

serving 24 Hawaiian city setting 35 Sighing cry plot mark 2 "The 16 Designer input 26 Give out in portions 27 One of the Greats 28 Dorsal 30 Massive person 33 Soft color 34 Emanation

19 Golf club

20 Food fish

Caron

movie owned

21 Leslie

22 Cat's

RBAXQQEJO CSFJR ZBCSZEEG BZIJ EXFJF

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: CONTRIBUTIONS TO CHURCH MASONRY FUNDS ARE MERELY TITHES THAT BIND.

EVERYONE IN THE WORLD IS LONELY. FRED. JUST 60 TO SLEEP ...

I AGREE .. A HOT

By Charles Schulz

Calvin and Hobbes By Bill Watterson

I have to read history class.

it for my European

MY CLAWS

SEE, IF WE HAD

BOUGHT A DOG

INSTEAD, LIKE

I WANTED, WE COULD GO OUT

LIKE THIS ALL

THE TIME.

Emerald 1 Michael Isle Jackson

8 Cacao sources 46 Actress 12 Inventor Whitney 13 Turner of 48 Plant records 49 Twofold

17 Rational 18 Dialer's sound 19 Key 20 Pizza 22 Entice

25 Chaos 29 The works 30 Refuge 31 Wrath 32 Contested 34 Orient

36 "Great!" 37 Whiskey

holder

ennead 23 Formerly 25 Computer 38 CRYPTOQUIP

SFKXCCXFYEG, CDJ BVIHVRJA KXCD RDJJC ISRXB. 45 Cote mom S H

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Z equals A

ROTC

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 they were not involved in racial slurs themselves.

He said when the Air Force received a similar version from their cadets they ended the counseling. "I did not see this as a problem at the time," Cook said.

After reading Haase's letter March 29, however, Cook conferred with the cadets a second time and also spoke to Haase about the incident. Cook said after the second discussion, Haase and the cadet's stories did not conflict.

"The cadets said their comments were all in jest," he said. "It is unfortunate they got involved in a discussion that, frankly, never should have occurred. This is not something they should be joking about."

The Army cadets involved in this situation are classified by the ROTC as basic course cadets, Cook said. They are not subjected to the "whole holster rules" that commissioned cadets follow. Violations of these rules can result in dismissal from the

Because the cadets are not under military jurisdiction, Cook said he has no set course of action except that specified by University policy.

The University Policy Prohibiting Racial and/or Ethnic Harassment states that racial or sexual harassment is "clearly in conflict with the general mission of the University.' Sanctions for violations of the policy range from admonishment to, in extreme cases, dismissal. Provost James Coffman said incidents of harassment are usually dealt with at the departmental level. McTasney said the Air Force has a policy of affirmative action and he informs cadets about the policy each McTasney said the Air Force would not be investigating the matter any further than the initial counseling.

Trio

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7 Members of the jazz trio play clarinet, drums and piano. They perform interpretations of the music of Jelly Roll Morton, Fats Waller, Duke Ellington, Benny Goodman and other

jazz musicians. In honor of the upcoming centennial of Morton's birth, Dapogny will deliver a lecture on Morton's compositions at 4 p.m. Saturday in McCain 204.

This lecture will be presented to a joint meeting of the American Musicological Society Midwest Chapter and the College Music Society Great Plains Chapter.

These two societies are having a joint conference in conjunction with the music festival, Parker said. Scholars and performers from nine states will present papers, lectures, performances and recitals to an audience of music educators, performers, scholars and students.

The festival has been a positive thing for students and the Manhattan community, said Edwin Chappell White, professor of music.

"I feel it is the responsibility of any educational institution to support the creative and artistic activities of its members and this support is very badly needed," White said. Parker said this kind of support has historically not been given by the United States to its artists.

'The United States is one of only a few countries in which the government does not support the creative activities of its citizens," Parker said.

Throughout European history, musicians have been supported by royalty and the church, Parker said. America however, has never established such a patronage system.

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 gin of Excellence program. It will be difficult to obtain our objective in a timely manner with a reduction like this. Now we'll start seeking money to fund MOE for next year."

Hochhauser said she tried to get the Intrusive program at Emporia State University funded for all regents schools. The program hires people to be student advisers to help decrease the freshman dropout rate.

In the program's first year, the dropout rate between freshman and sophomore years decreased by more than 50 percent.

Although the University budget is being dictated by a tight state budget, Hochhauser said K-State is doing better when compared to other state Art

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 "They don't have to buy the tickets."

Presenters of the arts should warn the audience if the material is explicit, he said. The audience should be open to explore the arts, but the presenters should not betray their trust "by not preparing them for what we're putting on the stage."

Martin said he didn't believe warning the audience was a form of censorship, but a service.

The forum precedes a Convocation Lecture by Anne Murphy, executive director of the American Arts Alliance. The lecture, "Exploring Truth: Art in a Political World," will begin at 10:30 a.m. Monday in character. "It's all very big and powerful sounding," Charlotte MacFarland said of the the music her son composed. "It has a kind of barbaric musical quality. He really understands the play and came up with music which expresses the moods and portrays the characters." MacFarland said the universal significance of "Medea" comes from the depiction of man's violent reaction to oppression. Medea is driven iety which deprives her of power and respect. Her revenge would be easily obtained by the powerful sorceress, but she no longer wants revenge, she wants obliteration. MacFarland said this hatred is similar to that of the oppressed in today's society.

Medea

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

People who are without dignity, without power to control their lives become bitter," MacFarland said. "The violence of the oppressed knows no limits."

Tickets to the play are available at the Nichols Box Office, Monday through Friday from noon to 5 p.m. Reservations can be made by calling 532-6398. Credit cards are accepted past the desire for revenge by the soc- and group rates are available.

Depot

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7 up to run on a coin-operated basis, and a quarter could be charged to have the trains run through the display. Watson said a railroad museum in Colorado tried the display, and the income is used to help defray the costs of maintenance and utilities for the building.

Watson said, however, that the group does not want it to be just a railroad museum. He said they want to make it a transportation museum. For example, the stagecoach owned by the Riley County Historical Society could be moved to the depot.

Edna Williams, of the Riley

County Historical Society, said the group would work with anyone who wants to create a museum in the depot. However, Manhattan does not seem to be a very museum-oriented city, she said.

'If someone would come forward with some (financial) help, we would work with them," Williams said. "We feel that a transportation museum is a good idea.

Another proposal has been to turn the depot into a Manhattan visitor's information center, such as has been done in Atchison by the local chamber of commerce.

Williams said whatever the outcome of the building, action should be taken soon, because bricks from the platform are being stolen.

Royal

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8 tracurricular activities provide leaming beyond the classroom," McKee said. Scholarship recipients will be announced at the LAR.

Each year the students dedicate the LAR to a faculty or community member who has made significant contributions to the animal sciences and industry department. This year's LAR will be dedicated to Harold Scanlan of Abilene.

Scanlan is an alumnus who has spoken at many club meetings and has invited students to visit his dairy farm in Abilene. He also has sponsored international students interested in the dairy cattle business.

The LAR was established in 1924. It was patterned after the National American Royal Livestock and Horse Show that has taken place every November since the 1920s in Kansas City, Mo. McKee said everything surrounding the American Royal was so formal that even the masters of ceremonies wore tuxedos, which used to be copied by the LAR. Justin McKee, sophomore in animal sciences and industry; Cara Nick, senior in animal sciences and industry, and Anne Krauss, senior in agricultural journalism will be the masters of ceremonies.

No admission fee will be charged and programs designed in part by art students will be available. A sale of K-State-bred bulls will follow the

FOR LEASE OR SALE

Brittnay Ridge Estates

Exciting NEW Townhouse Development For STUDENTS Only

- 4 bedrooms 2½ baths
- All appliances (including clothes
- washer, dryer and microwave) 236 parking spaces

 Recreation area Pre-wired for computer,

Gazebo with hot tub

phone and cable TV.

776-5599

Limited number of Units

DAN WEIR COMPANY

2601 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66502 913/776-5599 • Fax 913/776-3805

WE PRINT

EVERY CAN.

AL WIND-UP

WE ARE GOING OUT OF BUSINESS Selling Out All Merchandise Throughout BOTH Stores

> SPECIAL SALE HOURS OPEN TONIGHT UNTIL 9:00 P.M. SATURDAY 9:30 A.M. UNTIL 5:30 P.M.

weekends

MENS SPORTSWEAR

2 FINE STORES

LOCATED IN—WESTLOOP SHOPPING CENTER—MANHATTAN

GREAT $300,000 GOING OUT OF BUSINESS SALE

INVOLVING EVERY ARTICLE THROUGHOUT BOTH STORES

OUR RESUME ON

If Budweiser is already your regular beer we'd like to say thanks for the business. If it's not, then we'd like to apply for the job. Of course our resume can only tell you who we are. To discover just how good we taste, we suggest you set up a personal interview.

Bud and Bud Light Cans on Sale Now.

REGULAR TO $48.00

LADIES' SKIRTS

One large lot ladies'better made skirts by famous makers, excellent styles and fabrics. Out they go at ...

$4 Q88

REGULAR TO $57.50 MEN'S SLACKS

in the wanted styles, fabrics, etc. from famous makers. Out they go at ...

088

HUNDREDS—HUNDREDS MORE BARGAINS NEVER MENTIONED! REG. TO $198.00 LADIES'

REG. TO $30.00 MEN'S SPORT SHIRTS One lot. Excellent styles, fabrics.

Famous makers. Hurry! Out at ... $12<sup>88</sup>

DRESSES

NOW EEO/OFF LEAST JJ /O ALL ITEMS SUBJECT

REG. TO $45.00 LADIES' BLOUSES One lot in the wanted fabrics,

TO PRIOR SALE!

REG. TO $62.00 LADIES' SEPARATES

ALL SALES FINAL!

slacks. Better maker. Out at . . . $26<sup>88</sup>

REG. $40.00 LADIES' ACTIVE WEAR

$1488

REG. $30.00 MEN'S KNIT SPORT SHIRTS One lot. Short sleeve. Choice of ENTIRE STOCK MEN'S COLE-HAAN SHOES AT GOING OUT OF BUSINESS PRICES!

MEN'S SPORT COATS One large lot in the better styles, fabrics from Austin

Reed, Corbin, etc. Hurry! Out at ...

Men's Sport Coats, Slacks, Jeans, Dress Shirts, Sweaters, Sport Shirts, Jackets, Belts, Shorts, Swimsuits, Socks, Sweats, Underwear, Tuxedos, Shoes; Ladies' Skirts, Blouses, Dresses, Sweaters, Sweats, Belts, Purses, Jewelry, Jackets, Separates, lacks AND MUCH MORE!

REGULAR TO $125.00 MEN'S 100% COTTON SWEATERS

Jeff, Byford. Out they go at ... NOW

FAMOUS BRANDS

Hart, Schaffner & Marx, Austin Reed, Corbin, Cole-Haan, Boston Traders, Career Club, Ruff-Hewn, River City Trading, Byford, C.C. Sport, Interwoven, Leslie Fay, Rafaella, New Line, that's me!, Phoebe, Jeffrey & Dara Mizz Lizz, EMO, AND MANY MORE!

COLLEGIAN

Monday, April 9, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 128

Contestants use bats to direct the pigs to stay between them and the judge during the pig showmanship part of the 62nd Annual Little American Royal Saturday in Weber Arena. The showmanship contest was sponsored by the Block & Bridle and Dairy Science Club.

Show benefits students

Little American Royal gives training, awards, scholarships to contestants

By Samantha Farr Collegian Reporter

As a mild breeze blows through a door at the edge of the dusty arena, the Angus steer on the end of a lead rope moves around restlessly. The young man holding the lead reaches over and scratches the animal between the ears.

The time has come. The man guides the steer into the arena, positions himself and the animal in line with the other showmen and looks seriously at the inquiring judge pacing in front of him and the others. Such was a familiar scene at the 62nd Annual Little American Royal Saturday in Weber Arena. The showmanship contest was sponsored by Block & Bridle and the Dairy Science Club.

The LAR is an opportunity for students to learn about the livestock industry through a fitting and showing contest. Judging is based on preparation and handling of the animal. grand and reserve grand champion showmen are selected for each species.

The show is student-operated and offers experience in leadership and teamwork to the students involved in its operation. In 1924, the LAR originated

See related story/Page 8

as an exhibition of K-State livestock. Within four years, it evolved into a contest open to any K-State student.

"I was nervous," said Loma

Wade, junior in animal sciences and industry and reserve grand champion beef showman. "There's not really anything you can do to not be. But winning isn't the point, it's the participating in it that is." Three weeks ago, students chose their preferred category from beef cattle, dairy cattle, horse, sheep and swine. They drew from a hat to determine which University animal they

■ See LAR, Page 11

Jeff Houck, sophomore in animal sciences and industry, trims a bull's hair at the start of the tail in preparation for showing at the Little American Royal. The animal's coat receives extensive grooming with hairspray, scissors and brushes to improve the lines of the animal.

Senate funds late applicant

Black Student Union receives requested budget allocation

By Kirk Caraway Staff Reporter

After a marathon nine-hour meeting, Student Senate Thursday night voted to continue funding for Black Student Union.

After spending nearly two hours discussing increases in BSU's postage and travel budgets, engineering senator Todd Giefer moved an amendment to cut the group's allocation of $843.90. Giefer said their funding should be terminated because they turned in their budget request late to Finance Committee.

"We need to follow guidelines," Giefer said. "These people were two weeks late.'

"If these people don't have the responsibility to turn their budget in on time, will they have the responsibility to do the things they say they will with this money?" said Amy Moats, business senator, in support of Giefer's amendment.

Opposition to this amendment came from senators who believed the lateness of the request was a trivial matter and did not affect the allocation process.

"I don't see dropping this group just because they were late," said Stacy Lacy, engineering senator. "We're not here to be picky about the rules and by-laws, we're here to help the students.'

"This is a trivial thing we're focused on," said Todd Johnson, student body president. "Let's stick to the big picture."

"If they're late, they don't get funded," said Travis Stumpff, arts and sciences senator. "We don't play favorites. We play by the rules.'

"We don't care about our constituents, we care about rules." said Dwayne Lively, graduate senator. "People are what's important."

After two more hours of debate, Senate voted down Giefer's amendment by a vote of 29-17, with five abstentions. BSU's final tentative allocation of $843.90 plus $800 in honorariums passed by voice vote.

A tentative allocation of $30,639 for Student Legal Services was also passed. Senate moved into executive session three times to discuss a proposed salary increase for student's attorney Dianne Urban. Finance committee's recommendation of $31,500 per year was cut down to $29,400, an increase of $720 over last year.

Senate also allocated funds for Students Acting to Save a Vulnerable Environment (SAVE) and Touchstone, a literary magazine. SAVE was given $912.40, which is a reduction from Finance Committee's recommendation of $1,572.40. Touchstone magazine was allocated $500 to help cover the publication's print-

Senate declares opposition to fee

By The Collegian Staff

Student Senate passed a resolution Thursday night opposing the implementation of a $15 per-credithour fee for classes in the College of

During open period, Donald Rathbone, dean of the College of Engineering, told Senate the fee was needed to pay for maintenance of equipment and to help the college to keep up with its peer institutions.

"I see everybody going up when we're going down," Rathbone said. "Except for the University of Kansas, we're at the bottom of the barrel (in terms of equipment fees)."

Rathbone said although the college has been successful in getting donations of equipment from corporations, the estimated $400,000 the fee would bring in is needed to help with maintenance. Several senators from the College of Engineering later expressed their reservations about the fee during debate on the resolution. "I don't think all the facts have been stated," said Todd Giefer, junior in architectural engineering. "We're setting a precedent of changing the fee system of the entire University," said Stacy Lacy, sophomore in computer engineering. "We need to hold off and consider other options." The resolution states that the fee should not be implemented at this time and that students should have more information and input before the enactment of the fee.

Questions trouble legislative session

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA - What a strange and troubling 90 working days they were for the Kansas House of Representatives.

The 1990 Legislature's regular session ended early Sunday with a weird twist. The House rejected a version of a proposed welfare department budget that was identical, down to the commas, to one it previously approved. It garnered 79 votes on March 20 but only 55 votes Sunday morning, less than three weeks later.

The rest of the final hours were typical of the session: arguments about who was playing games and who was abusing the legislative process and the refusal of dissident House Republicans to stand with their party's elected leaders.

For some members, the 1990 session was a bad one for the House. There have always been snickers about the chamber's freewheeling style, its propensity for silliness. But an underlying theme throughout the session was whether the House is deteriorating as an institution and whether it will be able to function in the future.

"I love the House of Representatives as an institution," said Speaker Jim Braden, R-Clay Center. "I am concerned when it appears that some members don't conduct themselves in the way that would give the House the good image it should have."

During the 1990 legislative session, it became common to see small groups of members gathering at the microphone discussing how the chamber's rules should be applied or interpreted while debate was completely suspended.

In past sessions, motions to pull from committee bills that have not had hearings or not been acted upon were relatively uncommon. This past session, about a dozen such motions were offered, four in a single day.

There were other signs: On Feb. 28, the House Transportation Committee took a Senateapproved vehicle fee bill and turned it into a parental notification abortion bill. Anti-abortion lawmakers defended the tactic as necessary to get a bill to the floor for debate, but the action made a mockery of a process in which legislation is assigned to committees with expertise on certain

 On March 30, dissident Republicans forced a premature debate on Braden's property tax relief plan and succeeded in killing it. Braden protested by urging supporters to vote against his plan, and the debate turned bitter and personal.

On April 3, the House met late and rejected a proposed cigarette and liquor tax increase, in a messy and noisy debate. When some members shouted noes when a member at-

■ See HOUSE, Page 14

Weekend event draws 20,000

Tim Schinsky, senior in architecture, and Rhonda Rentfro, sophomore in architecture, carve ice during Open House activities

Recruiting, reuniting, realizing make University open house 'more intense'

By Shannan Seely Collegian Reporter

The "three R's" - recruiting students, reuniting alumni and realizing what K-State has to offer came together Saturday at All-University Open House.

"I am overwhelmed by all of the enthusiasm," said Pat Bosco, dean of student life. "This year's open house was more intense."

Most of the 20,000 visitors first went to the K-State Union for general information. Before opening their maps to plot the day's destinations, they were bombarded by people and displays competing for their

Students, faculty and staff answered questions and passed out literature about living groups, colleges, departments, clubs and Manhattan events.

While people walked around in the Union, they could buy ice cream, take free balloons and watch demonstrations on everything from shaping clay to filling out financial aid forms.

Some visitors were alumni who reunited at open house.

Class of 1940 members Doris Watkins, Topeka, and Bill Keogh, Palo Alto, Calif., listened to entertainment in the Union Courtyard while waiting for two friends.

Donald Brown, Philadelphia, and Ralph Marshall, Topeka, arrived and joined their classmates. "This is the famous Ralph Marshall who played K-State football when they were Big Six Champions and beat schools like Nebraska," Keogh said.

He said they enjoyed getting together during open house.

"We love the place and have a lot to do with what's going on at the University," Keogh said. Brown said he was in Steel Ring with Keogh when one of their chemical engineering demonstrations went awry.

"It turned out to make a 24-foot halo of fire that burned a woman's fur coat," he said. "We did things then that you can't do now."

Brown said the displays are more sophisticated now than while he was in college.

"They are more eye-catching," he said. "We tried to educate and that doesn't work today. People don't want to be educated, they want to be entertained." ■ See OPEN, Page 14

World

Qatar frees 57 prisoners

DOHA, Qatar (AP) - The emir of Qatar, Sheik Khalifa bin Hamad al-Thani, on Sunday ordered that 57 prisoners be freed to mark the holy month of Ramadan, the official Qatar News Agency reported.

It is customary for leaders of Islamic countries to release prisoners in honor of Moslem holidays.

The world's 1 billion Moslems fast from dawn to dusk during Ramadan. The three-day Eid al-Fitr feast that marks the end of the holiday is expected to fall this year around April 26, depending when the new moon is sighted.

China's workforce declines

BEIJING (AP) - China's urban workforce declined by 1.5 million in the first two months of 1990, with smaller collective firms showing the largest loss of workers, an official daily said

The drop in working people continued a yearlong slump in the labor market caused by government austerity measures that have curbed inflation but brought economic growth to a

Millions of factories around the country have closed down or are operating at a reduced pace because of a lack of raw materials and operating funds.

The China Daily, quoting State Statistical Bureau figures, said the workforce stood at 136 million at the end of February, down 1.5 million from the end of 1989.

Novelist wins first round

LIMA, Peru (AP) - Celebrated novelist Mario Vargas Llosa won the first round of presidential elections Sunday, but he fell far short of the majority needed to avoid a runoff, according to unofficial projections.

Rebels trying to sabotage the elections attacked some polling stations in Lima with dynamite Sunday, but no one was reported injured. Weekend guerrilla violence in Peru killed at least 26 people and wounded 43, authorities said.

The Maoist Shining Path has assassinated six congressional candidates and killed or wounded dozens of other people in recent weeks, aiming to disrupt the election.

Vargas Llosa, 54, of the center-right Democratic Front coalition, has run on a free-market ticket. He said the results showed voters had rejected leftist policies and the governing left-of-center Aprista Party for its "catastrophic five years in government."

Nation

Mass slaying ends in 3 arrests

DETROIT (AP) - Police investigating the gangland-style slayings of six people at a reputed crack house arrested two men and an 18-year-old woman who is accused of being the head killer, authorities said Sunday.

Tamara Marie Marshall, 18, of Detroit was arrested Saturday in the city's worst mass slaying in 19 years. The two other suspects, ages 19 and 20, were arrested Sunday, said police spokesman John Leavens.

All three were arrested without incident, he said.

The names of the two men were withheld until warrants were issued. All three were expected to be arraigned Monday on six counts of murder, Leavens said.

Police denied that the killings were motivated by a soured love affair between Marshall and one of the victims, Steven Owens, 32.

Violent crime rises 5 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) - Violent crime in the United States rose 5 percent last year while so-called serious property crimes such as burglary and theft were up only 2 percent, according to figures released Sunday by FBI Director William S. Sessions.

Overall, the 3 percent increase in serious crimes from 1988 to 1989 was the same as the previous year, and compares with a 2 percent rise in 1987, a 6 percent jump in 1986 and a 5 percent rise in 1985, the FBI said.

Cities with populations over 50,000 - places where approximately 80.9 million people live — showed a 3 percent increase

Suburban and rural areas as well as cities outside metropolitan areas - places where some 132.2 million people live had a slightly smaller 2 percent increase.

Farm Aid raises $1.3 million

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Farm Aid IV, a concert to help the American family farmer, raised at least $1.3 million, a spokeswoman said Sunday after the Saturday night event featuring such stars as Elton John and Bonnie Raitt.

A sellout crowd of about 45,000 people at the Hoosier Dome heard more than 60 musicians - including John, Raitt, Lyle Lovett and the band Crosby, Stills and Nash - perform in the concert lasting nearly 14 hours.

Donations for the fourth Farm Aid concert were still being tallied Sunday, and final figures will not be released until Monday, said Farm Aid spokeswoman Linda Lewi. As of Saturday, $1.3 million had been raised, she said.

Rock star John Mellencamp, who helped organize the concert, said work for the American family farmer remains unfinished and that Farm Aid, born 51/2 years ago, will continue to try to influence federal farm policy.

F-4 fighter crash injures ·2

ST. LOUIS, MO (AP) - Two St. Louis men were injured when an F-4 fighter jet veered off a runway during takeoff Sunday at Lambert Airport and burst into flames, authorities Pilot Karl Arizpea and 1st Lt. Kevin Greenley, a weapons system operator, both ejected from the plane. They were in good condition at DePaul Health Center, said Brigadier Gen. James Renschen, wing commander at Lambert.

The Missouri Air National Guard jet was on a routine training mission when the incident occurred. It was trying to take off when it veered off the runway and across a grass island. "It never got off the ground," Raynesford said. "Somewhere along there a fire started, but we're not sure where." The fire started in the plane's gas tank, Renschen said.

Firefighters extinguished the fire, which sent smoke into the sky which was seen for several miles. Airport operations were back to normal by about 11:40 a.m.,

Raynesford said. The crash happened on the western most runway of the airfield.

Toddler sexually assaulted

WICHITA (AP) - An 18-month-old girl was in serious condition Sunday at a hospital after being sexually assaulted in southeast Wichita, authorities said.

Police have arrested an 18-year-old man in connection with the assault, which took place at a home early Saturday.

The man had visited the home while two teen-age girls were watching several children from the neighborhood, police said. The suspect's name has not been released.

CAMPUS BULLETIN Announcements

- Alcoholics Anonymous meets at 12:05 p.m. every Monday through Friday at Ecumenical Campus Ministry, 1021 Denison Ave.
- Deadline for registering for the LSAT is May 11. See Nancy Twiss in Eisenhower 113 for registration information.
- Applications for Arts and Sciences Student of the Semester are due Friday in Eisenhower 113.
- College of Business Ambassador Applications are available in Calvin 107 and are due by 5 p.m. Friday.

Monday

- Alcoholic Students Helping Alcoholic Students will meet at 9 p.m. in Lafene 231.
- Convocation Lecture Series will present "Exploring Truth: Art in a Political World" at 10:30 a.m. in McCain Auditorium.
- Water Ski Team will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 206.
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Rong Jun Li at 3 p.m. in Durland 236. The topic is "Multiple Objective Decision Making in a Fuzzy Environment."
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Keith L. Miller at 1 p.m. in Bluemont 364. The topic is "Assessing Organizational Effectiveness of Community College Continuing Education with Emphasis on the Adult Learner."
- Alpha Zeta will meet at 7 p.m. in Call 205.
- Ag Communicators of Tomorrow will meet at 8 p.m. in Waters 135.
- Manuel L. Abellan, professor at the University of Amsterdam, will lecture on official and unofficial censorship in Spanish literature and society at 4 p.m. in Union 207. The lecture will be in Spanish.
- College of Business Ambassadors will meet at 6 p.m. in Calvin 107. The internship committee will meet afterward.
- Chimes Junior Honorary will meet at 9 p.m. at Amigo's.
- Gay/Lesbian Singles Club will meet. Call 537-8913 for more information.
- Alpha Chi Sigma will meet at 7 p.m. upstairs in Willard Hall.
- Business Council will meet at 4 p.m. in Union 213.

CORRECTION

In the April 6 edition of the Collegian, the wrong headline was placed above an article on African Night. The headline that appeared was for an article regarding negotiations in South Africa. The Collegian regrets the error.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, mostly cloudy and windy. A 50 percent chance for showers and thunderstorms. High in the mid-60s. Southerly winds 15 to 25 mph becoming northerly 15 to 25 mph during the afternoon. Tonight, mostly cloudy Cooler with low around 40.

Some Students Don't Need A BANK IV Student Loan.

Studious

"I discovered heretofore unidentified organic compounds in ordinary dorm food which I processed to propel a spaceship the size of Duluth to the Andromeda galaxy and back..." On one hand: Won every scholarship known to humanity. On the other: Needs money only to buy pocket protector and dental floss.

(12 simultaneous part time jobs. Too busy to talk.) On one hand: Learns value of a dollar. On the other: Collapses of exhaustion 2 weeks before graduation.

"$69.95 for one book?!? Used!?!

On one hand: Could qualify for a

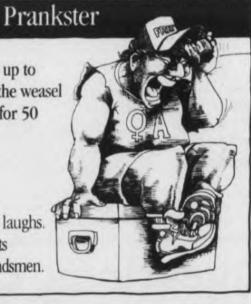

On the other: Hasn't applied yet.

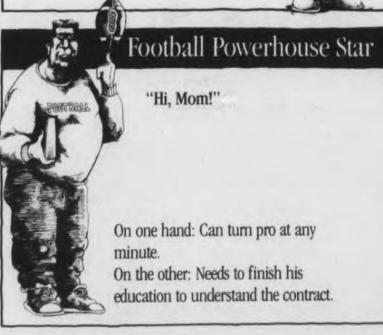

BANK IV Student Loan.

"... and then we'll get up to their campus, steal the weasel mascot, and hold it for 50 kegs ransom."

On one hand: Lots of laughs. On the other: All assets controlled by bail bondsmen.

A BANK IV Student Loan Isn't For Everybody.

But it's probably right for you. 'Cause BANK IV believes in you. And in the future you're building for yourself. So if you need money for school, send us this coupon. We'll send you complete details.

BANK IV Educational Loan Department / P.O. Box 1318 / Wichita, KS 67201 / (316) 261-2103 or 1(800) 283-LOAN

Diversity in dance

Choreography in spotlight as students, faculty, guest perform in McCain Auditorium

By Melissa Simpson Staff Reporter

The lights dimmed, the crowd quieted and the curtain rose on the Saturday performance of Spring Dance '90.

Twelve students, three dance faculty members and one guest performer waited patiently for music to begin at 8 p.m. so they could display their choreographed pieces to an au-dience of about 200 people in McCain Auditorium.

The first 12 performers, all female, took the stage to an upbeat number. In the piece, "Ascension," the dancers performed in unison as shadows against the backstage wall were illuminated by a blue light.

Following "Ascension," Bill Bissell, artist-in-residence, and Leslie Buerk, senior in architecture, performed "Steps Together." The dancers pushed platform stairs around the stage as they chased each other, trying to end up side by side. It commit to each other. In the end they hugged and fell behind the pushed-together stairs. Softer music floated through McCain during "Passages." This number featured four ballet was as if they were a young couple in love but afraid to dancers: Cathy Hogan, junior in architectural engineering; Marian Petersen, senior in elementary education; Christine Rome, junior in dance; and Mitzi Sneath, sophomore in dance.

'This piece was about passing through time and the changes you encounter," Rome said. "We rehearsed once a week for two hours on this piece. As the concert got closer, we rehearsed more frequently after classes and whenever we

All the numbers were demanding, and perfecting the moves made each one of them technically difficult, she said. Modern dance numbers were just as difficult as ballet numbers, because the dancers had to focus on portraying the meaning each choreographer wanted.

"The choreographer chooses the type of music he wants the dancers to perform to, so the music varies in tempo speeds, either fast or slow," she said. "I like both speeds of music, and in faster tempos, you have to worry about making the transitions from movement to movement smooth enough so the audience will enjoy the piece as a whole."

Guest performer Rachael

Marian Petersen, senior in education, and Mitzi Sneath, sophomore in dance, prepare for Spring Dance '90 Thursday in McCain Auditorium. About 200 people watched Saturday's performance.

Warren took the stage next in "A Lost Ago," a short piece of modern dance featuring music by Don Henley and Glenn Frey.

Judith Quirk Chitwood, instructor of dance, was featured as the lead-in dancer for "C.C.R. & B." She entered the stage in an all white, full-skirted dress and danced to a song by Creedence Clearwater Revival. After her solo, she was joined by six other dancers who performed to music by John

After the intermission, a large screen the entire length and width of the stage was erected for a piece titled "Ad Astra." A slide show of dimensional structures and symbols was projected onto the screen. Dancers began to move behind the screen to music of crickets, automobile sounds and the

Michael Townsley, junior in dance, said the screen changed the appearance of things, but because it was transparent, the audience could still see faces and shapes.

Two faster-tempo pieces followed. "Purple Haze," featuring Quirk Chitwood and Liz Leon Ernst, instructor of dance, was performed before "Calm, Cool and Collective."

In "Calm, Cool and Collective," the dancers wore black leotards with pink, purple, green and blue strips of material that were attached on their backs and stretched to their arms.

Three male dancers ended Spring Dance '90. Bissell, Townsley and Jeffrey Cowgill, freshman in arts and sciences, performed a number to music by New Order.

Spring Dance '90 was also presented Friday evening to a smaller crowd. A reception followed Friday's performance, giving the audience a chance to talk to dancers and the faculty.

Ryan White dies at 18 after fight with AIDS

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS - Ryan White, who won a long court battle to attend public school and overcame prejudice against himself and other AIDS victims, lost his 51/2 -year struggle with the deadly disease on Sunday. He was 18.

White died shortly after 7 a.m. at Riley Hospital for Children, where he had been hospitalized since March 29 with an AIDS-related respiratory infection. He had been heavily sedated and on a ventilator.

White's mother, Jeanne, and sister, Andrea, 16, had kept a bedside vigil, joined at times by celebrities such as singer Elton John and the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

Dr. Martin B. Kleiman, White's physician throughout his illness, said death followed a slow deterioration that had begun Saturday.

"At the end, his family and a few of the others who loved him were close at his side," Kleiman said. "He never regained consciousness, and I am confident that he suffered no pain at the end."

Carrie Van Dyke, a spokeswoman for Jeanne White, said the family needed "time to be alone, to recover, to grieve."

John, who stayed at the hospital with the Whites nearly a week, dedicated the song "Candle in the Wind" to White during the Farm Aid IV concert Saturday night at the Hoosier Dome, about a mile from the hospital.

"This one's for Ryan," John said to the cheers of 45,000 fans at the concert to raise funds for financially troubled farmers.

President Bush, who last week planted a tree in White's honor in downtown Indianapolis, said he and his wife, Barbara, were "deeply saddened" by White's death.

"All Americans are impressed by his courage, strength and his ability to continue fighting," Bush said in a statement. "Ryan's death reaffirms that we as a people must pledge to continue the fight, his fight, against this dreaded disease."

White was 13 when he was diagnosed with AIDS in December 1984. He had contracted acquired immune deficiency syndrome through a

Ag research receives criticism

By Tammy Breitenbach Collegian Reporter

Dean of the College of Agriculture Walter Woods says University agricultural researchers are doing all they can to help Kansas farmers, but a recent report by The Kansas Rural Center claims it is not enough.

The report is the work of a 19-member committee formed in 1988 to urge K-State to increase its research of a system that would reduce farmers' purchased inputs, conserve and replenish soil and water, and maintain profitable, diversified family farms.

"The committee is concerned that this research does not represent an innovative approach to sustainable agriculture, but appears instead to be old research with new funding sources that addresses mostly incremental conservation concerns," said Fred Bentley, a spokesman for the

"The committee is pleased with the quality of research in these projects as they relate to the sustainability and conservation needs of farming," Bentley said, "but we would like to see a greater coordinated systems-wide approach to KSU's total ag research in the future."

The University cannot possibly do everything, Woods said.

"We have regular discussions with groups such as this one that provide input into the system," Woods said. We find that a lot of people are extremely pleased with our program that's underway, but there are those who say, 'You need to do a little more of this, or a little more of something else.'

"What we try to do within the resources that are available, the talent and interest of the faculty, and the facilities that are available, is to encourage certain kinds of research programs," he said. "But it's a balancing act rather than being able to absolutely say, 'We should do all of this or all of the other."

Among projects the report praised were research on legume-grain sorghum rotations, soybean oil soap for insect control, biological control of Russian wheat aphid, reduced-tillage weed management, and microbial

See RURAL, Page 14 blood-clotting agent.

T-Bone for Two

Monday Specials Month of April

16 oz. T-Bone (choice of Salad or Potato)

$7.95 $14.95

Cut on Primes, No Waiting, Every Monday, Don't Miss It! 539-2651 while supplies last Village Plaza Shopping Center

Westloop Shopping Center 776-6864

Computer Furniture Machine Stands

10-20% OFF

with Vista Drive In

YOUR FAVORITE SPECIALS from 8 p.m. to closing Sunday-Thursday.

APRIL 8-12:

Sale thru April 14

SHUTTLE SERVICE ----TO KCI"

CHEDULE 7:30 am 5:00 am 4:45 am 7.15 am 9:45 am 11:00 am 8:30 am 1:00 pm 1:00 pm 3:30 pm 5:30 pm 9:00 pm 10:30 am 10:15 am 12:45 pm 3:15 pm 3:00 pm 6:15 pm 3:30 pm 8:30 pm 8:15 pm 10:45 pm

1:00 am

KCI PICK-UP POINTS: Terminal A - Gate

erminal B - Gate 40 Terminal C - Gate 63

FARES

Reservations required

	One Way	Round Trip
ADULT	$25.00	$45.00
MILITARY	20.00	40.00
SENIORS (62 yrs +)	20.00	40.00
CHILDREN (3-12)	10.00	20.00
Children under 2	FREE	FREE

Free Hotel pick-up/drop

539-2284

1-800-383-2817

Or contact your travel agent Pickups also in Junction City and Fort Riley

Owners: John & Susan Furney Town East Shopping Center 463 East Poyntz Manhattan, KS 66502

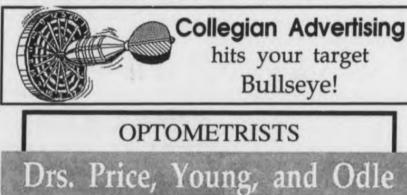

1:15 am

The Quality Name in Airport Transportation

·Doctor in office for free consultation Designer frames available ·Manhattan's finest optical showroom-1 day service on many RXs ·Prescriptions filled

1119 Westloop Place, Manhattan, 537-1118

EDITORIAL

Last Temptation doesn't threaten faith was tempted Thursday and let myself enter a large room with many chairs. I sat and was bathed in a bright, supposedly evil light for almost three hours. I had believed in God before, but after I saw the light I - well, I still believed in God as strongly as ever.

I couldn't resist the temptation, being the less-than-divine human that I am, to see "The Last Temptation of Christ." It is a tempting movie, considering all the controversy. My home town, like many others, didn't show the film in theaters. Now many video stores won't carry it. But thanks to K-State's openmindedness, we finally had the opportunity to see the movie and decide for ourselves if it was worth all the hubbub. It's not. It's just another movie.

A group of about five protesters sat in wait outside the Union Forum Hall before the show, trying to save students from the hands of Satan. The logic of one of the protesters' signs went something like: we pay taxes, our taxes fund the University, the University is for students, and thus the spiritual well-being of our students is our concern.

One of the previously unfounded truths I had held about the "Last Temptation" protesters was that the vast majority of them haven't even seen the movie. Like any allencompassing truth, it probably wasn't true, but I had to find out for myself.

I asked them, and sure enough, at least the protesters I spoke with hadn't seen the film. They said they read the script instead, because they would not financially support anything that promotes Satan. Well, okay. But John upon further discussion, it became clear that the script upon which the protesters were basing their arguments was in fact only a book of excerpts from the script. The book didn't place things in context, but only explained the "objectionable" parts of the movie. The fact that the protesters' arguments were based on an incomplete source only made me want to see the film more. As I left to go into the theater, one of the protesters called, "We are praying. We have hundreds of people praying that Satan's hands will be tied during the showing, and that he won't be able to reach God's naive children inside the

I just had to see the film then.

The movie is a story based on the life of a well-known character in history called Jesus Christ. The difference between "Last Temptation" and the biblical accounts of Christ is that the movie speculates on the human side of Jesus. It explores what the Bible does not mention — his thoughts when he realizes he is the son of God and his reaction to the realization of his mission.

Of course, the fact that Jesus happens to be the son of God is what makes the movie so of thorns — I would imediately run into the controversial. In spite of that, the movie as a whole is not revolting, when one remembers that it is fiction, and when one takes it with a grain (or bucket) of salt. As a matter of fact, it did nothing but drive me closer to God.

God sent Jesus to Earth as the savior, but also as a teacher. For mortal humans to take his lessons seriously, he had to be a human being. It seems that divine as Jesus was, because he was human it would make sense that he would carry the same human characteristics as the rest of us - in addition to embodying God's infinite power and wisdom. That is a big responsibility.

Any human would naturally show some apprehension at the discovery that he was the savior of the world. If I realized that I was the son of God, destined to save the world - to have nails driven through my hands and feet and die of suffocation while wearing a crown bering that the movie was fictional, it was reasuring to think that Jesus might have reacted in the same way as any human.

Many think that since Jesus was born the son of God, he should have always known who he was, and what he had to do. One of the problems some have with the movie is it gives the impression that he didn't know, and that he had to discover this over the course of his life. People assume from the Bible that Jesus knew his mission, and accepted it, from birth. But if he did, why would he need to go into the desert for 40 days and nights to be tempted by Satan? If Jesus already knew who he was, he would have nothing to prove.

eing the savior of the world is a mammoth undertaking - hard for any human to swallow. "Naw, man, it can't be me; I must be getting the wrong idea!" A possible explaination for Jesus' desert journey is that, as the film suggests, he was unsure he was really Christ, and needed to prove it to himself. The Bible doesn't actually explain this, thus leaving it open to discussion.

The film's speculations were believable, but I did think it went too far during the last temptation scene. The Bible says that while on the cross, Jesus screamed out, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?" The woods and pass a large brick. Still, remem- film follows this with a reckoning of Christ's thoughts after he exclaims his frustration. The next 30-some minutes make up the "Last Temptation."

> Jesus imagines what it would be like to not be Christ — to live a normal life. He marries Mary Magdalene, has children and grows old. On his death bed in the dream, he realizes that it was all the work of Satan, and asks God to return him to the cross to complete his mission. This scene was too long and probably should have been omitted, as it ruined the premise of the rest of the movie.

It was especially disgusting to watch Jesus Christ make mad, passionate love to Mary Magdalene. Granted, Jesus was human, but by this time he had realized that he was, in fact, Christ. I think Christ would have left out, or at least toned down, his imagination of

A better movie would have left out the last temptation, and only had Jesus think humanly of what life would have been like. A different title would have been in order, but the movie would have been much easier to re-

Not counting the sex, though, protesters need not be worried. "The Last Temptation of Christ" was nothing but a thought-provoking, semi-boring, fictional movie.

Union decision to show film deserves praise

officials to allow protestors to demonstrate their opposition to the movie "The Last Temptation of Christ" outside Forum Hall during its Wednesday and Thursday showings was a good one.

It provided those attending the movie an opportunity to see both sides of the controversy which kept the movie out of theaters across the country.

Ironically, the decison also provided those who would limit freedom of expression the opportunity to express their views.

"The Last Temptation of Christ," based on the novel of the same name by Greek author Nikos Kazantzakas, explores the humanity of Jesus through a last temptation sequence that occurs while Jesus is being crucified.

That's what the controversy is about. That a person would, in a novel or in a film, dare to imagine

The decision by K-State Union what Jesus' dual nature actually was like.

> Offended by this arrogance, fundamentalist Christians have engaged in anti-Semitic attacks on the film's producers and threatened theaters, cable networks and video stores with boycotts and

Lost in all this is the true meaning of the protests against the movie. If the protestors had their way, anyone who could make enough noise and could get enough people to agree would be the final arbitrator of what is read, seen or heard in

The one thing stopping this from happening is the First Amendment, which provides for individual freedom within a mass society.

And so, in the Union last week was played out the most important drama - the temptation to destroy freedom while enjoying it.

All dressed up, and no one to fight I FIGHT THE

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

	News Staff
EDITOR	Erwin Sel
MANAGING EDITOR	Paula Selt
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR	Catherine Dou
NEWS EDITOR	Craig Hamrie
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Eric Hen
PHOTO EDITOR	Brad Cam
SPORTS EDITOR	Chris Ha
	Ellen Dayton, Susan L'Ecuy
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Robert Sho
FEATURES EDITOR	Julie Andsag
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Tim Rou
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Chris Kog Nancy Downii
COPY CHIEF	Nancy Downin
COPY EDITORS
STAFF REPORTERS	Lori Antrim, Paul Branson, Kirk Carawa
ELLINE STORE STATE	Steve Franzen, Cosima Hadidi, Lori Mikese
	Tomari Quinn, Melissa Simpso
SCIENCE REPORTER	Bryan Ackle
STAFE PHOTOGRAPHERS
	Mark Laffingwell David Maure Miles Vance Chaire Wales
CHORTS REPORTERS	Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan Wick
COLLANICIS	Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan Wick  Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan Wick  Karin Dell'Antonia, Audra Diel  Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Mussman, Brad Seabou  Mark Butler, Rod Gillesp  Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggi
COLUMNO 13	Jana Leen, Dwayne Lively, John Mussman, Brad Seabou
DEVIEWEDS	Mark Butler, Rod Gilleson
KEYIEWEN	Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggi
CTRID CARTOONTETE	Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hayde
EDITORIAL CARTOONIST	Richard Broadfo
EDITORIAL CARTOONED	Julie Andsager, Ellen Dayton, Catherine Dou
EDITORIAL BOARD	Craig Hamrick, Eric Henry, Chris Koge
	Susan L'Ecuyer, John Musaman, Jim Rour
	Erwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svohoo
	Kirk Carawa
1.0 vertising Staff
ADVERTISING MANAGER	Sara Shuth
ACCICTANT MANACED	Dan Golde
CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Me
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER	Johan Ko
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXEC	UTIVES Debbie Dinges, Rence Harol
	Paul Heier, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggie
	Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zie
CRAPILIC ARTISTS	Laura Boone, Paul Flemir
DITOTOCPARITERS	Oliver Kaubisch, Cary Lyt
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS	Dana Franklin, Tammy Gin
nuthinitia instruction in the control of the contro	Doug Griffith, Tammi Land
Student	Publications Staff
	Ron Johnson
DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER	Gloria Frecian
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR	Anda Puntos
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR	Ann Fost
BUSINESS MANAGER	Jackie Harmo
OFFICE MANAGER	Linda Weather
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER	Complete State of the State of
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT	Connie Fulkeno
NEWS PRODUCTION COORDINATOR
A CALCULATE IN C. DIRECTOR STATE OF CONTROL OF THE SECOND	vvanga Havni
CARRIERS	John Fulkerson, Keith Corder, Kevin Kickhaefe
	James Seymour, Scott Sower
Inc., Kedzie Hall IIB, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegia	wspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publication in is published Monday through Friday during the school year and Mor lass postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.
POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Coan, Kan. 66506-7167.	allegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manha

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, 1913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to 1913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to 1913) 532-6555.

Aggieville resurrected

hat's hot, and what's not? That seems to be the big topic in Aggieville this spring. Suddenly, after lying dormant for more than three years, the 'Ville seems to be springing back to life.

In the last year there have been more turnovers on Moro Street than in a bad K-State basketball game. Since 1986, Aggieville has lost more than a dozen retail stores, drinking establishments and restaurants. And Dog Daze just didn't mean the annual sidewalk sale; it became a stereotype.

There were two major reasons for Aggieville's downfall.

First, the opening of Manhattan Town Center in 1987 sucked out most of the retail shops. Second, the drinking age was raised to 21 in 1986 and finally caught up with the underage population at K-State. Bar owners couldn't stay afloat because of the decline in business.

The new drinking laws excluded about 75 to 80 percent of the student body from drinking legally. There were more bars than the students who were 21 could patronize.

The new drinking age sent the men in blue out like SWAT teams to Aggieville. The Riley County Police Department stalked the dance floors and every nook and cranny with flash lights checking for fake IDs and underage drinkers. Nobody could relax with cops and the Alcoholic Beverage Control stalking the bars. Many people just said going out wasn't fun anymore.

The loss of traditional watering holes like Dark Horse, The Rockin' K, Mr. K's, Bonkers and several others took the thrill and varicty out of bar hopping for many students and residents of Manhattan.

Now, it looks as if 1990 has brought a breath of fresh business to resurrect Aggiethe survival rate appears to be good. Brent-midnight.

wood, The Loft and Lowman's, Aggieville's newest retailers, cater to upperclass shoppers and have put style and taste back in Aggieville, shunning the Manhattan Town Center chain stores.

There must be something in all that new concrete because the night life is also boasting variety once again. The two newest hangouts, Snookies and The Spot, have planted their seeds, but their chances of taking root and growing are slim. These two dance clubs will find tough competition with the expansion of the five traditional Aggieville hot Baystreet (formerly Brother's), The Forum (once Aggie Station) and Rusty's Last Chance are growing and taking patrons along with them. Auntic Mae's and Kite's haven't changed much, but their reputations as K-State traditions keep them affoat.

But will tradition last? Can old Aggieville compete with new Aggieville?

The Spot opened during spring break as Manhattan's newest rock 'n' roll dance bar. Great, but The Spot has two major disadvantages that will be the source of its demise.

I walked into The Spot opening night and was disappointed to find it only has two kinds of beer on tap and no liquor. Last call for 3.2 ville for its 100th anniversary. Six new retail alcohol is at 11:30 p.m. Without a liquor stores have come and gone in the last year and license the establishment must close at ansans still have to be 21 to purchase beer or liquor, so why not have a liquor license in the first place? Not serving liquor is like not offering unleaded gasoline at a service station. Nobody can fill

The dance floor is too small, has too much light and is too close to the tables. There are no booths or leaning rails, and the bar is too short. It's like everyone is just standing in a keg line waiting for a refill.

Snookies, Aggieville's premiere dance club, is trying its luck in the haunted loft above Baystreet - the former home of many clubs that couldn't manage to keep customers for one reason or another.

The lines at Snookies may be long now, but the bar will have to rid itself of some evil spirits to survive. The remedy will have to include something besides cheap drinks.

The high ceilings of the second-story es tablishment don't offer a very personable at mosphere for conversation, and the lack d seating, especially booths, forces customer to just stand there and drink. There's no min gling. Customers can stand in one place and see everyone who is there. So why stay? With lower ceilings, some leaning rails, new pain and more tables and booths and, of course unbeatable drink prices, Snookies could comtinue to strike real fear in the barstools across the street.

Tradition can't last forever, and the two new bars are prominent threats to old Aggie ville establishments. However, their fast stad may not last. This summer, when the moment tum slows down, only proven survival techiniques will allow them to see the fall term with lines at the door once again.

Both clubs will have to establish regular clientele and draw new customers from the old college, saloon-style atmosphere across the street to start their own, new Aggieville

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

OP/ED

Awareness increased

Editor,

Yes, last Monday's "wear blue jeans to support gay and lesbian rights day" was a trick, and the Gay and Lesbian Resource Center freely admits this. The day was not designed to promote homosexual rights, it was an exercise in discrimination staged to make people see what it is like to be laughed at, ostracized and discriminated against because of something they have no control over. All minorities, including homosexuals, African Americans, Jews and the handicapped, face discrimination on a daily basis, simply because they are different from the mainstream. In essence, the GLRC's aim was to make an unsuspecting group of K-State students part of a persecuted minority. This type of event has been successfully staged by homosexual student groups on other campuses in the past, including the University of Kansas and the University of Louisville. It is an effective way to demonstrate harassment to large numbers of people. Wendy R. Justice's letter in Tuesday's Collegian only shows that the GLRC was successful in its efforts.

In her letter, Justice complains that she was laughed at in class just because she wore jeans. Minorities face that kind of judgment from others constantly. Imagine having to live with that kind of reaction on a daily basis. Now imagine being denied a job, having your car or home vandalized, being harassed, being told you cannot marry, being physically beaten, imprisoned or even killed, just because you had worn blue jeans to school on Monday. That is the kind of treatment minorities face.

Justice also points out that there was almost no publicity surrounding the event prior to Monday. This was intentional. After all, would she have worn her jeans on Monday had she known? Probably not. Jeans are the dress of choice for most students, something that is comfortable, popular and acceptable. GLRC took that uniform and turned it into a source of shame. Had we heavily publicized the event, the suprise factor would have been lost. The most common form of dress on campus, for that day, would have become one of the least. We had to spring this on K-State unsuspected in order to drive our point home.

Another criticism we have received about blue jeans day is that the GLRC's action was akin to having a "wear blue jeans to support bashing baby seals day." We disagree. As Justice points out, "supporting a given group, any group, should be a conscious, informed decision." The GLRC totally agrees with this viewpoint. Our intentions were not to manipulate students into supporting a given cause. Our intentions were to heighten consciousness, to make people a little more aware of what it is like to be a victim.

The GLRC apologizes to anyone who was 'victimized" by our actions. But we hope we have opened a few eyes and that K-State's students now have a better idea of what it means to be a minority.

Kevyn D. Jacobs secretary, GLRC

Views unfortunate

Editor,

I would like to express my views in response to Lori Stauffer's article, "ROTC cadets counseled," which appeared in Fri-day's edition of the Collegian. I have been an active member of the Army ROTC Wildcat Battalion at K-State for the last two years. In those two years, never once have I been subjected to any form of sexism or racism as described in Stauffer's article.

The Army ROTC program at K-State consists of about 125 cadets, roughly 19 percent of which are classified as minorities, and nearly 17 percent of which are female. Selfrespect within each cadet demands a genuine consideration for those around us, and this consideration must meet the highest standards of conduct. Needless to say, I was immediately distressed, as well as overwhelmed with doubt, when I read Stauffer's article.

I believe it is quite unfortunate that the views of a few should be pulled so far out of context and then distorted even further by being stated as the beliefs of the ROTC

I wish that it could have been realized that the Wildcat Battalion takes every opportunity to make each cadet feel comfortable within the battalion. This is not a requirement, it is because we have a certain respect for each other, a respect that helps each cadet to develop a strong sense of integrity, responsibility

> J. Scott Hedge Cadet Sergeant

UFM important

I am writing to encourage the Student Senate to reinstate funding for the UFM. The attitude expressed by Finance Coordinator Barry Beck exemplifies the self-centered perspective that has become so prevalent in the past few years. Though Beck may not benefit personally from UFM, that is no reason to advocate depriving the rest of the community of the services it offers.

I am not only a student, I also live here. I an interface between the University and the have just finished teaching another class for UFM. I have had a great deal of respect for the program since its inception. The channel for communication and community-building that UFM represents continues to be a model that is emulated across the country, but apparently not in Beck's benighted corner of the planet. The implication drawn from pulling funding from UFM (while funding the College Republicans) is that the Good-Old-Boy network of fatuous greed still thrives at K-

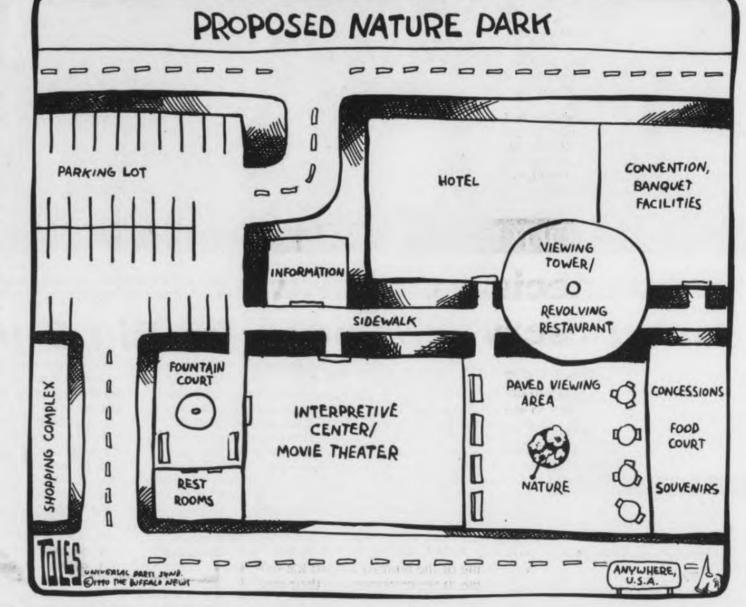

The services provided by UFM are not only of benefit to the unwashed masses in the community, they also benefit the student population. Internships are provided to students, as well as facilities. UFM also provides citizens who support it, allowing the free exchange of ideas that is the raison d'etre for land-grant universities; knowledge should not be the privilege only of those who can afford it. The benefits drawn from the relationship by both K-State and UFM are synergistic, and they allow flexibility in dealing with local issues and a forum for exploring alterplace without UFM.

poor Beck, but someone needs to be. If he insists on running at the mouth he should ex- State. pect some criticism. If he tries to deprive a community of cherished institutions, he had better be ready to defend himself. That is only common sense. My question is, who are the fools who let him have his way with us? There has always been a fringe element of students who would wall the campus in from the rest of the town (excepting Aggieville, of course), but their xenophobic attitude is not shared by the rest of us. I am afraid that Beck has set himself up as an advocate, but an advocate should be pro-something, not antisomething. Ultimately, I am quite certain that natives. Manhattan would be a much poorer common sense is not dead, and that UFM will once again enjoy the support that it so richly It may sound as though I am a little hard on deserves for the invaluable role that it plays in the life of the community ... including K-

> Robert L. Beardsley graduate in planning

Cruise Colors!

New hot tropical color Birkenstocks on sale now through April 14.

Register to win a Birkenstock fold-up beach chair to be given away.

Birkenstock

OLSON'S 1214-C Moro Aggieville

Look No Further...

I bedroom, furnished, new carpet Villa 11 526 N. 14th 310

428-430 N. 6th Gold Key 375

776-1111

PET HEALTH REMINDER

Heartworm prevention for dogs starts with an annual test to make sure your pet is not already infested.

HAVE YOUR DOG TESTED, *6

Wed., April 11, 1-4;30 p.m. Sat., April 14, 8:20-10:20 a.m.

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY MEDICAL HOSPITAL 532-5690

No Appointment Necessary -

Physical examination not included

1304 Westloop

Monday Coupon
Buy one entree and get the second of equal or less value for 99° with coupon

Not good on delivery

(not valid with any other offer)

539-8888

LARGE PIZZA ONLY $550

with One Topping

Dine In or Carry Out "BEST DAMN PIZZA"

"premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price" 523 South 17th

Room 537-1484

MUSIC.

Buffy, top hair designer specializes in long hair, and men's styling. For introduction, Buffy is offering 50% off (reg. $16) cut with style through April 14.

Call Buffy for your personal appointment.

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help. Confidential pregnancy testing Safe, affordable abortion services Birth control Tubal ligation Gyn exams Testing and Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. omprehensive Providing quality health care Tealth for Women to women since 1974. Insurance, VISA & 4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe) Mastercard accepted Overland Park, Kansas

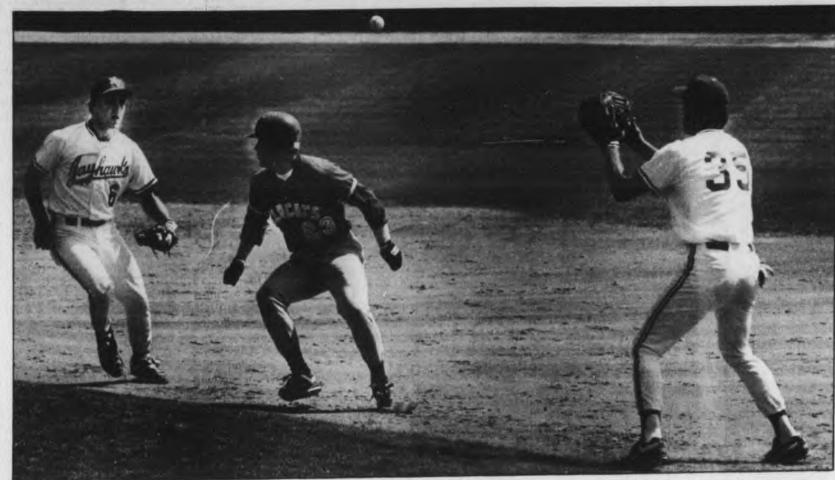

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400 Toll Free 1-800-227-1918

SPORTS MONDAY

'Cats remain in 1st place with split

most Wildcat coaches, would probably choose to deflect a

Steve Thompson have given port he needs to get things

Clark the kind of quality sup-done. Clark has two assistants ate assistant and three student while Kansas Coach Dave Bingham has two assistants, a gradu-

Three people doing the work of six. That's nothing to disre-

But the young men on the

The catcher, Dan Skala, is a

The infield, with a nice blend of youth and experience, is very solid. Sophomores Brad Rippelmeyer and Craig Wilson anchor

■ See SVOBODA, Page 7

the left side, with senior Jeff

Troll and sophomore Chris field making the hard work of Clark, Morgan and Thompson tough-as-nails senior who has consistent behind it as they struggled at the plate but is as pay off are the key to the whole shootin' match.

gard as unimpressive.

and players.

assistants.

majority of credit to his coaches

Assistants Phil Morgan and

K-State's Brian Culp gets caught in a rundown between Kansas University shortstop Dave Soult and first baseman Jim Hanna during Sunday's Jayhawk victory at Hoglund-Maupin Stadium in Lawrence. K-State was able to work a split with the 'Hawks and remained in first in the Big Eight.

Squad on record pace for Big

David Svoboda

LAWRENCE - Mike Clark was a study in emotion Sunday following K-State's series split with Kansas at Hoglund-Maupin

OFF THE BENCH

The Wildcat coach had plenty of reasons to be happy - like the 'Cats best-ever Big Eight start - but the facial expression he wore was one of a man who was anything but.

For the third straight year, Clark had seen one of his offensive catalysts go down during a series with the Jayhawks.

First it was David Chadd in 1988. Then Sean Collins went down last season. And now Kevin Kaufman was out, the victim of a shoulder separation suffered in the third game of the series Saturday night.

Clark was frustrated, and it showed. The 1989 Wildcats could have made a trip to the Big Eight Postseason tournament, most observers thought, if not for Collins' injury.

And now, with his team off to its best Big Eight start ever, Clark was seeing the wheels begin to come off the cart again.

But this is a much more stable cart than the one Clark and his team were on in 1989. And credit for that stability has to go to the driver and his passengers.

club was 6-2 and atop the Big Eight standings, his spirits appeared lifted, and a smile formed.

"We're really happy with our situation," he said. "Last year we didn't win our sixth conference game until the fifth series of the season."

There are several reasons Clark has the Wildcats sitting where they are now.

The first is Clark himself. Mike Clark is a hot commodity, but a very well-kept secret at least in these parts.

Though hampered by a limited budget and unable to award the maximum allowable number of scholarships, Clark continues to take the program forward.

During his tenure, the quality of athletes in the program has improved markedly. There is a new, fresh look to Frank Myers Field. It's fun to go to the ballpark again.

Clark has a laid-back personality that suits this area perfectly. His hard-working, quiet ways have gained the respect of many, and are a big reason As Clark remembered that his K-State was able to put together a 15-game radio package this year on WIBW. He's got the interest in the program at what may be an all-time high - at least outside the Manhattan area.

K-State was lucky to keep Clark, as Tennessee had the Iowa native as a strong candidate for its vacant job just a few months ago.

Tennessee's decision to turn elsewhere deserves a few "thank you" cards from the Wildcat fans to those in the Volunteer athletic department.

But Clark, as is the case with

Sports Reporter

By David Svoboda

LAWRENCE - The clutch hitting of Kansas catcher Mark Moore and a shoulder injury to K-State first baseman Kevin Kaufman were the only two things that kept Mike Clark's weekend from being just about perfect.

But for the K-State coach, a pair of game-winning, extra-inning hits by Moore and Kaufman's shoulder separation helped spell the difference between a Wildcat sweep and a series split.

The story from Hoglund-Maupin Stadium: K-State and Kansas each take two games of the four-game set, and the Wildcats stay on top of the Big Eight Conference.

K-State is now 6-2 in the league, leading second-place Oklahoma State by 11/2 games. The Wildcats are 16-13 overall. Kansas is 4-4 and 16-16.

"This hurts a little bit, losing a tough ballgame like this," Clark said after Sunday's 5-4 triumph by the Jayhawks in 10 innings. "But I'm just so proud of the effort our kids gave all weekend. It took two extra-inning games to beat us."

After K-State took the nineinning series opener in impressive fashion 14-3 Friday night, the teams split a Saturday night doubleheader. Kansas won the first contest 4-3 in eight innings, and K-State rebounded to win the second 6-5 in the scheduled seven frames.

It was in the third inning of the second game Saturday that Kaufman, a senior from Great Bend, was injured on a collision at home plate with KU catcher Garry Schmidt.

Kaufman had hit two homers earlier in the series and had collected a total of four hits.

The loss was a particularly tough one to swallow for Clark, who has now seen a key contributor go down in each of the last three years against

In 1988, All-American designated hitter David Chadd went down in Lawrence. Last season, All-American Sean Collins was sidelined against the Jayhawks in Manhattan. And now Kaufman is out for an undetermined period of "The doctor says it will be four weeks, but Kevin says two," Clark said. "We'll see who wins. He's a leader, and he's going to be with us. This just means someone else is going to have to step up."

It was Moore who stepped up for Kansas in games two and four of the

In Sunday's series finale, the sophomore catcher's single up the middle off of K-State reliever Greg Laddish, 0-1, scored pinch-runner Kevin Marozas with the winning

The late heroics by Moore ended a see-saw battle. After K-State took a 3-0 lead in the second, Kansas took a 4-3 lead with pairs of runs scoring in the fifth and seventh of the nine-inning contest.

In the K-State half of the ninth, however, second baseman Jeff Troll delivered a clutch, two-out double on a 3-2 pitch, scoring pinch-runner Greg McNamara to tie the game. Saturday's Games

In Saturday's first game, Moore drove a pitch by K-State starter David Hierholzer, 4-2, out of the park with two outs in the eighth to give Kansas the 4-3 win.

Hierholzer, who entered the contest having gone 39 straight innings without allowing an earned run, saw that streak end just an inning into the

Despite having some problems, Hierholzer went the distance. He was hurt by the long ball, with Denard Stewart joining Moore with a homer. Moore also had a double.

Kaufman's second homer of the series was one of the offensive bright spots for K-State.

In the nightcap Saturday, relief ■ See BASEBALL, Page 7

Mark Leffingwell/Staff

K-State base runner Blair Hanneman dives back safely after a pick-off attempt in KU's victory over K-State Sunday.

Faldo rallies for 2nd straight title

By The Associated Press AUGUSTA, Ga. - Nick Faldo became only the second man to win consecutive Masters, beating Ray Floyd on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff Sunday. Faldo, who beat Scott Hoch on the 11th hole of a playoff last year, duplicated that feat to join Jack Nicklaus as the only winner of successive Masters. He was helped greatly by Floyd, who missed a makeable birdie putt on the first playoff hole, then put his second shot into the water on No.

The Englishman made par on the 11th, turned to shake Floyd's hand and then hugged his female:

Faldo had to rally from a terrible start. He put his second shot in a bunker on the first hole, came out weakly and then three-putted for double bogey that dropped him five shots behind.

But he climbed back to get into the playoff with Floyd, who, at 47 was seeking to become the oldest player to win the Masters. Floyd was victorious here in 1976.

Nicklaus, now a 50-year-old grandfather but a still-dangerous Golden Bear, won the Masters in 1965-66.

To match those consecutive triumphs, Faldo had to climb out of a tic with Nicklaus and then make up three strokes on Floyd on the last four holes.

All of that he accomplished. He came back from the potential devastation of the first-hole double bogey, climbed back into contention and caught the frontrunning Floyd on the 17th hole. Both finished regulation play at 10-under-par 278. Floyd had a closing round of par 72. Faldo displayed enormous patience and perserverance in a comeback 69. On the first playoff hole, the 10th at Augusta National, Faldo put his approach into a bunker on the right and Floyd threw his some 15 feet below the cup. Faldo's excellent sand shot came out some three feet below the cup. When Floyd left his birdie putt short, Faldo calmly rapped in his shorter effort and they went on to the 11th.

From the fairway, Floyd aggressively attacked the flag. tucked on the left near a pond. He pulled it. Just a bit. Just enough. Water splashed. In effect, it was over. Faldo went through the formality of playing his second safely to the green. After Floyd dropped and pitched short, Faldo twoputted for the winning par.

"I made history today," he said.

MASTERS RESULTS Those who finished above par Faldo, $225,000 71-72-66-69-278 -10 Floyd, $135,000 70-68-68-72-278 -10 Huston, $72,500 66-74-68-75-283 -5 Wedkins, $72,500 72-73-70-68-283 -5 Couples, $50,000 74-69-72-69-284 -4 Nicklaus, $45,000 72-70-69-74-285 -3 Britton, $35,150 68-74-71-73-286 -2 Simpson, $35,150 74-71-68-73-286 -2 Langer, $35,150 70-73-69-74-286 -2 Strange, $35,150 70-73-71-72-286 -2 lesteros, $35,150 74-73-68-71-286 -2 Watson, $35,150 77-71-67-71-286 -2 Olazbal, $26,300 72-73-68-74--287 -1

Capriotti pleased at Texas Relays

By The Collegian Staff

K-State qualified all but one of its relay teams for the finals at the Texas Relays Friday and Saturday, which had track coach John Capriotti pretty pleased upon his return.

Before leaving for Austin, Texas, last week, Capriotti said the event was one of the more competitive relay meets of the season, so his exuberance afterward was hardly a

"Overall, I thought we had a really good meet," Capriotti said. "I'm real happy because all of the relays, with the exception of the men's 4x100, advanced to the finals.

"The times weren't real great, but that was because of the weather, but I

By The Associated Press

RALEIGH, N.C. - Finally, Jim

Valvano's 10-year reign with the Wolfpack ended Saturday when the school agreed to buy out his contract for $212,000, almost $300,000 less than he had asked for originally.

The settlement ended six weeks of fighting by Valvano to keep his job in

Valvano is out as North Carolina

State's basketball coach.

Tobacco

was real happy with the placings." On the women's side, K-State finished with two fifth-place marks in the 4x800-meter relay and the 4x100-meter relay. Markeya Jones, Aretha Frazier, Latricia Joyner and Joy Jones turned in a time of 46.52 in the 4x100, while Laura Ostmeyer, Paulette Staats, Ellarie Pesmark and Becky Ives ran a 9:07 clocking in the 4x800.

"I thought that was a good time under those conditions," Capriotti said of the 4x800. "And that's a pretty good placing out of 16 or 17

4x100, also qualified with the second fastest preliminary time in the wogations of point-shaving. Valvano was never implicated in the Valvano was also criticized for the

In 1989, N.C. State was placed on two years' probation by the NCAA lack of academic progress made by the players he recruited.

allegations.

Road trip

teams. The same quartet that ran the men's sprint medley, but Markeya Jones experienced soreness in her hamstring muscle and the team withdrew from the finals. Individually for the K-State women, Angie Miller continued to pile up her stack of accomplishments in the throwing events with a secondplace finish in the shot put at 50-1 and a third-place mark in the discus at 164-7. Connie Teaberry placed third in the high jump with a leap of 5-8%. Staats was 10th in the open 1,500 meters with a time of 4:30.78.

For the K-State men's relays, Jared Storm, Randy Hellig, Jason Goertzen, and Marcus Wright took fifth in the 4x800 meters with a time of 7:30.1, as did the sprint medley relay team of Wright, Clifton Etheridge, Adrian Johnson and Tyrone Watkins with a time of 3:22.

The sprint medley squad had placed second in the preliminaries, but Wright was faced with running in the finals of that event just 50 minutes after anchoring the 4x800.

"That's a pretty tough double to come back with," Capriotti said. But I thought Marcus had a real good weekend.'

The men's mile relay was fourth in its preliminaries at 3:12.02, but was disqualified from the finals.

Individually for the men, Pat Allen and Richard Croll threw 205-11 and 205-8, respectively, in the javelin, but neither qualified for the finals.

ends for Valvano

after finding that players had sold bathe wake of reports that former playsketball shoes and complimentary ers had accepted cash from boosters while playing at N.C. State and alletickets.

University chancellor Larry K. Monteith said Valvano will receive his regular salary payments - totaling $26,509.24 - through May 15. Then Valvano will receive $212,000 lump payment.

Valvano, who led the Wolfpack to the 1983 national championship, said the last 18 months have been difficult for him and his family.

"If this were an election, I'm doing great in the popular poll, but the electoral college beat the hell out of me," Valvano said, referring to the student and player support he received while the North Carolina school system worked on buying out the coach's contract. "The last 10 years of my life have been really remarkable ones.

Coach V wins over Carolinians with jokes

By The Associated Press

RALEIGH, N.C. - To North Carolinians accustomed to New York imports, Jim Valvano was the prototype - the fast-talking, wisecracking guy from the big city who both charmed them and won championships. "I tell them jokes," he once said when asked how a New Yorker became so popular on Tobacco Road.

"When they realize you've come down there with that kind of attitude, they're more likely to accept you. I tell them I can't fly fish because it's tough casting into a fire hydrant."

He also won, making it easier for fans to overlook the fact that he was winning championships with players whose citizenship was less than exemplary and who often ignored the "student" part of the phrase "student-

So when one player stole a student's stereo; when another held up a pizza deliveryman; when professors began to complain about academic problems among players, the attitude was "boys will be boys. And besides, Coach V. won us the 1983 national championship."

That title, one stolen from a far more talented Houston team nicknamed "Phi Slamma Jamma" was the peak for Valvano, who parlayed it into an more than a half-million dollars a year from television appearances, clinics and sneaker contracts.

But the laughs officially came to an end Saturday when Valvano was forced out as N.C. State coach, 10 years after arriving from Iona, the school in the New York suburbs where he first made his reputation.

Staff and Wire Reports New Wildcat coach Dana Altman hasn't had too much luck in his first week at the K-State helm.

Last week he learned that 6-foot-9 early signee Lorenzo Lockett of Indian River Junior College in Ft. Pearce, Fla., had dropped out of the Florida school last Monday, due to a personal tragedy.

Lockett's fiancee, Felicia, and twin sons, Antoine and Antonio, were killed in an automobile accident March 9, outside of Felicia's home in Philadelphia.

Lockett said he thought it would be better to drop his course load than "take a bunch of bad grades."

He said he still had hopes of playing for the K-State program and perhaps enrolling in a Kansas junior college next fall, but his future with the Wildcats has been put on hold

But that wasn't the only bad news the Wildcat program was hit with last week. Altman's search for assistant coaches came up dry when Wichita South head coach Steve Eck turned down Altman's offer.

It was also learned that College of Southern Idaho point guard Anthony Williams will not becoming to K-State, because of what Williams' coach Fred Trenkle said was K-State's losing interest in him.

Among some possible K-State recruits that still are reported to be interested with the signing day just two days away are Val Bames, a 6-foot-2 guard at Butler County; David Johanning, a 6-foot-10 center at Hutchinson Community College; Allen Jackson, a 6-foot-3 guard at Rend Lake Community College in Ina, Ill.; Damont Collins, a 6-foot-7 forward from Barstow High School in Kansas City, Mo.; Tony Arrington, a 6-foot-5 forward from Topeka High; Jeff Stern, a 6-foot-9 forward from South Plains (Texas) Junior College; and Paris Bryant, a 6-foot-1 point guard from Walker (Ala.) Junior College.

Netters top I-State, fall to 'Huskers

By Dan Wicker Sports Reporter

It was back to the conference schedule for the K-State tennnis team this weekend as it played host to Big Eight rivals Nebraska and Iowa

The squad turned in a .500 record for the weekend with an 8-1 win against the Cyclones and a 7-2 loss against the Cornhuskers. The dual matches put the Cats at 1-2 in league Coach Steve Bietau said Sunday's match was a great response after Saturday's loss to Nebraska.

"It was an improvement from (Saturday's) match. At times we played well at almost every position," Bietau said. "I was happy that the girls made a response to the performance (Saturday) and were able to improve.'

K-State struggled a bit against Nebraska with the only two wins coming from Helen Schildknecht and Valerie Rive at No. 2 and 4 singles, victories for which they too had to struggle. Schildknecht won 1-6, 7-6 and 6-3, while Rive won 7-6, 4-6, and

"Nebraska has better athletes for one. They have had more success, and I think their expectations were a little better coming into the match than Iowa State's were," Bietau said. "I was happy with the effort. I was definitely not happy with the outcome.'

The loss to the 'Huskers must have triggered something in the K-State players, as they turned the tables to completely dominate the Iowa State club. The only loss suffered by the K-State netters was Sara Hancock at No. 3 singles.

"It wasn't a big turnaround. It was a different opponent and a different day," Bietau said. "They took a tough loss to a team we thought we could have beat. They responded in a positive way."

Bietau was pleased with the play of Schildknecht for the weekend. She was the only player to capture two singles wins for the weekend which moved her to 3-0 against Big Eight

'Helen had the closest thing we have had to a complete match. She had the right game plan, executed well and she stayed on top of things mentally," Bietau said.

Schildknecht also thought she was able to stay more concentrated on what she was doing in her matches, and said that she has learned how to cope and play more on the mental side of the game.

"I felt OK after (Saturday), when I didn't play as well. I felt really good (Sunday). I was able to play consistently all the way through," Schildknecht said. "I didn't have any lack of concentration. I came out and took care of business.

"This whole semester is going really well. I have learned a lot about the mental game in tennis," she continued. "To play good when you don't feel well - I think that is the most important thing."

Even though the weekend dropped the Cats to below .500 in the conference, Bietau said he was not too worried about how the conference stands until the end of April.

"I could care less where we stand right now," Bietau said. "After playing these three schools last year, we had nine points total. This year we have fourteen so we are further ahead than we were last year. Standings just don't mean a lot until the end of Singles No. 1 Ildiko Guba, Neb., def. Marijke Nel 7-6, 6-3; No. 2 Helen Schildknecht, KSU, def. Ann Flannery 1-6, 7-6, 6-3; No. 3 Nancy Tyggum, Neb., def. Sara Hancock 6-0, 6-1; No. 4 Valarie Rive, KSU, def. Rachel Collins 7-6, 4-6, 6-3; No. 5 Quinn, Neb., def. Thresa Burcham 6-1, 2-6, 6-3; and No. 6 Coutretsis, Neb., def. Suzanne Sim 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.

Doubles No. 1 Tyggum/Collins, Neb., def. Schildknecht/Hancock 6-3, 6-1; No. 2 Guba/ Flannery, Neb., def. Nel/Rive 6-0, 6-1; and No. 3 Quinn/Coutretsis, Neb., def. Sim/Burcham 6-2,

Singles

No. 1 Nel, KSU, def. Kim Dempsey 6-1, 6-2;
No. 2 Schildknecht, KSU, def. Kris Stotter 6-1, 6-1; No. 3 Christi Hill, ISU, def. Hancock 7-5, 6-3; No. 4 Rive, KSU, def. Jennifer Lansing 6-3, 6-1; No. 5 Burcham, KSU, def. Connie McGough 6-1, 6-3; and No. 6 Sim, KSU, def. Khristin Dahlberg Doubles No. 1 Schildknecht/Hancock, KSU, def Dempsey/Hill 6-1, 6-1; No. 2 Nel/Rive, KSU, def Stotter/Dahlberg 6-1, 6-2; and No. 3 Sim Burcham, KSU, def. McGough/Lansing 7-5, 6-2.

Maddux (19-12) starts for Chicago

Montreal at St. Louis

Marquis Grissom and Delino De-

Shields to keep them in contention.

The Expos are counting on rookies against Ken Howell (12-12).

Baseball's opening day finally to greet fans

By The Associated Press

In many ways, opening day 1990 will be much like any other year. There will be big brassy bands playing the national anthem, dignitaries tossing out the ceremonial first ball and red, white and blue buntings adorning the stadium railings. When the games begin, however, the difference may start to show. Only a month ago, it seemed likely that opening day would coincide with Memorial Day. The players and owners were stalled on a contract and the spring training camps were locked. But a settlement was reached March 18 and the players were given about 21/2 weeks to get ready. But ready or not, the first pitch of the 1990 season is scheduled to be thrown at about 12:05 p.m. today at Boston's Fenway Park. AMERICAN LEAGUE

Detroit at Boston Boston's Roger Clemens (17-11) appears ready for the start of the season. Jack Morris (6-14) starts for the Milwaukee at Chicago The White Sox open at Comiskey Park a few hours before the Cubs start at Wrigley Field in Chicago. Toronto at Texas

Talk about no-hit possibilities.

Dave Stieb (17-8) starts for the Blue Jays against 43-year-old Nolan Ryan Seattle at California Bert Blyleven, 39, starts for the Angels against Brian Holman, 25.

Minnesota at Oakland The A's begin their quest to become the first team since the 1977-78 New York Yankees to repeat as World Series champions. Dave Stewart (21-9), the World Series MVP, opposes Allan Anderson (17-10).

NATIONAL LEAGUE Pittsburgh at New York The Mets have won 14 of their past 15 opening day games. Dwight Gooden (9-4) makes his first start in a regular-season game since tearing a muscle in his right shoulder last July 1. Doug Drabek (14-12) starts for the

San Diego at Los Angeles

Joe Carter and Fred Lynn make their debuts for the Padres and will face Orel Hershiser (15-15). Dodgers third baseman Jeff Hamilton was 0-for-14 against Padres starter Bruce Hurst (15-11) last season with five strikeouts.

Philadelphia at Chicago The Cubs have not repeated as champions since 1906-1908. Greg

The Cardinals have the favorite for NL Rookie of the Year in catcher

Todd Zeile. Cincinnati at Houston It's the first time the Reds have not opened at home since 1966 when an entire series against the Mets was rained out. Reds starter Tom Browning (15-12) has had problems with Astros first baseman Glenn Davis

Svoboda

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 Hmielewski holding down the right

Hmielewski had shared the firstbase job with Kaufman, but with the senior done for at least two weeks, converted outfielder Blair Hanneman will now get a starting nod at first when Hmielewski is on the Hanneman handled himself well in the field Sunday after a 30-minute crash course in the mechanics of the position.

The fact that Hanneman, a sophomore, was able to step right in and respond favorably to the challenge says a great deal about this team. It's a quality unit of versatile athletes ready to meet any challenge head on.

years didn't have fight, they just didn't carry the same weapons into battle this team does. Kaufman's loss will hurt, but it won't cripple.

In fact, the additional playing time gained by several players during his absence may help the quality of the team's depth late in the season.

Outfielders Brian Culp and Scott Stroth, both converted infielders, and L.J. Tywner have given the 'Cats quality offensive and defensive performances.

Twyner put together a highlight film performance in game three at KU, robbing several Jayhawk hitters with outstanding plays. The loss of preseason All-American Russ Ringgenberg has hurt the team in the outfield, but, again, not as much as it might have.

But the big reason the Wildcats It's not that Clark's teams in prior might be looking to make reservations for a trip to Oklahoma City and the postseason tourney for the first time since 1985 is the pitching staff.

David Hierholzer, Sean Pedersen, Kent Hipp and Hmielewski give the 'Cats four quality starters, and Mike Hedrick and Steve Scoville lead a strong bullpen corps.

This has truly been a staff with nine quality performers thus far, with Greg Laddish, Greg McNamara and Dave Christensen joining the aforementioned six in giving K-State its best and deepest mound corps in recent memory.

And only two of those nine pitch-- Hierholzer and Scoville won't be back next season.

But this year is the concern for Clark, and regardless of how he might have felt Sunday, this team will put many more smiles on his

Baseball

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 pitchers Mike Hedrick, 1-0, and Steve Scoville combined to shut down Kansas in relief of starter Sean

The efforts of Hedrick and Scoville lifted K-State to the 6-5 victory. Pedersen exited with K-State trailing 4-1, but Hedrick held the 'Hawks in check as K-State inched back.

In the fourth inning, the 'Cats took their first lead, 5-4, when Brian Culp and Chris Hmielewski scored on a double by L.J. Twyner and a single

The 'Cats stretched the lead to 6-4 in the sixth, but Kansas rebounded to knock Hedrick out with a run in the sixth. Scoville, however, left the potential tying and go-ahead runs State fourth.

stranded by striking out the final two batters - including Moore - in the (18-for-50 with six homers).

Scoville worked around a one-out double by Jayhawk Gerry Camara in the seventh to hold on for the save. Friday's Game

K-State, which would see its top starter defeated the next night, handed KU ace Steve Renko a loss in rather rude fashion, 14-3. The troubles of Renko overshadowed a strong performance by K-State's Kent Hipp, who went the distance. Hipp allowed just two earned runs and recorded six strikeouts. The offensive stars for K-State against Renko were Troll, who had four hits; Kaufman, who had two hits (including his first homer), four RBIs and three runs scored; and Culp, who had a grand slam homer in the K-

Sabes, Royals set to face Baltimore

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Bret Saberhagen and Joe Orsulak will take opposite sides when Kansas City and Baltimore open their 1990 baseball season Monday, but on one point they see eye-to-eye.

"There is always something special about Opening Day," said Saber-hagen, the 1989 Cy Young winner who will start for the Royals. "It's always fun."

"It's important to me to be playing because this is probably the most exciting game of the year," said Orsulak, playing right field and batting second for the Orioles.

Starting for Baltimore in the 1:35 p.m. opener will be Bob Milacki, 14-12 last season when the Orioles staged one of the greatest turnarounds in major league history and finished second behind Toronto in the American League East.

Saberhagen was 23-6 last year as the Royals finished second to Oakland in the AL West.

"I think we're ready," he said. "We worked hard and tried to get as much done as we could in the shortened spring training."

The Royals, 92-70 last year, are sporting some high-priced newcomers in free agent pitchers Mark and Storm Davis. Storm won 19 games last year for Oakland and Mark, a left-handed reliever, had 44 saves for San Diego and won the National League Cy Young Award. 'Last year, we won 92 games and we have all the important people back from that team, plus the new guys who should give us a big boost," Saberhagen said. "I think this is the best pitching staff I've ever been on. We've had years when the starting pitching was outstanding but not the bullpen, and years when the bullpen was great but not the starters.'

Saberhagen is 7-5 lifetime against Baltimore, but at Royals Stadium, he's 5-1 with a 0.98 ERA in six starts against the Orioles.

"I think we'll probably limit Sabes to about 100 pitches the first time out," said John Wathan, beginning his third full season as Royals' manager. "We don't want to take any chances."

The Orioles, 87-75 last year after a 54-107 debacle the year before, will again be counting on one of the major leagues' stoutest defenses. The 1989 Orioles led the American League with a .986 fielding percentage.

"I don't think anybody realizes how good this team is defensively, position by position," said Frank Robinson, named 1989 American League manager of the year. "There really wasn't enough credit given to the fantastic defensive play. I'm not talking about dazzling plays, but just the way they played day in and day

"We're very fortunate to have one of the best defensive teams," said left-hander Jeff Ballard, 18-8 last season. "The same guys are out there this year so there's no reason why we can't play that way again."

Batting sixth as Baltimore's designated hitter will be Sam Horn, whose mother recently suffered a stroke. "I want to dedicate the season to my mom," he said.

SPORTS BRIEFLY

OSU may hire Sutton

STILLWATER, Okla. - Eddie Sutton met with the president of Oklahoma State University on Saturday about the vacant basketball job, although there was no indication that a decision

Sutton and university president John Campbell met during the morning, sports information director Steve Buzzard said.

"We don't have a press conference scheduled. I don't know when one will be," Buzzard said.

Sutton is considered the strong frontrunner for the job, vacated Monday when Leonard Hamilton took the job at the University of Miami. Sutton visited Tuesday with Athletic Director Myron Roderick, then returned to the state Friday night.

Markkanen to leave KU

LAWRENCE - Pekka Markkanen, a former Finnish Army soldier who became a defensive standout for the Kansas basketball team, said Friday he will not return to KU next season.

"I have decided to go back to Finland," said the Jayhawks' 6-foot-10 center, whose wife, Rikka, is also a native of Finland.

"This decision was extremely hard for us. "I appreciate everything that has been done for us, and we have had many memorable moments here," he said.

Henson at Orlando Classic

K-State guard Steve Henson is one of 32 players, and the only Big Eight player, who will be participating in the Orlando All-Star Classic.

The event, which began Saturday and runs through this Saturday, is a showcase for senior basketball players across the country. The players will be arranged into teams, who will then play a series of games during the week in Orlando, Fla., at the

Among the other players expected to attend are Duke's Alaa Abdelnaby, Loyola-Marymount's Bo Kimble, Texas' Travis Mays, LaSalle's Lionel Simmons, Louisville's Felton Spencer and North Carolina's Scott Williams.

Last week, Henson participated in the National Associaton of Basketball Coaches All-Star game at Denver, Colo. The fourth leading scorer in K-State history scored 19 points and dished out eight assists for the West team, which lost, 127-126.

Men's crew 3rd in San Diego

The K-State men's varsity eight shell placed third in the Visitor's Cup race of the San Diego Classic Saturday at San Diego, Calif.

Finishing ahead of the K-State shell were the Coast Guard Academy and Williams College, while trailing the Wildcat octet were Notre Dame, Washington State, Michigan State and

Meanwhile, the rest of the K-State Rowing Association was in Lawrence competing in the State Championships. The men placed fourth in the varsity lightweight fours, first in the novice lightweight eights, third in the lightweight eights and fourth in the varsity eights. The women placed second and third with two teams entered in the novice fours and second in the varsity eights. Next weekend, the crew team will be at the President's Regatta at Lake Shawnee in Topeka. The event will be sponsored by Washburn University.

Bret Saberhagen will take the mound today when the Royals face Baltimore in the season opener. Saberhagen undoubtedly hopes this season will end in another car ride like the 1985 World Series celebration.

'hands-on' experience

By Anne Krauss Collegian Reporter

The rapid rhythm of an auctioneer, the urgent cries of ringmen and the staccato beat of a gavel filled Weber Arena Saturday night as the 13th annual Special "K" Bull Sale got underway.

The sale is put on each year by K-State's livestock sales and management class and features yearling performance-tested Angus, Hereford, Polled Hereford and Simmental bulls.

'We started it so students could gain more knowledge about merchandising purebred livestock," said Miles McKee, professor in animal sciences and industry and advisor to the

The class is also advised by Dave Nichols, associate professor in animal sciences and industry, and Galen Fink, herdsman for the University's beef unit.

This year's sale featured 58 bulls and averaged $1,844 per bull. The top-selling animal was an Angus bull that went for $5,000.

Students were responsible for advertising, catalog copy and layout, preparing the sale ring and cattle, clerking, serving as ringmen and presenting the livestock.

"The only professionals involved are the auctioneer and two or three ringmen," McKee said. "The students are fantastic. We just try to remember everything that has to be done, and they go right out and do it."

Julie Bartlett, junior in ani-mal sciences and industry and a member of the class, said hiring the professionals helped promote the sale and draw a crowd.

The ringmen are responsible for watching the crowd for potential buyers and relaying bids to the auctioneer. The auctioneer keeps track of who has the highest bid, provides special information about the animals and maintains the pace and order of the sale.

Bartlett said the sale was very similar to a professionally run sale and offered anyone interested in sale management hands-on experience.

CASH BACK

tion VGA Color Monito

Practical Compatibles.

STUDENTS, FACULTY

& STAFF ONLY

Offer ends 31st May '90

Connecting

COMPUTER CENTER

539-0801 1115 Westloop Ctr

Open Mon-Fri: 10-6 Sat: 10-4

SUPER

SUPER

Sale offers Judge stops removal of photos

Grand jury indicts art center, director for displaying Mapplethorpe exhibit

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI - A federal judge barred police Sunday from confiscating photographs from an exhibition of Robert Mapplethorpe's works that led to an obscenity indictment against an arts center and its director.

U.S. District Judge Carl Rubin also ordered county and city authorities not to interfere in any way with the exhibition while the obscenity charges are tried in state court.

The Contemporary Arts Center hailed the protective order, which will let the 175-photo exhibit proceed unchanged until a jury can decide whether its seven sexually explicit photos are obscene.

"We got everything we wanted out of this hearing," said arts center lawyer H. Louis Sirkin.

The exhibit opened to the public Saturday morning, attracting a crowd of thousands, including nine grand jury members. It was closed for an hour in the afternoon when the arts center and its director, Dennis Barrie, were indicted on state obscenity

Patrons were told to leave the center while police videotaped the display under a search warrant. The exhibit then reopened.

Hamilton County Prosecutor Arthur Ney Jr. asked the center on Saturday to voluntarily remove seven photographs that grand jurors found objectionable, but center officials

Ney made a veiled threat of more action if the photographs remained in place this week, and wouldn't rule out confiscation.

The seven photos include two of children either naked or partially naked, and others depicting homoerotic acts.

Last June, the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., canceled the exhibit. The Washington exhibit prompted Congress to limit funds for the arts after Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., declared the photographs obscene.

The judge agreed to the unusual, emergency hearing Sunday morning requested by the arts center, which won an order prohibiting further police interference with the show. At the outset of the hearing, Rubin said that seizing the photos would make the argument about displaying them moot before it is even decided.

Rubin ordered the arts center to said there was no reason for authorities to interfere with the exhibition, which runs through May 26 and moves to Boston in August.

"I'm also going to enjoin each of the defendants, their agents, their employees and anyone under their control from interfering or terminating the current exhibit without further order of the court," Rubin

"You may not recover any photos, you may not close the exhibit to the public, you may not take any action that could be intimidating in nature to prevent the public from seeing the exhibit," the judge said.
Rubin said he would file his written opinion Monday.

Police had an obligation to maintain order at the exhibit, which drew more than 3,000 people on opening give prosecutors a copy of each day Saturday, "but that may not be photograph for use at trial. He also used as an excuse to shut down this exhibit," Rubin said.

Both sides agreed to the order, which will remain in effect while they prepare for trial in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

The next step is Barrie's arraignment Friday, at which he is expected to plead innocent to charges of pandering obscenity and illegal use of a minor in nudity-oriented material. The exhibit reopened at noon Sunday, an hour early, attracting a crowd that eventually stretched around the block. They cheered loudly when workers from the arts center announced the judicial orders.

The arts center is not admitting people under 18 and has put up a warning sign at the door.

The University of Pennsylvania's Institute of Contemporary Art organized the exhibit in the fall of 1988.

FOLLOW THE YELLOW BRICK ROAD TO NEW YORK NEW YORK

A Kansas Girl Will Win The New York

MODEL SEARCH!!

SPONSORED BY HENRY'S • KKRD • ERIC FISHER SALON

COVENTRY TRAVEL • MODELS & IMAGES IF YOU HAVE EVER THOUGHT OF BECOMING A PROFESSIONAL MODEL, DON'T MISS THIS CHANCE! YOU COULD BECOME THE FACE OF THE 90's!

GRAND PRIZE

- ROUND-TRIP AIRFARE TO N.Y. CITY PROVIDED BY COVENTRY TRAVEL.
- LODGING AT THE N.Y. HILTON HOTEL.
- ENTRY FEE PAID FOR THE INTERNATIONAL MODELING AND TALENT ASSOCIATION CONVENTION TO BE HELD IN JULY 1990. MEET TOP AGENTS - YOUR CHANCE
- $500 WARDROBE FROM HENRY'S.
- PROFESSIONAL PHOTO SHOOT. $500 MODELING COURSE FROM MODELS & IMAGES.
- HAIR AND MAKEUP BY ERIC FISHER SALON.

1ST RUNNER-UP PRIZE

5500 MODELING COURSE FROM MODELS & IMAGES MODELING SCHOOL & AGENCY. ALTERNATE FOR NEW YORK TRIP

HOW TO ENTER:

TO BE DISCOVERED!

- 1. COMPETITION OPEN TO FEMALES ONLY
- 2. MUST BE AGE 12 YRS. TO 22 YRS.
- 3. SUBMIT $10 ENTRY FEE WITH FORM AT RIGHT WITH TWO SNAPSHOTS, ONE HEAD AND ONE FULL BODY (PHOTOS WILL NOT BE RETURNED). MAIL OR BRING TO MODELS & IMAGES, 1619 N. ROCK ROAD, WICHITA.
- KANSAS 67206. ENTRY FEE AND PHOTOS MUST ACCOMPANY FORM. 4. DEADLINE FOR ENTRIES MAY 15, 1990.
- 5. ADDITIONAL ENTRY FORMS CAN BE PICKED | CITY AGE _____ HEIGHT _____ WEIGHT ____ LP AT HENRY'S TOWNE EAST
- 6. ENTRIES WILL BE JUDGED BY A PANEL OF JUDGES AND 20 SEMI-FINALISTS CHOSEN AND INTERVIEWED. THE FINALISTS WILL BE PRESENTED AT A FASHION SHOW AT HENRY'S TOWNE EAST ON JUNE 2, 1990 WHERE THE WINNER WILL BE ANNOUNCED.
- SCHOOL ADDRESS

Graduation announcements Purchase your announcements now at your K-State Union Bookstore.

General announcments just $6 for a package of 10

Assortment includes 10 announcements, 10 namedegree cards, 10 schedule cards and 20 envelopes Personalized announcement packages are available in packages of 20 for $21.50, 30 for $28.50, 40 for $35.50 and 60 for $47.50.

Additional quantities and pricing also available. Announcements include name of candidate, the college and degree. These are especially nice for dual degree graduates or married couples graduating together. One envelope per announcement.

Graduation Apparel Graduation apparel for Bachelor Candidates is $16.50 (tax included)

Price includes cap, gown and dated tassel. Apparel for Graduate Students and Faculty will be available for rent at the following prices:

Masters (complete) $28.02 Cap, gown & tassel $13.88 Hood $14.14

Ph. D (complete) $30.33 Cap, gown & tassel $14.61 Hood $15.71

DVM (complete) $27.76 Cap, gown & tassel $13.09 Hood $14.93

K-State Union

Support your K-State Union. Dollars spent in the Union support you!

Come See The World's #1 PC Compatibles And We'll Show You More Than One Way To Own A FREE Raleigh All-Terrain Bike!

Stop by our Technology Showcase and see the world's #1 PC compatibles.* From ultra-fast desktops to VGA-enhanced laptops to our award-winning Flat Technology Monitor. We'll then show you three ways to own a Raleigh Assault* or Finesse* All-Terrain Bike absolutely FREE! And if you're among the first 50 to attend, you'll get a FREE Fanny Pack!

Buy a PC, Get A Bike FREE! Purchase any qualifying desktop system** at a great student price, and we'll send you a FREE Raleigh All-Terrain Bike! So be sure to swing by our Technology Showcase. Who knows...you just might ride away a winner in more ways than one!

Ride Away A Winner At:-

Technology Showcase

APRIL 10, 11, 12

K-STATE BOOKSTORE

MEMORIAL UNION COURTYARD

Campus Contact

K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE

532-6583

Enter Our National Sweepstakes! Take a free PC test drive at either the Technology Showcase or your Campus Contact to enter our "RACE TO THE FINISH" Sweepstakes.

You could then win one Bikes, a free fanny pack, a sports water bottle...or even our for two to Paris for the 1990 Tour de France!

of 50 Raleigh All-Terrain FREE Grand Prize trip

data systems Groupe Bull

HURRY! SWEEPSTAKES ENDS JUNE 8, 1990! ZENITH DATA SYSTEMS INNOVATES AGAIN*

Graphics simulate Microsoft* Windows, a product of Microsoft Corporation.

*Qualifying systems include the Z-286 LP Model 20, Z-286 LP/12 Model 20 and Z-286 LP/12 Model 40 when purchased with any Zenith Data Systems VGA Monitor. © 1990, Zenith Data Systems

Cherry Law, breeder of Vietnamese pigs, feeds popcorn to two of her pet pigs, Rambo and King, on the lawn of her Riley County home. The pigs, which are quicker and easier to train than dogs, grow to be about 90 pounds. Law has been raising pigs for two years.

By Margaret Clarkin Collegian Reporter

Cherry Law was walking her pet pig, Rambo, on the lawn of a luxury hotel in Wichita when a police officer stopped and told her it was the ugliest dog he'd ever seen.

"I bet he stayed 30 minutes and talked to me about the pig," Law said. "They are real curiosity items."

Law, a Riley county resident, breeds Vietnamese pigs. She also keeps two of the pigs, Rambo and King, as house

Vietnamese pigs weigh about 90 pounds. A normal pig can weigh about 220 pounds in just 6 months, said Dave Schoneweis, professor in veterinary surgery and medicine. Vietnamese pigs are like big, fat dogs, said Derek Scott, an employee at Petland in Topeka.

"From three months old, they will never go to the bathroom in the house if they are taken out every three hours or so," Law said. "They learn quicker, are easier to train and do about the same things that a dog can

Breeding the pigs is something Law enjoys, but the money involved also appeals to her, she said. The value of pet pigs has increased since she and her husband have had

Animal oddity: Pigs as pets

Breeding and raising Vietnamese pigs becomes fun hobby, source of income

"Pigs have been one of my real loves," Law said. "I like dealing with them, training them and messing over them when they are babies. But I am dead serious when I say that the money is very attractive. It has helped us do a lot of things on the farm that we couldn't have done otherwise." She said having the pigs around is a hobby for her and her husband, Clair.

"Last year, we made quite a bit of money off of breeding the pigs so I guess that takes it out of the hobby class," Law said. "But it's not the way we make a living. It will be five o'clock before I mess with

Law and her husband work for an insurance company, selling insurance plans to hospitals. She has worked hard to promote and sell her pigs, but it's not easy to market something that is so unusual, she

"Some publicity goes through word of mouth," Law said. "I also run a continual ad in two publications that go mostly to farmers."

Breeding pigs and having two as house pets has helped her sell them, Law said.

"There are a lot of breeders out there who raise the pigs in their barns. They don't have them as house pets," she said. "I think I have some background in keeping pigs. We've been doing this for two years and probably have more of a background than anybody in this area. Law said she also promotes her pigs by taking them to nursing homes and schools.

"I like nursing homes as much as I do schools," she said. "Older people seem to appreciate the fact that there is a pig in the house and how unique that is. When you take them to a pre-school, everything

A 100-pound pig is expensive to feed, but these pigs are ecoamazes them. It really doesn't seem that different that I have a pig at home instead of a dog. Their experience in life is so short."

nomical, Law said. 'It costs a nickel a day each to feed King and Rambo," she said. "It costs a dollar a day to feed our dog." On the weekend, Law said, 30 families may come to look at her animals, including the

"We show them around and people think it's interesting," she said. "The pigs are affectionate, clean, and they don't Pet pigs, especially Vietnamese pigs, are a hot item right now," Scott said. Petland currently has a Vietnamese pig, named Magnum P.I.G., for sale.

The pig is alternately displayed at the Topeka and Manhattan Petland stores.

"I talked to them about buying Magnum," Law said. "But he was big for his age, and he had a retail price, which was

■ See PIGS, Page 11

Fire aboard ferry kills 148 tourists; arson suspected

By The Associated Press

LYSEKIL, Sweden - Exhausted firefighters braved metal-melting heat and poisonous smoke Sunday to begin removing the bodies of about 150 victims from the Scandinavian Star ferry, which burned for a second

Firefighters struggled to reach cabins where victims burned to death or suffocated in the suspicious blaze, which began before dawn Saturday while the ship was in the North Sea carrying about 500 tourists and crew members on an overnight trip from Norway to Demark.

The heat was so intense Sunday that it melted aluminum aboard the bridge of the Danish-owned ship. Firefighters in masks and breathing equipment fought through one corridor "until their gear started to burn," said fire consultant Olle Wennstrom. One firefighter was slightly injured, he said.

Firefighters were seen leaving the ship in tears. Each team underwent psychological care after being relieved, officials said.

The fire spread early Sunday from the gutted middle section to the captain's bridge a few hours after the blackened ship was towed into port. The blaze sent plumes of smoke over Lysekil, on Sweden's southwest coast 250 miles southwest of Stockholm, the capital on the east coast.

Tugboats doused the ship with water. Holes were blasted into the side of the 10,500-ton ship to allow the water to drain out, for fear that the badly listing ship would topple onto the concrete dock.

Officials with VR-DANO Line, the company in Copenhagen that owns and operates the Bahamianflagged ship, say the blaze was arsoncaused, citing two fires that broke out at a short interval on two different District Police Chief Roar Onso. revising earlier figures, said 345 people survived the fire on the ship that was headed from Oslo to Frederikshavn. Ferry captain Hugo Larsen told police of 395 passengers and 98 crewmen. If his figure is correct, 148 people died, Osno said.

Onso said a burned passenger list was found in the debris but did not tally with the captain's account, and its accuracy was unclear.

Tickets were sold to car passengers according to the size of the car, not the number of people each was carrying. Children traveling free would not appear on any passenger

Firefighters found corpses in the corridors and cabins. A few drivers were found in their trucks on the car deck. Most victims were asphyxiated but some were charred beyond recognition.

Onso confirmed reports that two fires broke out aboard the Scandinavian Star, but he refused to speculate on how that fitted with claims that the fire was deliberately set.

One blaze started in a pile of sheets outside a cabin on a the car deck but was smothered by passengers, he said. A second fire started minutes later in a cabin one deck above the car deck, and it was apparently this blaze that turned the ship into a floating

Onso said it would take several days to begin an on-site investigation of possible arson.

The first bodies emerged from the ship in metal containers, and officials said they would be sent in trucks to Oslo for identification. A memorial service was planned in Oslo's main cathedral on Tuesday for the Norwegians, who comprised most of the

CONVOCATION LECTURE SERIES 1990

Ms. Anne Murphy Executive Director, American Arts Alliance will present a Convocation Lecture "Exploring Truth: Art in a Political World"

Monday, April 9, 1990 McCain Auditorium

10:30 a.m. Pre Convocation Forum Thursday, April 5, 1990 Room 212, K-State Union 12:00 noon

LEARN THE LESSONS OF LEADERSHIP THROUGH AIR FORCE ROTC.

What makes a leader? Ask anyone who joined Air Force ROTC. Ask about the training in management practices. . . about the variety of experiences that ROTC offers... about the chance to learn new skills and responsibilities You'll find that Air Force ROTC adds a whole new dimension to your education, and develops a leader in the Air Force.

Learn more: call

CAPT ROYER 913-532-6600 ROLL

Leadership Excellence Starts Here

Arts and Science Student of the Semester

All students in the College of Arts and Sciences are eligible and encouraged to apply. Applications are available in the Arts and Sciences Deans Office.

Applications are due by April 13.

9 p.m. Eddy Strange

Wed. Sig Ep Fight Nite Knock Out Contest Thursday

DU Women of K-State proceeds go to the Villages

ROUND-UP

Today Brenda Schaffer turned "29 again."

> Passport Photos

kinko's the copy center

1329 Anderson Manhattan, KS (913) 537-7340 FAX*537-0967*FAX

10% OFF Short Sleeve

Shirts

8426 E. Hwy. 24

Manhattan, KS 66502

10% OFF Entire Selected Straw Hats

Mon.-Sat. 9-5:30

Get the 2nd pr. 1/2 Price. Sale Ends

April 14, 1990

Voters choose first freely elected officials

Hungarian Democratic Forum in forefront with more than 90 percent of votes counted

By The Associated Press

BUDAPEST, Hungary - Voters choosing Hungary's first freely elected government in 43 years gave an overwhelming victory Sunday to Hungary's main conservative party.

"I am completely certain that we won the elections," Democratic Forum President Jozsef Antall told jubilant supporters crowding party headquarters six hours after polls closed.

"But it is not we, but the Hungarian people who have won these elec-tions," he said.

Final results for the 261 parliamentary seats at stake in runoff elections Sunday were not expected before Tuesday. But state television showed the conservative Hungarian Democratic Forum winning 41.8 percent of the vote, or 116 seats, with more than 90 percent of the votes

Their closest rivals, the liberal Alliance of Free Democrats, won 21 percent of the vote, or 58 seats.

The agrarian-based Smallholders cent of the vote, while reform Communists grouped in the Socialist Party had won 18 with 8 percent.

Eight seats were still not

It was the second conservative sweep in Eastern Europe in as many free elections. East Germans gave conservatives a clear victory in elections on March 18, relegating the Communists to an opposition role.

In Hungary, 171 of the 261 seats were voted on directly Sunday. Ninety seats will be determined on the voting percentage each party

With 43 seats won by Democratic Forum candidates in the first round March 25, the party had a total of 159 seats after both rounds, according to the preliminary calculations based on 90 percent returns.

The Free Democrats had 92 seats, while the Smallholders had 44 and the Socialists 32. Others seats were shared by two smaller parties.

There are 394 seats in Parliament, party won 29 districts with 11.5 per- including eight seats to be allocated to national minorities.

Democratic Forum President Antall turned 58 Sunday, and a rare smile creased his face as he was presented with a gigantic bouquet of

The early conservative advantage forced a concession from Free Democrat leader Miklos Haraszti.

"It is clear that the HDF will gain the most seats," he said.

Elections two weeks ago left 261 of the National Assembly's 394 seats undecided. That balloting gave no party an outright majority but relegated the former Communists to fourth place.

No party was considered strong enough to win a majority in Sunday's polling and a coalition government was expected. More than 7.5 million people were eligible to vote.

Both front-running parties, the Hungarian Democratic Forum and the Alliance of Free Democrats, have refused to consider forming a government with the former Communists, now running as the Socialist Party.

Most polls closed at 6 p.m. after 12 hours of voting. State television began its 24-hour election program two hours later with preliminary estimates of a more than 40 percent turnout nationwide, indicating that more than 3.25 million people voted.

A poll made public shortly after the end of voting predicted a clear Democratic Forum victory.

The poll of 2,000 people conducted by the Hungarian Public Opinion Survey Institute indicated that Democratic Forum would hold 39 percent of the seats in the legislature, with the Free Democrats capturing 29 percent.

The Smallholders would end up with 13 percent of the seats and the Socialists with 9 percent, according to the poll, which was made public on the television election program. No details of how the survey was conducted were revealed.

Many Hungarians seemed weary after the second round of balloting in

"It's clear that people have become tired," Interim President Matyas Szueros told reporters before that a new government would be able casting his ballot. "It's time to end the election process."

The voting was generally uneventful, with few irregularities reported.

In Debrecen, about 90 miles west of the capital of Budapest, several polling stations did not open on time because supervisory officials were late, state radio reported.

One station first opened at 9 a.m., three hours past schedule. The radio said the delay was caused by the chief supervisor who called in to say he would be late because "he was

Voters at a polling station in Budapest shook out umbrellas after walking in from the rain, and many clutched pussy willows symbolic in Hungary of Easter.

Many said they were enthusiastic about voting in the national elections, but others appeared skeptical to solve Hungary's severe economic problems that include a declining living standard, double-digit inflation, growing unemployment and a $20 billion foreign debt.

The first round of elections on March 25 put the Hungarian Democratic Forum and the liberal Alliance of Free Democrats in the lead, but neither party polled a majority, forcing Sunday's second round.

Democratic Forum captured 24.73 percent in the earlier election, the Free Democrats, 21.39 percent, the agrarian-oriented Smallholders Party 11.73 percent and the Socialists

10.89 percent. The rest of the vote was scattered among 25 other parties.

The Socialists were unique among ruling Soviet bloc parties in leading their country to democracy without massive popular pressure.

Holy Week Services of

The Episcopal Church

Tuesday, April 10 6:00 p.m. - Passover Meal & Service, St. Paul's 10:00 p.m. - Holy Eucharist, Danforth Chapel, KSU

Wednesday 5:30 p.m. - Evening Prayer, Soup Supper and Program, St. Paul's

Maundy Thursday 7:00 p.m. - Holy Eucharist, Washing of the feet, Stripping of the Altar and All-night Vigil, St. Paul's

Noon - Ecumenical Service, First Presbyterian Church 5:00 p.m. - Stations of the Cross, St. Paul's 7:00 p.m. - Good Friday Liturgy, St. Paul's

Good Friday

Holy Saturday 7:00 p.m. - The Great Vigil of Easter, St. Paul's

> Easter Sunday 8:00 a.m. - Rite I Holy Eucharist 10:30 a.m. - Rite II Holy Eucharist

St. Paul's Episcopal Church Sixth and Poyntz The Very Rev. Dr. Robert Sanders, Rector The Rev. Susan Sawyer, Associate Rector and Campus Chaplain, St. Francis & Canterbury Fellowship Episcopal Campus Ministry.

776-9427

FOR THOSE WHO COME HOME TO WICHITA

Now's your chance to make more of that summer visit! Whether you are an undergraduate or graduate student, you can earn additional college credit by enrolling in Summer Session courses at Wichita State as a guest student.

Wichita State offers five Summer Session options. Presession: May 29-June 8 8-Week Session: June 11-August 3 First 4-Week Session: June 11-July 6 Second 4-Week Session: July 9-August 3 Workshops Throughout the Summer

For more information, call (316) 689-3085; in Kansas, call toll-free, 1-800-362-2594. Or return the form below.

BE OUR GUEST FOR THE SUMMER

Yes! I am interested in attending WSU as a guest student.

Phone (

Address

Please send me additional information and the Wichita State Summer 1990 Schedule of Courses.

Mail to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions, The Wichita State University, Wichita, Kansas 67208-1595.

Collegian advertising has what you need

STUDENT HAIRCARE SAVINGS! --- This Week Only ----OFF STUDENT CUT MasterCuts OFF ANY PERM No Double Discounts With Student I.D. We Trim Prices, Not Quality Walk-Ins Welcome

family haircutters 776-0606 Manhattan Town Center

GRAND OPENING SURPRISE!

2700 Anderson Ave.

$1 OFF any Super Deluxe Sancho

Now thru Sunday, April 15th, you can get $1 off the regular price of our Super Deluxe Sancho. Our newest store in Manhattan is NOW OPEN at 2700 Anderson Ave. Come visit us TODAY and enjoy the great Mexican food at Taco Tico.

Not valid with any other discount, coupon or offer. No coupon necessary for this offer.

Offer is also valid at our Tuttle Creek Blvd. location.

WE WANT TO MAKE YOUR STUDENT LOAN!

Have the professionals at Kansas State Bank make your student loan. Simply contact us at:

> 537-4400 Lender code #821176

STATE

1010 Westloop & 11th and Bluemont, (913) 537-4400

LAR

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 would train and show.

"It is always a challenge to break an animal in three weeks," Wade said. "It's the luck of the draw. Some draw really tame animals while others don't."

Wade said her experience of showing animals in 4-H helped her prepare for the contest. She said the biggest benefit of the LAR is making friends and helping other people.

Kay Stadel, senior in animal sciences and industry and grand champion swine showman, said she doesn't look at the LAR as a competition, but rather as an opportunity to work together with other students and have

"We all help each other. For a lot of people, you're away from home and don't have your own equipment. We all share equipment here," she said.

Damon New, junior in agricultural economics and president of the LAR executive council, said preparation for the contest began in November with the appointment of LAR representatives and committees.

New said the students do everything, from registering contestants weeks in advance to actually setting up the arena the day before the

Besides the grand champion, reserve grand champion and herdsmanship awards in each of the five categories, New said four $150 scholarships are available each year to student contestants in the LAR.

The scholarship is sponsored by the LAR," he said. "The funds for the scholarships come from a combination of money made from admission charges to the contest and the LAR

One scholarship is awarded to a Block & Bridle member, one is awarded to a Dairy Science Club member and the remaining two are presented at large. Winners are selected on the basis of overall activities, scholarship, LAR activities and financial need.

"A lot of these people are old friends you've shown against before," Stadel said. "This is the fourth year I've shown in the LAR. If you don't participate in it at all, it gives you a feeling of being left out - like everyone else is going to a party and "The college of ag is a close-knit college. There is a lot of fun and fellowship. Even coming out on Sunday to clean up is fun."

Pigs

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9 expensive."

Law sells boars for $500. Petland's price for Magnum is $1,500. Breeding the pigs along with raising other animals is a challenge for Law, she said. "We got into them because we were doing two of this, a couple of that," Law said. "These pigs were different." Law and her husband raise a variety of animals including an emu, which is a large, flightless Australian bird, and a rhea, a South American bird that resembles an ostrich, as well as donkeys, cattle, rabbits and ducks.

> Stay in tune. Read the Collegian for local and national news.

"We are high-energy people," she said. "We are always going to be doing something. One year we planted about 500 trees. Then, we got animals.

Law said she enjoys breeding pet pigs, but she doesn't know how long she will continue to do it.

"People always ask 'Where are you going with this?' 'What is your goal?" Law said. "It was a little troubling to both my husband and me, but I think we finally concluded that we are having fun. It's interesting for us, but it doesn't mean we are going to do this forever.

"Someone asked me one time how many different kinds of animals I had. I sat down and started to write down how many we had. I lost

"Bright minds...read the Collegian"

Colllegian Classifieds... your solution to any problem!

Collegian

Directory

Our Business Is Exhausting

- Complete Exhaust Systems
- Free Estimates
- Custom Exhaust
- Installation

Muffler House

700 N. 3rd St.

GOODSON AUTO TRIM

Tailor Made Seat Covers Tonneau Covers Boat Covers Window Tinting Convertible Tops Vinyl Tops Complete Auto, Truck & Boat Upholstery 201 Sarber Lane (behind Wal-Mart) Manhattan, Kansas 66502 Res. 776-7614

C & M AUTO SUPPLY

PARTS-SUPPLIES-EQUIPMENT

ACCESSORIES AUTO PAINT WELDING SUPPLIES

Over 30,000 Top Brand Items In Stock

"Qualified, Experienced Personnel To Assist You"

OPEN MON-SAT 8 a.m.-5:30 p.m. CLOSED SUNDAY 776-4747 305 S. 4th

OVERNIGHT SERVICE FROM KANSAS CITY WICHITA OMAHA WAREHOUSES!

TOYOTA

TRIUMPH

VOLVO

COMPLETE LINE OF FOREIGN EXPERT MECHANICS ON DUTY

IMPORT CAR INC. PARTS & SERVICE

Call 539-0577

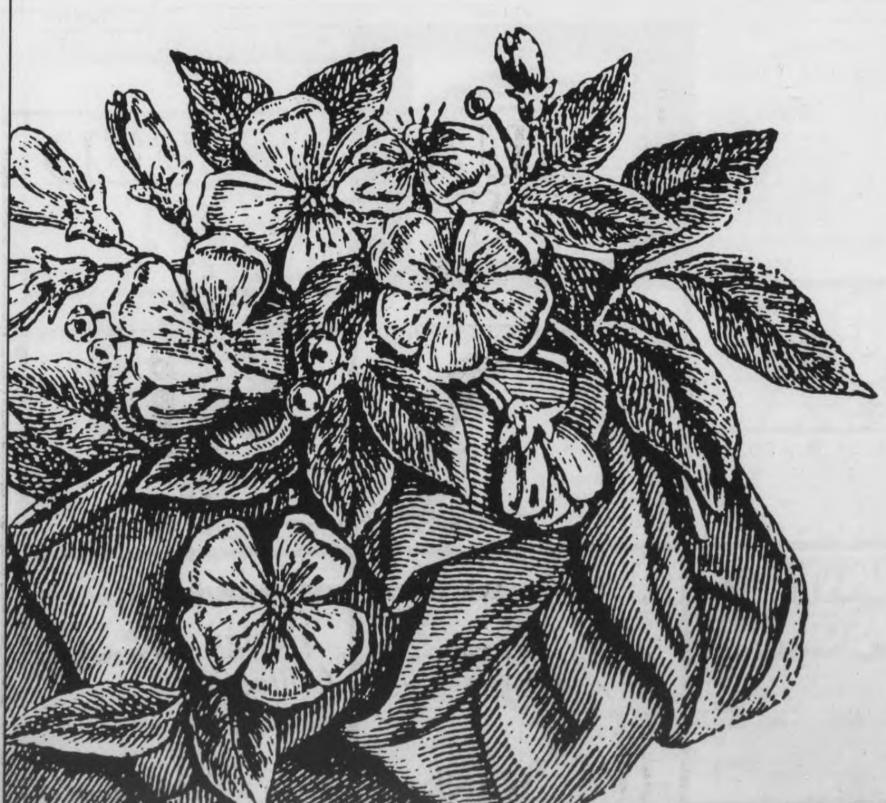

315 S. 3rd 8-5:30 Mon.-Fri. Sat. 9-1 In Junction City Call 238-1880

MAZDA

TOYOTA

MG

STATE SUMMER SESSION

June 4-July 27, 1990

On-campus courses and courses offered throughout Kansas

> Enjoy Small Classes Concentrated Study Accelerated Degree programs A Relaxed Atmosphere

K-State Summer Session offers: Quality undergraduate and graduate courses Workshops, short courses, and institutes Campus housing Social and leisure-time activities Courses in many Kansas communities TELENET courses

Summer line schedules are available in the K-State Union Bookstore. K-State Summer Session Bulletins are available from your advisor, from the Admissions Office, or by contacting the Division of Continuing Education, 131College Court Building, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506, 913-532-5566.

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15. Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications.

Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon
FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the adver-tiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4.30

SEE NEWS HAPPENING? CALL THE COLLEGIAN NEWSLINE 532-6556

Announcements

BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics. Janet Milliken, 539-9469

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193.

STUDENTS FROM WICHITA

Part Time

Wanted: K-State students from Wichita for jobs taking inventory in retail stores. Work from Wichita this summer, Manhattan during the school year. Availability on weekends a MUST. 10-key experience helpful but not mandatory. $5 an hour to start. If interested call 776-8884, Manhattan Job Service.

Purchase a

VISA OR MASTERCARD! Even if bankrupt or bad credit!

We guarantee you a card or double your money back. Call 1-805-682-7555 EXT. M-1199. (call 7 days a week)

2 Apartments—Furnished

A LARGE two-bedroom sublease, 1010 Thurston. Everything— central air, full kitchen, etc. $399 negotiable, 537-3346.

FOR AUGUST-- Next to KSU. Deluxe two-bedroor apartment for three people. $420 plus utilities. Also two-bedroom basement apartment at 312 N. 15th. Water, trash, heat paid. Now until July. $250. For August, $275, 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR THE next school year. Luxurious two-bedroom apartment. Near campus at 363 N. 14th. Central air laundry, balcony, new carpet and off-street parking. $425, 537-0428

FREE COUNTRY living for responsible student in exchange for occasional assistance to wheelchair-bound landlady. 913-494-8201.

JUNE— FURNISHED one- and two-bedroom at ments. $300, $350, utilities paid. 776-2253.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. 539-1465.

NEXT TO campus— Apartment complex, 1832 Claffin Road across Goodnow and Marlatt. One bedroom, furnished, central air, off-street parking, quiet. ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO in complex, 1219 Claffin Next to campus. $275 plus electric plus deposit

August, June lease. No pets. 537-1180. TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT for sublease. Close to campus, everything included. Rent negotiable. Call 539-0926.

Apartments-Unfurnished

AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom, ground floor duplex. nice yard. 539-3672 evenings. AVAILABLE JUNE 1, 915% Claffin, Two-bedroom walkout. Heat, water, trash paid. Stove, refrigera-tor, off-street parking. No pets. $360. 539-3085. AVAILABLE JUNE 1, 9011/2 Ratone. Two-bedroom basement. Heat, water, trash paid. Stove, refrigerator. No pets. $230. 539-3085.

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT. $195 per month. Gas. heat and water included. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings and weekends.

FOUR-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $485 per month. Across street from Ahearn Field House. Available June 1. Lease and deposit required. Call 537-7794 evenings and weekends.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coinoperated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required. $280. 539-1465.

ONE-BEDROOM, clean, carpeted, central air, no pets, 5th and Osage, $265 plus utilities, water, trash. PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two-bedroom. Close to campus. 776-8381. THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENTS in new complex. Leasing for August. Close to campus and Aggie ville. Call 776-1509.

A Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

ONE- AND two-bedroom apartments near campus and Westloop area. Call 776-1340.

TWO-BEDROOM basement apartment with full-size windows, livingroom, kitchen, bath, washer/ dryer, private entrance. $275/ month plus utilities. Two blocks east of campus, off-street parking.

WANTED: ONE-BEDROOM or efficiency apartment to rent from July/ August to December. John, 537-0477.

Wildcat Inn

Three locations of one bedroom apartments still available for June or August leasing. $310-340.

Call for more information. 776-3804

McCullough

Development 2700 Amhorsi (913) 776-3804

Weekdays

until 6 p.m.

Saturdays

until 4 p.m.

Sunset Apartments

Now leasing for June or August. One bedroom. $280-295. Central Air, Gas Heat & Laundry Facilities.

776-3804

McCullough

Development 2700 Amhors! (913) 776-3804

539-5051

after 5:30

Why worry about roommates?

Affordable, nicely furnished, studio apartments.

Mont Blue Apartments

1431 McCain Lane One block from campus, on site laundry facilities. $250, $250 security deposit, low utilities.

539-4447

PCF Management

Efficiency $200 l bedroom $250 bedroom $290 776-4805-539-8401

K-Rentals

Efficiency $200 1 Bedroom $250

2 Bedroom $290 3 Bedroom $450 539-8401

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS

1408 Cambridge Place+539-2951 ·1 and 2 bedroom ·2 swimming pools and a heated spa ·Some utilities paid

 Across the street from Westloop Shopping Center ·Free private bus to campus leaving every hour. Pre-leasing for fall beginning now

5 Automobile for Sale

1978 ALFA Romaeo convertible for sale. Red, with new top, new tires and great stereo with cassette and equalizer. $3,750. Call John 1-456-7050.

1985 PLYMOUTH Voyager LE mini, one owner, excel-lent condition, air, standard, AMFM, five-seater. See for yourself. On Fort Riley. $6,950. 1-784-5717.

1987 DODGE Aries LE 2500 cc engine. Excellent buy

Assumable power train warranty. Phone Lee 532-5804 days, 539-0168 evenings. ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT-seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surp lus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. A-1797.

DATSUN 280Z, 1977. Great engine, good gas mileage Body needs work. $1,250, 776-4574.

IS IT true... Jeeps for $44 through the government? Call for facts! 1-708-742-1142 Ext. 3286A. 1982 HONDA Civic. Fuel efficient, 45 mpg. Immaculate. Low, low miles. Sony AM/FM cassette. Sporty wide tires. Silver. $2,195. 537-2396.

6 Child Care

COME BE a nanny in a lovely New England home located 20 minutes north of Boston. Professional couple is seeking summer help for their two charming children, 5 and 10. Call Sandi at 617-334-4337.

NANNIES- YEAR-LONG child care position. East Coast. Airfare, good salary, benefits. Screened families. Fun group activities. Princeton Nanny, 301 N. Harrison St. #416, Princeton, NJ 08540. 609-497-1195.

NANNY: LOVING person to care for 2-year-old and infant. One year minimum commitment, 40 miles north of NYC in Connecticut, must swim, no smokers, prefer experience with young children. Ask for Susan Taylor day (212)230-3223 or evening after 7p.m. (203)329-2809.

7 Computers

SAVE $$$. 15% off on new books featuring title concerning Autocad, Wordperfect 5.0 and 5.1, Wordstar, Lotus, Magellan, as well as upgrading and repairing microcomputers. PC Magazines' DOS Powertools including disk with 1,275 pages— suggested retail $44.95, on sale for $35. Computer disks— DS/DD 5½ -inch, 10 with smoked acrylic case, $10. Disk case for 5% -inch holds 70 disks— $8.95. Disk case for 3% -inch hold 50 disks—$6.95. DS/HD 1.44 3/<sub>2</sub> -inch disks— 10 for $18.50. Mark Berg or contact ABACUS Computer & Supply, 1111 Waters, 539-7007.

WANTED: A data base programmer to develop new agricultural software for private business. Evenings. 456-9201.

XT IBM compatible, 14-inch color monitor, two disk drives 3%, 5%, 640k, printer, Make an offer, Call 539-8053.

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service also servicing

PC compatibles & printers •Televisions & VCRs BIG Screen TV Rental

MIDWEST SERVICES

624 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Manhattan 913-776-6650

(Continued on page 13)

Night Life Sounds.

Night Life Sounds would like to thank the Gamma Phi Beta sorority on Saturday night for a great "opposites attract" party and we look forward to doing it again soon.

> Thank you very much, Ed, Jeremy, Dave, & Jim

"Recycle your Records!" Let us sell your extra and unwanted records, tapes and CD's. Call the UPC

Collection: Union first floor, table five April 10,

11 and 12, 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

Sale: Union first floor

concourse April 24 and

Wk-state union

25, 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

Jeremy Unruh 539-2387

Office for more information.

UPC

Recycle

Your Records

1015 Sunset Manhattan, KS

PERM, COLOR or HIGHLIGHT and receive 5 FREE TANS offer good with Carole, Julie, Gail or Carol valid with coupon 1106 Laramie 539-1177 AV21 17.13. 14.4.2

1989-90

15th Annual UPC Photography Contest

Entries accepted 9 a.m.-4 p.m., Monday through Friday until Friday, April 13 in the K-State Union UPC Office. $2 per entry.

All entries will be displayed in the K-State Union Art Gallery April 30-May 11. Contest is open to all KSU students, faculty and staff. Information available in the UPC

k-state union

information on upcoming events, call the UPC Entertainment Line at 532-6570.

"RAVISHINGLY BEAUTIFUL ... one of the great experiences of world cinema.'

Set in Mali before the Moroccan invasion in the 16th century. "Brightness" is an ancient tale of a father-son rivalry and of the timeless myths of a young man's initiation into adult Wednesday and Thursday, 7 p.m., Forum Hall and Thursday,

3:30 p.m., Little Theatre. Cost $1.75 with K-State I.D.

Apparel Design Collective

April 9-20

k-state union

k-state union

Ropes Course, May 5-6. Rock Springs Ranch. $4

Develop leadership, cooperation and group problemsolving skills in the UPC Ropes Course challenge. Information meeting April 10, 7 p.m., Union Room 209. Sign-up begins April 11, 8 a.m., in the UPC Office.

per day.

April for reservations. Cost $10

World Beat/ Reggae band, will "rock your body and trigger your mind." They have toured with UB40, Ziggy Marley and the Clash. Tickets may be bought at the door or in advance in the UPC Office, Union 3rd floor, starting April 9th.

Union Ballroom

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of ertisements in the Employment classification ders are advised to approach any such 'employ-it opportunity' with reasonable caution.

ACT IN TV commercials. High pay. No experience. All ages—kids, teens, young adults, families, mature people, animals, etc. Call now! Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702.

ATTENTION: HIRING government jobs— your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext R1797.

ATTENTION: KANSAS Careers needs a student assistant for 20-30 hours/ week during summer semester and 12-15 through the school year, Clerical experience necessary plus Word Perfect and dBase III+. Pick up application form at Kansas Careers, 304 Fairchild Hall. Deadline April 11.

ATTENTION: EASY work, excellent pay! Assemble products at home. Details. 1-802-838-8885 Ext.

ATTENTION: EXCELLENT income for home assembly work. Information. Call 504-646-1700 Dept. P6438.

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing, gymnastics, niflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B. Marc Seeger. 1785 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. 708-446-2444.

Ripple

HELLO, DATES-

Jim's Journal

my bike out today.

THERE GOES

ROSALYN AROUND

THE HOUSE AGAIN

SHE STILL DOESN'T

KNOW YOU SNEAKED

BACK INSIDE.

I decided to get | I rode it to my

Calvin and Hobbes

VH OH. SHE

SAW THE LIGHT

ON IN THIS

ROOM. SHE'S

COMINE IN:

HOM I,IT

CHANGE

BACK INTO

MY SECRET

IDENTITY

ALTER EGO!

'R- US? I'M

LOOKING FOR

A LIFELONG

PARTNER

ATTENTION: EARN money watching TVI $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. TV-1797.

Making the Grade

40, JIM.

WHAT KIND

OF PARTNER?

class, and I got there a lot quicker

DU

8-R-

QUICK! GET IN

THE COVERS!

JUST BEEN

READING IN BED!

PRETEND WE'VE

than usual.

1111

80

CONSTRUCTION HELP wanted: Construction firm in Vail, Colo., seeking qualified person with construc-tion management or civil engineering degree. Surveying and commercial or residential construction experience desired. Send resume to Craig Bruntz, c/o D.V.C., 1000 S. Frontage Road West, Suite 202, Vall, CO 81657.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288.

FREE TRAVEL benefits! Airlines now hiring! All posi-tions! $17,500-$58,240. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext.

FREE TRAVEL benefits! Cruise ships and casinos now hiring! All positions! Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext. Y-1797.

GENERAL CAMP counselors, arts and ecology consul-ants, kitchen and waterfront staff needed for resident Girl Scout Camps in Vermont and New Hampshire, June 16 -Aug. 22. Campers and staff work and play hard logether and have an awesome time. Write or call Missy/ Nancy, Swift Water Girl Scout Council, 88 Harvey Road, Manchester, N.H.

GODFATHER'S PIZZA is now hiring for all positions for summer help. Delivery drivers have the opportunity to make competitive wages with flexible hours. Apply in person between 2p.m. and 5p.m. 1120

HIRING PART-TIME leasing agent for Friday after noons and daytime Saturdays. Apply in person at 1408 Cambridge Place at Park Place Apartments.

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for spring, Christmas and next summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1-805-682-7555 EXT.S-1112. (call 7 days a

BUDDY?

WHAT THE HELLISTHIS

IN A FOG?

UM ... SOMEONE

WILD, KINDA

CRAZY. FUN.

ALSO VERY

ACCEPTING.

I noticed the back

tire was low on air, so I filled

it up at a gas station.

BUT SHE KNOWS

YOU ATTACKED

HER AND RAN

OUTSIDE HALF

AN HOUR AGO!

THAT WAS

STUPENDOUS MAN.

HOT MILD-

MANNERED

CALVIN! I'VE

BEEN IN BED

WITH MY PJS

ON SINCE 8:00

HES TRYING

TO BE MORE

STYLISH.

LAWN CARE person wanted for large apartment community. Responsible for the maintenance of grounds and swimming pools. Horticulture or agri-cultural background helpful. Full time April through August Send resume to Collegian, Box 8, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

Kansas State Collegian Monday, April 9, 1990 Page 13

PART- OR full-time help needed for general farm and livestock work. 913-456-7215.

WE HAVE the ideal college job for fraternity and sorority members. Set own hours with extremely high monetary return. Job includes marketing imprinted sportswear and party favors to Greeks. Please call T.Graphics lost. Leuropec. KS 1, 690, 633, 633, T-Graphics, Inc. Lawrence, KS 1-800-633-0276.

> Cruise Ship Jobs HIRING Men - Women, Summer/ Year Round. PHOTOGRAPHERS, TOUR GUIDES, RECREATION PERSONNEL. Excellent pay plus FREE travel. Caribbean, Hawaii, Bahamas, South Pacific, Mexico. CALL NOW! Call refundable. 1-206-736-0775, Ext. 600NK

Radio Copywriter/Production Director

Immediate opening. KMAN-KMKF currently interviewing applicants for the position of permanent, full time copywriter-production director. Qualified candidates should have creative writing skills, preferably with experience in writing radio commercials, be able to meet deadlines, work well with people, and have commercial production experience, contact Amy Berg at KMAN-KMKF at 776-4851 for an interview.

IF 400 ASK

By Bob Berry

LEAVE IT

JOE.

By J. Hayden

By Jim

OH, AND HIS NAME

HAS TO BE "LON"

WOULD WORK.

... OR, I GUESS "DON."

But a little later

the tire was just as low on air as before.

YOU THINK

SHE'S GOING

TO BELIEVE

THAT?

PART-TIME HELP wanted (10-15 hours/ week). Duties will include data entry, prooling computer printouts, filling orders, typing and some heavy lifting. Preference given to applicants with computer experience. Important: Must be able to work full-time during summer, school breaks, and between fall and spring semesters. Interested? Contact Kim or Printons at $22,507.

Bridget at 532-5970. SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 openings. National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

TECHNICAL SUPPLIES manager, Varney's Book Store, Manhattan, Kansas. We are seeking an energetic, knowledgeable individual committed to giving excellent customer service. Reponsibilities include purchase, merchandising and sale of art and technical supplies. Experience with purchasing and inventory control systems and demonstrated supervisory experience required. Prefer individual with knowledge of art materials and related technical supplies. Prefer bachelor degree. Competitive cal supplies. Prefer bachelor degree. Competitiv salary, bonus and fringe benefits are offered. Deadline to apply: April 23, 1990. Submit letter of application, resume and references to: Jon Levin, Varney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave., Manhattan, Kansas 66502.

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for spring, Christmas and next summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1-805-682-7555 EXT. S-1112. (call 7 days a week)

9 Food Specials

Hunam Restaurant

Free Delivery 539-8888

12 Houses for Rent

1101 DENISON, 1846, 1814 Platt, one to five bedrooms to see evenings Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 7-9p.m. 539-3993.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1. Two-bedroom, yard, $345 plus utilities. Lease and deposit. 539-3672 evenings ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks east campus, laundry hookups. $285/ month, utilities, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1.

year lease, cepts. 539-3672 evenings. ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June 1 $295, 539-1554.

14 Lost and Found

BROWN LEATHER jacket stolen from The Forum near entrance. If you have information, please call 539-2134. Cash reward.

LOST: BLACK Lab neutered male. Lost Friday Aggie ville area. Reward. 776-8417 or 539-8365.

LOST: TWO gold rings in or around old football stadium. Sentimental value. 776-7621. Reward.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

12x65 MOBILE home. Two bedrooms, 17/y baths. Excellent condition. Call 537-2993. 1972 CHAMPION 12x60, two-bedroom. Good condition. With 8x10 deck. Available June 1. Evenings.

537-4279. 1988 14x70 Schult mobile home with three bedrooms

1% baths, 8x10-foot deck. Call 776-8477. IMMACI: ATE THREE-BEDROOM, two bath, central air, redwood decks. Call 539-9283 after 4p.m.

18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

1984 YAMAHA Virago: Black/ chrome, excellent condition, 4,500 miles, 537-4408.

ng new and used motorcycles. We are your

21 Personals

GIRL IN EeGee's- Short blonde hair, light colored blouse, white slacks. Said bye when left. Interested? Guy.

SCOPER—STILL interested. Check truck for message. Please respond. TOTA.

TEMPTIN' TY— Tantilize your tastebuds. We won't tell. Happy Birthday! From your Hot Happening Babes.

TO THE biology TA Wednesday— Thanks for the chair Do you want to go for a Coke?

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

EASTER'S ALMOST here! Registered mini-Lopp bunny, food and cage. For more information, call 776-6691.

SNAKE CAGE- 135 gallon aquarium and redwood stand. Leaks. As is, $200. Repaired, $250, 776-3785.

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums

Reptiles & Rabbits

34 Nose of airplane

Gauguin

37 Come into winners for love or for

Indigo'

(old song)

42 Revolt

48 Prison

49 Woe is advantage 50 DDE's view

41 Ending

40 Clio

35 Baseball

glove 36 Stand for an

1105 Waters 539-4751

23 Professional Services

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES and sororities! Spruce up your carpets and floors prior to the party season. Call TNT Professional Cleaners for a free estimate. 539-8120. Alumni owned and operated.

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day results. For appointment call: Pregnancy Testing Center

PERMS WITH cut, $25 to $30. Shampoo, cut, style, $10. Tanning, 10 for $18. 776-1330.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM abortion? Write: Hearts Restored,

Box 295, Colby, Kansas 67701. Confidential response will follow.

WEDDING FLOWERS by experienced floral designer Call for information. 776-2253.

·New bulbs

1126 Laramie

•14 tanning beds

Competitive prices

24 Resume/ Typing Service

CALL NOW! Resume Service offers 10 years experi

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms.

LETTER-QUALITY word processing. $1.25 double

NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals, re-sumes and more. Laser printing. Call 537-4146.

RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to

Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th 539-5147. WORD PROCESSING. College papers, resumes, let-ters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single, Quality Print, Betty, 539-6851, Ciallin

FEMALE ROOMMATE(S) needed for upcoming school

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for next year. No

Kelly, 532-5310 or Dana, 532-5306.

year. One block from campus. Washer/ dryer. $12 olus KPL. Call 537-2186 (Tammie) or 532-2182 smoker. $133/ month plus one-third utilities. Call to August Everything equals $120/ month. 776-9452. NEED TWO female roommates immediately! From nov block from campus, $157.50 month, one-half utilities, washer, dryer, off-street parking, 776-0063, leave message.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share nice apartment one

NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, own room by campus. $131.25 monthly, one-fourth utilities

NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, own room, laundry area, pool. $180 plus one-half utilities. 539-7324. Summer through next year.

house, free stall and pasture for horses, cattle.

from campus. $135 a month plus percent of utilities

Share kitchen and laundry facilities. Call either 913-966-2265 or 913-966-2171.

ROOM FOR rent in six-bedroom home. Four blocks

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Own room. $150 plus one-third electricity. Close to campus. 537-2863.

TWO ROOMMATES needed for summer, Across from Ford Hall. $140/ month. Free utilities, 539-4711.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

WINDSURFER ONE design, three sails, $750; Rocket

$134/ MONTH, per person, plus utilities, summer. Two-bedroom apartment, furnished, by City Park.

15 SECONDS from campus. Single, furnished. $230 plus electricity. June- July. Part of August free. 532-6334.

A $100 sublease, large room in big house, 1818 Fairchild. 539-1457, ask for Julie.

A NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, one fourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New carpet. Available anytime. Call, leave message sail, $600. 776-6073.

28 Sublease

776-3797.

537-7073.

20 Wood

23 VIP's

27 Oil-power under-yielding maker's

big job

rections

31 Pointed

36 Wield a

25 Hard to sorrel

Express, 10-foot, 6-inch transition board, 5.6m2

776-2074 ot 537-4641.

dogs. P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan.

25 Roommate Wanted

make an impression. One day service. Ross spaced page. Next-day delivery available. Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

dissertations, theses, etc. Call 776-4214.

ence in writing personalized resumes and cover letters. We provide permanent computer storage, typing of data sheets, and choice of laser- or letter-quality printing. 343 Colorado St. 537-7294.

Appointments available

WEDDING PLANS? Contact the profession Image Video. Book now. 539-0168. WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY. Over seven years of experience with wedding photography. Call for ment. Close to campus/ Aggieville. Call 776-4018 samples. 776-3785. Is negotiable. NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment close to camp Balcony, dishwasher and laundry facilities. Three people, $300, two people $250. 776-3340.

776-2426

SUN N NON-SMOKING FEMALE to sublease furnished apartment. $125/ month and one-fourth utilities. 776-2076. CONNECTION

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, 1% blocks from campus. Call 537-1365.

A NICE, three-bedroom, available mid-May through

A SPACIOUS three-bedroom apartment. Swimming pool, dishwasher, washer and dryer, partially furnished. Price and time available negotiable. 1530

BEFORE YOU decide on a summer sublease, you must

BIG TWO-BEDROOM, furnished, near campus and Aggieville. Available June to August. Clean. $425, 532-2479.

1st-CLASS APARTMENTS for June- July subleases.

FOR SUMMER—Large, two-bedroom. Great for three,

FREE SIX-PACK to first people to sublease our

NEWLY REMODELED one- to three-bedroom apart close to campus. $360 or best offer. 776-2378

rtment. Balcony, swimming pool, two-bedroom

Both one and two bedrooms, furnished or unfurnished, decks available, great locations. Call the Curtin Companies at 776-1222.

see this house located two blocks northwest of campus. Three bedrooms, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, large living room and kitchen, furnished.

College Ave., Apt. A-9. 776-0549.

able). Call 776-0535.

mid-August. Cable, partially furnished, two blocks from campus. $150/ month each person (negoti-

SUBLEASE: ONE- three people for three-bedroom apartment. June— July. Rent $395. Call 537-2666. ask for Melissa or leave message.

SUBLEASE: TWO-BEDROOM, one bath, gool, with option to rent. Open June 1. 539-4931 after 6p.m. SUBLEASE- NICE two-bedroom apartment for three to four people. One block from campus. Washer, dryer, dishwasher. $450 month. 539-4784. SUBLEASE-GREAT two-bedroom house right next to campus. $420/ month. Call 776-3384.

SUMMER- FOUR-BEDROOM, two-bathroom apartment with balcony, dishwasher, and laundry facili-ties. Near campus and Aggleville. Rent negotiable. 776-6095.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Nice, spacious two-bedroom apartment. Water and trash paid. $375. Call 776-6498.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Spacious, furnished, two-bedroom apartment close to campus. $375. Chris or Pat. 539-3097.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Large, two-bedroom unfurn ished apartment. $450 plus electricity. Negotiable Close to campus. 537-2863.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— June 1 -July 31 and or lease available through Aug. 1, 1991. Furnished, only large bedroom, excellent condition, private ball cony, across from Ford Hall. Perfect for one to three people. Price negotable Call 776-0715 Buildetween 5:30- 7p.m.

SUMMER SUBLEASE - one to two rooms in house will another roommate, right across the strend final campus. Male only, 776-5799

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Three-pedicon, brimshare or

SUMMER SUBLEASE Three-codicour is deck, backyard, washer dryin, may all 537-2101, leave message.

SUMMER SUBLEASE; Large, one begroot, unraided new carpet, classe to earliped. $200 m; art. 156, 776-8850 THREE BEDROOMS, one and pre-late bath, pre-late block from campus and Aggievin Panaly and ished. Call 776-3448. THREE-BEDROOM, two full baths, are full like as of campus, dishwasher. Dates fort himse

TWO-BEDROOM, FURNISHED, one black from carp-pus, Aggeville, Available June and July, $270, 776-4574.

30 Travel

GETTING TO K.C.I. AIRPORT SHOULDN'T BE A HASSLE! $25 or less

Call 539-2284 or 1-800-383-2817 or call your travel agent.

TRAVELERS

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE—Loft bed, in great shape $45. Price a negotiable. Call 532-3351 FOR SALE- Laft bed, in great shape $45 100 cm

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-10-2 16,000-cnaracter memory expansion card, spell corrector and many other features. Excellent condition. $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS- G.I. boots, sleeping bags, wool clothing for mountain campers, back packs, tents, wet weather gear, camo clothing, much more! St. Marys Surplus Sales. St. Marys, KS. 1-437-2734.

TANNING FACIAL lamp— Woolf System. Brand new Paid $200. Make offer! Call Tami at 776-6657.

33 Storage

NEED A place to store your things? For June and July, $20/ month. May Free. 776-1387.

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

Crossword

ACROSS

abbr.

5 Highland feeder

12 Good-must

14 " - boy!"

15 Prepared to fight parcels for north or south

clogged

20 Having an

23 Food fish

org.

for the ball

18 Become

17 Ending

16 Land

headgear

grooming

shortening

1 List-

By Eugene Sheffer

Garfield

By Jim Davis

By Bill Watterson

MY COVERS ARE

PAJAMAS ARE

HERE. IT'S AS

PLAIN AS CAN

BE!

Mi

HERE. MY

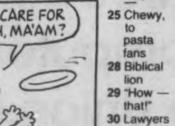

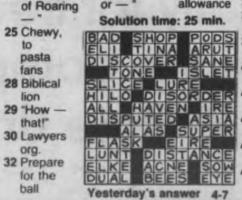

By Charles Schulz 24 "The Luck 51 "Felicity

blue command fault pencil 19 Waste allowance 38 Steno group canoe AAVEN TIRE canary

OTED ASTA
A4 Daughter of Cadmu

A5 CPL RE
ACNE SOW 46 Ring 46 Ring

DOWN

1 Aussie

bird

2 Dance

4 List of Bojangles

3 Black bird players

6 The law's is long

7 Bungled social cabin

10 Aleutian

island

11 Coarse

13 Find

9 Above

5 Coat or key 26 Sailors

8 Ship's main 29 Map-

37 — mater ist Peter 43 Cat or

39 Outrigger 40 Cartoonof Cadmus LINEN ACTUALLY CAME UP WITH SHEET MUSIC.

sparkler

21 Fragrant ointment 22 Arab ruler 32 44 45 33 Makes cor-34 Didn't fail CRYPTOQUIP

> HDT YVVAUAOXJ HDT

UOFGTSHTFJ' ESAYS DOZ -

O BTOX ZTFTB YEH Yesterday's Cryptoquip: UNWITTINGLY, THE COMPOSER WHO SCRIBBLED TUNES ON BED

Today's Cryptoquip clue: V equals F

House

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 tempted to explain the bill, Braden sternly lectured his colleagues, telling them he was embarrassed.

On April 5, after members killed a bill eliminating exemptions to the state sales tax, an attempt to move on to other business was stalled for about 20 minutes as members argued over whether a member had to signal his desire to speak by punching a button illuminating a white light on the vote board in order to be recognized to speak.

Just before the House adjourned the "white light" controversy came up again, when Braden recognized Majority Leader Robert H. Miller, R-Wellington with a motion to adjourn while Rep. Bill Reardon, D-Kansas City, had his light on. Reardon yelled that he had his light on first before Braden adjourned the

Some House members have blamed Braden for the lack of order in the House, saying he has lost con-

AS WE DO.

NEIGHBORHOOD

OUR PROMISE TO YOU:

WE AT CHARLIE'S PLEDGE TO

BRING YOU QUALITY DRINKS, AT

AFFORDABLE PRICES, IN THE SINCERE

HOPES THAT YOU HAVE AS MUCH FUN

S XOXOX.

SLICK, JOHN &

THE ENTIRE

STAFF OF

stablished 1983

trol of the rank-and-file membership. But others say the reason for the disorder is simple: there is no majority party in the House.

Sixty-eight of the House's 125 members are Republicans and 57 are Democrats. However, there are about a dozen Republicans who call themselves the "reform caucus" and pride themselves on being more conservative than Braden.

Their split also is personal. They view themselves as more intelligent, more responsive and more in touch with ordinary Kansans than Braden and what they call his "leadership

The power of the dissidents was evident Saturday. They took credit for forcing new rules that will prevent Sunday sessions and sessions past 9 p.m. without consent of the majority of representatives during the wrapup session that begins April

"There's not much cohesion in the majority party or, I suspect, frankly, in the minority party," said Rep. David Miller, R-Eudora, a rebel leader.

Open

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Brown said he was in Steel Ring with Keogh when one of their chemical engineering demonstrations went

"It turned out to make a 24-foot halo of fire that burned a woman's fur coat," he said. "We did things then that you can't do now."

Brown said the displays are more sophisticated now than while he was in college.

'They are more eye-catching," he said. "We tried to educate and that doesn't work today. People don't want to be educated, they want to be entertained."

Brown said he liked the changes in the College of Engineering that had occurred over the years.

"Women can be in chemical engineering," he said. "When I went, there were no ladies except one. Her father was the dean, Dean Durland."

They all agreed open house was and "look at kids who will own the world."

Prospective students had the opportunity to see what the University offers by visiting students, faculty and buildings.

Todd Cramer, Hastings, Neb., said he planned to visit Seaton Hall to learn about architectural engineering.

Cramer said he had received information about open house since last December.

"I am considering going to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln," he said. "But I think I will go here because I think it's a good school for architectural engineering.'

Bosco said this year's open house has been the strongest one in several

"It's important because students are deciding today where their home will be for the next four or five years," he said.

Read Collegian Ads!

Buy Our Food Bar at Regular Price and Get All The Shrimp You Can Eat For Under Two Clams.

$1.99 When You Buy Our Regular Price Food Bar.

Rural

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 control of grass weeds in winter wheat.

The committee was wary of endorsing biotechnology projects as examples of K-State research into sustainable agriculture.

Bentley said biotechnology could foster a more sustainable agriculture, but it could also drastically increase production capabilities, which would be disastrous for small and mediumsized family farms.

"Biotechnology research should be approached very carefully," he said. "It should be determined where this research is headed, what its broader implications are, and whether public funds should be supporting it.'

Woods said the goal of biotechnology is clear, and there should be less reluctance about it.

"Down the road a ways, biotechnology offers opportunity for reducing the dependency upon chemicals for disease and insect protection by the plant," he said. "I feel it is critical that we work and move in this particular area because of those opportunities.

"I suppose the concern is that if the results of that information were not handled properly, it could be for the detriment of agriculture and the farmer," Woods said.

Alchemedians

Bob Berky and Michael Moschen Tuesday, April 17, 8 p.m.

Team a mime who's like a cross between Robin Williams and Groucho Marx with a nimble-fingered wizard who's been called the Nijinsky of juggling. Give them toys from Pee-Wee's Playhouse and you've got the Alchemedians. Join them in their fanciful laboratory for a delirious evening of man and machine situations filled with comedy, breathtaking beauty, and magical virtuosity.

> General Public: $12 Senior Citizens: $10 Students/Children: $8

Mid-America Arts Alliance Program with the Kansas

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University Tickets now on sale. Call (913) 532-6428 and charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA. Box office hours: noon

Transportation for senior citizens available through Kansas State Bank, in cooperation with the Manhattan Arts Council. For information and reservations, call

Topeka KS 66612

Tuesday, April 10, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 129

Oliver Kaubisch/Staff

Anne Murphy, executive director of the American Arts Alliance spoke on "Exploring Truth: Art in a Political World" at McCain during the Convocation Lecture Series.

Speaker: Fight censors

Arts leader says people must promote freedom

By Lori Stauffer Collegian Reporter

Those who believe in the arts should be willing to stand up and support them, said Anne Murphy, executive director of the American Arts Alliance.

'You are a part of this country," Murphy said. "The direction the country takes depends on you. Remember that the legislature is a reflectve body. Write to your congressmen; write to your senators. Tell them, We support a creative America.' Tell them censorship doesn't work."

Murphy was speaking about "Exploring Truth: Art in a Political World" as part of Monday's Convocation Lecture in McCain.

Murphy said art should stand or fall based on the judgement of time, not legislatures. She said individuals decide what they like and those individuals who make up society choose what is passed on to be judged in the

Murphy is concerned that different groups are trying to decide for society what is good or bad art.

'Various pulpits would have you believe that if you're supporting the arts, you're really supporting pomography," she said. "If you listen to this rising voice, they would have you believe that only they know what bad art is; that only they should should be the ones to show creativity; that only they can save you from bad art or from yourself."

Murphy said she didn't want to be in a world where "they" may suspend the First Amendment or where a self-appointed "they" tell her what is good and what is bad.

"I want to be able to see and judge for myself. I may agree that what they say is bad is bad, but I want to make that decision for myself," she said.

To accomplish this, Murphy said; all of those who believe the Constitution gives both the freedom of expression and the freedom of choice must work together to convince censorship is not wanted.,

"Those who get involved will send a strong message to the 'they' and the 'them' that America is 'us,'" she said. "Censorship can never work as long as people demand the freedom to choose for themselves."

Murphy said there are those who would like to see the National Endowment for the Arts abolished and there are some who would like it to control funds to restrict artistic expression.

The grants given by the organization are awarded to an artist based on past works and a review of that work by a panel of fellow citizens who are working in the same medium or field. They are not given in lieu of spe-■ See MURPHY, Page 10

Greenpeace targets pollution problems

By The Collegian Staff

Christopher Childs, environmental activist and Greenpeace spokesperson, summed up Greenpeace's tactics for saving the environment in four words.

"Be in the way."

Childs presented a slide show titled "Greenpeace: Past, Present and Future" to a packed house in the K-State Union Forum Hall Monday.

The presentation highlighted the international organization's nonviolent, confrontational approach to protecting and preserving the environment of the Earth. Greenpeace is working to establish Antarctica as a world park, immune from fossil fuel development by domestic oil companies or foreign countries.

Childs said Greenpeace operates under two principles - non-violent action and bearing witness to truth.

"Stand up for what you believe is true," said Childs, who began work with Greenpeace in 1987.

He challenged the audience to be informed and inspired, and to look at the world in a whole new way. "The number one environmental issue is probably pollution," Childs said. "Pollution is the most obvious target, and the most prominent is water pollution."

ing a motive and taking a stand, he said. They must consider what issues affect their lives, such as the landfill problem that is of concern to Riley County residents.

"We have to recycle and reuse and learn to reduce the amount of trash saving whales," Childs said. "Be-put out," Childs said. "Landfills must become the center of recycling activity."

Greenpeace gets its publicity from doing "showy" things that get the media's attention, Childs said. Many Kansans can get involved by pick- of the stunts are risky because they often involve climbing smoke stacks or other tall structures to hang banners supporting the Greenpeace movement.

"The most knowledge of Greenpeace is probably from work with tween 30,000 to 40,000 whales were dying each year at the hands of 17 whaling nations."

Greenpeace uses inflatable motorboats to obstruct the line of fire by whaling ships. This campaign started in 1975, but no serious injuries have been suffered because of this action.

There is quite a lot to learn from living whales," Childs said, "and nothing to learn from dead ones."

The slide show presented the organization's efforts to save other endangered species such as dolphins, sea turtles, seals, penguins and kangaroos. Greenpeace is also working on preventing the destruction of rain forests, which Childs said is wiping out habitat and species and creating a biological desert. The burning of the trees releases carbon and carbon dioxide and contributes to the greenhouse effect, he said.

"What you send out sooner or later will come back," Childs said.

The Greenpeace movement began in 1971 in British Columbia, Canada.

Van Zile repairs almost finished

Fall occupancy to offer two-bed suites, carpeted rooms, semi-private bathrooms

By Stacie Sanders Collegian Reporter

Van Zile Hall renovations are on schedule in making the building ready for fall occupancy.

Jim Costello, assistant superintendent from Building Systems Corp. of Wichita, said the construction is on schedule and should be completed by

There have been problems here and there, but nothing we can't overcome," he said.

The architects for the renovations are Black and Veatch of Kansas City, said Charles Werring, director of

The original bond issue for Van Zile was $5 million, he said.

"When all is said and done, it'll be about $7 million," Werring said. Included in the $7 million was the installation of air conditioning in Boyd and Putnam halls, he said.

Van Zile was closed about five years ago because of declining occupancy and the need for extensive building repairs.

The accommodations are being converted from the traditional twobed rooms into suite living arrangements where adjoining rooms share a bathroom, Werring said.

Double and single rooms are available and offer a larger living space for about 68 students, he said.

"The bulk of the occupancy will be upper-division students - juniors, seniors and graduate students," Werring said.

Bob Burgess, assistant director of housing, said a Van Zile double room will cost $420 per monthly installment with four installments paid per semester. Four installments of $445 each will be paid for a Van Zile single room, he said. Burgess said the cost for occupancy of other residence halls will be $320 per installment. He said several factors account for the difference in the cost of installments between Van Zile and the other residence halls.

The cost of renovation, the increased offerings such as carpeted rooms and hallways and the private or semi-private bathrooms are some factors contributing to the increased cost, Burgess said.

Werring said the hall is filled and a waiting list of 25 students has accumulated. The last day to sign up for the waiting list was April 6.

Dean of Engineering Donald Rathbone addressed the issue of the engineering fee at a forum in Durland Hall Monday. The forum attracted about 40 students and faculty. BELOW: Hermann Donnert, professor of nuclear engineering, questions the nature of the engineering fee.

Senate to continue UFM funding review

By Heather Stewart Collegian Reporter

UFM will continue its plea for funding from Student Senate at 6 p.m. tonight in the Union Big Eight Room.

UFM's key question for senators concerns the criteria that decides whether a student organization receives funding, said Richard Friesen, director of UFM.

"At the meeting tonight, we will be there to answer questions and reinforce that there are approximately 3,000 students at K-State involved with UFM," Friesen said.

He said there has been a 15 percent increase in the number of students taking UFM classes this year.

Friesen said the criteria applied to UFM is not the same used to review

"UFM only serves a certain number of students, but that is the same with other student groups," he said. "It is very difficult for us to understand the criteria the Finance Committee is using to make its decisions.

'We asked for a written explanation of the criteria the Finance Committee followed in reviewing UFM last week and still have not received it," Friesen said.

Chris Kern, Senate chairman, said the Student Affairs and Social Services Committee reviewed UFM last year and looked at whether Senate should continue funding the organization. We decided to gradually phase them out over the next five years by cutting their funds approximately 15-20 percent a year," Kern said. "The types of classes offered was one reason for this decision." ■ See SENATE, Page 10

Rathbone: Fee approval needed

College of Engineering accreditation may be compromised without funds

By Gregory A. Branson Collegian Reporter

Accreditation for the College of Engineering could be compromised if an engineering fee is not approved, said Donald Rathbone, dean of the College of Engineering.

Almost 40 engineering students and faculty, including several engineering student senators, Rathbone and Provost James Coffman discussed the proposed engineering fee at a forum Monday sponsored by Engineering Student Council.

Rathbone said there is strong student support for the fee in the College of Engineering. A similar fee was proposed in fall 1988 which Rathbone said had 80 percent approval by engineering students. The previous proposal would have charged engineering students $100 per semester. The proposal asked the state Legislature to match any funds the fee generated.

Rathbone was skeptical about the Legislature providing matching funds on the current fee proposal.

"The Legislature has not done the job they should be doing on this issue," he said. "They haven't done the job in the past, so I'm not optimistic."

The proposal being debated across the campuses of Wichita State University, the University Kansas and K-State would charge $15 per engineering credit hour.

The $15 per-credit-hour figure originated because WSU has more part-time students and the proposed ■ See FEE, Page 10

World

Death toll raised in ferry fire

LYSEKIL, Sweden (AP) - Police reached the midship cabins of a burned-out ferry Monday and found families who died together at the heart of the fire, the bodies of parents lying over children in a desperate attempt to save them.

Inspector Leif Skoglund raised the estimated death toll to 170 in the suspicious weekend blaze that destroyed the Norwegian North Sea ferry Scandinavian Star. He said one victim in every four may have been a child.

"It was incredible," he said, groping for words to describe the scene. "They are so badly burned."

Police in Oslo, Norway, said the death toll could reach 200. Spokesman Arne Huuse said the figures were unreliable, constantly changing, and a conclusive count might not be available

Novelist faces 'phenomenon'

LIMA, Peru (AP) - Novelist Mario Vargas Llosa, once considered a sure bet to become Peru's next president, has found himself sidetracked by the "Fujimori phenomenon."

Alberto Fujimori, the son of Japanese immigrants and a political unknown until a month ago, forced the country's most famous novelist into a runoff and is now favored to win the Public opinion analysts say Fujimori's strong second-place finish in Sunday's election reflected Peruvians' alienation from the traditional political parties and their desire for miraculous, painless solutions to the country's ills.

"It was not a rational vote. It was a protest vote against the other candidates," said Alfredo Torres, media director for APOYO, a market research firm.

Fujimori, a 51-year-old agricultural engineer, received 29 percent of the vote Sunday to 33.9 percent for the 54-year-old Vargas Llosa, according to unofficial returns.

Nation

Exxon enters innocent plea

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Exxon and its subsidiary, Exxon Shipping Co., pleaded innocent Monday to five-count criminal indictments charging them with violating various federal laws in the nation's worst oil spill a year ago.

Exxon and Exxon Shipping entered their pleas in separate arraignments before U.S. District Judge John E. Roberts late Monday afternoon.

The two Feb. 27 indictments stem from the March 24, 1989, spill of nearly 11 million gallons of North Slope crude oil from the tanker Exxon Valdez, which ran aground and ripped its bottom open on a charted reef outside shipping lanes in Prince William Sound.

Billboards bring lawsuit

ANDERSON, S.C. (AP) - Anderson County Sheriff Gene Taylor was only looking to catch drug dealers when he erected billboards promising to pay informants. Instead he's caught flak from his critics and a $40 million lawsuit.

Billboards around the county which read, "Need Cash? Turn in a drug dealer," wrongly lure ordinary citizens into dangerous undercover law enforcement, say detractors of the Anderson

Under Taylor's two-month-old "Operation Roll Over," drug buyers or confidential informants are paid as much as 25 percent of the assets seized from any dealer they help arrest. Those who testify in court are paid more.

Shuttle to release telescope CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - NASA said there was only a 40 percent chance that weather would delay Tuesday's launch of the space shuttle Discovery on its mission to place a telescope in orbit to look toward the edge of the universe.

Launch of the 35th shuttle mission from Kennedy Space Center was set for 8:47 a.m. EDT. There was a chance that low clouds could push that time back.

Once in orbit, the Hubble Space Telescope, 43 feet long, 14 feet in diameter and weighing 24,250 pounds, will be lifted out of Discovery's cargo bay with the ship's mechanical arm, given an exacting checkout, and will be dropped overboard Wednesday afternoon if all goes well.

The telescope, being launched seven years late because of technical problems and the 1986 Challenger accident, represents an investment of more than $2 billion - $1.5 billion for the telescope itself and $600 million for spare parts, astronaut training and ground support. It will cost $200 million a year to operate and maintain.

The flight is deemed so important that all five of the crew are veterans of previous flights. Commander Loren Shriver and pilot Charles Bolden each have flown once before.

Mission specialists Bruce McCandless II and Kathryn Sullivan not only have flown before but also have space-walking experience. They'll be ready to make space walks to rectify any problems with the telescope.

KU devises race relations plan

LAWRENCE (AP) - University of Kansas officials unveiled a plan Monday designed to improve race relations on campus, in the wake of an alleged racial slur against a black student delivering pizzas to a fraternity.

David Ambler, vice chancellor for student affairs, said the school would begin to teach student organization leaders about cultural diversity this fall. In addition, a student advisory committee will be appointed to the KU Office of Minority Affairs.

Also, an advisory panel will review the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, one of whose members is accused of making the racial slur. The panel made up of students, administrative staff and a faculty member must issue a report on the group's racial attitudes by semester's end, to dean of student life Caryl Smith.

The panel also will recommend action to deal with any problems that are identified, but KU spokesman Tom Hutton said it was not a disciplinary panel.

Ambler's plan was outlined in a memo to the heads of student organizations.

Teen charged with sex crimes

WICHITA (AP) - An 18-year-old was charged with several sexual assault crimes Monday in connection with a weekend incident involving girls 14 years and 18 months old.

Willard Mathenia, of Wichita, was charged with aggravated rape, aggravated criminal sodomy and indecent liberties with a Sedgwick County District Judge Owen Ballinger ordered him held in lieu of $100,000 bail.

Mathenia allegedly visited a southeast Wichita home where two teen-agers were babysitting several children from the neighborhood.

The indecent liberties charges allege the defendant fondled a

The other counts relate to assaults on the 18-month-old youngster, who was hospitalized and was in fair condition

CAMPUS BULLETIN

1 ( Tuesday

- Women in Communications Inc. will have elections at 7 p.m. in Ked-
- U-LearN will present "Why, God, Why Me?" a seminar on incest, from noon to 1:30 p.m. in Holton 16 as part of the Brown Bag Learning Series on
- Department of Geology will present "Radiogenic Gases and Hydrothermal Circulation in Fractured Rocks," a seminar by Eric Durrance, at 4 p.m. in Thompson 213.
- Pre-Law Adviser will have a meeting on deadlines and application requirements from 2:30 to 4:45 p.m. in Union 209 for all students interested in attending law school in fall 1991.
- Society for the Advancement of Management meeting has been postponed until next week.
- Phi Upsilon Omicron initiates and officers meet at 5:30 p.m. in Union 207 for initiation.
- Alpha Lambda Delta will meet at 5 p.m. in Union 212 for initiation and a banquet.
- Community Enrichment will have orientation to windsurfing and registration for classes from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in Ahearn 205.
- Don Fallon will present "Ethics of Leadership" as part of the Emerging Leader series at 4 p.m. in Union 206. All interested student leaders are
- Russian Table will meet from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Union.
- Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.
  - Phi Eta Sigma will meet at 5 p.m. in Union 213 for initiation.
- Society for Creative Anachronism will meet at 6:30 p.m. on the east side of City Park.
- Bonnie Davis will present "Women in Literature" at 2:30 p.m. in Union
- Block & Bridle Seniors will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Weber 121 to select officers and rookie of the year. All applications are due at 5 p.m.
- Political Science Club will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.
- Hospitality Management Society will meet at 8 p.m. in the Justin lobby.

CORRECTION

In the April 9 edition of the Collegian, the wrong cutline was placed under a photograph for a Spring Dance '90 performer. The person photographed was Marian Petersen, senior in education. The Collegian regrets the error.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, partly cloudy, windy and cooler. High in the mid-50s. North to northeast winds 15 to 25 mph. Tonight, mostly cloudy. Low in the low to mid-30s. Wednesday, partly cloudy and continued cool. High in the upper 40s to lower 50s.

310

Arts and Science Student of the Semester

All students in the College of Arts and Sciences are eligible and encouraged to apply. Applications are available in the Arts and Sciences Deans Office.

Applications are due by April 13.

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT JOHNSON CO. KANSAS

Clerical Positions Light Industrial

File Clerks Typists Word Processors Data Entry Receptionists

Packers Assembly Warehouse General Labor Lawn Maintenance

*NO FEES*

Temporaries 913/491-0944

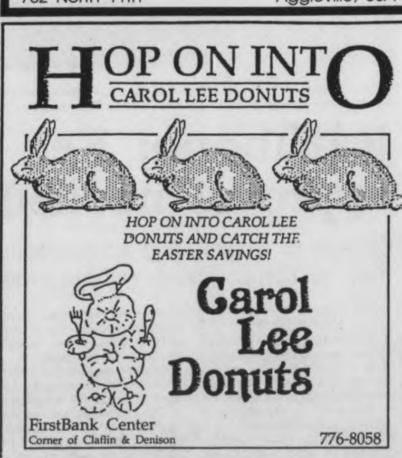

Call collect for details & application

Longnecks No Cover!

OPEN at 4:00 702 North 11th

776-0077 Aggieville, USA

DONUT LOVERS DOZEN

Offer Good Thru 6/30/90

DONUT LOVERS DOZEN

Offer Good Thru 6/30/90

DONUT LOVERS

DOZEN

Look No Further...

I bedroom, furnished, new carpet

Villa 11

526 N. 14th

375 428-430 N. 6th Gold Key

For more information call Moore Management 776-1111

Choices

Recreation Area offers activities

By Ingrid Erickson Collegian Reporter

The K-State Union Recreation Area offers much more than 16 lanes of bowling.

"There are a lot of seniors on campus that don't even realize all of this is down here," said John Garetson, assistant manager of the recreation

"A lot of K-State students come through around lunchtime, many just for the crushed ice machine at the snack bar or to play pool," said Rob Brune, student employee and junior in mechanical engineering.

In addition to the 16 lanes of bowling, the recreation area has 14 billiard tables, three snooker tables, a carom table, dart boards, video games, a bigscreen TV, a metal photo and engraving service, lockers and a full bowling pro shop.

A new snack bar opened in August. It is open for lunch Monday through Friday and during the evenings for league bowlers and league billiard players.

Bowling is one of the most popular services in the recreation area, Garetson said. The Union has had bowling lanes since the building was constructed in 1957. There were eight lanes in the Catskellar. The total was eventually increased to 16 lanes when the recreation area was completed in The lanes are open to the public but are used for league and intercollegiate games.

"If you like to bowl, try a league," said Jeff Morgan, senior at Manhattan High School.

Morgan said he has been bowling for six years and became involved in the Union bowling leagues four years

Leagues are formed each semester about a week after enrollment and are completed a week before finals, Garetson said.

"It is very structured, but we try to accommodate everyone," he said.

Sixteen bowling leagues consisting of eight teams each are competing this semester. Total league membership is about 500 people, Garetson said. If all leagues are filled to capacity, there are about 130 bowlers in the recreation area each night.

Morgan said he bowls on one team with his mother, and on another team in a separate league, with two K-State students. Morgan captains both teams and said both are in first place.

Kenneth Garwick, Manhattan, bowls as part of a family team called the Four Grand in the recreation area of the K-State Union Sunday afternoon.

'(If you) are a good bowler, you get more practice in a league," he

Morgan bowls regularly on Sundays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays.

The recreation area also offers billiards leagues. Both bowling and billiard leagues compete in the summers, but on a smaller scale, Garetson said.

The University has competed in intercollegiate bowling since the 1960s, Garetson said. Men's and women's teams consist of five members each. Terri Eddy, recreation area manager, coaches the women's team. Garetson coaches the men's team.

K-State competes against teams from the University of Kansas, Emporia State University, Wichita State University, University of Nebraska-Lincoln and University of Nebraska-Omaha.

About 250 students also take bowling classes in the recreation center each semester, said Brune, who has taught the course.

Garetson said business at the recreation area is successful.

Campus chapels for all religions

Danforth, All Faiths offer wedding ceremonies to couples of different denominations, faiths

> By Chris McEntee Collegian Reporter

Many couples use the Danforth and All Faiths chapels, located on campus for their weddings, because they provide a nondenominational atmosphere.

"The two chapels are all-faiths chapels, meaning no religious or denominational symbols are used," said Diane Novak, assistant for University room scheduling. "Many couples have used the chapels because one person is of one faith and the other is of another and they compromise on an all-faiths chapel."

Although the two chapels are located on campus, couples do not have to be students to be married there, she said.

Last year, there were six weddings in All Faiths and 27 in Danforth.

Danforth Chapel is used for more weddings because the music department practices in All Faiths, leaving less time available for weddings, Novak said.

Faculty members Tom and Margaret Hecker were married in the All Faiths Chapel. They felt the name of the chapel was fitting because they were not of any set religion, said Tom Hecker, business librarian.

"We are searching for a church to belong to and by getting married in All Faiths, we were not forced to decide our religion too quickly,"

He said the chapel was void of all symbolism and was the right atmosphere for the wedding they wanted. People who attended the wedding were from Jewish, Moslem and other religous backgrounds, he said.

"We also chose All Faiths because it was in walking distance and all of the wedding party could stay at the University Inn," Hecker

He said his wife was raised a Lutheran and he was of no religious denomination. The couple were married by her brother- in-law who is a Lutheran minister.

"We did not go through marriage classes because we are in our mid-30s and the classes were waived," he said.

Tracy and Heather Werdehausen were married in Feburary in Danforth Chapel because they were searching for a religous denomination they could be happy with, said Heather Werdehausen, sophomore in pre-

"I am not a member of any church and I liked the way Danforth is set up," she said. "It has pretty stained glass windows and is a very convenient place to have a wedding.

"My husband is in the Army and the church he attends is back in Missouri," she said." We were not settled in yet and did not have time to decide on a church in time for the wedding."

A retired minister who was a family friend officiated at the ceremony, which was attended by about 40 friends and relatives, Werdehausen said.

"Danforth Chapel seats 70 people," she said "For the small- size wedding we wanted,

Accreditation likely for journalism school

By The Collegian Staff

The journalism accrediting committee that visited K-State last fall has recommended that the A.Q. Miller School of Journalism and Mass Communications be reaccredited.

Carol Oukrop, director of the school, said she believes the national Accrediting Council on Education in Journalism and Mass Communications will reaccredit the school. However, she said it is common for the council to reject recommendations.

"It's not assured, but I would be flabbergasted if we were not reaccredited," she said.

Twelve categories were evaluated when the accrediting team visited in October: governing and administration; budget; curriculum; student records and advising; instruction and evaluation; faculty; internships; equipment and facilities; faculty scholarship; research and professional activities; public service; graduate and alumni; and minority and female representation.

Oukrop said the committee did not find deficiencies in any category during its visit. A letter to Oukrop from Don Schultz, chair of the accrediting committee, said the national council will review the report and recommendations before announcing its deci-

The school was denied reaccreditation in 1986 because of its failure to comply with a requirement that journalism students must complete 90 hours outside the school, Oukrop said.

not valid with other offers 1106 Laramie

office

Westloop Shopping Center 776-6864

Computer Furniture Machine Stands

10-20% OFF

Sale thru April 14

YOUR FAVORITE SPECIALS from 8 p.m. to closing Sunday-Thursday. APRIL 8-12:

SHAKES 99¢

GUARANTEED STUDENT LOANS

IT'S NEVER BEEN SIMPLER!

- · Loan Approval in as Little as 2 Days
- · Largest Local Student Loan Lender. · Over 30,000 Student Loans Processed.
- Let Our Professional In-House Staff Assist You with Your Next Student Loan.

Lender Code # 821176

KANSAS STATE BANK Wests op • Downtown • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, 537-4400

Applications available Mon., April 2 in Calvin 107 due Fri., April 13, 5:00

Interviews following to select 25 new ambassadors for the 1990-91 year.

Requirements=3.0 gpa, full-time CBA Student

THE

Come in soon and let us help you fill your Easter Baskets.

Chocolate Bunnies Baskets Grass Tissue Crabtree & Evelyn We will be closed Easter Sunday, April 15

Candy Eggs

Stuffed Bunnies

Balloons

Stickers

704 N. MANHATTAN • IN AGGIEVILLE • 539-7654 MON.-THURS. 8:30-8:30 · FRL-SAT. 8:30-5:30 · SUN. 12:00-5:00

EDITORIAL

Boy's fight with AIDS also fight against fears

When most children were confronting acne and trying to "fit in" in junior high school, Ryan White was confronting AIDS.

While most children were trying to avoid the teasing of their peers, White faced the bigotry and hysteria of adults who believed acquired immune deficiency syndrome was an easily transmitted disease.

White was not an exceptional child. In fact he said his greatest desire was to be normal. But circumstance forced him to take exceptional actions to maintain what normalcy he could in the face of impending mortality.

After being kicked out of school because he had AIDS, White went cold or flu, should give all Amerito court to be reinstated. The courts agreed with him.

move because of the fears of their question is not what have we lost neighbors in spite of his reinstatement, White overcame the fears of his classmates at a new school by explaining to them the realities of the disease.

Explaining the realities of AIDS plight ignored.

In recent weeks, Student Senate

90 percent of its time dealing with rules, procedures and guidelines, the legislative process have been

Room into a nightmarish pit of bu-

In the midst of tentative allocations, Senate has wasted time with such things as an amendment to change a postage budget by 40 cents, an objection to a friendly amendment to change a typographical error and numerous motions and points of order that have no bearing on the matter at hand. Sereaucatic red tape.

rules.

rules that are supposed to facilitate budget late.

became a regular part of his life. White explained the fears of those afflicted with the disease to congressional committees and journalists from the national news media.

White said he wanted to live five years, because by then a cure would be found for AIDS, which he contracted from a treatment for hemophilia.

White lived five years after being told he had AIDS. He died Sunday morning in an Indianapolis

That it would take a child to shame a nation into realizing that AIDS is not the punishment of an angry god unleashed against a sexual minority, but a disease, like the cans pause.

And in that moment of reflec-After his family was forced to tion, perhaps the most terrible with the death of Ryan White and the thousands of others AIDS has claimed, but what has been lost within America that it would allow them to die hated, afraid - their

But for a brief moment last nightmare and put people ahead of the rules. Black Student Union was

This did not happen without a training who write the rules. Many of their speeches began with, "This is a good group worthy of funding, lateness of the budget request had no effect on the workings of Finance Committee, the rule enforcers kept up the drumbeat to cut the group entirely. They were willing to obliterate a much-needed group

Even when it was made clear the UFM is used by more than 10% of the student body. It s enrollment is up 15% from last year. It creates goodwill between the students and the community. It helps to attract quality faculty. It sparks some into returning to school. When something works this well there's only one thing to do.

UFM worthy of funding

he Senate Finance Committee believes Student Governing Association's funding of UFM should be cut off. They state the cost of UFM outweighs its benefits to the student body of K-State and not enough students are involved.

This is false. UFM does affect a large number of students. Moreover, the SGA money that ends up going toward the community instead of directly to the students comes back to benefit the University. UFM also helps to attract good faculty to K-State. Finally, UFM attracts students and changes lives for the

The greatest fallacy of the Finance Committee's statements is the outright lie in saying that UFM does not involve enough students. UFM affects about 3,000 members of the student body. With the possible exception of U-LearN, this is more than any other student-funded organization. Three thousand is also comparable to the number of students who participate in SGA elections. Yet the Finance Committee shows no sign of cutting the SGA budget due to lack of student involvement or interest. What's more, student enrollment in UFM classes is up 15 percent this year from last, and UFM is working for a similar or greater increase pext year.

Even without considering this, the investment into the community returns to K-State. UFM provides a place where the students and the community interact; this creates goodwill on both sides. UFM helps people in the community feel that K-State and its students are actively part of the community. And people appreciate that the student body contributes funding to an organization that benefits the whole community, rather than only

It may interest the Finance Committee to know that people who feel goodwill toward the University are much, much more likely to contribute to the endowments of K-State. UFM does a great deal to generate goodwill Paul Davidson in the community; this ultimately leads to money for scholarships and other projects that benefit the students (of all people).

Besides the community's goodwill, UFM is helpful in recruiting good faculty. K-State has a library, resources and salaries that are far inferior to those of most other large universities. But it doesn't have an inferior faculty for two reasons. One reason is the earnest, hard-working student body of K-State. The other is the community of Manhattan; professors come to K-State because they are convinced that Manhattan is small and livable, but a very vital and active community. UFM is a large part of what shows Manhattan to be more than a small town that happens to have a college. The department of agriculture, for instance, routinely uses profiles of UFM in its faculty recruitment literature. While the Finance Committee may not care what sort of professors are teaching classes here, many students surely feel otherwise. UFM helps to attract good professors when low salaries and Farrell Library encourage them to go elsewhere.

inally UFM attracts students to K-State and changes lives for the better. In some cases, like those of Evelyn Campbell and Anita Madison, UFM was the spark that led to a degree. Campbell took a UFM course in 1984, and it made her decide to enroll as a student at K-State. "Now I have a degree. Without the UFM course I would never have gone to college — I had no interest," she said. Madison was interested in starting a free university in her home town. It didn't work out then, but her interest in UFM led her to return to school and finish her degree at K-State. They both became K-State students because of UFM, and they both live different lives than before.

UFM also runs a program for which K-State students receive academic credit to tutor at-risk students in Manhattan, and UFM houses HOME, a low-cost housing improvement program, and The FONE Crisis Center. All of these benefit people, and tutoring is another way K-State can ultimately get new students it wouldn't otherwise.

This is a brief summary of how UFM does involve a significant number of students and benefits the University and student body far beyond the amount of money given by SGA. The money, while not a large amount, is vital eration. Only about 27 percent of UFM's $500,000 budget is unrestricted cash. This is the core budget used to publish catalogues and brochures, pay some salaries, and meet the organization's day-to-day expenses. The Finance Committee's recommended cut-off is 10 percent of the total core budget of UFM. Combined with Continuing Education's reductions, this is 25 percent of the working budget. That is far more than UFM can handle all at once; it could shut down UFM within a few years.

This benefits no one. In Student Senate's reserves there is more than twice the amount of money needed to cover the allocations asked for by UFM. At the very least this should be used to cover UFM's small cost; it deserves much more.

The best way to get involved is to show up at the Senate allocations meeting tonight at 6 p.m. in the Union Big Eight room.

Paul Davidson submitted this column at the request of UFM, S.A.V.E. and Southwind. Davidson is an undeclared sophomore.

S-YEAR WAITING LIST-

nate has become mired in its own on account of a technicality. It's a refreshing change they did not.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Senate finally avoids bureaucratic red tape has fallen into the habit of spending week, Senate broke out of this and 10 percent actually getting allocated money even though it something accomplished. The broke the rules and submitted its used to turn the Union Big Eight fight from the bureaucrats-in-

	News Staff
EDITOR	Erwin Seb
	Paula Selb
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR	Catherine Doug
NEWS EDITOR	Craig Hamrid
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Eric Henry
PHOTO EDITOR	Brad Cam
SPORTS EDITOR	Chris Hay
CAMPUS EDITORS	Filen Davton Susan I Ecuve
EPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Robert Shor
FEATURES EDITOR	Julie Andsage
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EL	DITOR
COVERNMENT EDITOR	Chris Koge
COPY CHIEF	Nancy Downing
COPY EDITORS	Wendy Nakoneczny, Jane Thompson, Angela Walts
TAFF REPORTERS	Lori Antrim, Paul Branson, Kirk Caraway
THE RESULTED THE PROPERTY OF T	Steve Franzen, Cosima Hadidi, Lori Mikesell, Tomari Quinn, Melissa Simpson
CIENCE REPORTER	Bryan Ackles
STAFF PHOTOGRAPHERS	Bryan Ackley
	Mark Leffingwell, David Mayes, Mike Venso, Steve Wolgast
PORTS REPORTERS	Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan Wicker
COLUMNISTS	Karin Dell'Antonia Audra Dietz
OLOMINO IO	Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Mussman, Brad Seabourn
REVIEWERS	Mark Butler, Rod Gillespie
ALTETTERS	Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggins Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hayden
TRIP CARTYVANISTS	Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, IIII Hayden
CATABIAL CAPTOONIET	Richard Broadfoot
DITORIAL BOARD	Julie Andsager, Ellen Dayton, Catherine Doud,
	Erwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svoboda Kirk Caraway
	Advertising Staff
DVERTISING MANAGER	Sara Shutler
CCICTANT MANACER	Dan Golden
AMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Metz
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MAN	IAGERJohan Koel
DVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES	ACCOUNT EXECUTIVES Debbie Dinges, Renee Harold Paul Heier, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggina, Manual Stockholm Annu Zich
	Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zick
PAPLIC APTISTS	Laura Boone, Paul Fleming
NUCTOCO A DIJUDO	Oliver Kaubisch, Gary Lytle
DUEDTICING PRODUCTION ASS	ISTANTS Dana Franklin, Tammy Ginn.
DIERIBLIO PRODUCTION ASS	ISTANTS Dena Franklin, Tammy Ginn, Doug Griffith, Tammi Landis
The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 25	91 (IZO), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications . 66506. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and Monsessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.
ey and Thursday during summer
ay and Thursday during summer POSTMASTER: Send address change	es to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhat-
ay and Thursday during summer POSTMASTER: Send address changen, Kan. 66506-7167.	tes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhat- ted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adver- to (913) 532-6555.
ay and Thursday during summer POSTMASTER: Send address changen, Kan. 66506-7167.	ted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adverto (913) 532-6555.
ay and Thursday during summer POSTMASTER: Send address change In, Kan. 66506-7167.  News contributions will be accept Inquiries concerning local, national a sing questions should be directed	ted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adverto (913) 532-6555.  Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates
ay and Thursday during summer POSTMASTER: Send address changen, Kan. 66506-7167.  News contributions will be accept Inquiries concerning local, national a sing questions should be directed	ted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adver- to (913) 532-6555.  Kanass State Collegian Subscription Rates

To charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555 to Student Publications, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

UFM greatly needed

Editor,

The Student Senate in its budgetary deliberations will determine whether UFM lives or dies. It is not unreasonable for the Finance Committee to ask whether the students are getting their money's worth, but it is essential for them and all of us to recognize what UFM offers to the University.

Most obviously, hundreds of students take courses at UFM each term. Whether the subject is home or auto maintenance, handicrafts, cooking, photography, gardening, insurance or income tax, the courses offer people information or skills or experiences without the formality and stress of the University. That students should take courses as a break from their coursework may seem incongruous, but UFM offers the opportunity and K-State's students take it.

UFM also provides the University with an incubator for ideas. The FENIX program, for example, which serves our growing population of students over age 25, originated at UFM. There, at minimal expense to the University, it grew and demonstrated its value, proving that it was worthy of the official sponsorship it now enjoys. Experiments such as this are relatively easy at a place like UFM, which flourishes on flexibility and volunteerism; they are far more difficult at the University, where annual budgets, civil service classifications and all the other elements of institutional inertia make it difficult either to create new programs or to eliminate unsuccessful ones.

As we are serving the University directly, UFM offers a point of contact between students and the Manhattan community. Much of this takes place in classes, but other opportunities such as the planning of Manhattan's celebration of Earth Day on April 22, bring together the city. UFM provides a focus for student volunteer programs in areas such as tutoring, and even for less voluntary, but still positive programs, that benefit both the students and the community. For DUI offenders, for example, community service at UFM is one of the few alternatives Manhattan has to sending them to jail.

The $13,000 that the Senate Finance Committee wishes to reassign to other uses obviously does not pay for all of this. UFM gets much of its income from course fees, grant overhead, donations and fundraising activities such as its annual book sale and chili feed. Yet that $13,000 will make the difference between life and death, because without a secure base, the other sources will dry up. Without the resources to cover fundamental costs such as the printing of its catalog, UFM will simply close its doors. Both K-State and Manhattan will be much the poorer for it.

> John M. McColloh professor of history

Milk cravers go dry

Saturday a.m. Craig and I demonstrating video endoscopy. K-State Open House. Mouths dry, Knees weak. Bellies recovering from last night's Friday afternoon club and poker game. Only one thing can save us ... chocolate shake.

I return empty handed. Dairy store CLOSED. Craig falls to knees, sobbing. Crowd gathers. Craig lunges at small child's bottle, delirious with need.

They finally subdue me with blow-gun and nets. Chasing the fistulated cow. Desperate for a drop of milk.

All of this could have been avoided. Please, for the children's sake. Have the dairy store in Call Hall open for business next year at Open House.

> Erik Christensen sophomore in veterinary medicine say what you have to say to me directly. Until

Letter unread

Editor,

An open letter to whom it may concern: Not too long ago, I received a letter from you that began "Dear Bill," so I guess we know one another. I can't respond to you directly, however, because you forgot to sign your name.

Your anonymous letter arrived shortly after I had publicly voiced my long-held concern about the undervaluation of teaching in higher education, here and nationwide. You sent your letter when I was out of town, but you were considerate enough to send a carbon copy of your unsigned letter to others, and I was put on the alert.

It has always been my policy to ignore anonymous letters, so I have no idea what you hoped to so forthrightly convey. When I returned to campus, I merely checked to see which of my awaiting correspondence lacked a signature. Using a forceps, I carefully returned your letter to its enevelope.

If you could stop by my office in Willard Hall, you could see what a nice job professor Cliff Meloan has done on developing your fingerprints. Cliff teaches a course in forensic chemistry and is an expert in the field. Would you like to check out his work? It seems you left a "signature" after all.

When you stop in you also might like to then, your letter remains unsigned and unread.

> William G. Fateley professor of chemistry

Holidays recognized

Editor,

At the recommendation of the Academic Affairs Committee of the Faculty Senate and the KSU Committee on Religion, these dates of the major faith religious observances are being listed for the awareness and the coordination of our University community.

April 9 and 10 - Jewish Passover. April 13 — Christian Good Friday. April 15 - Christian Easter. April 25 or 26 — Muslim Eid Fitr.

July 5 or 6 - Muslim Eid Adha. It is customary for many faith communities to attend religious services during both the evening and the day on these days. Many students will refrain from class and work activities. Faculty and staff are requested to give consideration to these dates in planning exams, deadlines and class requirements. Students are requested to coordinate their plans with instructors in preparation for these

> Don Fallon Coordinator of Religious Activities

"Everyone else puts meaningless quotes above their columns. Why don't you?" -Craig Hamrick, news editor

"Everyone else puts meaningless quotes above their columns, why don't you put - Robert Short, special projects editor

"I think these italicized quotations are harder to read than the rest of the column." Chris Koger, government editor

've been mulling many things over lately. I've been chewing my intellectual and spiritual cud, if you will. I delved deep into the depths of my own consciousness, as it were. I've gone to the mountain, so to speak.

Primarily, I've been concerned with the relationship between reality and perception in cattle and humans. For example, pretend you own some cattle. Now pretend you are busy doing something at home. It can be anything; mowing the lawn, painting the house, washing your pets, anything. Imagine yourself doing this activity for a long period of time. You might say to a passerby, "I'm going to paint the house until the cows come home.

Do you see the philosophical dilemma developing here? What happens when your cows return home from grazing at the end of the day and see your newly painted house? First of all, you won't be painting the house doesn't take a rocket scientist to do this job."

Secondly, the cows will perceive the color of your house as being magically transformed.

Because you will have stopped painting your house immediately upon the arrival of your cows, your cows will also incorrectly make assumptions about what you have done all day. This problem is compounded when you and your cows try to understand what color you have painted your house. How do you know the color you perceive is the same color your cows perceive? I know. I know. I'm putting Descartes before the cow.

Let's look at this conundrum from the vantage point of your cows. What do your cows say amongst themselves? Perhaps, "Let's go eat grass until we see the human again?"

From this we can see that true knowledge consists of you and your cows simultaneously knowing exactly what each other is doing at all times.

This brings me to another topic I have been thinking about lately - the employability of rocket scientists. It seems to me that becoming a rocket scientist would be the most limiting of all occupations. Think of all the jobs that require that you not be a rocket scientist. Remember your first high-school job as a washroom attendant or the person at Wal-Mart who sticks colored circles of tape on people's packages as they enter the store? One of the first things your new boss said was, "It majoring in aeronautical engineering I just nod my head in sympathy. They are just burning their bridges.

EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR

Henry

peaking of rocket scientists, Student Senate decides tonight whether or not it will cut funding to UFM. This is the same Student Senate that thinks College Republicans are a worthwhile cause to give our money to. I can't see how cutting UFM's funding would be a very good idea. UFM provides, among many, many other things, a place for people who get DUIs to work off their community service penalties. I've been out on the town once or twice with members of Senate. I can honestly say that they should understand the need for protecting a pleasant place in which to atone for the inevitable legal repercussions which are bound to result from their debaucherous ways. A good number of senators have spent enough time in local taverns to realize that this need holds true for their constituents.

I was walking through Fairchild Hall a few evenings ago to visit with an instructor. On the way to his office, I passed a room full of dancing people. I stood in the doorway and watched their lips move between smiles as they counted their steps. Some of the people were old, some were young but the common denominator they all shared was that they were having a great time. A radio was playing some groovin' swing tunes. A really nice lady, I think she was the instructor because she was the only one without a partner, saw me in the doorway and came out to talk to me. 'Looks fun, doesn't it?" she said.

"It sure does," I replied.

M, Senate all

She said it was a ballroom dancing class and that I was welcome to join in the fun. She said that it was a UFM class and that it would be offered again in the summer.

Pardon me while I step upon my soap box . After seeing the dance class it infuriates me further that you and I are funding College Republicans. You and I are paying for a bunch of geeks to hire other geeks to come and speak to them about how wonderful it is to be as conservative and geeky as their parents. Which would you rather do, listen to George Will or boogey down? It's your money ...

We seem to have magically re-entered the 1950's. I'm convinced this is synchronistic of the upcoming 100th birthday celebration of Kansas' favorite son, Dwight D. Eisenhower. In fact, if I'm not mistaken, Dan Quayle and Richard Nixon, both '50s geeks in their own right, are scheduled to speak in Abilene, Ike's boyhood home, this year.

related

t's time to lay aside our current fascination with all the conventions and icons of the '50s - bigotry, intolerance, greed, cheap leather jackets, brown shoes and hair that looks wet all day. We have seen the result of this kind of mentality in the letters to the editor all semester. People have written in, complaining about gays and lesbians, Christians, non-Christians, pro-choicers and pro-lifers. People are even complaining about how wearing jeans on certain days conflicts with their deep-seated beliefs about everyone else's

I'm beginning to think many students thought they could come to college without having their beliefs tested. I guess you can take the kid away from the sheltered, intolerant atmosphere of the home, but you can't take the sheltered, intolerant attitude of the home away from the kid.

It sure would be nice if we were all a little nicer. Let's be nice even after the cows come

How many Zen Buddists does it take to screw in a light bulb? Two, one to screw in the light bulb and one not to screw in the light

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES, P.A.

514 Humbold: Plaza Cosmetic Dentistry Department 913-537-9414

The Birthplace – We Deliver!

Matthew Jordan Haynes Junction City

Joseph Lindle Eugene Hume St. George

- · The Birthplace has this area's only Level II Neonatal Intensive Care Nursery.
- One-on-one patient teaching helps our new mothers gain confidence.
- · The Birthplace is beautifully decorated in soft shades of mauve and blue.
- · Our nursing staff is dedicated, experienced, and understanding.
- · Our Home Visit Program gives you another opportunity to visit with one of your nurses and ask questions.
- · New moms receive a Birthplace diaper bag and a beautiful food basket.
- request a free Birthplace brochure.

· Call the Public Relations office to

Memorial Hospital

1105 Sunset

Manhallan, KS 66502

913-776-3300

SPORTS

Altman hires OU aide Kerwin

By Chris Hays Sports Editor

Dana Altman finally received his first official committment as K-State's 18th men's basketball coach Monday, but the committment didn't come from a recruit.

It came from Oklahoma assistant coach Jim Kerwin, who finalized the terms of a deal that will make him Altman's top assistant and first coach appointed by Altman.

"I'm really excited about going to Kansas State," Kerwin said via telephone from his home in Norman, Okla. "I've known

Jim Kerwin

Coach Altman for a number of years and I know he's going to go in there and do a good job, and I'm just glad to be part of the program.

Kerwin said his friendship with Altman and a need for a change in his career direction were the key determinants in his decision to leave Coach Billy Tubbs' staff at OU after six seasons.

"It was a combination of things," Kerwin said of his decision. "Being friends with Dana, knowing the challenge that's ahead at K-State, and the possibilty of a bright future

"Another thing was that I just needed a new direction. I had been at Oklahoma for a number of years. I thought it was time to leave Oklahoma."

Kerwin talked with Tubbs before making his decision, but then decided making the move was best for him.

"He's been very nice about "Kerwin said of Tubbs. "He would have liked for me to stay, but we had a nice visit and he wished me the best of luck."

Before joining Oklahoma, Kerwin spent four seasons at Seminole (Okla.) Junior College, which won four straight Oklahoma junior college postseason tournaments. He was named Oklahoma's junior college coach of the year each of those four seasons.

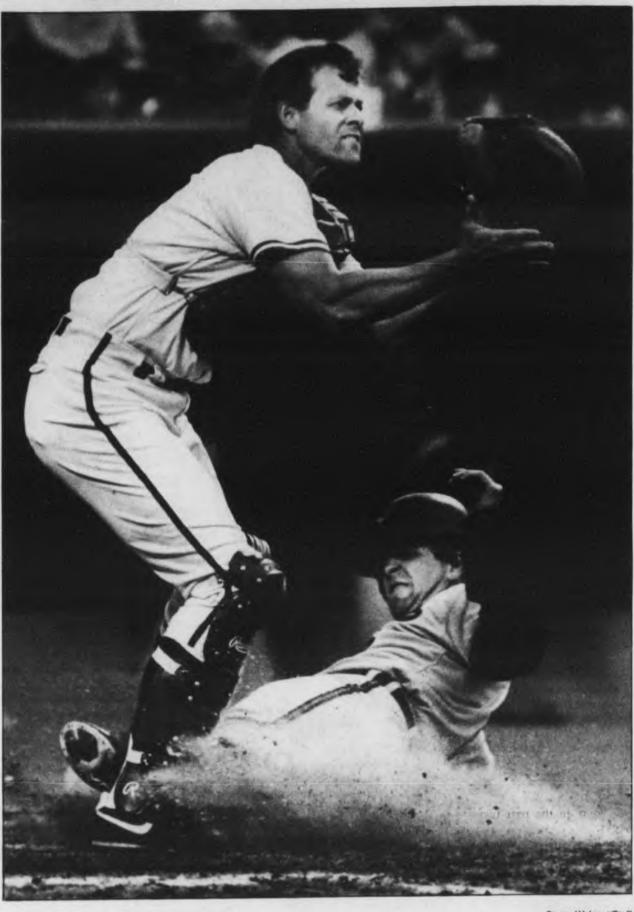

"He is very well known in a number of circles, including the junior colleges," Altman said. "His knowledge of the up-tempo game will certainly be used here."

Kerwin, a native of Newark, N.J., earned All-America honors in 1964 at Tulane University and played four seasons of semi-pro basketball with the Phillips 66ers in Bartlesville, Okla. He then coached two seasons at Caney High School, beginning in 1968, before moving to Southwestern Oklahoma State in Weatherford, where he served as assistant coach for three seasons.

Kerwin and his wife, Gayle, have two children, Kyle and

Royals lose opener in 11th, 7-6

Royals catcher Bob Boone waits for the relay throw as Orioles right fielder Joe Orsulak scores the go-ahead run in the 11th inning. The Royals didn't score in the bottom of the 11th; the Orioles won, 7-6.

Opening day eventful

By David Svoboda Sports Reporter

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Neither rain, nor Sam Horn, nor gloom of defeat kept Royals Stadium from being abuzz Monday as yet another baseball season got underway.

Though intermittent morning rain forced both teams to take batting practice inside and contributed to the crowd being less than a sellout, the weather broke long enough for the pageantry surrounding the event to be played out in its entirety.

Bands performed, the first pitch was thrown by a contest winner, and Royals players — old and new were honored for their on-field accomplishments.

After Bob Boone, Mark Davis, Jim Eisenreich and Bret Saberhagen each left the field carrying a trophy recognizing some significant achievement in the season gone by, the season about to begin was officially set underway.

And so, at 1:37 p.m., Saberhagen delivered the game's first pitch, and 37,671 in attendance roared their approval as home plate umpire Don Denkinger bellowed "striiiike ooooonnnne.'

As the visitors took an early 3-0 lead on the first of two, two-run homers by Horn, the crowd was hushed.

Kansas City's Danny Tartabull turned the silence into screams with one mighty blow in the fourth, blasting a Bob Milacki pitch over the wall in left field. The ball landed halfway up the hill between the Baltimore bullpen and the scoreboard.

And the excitement continued after the Baltimore half of the fifth. It was excitement produced by the

For those keeping score at home, Dot No. 3 won the first "Dot Run" of the year. The dot run is a computeraided event where a baseball-like dot circles a field several times before crossing a finish line.

But Dot No. 3 wasn't nearly as big a hit as hometown hero Frank White, who hit a two-run homer into the leftfield general admission seats in the sixth.

After White's blast the crowd remained on its feet cheering for nearly two solid minutes in hopes White would make a curtain call.

Bo Jackson made it for him. "Frank wouldn't go out, and I think you may have noticed I have the same skin pigment he does," Jackson said jokingly in the clubhouse afterward. "So I went out there and tipped my cap. Do you think anyone noticed the difference?" The laughter following Jackson's ppearance would indicate they did, indeed, know Bo from Frank. Horn's second two-run shot tied

■ See OPENER, Page 10

Horn's bat ruins KC debut

By David Svoboda Sports Reporter

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Baseball, hot dogs, apple pie and ... mom.

As the major league baseball season opened Monday in Kansas City, and fans at Royals Stadium crowded around concession stands for that first ballpark dog of the season, Sam Horn's thoughts were in California with the most important lady in his

For the Baltimore Orioles' designated hitter, his two home runs and six RBIs in Baltimore's 7-6 win over Kansas City had special significance.

"My mother had a stroke six days ago," Horn said. "I wanted to dedicate this game and the season to her. I just hope she's able to see the highlights."

If Horn's mother tuned in from her hospital room, chances are good she was a great deal more pleased with what she saw than were the 37,671 on hand to watch the Royals open the 1990 campaign.

Horn, a journeyman who had no homers in 33 games with Boston last season, wasn't even on the Orioles' roster until Saturday.

But two days later he was the star. Horn's pair of three-runs blasts the first off Bret Saberhagen and the second off Steve Farr - accounted for all but one Oriole run.

The other tally came in the 11th inning, when Cal Ripken delivered a two-out single to right that was bobbled by Danny Tartabull and mistakenly cut off near second base by Steve Jeltz as Joe Orsulak came home with the winning run.

"Jeltz played it as the cutoff man," Kansas City manager John Wathan said. "He should have been more down the line (toward first base) for a possible play at the plate. "He lined up for a play at second base. You've got to worry about the guy coming around to score. You've got to position yourself. "Steve hasn't played as much second base as shortstop, so it's something we'll have to talk about."

The mistake by Jeltz, who replaced Kansas City starter Frank White when White was lifted for a pinch runner in the bottom of the eighth, helped bring an end to an exciting game.

Baltimore got on the board first, reaching Saberhagen for three runs in the second inning on the first of Horn's two blasts.

Doubleheader still slated

Even though northeast Kansas was hit with heavy thundershowers Monday night, K-State baseball Coach Mike Clark said, late Monday, that he still expected his team's doubleheader with Fort Hays State to be played as scheduled.

The Wildcats and Tigers are slated to square-off in a twinbill beginning at 2 p.m. today at Frank Myers Field.

Mickey Tettleton singled to center leading off the frame for Baltimore, and Randy Milligan followed with a single to right.

Horn then hit a 2-1 pitch from Saberhagen, the 1989 American League Cy Young winner, just to the right of the 385-foot mark in the power alley in right center to give the visitors a 3-0 lead. "It wasn't a terrible pitch," Saberhagen said. "It was probably just something he was looking for."

Kansas City looked for a hit of any type until the fourth against Baltimore starter Bob Milacki.

After Milacki retired the first two hitters in the inning, Bo Jackson walked. Danny Tartabull, who just missed a homer on a fly out to right in his first at bat, then deposited a 2-2 pitch on the hill beyond the leftfield

■ See ROYALS, Page 10

ORIOLES 7, ROYALS 6

Physical Little Control of the Contr			Indiana elli
	ab	r	h	ы		ab	r	h	ы
Bradley If	5	0	1	0	Perry dh	5	0	2	0
Orsulak rf	6	1	2	0	Seitzer 3b	6	0	0	0
CRipken ss	4	1	1	0	Brett 1b	6	0	0	0
Tettiton c	6	1	1	0	Jackson If	2	2	2	0
Millign 1b	5	2	2	0	Trtbull rf	5	2	2	2
Horn dh	5	2	4	6	Eisnrch cf	5	0	0	0
Wthgtn 3b					Stillwil ss	5	1	2	2
Deverex c					White 2b	4	1	2	2
BRipken 2b	4	0	1.	0	Thurman pr	0	0	0	0
BAndrsn pr	0	0	0	0	Jeltz 2b	1	0	0	0
Gonzals 2b						5	0	0	0
Totale	15	7	14	6	Totals	AA	8	10	6

000 204 000

E — Milligan, BRipken, Tartabull. DP — Balti-more 1. LOB — Baltimore 9, Kansas City 9. 2B — Stillwell, Orsulak. HR - Horn 2 (2), Tartabull (1), White (1). S - Bradley.

W - Aldrich (1-0). L - Montgomery (0-1). S -Olson (1).

Last year's Cy Young Award winner Bret Saberhagen opened the season for Kansas City, but surrendered three runs in six innings.

Pitchers predictably wear out early

By The Associated Press

Predictably, pitchers were pretty pooped on opening day.

Dwight Gooden, Roger Clemens, Bret Saberhagen and Orel Hershiser were among the many who tired Monday as the shortened spring took

"I didn't pitch all that well, but it's still early in spring training for me," Detroit's Jack Morris said. "I knew I wasn't going to be as strong."

Morris pitched more than anyone in the majors in the 1980s. But he worked a total of just seven innings in the lockout-abbreviated exhibition season, and lasted 6% innings as Detroit lost its opener 5-2 in Boston.

In Monday's five afternoon games, only Bruce Hurst of San Diego managed to pitch as many as seven innings. But the extra effort may have hurt him, too - he gave up only one hit in seven innings, but got tagged for a three-run homer by Hubie Brooks in the eighth as rallied Los Angeles past San Diego 4-2.

Hershiser started for the Dodgers

I got tired in the sixth. I basically knew I was coming to the end of what I had. I felt good. I sort of got a head start when I got to spring training.

- Roger Clemens Boston pitcher and came out after six innings. He gave up one run on three hits, walked none and struck out four, but was pulled after 70 pitches.

Clemens also was ahead of the batters at the start. He did not allow a hit until the sixth, but Detroit caught up with him and he left with two outs in the seventh after throwing 101

"I got tired in the sixth. I basically knew I was coming to the end of what I had," said Clemens, who pitched seven shutout innings in his final spring training start. "I felt good. I sort of got a head start when I got to spring training. I threw simulated games at home and an alumni game (at the University of Texas).

Gooden, making his first start since tearing a muscle in his right shoulder last July 1, struggled against Pittsburgh and took the loss as the Pirates routed the Mets 12-3. Gooden went 4 2-3 innings and allowed five runs on seven hits. "Maybe it was because of the shorter spring or maybe I was just off," Gooden said. "I seemed to be fighting myself. I couldn't get comfortable.'

Pittsburgh starter Doug Drabek, who hit a two-run single off Gooden, was relieved by Manager Jim Leyland after five innings.

"My sinker was way off and I could see Dwight didn't have his real good stuff," Drabek said. "It will take another couple of starts because that's what we missed." The Mets used seven pitchers and Pittsburgh had five. Saberhagen, the American League Cy Young winner, pitched six innings. He gave up three runs and eight hits in Kansas City's 7-6 loss in 11 innings to Baltimore. "I'd thrown 106 pitches and for the first game, we figured that was enough," Saberhagen said. Baltimore starter Bob Milacki pitched five innings. The Orioles and Royals combined to use nine pitchers.

> SCORES AMERICAN LEAGUE Rangers 4, Blue Jays 2 Red Sox 5, Tigers 2 White Sox 2, Brewers 1 Mariners 7, Angels 4 Twins at Athletics (late) NATIONAL LEAGUE Pirates 12, Yankees 3 Dodgers 4, Padres 2 Phillies at Cubs, ppd., rain Cardinals 6, Expos 5 Reds 8, Astros 4, 11 innings

Golfers sitting 6th at Tantara

From Staff and Wire Reports OSAGE BEACH, Mo. Freshman Richard Laing led the K-State men's golf team's sixthplace, first-round showing at the 27-team Missouri Invitational Monday.

The second and final round will be played today at the Tantara Country Club on The Lake of the Ozarks.

"This is a tough golf course and you can't afford to make a lot of mental mistakes," K-State coach Russ Bunker said. "It's a course where you have to hit a lot of irons off the tee, instead of drivers, and just be patient with your shots."

Laing's four-over-par 76 was good enough to put him in eighth place overall. Sean McCaw of Illinois State and Andy Krajewski of Wichita State are tied for medalist honors with a one-under 71. Illinois State leads the team race with a 297, while Wichita

State is second at 305 and Lewis (Ill.) University is third at 307. Laing's 76 included a backnine total of three-under 33. Brett Vuillemin was next for K-State with a 78, then Jeff Sedorcek and Chris Thompson followed at 80 apiece, while Brad Stephens shot

"(Today) we are going to try to be more aggressive," Bunker said. "We've tried everything else, and it hasn't worked.

'We're coming up on the Big Eight Tournament and I would like for us to be a little farther along than we are at this stage of the season."

Terry Broadbent, freshman in pre-nursing, and Jim Hart, senior in pre-medicine, both Emergency Medical Technicians, inventory equipment in one of the ambulances at the Riley County EMS facility behind Memorial Hospital. EMT's have between 15 to 60 hour workweeks.

Their other car

is an ambulance

By Monica Marcotte Collegian Reporter

Jim Hart and Terry Broadbent spend their Friday and Saturday nights trying to get people out of trouble.

Hart and Broadbent are K-State students who also work part time as Riley County EMS technicians during the week. They work between 15 to 60 hours a week, in addition to being on call.

Hart, senior in pre-medicine, completed a six-month EMS course offered at Manhattan Vocational Technical School. He believes his work with the EMS is giving him valuable hands-on training dealing with patients.

"I am just about ready to start applying to med school and my M-SAT exams are coming up," Hart said. Broadbent, junior in pre-nursing, has been a part-time

Two students supplement classes by working as EMS technicians EMS technician for the past six years but decided he needed to is preparing to pursue a bachelor's degree in nursing. Broadbent became interested in EMS after seeing an advertisement for the program offered at Highland Community look more into the future. He

"I was bored with my current job and decided to give it a try," Broadbent said. "I would like to put my emergency training to use in a hospital emergency room, and there is more money in it." A typical EMS technician starts out at $5.52 an hour. That includes getting paid for a 24-hour shift in which they are allowed to sleep, they explained. Technicians are also paid $1 for every hour they are on call. Hart was on call about 120 hours in the past two weeks.

Both men have seen their

Before 3 p.m. 539-4321

cluding a head-on collision near Wamego in which three people were killed.

'You have to get a little calloused to be able to handle the situations all the time," Broadbent said.

Not all of the job involves EMS technicians also stand by at sporting events such as football and basketball games.

"We pretty much get to stand by and watch football games," Broadbent said. "It can get bor-

Two people are assigned to each ambulance, with five people at the station at one time, Hart and Broadbent said. The service is run by Riley County and is located behind Memorial Hospital.

pinpoint any particular time

Comedy Invasion Monday & Tuesday

9 p.m.

Eddy Strange

share of gruesome sights, in-attending to gruesome accidents;

ing at times."

Both men said it was hard to ■ See EMS, Page 10

Program supports students needing help with studies

By Angela Tholstrup Collegian Reporter

The Continuation School at Manhattan High School offers a different approach for students needing help with basic math, social studies and English.

The school gives students with a variety of backgrounds a supportive environment to deal with personal problems while taking classes. These difficulties range from family problems to drug abuse.

"The abilities of the students are borderline EMH (educationally mentally handicapped) to highly gifted," said Charlotte Doyle, director at the Continuation School

The program doesn't have formal classes, said Vicki Mauk, 19, former student in the program. "They do not lecture like other teachers do," Mauk said.

Located north of the high school, in a module building, the school has been operating for 16 years and is staffed by five teachers.

Before implementing the current program, Doyle conducted an independent study of similar alternative

Most of the research available was taken from schools in larger cities, called store-front schools. Storefront schools are programs located in empty stores in business districts.

Many of these store-front programs were not located close to the public high school they served, Doyle said.

"The students were alienated from the traditional high school building," Doyle said. "In Manhattan, this wasn't the case."

In Manhattan, a different approach was needed, not a different location, Doyle said. A different location would have been counterproductive.

"Kids want to be included with other kids, even kids having problems," Doyle said"

Designed as a volunteer program, students must apply to be accepted, Doyle said. The students may be recommended by counselors, teachers, their friends or parents.

Westloop

The school never accepts anyone without sending a referral back to the students' teachers in those areas, Doyle said. The school asks the teachers about the students' study habits, attendance records, behavior and if the teachers recommend the students for the school.

Of the 200 in the program, 15 to 18 students are in an Individual Education Plan.

Those kids in IEP are certified behaviorally disordered," Doyle said. "We give them services whether they are IEP or not."

The staff determines if the students have enough problems to qualify to be in the program.

"The whole purpose of the program is to help them learn to cope with those problems, rid themselves of those problems or whatever is appropriate," Doyle said.

Students are only dismissed from the program if they abuse the privilege of being there, Doyle said. The program has a waiting list this year.

All the grades are mixed for the English classes, Doyle said, but the students are tested to determine their vocabulary level in order to set individual goals.

"A freshman may have a higher vocabulary than a senior," Doyle said. "Then, the students work at their own pace.

Reading and other vocabulary building exercises are encouraged by the staff. English skills are important for finding employment after the students leave the program, Doyle said.

Part of the program requires the students to write a story line for a short story dealing with teenagers. The subjects include teenagers with conflicts.

Some of the story lines parallel the students' lives, Doyle said.

The students' problems may be dealing with the death of someone close, being the children of alcohol-■ See SCHOOL, Page 10

FREE DRY WITH WASH Suds Y'r Duds Laundry

Every Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

in the month of April

Restaurant 539-8888

A "Thank You" for our Faithful Customers! 1453 Anderson Ave.

German Club presents: Jane Bleibt Jane (a German comedy with English subtitles) April 10, 7 p.m.

Union Forum Theatre Free Admission

The Peace Process in the Middle East: A Palestinian Perspective LECTURE BY:

Dr. RIYAD MANSOUR

Deputy Ambassador of Palestine to the U.N. DATE: WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11, 1990 PLACE: BALLROOM, K-STATE UNION

TIME: 7 p.m. SPONSORED BY: GENERAL UNION OF PALESTINE STUDENTS ARAB STUDENT ASSOCIATION INTERNATIONAL COORDINATING COUNCIL

Wed. Sig Ep Fight Nite

Knock Out Contest

Thur.-DU Women of K-State

proceeds go to the Villages

Call for reservations

CALL 539-7666 OR THE LOCATION NEAREST YOU.

TONIGHT! $2 Pitchers

Longnecks

PHYSICIAN ON DUTY 24 HOURS A DAY

the saint mary hospital

Member CSJ Health Systems of Wichita 1823 College Avenue Manhattan, Kansas 66502

是特別的政治的政治的政治的政治的政治的政治的政治的政治的政治 PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

•Free Pregnancy Testing Totally Confidential Services Same Day Results Call For Appointment

Walk-ins Welcome ·Located across from Campus in Anderson Village in Anderson Village 1433 Anderson Ave.

539-3338

Your college education represents one of your most important career decisions. Join Air Force ROTC, and you may be eligible for different scholarship programs that can help pay for that education.

But you'll learn something else, too: that Air Force ROTC opens opportunities for you to take your college degree higher, faster and further than you ever realized. Imagine your status as an Air Force officer, and get an education in opportunity - call

> CAPT ROYER 913-532-6600

Leadership Excellence Starts Here

Counselors offer support after deaths

By Heather Anderson Collegian Reporter

Within 24 hours after two K-State women were killed in a car accident earlier this semester, counselors and ministers met with members of their living groups.

"A Lafene counselor, a minister from the Baptist Student Center and one from the Methodist Student Center came to the house," said Suzanne Brown, Kappa Kappa Gamma president and junior in journalism and mass communications.

Tami Borck and Jennifer Bedell, the women who were killed, were both residents of Ford Hall and members of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Fred Newton, director of University Counseling Services, informed the sorority members of the availability of individual counseling at the University to help them sort out their

"He told us it was OK to cry, OK to be angry, OK not to cry, OK to feel nothing," Brown said. "There was no hands-on counseling, because every girl in the house was there, and that's between 150 and 160 people, so it was more of a group session."

Counselors and ministers also went to Ford Hall, where Bedell and Borck lived, said Kristen Oblinger, Ford Hall director.

"We had a minister available when we shared the information Sunday (after the deaths)," Oblinger said. Most of the women's close friends were notified of the women's death during the day Sunday. By Sunday evening, the residence hall organized and posted announcements for a memorial gathering for residents to attend if they wanted to, Oblinger said. Lafene counselors were present at the gathering.

In this and other instances, the counselors explain the grieving process and explain the types and availability of individual counseling at such places as University Counseling Ministers offer religious counseling at K-State, said Don Fallon, director of religious activities. After Fallon is notified of a student's death, he determines the person's faith, if any, through the family or university records. He then notifies a campus minister of the appropriate faith.

We provide pastoral counseling to the family, which may involve planning a funeral or a memorial service on campus," Fallon said.

"We also try to call the local church, if the student is from out of town, and work closely with them."

The ministers also visit the living group and make the students aware of availability of individual religious counseling.

Dorothy Farrand, psychologist at University Counseling Services, said when a person experiences the death of a friend, he or she experiences several emotional stages before accepting the death.

"The first reaction is one of shock feeling cold, numb and dazed," she said. "Some people have actually reported feeling physiologically cold."

Denial — the second reaction serves as a barrier to accepting pain, Farrand said.

"The next stage is a feeling of anger at the person, a feeling of abandonment, in which the person says, Why did she leave me, we had plans to go to the movies this weekend,' or Why should I have to deal with these feelings?" she said.

Guilt follows, in which a kind of bargaining occurs, where the person thinks, "If only I had been with her, this wouldn't have happened," Farrand said. And any sort of unresolved dispute between the deceased and the friend results in even more guilt, she

The final stage is one of reality, sadness and loss. The person realizes the dead friend isn't coming back and recognizes the possibility of fatality. "Not everyone moves smoothly from stage to stage," Farrand said. They sometimes move between stages and repeat them, she said.

The death of a greek living group member is often harder to accept than that of other living arrangements, Farrand said. The commitment fraternity and sorority members have to each other bands them together and makes them feel responsible for one another.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Kedzie 103

Announcements

- A BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics.
- ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.
- COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193.
- FALL SCHEDULE change: ENGL/LING 796 Theories of Grammar meets Wednesday, not Monday.
- OUT OF summer sorts? ENGL/ML 600 Principles of Linguistics, ENGL/ML/LING 603 Topics: Linquistic Science Fiction.

Auto Insurance too high? We have excellent rates, free quotes. Call Tim Engle 537-4661.

STUDENTS FROM WICHITA

Part Time

Wanted: K-State students from Wichita for jobs taking inventory in retail stores. Work from Wichita this summer, Manhattan during the school year. Availability on weekends a MUST. 10-key experience helpful but not mandatory. $5 an hour to start. If interested call 776-8884, Manhattan Job Service.

KID'S MEAL Every Tuesday

With Purchase Of Any Adult

> Dinner (Drinks Not Included)

Offer good for children, 12 and under, ordering from Children's Menu. Limit: 2 children per adult.

ALL DAY TUESDAYS!

325 E. Poyntz 100 Bluemont

Apartments-Furnished

BEST DEAL for summer lodging! Two-bedroom, fully furnished, and one block away from campus. Regularly $227/ month for one person. Now being offered for $145/ monthly each. 776-2157.

FOR AUGUST- Next to KSU. Deluxe two-bedroom apartment for three people. $420 plus utilifies. Also two-bedroom basement apartment at 312 N. 15th. Water, trash, heat paid. Now until July. $250. For

FREE COUNTRY living for responsible student in exchange for occasional assistance to wheelchair-bound landlady. 913-494-8201.

NEXT TO campus— Apartment complex, 1832 Claffin Road across Goodnow and Marlatt. One bedroom, furnished, central air, off-street parking, quiet. Evenings 539-2702.

Next to campus. $275 plus electric plus deposit. August, June lease. No pets. 537-1180. TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT for sublease. Close to tor, off-street parking. No pets. $360. 539-3085. AVAILABLE JUNE 1, 901% Ratone. Two-bedroom

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coinoperated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required. $280. 539-1465.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

ns. No pets. 537-8389. LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and

JUNE- FURNISHED one- and two-bedroom apartments. $300, $350, utilities paid. 776-2253. LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. 539-1465.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO in complex, 1219 Claffin

Apartments-Unfurnished

AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom, ground floor duplex. Laundry room, nice yard. 539-3672 evenings. AVAILABLE JUNE 1, 915% Claffin. Two-bedroom walkout. Heat, water, trash paid. Stove, refrigera-basement. Heat, water, trash paid. Stove, refrigerator. No pets. $230. 539-3085.

ONE-BEDROOM, clean, carpeted, central air, no pets, 5th and Osage. $265 plus utilities, water, trash.

PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two-

CALL TODAY

AVAILABLE JUNE or August. 10 or 12 month leases. next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Pho 537-9064 daily.

ONE- AND two-bedroom apartments near campus and op area. Call 776-1340.

TWO-BEDROOM basement apartment with full-size windows, livingroom, kitchen, bath, washer/ dryer, private entrance. $275/ month plus utilities. Two blocks east of campus, off-street parking.

TWO-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, appliances, off-street parking, $365, available June 7. Call Cinda at 539-3737 day or 537-8420 evening.

WANTED: ONE-BEDROOM or efficiency apartment to rent from July/ August to December. John, 537-0477.

NOW LEASING

Furnished/Unfurnished

12 plex

9th & Moro

2 bedroom

$375

Call Bill at 776-0644 or Kay at 539-8846

DON'T WAIT UNTIL

IT'S TOO LATE!

1 BR Apartments

still available,

but filling up fast!

For best June or

August selection

McCullough Development

776-3804

K-Rentals

Efficiency $200 1 Bedroom $250

2 Bedroom $290

3 Bedroom $450 539-8401

Efficiency $200 1 bedroom $250 2 bedroom $290 776-4805-539-8401

PCF Management

5 Automobile for Sale

1978 ALFA Romaeo convertible for sale. Red, with new top, new tires and great stereo with cassette and equalizer. $3,750. Call John 1-456-7050.

1985 PLYMOUTH Voyager LE mini, one owner, excel-lent condition, air, standard, AM/FM, five-seater. See for yourself. On Fort Riley. $6,950.

1987 DODGE Aries LE 2500 cc engine. Excellent buy. Assumable power train warranty. Phone Lee, 532-5804 days, 539-0168 evenings.

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT-seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. A-1797. DATSUN 280Z, 1977. Great engine, good gas mileage. Body needs work. $1,250. 776-4574.

IS IT true... Jeeps for $44 through the government? Call for facts! 1-708-742-1142 Ext. 3286A.

6 Child Care

COME BE a nanny in a lovely New England home located 20 minutes north of Boston. Professiona couple is seeking summer help for their two ning children, 5 and 10. Call Sandi at 617-334-4337.

NANNIES- YEAR-LONG child care position. East Coast. Airlare, good salary, benefits. Screened tamilies. Fun group activities. Princeton Nanny, 301 N. Harrison St. #416, Princeton, NJ 08540.

7 Computers

FOR SALE: Apple IIc with color monitor and Imagewrit II. Printer plus accessories. Will sell printer sepa-rate. Call 776-5428.

SAVE $$$. 15% off on new books featuring to concerning Autocad, Wordperfect 5.0 and 5.1, Wordstar, Lotus, Magellan, as well as upgrading and repairing microcomputers. PC Magazines DOS Powertools including disk with 1,275 pages—suggested retail $44.95, on sale for $35. Computer disks— DS/DD 5¼ -inch, 10 with smoked acrylic case, $10. Disk case for 5¼ -inch holds 70 disks— $8.95. Disk case for 31/2 -inch hold 50 disks-$6.95. DS/HD 1.44 3% -inch disks— 10 for $18.50. Mark Berg or contact ABACUS Computer & Supply, 1111 Waters, 539-7007.

TANDY 2000, color monitor, two 5% -inch disk drives. 256K. Best offer. Call Larry at 537-4625. WANTED: A data base programmer to develop new agricultural software for private business. Even-ings. 456-9201.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

ACT IN TV commercials. High pay. No experience. All ages— kids, teens, young adults, families, mature people, animals, etc. Call now! Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702. (Continued on page 9)

532-6555 ATTENTION: HIRING government jobs— your area $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext

ATTENTION: KANSAS Careers needs a student assistant for 20-30 hours/ week during summer semester and 12-15 through the school year. Clerical experi-ence necessary plus Word Perfect and dBase III+ Pick up application form at Kansas Careers, 304 Fairchild Hall. Deadline April 11.

ATTENTION: EASY work, excellent pay! Assemble products at home. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. W-1797

ATTENTION: EXCELLENT income for home assembly mation. Call 504-646-1700 Dept. P6438

ATTENTION: EARN money watching TV! $32,000 year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. TV-1797.

BABYSITTER IN our home this summer for 6 year old boy. Duties include preparing meals, taking him swimming, playing games, etc. 537-4223 after CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming canoeing, sailing, waterskiing, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding, Also kitchen, office, maintenance, Salary $900 or more plus R&B, Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093.

Read the Collegian, and the Mind.

Holy Week Services of

The Episcopal Church

Tuesday, April 10 6:00 p.m. - Passover Meal & Service, St. Paul's 10:00 p.m. - Holy Eucharist, Danforth Chapel, KSU

Wednesday 5:30 p.m. - Evening Prayer, Soup Supper and Program, St. Paul's

Maundy Thursday
7:00 p.m. - Holy Eucharist, Washing of the feet, Stripping of the Altar and All-night Vigil, St. Paul's Good Friday

Noon - Ecumenical Service, First Presbyterian Church

5:00 p.m. - Stations of the Cross, St. Paul's

7:00 p.m. - Good Friday Liturgy, St. Paul's Holy Saturday 7:00 p.m. - The Great Vigil of Easter, St. Paul's

> Easter Sunday 8:00 a.m. - Rite I Holy Eucharist 10:30 a.m. - Rite II Holy Eucharist

St. Paul's Episcopal Church Sixth and Poyntz The Very Rev. Dr. Robert Sanders, Rector The Rev. Susan Sawyer, Associate Rector and Campus Chaplain, St. Francis & Canterbury Fellowship Episcopal Campus Ministry. 776-9427

Three Ways To Ride Away A Winner At The Zenith Data Systems Fanny Packs To The First Technology Showcase! 50 Visitors!

Come See The World's #1 PC Compatibles And We'll Show You More Than One Way To Own A FREE Raleigh All-Terrain Bike!

Stop by our Technology Showcase and see the world's #1 PC compatibles.* From ultra-fast desktops to VGA-enhanced laptops to our award-winning Flat Technology Monitor. We'll then show you three ways to own a Raleigh Assault* or Finesse* All-Terrain Bike absolutely FREE! And if you're among the first 50 to attend, you'll get a FREE Fanny Pack!

Enter Our National Sweepstakes! Take a free PC test drive at either the Technology Showcase or your Campus Contact to enter our 'RACE TO THE FINISH" Sweepstakes.

You could then win one of 50 Raleigh All-Terrain Bikes, a free fanny pack, a sports water bottle...or even our FREE Grand Prize trip for two to Paris for the 1990 Tour de France!

Buy a PC, Get A Bike FREE! Purchase any qualifying desktop system** at a great student price, and we'll send you a FREE Raleigh All-Terrain Bike! So be sure to swing by our Technology Showcase. Who knows...you just might ride away a winner in more ways than one!

Ride Away A Winner At:-

Technology Showcase APRIL 10, 11, 12

K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE Campus Contact K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE

Groupe Bull HURRY! SWEEPSTAKES ENDS JUNE 8, 1990! ZENITH DATA SYSTEMS INNOVATES AGAIN"

1990, Zenith Data Systems

(Continued from page 8)

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288.

FREE TRAVEL benefits! Airlines now hiring! All posi-tions! $17,500- $58,240. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext.

FREE TRAVEL benefits! Cruise ships and casinos now hiring! All positions! Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext. Y-1797.

GENERAL CAMP counselors, arts and ecology consulants, kitchen and waterfront staff needed for resident Girl Scout Camps in Vermont and New Hampshire, June 16 -Aug. 22. Campers and staff work and play hard together and have an awesome time. Write or call Missy/ Nancy, Swift Water Girl Scout Council, 88 Harvey Road, Manchester, N.H. 03103. 603-627-4158.

GODFATHER'S PIZZA is now hiring for all positions for summer help. Delivery drivers have the opportunity to make competitive wages with flexible hours. Apply in person between 2p.m. and 5p.m. 1120

HIRING PART-TIME leasing agent for Friday after-noons and daytime Saturdays. Apply in person at 1408 Cambridge Place at Park Place Apartments.

KJCK-AM 1420 Country is looking for a part-time announcer to fill a Monday- Friday evening plus Sunday afternoon position. Radio experience is preferred but will train the right person. Call Mark, 776-9494 or 762-5525 between 10a.m. and 2p.m.

NOW HIRING: Water Safety Instructors for KSU's Community Enrichment summer classes. Need not be currently enrolled in order to work. All instruction scheduled around your classes if enrolled in summer school. Pick up application at College Court Building. Room 246, 1615 Anderson Ave. or call 532-5575.

PART- OR full-time help needed for general farm and livestock work. 913-456-7215.

MIDGET TOSSING AND

LAWN CARE person wanted for large apartment community. Responsible for the maintenance of grounds and swimming pools. Horticulture or agricultural background helpful. Full time April through August. Send resume to Collegian, Box 8, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 openings National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp to ails. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

TECHNICAL SUPPLIES manager, Varney's Book Store, Manhattan, Kansas, We are seeking an energetic, knowledgeable individual committed to giving excellent customer service. Reponsibilities include purchase, merchandising and sale of art and technical supplies. Experience with purchasing and inventory control systems and demonstrated supervisory experience required. Prefer individual with knowledge of art materials and related technical supplies. Perfer bachelor degree. Competitive cal supplies. Prefer bachelor degree. Competitive salary, bonus and fringe benefits are offered. Deadline to apply: April 23, 1990. Submit letter of profession resume and references to Jon Levin. application, resume and references to: Jon Levin, Varney's Book Store, 623 N. Manhattan Ave.,

Radio Copywriter/Production Director

Immediate opening. KMAN-KMKF currently interviewing applicants for the position of permanent, full time copywriter-production director. Qualified candidates should have creative writing skills, preferably with experience in writing radio commercials, be able to meet deadlines, work well with people, and have commercial production experience, contact Amy Berg at KMAN-KMKF at 776-4851 for an interview.

PART-TIME HELP wanted (10-15 hours/ week). Duties will include data entry, proofing computer printouts, filling orders, typing and some heavy lifting. Preference given to applicants with computer experience. Important: Must be able to work full-time during summer, school breaks, and between fall and summer, school breaks, and between fall and spring semesters. Interested? Contact Kim or dget at 532-5970.

9 Food Specials

Hunam Restaurant Free Delivery 539-8888

By Bob Berry

Making the Grade

Ripple

By J. Hayden

Iim's Iournal

By Jim

Tony went to

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Garfield

By Jim Davis

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Same

I'M WAITING FOR A SCHOOL

TO GET ON ANOTHER BUS, AND

60 ON A FIELD TRIP TO SOME

12 Houses for Rent

1101 DENISON, 1846, 1814 Platt, one to five bed to see evenings Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday 7-9p.m. 539-3993.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, Two-bedroom, yard, $345 plus utilities. Lease and deposit. 539-3672 evenings. FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, across from campus. $600, June 1. Call Cinda at 539-3737 day or 537-8420 evenings.

FOUR BEDROOMS, two baths, near campus, no pets, no children. $500. 776-3321.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, 7 miles east of Manhattan. Excellent for veterinary students. 537-8555. After 5p.m. 1-494-2293.

ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks east campus, laundry hookups. $285/ month, utilities, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1 539-3672 evenings.

ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June 1. $295. 539-1554.

14 Lost and Found

LOST: BLACK Lab neutered male. Lost Friday Aggieville area. Reward. 776-8417 or 539-8365. LOST: LONGHAIRED, black cat with yellow-green eyes. Last Sunday in the 1100 block of Vattier. Please call 537-1096.

LOST: TWO gold rings in or around old football stadium. tal value. 776-7621. Reward.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

12x65 MOBILE home. Two bedrooms, 1½ baths. Excellent condition. Call 537-2993.

1972 CHAMPION 12x60, two-bedroom. Good condition. Wtih 8x10 deck. Avaiable June 1. Evenings, 1988 14x70 Schult mobile home with three bedrooms 1% baths, 8x10-foot deck. Call 776-8477.

IMMACULATE THREE-BEDROOM, two bath, central air, redwood decks. Call 539-9283 after 4p.m. TWO-BEDROOM, 10x60 trailer. Good condition. Great location. Low rent and utilities. Washer/ dryer. storage, 776-5671.

18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

1984 YAMAHA Virago: Black/ chrome, excellent condi-tion, 4,500 miles. 537-4408.

SNYDER'S HONDA on Stagg Hill Road is buying and selling new and used motorcycles. We are your motorcycle super market.

20 Parties-n-more

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES: Never pay for a DJ again. Own your own Party Music System.

21 Personals

ANN: DIFFERENTIAL equation recitation. Would you like to dance the swing, boogle, and waltz w sweet guy? Please reply. Pete.

CHI-O KRIS: Don't know who's more excited, you or m Have a wonderful summer in D.C. Love, Mom. KIM- THANKS for everything that has made this week one of the best. Happy 21st. Love, Jim.

SIG EP Eddie- Happy Anniversay. You are the best. Love, Leanne.

SMILE- ICE cream at EeGee's Wednesday about TO BACON and Eggs- Thanks for the weekend, we baccon and Eggs— Thanks for the weekend, we hope you had fun; From losing your wallet and going back to start, to imitating Curley and playing with Bart. Sooo, when are we going to the Royals game? Your friends, Bacardi and Coors Light.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

EASTER'S ALMOST here! Registered mini-Lopp bunny, food and cage. For more information, call 776-6691.

SNAKE CAGE- 135 gallon aquarium and redwood stand. Leaks. As is, $200. Repaired, $250

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits 1105 Waters 539-4751

23 Professional Services

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day results For appointment call: Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338.

PERMS WITH cut, $25 to $30. Shampoo, cut, style, $10. Tanning, 10 for $18. 776-1330.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM abortion? Write: Hearts Restored, Box 295, Colby, Kansas 67701. Confidential re-sponse will follow.

537-8305 Dr. Mark Hatesohl Chiropractic Family Health Center 3252 Kimball Avenue Candlewood Shopping Center

24 Resume/ Typing Service

ence in writing personalized resumes and cover letters. We provide permanent computer storage. typing of data sheets, and choice of laser- or letter quality printing. 343 Colorado St. 537-7294. GET THE edge in today's market! We offer quality resumes designed, typeset and laserprinted. Call Graphics Plus, 722 N. Manhattan, Aggieville,

CALL NOW! Resume Service offers 10 years experi

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES and sororities! Spruce up

WEDDING FLOWERS by experienced floral designer. Call for information. 776-2253.

WEDDING PLANS? Contact the professionals at Living

WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY. Over seven years of

SUN NO

Manhattan's Largest Tanning Salon

Appointments available

776-2426

If you knew you

this long . . .

were going to live

wouldn't you have taken better care of your body?

an appointment

Call today for

·New bulbs

1126 Laramie

•14 tanning beds

Competitive prices

experience with wedding photography. Call for samples. 776-3785.

Image Video. Book now. 539-0168.

your carpets and floors prior to the party season Call TNT Professional Cleaners for a free estimate 539-8120. Alumni owned and operated.

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms, dissertations, theses, etc. Call 776-4214. LETTER-QUALITY word processing. $1.25 double spaced page. Next-day delivery available. Susan Lawson, 776-0676. NEED WORD processing? Reports, propos sumes and more. Laser printing. Call 537-4146.

make an impression. One day service. I Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147 WORD PROCESSING: College papers, resumes, let-ters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single. Quality Print.

RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to

Betty, 539-6851, Claffin. 25 Roommate Wanted

paid. 776-4263.

FEMALE ROOMMATE(S) needed for upcoming school year, One block from campus. Washer/ dryer. $120 plus KPL. Call 537-2186 (Tammie) or 532-2182

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for next year. Nonsmoker. $133/ month plus one-third utilities. Call Kelly, 532-5310 or Dana, 532-5306.

MALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom house beginning June 1. Close to campus. Must be serious student, non-smoking, $225 all utilities

NEED TWO female roommates immediately! From now to August. Everything equals $120/ month. 776-9452.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share nice apartment one block from campus. $157.50/ month, one-half utilities, washer, dryer, off-street parking. 776-0063, leave message

NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, own room, laundry area, pool. $180 plus one-half utilities. 539-7324. Summer through next year.

ONE- TWO non-smoking females, turnished farmhouse, free stall and pasture for horses, cattle, dogs. P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan. ROOM FOR rent in six-bedroom home. Four blocks from campus. $135 a month plus percent of utilities. Share kitchen and laundry facilities. Call either 913-966-2265 or 913-966-2171. ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Own room. $150

plus one-third electricity. Close to campus. 537-2863.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share house trailer. $100 per month plus half utilities. Call Allen, 537-3909. SHARE TWO-BEDROOM apartment with dishwasher.

washer/ dryer, woodburning fireplace, patio, garage, off-street parking. $197.50 plus one-half ties. 776-8384. TWO ROOMMATES needed for summer. Across from Ford Hall. $140/ month. Free utilities. 539-4711.

26 Stereo Equipment

COMPLETE MOBILE DJ system for sale. Former Audio Enterprise. Call 539-0595.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

WINDSURFER ONE design, three sails, $750; Rocket Express, 10-toot, 6-inch transition board, 5.6m2 sail, $600. 776-6073.

28 Sublease

$134/ MONTH, per person, plus utilities, Two-bedroom apartment, furnished, by City Park.

15 SECONDS from campus. Single, furnished. $230 plus electricity. June- July, Part of August free 532-6334.

$175/ MONTH. Female, own bedroom and bathroom furnished, by campus. Call Sherrill, 776-6192. 1st-CLASS APARTMENTS for June- July subleases Both one and two bedrooms, furnished or unturnished, decks available, great locations. Call the Curtin Companies at 776-1222. A $100 sublease, large room in big house, 1818 Fairchild. 539-1457, ask for Julie.

A JUNE-JULY sublease, two weeks free in May Female, furnished house, own room, $125/ month plus one-fourth bills. Call 776-1577.

A LARGE two-bedroom— summer. 1010 Thurston. Everything— central air, tull kitchen, etc. $399 negotiable. 537-3346.

A NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, one fourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New carpet. Available anytime. Call, leave message

A SPACIOUS three-bedroom apartment. Swimming pool, dishwasher, washer and dryer, partially furnished. Price and time available negotiable. 1530 College Ave., Apt. A-9. 776-0549.

BIG TWO-BEDROOM, furnished, near campus and Aggieville. Available June to August. Clean. $425. 532-2479.

FOR SUMMER—Large, two-bedroom. Great for three close to campus. $360 or best offer. 776-2378.

LATE MAY to mid-August. Two-bedroom apartment with dishwasher, washer/ dryer, woodburning fireplace, patio, garage, off-street parking. $395 plus utilities. No pets. 776-8384.

NEWLY REMODELED one- to three-bedroom apartment. Close to campus/ Aggieville. Call 776-4018.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment close to campus Balcony, dishwasher and laundry facilities. Three people, $300, two people $250. 776-3340. NON-SMOKING FEMALE to sublease furnished apartment. $125/ month and one-fourth utilities ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, 11/2 blocks from campus. Call 537-1365. SPACIOUS THREE-BEDROOM house to sublease to summer. Close to campus and Aggieville. Price negotiable. 537-7094.

SUBLEASE: TWO-BEDROOM, one bath, pool, with option to rent. Open June 1. 539-4931 after 6p.m. SUBLEASE- NICE two-bedroom apartment for three to four people. One block from campus. Washer, dryer, dishwasher, $450 month, 539-4784.

SUBLEASE-GREAT two-bedroom house right next to campus. $420/ month. Call 776-3384. SUBLEASE- ONE-BEDROOM apartment, one-half block from campus. $150 a month plus bills. For June and July. Call 537-3342. SUMMER- FOUR-BEDROOM, two-bathroom apartment with balcony, dishwasher, and laundry facilities. Near campus and Aggieville. Rent negotiable.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Nice, spacious two-bedro apartment. Water and trash paid. $375. Call 776-6498.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Large, two-bedroom unfurn ished apartment. $450 plus electricity. Negotiable. Close to campus. 537-2863.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— June 1 -July 31 and/ or lease available through Aug. 1, 1991. Furnished, one large bedroom, excellent condition, private balcony, across from Ford Hall. Perfect for one to three people. Price negotiable. Call 776-0715. Best petween 5:30- 7p.m.

SUMMER SUBLEASE—one to two rooms in house with another roommate, right across the street from campus. Male only, 776-5799.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom, furnished or unturnished. Close to Aggieville and campus. Price negotiable. 776-7493. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom house, carport.

deck, backyard, washer/ dryer, negotiable, 537-2101, leave message. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Large, one-bedroom, furnished new carpet, close to campus. $290/ month. Call 776-8850.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Nice and affordable one bedroom apartment. Near campus/ Aggieville. Call 539-2963 or 539-2007. THREE-BEDROOM, two full baths, one-half block west of campus; dishwasher. Dates/ rent negotiable 776-7945. TWO-BEDROOM, FURNISHED, one block from carry

pus. Aggieville. Available June and July. $270. 776-4574.

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE- Loft bed, in great shape. $45. Price is negotiable. Call 532-3351. FOR SALE— Loft bed, in great shape. $45. Price is negotiable. Call 532-3351. PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050

Battery or AC powered, two font types, 16,000-character memory expansion card, spell corrector and many other features. Excellent condition. $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave GOVERNMENT SURPLUS- G.I. boots, sleeping bags, wool clothing for mountain campers, back-packs, tents, wet weather gear, camo clothing, much more! St. Marys Surplus Sales. St. Marys. KS. 1-437-2734.

TANNING FACIAL lamp— Woolf System. Brand new Paid $200. Make offer! Call Tami at 776-6657.

33 Storage

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS 36 Actress 1 Musical San Juan 37 City VIP passage 5 Sphere 38 Ling-Ling, lead-in

9 Barker

of TV person

beasts

14 Burrows

Castro

Years

Before

the -

19 Indicate

21 Irish

24 Italian

25 Extinct

26 Native

30 Cover

31 Alleviates

32 Qu irg

party

33 Fire bug

love

35 Zhivago's birds

of Helena

region

indirectly playwright face-off

for one 40 Pack 42 Make fun of 43 Irish inlet on the Atlantic

48 Harem

room or Vigoda 49 Word in Mark 15:34 50 Paris magazine 51 Reimburse 52 Something you went off yesterday Sally 53 Bread Rand? choices 20 Former DOWN

detergent 1 Com core additive Solution time: 24 mins SAA

Yesterday's answer 4-10

21 Actor Lugosi 22 Arab 3 Actress chieftain 4 Fragrances 23 Canadian inland dances 24 Dill weed 6 Way out 26 Mother 7 Actress of Hermes

2 Three match

Susan

5 School

Ryan

firmly

North

10 Double reed

11 Root

Atlantic

follower

16 Prop for

8 Declares

28 Dynamics 9 Arm of the lead-in 29 Close at hand 31 Affianced woodwind 34 "That -

27 Old spy

Magic" 35 Darrow, for 37 Ostrich's kin 38 Support

Black

39 Verdi heroine 40 Wild plum 41 Taunt 44 - Baba 45 Peripa-

46 Pub specialty 47 Toady's answei

Nellie

22

CRYPTOQUIP

CJYDRPHIW GF

W F D O X ' G TFCW MHGDI!" Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE OFFICIALS OF THE HXRIZ MJYD TPOQHXW: "ZFPI HCJQJ tetic

> CARPENTERS' UNION HAMMERED OUT A DEAL. Today's Cryptoquip clue: Y equals F

Shift shocks workers

By The Associated Press

SANOK, Poland - Poland's fast shift to a market economy has shocked the 6,300 workers and managers of the Autosan Bus Factory, long wrapped in the warm cocoon of central planning.

With unsold buses gathering dust on the factory's parking lot, most of the plant is on work holiday and at least several hundred people are to be laid off permanently.

It is an example of how for the first time in decades in this formerly Communist country, economic failure packs a painful punch.

To make things harder for Sanok, a remote community on the edge of the Carpathian Mountains in the southeast corner of Poland, there are already 1,500 registered job-seekers and no employers large enough to absorb them. In housing-short Poland, relocating is seldom an option.

'Sanok will become a city of the unemployed," said metalworker Stanislaw Potoczny ruefully.

"People are depressed by the situation, really depressed," said Jan Solar, foreman in charge of the tooling department. "Everyone is wondering, 'If I am fired, who will emp-

Company Director Jan Wilk, looking glum during a recent interview, complained that he had no time to adjust to the free economic system introduced Jan. 1 by the Solidarity-led government. And the tight-money policies imposed to quench raging inflation have dried up demand.

School

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

ics, or being rejected by their parents. Dealing with a death may be the simplest problem, Doyle said.

"Drugs and alcohol are a problem we handle," Doyle said, "We look at those as more symptomatic of other problems.'

The high school has support groups for students who have been in treatment centers or who are the children of alcoholics.

"We also have peer helpers who are trained to help transfer students," Doyle said, "They are trained to help with normal teenage problems and refer them if need be.

Collegian wins national award

By Tim Clopton Collegian Reporter

The Collegian was named the Best Overall Broadsheet newspaper at the College Newspaper Business and Advertising Managers' national convention in Boston Saturday.

This is the second consecutive year the Collegian has won the

"It is exciting and it shows that the students are concerned about quality production on both the advertising and editing sides," said Gloria Freeland, associate director of student publications and national president of CNBAM.

The Collegian received second place for office administration materials, which includes forms and documents used in the offices, she said.

Competition for the best overall broadsheet was based on three categories, including the presentation of news-advertising ratio, neatness and creativity of each

Each area was worth 20 points. The Collegian received 54 out of 60 points.

One judge's evaluation read, "From front to back this is well laid out. (The paper) uses full potential of the page so nothing is

Some staff members said the key to the Collegian's success is its cooperation.

"I realized that our ad and news staff have a really good relationship," said Sara Shutler, senior in modern languages and Collegian advertising manager. "I heard from a lot of other schools that their relationships were bad. I think cooperation is what helps to win these types of awards."

Competition took place in six advertising categories, four marketing and business categories, and four distinguishable personnel categories, Freeland said.

The best overall newspaper was divided into broadsheet and tabloid divisions. The Trendsetter Award was presented to the newspaper that made innovations in production techniques and processes.

Two hundred representatives, three of whom were from K-State, from 74 schools nationwide attended the CNBAM convention last week.

Guest speakers were present throughout the four-day event. Topics included the future of newspapers, desktop publishing and other advertising- and newsrelated material.

Fee

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 fee would be easier for them to handle, Rathbone said.

He said he would rather have the $100 per semester fee because that is what the students at K-State want and it would be easier for K-State to handle.

Rathbone said the lack of a budget line item supporting maintenance of engineering equipment was a major problem cited by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technol-

"In the last five years, ABET has basically said you must have a plan to support equipment replacement, new purchases and maintenance," he said. "It isn't a maybe, it's an absolute requirement."

The college is scheduled for reevaluation by ABET next fall, he said. Even though the college may pass all other criteria for accreditation, without the equipment line item, the college will be put on "show cause," a type of probation, Rathbone said.

"We must meet all the criteria," Rathbone said. "It's like getting all A's in the other criteria, but the one F will bring us down.'

The college would be on "show cause" for three years before the accreditation firm would review it again, Rathbone said. This is something he wants to avoid because it could hurt the reputation of the Concern has been raised by some groups, including the Student Senate, that the engineering fee will set a precedent for other colleges to have restricted fees.

"No one will argue that we need money, but how we are going to obtain it is the question," Todd Giefer, engineering senator, said. "This might lead to other fees in the school. We have to look at how we're going to protect other colleges from restricted fees." Stacy Lacy, engineering senator, said he was concerned the fee could be raised too easily in a few years.

"The hard part is getting the fee established," he said. "It's easy to increase once we get it."

Many students questioned whether they would receive financial aid to help pay for the fee. Rathbone

Although the college has received many gifts from private companies, money must be spent to maintain the equipment, Rathbone said. Most of the funds from the restricted fee will be used for this.

"When we get a major gift, for instance of about a million dollars, the typical number they talk about to maintain that equipment is 10 to 20 percent," he said. "Using the smaller number, that's about $100,000."

Rathbone said engineering needs about $1 million for equipment purchases, replacements and maintenance. The engineering fee will provide from $400,000 to $500,000 less than half of what is needed.

Other fund-raising techniques by the dean and school have been fairly successful, but he said fund raising can only go so far.

It would be ludicrous to give a

Murphy

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 cific future works, she said.

grant to a student specifying the books he will buy, the college he will attend and the courses he will take, Murphy said. Murphy said Americans have become lazy in telling the government how they feel. They must choose which direction they want the country to go, she said. Some people believe there should be no endowment for the arts at all, she said, "because the arts teach critical thinking, and critical thinking undermines parental discretion." "Are we going to be a country that is so afraid of new ideas, so afraid of our place in the world that we will control our citizens rather than take risks because we are afraid of where those risks will take us?" Murphy

EMS

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7 when there was a higher incidence of calls, but people tend to be more active when the weather gets warmer and the incidents seem to be more frequent. The average number of calls is seven a day, but Hart has seen as many as 18 in one day.

EMS technicians also handle routine hospital transfer cases, which can take up a large part of their time.

When the technicians are not out on a call, they are constantly practicing with their equipment, including splints, cervical collars, spine boards and a device used to safely extract victims from wrecked vehicles.

Opener

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 the game in the eighth, and an unearned run sent the K.C. fans home

There were, however, 161 games left to play.

But this was opening day. "For most people, January 1 marks the first of the year," said Royals manager John Wathan. "For us, yesterday (Sunday) was Dec. 31 and today (Monday) is New Year's Day."

That feeling wasn't lost on Davis, who made his first appearance in a Royals' uniform after winning the National League Cy Young Award last season for San Diego.

"I am very excited about being here," said Davis, who struck out the only batter he faced. "Opening day is an event, and I'm happy I was part of that event."

Royals

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

wall to cut the Baltimore lead to 3-2. Kansas City took its first lead of the year in the sixth, scoring four runs to go up 6-3.

With Joe Price on the mound replacing Milacki, Jackson chopped an infield single wide of third with one out. Tartabull then singled to right with Jackson moving to third on the

After Jim Eisenreich popped out to catcher Tettleton in foul territory, Kurt Stillwell ripped a double down the line in left, scoring both Jackson and Tartabull. Stillwell moved to third on the throw home. The next batter, White, then took a

3-2 pitch and planted it in the general admission seats in left for a two-run

White didn't hit his first homer in 1989 until his 104th game, on August 18 in Seattle.

"I went through four years where I hit homers and two that I didn't. I don't think this means I'm back to hitting them," White said of his blast.

The Royal lead was short-lived, as Horn's second three-run homer — in the eighth off reliever Farr - tied the contest and sent it into extra innings. "There was just too much Sam Horn today," Wathan said. "That was the biggest problem." Jackson wasn't as kind in his assessment. "Sam is a good friend of mine, but I don't think he'll have another game like that again this year," he said.

In the 11th, Baltimore got through to reliever Jeff Montgomery, 0-1, for an unearned run on the Tartabull error that allowed the winning run to cross home plate. That gave the win to Jay Aldrich, the fourth of five Oriole pitchers. Gregg Olson got his first save.

Senate

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Kern said the committee recommended that if the benefit to the University community isn't high enough, Senate should review UFM's progress each year and begin to phase them out over the next five

Stacy Pfeiffer, arts and science senator and liaison between Senate and UFM, said she has been available to answer questions the senators may have regarding UFM.

"I've had several phone calls and messages from senators (regarding UFM)," Pfeiffer said.

She said the questions have ranged from the types of classes UFM offers to the specifics of the budget request. There are three groups from which

UFM receives funding: the University, the Manhattan community and state and federal grants, Friesen said. "Even though we only receive 24 percent of our money from the University, we really need that money to make our catalog of classes. The University percent is absolutely important," he said.

UFM is suffering other cutbacks as well. This year the Division of Continuing Education cut $8,000 from UFM, and have already cut $12,000 from UFM for next year, Friesen said.

"It will be even harder to compensate for the additional $13,256 cut from SGA," he said. UFM has many programs affecting people's lives, and the SGA's decision will have far-reaching ramifications, Friesen said. 'We've actually had people from western Kansas hear about it and write us letters," Friesen said. "Our hope is to receive the full funding we have recommended. I think there will be an amendment made to allocate the full amount."

Other groups seeking allocations tonight will be Older, Wiser, Learning Students, Consumer Relations Board, Off-Campus Association and the Coalition for Human Rights.

June 4-July 27, 1990

On-campus courses and courses offered throughout Kansas

> Enjoy Small Classes Concentrated Study Accelerated Degree programs A Relaxed Atmosphere

K-State Summer Session offers: Quality undergraduate and graduate courses Workshops, short courses, and institutes Campus housing Social and leisure-time activities Courses in many Kansas communities TELENET courses

Summer line schedules are available in the K-State Union Bookstore. K-State Summer Session Bulletins are available from your advisor, from the Admissions Office, or by contacting the Division of Continuing Education, 131College Court Building, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506, 913-532-5566.

COLLEGIAN

Wednesday, April 11, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 130

'Death sentence' overturned

Brad Camp/Staff Richard Friesen, director of UFM, answers student senators' questions about SGA funding of the organization during a Senate meeting Tuesday evening. UFM received more money than it had requested during the meeting, ending a two-week debate about the funding.

Senate votes to grant UFM $13,000 in funds

By Chris Koger Government Editor

handed a possible funding death we should support this," Lively sentence, Student Senate voted said. "UFM also helps to recruit fation what it had requested.

Finance Committee had previously recommended no funding for that UFM was a major reason he UFM, except for $500 for the Lou Douglas Lecture series.

Almost four hours of debate and questioning centered on the funding request of $13,256, which was at first decreased through an amendment to $10,601. The amendment was quickly amended to increase the allocation to the original figure, plus $54.70 to cover rising postage

Richard Friesen, director of UFM, breathed a sigh of relief when Senate voted 35-13-1 to give UFM the $13,311.

"I'm thrilled," Friesen said. "This gives us a clear statement from the students - it's just tremendous."

He said the move surprised him. "I've always had a hard time reading Senate, and what would happen," Friesen said. "I didn't even have a clue that Finance Committee wouldn't recommend any funds. But it increasingly became clear that we would get some funding, the question was just how much."

The first amendment, proposed by engineering senator Stacy Lacy, would have begun a process of phasing out student funding to

"I'm not in favor of killing them, but gradually phasing them out of the SGA budget," Lacy said. "It wouldn't be fair to drop them all at once, but phase them out over a period of time."

Graduate senator Dwayne Lively, who proposed the amendment that was eventually passed, emphatically told Senate how important the funding was.

"If one of a university's goals is Two weeks after UFM was to recruit non-traditional students, Tuesday night to give the organiza-tion what it had requested. culty — they don't come here for the salary ... " Gary Coates, architecture professor, told Senate chose to teach at K-State.

"I came specifically to work with UFM," said Coates, who helped obtain $150,000 in grants to research and help build UFM's solar greenhouse.

"It's becoming increasingly difficult to recruit new faculty, but we have one significant factor in our favor - an outstanding place to raise a family," he said. "It would be significantly wise not to kill the goose that lays the golden egg. I'd hate to see you lose this treasure."

UFM's role in the community as a liaison with the University was emphasized by opponents and proponents of the allocation.

"No one I know is debating if UFM is a bad program," said Barry Beck, coordinator of finances. "This does a lot of good for the community - a lot.

"But this is a student activity fee," he said. "The question is if student fees should fund a community program. Maybe this Senate can pass a community activity fee. Then I would be in support of funding

Other senators said student involvement in UFM is obvious.

"UFM is here for people to learn about things they are interested in. Students even teach some of the classes there," said Joel Gruenke, graduate student in statistics. "It has been said that this is a student activity fee, and should go towards student activities. That is what UFM is! There is no other organization we can give money to that would benefit student activities more."

Caucus reviews problems facing 2-career couples

By Steve Franzen Staff Reporter

Faculty Women's Caucus on Tuesday discussed the problems and possible solutions facing dual-career couples.

Dorothy Thompson, the University associate attorney, said dual-career couples pose problems to a university when one partner is recruited and the other is not. Possible applicants are sometimes lost because their partner is not ensured employment in the community.

"Both partners, usually as a condition of appointment of either, require professional career opportunities," she said.

A panel comprised of Thompson; Jane Rowlett, director of Affirmative Action; and Buddy Gray, professor of history, informed the Caucus about the history and progress the University has made toward resolving the problem of dual-career couples. All are members of a University task force addressing the same

Because of the dual-career couple problem, K-State faces the possibility of not being able to attract quality faculty. Gray said he knew of two faculty applicants that rejected K-State offers, and Rowlett said she has been contacted by six department heads who will lose or have lost personnel because of dual-career couple problems.

Thompson said University policy on the issue began to form in October after she attended a conference at the University of Colorado on dual-career couples. After the conference, Thompson reported to President Jon Wefald and Provost James Coffman.

In December, the task force made four recommendations to Wefald and Coffman that stated:

The University should publish an announcement that faculty recruiters might use to establish that K-State will act affirmatively in dealing with dual-career

■ The University should follow up with a brochure explaining this to faculty and applicants.

By fall 1990, a staff member should be appointed to an office overseeing situations involving dual-career couples.

■ The University should establish funds to employ the "trailing spouse."

On Jan. 12, Coffman sent a memo to all deans, directors and department heads stating that K-State would take an affirmative stance on the recruitment on retention of dual-career couples. Coffman also suggested interim steps that could be taken to increase the possibility of recruiting and retention success.

The strategy includes determining whether the dual-career issue applies to the applicant, and, if so, making it clear to the couple that employment opportunities may be enhanced.

The plan stresses communication within and between departments, but also suggests contacting the Office of Affirmative Action to locate possible open positions on campus.

As a last resort, the strategy See CAUCUS, Page 12

Gorbachev softens Baltic blow

Soviet leader says presidential rule will be imposed only in extreme situations

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW - One day after issuing a harsh new warning to Lithuanian separatists, Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev backed off the tough line Tuesday by declaring he does not yet see a need to impose presidential rule.

Lithuanian President Vytautas Landsbergis, responding to the severe tone of Monday's declaration by the Kremlin, sent a telegram to Gorbachev saying he feared that "ultra-rightist imperial forces are compelling you to take a wrong step: to continue the wrongs of the 1940s in the Baltics."

"In the name of peace, justice and concord on earth, do not do this," he

He was referring to the Soviet occupation and forced annexation of the three Baltic republics -Lithuania, Estonia, and Latvia — in

Since March 11, when Lithuania declared its independence restored, the Kremlin has repeatedly alternated between threatening and conciliatory tones. On several occasions, threatening military movements were followed by kinder words. Speaking at a Young Communist League congress in Moscow, Gorbachev said Tuesday that presidential rule would be used only as an extreme measure during a civil conflict, according to the official Tass news agency. He said Soviet leaders are still trying to persuade Lithuanians to rescind their declaration of independence.

Presidential rule could include martial law and dissolving Lithuania's parliament. It was elected in March and is Lithuania's first freely elected parliament in 50

In the latest Soviet show of strength, several tanks rolled through Gediminas Square in the center of ■ See SOVIET, Page 12

offered Account

New retirement fund available

By Heather Anderson Collegian Reporter

A new retirement account offered to K-State faculty and staff would allow them to invest in companies that follow acceptable standards for social responsibility.

According to information released by the Teacher Insurance and Annuity Association and College Retirement Equities Funds, the account is one of four possible investment tools offered by the College Retirement Equities Funds, a subsidiary of the Teacher Insurance and Annuity Association and College Retirement Equities Funds.

According to TIAA-CREF, money in this account will not be invested in companies that have economic ties to South Africa, have operations in Northern Ireland, have a significant portion of business involved in weapon manufacturing or produce and market alcoholic beverages or tobacco products.

Kevin Heiny, spokesman for TIAA-CREF, said that the new account was created in response to par- investment vehicle, making the inticipants' requests.

"The educational community has raised some concerns on social issues, and we have responded by offering the account," Heiny said. "Whether or not it will succeed depends on how many schools offer the account and how well it is received."

Heiny said he has no figures to determine the success of the account because it was introduced March 1. Many schools are giving faculty and staff time to decide whether to invest TIAA-CREF is just one of the investment companies offered to University employees by the Board of Regents, said Jennifer Gehrt, manager of employee benefits and records.

Gehrt said faculty and staff members have a choice of companies to invest with, but TIAA-CREF has been offered for the longest time.

"If a faculty member wants to invest in this particular account, they can either transfer their money from an existing account or keep that money where it is and start a new account," she said.

The social choice account, unlike other accounts, uses more than one ■ See RETIRE, Page 12

Black Student Union offended by Senate

By Tim Clopton Collegian Reporter

Members of Black Student Union discussed problems with Student Senate Tuesday that stemmed from debate during an allocation session.

The conflict arose during Thursday night's Student Senate meeting, which consisted of several hours of debate over whether BSU should receive funding after turning in its budget request to the Senate Finance Committee after the deadline.

Statements made by two student senators referring to the membership of BSU as "these people" were considered offensive by some of its members. "I am very disturbed when something comes up that has anything to do with racism because I don't like it," said Todd Giefer, engineering senator. "I would like to apologize for my remarks, and I will make a concerted effort to try to refrain from that from now on." Giefer said he uses the same terms to refer to many organizations when speaking at Senate meetings.

Giefer was asked if his opinion about the rule against funding groups who miss the Finance Committee's deadline had changed.

He said the deadline was a Senate rule, and it was his responsibility as a senator to express his beliefs to ensure a thorough discussion.

Adrienne Carter, member of BSU, said the rule should be reevaluated.

"I agree that there should be some precedent set," Carter said. "But by the same token, if you are going to enforce the rule, then you should also enforce it in the proper posture. The proper posture would be that you are not giving us money. These are funds that we give to the University as students.' "I know that you disagree with the funding, but I think a mistake See BSU, Page 12

Group frees three hostages

PARIS (AP) - The Libyan-backed Palestinian group headed by Abu Nidal freed a French woman, a Belgian man and their young daughter Tuesday after holding them for nearly 21/2

The three arrived at a military airport outside Paris late Tuesday after a five-hour flight from Beirut, where they had been dropped off at the French Embassy by masked gunmen who arrived in cars with drawn curtains.

Jacqueline Valente, 32, Fernand Houtekins, 43, and their 2-year-old daughter Sophie-Liberte, born in captivity, were met by jubilant relatives and French officials, but made no public statements. They were taken to a military hospital to spend their first night in freedom after 882 days in captivity.

Abu Nidal's group announced Nov. 8, 1987, it had seized the hostages from the French yacht Silco in the Mediterranean off the Gaza Strip. It accused them of collaborating with Israel's Mossad intelligence agency. Friends said the group was on a holiday cruise.

Walesa may run for president

WARSAW, Poland (AP) - Solidarity leader Lech Walesa was quoted Tuesday as saying he will run for president in the next election.

The report by the government news agency PAP could not immediately be confirmed with Walesa or his spokesman. Aides and colleagues of the Solidarity leader have long been saying he is considering a presidential bid.

Jaroslaw Kaczynski, a close associate of Walesa's and editor of the Solidarity Weekly newspaper, said the leader's comments to PAP should only be "understood as a general declaration, not connected with present events."

"I confirm," PAP quoted Walesa as saying when asked if he would run for president.

Man fights for drug's profits

LOS ANGELES (AP) - California's Supreme Court heard arguments Tuesday on whether a leukemia survivor deserves to share profits from an anti-cancer drug made from his cells in a case pitting medical progress against a man's rights to his own body.

"Without my knowledge or consent, the doctors and the research institutions used a part of me for their own gain," John Moore, president of a Seattle soft-drink company, said as he entered the courtroom.

"They stole something from me," he said.

Moore, 45, said he sued the University of California, two researchers and two biotechnology and drug companies to defend "the rights of the individual patient in the case where the physician-researcher is also a businessman-entrepreneur."

Census: men catching women

WASHINGTON (AP) - Men are catching up, at least in numbers. The Census Bureau said Tuesday that the number of men grew faster than the number of women in the '80s, something that hasn't happened since the first decade of this century.

Death rates for men declined more rapidly than for women, extending male lifespans and allowing their population to increase more rapidly than women, the new study disclosed.

Cancer deaths increased among women while dropping for men, pointing to increased smoking by women beginning in the 1960s as a likely factor in the change, a Census expert said.

Runaway delays launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - A runaway power plant on the space shuttle Discovery forced NASA to scrub its launch Tuesday with the Hubble Space Telescope, and officials said it will be a week or two before they try again.

The countdown was down to the four-minutes-to-go mark when sensors detected that one of three auxiliary power units was running too fast. Computers halted the launch process.

"A valve which failed to respond let too much fuel go into the unit which caused an overspeed condition," said Bob Sieck, the Kennedy Space Center's launch director.

The APUs pressurize the shuttle's hydraulic system, which is used to move wing and rudder surfaces and in the ship's braking and steering systems.

Astronomers who had gathered for the big event were philosophical about the latest delay in getting the $1.5 billion telescope into orbit.

Baker likely to plead insanity

TOPEKA (AP) - A Shawnee County district judge has set a new trial date for a Topeka man accused of murdering three elderly Topeka residents, and it appears likely that the man will plead innocent for reasons of insanity.

Judge James Buchele said Tuesday that the trial for Tyrone L. Baker, 20, will begin at 9 a.m. on June 20.

Baker's trial was scheduled to begin on April 5 but was delayed indefinitely after Buchele granted a last-minute defense motion to continue the trial so Baker could undergo psychiatric evaluation.

Court transcripts of the April 5 meeting between Buchele, attorneys and Baker in the judge's chambers show that Baker's attorney, district public defender Ronald Wurtz, asked to be allowed to file a notice that he would rely on the insanity defense.

Campus

EOF Committee amends rules

The Educational Opportunity Fund Committee agreed Tuesday to an amendment requiring that all applications for funding be dated and that receipts be issued to the organization submitting the application.

The decision was made as a safeguard to prevent disputes about application deadlines.

Mike Steinle, graduate student in business administration, said such confrontations have occurred in the past.

"(Last year) a couple of proposals came in typed back-to-back on one sheet of paper," Steinle said. "The chairman of the committee said that one of them was late and one of them was not ... so it causes a lot of problems.'

The problem was resolved, but not until it had been debated extensively in Student Senate.

Steinle acted as chairman of the EOF Committee in the abscence of Student Body President Todd Johnson, who was attending a Manhattan Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Under the new amendment, an organization arguing that it had made deadline would have been issued a receipt as proof. The committee suggested that copies of the applications with information pertaining to the date, time and name of the person accepting it be on the receipts.

Steinle recommended limiting the number of people who have authority to accept the applications and issue the receipts to one or two. However, because those with the authority may not be available at all times, the matter was not acted upon.

HEX, the fabulous stand-up system

CAMPUS BULLETIN

In Monday's edition of the Collegian, a notice appeared in Campus Bulletin for a Gay/Lesbian Singles Club, and a phone number was provided for those interested in the club.

The notice was placed as a prank. The phone number provided was supposed to be that of the person on which the prank was being played. Unfortunately, for those playing the joke and the person who received the calls, the incorrect number was given.

The Campus Bulletin is a service provided free to the University community. The staff trusts that those placing the notices in the Bulletin are honest and not using it for other purposes.

When it is abused as it was in the incident described above, it damages the credibility of the Campus Bulletin and the Collegian. Without credibility - a belief in the reliability of the information reported — the Collegian loses the confidence of its readers.

In addition, those who may respond to prank notices in the Bulletin may be embarrassed.

Should incidents like the one Monday recur, the Bulletin will be discontinued to prevent further damage to the Collegian's credibility.

In order to prevent it from happening again, all those submitting items to the Bulletin will be required to submit them in person to Kedzie Haii 163. When they do so, they will need to show a picture I.D. After 5 p.m., those submitting notices may do so in the newsroom, Kedzie 116. Again a picture I.D. will have to be provided.

I apologize for the inconvenience. Erwin Seba

Editor

Wednesday

- OWLS will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.
- German Club will meet at 4 p.m. in Union 208.
- Students Acting to Save a Vulnerable Environment will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 213. Bring art materials.
- K-State MDA Crew will meet at 9:30 p.m. in Bramlage Coliseum.
- Deutsch-Amerikanisher Kaffeeklatsch will meet at 8:30 p.m. at Espresso Royale.
- Rodeo Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Weber 146.
- Gymnastics Club will meet from 8:05 to 10 p.m. in Natatorium 4.

Thursday

- Christian Educators and World Christian Fellowship will meet at 12:30 p.m. in All Faiths Chapel for an Easter celebration.
- Alpha Kappa Psi will have a professional meeting at 7 p.m. in Thompson 101.
- KSU Horticulture Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Waters 244 to elect
- Icthus Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union Little

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, partly sunny but continued cool. High only 45 to 50. North winds 10 to 20 mph. Tonight, mostly clear and very cool. Low in the mid- to upper 20s. Thursday, partly cloudy and warmer. High in the mid-50s.

or even Soft Shell Tacos.

Horses to

Variety key ingredient in Gumbo Hill's success

By Shannan Seely Collegian Reporter

Some experts say to become successful in today's business world, specialize in a single career field.

Harry Whitney, a gray-haired, slim Manhattan resident, has achieved success by doing just the opposite. Whitney's career background has included construction work, house repairs, farming, aircraft repair, car sales and insurance sales.

Whitney and his wife, Donna, own Gumbo Hill, a horse-drawn carriage service in Manhattan. Gumbo Hill has been providing carriage and sleigh rides in the Manhattan area for several

"Gumbo Hill provides wedding and parade carriage rides for hire anytime and not just for the thrill or the glory of the attention we receive," Whitney said.

In addition to Gumbo Hill, he refurnishes furniture, works on a room addition for his house, leases land and sells antiques in a one-of-a-kind polyurethane building.

Whitney said he does not consider any one business venture completely successful, but believes Gumbo Hill is a popular original.

"It all started when my wife and I were dating in the late '40s," Whitney said. "We bought a two-seated carriage for $2. We were afraid it would fall apart when we towed it behind our car." The carriage was stored at the farm for a long time. When friends and acquaintances found out about the carriage, they encouraged him to restore it for weddings, Whitney said.

Still unsure of what was ahead, Whitney started remodeling the carriage in 1961. He stripped off the paint, made minor repairs and bought a horse. "I saw a carriage in Nebraska similar to mine, but with a good top, for $2,500," he said. Sometimes weather conditions such as rain create unusual situations for Whitney.

"I remember a wedding in Manhattan during unsettled weather," Whitney said. "As the couple and I rode through Aggieville, the sky opened up and down it came.'

Whitney said they saw a nearby convenient store with an awning over a dry sidewalk.

"I stopped the carriage right under it to get relief from the rain," he said. "It was still pouring, so the groom went to the liquor store for beer and a Pepsi for his bride. We chatted away while he guzzled his beer.

"Family members stopped by to see why the wedding couple had not arrived at the reception, which had been changed to back to the church because of the rain," Whitney said.

"It seemed everyone was waiting on the bride and groom, and we were having a good time getting to know one another. Even my wife stopped by to see what happened to Another part of Gumbo Hill services is a Brahman steer, a humped breed of cattle with horns, named "Satin Sam." Whitney rides the Brahman steer in parades to promote grain elevators, western stores and other hometown businesses.

"He does not like strangers," Whitney said. "One time, I rode him in front of a Seneca grocery store to advertise a meat sale. A little boy followed me and squatted down to look at the Brahman's face. "The Brahman spun around, I got scared, pulled back, and the boy, frightened, ran inside the store," he said. "I am sure he was so scared he needed his pants changed."

Harry Whitney, owner of Gumbo Hill horse-drawn carriage service, dusts off the front of a carriage he uses for wedding and parade rides. Whitney also has a horse-drawn hearse and a Brahman steer.

An unfortunate accident recently changed the appearance of the Brahman steer.

"He broke off one of his horns," Whitney said. "He is not as pretty now and just looks tougher."

Whitney said he will continue using the steer in parades. An original part of the Gumbo Hill business is the horse-drawn hearse which represents funeral homes in parades.

Since the hearse is a oneseater, sometimes the funeral director rides in the parade.

"Reactions of people are so interesting," Whitney said. "People tell (the funeral director) what a great entry it is and even thank him. People have shown a lot of interest in the hearse at parades. It's like going to a museum."

Some people find the hearse offensive and show negative reactions, Whitney said.

■ See GUMBO, Page 12

Palestinian to lecture on peace process

By The Collegian Staff

Riyad Mansour, deputy ambassador of Palestine to the United Nations, will present a lecture today on the peace process in the Middle East from a Palestinian perspective.

Mansour, who is a member of the Palestine National Council, will lecture in the K-State Union Ballroom at

The lecture was initiated and organized by the General Union of Palestine Students.

"Earlier this semester, Abba Eban spoke at K-State and presented the peace process from an Israeli perspective," said Haitham Arafat, president of the General Union of Palestine Students and senior in industrial engineering. "So we thought it would be a good idea to present the Palestinian perspective as well. This way, people can compare both sides and draw their own conclusions."

Arafat said the lecture was part of the group's effort to increase the community's awareness about the events in the Israeli-occupied territories of West Bank and Gaza.

"Mansour is an excellent source of information because he receives news that is not censored," said Husam Al-Asmar, member of the General Union of Palestine Students and graduate student in engineering. "He receives his information from Al-Wafa, the Palestinian news agency, which reports the current events faster and more accurate than any other news agency. His speech is going to be a good source of information even for us Palestinians who are already aware of most of the events."

The event is co-sponsored by the Arab Student Association and the International Coordinating Council.

Collegian advertising has what you need

Look for the Collegian Auto Directory

·NOW OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK·

TACO BURGER.. 2 for $1 reg. 90¢ each

BURRITO DINNER .... $2.77 reg. $3.60

Prices Good Thru Saturday, April 14

The Hill Over Looking Westloop 539-2091 Staring April 1, 1990 open Sun.-Thur. 11 a.m.-10 p.m.

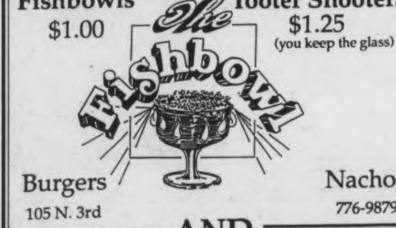

AT SNOOKIES TONIGHT

9 P.M.

ABZOLUT

MODELING CONTEST

Nachos 776-9879

$2.75 Pitchers

Beer • Drinks • Pool • Darts

BoWinkle's

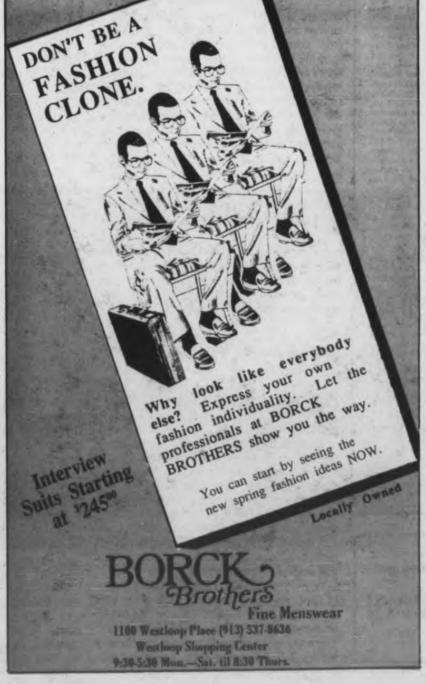

776-1002 3043 Anderson

This event will feature television celebrity Gordon Jump and performances by Matt Betton's Palace Jazz Band and renowned vocalist Marilyn Maye. Tickets are $40 per person and must be purchased in advance. For more information, call Dotti Downey at the Kansas State University Foundation (913) 532-7151.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIAL

Commitment requires balance, choices

pring. Love. Growth. Eventual de-cay. Does anything ever last? I have always hoped, desperately hoped, that there does exist the potential for permanence. (No, this is not the desperate request of an unrequited lover.) Whether we like it or not, it seems the human experience of love parallels the cyclical patterns of nature. We resist this, of course. We resist even the awareness that change is occurring within ourselves or within our partner. Pain is uncomfortable. But such decay ensures rebirth.

But perhaps permanence can occur when both individuals grow and change together. Perhaps it occurs when both individuals value life-long commitment. But is it possible to commit when the nature of relationships changes throughout the life span?

As I watch others and myself, "romanticsm" drives much of our fantasies, our needs, our expectations. Endless love. Sappy songs. Fate. We begin to love, many times, by reenacting the myths of love, the activities and the obsessions of love. Reality always rears its ugly, snooping nose into such a dreamy existence. Our partners will not always act according to our needs and desires. Eventually imperfection, idiosyncracies and annoyances will creep into the picture, and the gloss will melt away. Crash.

I overheard a conversation between two young women:

"Look at my ring. Isn't it beautiful. So big and shiny. I know he loves me now."

"I know what you mean. When my husband finally, offically asked me to marry him, it was really wonderful. We had waited so long because he didn't have enough money to buy an appropriate ring. I wasn't sure he loved me until he slipped that ring onto my finger ... I knew it was forever then."

How can a ring that can be lost or discarded signify permanence? The symbol is intense, but seems obsolete, unnecessary, trivial in light of commitment. When we concentrate on romantic aspects of the relationship such as a ring, are we overlooking the "ugly" and "unsettling" aspects of our partner, of ourselves?

We fall in love. We fall out of love. We attempt to construct our partners according to who we believe they are. We construct ourselves according to what we think they want. Why do we continue to squeeze each other into a category, a mold, a slot? When we pretend to be someone we are not in order to be with a person, to be liked, loved, revered, do we not realize that the drama and theatrics must continue if we expect the relationship to continue?

My parents, like many of our parents, are divorced. Mine, after 25 years. Another causality directly influenced by "romanticism." After all that time, they knew each other, but did not like each other; neither met the expectations each had of the other, each had for their own lives. The divorce caused tremendous pain and loss, but the resulting freedom and growth has allowed each more rich and satisfying lives.

fear marrying someone, to then find that I have never known that person or have outgrown that person. If we must continue growing and changing, how will we know, how can we be sure the commitment we make will not later be retracted?

I do want to commit to someone someday. Yet I don't want to be locked into a relationship that I will grow out of. I don't want to be alone, yet I realize that my choices will insist on being alone, at least until I find what I want and not what society tells me to want.

Shouldn't we allow someone we care for, deeply care for, to change, reshape and explore? Shouldn't we allow this for ourselves? But romanticism asks us to be possessed, to worship, and regard another as more than human. Can there be love that is neither romantic nor cynical and callous? I can find no word in the English language to express such a combination, a combination of concern and affection, coupled with responsibility and realistic awareness. I can only describe it as a possible ideal, an abstract. I wonder if such an honest understanding, such willingness to let go of another for their sake, such willingness to ignore our selfish tendencies, would allow for a heightened, more intimate gathering.

To continue the enlightening conversation of the two young women ...

"So how much did your dress cost?"

"How much did yours?" "Well, compared with the cost of the wedding, barely nothing."

Yeah, my parents are still in debt, and on our honeymoon we had to pawn the ring ... we ran out of money ... it was so romantic."

'Offensive' photographs should not be censored

Art is not always pretty. Good or emotion.

graphy has evoked anger from some Americans, namely Sen. Jesse Helms, who condemn it as obscene. Specifically, seven of 175 photos in an exhibit are in question. A Cincinnati judge stopped the removal of the seven photos last week after a grand jury labeled Mapplethorpe's work obscene.

Mapplethorpe, who died of AIDS in 1989, was a homosexual. The photos under scrutiny are shots of male homoerotica and naked or partially naked children. These two facts alone underlie the controversy surrounding Mapplethorpe's photography.

tists such as Rubens have been considered classic for centuries. More hibit. If people find the photos ofrecently, Patrick Nagel's paintings fensive, they can boycott the exhiof nude women have gained popularity. Only when the question of the channel to avoid obnoxious nude men - and especially nude television programming. Fortumen together as lovers - arises nately, we still have the freedom to does the issue catch fire.

GRAPHIC ARTISTS

The line between obscenity and bad, it is intended to evoke an art is fine. Although the law leaves the standard of obscenity to be de-Robert Mapplethorpe's photo- fined by a community, the community cannot say whether a piece of literature or art is without merit. The National Endowment for the Arts has recognized merit in Mapplethorpe's photography.

> Critics and society may never agree on what constitutes obscenity. To do justice to art and democracy, however, the government must not give in to censorship pressure from conservatives like Helms. Censorship in any medium signals the beginning of the end of our freedoms.

The Cincinnati judge made a terrific statement in favor of freedom Paintings of nude women by ar- of expression by allowing Mapplethorpe's work to remain on exbit. It's no different than changing decide what we enjoy.

SURE, THE STEALTH TECHNOLOGY IS EXPENSIVE. $500,000,000 each

LETTERS

Protest not right

I am writing to protest the actions of the Union in allowing those individuals protesting the movie "The Last Temptation of Christ" to hold their protest inside the building.

I am reminded of the fact that University athletes are excepted from normal enrollment procedures and are allowed to enroll in classes before anyone else. Some freshmen are excepted from normal enrollment procedures and are allowed to enroll in classes before anyone else. Some freshmen are excepted from normal parking permit rules because they are related to alumni. Some dorm residents are excepted from normal rules about moving to another room during semester break because they have applied to be staff in the dorm. Now Christian fundamentalist groups are granted an exception to the rule about protests being held outside the Union.

If rules are made, then everyone should be expected to abide by them. I'm sure in certain cases there are good reasons for exceptions to the rules, but in most cases here at the University lately, the exceptions are not reasonable and smack of favortism.

I am very tired of the "exceptions" that abound at this University. Rules exist for a reason, and if all of these exceptions are made, perhaps we should question the reasoning for the rules in the first place.

Beth DeGeer graduate student in special curriculum

Appeal system unfair

As most of you know, from personal experience, K-State, like many other public universities, has a limited amount of parking space. During the first week of this year, I found myself going through the procedure and cost, $40 per year, of applying for a small parcel of this valuable land. Fortunately, I did receive a parking permit, and with this I thought I had accomplished this task. But to

A few months later, I found two tiny pieces of paper on the underside of each of my two windshield wiper blades. They turned out to be authorized donations to the K-State Police Department. I had not driven my car for two my surprise, I was wrong.

ticket per week (my permit had fallen from my rearview mirror). I assumed because I had already purchased a residence hall parking permit, these citations would automatically be repealed when proof was shown that I indeed had purchased my permit. My assumptions proved to be wrong.

After discovering these citations, I went to the police station with permit in hand and proceeded to explain my situation. I was cut short as the receptionist informed me that because I hadn't brought my tickets into the office within 24 hours, I had to fill out an official appeal form. Well, 41/2 months later I received two replies from the Parking Citation Appeals Board stating that one ticket had been appealed and the other was to be paid within two weeks. So far this year, it has cost me $50 and a great deal of time in order to secure a place to park my automobile.

My roommate also received a citation because of similar circumstances, which he brought to the police station 26 hours after it was issued. He was forced to pay the original $10 fine plus an additional $5 fee.

What is the logic behind having an appeals system if that system charges you an additional fee for spending your time completing the appeals forms. I know the University is having budgetary problems, but I do not believe this legitimizes the practice of unfairly charging the University's students. With policies such as this one, K-State is going to find it increasingly difficult to recruit new Throughout history, many governmental bodies have used differing forms of police enforcement to keep the masses down. Must K-State follow a similar policy?

Robert A. Atchley sophomore in environmental design

Solve problem at root

Sandy Hegarty's April 6 article about K-State students working at various area homelessness shelters and food distribution centers was interesting and informative. Everyone involved - students, other volunteers and paid staff - are to be congratulated for their hard and selfless work, which goes unnoticed by many of us.

Eradicating homelessness and hunger is a most difficult problem that faces society. The crux of the issue was expressed by Darren Landis, junior in hotel and restaurant management, whom the article quoted as observweeks, and during this time, I received one ing, "We are exposing the (shelter) guests to nutritious meals so they can do it themselves

... So they can do it themselves some day. Wow!

We must realize that shelters and distribution centers, essential as they may be, are merely stopgap measures, bandages that do not address the root cause of the problem that some people are unable to provide their own housing, their own food.

To be sure, some are destitute by choice. Significant numbers, however, are not. Many are mentally ill, forced by "deinstitutionalization" to fend for themselves. Others have lost their jobs, temporarily or longer, because of forces beyond their control.

We as a society must take concerted action to deal with the root cause of the problem those national and international economic and social forces leading to homelessness and other forms of destitution. Otherwise, we can do precious little to help the unfortunate ... "so they can do it themselves someday."

> Robert E. Burns assistant professor of regional and community planning

Standards needed

The open admissions policy of K-State is an issue that has been up and down recently. It's time for a change.

The open admissions policy now used allows unprepared students to enter the Univeristy. This causes problems for virtually everyone. Those students who aren't prepared will fail, costing them time and money. It also costs the other students and faculty

A junior college is a better place for a student who isn't prepared. There is no reason for K-State to babysit. This is an institution for higher education.

The fact that everyone pays taxes on a state school doesn't give them the right to be here. It's something that should be earned or Implementing selective admissions would make a statement that K-State has a standard and that you need to be prepared before you get here. The way it is now, a person can't realize that until it's too late.

Keith Schwinn sophomore in broadcast journalism

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

	News Staff
EDITOR	Erwin Seba
MANAGING EDITOR	Paula Selby
	Catherine Doud
	Craig Hamrick
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Eric Henry
PHOTO EDITOR	Brad Camp
SPORTS EDITOR	Chris Hays
CAMPUS EDITORS	Ellen Dayton, Susan L'Ecuyer
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Robert Short
FEATURES EDITOR	Julie Andsager
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Jim Rourk
	Chris Koger
COPY CHIEF	Nancy Downing
COPY EDITORS	Wendy Nakoneczny, Jane Thompson, Angela Waltz
STAFF REPORTERS	Lori Aperto, Peul Brumpo, Steve Frances,
STAT RESERVED	Costras Hadidi, Lori Mikesell, Tamari Quinn, Meliasa Simpson
SCIENCE REPORTER	Bryan Ackley
STAFE PHOTOGRAPHERS	Margaret Clarkin, Oliver Kaubisch,
STATE THOTOGOTH THE SAME	Brian Kratzer, Mark Leffingwell, David Mayes, Mike Venso, Steve Wolgast
SPORTS REPORTERS	Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan Wicker
COLUMNISTS	Kirk Caraway, Karin Dell'Antonia, Audra Dietz,
COLUMETO IS LINEAR TO A STATE OF THE STATE OF	Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Mussman, Brad Seabourn
REVIEWERS	Mark Butler, Rod Gillespie,
REVIEW	Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggins
STRIP CARTOONISTS	Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hayden
EDITORIAL CARTOONIST	Richard Broadfoot
EDITORIAL BOARD	Julie Andsager, Ellen Dayton, Catherine Doud,
EDIONAL BOARD	Craig Hamrick, Eric Henry, Chris Koget,
	Susan L'Ecuyer, John Mussman, Jim Rourk,
	Erwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svoboda
	Kirk Caraway
	Advertising Staff
ADVERTISING MANAGER	Sera Shutler
ACCICTANT MANACER	Dan Golden
CAMPUS /TEARSHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Metz
MADVETING /PROMOTIONS MANACER	Johan Koel
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCO	UNT EXECUTIVES Debbie Dinges, Renee Harold,
VELLERING WEI VERRILLIA ERLUCE	David Mater Teach I smeadeh Manageme Commercian

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school y day and Thursday during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER; Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University. Inc. Kan. 66506-7167.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word at tising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rate

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR pertaining to matters of public interest are encouraged. Letters should be kept as brief as possible. All letters are subject to editing on the basis of space, style and taste.

GUEST COLUMNS are also encouraged. The column should be no longer than two double-spaced typed pages, and the author will be notified if it will run in order to be photographed.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 103.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN FOCUS

Starting on a project, Mel Borst, owner of Borst Restoration, begins to izes reusing materials and restoring homes to the original condition salvage and clean up on the work site at 2115 Elm. The company emphas- whenever possible.

A New Face For Old M

With a little bit of researching, recycling and rehabilitating, Borst Restoration can make an old home look new again know what the location was like before. Wholesaling materials and

The porch was falling off, the electrical wiring was dangerously exposed, and the interior of the house was a nightmare all its own. It had been condemned

Manhattan residents referred to the house at 1030 Humboldt as a cash cow or a white elephant. said Mel Borst, owner of Borst Restoration.

Borst and his wife and partner, Jan Borst, offered to help the previous owner clean up the yard two years ago, when their relatives were interested in property surrounding the corner lot. Instead of accepting their offer to clean, the owner sold them the house.

"The house was overgrown, and that was a blessing," Mel Borst said. "At least then you couldn't see it."

"This place was a dump," Jan Borst said.

The Borsts managed to look past the glued-down orange shag carpet, ceiling tiles, outdated paneling and mirrored walls to find something worth salvaging.

With the help of a local banker who lived in the house as a child and a trashman who remembered the house's better days, Borst Restoration started rehabilitation work on the twostory corner home. Mel Borst estimated that the house was built about 1900.

Borst employees tore down paneling and replastered the walls. The glue from the orange carpet was ground away to reveal wood floors. They altered the floor plan, switching the locations of the bedroom and

The porches that had hung from the house by only a few nails were past saving, so they were replaced by new ones of identical design, Mel Borst said.

The ceiling tiles were torn out. Wooden counter tops were installed. The interior was painted from top to bottom. Trash which had filled the outside entrance to the basement was hauled away, and asbestos was removed from around the furnace.

The Borst trademark of painting the outside doors red completed the finishing touches to

"We've had near accidents out front with people driving by looking at the house," Mel Borst said. "People can't believe it's really the same place."

Borst Restoration was formed three years ago after Mel Borst attended classes at K-State parttime for four years. Jan Borst quit the job she had held for 12 years as an illustrator to become the company decorator. The Borsts restored a house at 606 Laramie for themselves as one of their first projects.

Borst Restoration strives to preserve older homes. When restoration isn't possible, the company tries to duplicate the skills and design used in original construction, Mel Borst said.

With modern techniques, the irregularities and design characteris-tics of old homes can't be duplicated.

'We restore non-maintained homes," Borst said. "When we are done, you wouldn't know we were ever there if you didn't know what the location was like gutting houses go against our principles of preservation of resources.

"We design additions to fit the original structure," he said. "We won't do projects that are inappropriate, such as lowering ceilings, adding tinted windows, installing paneling or other proects that don't lend to the characteristic design of the house."

The company has done everything from restoring root cellars and reinforcing foundations to rehabilitating condemned rental property and restoring old houses.

"I liken (our work) to surgery," said Stephen Hoffman, an employee of Bortst Restoration. "You think you know the goal, and when you open the patient you may find unexpected problems, and they must be Old sinks, toilets, doors and other materials that are still usable are salvaged when possible and saved for future projects. Some fixtures are bought or recycled from buildings that are going to be torn down. Mel Borst also designs light fixtures from old fixtures by adding new electrical workings.

"Recycling is the most fun," Jan Borst said. "We take stuff out of one place and use it somewhere else.

Customers trust the company to make decisions about what can be done, he said.

"When we look at a house we must get some feel for its redeeming qualities, such as woodwork, lead glass windows or quality of the structure," Jan Borst said. "Then we must consider what it's going to take to rehabilitate it."

She said there is a limit to how much should be spent restoring a house.

"We discourage our customers from putting more into a house than they will ever get out of it," she said. "Working within a budget is challenging, but if they put too much money into a project it becomes a bad investment."

"It's more economical to rehabilitate a home than to build a new one," said Brent Randall, foreman for Borst Restoration. Randall became interested in restoration work after working for 12 years in other areas of the construction business.

"I enjoy starting out with something shabby and turning it into something high class," Randall said.

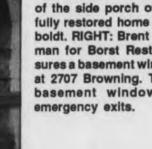

"We educate people about maintenance," Jan Borst said. "Neighborhoods are in jeopardy. We are hoping for increased interest in rehabilitation. The historical value of these homes can't be duplicated."

The process is contagious. After one person starts the rehabiltating a house in a neighborhood, owners of other run-down places are compelled to restore as well, she said.

"Old neighborhoods are the heart and soul of the community," Mel Borst said. "Our reward for restoring homes comes with the recognition we receive. "It's a big boost to the community to see a project like this," he said, looking around at the antique furnishings of the recent restoration project. "If this can be fixed, anything can be

ABOVE: Luke Borst plays in front of the side porch of his parents' fully restored home at 1030 Humboldt. RIGHT: Brent Randall, foreman for Borst Restoration, measures a basement window opening at 2707 Browning. The oversized basement windows facilitate

In his basement workshop and office, Mel Borst works on the time slips used to bill customers, just a small portion of the paperwork needed to run the company.

Story By

Photos By

Jan Puls

Gary Lytle

SPORTS

'Cats sweep Tigers in double-dip

NAIA Fort Hays proves no match for Big 8 squad

By Scott Paske Sports Reporter

Tuesday's doubleheader with Fort Hays State, a 1-14 NAIA opponent, didn't mean a whole lot. Weather conditions were mediocre at best. K-State gave two starters the day off.

Nevertheless, the Wildcats claimed a 6-4 and 7-2 sweep of the Tigers to improve to 18-13 overall. Fort Hays State had been shut out in four consecutive outings entering Tuesday's games at Frank Myers

"The problem today was our kids played like they knew they were playing a 1-14 team," K-State coach Mike Clark said. "Playing this one between series with Kansas and Missouri, it just makes it tough."

Spot-starters Greg McNamara and Dave Christensen were able to post victories in the seven-inning contests. McNamara hurled a complete game in the opener. The sophomore righthander struggled with his control throughout the game, but took advantage of four double plays turned by K-State's defense.

McNamara yielded four earned runs, walked six and struck out three.

Christensen, in his first start of the season, did not allow a runner past second after the Tigers scored two second-inning runs. He struck out four and walked two in six innings. Junior Wade Anderson pitched the final inning in relief.

"Mac didn't throw particularly

L.J. Twyner steals second base as Fort Hays State's Chris Canfield waits for the ball in game one of Tuesday's doubleheader. Twyner subsequently scored on Scott Stroth's double. K-State swept the Tigers, in preparation for the 'Cats four-game weekend series with Missouri.

said. "His stuff's there, and it's just a matter of time before he gets it all

"Dave got behind a lot of hitters, which I didn't like. But I also thought he competed very well for us."

Clark rested catcher Dan Skala and second baseman Jeff Troll for the upcoming series with Missouri. Reserve catcher Jeff Ryan went 3-for-5 in the doubleheader with one RBI.

fielder for most of the season, replaced Troll at second.

The Overland Park native tripled in the opener and doubled in the finale. Culp gave the 'Cats a 3-2 lead in the second inning of the nightcap when his towering fly ball was dropped by Tiger second baseman Chris Canfield. Blair Hanneman and well, but he competed hard," Clark Freshman Brian Culp, a starting out- and found his stroke in the second game," Clark said. "He kind of struggled the last game with KU and in the first game today, but he did some good things after that."

K-State pulled away in the fifth inning of the nightcap with four runs off Tiger starter Trent Platt. An RBI double by centerfielder L.J. Twyner and an error by Fort Hays State third Craig Wilson scored on the play. baseman Jeff Behny, that allowed "I think he got into a nice groove two runs to score, fueled the rally.

Twyner led the K-State offense with four hits in seven at-bats.

Fort Hays St. 000 201 1 - 4 7 2 K-State 104 010 X - 6 8 3 K-State 104 010 X — 6 8 3
Holmes and Elliott; McNamara and Ryan. WP — McNamara (2-2). LP — Holmes. 2B — KState: Wilson. 3B — K-State: Twyner, Culp.
Fort Hays St. 020 000 0 — 2 7 4
K-State 120 040 X — 7 9 0
Platt, Fitzpatrick (5) and Elliott; Christensen, Anderson (7) and Ryan. WP — Christensen (3-1). LP — Platt. 2B — Fort Hays State: Windholtz: K-State: Culp.

Netters in action against Missouri

By Dan Wicker Sports Reporter

The one thing Coach Steve Bietau wants his K-State netters to do today is take care of business.

The K-State women play host to the owners of the cellar of the Big Eight Conference, Missouri, at 1 p.m at the L.P. Washburn Recreational Area tennis courts, just east of the Rec Complex.

"My concerns for the match are that our players take care of business and play the way they are capable of playing," Bietau said. "They are one of the weaker teams in the Big Eight, but they do a good job with what they have to work with." Missouri does have one punch in No. 1 singles player Amy Snook.

"Amy Snook ... is a good fighter. She plays hard and competes well," Bietau said.

In last year's Big Eight conference match, the 'Cats had no problem handling the Tigers in Columbia, defeating them 9-0. This year Bietau is looking to repeat the performance.

A sweep would put the K-State women near the top of conference standings with three matches remaining before the Big Eight championships, but Bietau will be looking for improvement as well.

"I am more concerned about how we are playing than the standings at this point," Bietau said. "The main reason for this is that I can't do anything about what has happened so far. "You have to look at how you do (against) each team, relative to the other schools, and now they do (against) each team," Bietau said.

Helen Schildknecht, who is playing at the No. 2 singles position for K-State, has come on strong since the beginning of the Big Eight season. She is putting her undefeated 3-0 record on the line today. She has racked up wins against Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa State players.

Bietau said the most important part of the match for the K-State women is how they perform in a conference match in which they are expected to have a lot of "It is a situation we are expected to win. We should win," Bietau said. "The thing I want our players to remember is that what counts the most right now is performance and that we play the best tennis that we are capable

K-State will return to the road to finish up the Big Eight season starting with defending champion Oklahoma State Saturday. O-State is ranked 12th in the nation and picked to win the Big Eight.

From there, K-State goes to Norman to face Oklahoma Sunday and then finishes up the league slate at Colorado April 22. The conference tournament is April 26 and 27 at Oklahoma City.

Golfers rally to finish 2nd

From Staff and Wire Reports OSAGE BEACH, Mo. - The K-State men's golf team overcame windy, wet conditions at Tantara Country Club Tuesday, and rallied to a second-place finish in the Missouri

Intercollegiate Golf Tournament. Brad Stephens, after a horrendous round of 81 during first-round action Monday, came back Tuesday to help lead the K-State charge with a teamhigh second-round total of 74.

The K-State men had the three lowest rounds of the day at the Lake of the Ozarks course. Brett Vuillemin followed Stephens with a 75, and Jeff Sedorcek carded a 76.

Illinois State took the team title with a two-round total of 612. K-State wound up five shots off the Southern Hlinois-Carbondale tied for third at 621.

Taking medalist honors was Sean McCaw of Illinois State at 150, and he was followed by K-State's Vuillemin. Richard Laing wound up in fourth place with a 154, Stephens was sixth at 155, Sedorcek was ninth at 156, while Chris Thompson had a tough time of it Tuesday carding a tworound total of 170.

Despite the conditions, K-State was still able to cut 11 strokes off its pace 617, while Wichita State and first round total. Stephens made up for most of that by knocking off seven strokes from his score.

Both the K-State men and women will be in action this weekend. The men travel to the Vanderbilt Music City Intercollegiate golf tournament in Nashville, Tenn., while the women will be at the Lady Buckeye Classic in Columbus, Ohio.

Rogers suspended for cocaine

By The Associated Press

COLUMBIA, S.C. - Former NFL star George Rogers was suspended Tuesday from his twomonth-old job as a fund-raiser for the University of South Carolina following his arrest on cocaine charges.

"A decision has been made to suspend George Rogers without pay until the charges against him are resolved," said school spokeswoman Debra Allen, who said the suspension is effective Wednesday.

Rogers, who won the Heisman Trophy in his senior season at South Carolina in 1980, has worked since Feb. 3 as a full-time fund-raiser for South Carolina's College of Applied Professional Sciences for a yearly salary of between $20,000 and $30,000, Allen said.

He was arrested Saturday with Melvin Metz, 31, and Marcus Gilliam, 28, also a former South Carolina football player and the target of the drug raid. All three were released the same day after posting $5,000

If convicted, they face a maximum of five years in prison.

Rogers, 31, also was implicated in professional football drug scandal in 1982 while with the New Orleans Saints and later underwent treatment at a drug rehabilitation center.

Ed Holler, Rogers' attorney, said he didn't know whether his client was a drug addict or had a drug problem. "I don't think he has one, but I'm not a drug expert," he said.

Holler refused to comment on what the defense might be for his client, who police say was snorting cocaine at the time agents burst into a northwest Columbia apartment and arrested him and the two others.

"This is a pending criminal case and I can't comment on it," Holler said. "I don't know when there'll be a preliminary hearing. I've requested

Rogers' Denver-based agent, Jack Mills, also refused comment on the Holler said Rogers lived in Columbia with his wife and three children, but refused to give an address. Rogers' phone number is unlisted.

Rogers, the NFL Rookie of the Year in 1981, spent seven years in professional football. He was the first-round pick by the Saints in 1981 and played four seasons with New Orleans before being traded to Washington.

When he left professional football, he was earning $750,000 a year.

After leaving the Redskins, Rogers returned to South Carolina, graduating from the university in May 1989 with a degree in interdisciplinary studies. He earned a living "doing speeches and banquets across the state" before he began working as a fund-raiser, Holler said.

During his pro career, Rogers gained 7,176 yards on 1,692 attempts and scored 54 touchdowns.

Altman names Turner to post

Staff and Wire Reports

New K-State head basketball coach Dana Altman completed the hiring of his fulltime coaching staff Tuesday with the announcement that South Alabama assistant Ken Turner was joining his staff.

Altman had already announced the hiring of former Oklahoma assistant Jim Kerwin Monday.

Turner, 44, comes to K-State after serving one year on the staff at South Alabama, where his primary duties were recruiting.

"Ken is an outstanding coach and someone the players will enjoy working with," Altman said. "He's also a proven recruiter, particularly in the high school ranks. He has previous coaching experience at the Big Eight, Southeastern, Metro and Sun Belt Conferences, so his adjustment will be smooth."

Prior to joining the South Alabama staff, Turner spent six years as the top assistant at Cincinnati. The class he recruited in the 1986-87 season was ranked as high as sixth in some national recruiting polls.

Turner pointed to Altman's hiring and the Big Eight Conference as the primary reasons for his move.

"Dana is one of the up-andcoming coaches in the profession," Turner said. "Add that to the recognition the Big Eight is getting and you get a good enviroment. I want to be part of that."

Turner began his NCAA Division I coaching career in 1978 on Paul Hansen's staff at Oklahoma State. He remained there through the 1982 season before moving to Mississippi for one year prior to his move to Cincinnati.

A native of Cincinnati, Turner led his DePores High School squad to three district titles in the early 1960s. After enlisting in the Air Force, he went on to a collegiate career at Southwestern (Okla.) State.

Despite averaging 15 points over a three-year career, he decided to pass up his senior year to begin his coaching career at the school. After his graduation in 1972, Turner spent two years at Southwestern before moving to Oklahoma Christian College.

He was also head coach for two years (1977-78) at Clinton (Iowa) Community College, where he compiled a 27-25 mark while guiding the team to its first postseason appearance.

Turner and his wife, Margaret, have two children, Ken, 11, and Kandra, 5.

Kerwin and Turner are expected to begin full-time recruiting duties today, which begins the national letter-ofintent signing period.

The period ends May 15.

Recruiting rumor mill spins out of control before signing day

Chris Hays

With the K-State basketball recruiting rumor mill spinning more wildly than ever this year, it's getting even harder to determine who's telling the truth and who's just bluffing to get a better offer. After spending countless hours on the phone Monday and Tuesday, I've nearly decided to leave the recruit announcing to K-State sports information director Kenny Mossman. He's the guy who sends out a release after a player has actually signed with K-State. That would save K-State Student Publications Inc. a bundle on long-distance phone calls. Holding off until the official announcement would save me a helluva lot of trouble, like the run-around made easier on everyone involved? coaches and players like to give

Take, for instance, the coaches who like to tell reporters that a player will not be attending a certain school, when the only school the player wants to attend is that same school. The coach's motives are to make sure the prospective school hasn't lost interest in his player. Coaches and players start the rumor mill spinning, the media feed it profusely, then subscribers to the media spread it out even thicker, when, in all reality, the whole process doesn't mean diddly until the official announcement. Even Bo doesn't know where a player might be going until the prospect signs on the dotted line. So if Bo doesn't know, then why should I want to know? Well, that's what is called the newspaper business. If the reader wants to know, then it's our jobs, as reporters, to find out. But couldn't the whole process be Rick Dean of the Topeka Capital-Journal said to me Tuesday whiletrading recruiting notes, "It's kind of like throwing a bunch of (wet cement) on the wall and then seeing

Well, OK, he didn't really say wet cement, but I think you get the That's all the recruiting game is until the signing is made official throwing out names.

For instance, someone may have heard a name mentioned with a school while involved in a barroom discussion. The name and the school may have had nothing to do with each other, but, suddenly, out of thin air, that name is on that school's recruiting list - or so the rumor goes.

It's just like what a guy from the Dallas Morning News was asking Dean earlier Tuesday. He wondered if Dean had heard anything about a 6-foot-1 point guard out of Moberly (Mo.) Junior College named Albert Thomas coming to K-State.

No was the answer.

But given K-State's luck with players out of Moberly and it's fascination for 6-foot-1 point guards, I guess that puts Thomas on K-State's list — at least as far as the Dallas Morning News is concerned.

But, if people are insistent on hearing the supposed recruiting rumors, here's what I was able to come up with Tuesday concerning possible K-State recruits. And remember, for those of you playing along at home, please, no wagering - for these are only rumors.

One of the only near-certain players to sign with the 'Cats is Hutchinson's 6-foot-10 David Johanning, and the only question there is why sign what many say is a 6-foot-10 project.

■ Butler County's 6-foot-2 guard Val Barnes is apparently out of the picture, but does remain a long shot.

Cortez Barnes, a forward out of Wichita Heights High School, is another possibility, but may look at Florida since Lon Kruger joined that program.

■ Damont Collins, a 6-foot-7 forward of Barstow High in Kansas City, Mo., is a name that has popped up recently, but Collins didn't finish his senior season at Barstow due to academic problems.

Allen Jackson, a 6-foot-3 guard of Rend Lake (Ill.) Community College, is another that some list as a K-State prospect, but Allen didn't make Illinois' all-Region IV junior college team.

South Plains (Texas) Junior College forward Jeff Stern is reportedly out of the picture. His coach said Loyola-Marymount has recently shown interest, while DePaul and St. John's remain in the hunt.

K-State looks to be still in the running for 6-foot-1 point guard Paris Bryant of Walker (Ala.) Junior College and 6-foot-5 Cleveland Jackson of St. Monica Catholic in Santa Monica, Calif. Bryant averaged 29 points a game at Walker this past season.

Former interim Lady Cat coach Gaye Griffin had already signed Milwaukee, Wis., native Charlotte Adell during the early signing period. Adell was the Milwaukee Metro Player of the Year, averaging 13 points, six assists and six steals.

Two others will apparently honor verbal commitments to the Lady Cats, even though they were surprised by the coaching change. New coach Susan Yow will probably still be able to sign prepsters 5-foot-11 Lynn Holzman of North Royalton, Ohio, and Colby High School shooting guard 5-foot-8 Jerry Brown. Brown averaged 16 points a game last season, while Holzman hit at a 27-points-per-game clip.

So, those are the rumors, some will sign, most won't and many others, whom have gone unreported, will be coming to K-State next season. Heck, isn't it a lot more fun that way anyhow - when a little surprise is involved?

Apocalypse discussed

'Sacred Ground, Sacred Sky' featured at lecture, presentation

By David Frese Collegian Reporter

When he was 12 years old, Daniel Dancer decided he was going to photograph the end of the world.

"I remember the first big word I learned was 'apocalypse,'" Dancer said. "When I got my first camera at age 12, I remember thinking that my occupation was going to be to docu-ment the Apocalypse. Most of my friends wanted to be firemen and baseball players, and I had this strange obsession with the Apocalypse. I think I was a strange kid."

Dancer, a photographer, artist, activist and llama raiser, presented "Sacred Ground, Sacred Sky," a lecture and slide show, Tuesday in Forum Hall.

He said the Apocalypse is right under people's noses. It's in the water they drink, the air they breathe and the sidewalks they walk on.

"I've begun to see that the Apocalypse is an ongoing process rather than a climactic, sudden event," Dancer said. "I see it as a process that we're caught up in and that can be av-

for only

ONE DAY ONLY

Mon.-Sat.

erted if we can transform ourselves in

Dancer said much of the world is just beginning to wake up from the bad dreams of environmental destruction to find that the nightmare is a real and potent threat to the wellbeing of the world's own ecosystem.

"It is sad to think we have become junkies addicted to consumption, energy use and entertainment," he said. "This simply must end, for the Earth is a finite planet and cannot for long support a species that destroys its very own life-support system."

Evolution has led the human race to the brink of destruction, Dancer said. Any intelligent animal that comes to an abyss will turn and find a way for safe passage around it, but only time will tell if humans are smart enough to be able to find safe

"It takes courage and vision to change course, and it is precisely these elements that must arise in each of us and in our culture as a whole,"

Dancer used his photographic vis-

ALL YOU CAN CARRY

of sale priced old textbooks

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11

BOOK STORE

IN AGGIEVILL

Three Ways To Ride Away A Winner

At The Zenith Data Systems

Technology Showcase!

ld Texthook Sale

ion to help Kansans better com-prehend the beauty of their state in his first book, "The Four Seasons of Kansas.

The inspiration for the book came to him during a trip to India, where he came across an old man constructing a simple little shrine of stones on the

The man said he had just arrived the day before and was building the tiny shrine to honor that special and sacred place.

Dancer didn't quite understand what it was that made that little plot of ordinary-looking earth so special to the man.

"He said he didn't know, but he liked it so much he was going to stay there a couple of years," Dancer said. "The point hadn't been driven home to me yet, and so I asked him again with my persistent, Western-type curiosity 'What is so sacred about this place?' He looked up at me with this look of inner-peace in his eyes, smiled and said 'My friend, everywhere is sacred.'

■ See SACRED, Page 12

$10.00

ONE DAY ONLY

Noon-5

Sun.

Fanny Packs

Editors, managers selected for summer, fall positions

By Ellen Dayton Campus Editor

The Board of Student Publications has made its selections for summer and fall editors and advertising managers of the Kansas State Collegian and the 1990-91 editor of the Royal Purple.

Eric Henry, senior in social sciences, was chosen Tuesday as fall editor of the Collegian.

"I'm pleased as punch," Henry said. "I'm excited and nervous about this large of an undertaking. It's going to be quite a challenge because there won't be as many returning staff members as in semesters past." Henry will supervise a staff of about 50 writers, editors, photographers and cartoonists.

Dan Golden, senior in marketing, was named fall advertising manager. Golden will supervise a staff of nine.

"I can't wait to get started," Golden said. "I think it's going to be a

The deadline for applications for fall editorial and advertising staff positions is 4 p.m. today. Interviews are scheduled to begin Friday. Staff selections should be announced by April 19.

The first fall semester issue of the Collegian will be published

The editor of the 1990-91 Royal Purple, summer editor and summer advertising manager were selected March 27.

Margo Keller, junior in business administration and journalism and mass communications, will be the editor of the 1990-91 Royal Purple. Keller has already selected 12 new staff members for next year. "It was hard to pick the staff," she said. "There were a lot of good applicants. I'm looking forward to ■ See SELECT, Page 12

PRICES SLASHED AGAIN!

LAST DAYS

GREAT $300,000 GOING OUT OF BUSINESS SALE

weekends

MEN'S SPORTSWEAR

ANOTHER BIG SLASH IN PRICES STORE WIDE!

Hart Schaffner & Marx, Austin Reed, Corbin,

Cole®Haan, Boston Traders, Career Club,

Ruff-Hewn, River City Trading, ByFord, C.C.

Sport, Interwoven, Leslie Fay, Rafaella, New

Line, that's me!, Phoebe, Jeffrey & Dara, Mizz

2 FINE STORES

LOCATED IN-WESTLOOP SHOPPING CENTER-MANHATTAN

BOTH STORES HAVE BEEN CLOSED

All day Tuesday, April 10th, for another big slash in prices on every item in both stores, creating hundreds of new bargains for Wednesday, 9:30 A.M. to 9:00 P.M. DON'T MISS OUT!

USE CASH-CHECK-VISA-MASTERCARD

TERMS OF SALE NO REFUNDS-NO EXCHANGES ALL SALES FINAL

Lizz, EMO, Bonnie & Bill, AND MANY MORE! WEDNESDAY.

9:30 TO 9:00 THURSDAY 9:30 TO 9:00 9:30 TO 9:00 FRIDAY. SATURDAY 9:30 TO 5:30

SELLING BEGINS WEDNESDAY MORNING

TO $57.50 MEN'S SLACKS

One lot of men's slacks in the better styles, fabrics, by excellent makers. Hurry! Out they go ladies skirts in the wanted fabrics, styles by famous makers. Hurry! Out

HUNDREDS-HUNDREDS MORE BARGAINS NEVER MENTIONED!

TO '30.00 MEN'S SPORT SHIRTS

BLOUSES

TO '45.00 LADIES

MEN'S ROBES

127.50 TO 1115.00

"19.00 TO "105.00

LADIES SLACKS Entire stock. Better fabrics styles. Famous makers. Out at...

MEN'S SPORT COATS

REGULAR '145.00 TO '295.00

REGULAR '32.50 TO '120.00 MEN'S SLACKS

HURRY! FIRST COME—FIRST SERVED! ALL ITEMS SUBJECT TO PRIOR SALE! 122.50 TO 37.50

TO '60.00 SEPARATES

MEN'S TIES

ENTIRE STOCK MEN'S COLE-HAAN SHOES es, Canvas Court. untry Tassel, Out tor Penny, Out At...

132.00 TO 106.00 LADIES HANDBAGS

TO '60.00 LADIES

69.00 TO '198.00

NOT JUST A FEW SELECT ITEMS BUT, NOW OUR ENTIRE STOCK

AND 70%

Buy a PC, Get A Bike FREE! Purchase any Stop by our Technology Showcase and see the world's #1 PC compatibles.* From ultra-fast desktops qualifying desktop system** at a great student price, and we'll send you a FREE Raleigh All-Terrain to VGA-enhanced laptops to our award-winning Bike! So be sure to swing by our Technology Flat Technology Monitor. We'll then show you three ways to own a Raleigh Assault* or Finesse* All-Terrain Showcase. Who knows...you just might ride away a winner in more ways than one! Bike absolutely FREE! And if you're among the first 50 to attend, you'll get a FREE Fanny Pack! Ride Away A Winner At: Technology Showcase

Enter Our National Sweepstakes! Take a free PC test drive at either the Technology Showcase or your Campus Contact to enter our

You could then win one of 50 Raleigh All-Terrain Bikes, a free fanny pack, a sports water bottle...or even our FREE Grand Prize trip for two to Paris for the

data systems Groupe Bull

HURRY! SWEEPSTAKES ENDS JUNE 8, 1990! ZENITH DATA SYSTEMS INNOVATES AGAIN"

APRIL 10, 11, 12 K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE

Campus Contact

K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE

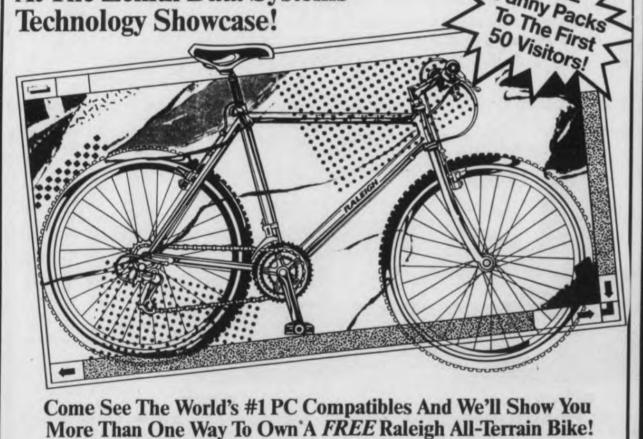

532-6583

Graphics simulate Microsoft* Windows, a product of Microsoft Corporation.

*Qualifying systems include the 7-286 LP Model 20, 7-286 LP/12 Model 20 and 7-286

LP/12 Model 40 when purchased with any Zenith Data Systems VGA Monitor.

'New look'

By Todd Fertig Collegian Reporter

Women from the Manhattan area will get a chance to be seen by three of the premier modeling agencies in the world tonight in the first round of competition in ABZOLUT Model Search 90.

"Some modeling agencies think there may be potential models in this area," said Steve Aalam, junior in theater and a representative for AB-ZOLUT MODELS, who helped organize ABZOLUT Model Search 90. They're always searching for that new look. The top two girls will be signed to an agency for sure, but if the agencies are interested, a lot of girls could receive opportunities from the contest."

ABZOLUT of Stockholm is sponsoring the competition to give the representatives of ABZOLUT, FLAME from Paris and CLiCK from New York an opportunity to find potential models in the area.

A competition for models will be held in Snookies Bar, and in Lawrence and Kansas City, on the next three Wednesday nights. Each competition will hold semi-finals May 2, and Snookies will host the final round for the top five models from each city May 5.

Tryouts have already selected women for the competition, but a final tryout for late entries is scheduled for April 20 at 3 p.m. at Snookies. From the final tryout, 12 women will be chosen to compete in the April 25 competition. The competition is open to all girls and women ages 14-24. A $20 entry fee is charged.

Aalam said the tryouts produced about 60 applicants, which he felt was not enough to choose 36 models for three weeks of competition, so another tryout was arranged.

'We're offering another tryout because we got the information about the contest out pretty late," Aalam said. "We want to offer everyone a chance, so we're going to open it up to find 12 more girls. Hopefully, girls who were a little hesitant about entering the competition will come and see the first couple of rounds and realize that it may be for them, too."

Though new to the Manhattan area, model searches are common to Europe and other parts of the United States, Aalam said. This competition is different from most, however, because it is to be judged locally, with representatives of major agencies in attendance.

Renown modeling firms to conduct search in Manhattan; representative says agencies will choose 2 local women interest area businesses in sponsoring the competition, however he did eventually secure several.

"We talked to all kinds of businesses, and because no one was familiar with modeling contests it was hard selling them on the idea," Aalam said. "There were a lot of aggravations with trying to let them see the benefits and the interest in it."

"At first it seemed too easy," said Brad Miller, promotions director for KJCK-FM, one of the local sponsors. "I wondered why these agencies would be coming to Manhattan looking for models. But after looking into the agencies, I was very impressed. We decided to go ahead with the promotion because I think we're dealing with some reputable agencies."

Student Attorney Dianne Urban said women should check several things before making a commitment to a modeling contract, as with any legal agreement.

'They'd want the employer to be Aalam said he found it difficult to very explicit about what would be expected of them, what kind of mod-eling they would be doing, how they would be paid," Urban said. "If they could get some background information about the agencies, that could give them some idea of who they would be working for."

Aalam said the midwest region is often overlooked by talent scouts, and many women might be pessimistic about their chances. He said, however, that women who are interested should not be hesitant to enter.

"Fashion is always looking for that something new, so there is a lot of competition between agencies," Aalam said. "A lot of the most prominent models in the world didn't go out looking for opportuntities. Cindy Crawford, one of the hottest models in the business right now, is from Illinois and was discovered in a contest like this one.

'Most people think you have to look like Christie Brinkley to make it, but there are all kinds of opportunities for all kinds of girls out there," he said. "The type of look that is po-pular here is different from other places. You really can't decide for yourself whether you have the look

In addition to the chance of being discovered by a major agency, Aalam said, there are opportunities to model during summers and weekends in local catalogs and in printed and television advertisements.

Aalam said modeling is not like living a dream, as some people might

"It's not a Cinderella story, it's a business," Aalam said. "It's difficult work. We don't want to build up illusions that will be disappointed later

"But modeling is very wellpaying, and you get to meet interesting people and travel a lot. There's no the competition.

$3.35 (an hour) in modeling," he said. "If you can get into a major agency, they take good care of you."

The competition will feature swimwear and casual wear, and the women can choose the clothing they are most comfortable wearing and think makes them most attractive,

"We're going to make it something interesting, something new that people are going to enjoy," he said. Above all, we want to make it fun for the people who come to watch and for the participants.

A modeling course at Vytas International modeling agency in Kansas City, a one-year membership to all Valley Health Center clubs nationwide and a free modeling portfolio and composite cards worth $1,000 will be among the prizes awarded in

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT JOHNSON CO. KANSAS

Clerical Positions Light Industrial

File Clerks Typists Word Processors Data Entry Receptionists

Packers Assembly Warehouse General Labor Lawn Maintenance

*NO FEES*

Temporaries 913/491-0944

Call collect for details & application

DO'S and DON'TS GRADUATE.

The Ford-Mercury College Graduate Purchase Program offers pre-approved financing from Ford Credit, and $400 cash back from Ford Motor Company.

Here are some simple rules to remember about the plan:

DO:

Ask about pre-approved financing from Ford Credit. To qualify for pre-approved financing, you must have verifiable employment beginning within 120 days of vehicle purchase. Your salary must be sufficient to cover living expenses as well as a car payment. A prior credit history isn't necessary, but if you have one; it must be satisfactory to Ford Credit.

DONT:

Take this opportunity to expound your theory of the leisure class.

DON'T: Ask if payments can be made in Confederate bills.

Ask about Ford Credit's Deferred First Payment option. (It's not available in all states.)

DONT: Ask for a thirty year

DO: Hurry to Dick Edwards and ask about the Ford-Mercury College Graduate Purchase Program.

DON'T: Wait.

GETS YOU GOING.

Ford

(913) 776-4004

'Brightness' creates with language, land

Film uses West African landscape to depict good vs. evil, son vs. father

African director Souleymane Cisse's film "Brightness" uses heightened language and gorgeous shots of African landscape to create an archetypal epic of good vs. evil, son vs. father.

The story unfolds in the West African country of Mali just before it was invaded by Moroccans in the 16th century. It focuses on a family of magicians: the father, Sema; the son, Nianankoro; Djigui, the uncle, and the mother.

The eldery Sema and Djigui are twins but opposites - evil and good magicians. Each tugs on Nianankoro, the heir apparent. The Diarra family has always been "the placenta and umbilical cord" of the Bambara, a nation within Mali.

Now, however, Sema is searching for Nianankoro. He wants to kill him. Nianankoro's mother tells him, "Your father is a terror. You don't know him, but I do. No one can withstand his magic poison." Her manner of speaking characterizes the movie. The people speak in proverbs and use metaphors from

As in most journeys of initiation, the son ignores his elders. "I am a man now," he declares.

Refusing to hide, he embarks instead on a trek to seek the help of his uncle Djigui.

Sema uses a magic post, carried by his stumbling tweedledum and tweedledee henchmen, as a divining rod to zero in on his son.

"Mari, god of the swamps, dry the rivers and lakes," Sema swears. "I'll find him if he be in the seven heavens. I'll find him wherever he is, even at the bottom of an anthill." This grand, staccato dialogue fills the film. Leaders make pronouncements, followers listen in awe, and responses follow form. People have respect - for each other, for nature and for the magic behind nature.

When Nianankoro asks his mother, "If my father didn't want a son, why did he marry you?"

She replies, "Such talk puts a curse on you," and he begs forgiveness. But "Brightness" never explains why Sema wants to kill Nianankoro.

And superhuman, archetypal, elemilk on her head and calling the water the "mother of all mothers." Nianankoro summons bees from thin air. Sema swears by Mari, god of rocks, land and stone.

Also, everything is on fire - roosters, bones, iron, the brush, the desert, arrows, spears and several campfires. These motifs lend the film a larger-than-life feel, a tale of magic and duels and quests without knights and armor.

Dazzling lanscape shots open nearly every scene, dwarfing the people and magnifying the land. Nianankoro treks across the cracked mud of a dried lake, walks through a giant's orchard of trees dotting an endless prairie and consults with dying, blind magicians at twilight under mother prays in the river, pouring mesas that resemble those of the southwest United States.

539-1177

Other outstanding scenes include the burning of a rooster tied headdown to a stake and a duel between the war chiefs of two tribes. The pair duel to the death by pressing their foreheads together and trying to push the other out-of-bounds, sort of a combination of sumo wrestling and the grade-school game mercy.

"Brightness" can get cheesy also, usually when it tries to depict magic. I can handle flying magic posts as long as I can't see the strings, but showing a dog walking backwards by filming a dog walking and then running the film backwards is too

Besides its lack of music, the film trips on some common problems for foreign films, such as showing white subtitles on a white background. The dialogue is so infrequent, the characters show so little emotion and the plot is so hard to understand that the film is hard to enjoy.

1106 Laramie

"Brightness," however, is unique. It twists many of its archetypes in new ways. For example, the final father-son showdown is completely

The chief effect, though, is that of majesty. For example, at one point Nianankoro agrees to help cure a king's wife because she is barren. After he gets carried away with his cure, he says, "King, I have offended you. To maintain Bambara honor, I merit death. I am not asking for mercy." This is the respect the film

The word brightness is a translation of the film's title in Bambara, "Yeelen." The 1987 film, in Bambara with English subtitles, runs 105 minutes and is not rated. It shows at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Forum Hall, 3:30 p.m. Thursday in the Little Theatre and 7 p.m. Thursday in Forum Hall.

Admission is $1.75.

Cruise Colors!

New hot tropical color Birkenstocks on sale now through April 14.

Register to win a Birkenstock fold-up beach chair to be given away.

Birkenstock

OLSON'S 1214-C Moro Aggieville

valid with coupon

It never explains why the twin brothers split. The spare dialogue never explains any of the characters' motivations. Perhaps this is intented to add to the mood of superhuman powers at work.

mental powers are at work. The

Collegian Advertising

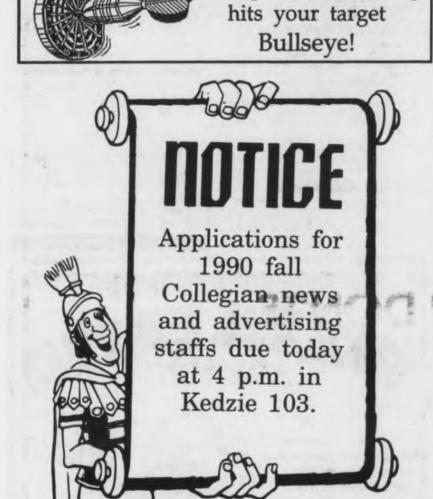

THE KANSAS REGENTS' MINORITY SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM'S

DEADLINE

*Be sure to include both your high school and college transcripts (and other academic information) with your applications.

See page 3 of the Regent's application.

If you have any questions, please contact the Kansas Board of Regents at (913) 296-3517. Best Wishes.

Bring a friend to the races! This will be a day trip to the Fantous Fonner Park in Grand Island, Nebraska for exciting thoroughbread racing. The price includes round trip transportation and clubhouse view reserved seating. Bring your lucky rabbit's foot and be ready to have a great time!

SIGN-UP TODAY IN THE UPC OFFICE, 8 a.m.4 p.m., ON THE THIRD FLOOR OF THE UNION!!

CANOE THE BUFFALO

April 28-29 $47

SIGN-UP TODAY! UPC OFFICE, 8 a.m.-4 p.m. 3rd FLOOR UNION

Trip includes canoes & meals on the river.

Sign Up - Mar 28 8am-4pm UPC Office Union 3rd Floor

Cost: $20

April 22, 1990 -transportation provided -coffee & donuts

Wk-state union

THE ROPES COURSE CHALLENGE

May 5 or 6 12:00-4:00 p.m.

Take the Ropes Course Challenge with UPC Outdoor Rec! This low ropes course is designed to go beyond the physical challenge. It is a great opportunity for campus organizations and individuals alike to sharpen their skills in leadership, cooperation, and grorp problem-solving. This event will be held at Rock Springs Ranch near Junction City. Refreshments will be served.

Sign-Up BEGINS TODAY in the UPC Office!

Kansas CituRouals

Sign-Up TODAY in the UPC Office! Be there when the Kansas City Royals take on the Chicago White Sox. Transportation and Plaza Reserved seats will be included.

the 16th century, "Brightness" is directed by Souleymane Cisse, widely regarded as one of Africa's greatest filmmakers. Lushly ed, this visually poetic film is an ancient tale of a father-son rivalry and of the timeless myths of a young man's initiation into adult wisdom. Not rated. $1.75 and K.S.U. I.D.

Paul Newman and Lolita Davidovich star in this insightful dramatization of the early 1940's relationship between Earl Long, Governor of the fine state of Louisiana, and Blaze Starr, strip tease artist of the renowned French Quarter, $1.75 and K.S.U. I.D.

FRIDAY and SATURDAY, 7 & 9:30 p.m.

Salina's Burial Pit to be put to rest

By The Associated Press

SALINA - The heavily shellacked skeletal remains of about 160 Pawnee, Wichita and Arikara Indians on display for the curious for more than 50 years will be reburied during a ceremony Saturday.

The Salina Indian Burial Pit was opened in 1935 by an amateur archaeologist. Efforts to close it began in 1986 when a passing Indian tourist visited it and was offended.

The Native American Rights Fund of Boulder, Colo. helped lead the push to get the skeletal remains reburied.

"I hope that the rest of the country will be as sensitive as the people of Kansas in helping Indian people to rebury their dead relatives that are presently warehoused in museums, federal agencies and universities," said Walter Echo-Hawk, an attorney provided for the three tribes by the fund.

After intense negotiations with Indian groups, the state signed the "Treaty of Smokey Hill" agreeing to acquire the site and close it. In January, the state purchased the pit for $90,000 from the Homer Price family.

In accordance with a new state law forbidding the possession of remains from unmarked graves, the state agreed to help the Pawnee tribe rebury the skeletons. The Salina pit inspired the law.

The barn-covered pit, its kidney shape reinforced with cinder block walls, was a littleknown roadside attraction for decades. The admission fee was $3.50 before it was closed last year.

Archaeologists who studied the pit estimated the skeletons were as much as 740 years old. They found the leading flintcarver in the area was righthanded and did excellent work.

They also discovered the Indians had a tradition of marking their graves with pottery.

Lawrence Goodfox Jr., a Pawnee Indian who is a member of the Nasharo Chiefs Council, will officiate at the private ceremony Saturday.

He visited the site April 4 to see that the male remains were covered with Indian blankets and the female skeletons with intricate shawls.

Custom dictates the use of animal skins to cover the bodies.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN Kedzie 103

1 Announcements

A BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics. Janet Milliken, 539-9469.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193.

CONGRATULATIONS A K Psi new initiates. From, The FALL SCHEDULE change: ENGL/LING 796 Theories of

Grammar meets Wednesday, not Monday, OUT OF summer sorts? ENGL/ML 600 Principles of Linguistics, ENGL/ML/LING 603 Topics: Linquistic Science Fiction

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE JUNE 1, 915% Claffin. Two-bedro walkout. Heat, water, trash paid. Stove, refrigera-tor, off-street parking. No pets. $360. 539-3085.

BEST DEAL for summer lodging! Two-bedroom, fully furnished, and one block away from campus. Regularly $227/ month for one person. Now being for $145/ monthly each. 776-2157.

FOR AUGUST- Next to KSU. Deluxe two-bedro AUGUST— Next to KSU. Deluxe two-bedroom apartment for three people, $420 plus utilities. Also two-bedroom basement apartment at 312 N. 15th. Water, trash, heat paid. Now until July, $250. For August, $275. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FREE COUNTRY living for responsible student in exchange for occasional assistance to wheelchair-bound landlady. 913-494-8201.

JUNE— FURNISHED one- and two-bedroom apart-ments. $300, $350, utilities paid. 776-2253. LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. 539-1465.

pletely furnished. Central air and heat, carpeted and draped. Three blocks south of K-State Union and Aggieville. Across from City Park. Assigned parking. 1417 Leavenworth. 537-0612 or 539-2567.

NEXT TO campus— Apartment complex, 1832 Claffin Road across Goodnow and Marlatt. One bedroom, furnished, central air, off-street parking, quiet. Evenings 539-2702.

NICE, TWO-BEDROOM apartment available in May for lease or rent. Perfect location. Call 776-0941. ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO in complex, 1219 Claffin. Next to campus. $275 plus electric plus deposit. August, June lease. No pets. 537-1180.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Spacious two bedroom, furnished. Close to campus. $360. Call 537-8816.

TWO-BEDROOM WALKOUT basement. Utilities paid. Deposit. $400. 776-3489. 324 N. Delaware TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT for sublease. Close to campus, everything included. Rent negotiable. Call 539-0926.

Apartments-Unfurnished

AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom, ground floor duplex. Laundry room, nice yard. 539-3672 evenings. LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coin operated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required. $280. 539-1465. ONE-BEDROOM, clean, carpeted, central air, no pets, 5th and Osage. $265 plus utilities, water, trash.

PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two

Apts.-Furn. or Unfurn.

AVAILABLE JUNE or August. 10 or 12 month leases ovenient locations. No pets. 537-8389. AVAILABLE MAY, June, July and August. One-bedroom, $240-$280. No pets. Lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423. LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily. ONE- AND two-bedroom apartments near campus and Westloop area. Call 776-1340. TWO-BEDROOM basement apartment with full-size windows, livingroom, kitchen, bath, washer/ dryer, private entrance. $275/ month plus utilities. Two blocks east of campus, off-street parking.

WANTED: ONE-BEDROOM or efficiency apartment to rent from July/ August to December. John, 537-0477.

What's VGA?

GA means from graphics to games, you'll never get a better picture! Introducing the new line of Zenith Data Systems VGA portables.

The best and brightest cordless computers around! Just imagine. No matter where you are; the beach, library, train, plane, coffee house, at work or home, your fun and games (as well as work) go with you. And with better visual impact!

PCF Management

Efficiency $200 1 bedroom $250 2 bedroom $290 776-4805-539-8401

K-Rentals

Efficiency $200 1 Bedroom $250 2 Bedroom $290

3 Bedroom $450 539-8401

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS

1408 Cambridge Place-539-2951 •1 and 3 bedroom

·2 swimming pools and a heated spa ·Some utilities paid Across the street from Westloop Shopping Center ·Free private bus to campus leaving every hour. Pre-leasing for Fall

NOW LEASING

Furnished/Unfurnished 12 plex 9th & Moro 2 bedroom

Call Bill at 776-0644 or Kay at 539-8846

$375

DON'T WAIT UNTIL IT'S TOO LATE!

1 BR Apartments still available,

but filling up fast! For best June or August selection

CALL TODAY 776-3804

McCullough Development 2700 Amhers! (913) 776-3804

Automobile for Sale

1978 ALFA Romaeo convertible for sale. Red. with new top, new tires and great stereo with cassette and equalizer. $3,750. Call John 1-456-7050. 1978 PONTIAC Grand Prix. Good condition, rebuilt engine, $1,800. 776-1964. 1985 PLYMOUTH Voyager LE mini, one owner, excellent condition, air, standard, AMFM, five-seater. See for yourself. On Fort Riley. $6,950. 1-784-5717. ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT-seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. A-1797.

DATSUN 280Z, 1977. Great engine, good gas mileage Body needs work. $1,250. 776-4574.

IS IT true... Jeeps for $44 through the government? Call for facts! 1-708-742-1142 Ext. 3286A.

6 Child Care

NANNIES— YEAR-LONG child care position. East Coast. Airfare, good salary, benefits. Screened families. Fun group activities. Princeton Nanny, 301 St. #416, Princeton, NJ 08540

7 Computers

FOR SALE: Apple IIc with color monitor and Image II. Printer plus accessories. Will sell printer separate. Call 778-5428.

SAVE $$$. 15% off on new books featuring titles concerning Autocad, Wordperfect 5.0 and 5.1, Wordstar, Lotus, Magellan, as well as upgrading and repairing microcomputers. PC Magazines' DOS Powertools including disk with 1,275 pages—suggested retail $44.95, on sale for $35. Computer - DS/DD 51/4 -inch, 10 with smoked acrylic case, $10. Disk case for 5% -inch holds 70 disks— $8.95. Disk case for 3% -inch hold 50 disks—$6.95. DS/HD 1.44 3/4 -inch disks— 10 for $18.50. Mark Berg or contact ABACUS Computer & Supply, 1111 Waters, 539-7007. Pager phone number 537-5930. Leave your number and wait for "thank you."

ANITE!

m

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

also servicing •PC compatibles & printers •Televisions & VCRs

MIDWEST SERVICES 624 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Manhattan 913-776-6650

BIG Screen TV Rental

TANDY 2000, color monitor, two 5¼ -inch disk drives, 256K. Best offer. Call Larry at 537-4625.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

ACT IN TV commercials. High pay. No experience. All ages-kids, teens, young adults, families, mature people, animals, etc. Call now! Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702.

ATTENTION: HIRING government jobs- your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext R1797.

ATTENTION: KANSAS Careers needs a student assis tant for 20-30 hours' week during summer semester and 12-15 through the school year. Clerical experience necessary plus Word Perfect and dBase III-Pick up application form at Kansas Careers, 304 Fairchild Hall. Deadline April 11.

ATTENTION: EASY work, excellent pay! Assemble products at home. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. W-1797.

ATTENTION: EARN money watching TVI $32,000/ year Income potential. Details, 1-602-838-8885 Ext. TV-1797.

BABYSITTER IN our home this summer for 6 year old boy. Duties include preparing meals, taking him swimming, playing games, etc. 537-4223 after

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swin canoeing, sailing, waterskling, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B. Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093.

DUDE RANCH in Colorado Mountains looking for summer help. Need wranglers, assistant cooks, waitress/ cabin people. Don K. Ranch, 2677 S. Siloam Road, Pueblo, CO 81005; 719-784-6600. EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home

Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288. EXPERIENCED WAITERS and waitresses. Apply now at Hibachi Hut. Must be able to work lunch 11a.m.-2p.m. Apply in person.

FREE TRAVEL benefits! Airlines now hiring! All posi-tions! $17,500- $58,240. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext.

HANSEN NUTRITION CENTER

Diet Cures What Diet Causes' Locally Owned NATURAL FOOD SUPPLEMENTS WEIDER PRODUCTS WHOLE GRAIN CEREALS

SUNRIDER REGENERATION PRODUCTS NATURAL ICE CREAMS DIETITIC SUPPLIES HERBS AND SPICES GRADUATE NUTRITIONIST ON STAFF MON.-SAT. 9:30 TO 6

537-4571

3112 ANDERSON AVE. (ACROSS FROM VILLAGE PLAZA)

Penny Gregg ΓΦΒ Robin Turner KA Gail Anson ΣΣΣ Natalie Hurtig XΩ Christie Peterson KAO Cheryl Gregory AXΩ Lisa Armstrong AΔΠ Stephanie Johnson ПВФ Susie McCullough  $\Delta\Delta\Delta$ Sally Meadows KKT Stacy Berberich AEA

> FITE NITE April 18-22

Proceeds go to American

Radio Copywriter/Production Director

Immediate opening. KMAN-KMKF currently interviewing applicants for the position of permanent, full time copywriter-production director. Qualified candidates should have creative writing skills, preferably with experience in writing radio commercials, be able to meet deadlines, work well with people, and have commercial production experience, contact Amy Berg at KMAN-KMKF at 776-4851 for an

ATTENTION: EXCELLENT income for home assen FREE TRAVEL benefits! Cruise ships and casinos nov All positions! Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext.

GODFATHER'S PIZZA is now hiring for all positions for summer help. Delivery drivers have the opportunity to make competitive wages with flexible hours. Apply in person between 2p.m. and 5p.m. 1120

HIRING PART-TIME leasing agent for Friday afternoons and daytime Saturdays. Apply in person at 1408 Cambridge Place at Park Place Apartments.

LAWN CARE person wanted for large apartment community. Responsible for the maintenance of grounds and swimming pools. Horticulture or agricultural background helpful. Full time April through August. Send resume to Collegian, Box 8, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506. NEWS SERVICE has two openings. We need an exceptionally talented graduate student with solid newswriting and editing skills and a demonstrated flair for publication design to serve as editor of InView, the university's faculty/ staff newsletter. If you have the skills and can start this summer, we'd like to hear from you right away. We have an undergraduate opening for someone who is dependable, has good office skills and can start work June. Pick up applications at News Services, 9

NOW HIRING: Water Safety Instructors for KSU's Community Enrichment summer classes. Need not be currently enrolled in order to work. All instruction scheduled around your classes if enrolled in summer school, Pick up application at College Court Building, Room 246, 1615 Anderson Ave. or call 532-5575.

PART-TIME HELP wanted (10-15 hours/ week). Duties will include data entry, proofing computer printouts, filling orders, typing and some heavy lifting. Preference given to applicants with computer experience. Important: Must be able to work full-time during summer, school breaks, and between fall and spring semesters. Interested? Contact Kim or Bridget at 532-5970.

RESPIRATORY THERAPY Instructor/ Director of Clini cal Education— Nine-month position; responsibili-ties: lecture and laboratory classes, content and quality of clinical phase, 20 contact hours per week participation on committees, councils; qualifications: associate's in respiratory therapy, registration as a respiratory therapist, four years full-time experience (at least two in teaching) required bachelor's, prior teaching experience preferred. COUNSELOR—10-month position; responsibilities: personal, career, educational, transfer counseling: testing and placement services; teaching college orientation/ Career and Life planning; sponsoring

BEHAVIORAL SCIENCE/ Education Instructor-Nine-month position; responsibilities: teaching 32 hours per academic year in Behavioral Science/ Education, sponsoring Student Government Association; qualifications; bachelor's and prior teaching experience required; master's, college-level teaching experience, attendance or graduation from a Student Life. Qualifications: master's and prior teaching/ counseling experience required; college level teaching and/ or counseling experience.

attendance or graduation from a community college munity college preferred. end letter of application, resume, transcripts, three references to Don Guild, dean of instruction, Seward County Community College, Box 1137, Liberal, KS 67905-1137, AA/EOE.

KJCK-AM 1420 Country is looking for a part-ti announcer to fill a Monday- Friday evening plus Sunday afternoon position. Radio experience is preferred but will train the right person. Call Mark, 776-9494 or 762-5525 between 10a.m. and 2p.m.

KJCK EOE. STUDENT TO do lawn care for apartment houses: Mowing, raking, maintaining flower beds and ground cover areas. Horticultural or agricultural background helpful. Begin immediately. Part-time spring semester, summer and fall semester. Send ne and interest in job to Box 7, Collegian SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 openings. National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

SUMMER WORK available at KSU Vegetable Research Farm, DeSoto (K.C. area). $4.50/ hour. Must have own transpontation. Contact Dr. Charles Marr or Mrs. Elder at Horticulture, 532-6170 for application

9 Food Specials

Hunam Restaurant Free Delivery 539-8888

12 Houses for Rent

1101 DENISON, 1846, 1814 Platt, one to five bedrooms to see evenings Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 7-9p.m. 539-3993.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1. Two-bedroom, yard, $345 plus utilities. Lease and deposit 539-3672 evenings. FOUR BEDROOMS, two baths, near campus, no pets, no children: $500, 776-3321.

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE, 7 miles east of Manhattan. Excellent for veterinary students, 537-8555, After 5n.m. 1-494-2293

ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks east campus, laundry hookups. $285/ month, utilities, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1. 539-3672 evenings.

ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June 1 $295, 539-1554.

14 Lost and Found

A SILVER bracelet lost Friday in AK 120 or on campus Please call 539-7296.

LOST: BLACK Lab neutered male. Lost Friday Aggie ville area. Reward. 776-8417 or 539-8365.

LOST: LONGHAIRED, black cat with yellow-green eyes. Last Sunday in the 1100 block of Vattier. Please call 537-1096. LOST: TWO gold rings in or around old football stadium. Sentimental value. 776-7621. Reward.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

1972 CHAMPION 12x60, two-bedroom. Good condition. Wtih 8x10 deck. Available June 1. Evenings, 537-4279.

(Continued on page 11)

Bridal Registry D. D. D. W. D. LEADOURECON 1124 Moro Ligano Aggieville

Open Until 8 p.m. Tonight

WHAT KIND OF ARE YOU?

Original ... Or Golden. Which of our famous pizza models suits you best? At Godfather's Pizza", you choose your own unique style ... and all the fresh toppings you love. Pick the model you like most ... and have a great time together!

You know the type... and through. Has impecca Gòdfathers

Pizza

539-5303 1118 Laramie

Medium Combo

Godfather's Pizza | Godfather's Pizza

Medium or Large

FREE Breadsticks

and Dessert

with the purchase of medium or large pizza or Pizza Doubles

Medium One Topper

With purchase of any Golden Crust medium pizza at regular price. of valid with Sunday FREE drinks or any a scount offer Limited delivery area

Add $1 for delivery Expires: 5/18/90 Godfather's Pizza

Wildcat Buffet $2.99

of large pass.

alid everyday, 5 to 9 p.m. May be used with other A aupons. Dine-in only. Expires: 5/18/90
KSU 000 Godfather's Pizza

All-You-Can-Eat, Lunchtime. Monday-Friday

Heart Association

-TONIGHT- 9 p.m. Support Sig Ep Fite Nite with Knockouts

Weber Arena

creens you've ever seen! For more information on Zenith's full line of iters, from laptops to desktops contact:

Special Educational pricing of 40%-45% off retail is available only to students, facutly

& staff.

k-state union 532-6583

TURBOS PORT 3869

SUPERSPORT 286º

SUPERSPORT SX

data systems

(Continued from page 10)

1988 14x70 Schult mobile home with three bedroo 1½ baths, 8x10-foot deck. Call 776-8477.

IMMACULATE THREE-BEDROOM, two bath, central air, redwood decks. Call $39-9283 after 4p.m. TWO-BEDROOM, 10x60 trailer. Good condition. Great location. Low rent and utilities. Washer/ dryer, storage. 776-5671.

Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982 VIRAGO 920, 12K, computer, cover, very good condition. $1,500 or best offer. Scott. 537-9195.

THE QUESTION BEFORE US TODAY IS WHETHER OR NOT THE WORD GONAD CAN BE PRINTED IN A CARJOON.

OFFICE

Ripple

BEFORE WE BEGIN

THE INTERVIEW, LET

ME EXPLAIN THAT

RATHER INTIMATE

JEFF WON THE RACE

TO THE ICE CREAM

BUT ON THE WAY

BACK HE TRIPPED AND

ROCK ... CECIL, OF COURSE.

HIT HIS HEAD ON A

DID WHAT ANY DOG

WOULD DO WHEN HIS

MASTER IS UNCONSCIOUS

Jim's Journal

I called to make an appointment

with a dentist

WHILE YOUR DAD IS TAKING

YOU'D LIKE TO EXPLAIN WHAT HAPPENED TONIGHT.

ROSALYN HOME, PERHAPS

today.

TO FIND YOUR PERFECT

MATCH, THE QUESTIONS MAY HAVE TO BE

EDITORS !

Making the Grade

1984 YAMAHA Virago: Black/ chrome, excellent condi-tion, 4,500 miles. 537-4408.

1989 SPECIALIZED Rockhopper complete with many SNYDER'S HONDA on Stagg Hill Road is buying and selling new and used motorcycles. We are your de super market.

SO YOU'RE

GONNA LET US

SAY GONAD?

20 Parties-n-more

FIRST OF ALL I SEE NORMAND OFFENSIVE HERE YOUR

EDITORS!

BACK 400

100%!

OOH, JUST

WOOLERY!

WHAT DO

YOU WANT

TO KNOW?

HUH?

ACTIVIOPHO LIVES

They said they had an opening

GOSH MOM, WHAT'S TO TELL? AT 8:00, I PUT ON MY PAJAMAS, BRUSHED MY TEETH

AND WENT STRAIGHT TO BED. NOTHING HAPPENED

tomorrow.

Calvin and Hobbes

LIKE CHUCK

HEXE YOUR SIMP HIS ALLIMYS BEEN FIRST

RATE.

MY DREAM DATE?

KIND OF BUILD

HUH?

as week a decement of a company as a since

· 325

AND THIS?

UH_ LIES! ALL LIES!

ROSALYN MADE ME

DO THAT JUST SO

I'D GET IN TROUBLE!

SHE HATES KIDS!

NONE OF THAT IS TRUE! I WENT STRAIGHT TO BED!

HE'S GOT TO HAVE?

FIRST KISS? WHAT

HUH?

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES: Never pay for a DJ again. Own your own Party Music System. 539-0595.

NEED A DJ? Kick-ass sound system, light show. Cheap. Rock the house. Kevin, 776-7240.

21 Personals

ANN: DIFFERENTIAL equation recitation. Would you like to dance the swing, boogle, and waltz with sweet guy? Please reply. Pete.

CHI-O KRIS: Don't know who's more excited, you or me. Have a wonderful summer in D.C. Love, Mom.

KKG NINJA-TURTLE: Once upon a time, things were fine. Now things are bad, and I'm so very sad. My feelings for you have never diminished. Please realize, and let's not be finished. Turtle love.

WELL NOW, LET'S TALK ABOUT THAT ...

EXCUSE ME SOMEONES

SPINE JUST

FELL ONTO

THE PLOOR

I'LL GET

IT.

WILL YOU

CALM DOWN?

BY RICHARD BROADFOOT

everything. I'll move to Oregon with you. SA. RAND MCNALLY, the Navigator, the Austrailian Hubby and Dick S.—Seen any drunks passed out in their front yard lately? Are our cookies done yet? Get out of our picture, Guido! We walked the Alley and cruised in the Luv Wagon. By the way, which side is the gas tank on? The Women of 1102.

FROM THE biology TA: You are welcome for the chair, but I will be married in June. Thanks anyway. R- HERE'S what you do to me: Fascinate, thrill, awe,

By Bob Berry

By J. Hayden

THIS

TRICK

QUESTION?

"LICK"

By Jim

Also today I sat

outside for a while and looked at the

By Bill Watterson

MELL WHO MOND'VE

THOUGHT ROSALYN WOULD MAKE ME

WRITE A FULL

CONFESSION ?

By Jim Davis

sidewalk.

NICE TRY,

PINOCCHIO

Lambchop Ninja-Turtle.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

EASTER'S ALMOST here! Registered mini-Lopp bunny, food and cage. For more information, call 776-6691.

PELUCILLO "THE agronomist"— Congratulational I'm so proud of all you've accomplished, i tu eres muy intelegentel Good luck! Love, Mafia Biondie.

QUICK ALISA hug me and don't ask why. Thanks for ispire, excite, intoxicate, and amuse. -L

TO ANGEL in the Air Force sweatshirt. Loved dancing with you at Baystreet last Friday night. Would like to get to know you better. Please respond. Darren.

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits 1105 Waters 539-4751

23 Professional Services

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES and somrities! Sonice up your carpets and floors prior to the party season. Call TNT Professional Cleaners for a free estimate. 539-8120. Alumni owned and operated

COLEMAN AMERICAN can move you anywhere. 35% discount nationwide; 12% discount in-state. CAll for overseas reates. Local rates for students $39.50 per hour, two-hour minimum, 537-7284.

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day results. For appointment call: Pregnancy Testing Center, 539-3338.

PERMS WITH cut, $25 to $30. Shampoo, cut, style, $10. Tanning, 10 for $18. 776-1330.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

TROPICAL TAN 10 sessions for $25

537-0744

GLAFLIN Books & Copies Books/Cards •5¢ Self Service Copies Resumé Service Dissertation Copying

776-3771 Open Every Day till 9 p.m. 1st Bank Center

CONNECTION

Manhattan's Largest Tanning Salon

·New bulbs

•14 tanning beds

Appointments available

Competitive prices

1126 Laramie 776-2426

> TAILORING ALTERATIONS REPAIRING DRY CLEANING

SOWELL'S TAILORS

219 S. 4 (So. of Sears) 776-6912 Manhattan 8-5:30, M.-F. Sat. 8-12

HEALTH INSURANCE "It Pays to Compare" -excellent rates -free quotes

Call Tim Engle 537-4661

SUFFERING FROM abortion? Write: Hearts Restored. Box 295, Colby, Kansas 67701. Confidential response will follow. WEDDING FLOWERS by experienced floral designer Call for information. 776-2253.

WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY that doesn't cost a fortune. Call for information packet and portfolio.

776-3785.

24 Resume/ Typing Service

CALL NOW! Resume Service offers 10 years experiwriting personalized resumes and cover letters. We provide permanent computer storage typing of data sheets, and choice of laser- or letter-quality printing. 343 Colorado St. 537-7294.

GET THE edge in today's market! We offer quality resumes designed, typeset and laserprinted. Call Graphics Plus, 722 N. Manhattan, Aggieville, 539-6027.

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms, dissertations, theses, etc. Call 776-4214.

LETTER-OUALITY word processing. $1.25 double-spaced page. Next-day delivery available. Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals, sumes and more. Laser printing. Call 537-4146. RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to make an impression. One day service. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147.

SUMMER- FOUR-BEDROOM, two-bathroom apart-WORD PROCESSING: College papers, resumes, let-ters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single. Quality Print. Betty, 539-6851, Claffin.

25 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for next year. Non smoker. $133/ month plus one-third utilities. Call Kelly, 532-5310 or Dana, 532-5306.

FEMALE ROOMMATE for furnished house near campus. $162.50 per month. 10-month lease. Deposit. 539-3886, 776-3066.

FEMALE WANTED to share spacious upstairs apar ment May or August (May rent free). Prefer older undergraduate or graduate student. Call Ann, leave message 537-2474.

FOUR ROOMMATES for six-bedroom house. Next to campus. Two kitchens, two baths, laundry. Must see. $140 plus utilities. 539-1269.

MALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom house beginning June 1. Close to campus. Must be serious student, non-smoking. $225 all utilities paid. 776-4263.

NEED TWO female roommates immediately! From now to August. Everything equals $120/ month. 776-9452.

NICE APARTMENT near campus. One bedroom One-half of $315/ month rent, plus utilities 537-3803.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share nice apartment one block from campus. $157.50/ month, one-half utilities, washer, dryer, off-street parking.

776-0063, leave message. NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, own room, laundry area, pool. $180 plus one-half utilities. 539-7324. Summer through next year.

ONE- TWO non-smoking females, furnished farmhouse, free stall and pasture for horses, cattle, dogs. P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan.

ROOM FOR rent in six-bedroom home. Four blocks from campus. $135 a month plus percent of u Share kitchen and laundry facilities. Call 776-8162

ROOMMATE NEEDED immediately. Own room, $150 plus one-third electricity. Close to campus ROOMMATE WANTED to share house trailer. $100 per month plus half utilities. Call Allen, 537-3909.

ROOMMATES FOR 1990-91. Two bedrooms. Park Place Apartments. Call 776-2054 after 5p.m. Monday through Thursday.

SHARE TWO BEDROOM aparlment with dishwasher. wiisher dryer, woodburning fireplace, patio, garage, off-street parking, $197.50 plus one-fall utilities, 776-8384

TWO ROOMMATES needed for summer. Across from

26 Stereo Equipment

COMPLETE MOBILE DJ system for sale. Formerly Audio Enterprise. Call 539-6595.

27 Sports Recreation Equipment

O'BRIEN TRC 66-inch slatom water ski, still in box, $325. Atomic Kevlar 180 snow skis, Tyrolla bindings, boots, poles. Used once. Asking $500. Call Jon at 537-0845.

WINDSURFER ONE design, three sails, $750; Rocket Express, 10-loot, 6-inch transition board, 5.6m2 sail, $600, 776-6073.

28 Sublease

boss

27 River

28 Scoop

35 Stage

38 Rude

40 Malay

45 Minstre

need

Bobby

Guinea town

the crow's

47 Fuss

of India isthmus

a boat

$175/ MONTH. Female, own bedroom and bathrootumished, by campus. Call Sherrill, 776-6192.

1st-CLASS APARTMENTS for June- July subleases Both one and two bedrooms, furnished or unfurnished, decks available, great locations. Call the Curtin Companies at 776-1222.

A JUNE-JULY sublease, two weeks tree in May. Female, furnished house, own room, $125/ month plus one-fourth bills. Call 776-1577.

A $100 sublease, large room in big house, 1818 Fairchild, 539-1457, ask for Julie.

A LARGE two-bedroom- summer. 1010 Thurston. Everything— central air, full kitchen, etc. $399 negotiable. 537-3346.

A NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, one-fourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New carpet. Available anytime. Call, leave message FOR SUMMER— Large, two-bedroom. Great for three close to campus. $360 or best offer. 776-2378.

LATE MAY to mid-August. Two-bedroom apartment with dishwasher, washer/ dryer, woodburning fireplace, patio, garage, off-street parking. $395 plus utilities. No pets. 776-8384.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment close to campus. Balcony, dishwasher and laundry facilities. Three people, $300, two people $250, 776-3340.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to sublease furnished apartment. $125/ month and one-fourth utilities, 776-2076.

SPACIOUS THREE-BEDROOM house to sublease for summer. Close to campus and Aggieville. Price negotiable. 537-7094. SUBLEASE: TWO-BEDROOM, one bath, pool, with option to rent. Open June 1. 539-4931 after 6p.m. SUBLEASE- NICE two-bedroom apartment for three to four people. One block from campus. Washer, dryer, dishwasher. $450 month. 539-4784.

SUBLEASE-GREAT two-bedroom house right next to campus. $420/ month. Call 776-3384.

SUBLEASE- ONE-BEDROOM apartment, one-half block from campus. $150 a month plus bills. For June and July. Call 537-3342. SUMMER- AVAILABLE June 1. Two-bedroom, furnished. Close to Aggieville, park. $250/ month. 776-0977.

ment with balcony, dishwasher, and laundry facili-ties. Near campus and Aggieville. Rent negotiable.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Large, two-bedroom unfurn-ished apartment. $450 plus electricity. Negotiable. Close to campus. 537-2863.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- June 1 - July 31 and/ or lease available through Aug. 1, 1991. Furnished, one large bedroom, excellent condition, private balcony, across from Ford Hall. Perfect for one to three people. Price negotiable. Call 776-0715. Best between 5:30- 7p.m.

SUMMER SUBLEASE—one to two rooms in house with another roommate, right across the street from campus. Male only. 776-5799.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom, furnished or unfurnished. Close to Aggieville and campus. Price negotiable, 776-7493. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom house, carport, deck, backyard, washer/ dryer, negotiable, 537-2101, leave message. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Large, one-bedroom, furnished, new carpet, close to campus, $290/ month. Call 776-8850 SUMMER SUBLEASE; Nice and affordable one-bedroom apartment. Near campus/ Aggieville. Call 533-2963 or 539-2007. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Two-bedroom furnished.

Water trash paid. Available June 1, $250/ month or negonable. 532-3124. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Four-bedroom, close to Aggleville and campus, balcony rent negotiable, 539-3003.

THREE-BEDROOM, two bath available May- August in Aggieville. Very nice apartment. 776-4760.

THREE-BEDROOM, two full baths, one-half block west of campus, dishwasher. Dates/ rent negotiable. 776-7945.

TO SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom apartment, very close to Aggleville and campus. Call 539-1565. 1200 Bluemont.

TWO-BEDROOM, FURNISHED, one block from cam pus, Aggreville. Available June and July. $270, 776-4574.

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE— Loft bed, in great shape $45. Price is negonable. Call 532-3351.

FOR SALE -- Loft bed, in great shape. $45. Price is otuble. Call 532-335

POSTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050. Battery of AC powered, two fant types, 16,000-character memory expansion card, spell corrector and many other features. Excellent condinon. $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS- G1 boots, sleeping bags, wool clothing for mountain campers, back-packs, lends, wet weather gear, camp clothing, much morel St. Marys Surplus Sales St. Marys, KS. 1-437-2734

TANNING FACIAL lamp— Woolf System, Brand new! Paid $200. Make offer! Call Tami at 776-6657.

33 Storage

ATTENTION: ALL faculty, staff, students. Storage rates for summer. $50 per 1,000 pounds at Coleman American. 537-7284.

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

34 Rooms for Rent

FEMALES: ROOMS for rent. Close to campus. Avable summer and fall. 539-8608.

35 Waterski Wetsuit

LIKE NEW Lycra and Neoprene full wetsuit. Great for jumping, footing. $75 or best offer. Steve, jumping, 537-0927.

Crossword

39 Flight

43 Old or

44 Priestly

46 Brazilian

50 Calcutta

sorrel

Hamill's

58 Continued

59 Thirst

bailiwick

57 Sandarac 11 Winter

quenchers 19 Part of 56 Dorothy

55 Wood

seaport

dungeon

young follower

vestment

recorder 41 Shaping machine

DOWN

2 Music

3 River

duck

4 Boards

a ship

7 Kind of stitch

step or

8 Intrigues

9 "Tarzan"

extra time in loud noise 17 Beer bash 42 Lodge

need a min.

10 Nothing measure

6 Bank acct. 29 Mona

5 Wire

1 Bedouin passage

ACROSS

follower?

Jannings

8 Prop for

12 Caviar

13 Spanish

14 Sacred

15 Political bull

16 Karate

sash

18 Airplane

model

wood 20 Large green

parrot

21 Formerly

24 "People

28 Road houses.

Chaplin

1 Riot

4 Actor

By Eugene Sheffer

Garfield

Peanuts

JAM DAVES 4-11

WHAT MAKES YOU THINK

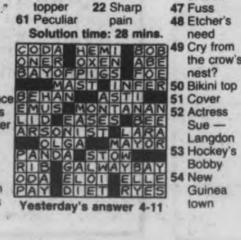

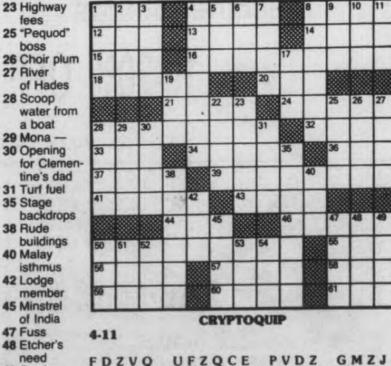

drink

FDZVQ UFZQCE PVDZ GMZJ-

RFQRVQ GFA ME F PFZJVQ. Yesterday's Cryptoquip: ANGRY WIFE TO LIFE-GUARD HUSBAND: "YOUR ALIBI DOESN'T HOLD

Today's Cryptoquip clue: U equals P

Retire

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

vestment more stable, Gehrt said. "For example, a stock account will invest solely in stocks, or a bond account will invest solely in bonds, and a money market account will invest only in money market accounts," she said. "This account invests in all three, and will change the investment strategy based on the market."

Cia Verschelden, assistant professor of social anthropology and social work, said she transfered all of her retirement funds over to the social choice account.

"I felt the social part of the account is important," Verschelden said. "It's important for people to have a choice of where their money is invested. Although the social concerns may not be important to other people, it's important to me.'

Verschelden said she understood from CREF representatives that the new account was going to begin to support environmental issues as

Stanley Leland, associate director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, said he doesn't think that the account is the way to deal with social

"There are people who feel that the company shouldn't be investing in the alcohol or tobacco industry or what have you, but I'm not quite sure that's the answer," Leland said. "It's nice that people who are concerned about those kinds of things can have ways to act upon them, but this isn't the way."

Gumbo

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

"However, the hearse entry has received second and usually first place in every parade it has been in," he said.

Whitney plans to continue Gumbo Hill with his wife, but he said he would like to accomplish more ventures

"Life's pretty short, and you might not get the opportunity to contribute tomorrow," he said.

BOOKS

FOR

CHILDREN

30-50% off Hundreds of

Special Sale Books

PLUS

10% off ALL Childrens

Books In Stock

*GREAT SELECTION!

*GREAT SALE PRICES!

*FREE HELIUM BALLOONS

April 1-14

We sell more than just textbooks"

office<sub>1</sub>

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Vilnius, the Lithuanian capital, overnight Monday, according to Eduardas Potasinskas of Lithuanian television.

At his own news conference Tuesday, Gorbachev spokesman Arkady Maslennikov said the Soviet Union plans no economic blockade among the unspecified "economic and political measures" threatened Monday by Gorbachev's presidential council. But Maslennikov implied the So-

Sacred

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

'So I returned home to Kansas and I saw this state a little differently than I had before," he said. "I came to see it as a place full of beauty and as sacred as any other place on this planet."

Dancer said the austere beauty of Kansas will not survive, if man continues his mad, headlong rush towards self-obliteration.

"Our task for the 1990s is to end our mindless growth as cancer cells,' he said. "Our industrial culture has not only severed our connections with nature, but the lifestyles it encourages are entirely unsustainable."

Select

Lithuania $6 billion.

might be sent elsewhere.

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7 working with the staff to put together a yearbook of 540 or more pages.' Keller said plans for the yearbook viet Union might start demanding world market prices from Lithuania for the subsidized oil, gas and other raw materials that the small Baltic state needs. He said this would cost

He said some Soviet enterprises have talked of refusing to extend existing contracts with Lithuania, and he warned that items in short supply

We are not saying, 'Please, stop are already underway. "We will be going to a yearbook workshop in St. Louis in July," she said. "We will start thinking about themes and listing ideas, goals and objectives we'd like to cover. We'd like to have a theme selected before school starts." Paul Heier, junior in advertising, is the summer advertising manager. He will supervise 10 staff members, who were selected Thursday. "This summer, it's going to be kind of laid back, but we're going to be responsible," Heier said. "I'm going to try to keep everybody motivated to go out and sell ads."

thinking about independence," Ma-slennikov said after several tougher statements. "But don't do it overnight. Don't tear well-established economic, political and other links,

He suggested Lithuanian leaders consider a moratorium on all decisions since they declared independence. He also suggested that Lithuania "not insist on state-to-state negotiations" with the Soviet Union.

including defense."

Julie Andsager, graduate student in journalism and mass communications, is the summer editor. Andsager selected 20 staff members Thursday.

"We want to continue to incorporate the design changes and make improvements in a few places," she said. "Some are really picky little things like we're going to lose 'Garfield' and we're not going to have pictures with reviews.

The Collegian will be published Mondays and Thursdays during the summer. The first date of publication is June 4.

"Bright minds...read the Collegian"

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 calls for contacting the provost's office in an attempt to find creative solutions to the problem. For example, Gray said the University of Oregon offers one-year faculty fellowships to applicant's partners, and that Washington State University funds half-time salary positions for up to three years.

"This is the kind of thing we have to do to get the faculty we want," Rowlett said.

Thompson said the partner's position does not have to be a university position, but one available in the surrounding community. She said that is why the problem may be more prevalent at universities not based in large metropolitan areas, such as K-State.

Thursday Night 'Side Saddle" Live 9 p.m.

$1 Cover $2 Pitchers

Self Serve Copies

kinko's

the copy center

1329 Anderson Manhattan, KS (913) 537-7340 FAX*537-0967*FAX

Buffy, top hair designer specializes in long hair, and men's styling. For introduction, Buffy is offering 50% off (reg. $16) cut with style through April 14.

Call Buffy for your personal appointment.

776-8830

Candlewood

Westloop Shopping Center 776-6864

Computer Furniture Machine Stands

10-20% OFF

Sale thru April 14

IF YOU'RE THINKING SCIENCE OR ENGINEERING, THINK AIR FORCE ROTC.

College is where your education in science or engineering reaches new heights. Air Force ROTC can take that education even higher - into satellite, laser or other technologies that become the focus of your career upon graduation. You may also qualify for two-through four-year scholarships that help defray your college costs and provide you with $100 each academic

If you're thinking technology, think Air Force ROTC. Call

CAPT ROYER 913-532-6600

Leadership Excellence Starts Here

"Doesn't every Pre-med deserve a choice?"

Tom Garcia, M.D. (UAG '75) Houston, Texas

"The right choice was there when I needed it. I made that choice, and now I'm a physician. My alma mater may be just right for you. It's your choice."

Universidad Autónoma de Guadalajara School of Medicine Guadalajara, Mexico

The International Choice

For your free video preview call: 1-800-531-5494

Arts and Science Student of the Semester

All students in the College of Arts and Sciences are eligible and encouraged to apply. Applications are available in the Arts and Sciences Deans Office.

Applications are due by April 13.

PET HEALTH REMINDER

Heartworm prevention for dogs starts with an annual test to make sure your pet is not already infested.

HAVE YOUR DOG TESTED, *6

Wed., April 11, 1-4:30 p.m. Sat., April 14, 8:20-10:20 a.m.

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY MEDICAL HOSPITAL 532-5690

No Appointment Necessary

Physical examination not included

BSU

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

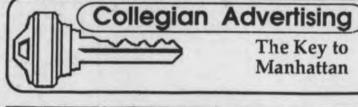

was made in that you referred to us as a club," said one member of BSU. "This is much more than a club. For some of us this is a lifeline. For black, Afro-American students at this University, you can't begin to know the impact that this will have if you take it away. I think you (senators) need to realize that we are not 'the people' or 'the club,' but we are much more, and without it (BSU), many of us wouldn't be in this room making it the way we are."

Giefer was asked what it would take to increase the awareness of Student Senate as to the needs of black

"As you can see, there is a little bit of hurt feelings, anger and resentment," said Teresa Canty, BSU president-elect for 1990-91. "There seems to be so many little instances of racist actions going around. Will it take a whole eruption of the black students on this campus before everybody realizes there is a problem in Student Senate?"

Giefer said he could not answer the question because he did not have the authority.

The Peace Process in the Middle East: A Palestinian Perspective LECTURE BY:

Dr. RIYAD MANSOUR

Deputy Ambassador of Palestine to the U.N. DATE: WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11, 1990 PLACE: BALLROOM, K-STATE UNION TIME: 7 p.m.

SPONSORED BY: GENERAL UNION OF PALESTINE STUDENTS ARAB STUDENT ASSOCIATION INTERNATIONAL COORDINATING COUNCIL

Steel Ring Congratulates

Ira Bolden

1990 Recipient of the Culbertson Leadership Award

Look No Further...

bedroom, furnished, new carpet

5310

526 N. 14th Villa 11

2 bedroom, stove, frig & dishwasher, furnished

375 428-430 N. 6th Gold Key

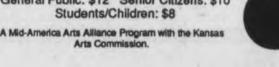

776-1111

Alchemedians II

Bob Berky and Michael Moschen Tuesday, April 17, 8 p.m.

Team a mime who's like a cross between Robin Williams and Groucho Marx with a nimble-fingered wizard who's been called the Nijinsky of juggling. Give them toys from Pee-Wee's Playhouse and you've got the Alchemedians. Join them in their fanciful laboratory for a delirious evening of man and machine situations filled with comedy, breathtaking beauty, and magical virtuosity.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University Tickets now on sale. Call (913) 532-6428 and charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Topeka KS 66612 I.F.G.A.N

Thursday, April 12, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 131

K-State faces 'scary' reductions

By Lori Stauffer Collegian Reporter

The recommendation by a state House-Senate Conference Committee to cut K-State's enrollment adjustment funds nearly in half was far worse than the University expected, Provost James Coffman said.

As a result, a significant reduction in the amount of classes offered and a decrease in faculty positions is likely to occur, he said. Temporary faculty, graduate teaching assistants and those on the tenure track are expected to be affected the most.

Coffman said although the numclasses may be cancelled for the 1990-91 school year.

Don Hoyt, director of planning and evaluation services, said the proposed class reduction is "really pretty scary." He said the cuts may reduce the amount of students enrolling next fall. The University expects an enrollment of about 21,000 students next year.

"Unless we resolve (the budget problems) without cutting back in any of the courses, we will experience a negative influence on enrollment," Hoyt said. "We won't be able to provide them with the classes they want."

The Conference Committee recommended Saturday that K-State's cut by 46 percent. budget for the 1991 fiscal year be $141.1 million, $7.6 million less than the operating funds recom-

Particularly hurtful to K-State, administrators said, is the $2.1 million eliminated from the enrollment adjustment funds, which are figured as part of the University's base budget.

The Board of Regents recommended that $4,688,550 be allotted for the University's enrollment adjustment. In his proposal to the Le-gislature on Jan. 8, Gov. Mike Hayden cut that number in half. The Senate, however, included the entire 26, the House voted to allocate only $2.1 million to the fund.

"We knew then we were in real trouble," Coffman said.

Enrollment adjustment money, which traditionally has increased according to enrollment increases, funds services such as the library, equipment, academic administration and maintenance.

The formula for the enrollment amount in the budget. But on March adjustment is based upon rules and procedures set by the Legislature in 1987, and University officials consider the committee's action as a rule change in the middle of the

> "In cutting their commitment to fund enrollment growth by almost 50 percent, they have pulled the rug out from under Kansas State University, our students and faculty and the citizens of Kansas," President

Jon Wefald said in a prepared statement.

The amount proposed by the Conference Committee, he said, would leave K-State in the poorest competitive position it has been in the past decade. Even if the regents' recommendations had been approved, the University's base budget would be about 85.8 percent of its peer institutions.

"This latest action not only elimi#### nates the progress made at Kansas State University under the first two years of the Margin of Excellence, it will devastate many of the academic programs which are essential to preparing students for the challenges facing our state and nation now and into the 21st century," Wefald said in the statement.

In 1986, Wefald was charged by the regents with the task of stabilizing enrollment and reversing the state's "brain-drain" to out-of-state institutions.

"He has done that," said John Struve, budget director. "President Wefald has taken an enrollment of about 16,000 students to over 20,000. And the quality of student is demonstrated in the number of Rhodes Scholars and Truman Scholars we've had at K-State."

But now that the goals have been reached, the Legislature is not providing the funds to support it, Struve said. And a reallocation of funds within the University is not a viable solution if the committee accepts the recommendation April 25.

"We are underfunded to start with," he said. "We have exhausted our ability to reallocate a substantial amount as it is."

Because Kansas has an open admissions law for all regents schools, administrators say, the University has no means of controlling enrollment.

"The Legislature has not been willing to pass a qualified admis-

Committee recommends to reduce University ber is hard to estimate, he anticipates that more than 100 sections of enrollment adjustment funds by $2.1 million

By Kirk Caraway Staff Reporter

and Elvyn Jones Collegian Reporter

A $2.1 million cut in enrollment adjustments by the state Legislature has faculty members and student leaders concerned about the future of the University.

The enrollment adjustment provides additional funding to accommodate the recent increases in enrollment. The Legislature's conference committee has recommended the adjustment of $4.68 million be

Todd Johnson, student body president, said the University has been budgeting its money for the last two mended by the Board of Regents. years with promises from the Legislature that the enrollment adjustment would be in the 1990 budget. But recommendations for the cuts were made because of the state's recent financial problems.

"The students who came here two years ago are really the ones who are going to suffer," Johnson said. "If we're forced to cut classes, that might affect their ability to graduate on time."

Mike Steinle, state and community affairs director for Johnson, said he and the student body president's lobby team will be going to Topeka to talk to legislators one on one to fight the cuts. But he admits it's not going to be an easy job.

"Essentially, the students of K-State are paying for the re-election of the Legislature," Steinle said.

"Money is tight and the only way to stress," he said. fund things is through taxes, and no one is going to raise taxes in an election year.'

Faculty members shared the students' disappointment.

"All the signals given heretofore were false signals," said John Keller, professor of regional and community planning and chairman of Faculty Senate Committee for University Planning.

Keller said it was unfair to have the University create a comprehensive strategic plan to increase the quantity and quality of K-State's enrollment, and have the Legislature refuse funding after it is underway.

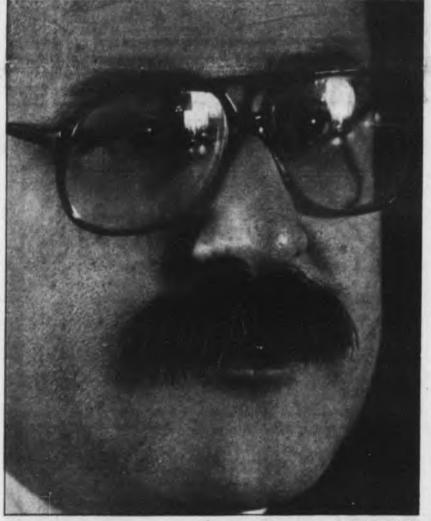

"(The budget) puts a substantial part of the University, especially the the teaching mission, under severe

Speaking as a faculty member, James Koelliker, professor of civil engineering and president of the Faculty Senate, said the budget approved by the conference committee will have a bad effect on the morale of the faculty. The Margin of Excellence program raised the expectations of the faculty, and now they have seen them reduced to nothing.

Faculty members will not get the 4 percent raise scheduled by MOE, Koelliker said. Faculty also feel frustrated over the lack of increased support services and instructional equipment.

He said the Legislature continues to send mixed signals by refusing to ■ See CUT, Page 7

■ See BUDGET, Page 7

David Mayes/Staff

Dr. Riyad Mansour, deputy ambassador of Palestine to the United Nations, lectured Wednesday on campus about Middle East peace.

Speaker: Uprising still strong

illegal occupation of West Bank, Gaza LOIN. Gecres Louis as occupied territories in which Israel is an illegally occupying power," he said. Second the second se

By Cosima Hadidi Staff Reporter

The uprising of the Palestinian people in the territories occupied by Israel is as strong today as when it started in December 1987, said Riyad Mansour, deputy ambassador of Palestine to the United Nations.

"Although the Intifada is not covered as extensively by the media as it was in the first few months, no one should conclude that the Intifada is weaker or is withering away," Mansour said to an audience of about 120 in the Union Ballroom Wednesday.

On the contrary, the Intifada today is stronger because it was able to survive the difficulties of its initial stages and because of the extensive experience that our people were able to accumulate."

Intifada is the Arabic name for the uprising.

Mansour said despite massive and cruel measures taken by the Israeli army, the uprising could not be stopped.

There is no force, the Israeli army or anything else, that will be able to stop this remarkable and popular upheaval of the Palestinian people who are conveying one simple message: that they want the occupation to be terminated and they want independence for the Palestinian state after the withdrawal of the occupying Israeli army," he said.

The Intifada was able to create new political realities, the most important of which was the proclamation of the independent state of Palestine in November 1988, Mansour said. In addition, the Palestinian National Council, which is a parliament in exile, was able to adopt a historic peace initiative of the Palestinian people, he said. This initiative has several parts crucial to peace and a just solution to the Arab-Israeli First, it requires the withdrawal of Israeli forces from the West Bank and the Gaza strip, including East Jerusalem.

See related story/Page 5

"These areas are considered by the international community and by the Security Council of the United Na-

Palestinian people to selfdetermination should be fulfilled, Mansour said.

Third, a just solution can be achieved through an international peace conference under the auspices of the United Nations with the equal participation of all involved parties, including the PLO, Israel and several Arab countries.

"What the initiative asks for is basically the concept of a two-state solution, one of which came into existence in 1948 and the other officially proclaimed independence in 1988, but its land is under occupation," Mansour said.

The initiative has today the endorsement of almost the entire international community, he said.

"It is endorsed by 151 nations, including some of Israel's closest friends," Mansour said. "These countries adopt resolutions of this sort after thought and when they agree to them, they are serious about them."

Yet the Israeli government refuses to negotiate on the terms of the initiative. The government also continues years, thus depriving the Palestinian youths of their education, he said. At the same time, the Palestinian leadership has repeatedly demonstrated flexibility, responsibility and compromise.

The Israeli government has always tried to negotiate with the Palestinians through a third party, Mansour said. The most recent government wants to negotiate with an Arab delegation of its own choice.

"Shamir wants to choose who to negotiate with and also which issues will be discussed," he said. "So in essence, he wants to dictate the outcome of the negotiations. If he thinks that the Palestinian people will accept such a plan, he is crazy."

Mansour attributed the recent toppling of the Israeli government in part to Shamir's stand on the peace negotiations.

We just hope that the U.S. government and whichever government will evolve in Israel will go along with the international consensus and respond to the call for a move in the direction of peace, based on justice through negotiations," he said.

Lafene Student Health Center

Diagnosis: Measles

Symptoms: Fever, headache, muscle ache, cough, irritated eyes, runny nose and sneezing. These occur about 10 days after contact with the virus. Four days after the initial symptoms, a red rash occurs, usually on the face, and spreads to the trunk and extremities Infectiousness: A person with measles is infectious several days before any symptoms occur and remains infectious three to five days after the rash occurs.

What To Do: You need to be vaccinated or revaccinated if: -you received the vaccination before 15 months of age or were vaccinated between 1963 and 1967. -you never had measles or the vaccination and you were born in 1957 or later. If you are ill with any of the previously mentioned symptoms, go to Lafene as soon as possible. Do not go to class. Limit exposure to others

Source: Student Health Center Collegian/Gary Lytle

Measles reported

Lafene officials diagnose 4 cases in 24 hours

By David Frese and Erica Yenni Collegian Reporters

Four cases of what appears to be measles were reported at Lafene Student Health Center between Tuesday evening and Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Larry Moeller, chief of staff at Lafene, urged residence hall roommates, fraternity and sorority members, and apartment mates who have had close contact with infected persons to get vaccinated as soon as possible.

After dodging a few close calls with the virus in November, March and during spring break, it appears the University may be facing an outbreak that almost exactly coincides with last year's April 25 outbreak, he said.

The average college student falls through a window period of faulty vaccinations, Moeller said. Vulnerable students are those who have never been vaccinated, those who were vaccinated between 1963 and 1967, and those who have never had measles or the vaccination and were born in 1957 or later, he said.

Students who were vaccinated during the outbreak last spring need not be revaccinated, he said, but anyone who has had close contact with infected persons should get their measles shots as soon as possible. "A lot of people think of measles as one of those harmless diseases that happen to little kids, and most of the times it runs an uncomplicated course, but there are some complications," Moeller said. "The most serious of those are central nervous system infections like encephalitis, and that can happen to one in a thousand. And one in three thousand can actually die. It is highly contagious, and the sooner the public is informed the better."

Students who think they need to be vaccinated should first check their inoculation records, he said. "Good sources are moms and dads, hometown medical offices or their county's health department," Moeller said. Kathy Dickey, nursing director at the Manhattan/Riley County Health Department, said the consequences of not treating a case of the measles can result in death.

Norma Parker, nurse at Lafene Student Health Center, gives a measles immunization injection to Van Underwood, sophomore in agricultural mechanization.

cian and let him or her make the decision on the face and then becomes generalized. treatment. Some cases may require hospitalization, she said.

Symptoms of the measles include a high

Those who believe they may have confever, red or watery eyes, nasal discharge, tracted the disease should contact a physi- sore throat, and a rash that usually starts on

> Mabel Hinkin, infection control coordinator and director of nursing at the Saint

■ See MEASLES, Page 7

World

France denies paying ransom

PARIS (AP) - France rejected mounting criticism Wednesday that it went too far in praising Libyan leader Col. Moammar Gadhafi for helping free three hostages, and it denied paying a ransom of three warplanes for their release.

A newspaper reported that the Libyan navy was the real abductor of the French and Belgians seized in November 1987 off the coast of the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip. It said France bargained both with Libya and a group led by terrorist Abu Nidal.

The government insisted it did not bargain with terrorists. But detractors made little distinction between Gadhafi and Abu Nidal's Fatah-Revolutionary Council, a Palestinian terrorist group Gadhafi has supported.

Jacqueline Valente, her Belgian boyfriend Fernand Houtekins, and their 2-year-old daughter Sophie-Liberte, born in captivity, were freed Tuesday in Beirut. They flew to Paris on Tuesday night and have remained out of public view at a military hospital. Abu Nidal's group holds four other Belgians.

The hostages were held in Lebanon, not Libya as widely believed, Valente's brother-in-law, Andre Metral, said at a news conference. He said the freed hostages had been treated well by their captors.

Unity may pose problems

EAST BERLIN (AP) - Farmers vowed to drive their tractors through East Berlin, and telephone workers on Wednesday called a strike, as East Germany's new leaders tried to find a fair formula for unity with West Germany.

An economic institute predicted 1.5 million East Germans would be out of work in five years unless the country saw a spurt of growth after merging with its wealthy Western neighbor. According to official figures, about 70,000 East Germans are unemployed now.

Major political parties said Wednesday they were close to agreeing on a blueprint for East Germany's economic and social future.

Prime Minister-designate Lothar de Maiziere, the conservative Christian Democrat leader, held more talks with the left-leaning Social Democrats on ways to dismantle the nation's 4-decadeold socialist system.

Social Democrats want to retain a safety net of social programs to ease the withdrawal pains of East Germans dependent on heavy subsidies.

White bid farewell by 1,500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - More than 1,500 friends and admirers, including first lady Barbara Bush and singer Michael Jackson, bid farewell Wednesday to Ryan White, the young AIDS victim who taught the nation a lesson in courage.

"Ryan and his family always believed there would be a miracle," the Rev. Raymond Probasco said in his eulogy. "But that didn't happen. I believe God gave us that miracle in Ryan. He healed a wounded spirit in the world and made it whole."

Ryan's mother, Jeanne, sat with her 16-year-old daughter, Andrea, and Jackson, who had befriended Ryan. Ryan's father, Wayne, who is divorced from Jeanne White, also attended.

Singer Elton John, who had maintained a bedside vigil during Ryan's final week of life, led the congregation in singing a hymn, then accompanied himself as he sang his own composition, "Skyline Pigeon."

Probasco noted that many celebrities had befriended Ryan during his struggle with AIDS and his legal battle to attend public school.

Inmate convicted of biting man

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) - An inmate who has AIDS was convicted Wednesday of attempted murder for biting a sheriff's officer and telling him to "die, you pig!"

A jury spent seven hours over two days before announcing its conviction of Gregory D. Smith in the attack on Albert Waddington, a Camden County corrections officer. The panel also convicted Smith of four counts of aggravated assault, and one count of making terroristic threats.

The jury acquitted Smith on one count each of aggravated assault and making terroristic threats in separate incidents involving two other officers.

Smith showed no emotion when the verdict was read. Waddington, 26, clapped his hands and bowed his head as the jury foreman read the guilty verdict. He quickly left the courthouse and declined comment.

Smith shouted at the guard as he left, telling him, "On your way home, Waddington, stop in church and ask God to forgive you for that lie."

He also shouted at Superior Court Judge John B. Mariano that he would appeal, and sheriff's officers quickly handcuffed him and led him away.

Sentencing is scheduled for May 18.

Activist to run for Congress

LAWRENCE (AP)- A Lawrence man who blew marijuana smoke at a police dispatcher to protest President Bush's tough drug stand last year plans to run for Congress.

Mark R. Creamer, 42, said in an interview Wednesday that he is circulating petitions to get the signatures of about 1,300 Democrats in the 2nd District so he can run against Rep. Jim Slattery, D-Kan., in the August primary.

Creamer said his campaign platform will include environmental issues and legalization of marijuana.

Creamer was arrested and charged with felony possession of marijuana in September after he walked into police headquarters, lit up what he said was a marijuana cigarette and blew smoke at the dispatcher. His demonstration was timed to coincide with Bush's nationally televised announcement of a $7.9 billion war on drugs.

Creamer later said he committed the act to call attention to his belief that marijuana is a soft drug that consumes too much of law enforcement's time and efforts, which he said should be directed toward more damaging drugs, such as cocaine.

Seniors toilet paper school

LAWRENCE (AP)- High school seniors did some attentiongetting exterior decorating with their traditional senior week shenanigans this week, and they say school officials haven't seen anything yet.

About two dozen seniors at Lawrence High School decorated the school grounds with 1,300 rolls of toilet paper early Tuesday, which didn't please Principal Brad Tate.

The students usually do something during senior week. I've never seen it to this extent. ... I'd say I'm somewhat irritated about it. I haven't gotten any calls from anyone saying how wonderful it looks," Tate said.

Jennifer Immel, a senior member of the Student Council, said the seniors started stringing their trail of toilet paper around the school at 3 a.m.

"The police came after about 30 minutes. There were about seven cars and one of those big police vans," she said. "I thought they were going to take us all to jail."

She said senior class members were planning another prank later in the week. "This isn't even our big prank."

GIVE YOUR SPECIAL SOMEBUNNY

A MONOGRAM

CAMPUS BULLETI

Campus organizations are encouraged to use the Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-served basis and is NOT guaranteed. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118A. You must have a picture ID to submit a Bulletin form. During business hours, IDs will be checked in Kedzie 103. At other times, IDs will be checked in Kedzie 116 or 118A. Forms should be left in the box outside 118A after being filled out and checked. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

Announcements

- Alcoholics Anonymous meets at 12:05 p.m. every Monday through Friday at Ecumenical Campus Ministry, 1021 Denison Ave.
- Applications for Arts and Sciences Student of the Semester are due Friday in Eisenhower 113.
- College of Business Ambassador Applications are available in Calvin 107 and are due by 5 p.m. Friday.

Thursday

- Christian Educators and World Christian Fellowship will meet at 12:30 p.m. in All Faiths Chapel for an Easter celebration.
- Alpha Kappa Psi will have a professional meeting at 7 p.m. in Thomp-
- KSU Horticulture Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Waters 244 to elect
- Icthus Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union Little
- Theatre.
- Pi Sigma Epsilon will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Outback. Attendance is required.
- Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Danforth Chapel. Everyone is welcome.
- Pre-Law Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 212.
- Pre-Nursing Students will meet at 11:30 a.m. at Memorial Hospital main entrance for a 1-hour tour.
- Campus Crusade for Christ will meet at 8 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.
- KSU Horseman's Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Weber 146. ■ Engineering Ambassadors will meet at 7 p.m. in Durland 173.
- Engineering Ambassador Executives will meet at 6:15 p.m. in Durland 173.
- Sailing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.
- Minority Assembly of Students in Health will meet at 6 p.m. in Holton 201.

Restate Union Building Hown for

PARTLY

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, cloudy. A 20 percent chance for showers. High 50 to 55. Southerly winds 5 to 15 mph. Tonight, cloudy with a 60 percent chance for showers or thunderstorms. Low in the lower 40s. Friday, cloudy. A 60 percent chance of showers or thunderstorms. High in the mid-50s.

Need a Helping Hand?

Look in the Collegian Classifieds!

CPI photo finish ****

on color processing & 4x6 prints

Each picture is the best it can be or we reprint it free...now!

regular one-hour price number of rolls discounted with Print length varies with film size

4x6 Color Prints

Color Enlargements

Manhattan Town Center main entrance by food court

"CINEMA" LIVE BAND Fri. & Sat. • April 13 & 14

509 Lincoln

General Building Thu., Apr.12 .. . 7:00a - 11:00p Pri., Apr. 13 & Sat., Apr. 14 ..... 7:00a - 10:30p 12:00n - 12:00m Sun., Apr. 15 . Ground Floor Only Bookstore Thu., Apr. 12 . 7:45a - 8:00p . 7:45a - 5:00p Pri., Apr. 13 9:00a - 5:00p Sat., Apr. 14 Sun., Apr. 15 . Closed Copy Center Thu., Apr. 12 7:45a - 9:00p . 7:45a - 5:00p Pri., Apr. 13 12:00n - 5:00p Sat., Apr. 14 . Closed Sun., Apr. 15 Information Counter Thu., Apr. 12 . 7:15a - 9:30p .. 7:15a - 9:30p Fri., Apr. 13 Sat., Apr. 14 . 8:00a - 5:00p Closed Sun., Apr. 15 Recreation Thu., Apr. 12 8:00a - 10:30p 8:00a - 12:00m Pri., Apr. 13 9:00a - 12:00m Sat., Apr. 14 .12:00n-10:30p Sun., Apr. 15 Stateroom Thu., Apr. 12 7:00a - 11:00g 7:00a - 7:00p Pri., Apr. 13 Sat., Apr. 14 9:00a - 5:00g Sun., Apr. 15 UPC Office Thu., Apr. 12 8:00a - 9:00p Fri., Apr. 13 8:00a - 5:00p 1:00p - 5:00p Sat., Apr. 14 Sun., Apr. 15 k-state union

Aquaculture office funded

Fisheries to benefit from research on improvement of aquatic organisms

Speaker addresses

student awareness

the rest."

important."

By Margaret Clarkin Collegian Reporter

An Aquaculture Development Office has been established at K-State in response to pressure by some private fish growers for more University support.

Aquaculture is the growing of aquatic organisms for commercial use, said Herald Claassen, associate professor of fisheries and wildlife biology.

"It's fish and even seaweed in some countries. All are in areas of aquaculture," he said.

Steve Anderson, aquaculture specialist and the only employee of the office, said the office is housed in Seaton Hall and administered through Extension agriculture engineering. The part-time position is funded by the Kansas Value Added Center, an organization that promotes development of Kansas agricultural products.

Anderson said during the 1960s ate ideas on how the University can and '70s, K-State led fish research in liispanie

By Amy Hadlock

Collegian Reporter

people and increase awareness about their ethnic backgrounds, said Ricardo Garcia of Eastern Montana titled "Promises and Possibilities:

Student Life on a Predominately

White Campus" Wednesday in the K-State Union. The forum was sponsored by the Hispanic Leadership Organization as part of Hispanic

Garcia spoke at an open forum

University.

Minority students should educate areas such as food requirements and warm-water production.

"The (research) emphasis changed to other areas while the private sector continued to grow," he said.

One of Anderson's responsibilities is to assemble a reserve of information and literature on the subject.

"I am setting up an information base, networking all across the nation with people I knew before and with people who have been sug-gested to me," he said.

Anderson has discovered a great deal of literature available because of research in other places.

"We need to have this (base) because we don't have anything to send to people who call in with inquiries about a disease, or if they want to get involved with starting a fish culture,' he said. "For now, we can borrow these information pamphlets and get those out to people who ask."

Another job of his office is to creon a one-on-one basis," he said. "Do what you can and don't worry about

Garcia said people can improve

"We need to improve the life ar-

"It is very important for people to ound us. The best way to do that is to target on things that we can change.

remember that we must continue to make sure that the American dream is alive and is kept alive," Garcia said. "One of the best ways to do this is to keep our dreams bigger than ourselves. The idea of committing oneself to something bigger is very

He said today's 'what's in it for me' generation should be the 'what's

About 3 percent of the student body are minority students. Garcia said minority students will some-

See AWARE, Page 10

in it for we' generation.

their lives by focusing on what they can do to change the environment ar-

■ See AQUA, Page 10

Kurt Anderson, senior in chemistry, guides the MedVac helicopter to a safe landing Wednesday in Memorial Stadium. As part of ROTC cadet training, the MedVac was responding to a simulated cadet injury, an exercise to familiarize cadets with MedVac operations.

ROTC prepares cadets

Helicopter lands in stadium for emergency simulation

By Margaret Clarkin Collegian Reporter

About 50 ROTC members, most third-year cadets, observed a Med-Vac crew perform a simulated emergency call Wednesday afternoon in Memorial Stadium.

The simulation, which involved an emergency medical helicopter landing, was part of a leadership lab conducted every Wednesday, Sgt.

1st Class Bruce Marvin said. "The simulation lets the cadets see another aspect of the army," he

Members of the MedVac unit showed the cadets a Military Assistance to Safety and Traffic mission, which is designed to assist civilians. The MedVac unit also supports hospitals and soldiers at Fort

'The helicopter provides a valuable service to the community," Marvin said. "They have done civilian accidents at no charge. They have transported patients from Riley and Geary counties.'

"This is good for recruiting. It's more exciting than DNC, marching around the field," said Brian Almquist, senior in biology, who applied for a MedVac unit.

"This gives the cadets the chance to experience real life situations," said Spc. Peter Medina, flight medic. "It's good practice instead of waiting for the real thing."

Before the simulation exercise began, the cadets were briefed on some of the information they would need to communicate to the helicopter pilot if they were ever required to make a MedVac call.

Information to be communicated would be the surrounding geography, such as if a pilot would need to make a restricted landing, and the condition of the patient. If a patient were bleeding, the helicopter

About 50 cadets, most of them in their third year, take part in the ROTC leadership lab that meets every Wednesday.

wouldn't have time to make a fly-

"These pilots have landed on two-lane highways," Marvin said.

"The weather would have to be really bad for them to have problems. They are pretty active and good at what they do.'

The simulation is to familiarize ■ See ROTC, Page 10

"The best way to educate people is Warm Up

Awareness Month.

Painted Desert

Picture your eyes in tones of Khaki and Frosted Turquoise, or give them a dusty look in Violet Haze. Blush cool with Rosedust or warm up to Soft Sienna. Come into Merle Norman for a free makeover lesson with Painted Desert Colors. They'll light up your summer look.

308 Poyntz COSMETIC STUDIOS 776-4535

PRSSA Officer Elections

April 16 - 6 p.m. Kedzie Library

HOP ON IN FOR A

WE TREAT YOU RIGHT

1015 N. 3rd Manhattan 776-4117

DAIRY QUEEN FROZEN ICE CREAM CAKE

WAYNE

WATSON

IN CONCERT

April 20th at Westview

Community Church 3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.

8 P.M.

JUNGLE TALK

·First there was no-color mascara to condition & tame lashes; now it's tinted for extra glamour

ACCESSORY SALE

2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd: 539-TAME

Now 25% to 50 % OFF

Includes jewelry, scarves, belts, handbags.

Sale Now in Progress

Open M. Thurs

ri. & Sat. 9:30-5:30

Sponsored By Manhattan Christian College Tickets: $7 advance, $8 at the door.

STYLE SHOP BEAUTY SUPPLY 7181/2 N. Manhattan - 539-5512

We carry a large selection of professional products for hair, skin & nails at affordable prices.

Paul Mitchell • Redken • Sebastian Nexxus • Matrix • Aveda

Mon.-Fri. 8-6, Sat. 8-5

Distinguished Lecturer Series

College of Business Administration Presents

Thomas E. Copeland

Partner in the McKinsey firm

Friday, April 13 10:30 a.m. Little Theatre

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIAL

Religions carry heavy sexual baggage recall, as a young lad, watching the Marlon Brando version of "Mutiny On The Bounty" with the kind of envy only a hormone-hyped teenager could possibly possess. Oh, what a life! To live out your days on an idyllic South Pacific isle with a colony of half-naked, warm and willing Polynesian women - why, if Fletcher Christian and the boys ever returned to England with such a story, the whole bloody British Navy would have mutinied. Or at least so I thought — until I read a 1971 article in Psychology Today Magazine by Donald S. Marshall titled "Too Much in Mangaia.'

There is no doubt the promiscuous sexual practices of the Polynesian women on the tiny island of Mangaia, the southernmost of the Cook Islands, are sufficient to entice every male within ten thousand miles to set sail today with nothing but an inner tube and a Captain Crunch compass. Mangaian women copulate 7 to 8 times in an evening.

Marshall states, "Mangaian parents encourage their daughter to have sexual experiences with several men. They want her to find the man who is the most congenial. ... " But, before any of my slavering male readers strike out for paradise, let me inform you of a rite of passage that Mangaian boys must undergo at the age of 13 or 14 prior to commencing their sexual adventures.

They must experience "superincision." one boy or a group of them takes place in a note that Judaism and Christianity carry some secluded spot, preferably on the seashore or beside a mountain stream. The skin on the top of the penis is cut down through the cartilaginous tissue for almost the full length of the organ, and the skin folded back and covered with an herbal powder. ... The skin is rearranged so that the scar tissue will leave the glans of the penis permanently exposed. The cut used to be made with a flake of a flintlike local stone. Most experts now prefer a straight razor. When the extremely painful operation is complete, the youth runs into the sea or the stream for relief, exultantly proclaiming 'Now I am really a man!'

I can just hear the air "whooshing" out of those inner tubes now. Promises of paradise are never what they're cracked up to be.

here has been considerable controversy in the Collegian lately concerning sexual practices of consenting adults - in particular, those of the same sex. An appropriate quotation by the late British actress Beatrice Tanner (1865-1940) comes to mind: "It doesn't matter what you do in the bedroom as long as you don't do it in the street and frighten the

Now there is an axiom to live by. As expected, most of the hue and cry concerning homosexual behavior has spewed from the frothing, sanctimonious religious loonies on campus and in the local commun-According to Marshall, "Superincision of ity. However, it is of no small consequence to pretty heavy sexual baggage that could only be termed "deviant" by the same standard Jews and Christians so quickly apply to the gay community.

Consider, for example, the highly regarded Jewish rite of circumcision — a pagan ritual the Jews conveniently Borrowed from the

The Bible says, however, in the seventh chapter of Genesis, God spoke to Abraham: "Live always in my presence and be perfect, so that I may set my covenant between myself and you and multiply your descendants."

God, then, for the "holy" purpose of binding the contract and increasing fertility, had Abraham cut off his foreskin at the ripe old age of ninety-nine. At God's behest, Abraham then circumcised his entire male household, thus setting forth God's holy edict that this fertility contract must be renewed for each Jewish male on the eighth day after

These sadistic mutilations were later prescribed by God to Joshua to be performed painful, pagan, Mangaian process, and, I suspect, quite similar to shaving with a carpenter's wood rasp.

It is common knowledge circumcision is And the American medical community has, until recently, supported this form of surgery as necessary for hygienic reasons. However, Edward Wallerstein, in his book "Circumcision: An American Health Fallacy," cites The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists as supporting the findings of the American Academy of Pediatrics ad hoc Task Force on Circumcision (1975), in which the task force stated that "there is no absolute medical indication for routine circumcision of the newborn."

Without a concrete health reason for validity (and God must have known that when he told old Abe to start slicing), the religious perspective of a "holy covenant" involving penile disfigurement falls into a pornographic category all its own. Wallerstein mentions legends at one time believed by Christians to include the ideas that the Virgin Mary carried the foreskin of Jesus on her person, that it had been entrusted to St. John or Mary Magdalene, that the Apostles inherited it, that it was stolen by Charles V in 1527, that the "divine skin" emitted an odor especially attractive to women, and that the aforementioned severed item once appeared simultaneously in twelve Abbeys across the contiwith a sharp piece of flint. Comparable to the nent of Europe (what this penile phantasm actually meant is anybody's guess).

logical question to ask in the midst of all this religious mish-mash concerning the circumcision of practiced by Jews and Gentiles to this day. Jesus is, why did a supposedly perfect being need corrective surgery? And if the Jewish rite of circumcision is the mark of a man's covenant with God, who was Jesus "covenanting" with, himself? And if the original meaning of the covenant was to increase a man's fertility and the number of his descendants, then it is clear a "perfect" God made a mistake by allowing Jesus — who supposedly did not produce offspring (nor was he intended to produce offspring) — to participate in a sacred "fertility" contract.

The "holy" Bible is full of considerably more aberrant, yet "holy" sexual behavior, which was acceptable to the same God then as the one so fervently worshipped now.

Christianity teaches that Mary, the mother of Jesus (God) was an unmarried virgin, and yet conceived and gave birth to the "son of God." So, let me pose one final question. Were Mary and God married?

Then, if Jesus was born to parents not married to each other, according to Webster and our moralistic, Judeo-Christian culture, that makes him a "bastard."

The long and bloody historical consequences of the faith he founded certainly make him one in more than one sense of the word.

Senate decision to fund UFM commendable

day night that they have minds of their own.

Instead of totally cutting student funding to UFM as recommended by Finance Committee, they gave it the full amount requested. In debate during the meeting, the importance of the committee's recommendation was stressed.

But that is all it was - a recommendation. To have taken the committee's word as law would have stifled debate and brought the senators' judgment into question.

Senate took into consideration the overwhelming support shown at the meeting by students and faculty who have benefitted from the UFM environment. As a liaison between the community and the University, UFM has fostered interest Student senators proved Tues- in many areas of learning not available at K-State.

> Without this funding, it is likely that UFM would have folded. Its budget recently suffered an $8,000 cut from the Department of Continuing Education. UFM has done a commendable job dealing with this cut, but to survive a $20,000 cut would have been nothing less than a miracle.

Senate has been criticized for following the lead of the administration before, and this move shows it is willing to break away from that stereotype. It takes mature leadership to listen to constituents' concerns.

Congratulations to Senate, the student body and Manhattan citizens who can continue to use UFM.

NOW JUST TAKE IT EASY. NOBODY'S OUT TO GET YOU. JUST RELAX, WE'RE ALL WHO'S THE LOONY FRIENDS HERE ... TOON? AHH. AT LAST THE RESPECT I CRAVE. THERE'S ONE ON EVERY BUILDING , AROUND HERE. UNIVERSAL PRESS SAND. CHAO THE BUFFALO NEW!

Labeling inappropriate

hese people!" I don't think there is another phrase that more clearly defines the attihas than the phrase "these people." This Key phrase was used repeatedly during recent al-location hearings in the Student Senate, but more specifically, only heard during Black Student Union allocations. Having been there most of the night, I know there was no other group that was referred to as "these people." Even though UFM was not recommended for funding, they were never referred to as "these

There is no senator, no student, no administrator and no faculty member who has the right to refer to students as "these people."

I don't care whether the budget request was determined to be two weeks, two months or two years late, Senate does not represent an almighty group of individuals who can look down and refer to students as "these people." The terminology was offensive. It is not hard to figure out it was some senators' way of trying to tell African-American students on this campus that they truly consider us

I believe that if some senators had their choice, they wouldn't have had a second thought about not funding our organization, even if the budget was turned in a month or two in advance. No, I am not calling every member of Senate a racist. Those who think I completely missed the point I am trying to make should probably stop reading at this point. Nor am I trying to use the color of my skin as an excuse of any kind. What I am demanding is that African-American students be treated with respect.

No one should be made to beg for money they put into the system, and having to spend more than five hours in Student Senate was exactly that. If this whole situation was this serious, why weren't we notified that we weren't going to be funded before or during the finance committee hearings? Maybe our Senate liaisons could have informed us - although we didn't even know who they were until after the finance committee hearings. Although that is not the main point, the point is that as human beings and part of this society, not to mention students here at K-State, we were referred to as "these people."

Senators cannot hold a position like the one they have and demonstrate the disrespectful attitude that was shown during allocations. They are in a position where they must treat every group with the utmost respect, regardless of whether the group is given $10,000 or $1. It is the students' money that Senate is allocating, not Senate's. There is one thing that always holds trueif you don't show respect you will never get respect. There is no doubt that all governing bodies should treat all people with respect. If there are some who cannot come to terms with this, and who find it necessary to prejudge and single out a group of people and refer to that group using negative connotations, or treat anyone in a negative manner, then maybe they should find a new position. The senators are there to represent all students not just a selected few. No one should be singled out and classified as "these people."

It is obvious both sides are constantly preparing for battle every time we walk into the Big Eight Room. Maybe both sides should be honest, for once, and face the fact that there is a serious problem that will only lead to greater conflict proving detrimental to the University as a whole. There needs to be a major attitude overhaul. This was made evident by the behavior and tension felt as soon as Black Student Union representatives arrived for allocations. All of the whispering, plotting and planning was completely unnecessary - it only causes people to be suspicious of what you are doing.

t is imperative that the multicultural workshop that was scheduled during Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week not be put off as it has been, and that it take place immediately, so that insights can be gained on the proper treatment of all individuals. Many times we have all heard of different organizations or departments "fighting" over one thing or another. Respect is definitely not shown to a lot of individuals. Often their cause is belittled in Senate and they are made to feel that their cause is unimportant.

I can understand procedure, that is comprehensible, but what is intolerable is the phrase "these people" or any other derogatory name or phrase used by any students and being condoned by their peers. As I stated earlier, this doesn't apply to every senator, and I am sure the people it does apply to know who they are. I'm not sure what their intentions were, and frankly I do not care. I do know African-American students will not tolerate this, regardless of whether they were directing their statement toward one member or all members of BSU.

For those who claim using the phrase "these people" is no big deal, or that whoever said it probably didn't mean it in the way that it sounded or that we have a chip on our shoulders - I first suggest you put yourself in the shoes of an African-American student and then open your eyes. Only then will you see what the phrase really means.

Aireka Key is a junior in finance/accounting and president of Black Student Union.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

	News Staff
EDITOR	Erwin Seb
MANACING EDITOR	Paula Selby
ASSISTANT MANACING EDITOR	Catherine Douc
NEWS EDITOR	Craig Hamrid
EDITORIAL PACE EDITOR	Eric Henry
	Brad Cam
	Chris Hay
	Ellen Dayton, Susan L'Ecuye
CAMPUS EDITORS	Robert Shor
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Julie Andsage
ARTE AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Jim Rour
	Chris Koge
COPY CHIEF
COPY EDITORS	Vendy Nakoneczny, Jane Inompson, Angela war
STAFF KEPOKIERS	Lori Antrim, Paul Branson, Kirk Caraway
	Steve Franzen, Cosima Hadidi, Lori Mikesel
	Tomari Quinn, Melissa Simpso Bryan Ackle
SCIENCE REPORTER	Bryan Ackie
STAFF PHOTOGRAPHERS	Margaret Clarkin, Oliver Kaubisch, Brian W. Kratze
	Mark Leffingwell, David Mayes, Mike Venso, Steve Wolgas
SPORTS REPORTERS	Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan Wicke
COLUMNISTS
- Company	Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Mussman, Brad Seabourn
REVIEWERS	Mark Butler, Rod Gillespie
The second second	Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggin
STRIP CARTOONISTS	Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggin Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hayde
FOITORIAL CARTOONIST	Kichard Broadloo
EDITORIAL BOARD	Julie Andsager, Ellen Dayton, Catherine Doud
	Craig Hamrick, Eric Henry, Chris Koger
	Susan L'Ecuyer, John Mussman, Jim Rouri
	Erwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svobod
,	Kirk Carawa
	Acceptation Court
	dvertising Staff
A PRIEDTICING MANAGED	Sara Shutle
A COUCTANT MANACER	Den Golder
CAMPLE /TEADQUEET MANACED	Ronnie Met
CAMPUS/ TEARSHEET MANAGER	Johan Koe
A DIEDTICING DEDDECENTATIVES /ACCOUNT F)	CECUTIVES Debbie Dinges, Renee Harold
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNTS D	Paul Heier, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggins
	Mauria Stonestreet, Amy Zich
OD A PHILIC A DITIOTO	Laura Boone, Paul Flemin
SKAPHC AKIISIS	Oliver Kaubisch, Gary Lyti
HOIOGRAPHERS	Dana Franklin, Tammy Ginz
ADVEKTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS	Doug Griffith, Tammi Landi
	Long Grandi, ramini tamin
Studen	t Publications Staff
DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER	Ron Johnson
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR	Gloria Freelan
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR	Linda Puntne
JUSINESS MANAGER	Ann Foste
NUICE MANACER	lackie Harmo
A ACCIDITED A DIVERTISING MANAGER	Linda Weather?
NEETCE ASSISTANT	Pat Hudgin
TAATRICTDATTUE ACCICTANT	Connie Pulkerso
TOWE PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	David Svobod
DVERTISING PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Wanda Hayni
ARRIERS	John Fulkerson, Keith Corder, Kevin Kickhaefer
	James Seymour, Scott Sower
The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student	newscaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publication
nc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Colle	gian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and Mor an, Kan. 66506-7167.	e, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. play advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adver
ising questions should be directed to (913) 532-655	5
Kansas State	Collegian Subscription Rates
New Computer (Call or Spring)	$25 wo Semesters (Fall and Spring)	***************************************
ummer Session	$10
One Year (Fall Spring and Summer)	$50

To charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555

To charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555

and address changes to Student Publications, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhartan, Kan. 66506.

By Heather Anderson Collegian Reporter

Students who are normally ineligible for financial aid are able to get up to $2,300 in Pell Grants if they file for financial aid as independent students, said Larry Viterna, director of student financial

Although this procedure is perfectly legal, the problem lies with some students whose parents make $50,000 or more a year who are receiving larger Pell Grants than students whose parents earn much less, Viterna said.

"The original intent of financial aid was to help provide access and choice to college students," Vit-erna said, "with one of the principles being that to the greatest extent possible, the student and fam-ily should pay for the education. "Through what is going on with the Pell Grant, I see us eroding that principle," he said,

Principles aren't the only thing eroding in the federally-funded Pell Grant program, Viterna said in the long run, the program will run out of money if the problem

The Pell Grant program awarded over $7 million to K-State students for the 1989-90 school year.

In order to be considered independent, a student needs to be 24 years old by Jan. 1, 1990, married before signing the financial aid application, a graduate student, a veteran of the U.S. Armed Forces, an orphan or ward of the court, have a legal dependent or have 34,000 of financial resources and not have been claimed as an exemption on anyone's income tax return for two defined years.

The last qualification is the one that can be changed and is the most complicated to define, Vit-

LARGE PIZZA ONLY $550

Dine In or Carry Out

"BEST DAMN PIZZA"

with One Topping

Parents can file an amendment to their income tax returns to take the student off as an exemption for the two years in question quite easily, he said.

"The IRS doesn't mind when you amend a tax return, because ou then owe them back taxes, which could cost as much as $1,400 to $1,500 for two years,"

"But in return, the parent can-get a $2,300 Pell Grant, so the investment is worth it," he said. In order to meet the $4,000 of resources requirement, the stu-dent must have documentation to prove they made that much during the year in question through tax-able income, previous financial-aid or scholarships or gifts from relatives other than the parents.

Viterna said this could be proved as easily as having a grandparent sign an affidavit saying they gave the student a large

"A student might be indepen-dent by law, but if he or she was living with the parents and going to high school, the student is in no way independent. Independence is supposed to show self-sufficiency," Viterna said. Student Body President Todd Johnson said the practice isn't fair to K-State students who truly need the aid.

"There should be a more realisway to determine selfsufficiency," Johnson said.

"It seems that the more you know about the financial aid process, the more money you are able to spend to find out, the more you are able to manipulate the system and get more financial aid, and that's simply not fair," he said.

"It's really hurting those stu
See PELL, Page 10

"premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price"

523 South 17th

Room 537-1484

Peace process waits for Israelis

Implementation of Palestinian proposal key to ending Middle East conflict

By Ellen Dayton Campus Editor

The key to peace in the Middle East lies in the peace initiative proposed by the Palestine Liberation Organization in November 1988.

'We would like to see the implementation of the consensus of the United Nations that calls for a just, fair and balanced solution to the conflict," said Riyad Mansour, deputy ambassador of Palestine to the United Nations, in an interview Wednesday.

Mansour said the Palestinian people should be allowed to exercise their national rights as recognized by the United Nations. These rights include the right of refugees to return to their homes and property in accor-dance with U.N. resolutions, the right to exercise self-determination and the right of a people to have their own independent state. "For these rights to be actualized, Israel has to withdraw from all of the areas they occupied in 1967," he tions leading to the withdrawal of Israeli troops from the occupied territories of the West Bank and Gaza, and the establishment of an independent Palestine supervised by the United Nations with the approval of the five permanent members of the U.N. Security Council — France, Great Britain, the People's Republic of China, the Soviet Union and the United States.

The United States, as one of Israel's closest allies, could help implement the peace plan, Mansour

"Israel cannot survive for a long period of time without the military, financial, economic, diplomatic and political support that it enjoys from the U.S. government," he said.

Since it opened dialogue with the PLO 16 months ago, the U.S. government has failed to move quickly on substantive issues such as Palestinian self-determination and Israeli withdrawal, Mansour said.

A negotiations proposal submitted earlier this year by Secretary of State nians to convey their position on negotiations through the Egyptian government. The United States, Egypt and Israel would then participate in negotiations.

The Baker plan was not submitted to us, it was submitted to the Egyptians and to the Israelis," he said. "The U.S. government is behaving now similarly to the way that they behaved before the decision to have a dialogue with us - not to discuss these issues directly with us, but to try to discuss these issues through third parties. We don't believe that this development is a positive one, nor a helpful one."

The Palestinian peace plan has been endorsed by 151 countries at the United Nations. It has not been recognized by the United States or Israel. Countries that voted in favor of

Special Sale Books

PLUS

10% off ALL Childrens

Books In Stock

*GREAT SELECTION!

*GREAT SALE PRICES!

FREE HELIUM BALLOONS

April 1-14

428-430 N. 6th

"How could they say that about Canada? How could they say that about England, West Germany, Japan, ■ See PEACE, Page 10

the plan include Canada, Japan, New Zealand, Australia and several West-is the only peaceful mechanism, the only peaceful way ... it is nonsense for an Israeli leader to say that those who are advocating a international peace conference harbor hostile intentions against Israel," Mansour

"If all of them are saying that this ern European countries.

—THURS—

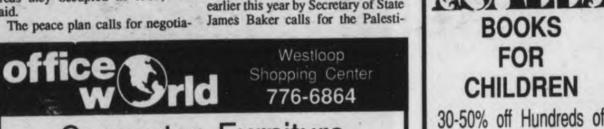

Delta Upsilon Women of K-State 9 p.m.

> -Contestants-Tiffini Lake Shannon O'Hara Cristin Warlop Renee Rucker Lisa Goheen Melissa Liliedahl

Proceeds Go To The Villages

Sponsored by Coors Lite & V-100.3

`310

Computer Furniture Machine Stands

10-20% OFF

Sale thru April 14

Open 7 days a week Restaurant

Good Friday

Seafood Buffet 4:30-9:30 p.m.

Easter Sunday

Buffet

11 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

1304 Westloop

Free delivery 11 a.m.-10 p.m.

Look No Further...

1 bedroom, furnished, new carpet 526 N. 14th Villa 11

2 bedroom, stove, frig & dishwasher, furnished 5375

Gold Key

For more information call Moore Management

776-1111

White Water Rafting $79

An information meeting will be held on April those interested in White Water Rafting on the New River in West Virginia. Sign-up begins April 18 at 8:00 a.m. in the UPC Office on the third floor of the K-State Union. First day of sign-up is limited to

K-State Students only- so bring KSU I.D.

17 at 7:00 p.m. in Union Room 207 for

-90 989

CANNES FILM FESTIVAL 1987 JURY PRIZE "The best African film ever made."

"RAVISHINGLY BEAUTIFUL

Wk-state union

Set in Mali before the Moroccan invasion in the 16th century, "Brightness" is directed by Souleymane Cisse, widely held as one of Africa's greatest filmmakers. Lushly photographed, this visually poetic film is an ancient tale of a father-son rivalry and of the timeless myths of a young man's initiation into adult wisdom. (In Bambara with English subtitles) Will be showing today at 3:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre and 7 p.m. in Forum Hall. Cost is $1.75 with KSU I.D.

Paul Newman and Lolita Davidovich star in this in sightful dramatization of the early 1940's relationship between Earl Long, Governor of the fine state of Louisiana, and Blaze Starr, strip tease artist of the renowned French Quarter. Rated R. Will be showing Friday and Saturday at 7 and 9:30 p.m. and Sunday at 7 p.m. in Forum Hall. Cost is $1.75

Entries for the 15th Annual Union Program Council Photography Contest will be accepted until April 13 The contest is open only to KSU students, faculty and staff. First and Second Places will be awarded in each division and there will be Honorable Mentions in each division at the discretion of the judges. There will also be an award for Best In Show, which will be selected from the First Place winners. Cash awards are as follows: First Place-$10, Second Place-$5, Best in Show-$30. The six divisions are: Buildings and Structures" " Landscapes," " A Captured Feeling," " Animals," "People" and " Still Life." All entries will be displayed in the K-State Union Gallery April 30-May 11. Cost per entry is $2. Call the UPC Office at 532-6571 or visit the office on the third floor of the K-State Union for more information or rules. We state union

THE REAL PROPERTY.

Sign up for Canoeing on the Buffalo River in Arkansas costs $47 in the UPC Office on the third floor of the K-State Union. The trip is April 28-29 and costs $47. LESS THAN 5 SPOTS LEFT!

K-state union

***

IPSO FACTO "BEST UNSIGNED BAND IN THE WORLD"

Ipso Facto, a five-member World Beat/Reggae band, will be appearing at the K-State Ballroom on April 20 at 8:00 p.m. Since the band's philosophy is "rock your body and trigger your mind," their performance will encourage dancing, as well as listening . Ipso Facto has toured with UB40, Ziggy Marley and the Clash as well as performing for the cast party for Tom Cruise's movie "Cocktail". Tickets may be purchased in advance (8 a.m.- 4 p.m.) in the UPC Office on the third floor of the K-State Union or at the door. Cost is $3 per person. Co-sponsored by: Multicultural Student

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

Royals edge Os to even series

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Mark Davis, the National League Cy Young winner last season, got his first American League save Wednesday night, pitching a perfect ninth inning that preserved the Kansas City Royals' 2-1 victory over the Balti-

Davis, signed to a four-year, $13 million contract as a free agent, made his second appearance for the Royals. He struck out the only batter he faced in Kansas City's opening day loss to Baltimore.

Davis saved 42 games for San Diego last year. This time, Davis saved the victory for Mark Gubicza as a crowd of 18,892 sat in temperatures that dropped into the 30s.

Gubicza, whose sore right shoulder worried the Royals all winter, shut down the Orioles on one run and three hits through five innings. Three relievers followed before Davis took over to start the ninth.

Jeff Ballard, the top winner among AL left-handers last year, gave up six hits in 4 2-3 innings and was the loser. Gerald Perry and Kevin Seitzer singled home runs in the fifth for Kansas City.

The Orioles took a 1-0 lead in the first inning after Steve Finley and Cal Ripken drew one-out walks. After Mickey Tettleton struck out, Randy Milligan singled into right to score Finley. Ripken went to third, but Sam Horn, who hit two three-run homers Monday, flied out.

Tartabull injured. out indefinitely

KANSAS CITY, Mo. -Kansas City right fielder Danny Tartabull was carried off the field prior to Wednesday night's game against Balti-more after hurting his leg. Tartabull said he was waiting for a fly ball to come down during batting practice when he felt a sharp pain in his right

"I took one step and went to the ground," he said. "It felt like somebody hit me in the back of the leg with a ball. ... It felt like a muscle pull. I heard a pop."

Tartabull was scratched from Wednesday night's lineup, but it was not immediately known how long he would be out.

placement in the outfield when Danny Tartabull hurt his leg during batting practice, doubled with one out in the fifth and went to third on an infield out. Bob Boone walked, and Perry and Seitzer hit RBI singles.

Tartabull was carried off the field before the game after hurting his leg. He said he was waiting for a fly ball to come down during batting practice when he felt a sharp pain in his right calf. It was not immediately known Willie Wilson, a last-minute re- how long he would be out.

Trevino after Jack at Seniors tourney

By The Associated Press

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. —Lee Trevino said his task is simple to identify. But not easy to accomplish. Not at all.

His mission, he said, is to "stay close to Jack Nicklaus.'

"If you're close to Jack, you're close to winning," Trevino said Wednesday after a final practice round for the 51st PGA Seniors Championship.

But knowing what has to be done and doing it is something else, Trevino said. "He's the hardest man to beat I've ever seen. And he is the man to beat. No question about that," Trevino said. "Any time Jack Nicklaus shows up, any tournament Jack Nicklaus plays in, he's the man to beat."

Trevino was the man to beat earlier this season, winning three of four starts on the Seniors Tour before Nicklaus made his first start among the over-50 set.

Nicklaus, who made a run at a seventh Masters title before fading on the final nine holes last week, will be making his second Seniors appearance this week. It will be a rare, third consecutive week of competition for the man who has played a restricted schedule for more than a decade.

"I haven't done this in years and years and years," said Nicklaus, who won a Seniors title immediately before the Masters. "I'm tired. I played like I was tired today.

"But remember when we used to have the Tournament of Champions right after Augusta? I won there several times after winning at Augusta."

K-State's Helen Schildknecht returns a volley in her win over Missouri's Jenny Clark at No. 2 singles Wednesday afternoon at the L.P. Washburn tennis courts. K-State swept the outmanned Tigers 9-0, winning in straight sets at every singles and doubles spot.

Netters sweep Tigers,

By The Collegian Staff

Sometimes it's difficult to prepare for a team that comes from a program that is not very well established. Steve Bietau echoed those sentiments Tuesday when talking about K-State's tennis match with Missouri Wednesday.

Missouri's women's tennis program does not get much support from its athletic department, and it has no scholarship athletes. So the result is that it can hardly compete in the Big Eight Conference.

But that didn't mean Bietau wasn't a bit wary of how his team would respond against the Tigers Wednesday at the L.P. Washburn tennis courts.

Afterward, he could breathe a sigh of relief. His squad defeated Missouri decisively, 9-0, which is exactly what Bietau said should

The Tiger women had trouble all day, and were only able to come away with 18 match points to K-

K-State swept through every singles and doubles spot in straight sets, while No. 3 singles player Sara Hancock and No. 4 Valerie Rive shut out their opponents, Vicki Hatfield and Lori McArthur, as did Thresa Burcham and Suzanne Sim at No. 3 doubles against Courtney Carithers and Jeanne Skipper.

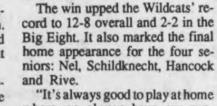

They did a good job of taking care of business," Bietau said of the K-State women. "Generally, we were ready to play, and we maintained our level of concentration and never really let them get into their game.

"It was the kind of match where you may have more to lose than win, but they concentrated really

No. 1 singles player Marijke Nel was really the only Wildcat tested, downing Amy Snook 6-2, 6-4.

"Marijke played pretty well," said Bietau, who won his 50th career dual as a K-State coach. "Snook is a good competitor, and she makes you win the point, but Marijke is the better player."

In the other singles matches, Helen Schildknecht only gave up one match point at No. 2 singles, winning 6-0 and 6-1 against Jenny at No. 6.

where we always have our support," Hancock said. "I'd like to play Oklahoma State here."

Clark, while Burcham duplicated

the feat against Skipper at No. 5, and Sim defeated Carithers 6-1, 6-1

That, however, won't happen this year, as the K-State netters travel to Stillwater this weekend to face the Big Eight favored Cowgirls Sunday. From there they venture into Norman to play Oklahoma Monday.

> RESULTS SINGLES

No. 1 Marijke Nel (KSU) def. Amy Snook 6-2, 6-4; No. 2 Helen Schildknecht (KSU) def. Jenny Clark 6-0, 6-1; No. 3 Sara Hancock (KSU) def. Vicki Hatfield 6-0, 6-0; No. 4 Valerie Rive (KSU) def. Lori McArthur 6-0, 6-0; No. 5 Thresa Burcham (KSU) def. Jeanne Skipper 6-1, 6-0; No. 6 Suzanne Sim (KSU) def. Courtney Carithers 6-1, 6-1.

DOUBLES

No. 1 Schildknecht/Hancock (KSU) def. Clark/Hatfield 6-1, 6-0; No. 2 Nel/Rive (KSU) def. Snook/McArthur 6-2, 6-2; No. 3 Burcham/ Sim (KSU) def. Carithers/Skipper 6-0, 6-0.

over Missouri Wednesday, defeating Vicki Hatfield at No. 3 singles. looks like genius with off-season deals Royals' Schuerholz

Wildcat netter Sara Hancock picked up one of nine K-State victories

Scott

Chalk Talk

Charlie Leibrandt and Rick Luecken for Gerald Perry. It makes you want to roll out the red carpet for Kansas City Royals' general manager John Schuerholz, doesn't it?

Three days of seemingly endless televised baseball has already shown what goes on every year between the final out of the World Series and the first pitch of opening day - trades, trades and more trades. Throw in free agent acquisitions, and you'll find the first pack of Topps baseball cards you buy each season filled with

It never fails. One year, you hope Storm Davis tears his rotator cuff throwing a fast ball to George Brett. The next year, you hope he wins a Cy Young Award. With all the deals come the analyses that follow. Baseball executives analyze them. Players analyze them. Fans analyze them. Many people complain. Many others rejoice. To illustrate this, take the deal mentioned at the beginning of this column. The Royals got Perry, a bona fide hitter who was sidelined by shoulder problems last year. In exchange, the Atlanta Braves got two pitchers who were moved out of Kansas City because of an over- League West cellar. crowded bullpen.

I'm sure the Braves' front office team has its reasons for making such a deal, but I'd like to hear them. Atlanta received Leibrandt, a lefthander who went 5-11 with a 5.14 ERA last season. Luccken, a young and unproven hurler, worked just 23% innings in 1989.

If the Braves would have had a staff that was better suited for throwing batting practice last season, I'd understand. But they didn't. In fact, if there was a reason to go to Fulton County Stadium in 1989, it was see Atlanta's talented young pitching. With a staff led by all-star John Smoltz and lefty Derek Liliquist, several publications have picked the Braves to crawl out of the National I'll leave the second guessing to Atlanta owner Ted Turner's crew. I'm more concerned with the Royals' end of the bargain. Perry, a designated hitter/first baseman, was brought in to trade duties with Brett. In Monday's opener, Perry collected a pair of hits in five trips to the plate. Leibrandt, who tore a rotator cuff while lifting weights in the offseason, will be lucky to make two trips to the mound this season.

Kansas City's top free-agent acquisition was National League Cy Young winner Mark Davis. The Royals had a solid stopper in Jeff Montgomery (18 saves in 1989), but Davis was just too good to pass up. The tall righthander signed a contract worth $3.25 million a year, which has elevated fans' expectations.

After seeing Davis' first curve ball during his inaugural appearance Monday, I'd bet his placement on Kansas City's payroll will be hard to argue against.

Schuerholz cornered the market on Davis pitchers by stealing Storm Davis away from the world champion Oakland Athletics. Davis won 19 games on a loaded pitching staff last season, but had a 4.36 ERA. Oakland's high-powered offense supported him better than any other hurler, which highlights KC's biggest concern. The verdict is still out, and Davis will get a chance to answer his critics tonight as the scheduled starter against the Baltimore Orioles.

A lot of Royals fans were hoping that former Cleveland outfielder Joe Carter, a Leawood native, would end up back home after trade talk surfaced. Carter ended up in a muchimproved San Diego Padres' lineup in a deal for catcher Sandy Alomar, Jr., but KC can hardly claim it was left out in the cold. With all-star Bo Jackson, Danny Tartabull and Jim Eisenreich standing in Royals Stadium's spacious outfield, things might have been awfully crowded.

California improved its quality by signing Mark Langston away from Montreal.

Oakland's roster remained the most unchanged of the top three American League West contenders, but filled the hole left by Davis with Chicago Cubs' hurler Scott

SPORTS BRIEFLY

Atlanta prepster may sign

The Topeka Capital-Journal reported in today's edition that Atlanta prep standout Hamilton Strickland might sign a letter of intent with the Wildcats as early as today.

According to the Capital-Journal, Strickland's coach at Mays.

High School, John Oatis, said the 6-foot-8 200-pounder was set on going to K-State until Lon Kruger resigned April 1.

"It was a done deal until the coaching change," Oatis said.

Oatis also said Strickland was in Manhattan Wednesday night to meet new coach Dana Altman and his staff.

Kansas signs Woodberry

LAWRENCE — Kansas plucked an in-state basketball star Wednesday, signing Steve Woodberry of Wichita South to a letter of intent. Woodberry, 6-foot-4, helped Wichita South to state champion-ships in 1988 and 1989 and a second-place finish this year. Woodberry averaged 20.5 points a game and 10 rebounds while leading South in assists as the team finished 22-2, Woodberry is the fourth player to sign at Kansas. Signing earlier were Patrick Richey of Kansas City, Mo., Richard Scott of Little Rock and Chris Lindley of Kansas City, Mo. Lindley lost a foot in a train accident and will not play.

Baseball coach suspends

By The Associated Press

ONEONTA, N.Y. - Their coach says they're out, but players on Oneonta State's baseball team are disputing the call.

Coach Don Axtell gave a seasonlong suspension to all but four of his 26 players last Friday for "a single, nonviolent alcohol-related incident" during the team's annual spring trip down South.

School officials said the 22 games canceled because of the suspensions would be listed as forfeits on Oneonta State records.

But players on the Division III team said Wednesday the incident was blown out of proportion.

"It's been pretty embarrassing. We've seen stories in the newspaper but we can't get our own story out," said Chris Zaccaro, a sophomore pitcher and first baseman from Wantagh, N.Y.

According to Zaccaro and other players, Axtell caught a player with an unopened 12-pack of beer at a hotel in Lexington, Va., a violation of the team's training rules.

drinking," Zaccaro said. Axtell believed there were more players involved and confronted his

"He didn't catch anyone actually team at a meeting back in Oneonta. I don't think anybody belleved the whole season would end.

Mike DeRisi, team member

Axtell left the meeting and gave team co-captain Glen Katz 10 minutes to talk it over with the team.

Katz said the players admitted as a team to breaking training rules, but not necessarily to drinking. "We decided if this guy is going to get in trouble, then we were all going to get in trouble," Katz said. Axtell agreed. He told the team the rest of the spring season was off. "It's been instilled in us to always work as a team," Katz said "We were just standing behind our team."

"I figured if everyone stuck together, he wouldn't kick the whole team off, but he did," said Rich Younger, a freshman pitcher from Haverstraw, N.Y. "(Axtell) said he couldn't have players go against his way," Younger said. "I guess whatever he says, he means."

Oneonta players said the four who were not suspended were not involved in the incident.

"I don't think anybody believed the whole season would end," said co-captain Mike DeRisi, a junior catcher from Huntington, N.Y.

Oneonta State president Alan Donovan said Wednesday he had talked to Axtell on Monday about the suspension and supports the coach's down. It's killing me.'

"He has the right to take disciplinary action for his team," Donovan

Axtell has not been available for comment since the suspensions last

Katz said he called his coach on the weekend and Axtell said the team lied to him and he couldn't deal with bunch of liars. "I respect the guy and everything, I just don't respect what happened here," Katz said. Katz said it's bad enough that he won't be able to play ball in his senior year. Now he must answer questions from the media and others wanting to know what he and his teammates did wrong. "It makes us look like we're drunks," Katz said. "We've had enough with the season canceled, and this is like kicking us when we're

Cut

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 set any minimal standards for enrollment at the University, a move that would cut enrollment and improve the efficiency of instructors in classrooms, at the same time it refuses to fund increased enrollment.

Koelliker said he has heard some faculty members discuss the possibility of forming a union to express their discontent. Other members of the faculty will leave, he said. He knows of two close associates that are considering leaving because of the budget problems.

"(It seems like) an unfair change in rules, too late in the game," said Robert Grindell, head of the English department.

Grindell said the department is already running composition classes at near capacity.

Although he said discussion is premature, increasing enrollment and the budget approved by the the conference committee may mean the department would have to turn students

"We may have to ask people to wait and take the composition courses at a later time," he said.

Measles

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 Mary Hospital, said other symptoms of the measles are blue spots in the mouth, called koplick spots, and a harsh, brassy cough. She said those people who have contracted the disease should stay away from other people and rest.

Hinkin discouraged those who have contracted the disease from taking aspirin because of the risk of getting Reye's Syndrome. Non-aspirin pain relievers, however, are safe to

Manhattan public school officials took steps during spring break to immunize many students, she said. Many students were revaccinated because of an outbreak last year.

Moeller said Lafene will provide vaccinations for a charge of $2, during both regular and after hours.

He said students who seek vaccination after hours will not have to pay the after-hours fee.

Separate forms for men and women must be completed, and a 20-minute waiting period is required after the vaccination, Moeller said.

Budget CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

sions policy, but they are not willing to fund those numbers," Coffman said. "It's like being stuck between a rock and hard place. I don't know how to do business in that environment."

Coffman is not optimistic that the Conference Committee will increase the amount allocated for the enrollment adjustment. He did say the University will make an "all-out effort to extensively educate as many people in the remaining days in the Legislature about the impact this will have."

Wefald said one way of getting information to the Legislature is through parents and alumni who will let it know K-State deserves funding.

"We want to be treated fairly," he

Coffee and a Collegian... A Good Habit.

COUPONS TO CLIP · COUPONS TO CLIP

REE MEDIUM SOFT DRINK with the purchase of any sub

12th & Moro-Aggieville

With This Coupon Only. Not Valid with Delivery. Expires 4-26-90 Void with other offers

1101 Moro 537-7533 Buy one Gyro sandwich get the 2nd at 1/2 price

Offer good thru 4-18-90 Gyro Sandwich with french fries or soup & soft drink $3.99

Offer good thru 4-18-90

моторното

Photo Processing At Its Best 40% off Processing

(35 mm, 110, 126, Disc, C-41) Expires April 27, 1990

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-5p.m. Not valid with any other promotion

1134 Garden Way Across from Westloop

C-10 776-9030

-Coupon-Battery Replacement SALE

> plus tax $4.50 value

regulator time co

537-0886

This coupon good for

Beef w/Mushroom

Not valid with any other special Not good on deliveries

Expires 4-18-90

MOTOPHOTO

Photo Processing At Its Best Reprint Special 29¢ each

(35 mm, 110, 126, Disc, C-41) Expires April 27, 1990

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-5p.m. Not valid with any other promotion

1134 Garden Way Across from Westloop

C-10 776-9030

od more where On Campus Interviews

BUSINESS RELATED DEGREES

NW TRANSPORT, the top rated quality servie LTL Freight Carrier in the U.S., with 30 consecutive years of profitability and revenues of over 200 million, is seeking graduates with business related degrees.

Initial compensation package is 22K and rises to 27K in 12 months. Excellent fringe benefits.

Initial training in Denver with relocation after six months. Positions available in AZ, CA, WA, IL, OH, IN, WI, MO, TX, OR. UT and NV.

To learn more about our Career Opportunities, please send a resume or attend our open invitation Information Session at:

> K-State Union Room 213 6:00 p.m., April 26th

© 1990 United Feeture Syndicate. Inc. | Sacks.

ST. ISIDORE'S CHURCH

711 Denison

HOLY THURSDAY- 8 p.m. Mass of the Lord's Supper and Washing of Hands

GOOD FRIDAY-

Noon LITURGY OF THE WORD (Passion of our Lord and Intercessory Prayers.) VENERATION OF THE CROSS and COMMUNION SERVICE

7 p.m. STATIONS OF THE CROSS

HOLY SATURDAY- 9 p.m. Easter Vigil Service (There is no 5 p.m. Mass on Holy Saturday)

The EASTER VIGIL is the most important liturgical event of the entire year. In 1951 Pope Pius XII restored this liturgy to its night hour. It is to be celebrated sometime after dark on Holy Saturday and before daylight on Easter Sunday. It is the time when new members are received into the Church through the sacraments of Baptism and/or Confirmation and Eucharist. If you have not yet experienced this peak experience of the EASTER TRIDUUM you are especially encouraged to share in this year's Vigil celebration that sums up and proclaims the heart of our

EASTER SUNDAY MORNING

9:30 and 11 a.m. Masses No 5 p.m. Mass on Easter Sunday

Sincere "Thank You"

To Everyone For Making Our Fifth

Anniversary A Big Success!!

Professional Magician Rex Getz mystified and delighted our nearly 2,000 customers!

We enjoyed meeting and serving many, many new customers during the three fun-filled days!

Winners of FREE Frozen Yogurt:

Donna Hecke, Manhattan Shannon Malthu, Manhattan Amy Oard, Manhattan Sally Smith, Manhattan C. G. Hubbard, Manhattan Roger Scofield, Manhattan Dot Deihl, Manhattan Patrick Morrison, Lawrence Lincoln Deihl, Manhattan Rick Bloom, Manhattan Teri Carpenter, Manhattan Sherry Hubbard, Junction City Angie Boeve, Lenexa Ben Nyberg, Manhattan Tina Truscott, Manhattan Megan Majerus, Junction City Pat Uhlig, Herington Laura Keefer, Manhattan Janette Roberts, Manhattan Vicky Smith, Manhattan

Jerry Hutchinson, Manhattan Tracy Peterson, Manhattan Peggy Enright, Manhattan Shie-Shien Yang, Manhattan Julia Gustafson, Manhattan Erin White, Manhattan Maria Rainford, Manhattan Kim Billones, Manhattan Wayne Rainford, Menhattan Brad Briggs, Emporia Amy Boxer, Manhattan Ann Brenner, Manhattan Bob Pulford, Manhattan Andrea Lonker, Manhattan Mary Davisson, Manhattan Laura Sternberg, Manhattan Annette Springer, Riley Julie Padberg, Manhattan Raelyn Clark, Manhattan Paul Johnson, Manhattan

Julie Martin, Manhattan Dot Deihl, Manhattan Renee Schur, Manhattan Kristi Hankley, Manhattan Toby Price, Junction City Don Rose, Manhattan Annette Green, Manhattan Heidi Oehme, Manhattan Kenyon Holmes, Lawrence Elaine Liebe, Manhattan Winnie Hazen, Manhattan Jean D. Bolek, Manhattan Susan Siebold, Clay Center Lucy Williams, Manhattan Javier Villalobos, Manhattan Johnny K., Manhattan Darren DeFrain, Manhattan Sue Zschoche, Manhattan Gayle Kuckelman, Manhattan Mrs. Jacque Meisner, Manhattan

Even Though The Celebration Is Over, The Magic Words

Are Still "I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!"

OPEN: 11 A.M. to 11 P.M. Daily; Noon to 11 P.M. Sundays

> PHONE: 537-1616

I Can't Believe It's GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

Comfortable Seating for 42 People

> Nautilus Towers 11th and Moro Manhattan, KS.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon

FRIDAY for Monday's paper. Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad. tems found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Announcements

- A BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics.
- ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.
- COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193.
- FALL SCHEDULE change: ENGL/LING 796 Theories of
- Grammar meets Wednesday, not Monday. Linguistics, ENGL/ML/LING 603 Topics: Linquistic Science Fiction. OUT OF summer sorts? ENGL/ML 600 Principles of
- SUMMER WORK-Make $5,000. Travel, build resume. gain experience. Call 537-8813.

2 Apartments—Furnished

- BEST DEAL for summer lodging! Two-bedroom, fully furnished, and one block away from campus. Regularly $227/ month for one person. Now being offered for $145/ monthly each. 776-2157.
- FOR AUGUST- Next to KSU. Deluxe two-bedr apartment for three people. $420 plus utilities. Also two-bedroom basement apartment at 312 N. 15th. Water, trash, heat paid. Now until July. $250. For August, $275. 539-2482 after 4p.m.
- FREE COUNTRY living for responsible student in exchange for occasional assistance to wheelchairexchange for occasional assistant bound landlady. 913-494-8201.
- JUNE- FURNISHED one- and two-bedroom apartments. $300, $350, utilities paid. 776-2253.
- LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. 539-1465.
- LEASING FOR fall. Two-bedroom apartments com-pletely furnished. Central air and heat, carpeted and draped. Three blocks south of K-State Union and Aggieville. Across from City Park. Assigned parking. 1417 Leavenworth. 537-0612 or 539-2567.
- NEXT TO campus— Apartment complex, 1832 Ctaffin Road across Goodnow and Marlatt. One bedroom, furnished, central air, off-street parking, quiet
- NICE, TWO-BEDROOM apartment available in May for lease or rent. Perfect location. Call 776-0941.
- ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO in complex, 1219 Claffin. Next to campus. $275 plus electric plus deposit. August, June lease. No pets. 537-1180.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Spacious two bedroom, furnished. Close to campus. $360. Call 537-8816. TWO-BEDROOM WALKOUT basement. Utilities paid. Deposit. $400. 776-3489. 324 N. Delaware.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT for sublease. Close to campus, everything included. Rent negotiable. Call 539-0926.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

- AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom, ground floor duplex Laundry room, nice yard. 539-3672 evenings. LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coin-operated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required. $280. 539-1465.
- ONE-BEDROOM, clean, carpeted, central air, no pets, 5th and Osage. $265 plus utilities, water, trash.
- PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two-bedroom. Close to campus. 776-8381.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

- AVAILABLE JUNE or August. 10 or 12 month leases Convenient locations. No pets. 537-8389.
- AVAILABLE MAY, June, July and August. One-bedroom, $240-$280. No pets. Lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423.
- LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone
- ONE- AND two-bedroom apartments near campus and Westloop area. Call 776-1340.

NOW LEASING

Furnished/Unfurnished 12 plex 9th & Moro 2 bedroom

Call Bill at 776-0644 or Kay at 539-8846

$375

DON'T WAIT UNTIL IT'S TOO LATE!

- 1 BR Apartments still available,
- but filling up fast! For best June or August selection

CALL TODAY

776-3804

Three Ways To Ride Away A Winner

At The Zenith Data Systems

Technology Showcase!

McCullough Development 2700 Amhorst (913) 776-3804

WANTED: ONE-BEDROOM or efficiency apartment to rent from July/ August to December. John, 537-0477.

Automobile for Sale

- 1978 ALFA Romaeo convertible for sale. Red, with new top, new tires and great stereo with cassel equalizer. $3,750. Call John 1-456-7050.
- 1978 PONTIAC Grand Prix. Good condition, rebuilt
- 1985 PLYMOUTH Voyager LE mini, one owner, excel-lent condition, air, standard, AMFM, five-seater. See for yourself. On Fort Riley. $6,950.
- ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT-seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys, Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. A-1797.
- IS IT true... Jeeps for $44 through the government? Call for facts! 1-708-742-1142 Ext. 3286A.
- PONTIAC PHOENIX, mid-size, V6, four-door, 85,000 miles, great mechanical, interior, exterior condi $1,800. 539-0914.

Child Care

NANNIES— YEAR-LONG child care position. East Coast. Airfare, good salary, benefits. Screened families. Fun group activities. Princeton Nanny, 301 N. Harrison St. #416, Princeton, NJ 08540. 609-497-1195.

Computers

- DISKETTES- 5% " HDs, 78e; 3% " DDSDs, 78e; 3% " HDs, $1.99. King Clone Computers, 1221 Moro
- FOR SALE: Apple Itc with color monitor and Imagewriter II. Printer plus accessories. Will sell printer sepa-rate. Call 776-5428.
- SAVE $$$. 15% off on new books featuring titles concerning Autocad, Wordperfect 5.0 and 5.1, Wordstar, Lotus, Magellan, as well as upgrading and repairing microcomputers. PC Magazines' DOS Powertools including disk with 1,275 pages—suggested retail $44.95, on sale for $35. Computer disks—DS/DD 5%-inch, 10 with smoked acrylic to the both of the contract of the cont case, $10. Disk case for 5% -inch holds 70 disks case for 3% -inch hold 50 disk DS/HD 1.44 3/4 -inch disks— 10 for $18.50. Mark Berg or contact ABACUS Computer & Supply, 1111 Waters, 539-7007. Pager phone number 537-5930. Leave your number and wait for "thank you."
- TANDY 2000, color monitor, two 5¼ -inch disk drives, 256K. Best offer. Call Larry at 537-4625.

8 Employment

- The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of
- ACT IN TV commercials. High pay. No experience. All ages— kids, teens, young adults, families, mature people, animals, etc. Call now! Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702.
- ATTENTION: HIRING government jobs— your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext
- ATTENTION: EASY work, excellent payl Assemble products at home. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. W-1797.
- ATTENTION: EARN money watching TVI $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. TV-1797.
- BARTENDERS, PART-TIME for special functions for Bockers Two Catering Service. Apply in person at 2321 Skyview. Must be 21. Experience not

Fanny Packs To The First

50 Visitors!

ATTENTION: EXCELLENT income for home assembly work. Information. Call 504-646-1700 Dept. P6438

- CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiling, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or nding. Also kitchen, office, Maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B. Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. 708-446-2444.
- DUDE RANCH in Colorado Mountains looking for summer help. Need wranglers, assistant cooks, waitress/ cabin people. Don K. Ranch, 2677 S. Siloam Road, Pueblo, CO 81005; 719-784-6600.
- EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288.
- EXPERIENCED WAITERS and waitresses. Apply now at Hibachi Hut. Must be able to work lunch
- 11a.m.-2p.m. Apply in person. FREE TRAVEL benefits! Airlines now hiring! All positions! $17,500- $58,240. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext.
- FREE TRAVEL benefits! Cruise ships and casinos now hiring! All positions! Call 1-602-638-8685 Ext. Y-1797. GODFATHER'S PIZZA is now hiring for all positions to
- summer help. Delivery drivers have the opportunity to make competitive wages with flexible hours. Apply in person between 2p.m. and 5p.m. 1120
- KJCK-AM 1420 Country is looking for a part-time announcer to fill a Monday- Friday evening plus Sunday afternoon position. Radio experience is preferred but will train the right person. Call Mark, 776-9494 or 762-5525 between 10a.m. and 2p.m. KJCK EOE.
- LAWN CARE person wanted for large apartment community. Responsible for the maintenance of grounds and swimming pools. Horticulture or agri-cultural background helpful. Full time April through August. Send resume to Collegian, Box 8, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.
- LOOKING FOR a fraternity, sorority or student organiza-tion that would like to make $500 to $1,000 for a one-week on-campus marketing project. Must be organized and hardworking. Call Amy or Jeanine at
- NEWS SERVICE has two openings. We need an exceptionally talented graduate student with solid newswriting and editing skills and a demonstrated flair for publication design to serve as editor of InView, the university's faculty/ staff newsletter. If you have the skills and can start this summer, we'd like to hear from you night away. We have we'd like to hear from you right away. We have an undergraduate opening for someone who is dependable, has good office skills and can start work June. Pick up applications at News Services, 9
- Anderson Hall.

  WM HIRING: Water Salety Instructors for KSU's Community Enrichment summer classes. Need not be currently enrolled in order to work. All instruction scheduled around your classes if enrolled in summer school. Pick up application at College Court Building, Room 246, 1615 Anderson Ave. or call 532-5575.
- RESPIRATORY THERAPY Instructor/ Director of Clini RESPIRATORY THERAPY Instructor Director of Clinical Education— Nine-month position; responsibilities: lecture and laboratory classes, content and quality of clinical phase, 20 contact hours per week, participation on committees, councils; qualifications: associate's in respiratory therapy, registration as a respiratory therapist, four years fulf-time experience (at least two in teaching) required; bachelor's, prior teaching experience preferred. COUNSELOR— 10-month position; responsibilities: personal, career, educational, transfer counseling; testing and placement services; teaching college orientation/ Career and Life planning; sponsoring
- orientation/ Career and Life planning; sponsoring Student Life. Qualifications: master's and prior teaching/ counseling experience required; college level teaching and/ or counseling experience, attendance or graduation from a community college

REHAVIORAL SCIENCE/ Education Instructor Nine-month position; responsibilities: teaching 32 hours per academic year in Behavioral Science/ Education, sponsoring Student Government Association; qualifications: bachelor's and prior teaching experience required; master's, college-level teaching experience, attendance or graduation from a

- community college preferred. Send letter of application, resur end letter of application, resume, transcripts, three references to Don Guild, dean of instruction, Seward County Community College, Box 1137, Liberal, KS 67905-1137. AA/EOE.
- STUDENT TO do lawn care for apartment houses: Mowing, raking, maintaining flower beds and ground cover areas. Horticultural or agricultural background helpful. Begin immediately. Part-time spring semester, summer and fall semester. Send
- me and interest in job to Box 7, Collegian SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 openings. National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.
- SUMMER WORK available at KSU Vegetable Research Farm, DeSoto (K.C. area). $4.50/ hour. Must have own transportation. Contact Dr. Charles Marr or Mrs. Elder at Horticulture, 532-6170 for application
- SUMMER WORK— Find out why IBM, Procter and Gamble, Xerox, and several hundred corporations are interested in our summer program. Make $1,775 a month. Travel. Call 537-9169.

- HELP WANTED Now accepting applications for Spring & Summer Employment.
- Please call 776-4117 for interview appointment. DAIRY QUEEN

at 1015 N. 3rd, Manhattan Ask for Mr. Frye

Dairy Oueen

Looking for Freshmen and Sophomores

work "3" months get paid "12", with Landshire, Inc. You work for great pay during the summer and receive weekly comission throughout your next school year. Find out more April 16 in Seaton Hall from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Interviews will be on April 17 in Holtz Hall from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

9 Food Specials

Hunam Restaurant Free Delivery 539-8888

12 Houses for Rent

- 1101 DENISON, 1846, 1814 Platt, one to five bedro to see evenings Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 7-9o.m. 539-3993.
- AVAILABLE JUNE 1. Two-bedroom, yard, $345 plus utilities. Lease and deposit. 539-3672 evenings.
- FIVE-BEDROOM, three-bath house. Available Aug. 1. Walking distance to campus. No pets. $880. 776-3804. ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks east - campus, laundry hookups. $285/ month, utilities, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1. 539-3672 evenings.
- ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June 1. $295. 539-1554.
- THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE for rent, available in late May. Spacious yard, dog kennel. 776-6726

14 Lost and Found

- A SILVER bracelet lost Friday in AK 120 or on campus.
- Please call 539-7296. LOST: BLACK Lab neutered male. Lost Friday Aggie-ville area. Reward. 776-8417 or 539-8365.
- LOST: LONGHAIRED, black cat with yellow-green eyes. Last Sunday in the 1100 block of Vattler. Please call 537-1096.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

- 1988 14x70 Schult mobile home with three bedro 1½ baths, 8x10-foot deck. Call 776-8477.
- IMMACULATE THREE-BEDROOM, two bath, central air, redwood decks. Call 539-9283 after 4p.m.
- TWO-BEDROOM, 10x60 trailer. Good condition. Great location. Low rent and utilities. Washer/ dryer, storage. 776-5671.

18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

- 1982 HONDA 650C. New seat, battery, tire, 4-to-1 exhaust. $800. Roger, 537-1671 or 532-6008.
- 1982 VIRAGO 920, 12K, computer, cover, very good condition. $1,500 or best offer. Scott, 537-9195. 1984 YAMAHA Virago: Black/ chrome, excellent condi-tion, 4,500 miles, 537-4408.
- 1986 SUZUKI SP200 street/ dirt bike. Excellent condi-tion. 3,100 miles. $1,200 or best offer. 539-6765. 1989 SPECIALIZED Rockhopper comp with many extras. Call 776-0525.
- 19-INCH FRONT street tire, $47; Enduro tires, 21-inch tront, $29; 4.1x18, $37.95. Mounting, $7.50. Minor service repair. M-C Supply, 1221 Moro, in alley
- behind Hardee's. NINJA 1000R 86 with 9,700 miles. Black with red stripes, never wrecked. 776-3708, Galen.
- SNYDER'S HONDA on Stagg Hill Road is buying and selling new and used motorcycles. We are your motorcycle super market.
  - (Continued on page 9)

BAYSTREET

99¢ Pitchers, Wells, Kamis, Longnecks

21 and over can use the alley next to Krystallos to the Back Bar.

A KENWOC

KENWOOD

JUNCTION, INC.

Junction City, KS 66441 913-762-4447 HI FI-Car Stereo-Video

630 Grant Ave.

Come See The World's #1 PC Compatibles And We'll Show You More Than One Way To Own A FREE Raleigh All-Terrain Bike!

Stop by our Technology Showcase and see the world's #1 PC compatibles.* From ultra-fast desktops to VGA-enhanced laptops to our award-winning Flat Technology Monitor. We'll then show you three ways to own a Raleigh Assault* or Finesse* All-Terrain Bike absolutely FREE! And if you're among the first 50 to attend, you'll get a FREE Fanny Pack!

or your Campus Contact to enter our

Form No. 1248-1

Buy a PC, Get A Bike FREE! Purchase any qualifying desktop system** at a great student price, and we'll send you a FREE Raleigh All-Terrain Bike! So be sure to swing by our Technology Showcase. Who knows...you just might ride away a winner in more ways than one!

Ride Away A Winner At:-

Technology Showcase APRIL 10, 11, 12

K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE Enter Our National Sweepstakes! Take a free PC test drive at either the Technology Showcase Campus Contact K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE

Groupe Bull HURRY! SWEEPSTAKES ENDS JUNE 8, 1990! ZENITH DATA SYSTEMS INNOVATES AGAIN"

© 1990, Zenith Data Systems

c-state union

You could then win one of 50 Raleigh All-Terrain Bikes, a free fanny pack, a sports water bottle...or even our FREE Grand Prize trip for two to Paris for the 1990 Tour de France!

"RACE TO THE FINISH" Sweepstakes.

Graphics simulate Microsoft* Windows, a product of Microsoft Corporation.

*Qualifying systems include the V-286 LP Model 20, V-286 LP/12 Model 20 and V-286 LP/12 Model 40 when purchased with any Zeruth Data Systems VGA Monitor.

AKAI X7000 keyboard sampler, with memory upgrade to 16 samples on board. Excellent condition. Retail $1,800, sell $650. 776-7323.

20 Parties-n-more

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES: Never pay for a DJ again. Own your own Party Music System. 539-0595.

NEED A DJ? Kick-ass sound system, light show. Cheap Rock the house. Kevin, 776-7240.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits 1105 Waters 539-4751

21 Personals

ALPHA XI— With Derby Days one week away, your coaches would like to say... Go, fight, win... Drink... A lot. Luv, Jay, Jeff, Tom, Jarrod, Matt and Ted. CHILLIN', COOLIN': Pictionary was a blast, but it's the Easter egg memories that will last! Yo and Yup.

FIRST YOU saw her at Kite's, now appearing one night only at Bushwacker's: Come see the famous Boobert We love you, Benny, Love, Heather and HEY COW Lover! Hope you get your black-hatted, red-booted, truck-driving cowboy! (Happy Birth-day!) Love, Cindy, Adam, Barb, Mel and Craig. able cowboy respond in Personals.

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

JEFF WAS JUST STANDING ON THE STREET CORNER WAITING FOR THE WALK SIGN TO CHANGE. WHEN THIS GUY FROM THE LOCAL NELISPAPER CAME UP AND ASKED HIM IF HE THOUGHT DAN QUAYLE WAS DOING AN ADEQUATE JOS AS THE VICE PRESIDENT ... JEFF SAID, "BEATS ME ... "

Ripple

By J. Hayden

Jim's Journal

I had my dentist

sat in the

725 725 590

1857"

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Garfield

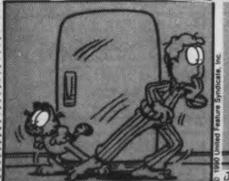

By Jim Davis

HIPPIE-BOB, if you ever want to see Pooky alive again, leave Friday night tree for me.

JWF— You have some gall I'll be thinking of you today Get well soon. Love, CEF.

KD LISA— Good luck tonight at Bushwacker's. We know you'll do great! AOT— Your KD Sisters. KD NEW Initiates— The party was first rate. Thanks! AOT— The Members.

LOURDES- FELIZ cumpleanos. Ricco.

MELISSA— GOOD luck tonight at Bushwacker's. We are cheering you on! Love, Your Sigma Sisters. NUC E. Grad Carol— Hope you enjoyed the roses on V-day, so we got together to send you a personal to say— Happy 23rd! Love, Darin and Frank.

PI PHI Shannon: Good luck tonight! We know you can do it! Love, The Muskateers. R-HERE'S what you do to me: Fascinate, thrill, awe, SWEET PETE— I'm interested in your dances but I want to show you a dance of my own. Please reply soon. Anxious Anne C.

23 Professional Services

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES and sororities! Spruce up your carpets and floors prior to the party season. Call TNT Professional Cleaners for a free estimate. 539-8120. Alumni owned and operated.

COLEMAN AMERICAN can move you anywhere. 35% discount nationwide; 12% discount in-state. CAll for overseas reates. Local rates for students $39.50 per hour, two-hour minimum. 537-7284.

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day results. For appointment call: Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338.

PERMS WITH cut, $25 to $30. Shampoo, cut, style, $10. Tanning, 10 for $18. 776-1330.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM abortion? Write; Hearts Restored, Box 295, Colby, Kansas 67701. Confidential re-sponse will follow.

WEDDING FLOWERS by experienced floral designer Call for information. 776-2253. WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY that doesn't cost a for tune. Call for information packet and portfolio

Say "NO" to drugs... say "YES" to chiropractic Call today for an appointment 537-8305

Dr. Mark Hatesohl Chiropractic Family Health Center 3252 Kimball Avenue Candlewood Shopping Center

THE REAL PROPERTY AND REAL PROPERTY AND REAL PROPERTY.

TROPICAL TAN sessions

·New bulbs •14 tanning beds

Appointments available

Competitive prices

166 Laramie 776-2426

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

For confidential help call free pregnancy testing 103 S. Fourth 537-9180 1-800-848-LOVE

39 Stir-frying aid

41 Dem.'s

foes

42 Shining

44 Tropical

50 Cam-

51 Atlas

parrots 46 Glens paigned

section

52 Stodgily

Auto Insurance too high? We have excellent rates, free quotes. Call Tim Engle 537-4661.

AVEDA a complete line of All Natural

Products. Satisfaction always guaranteed with any service.

Call 776-9100 for your appointment.

24 Resume/ Typing Service

GET THE edge in today's market! We offer quality resumes designed, typeset and laserprinted, Call Graphics Plus. 722 N. Manhattan, Aggleville,

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms. dissertations, theses, etc. Call 776-4214, LETTER-QUALITY word processing. $1.25 double spaced page. Next-day delivery available. Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals, re-sumes and more, Laser printing, Call 537-4146. RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to make an impression. One day service. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147.

WORD PROCESSING: College papers, resumes, letters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single. Quality Print. Betty, 539-6851. Claffin.

25 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for next year. Non-smoker. $133/ month plus one-third utilities. Call Kelly, 532-5310 or Dana, 532-5306. FEMALE ROOMMATE for furnished house near campus. $162.50 per month. 10-month lease. Deposit. 539-3886, 776-3066. FEMALE WANTED to share spacious upstairs apartment May or August (May rent free). Prefer older undergraduate or graduate student. Call Ann, leave message 537-7474.

FOUR ROOMMATES for six-bedroom house. Next to campus. Two kachens, two baths, laundry. Must sen. $140 plus utilities. 539-1269. NEED TWO female roommates immediately! From now to August Everything equals $120/ month 776-9452. NICE APARTMENT near campus. One bedroom.

One-half of $315/ month rent, plus utilities.

537-3803. NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommats, own room, laundry area, publ. $100 plus one-helf ubidies. 539-7324. Summer through next year.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share house trailer. $100 per month plus half utilities. Call Allen, 537-3909.

ROOMMATES FOR 1990-1991 and or summer, One-bedroom, Park Place Apartments, 776-2054 after 5p.m. Monday- Thereday SHARE TWO-BEDROOM apertment with distinuation, weather dryer, woodhurning timplace, pate, perago, of street postery, $197.60 obs. one-fall unities, 776-6384

Ford Hall $149/ morrow Free utilities 539-4711

26 Stereo Equipment

COMPLETE MOBILE DJ system for sale. Formerly sell. Asking $375. 539-7561. Ask for Alan.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

O'BRIEN TRC 66-inch slatom water ski, still in box

$325. Atomic Keylar 160 snow skis. Tyrolla bind-ings, boots, poles. Used once. Asking $500. Call Jon at 537-0845. WINDSURFER- TWO sails, footstraps and car rack Like new. 1-494-2775.

28 Sublease

$175/ MONTH. Female, own bedroom and bathroo furnished, by campus. Call Sherrill, 776-6192.

1st-CLASS APARTMENTS for June- July subleases Both one and two bedrooms, furnished or unfurnished, decks available, great locations. Call the Curtin Companies at 776-1222.

JUNE-JULY sublease, two weeks free in May. Female, furnished house, own room, $125/ month plus one-fourth bills. Call 776-1577. A LARGE two-bedroom— summer, 1010 Thurston. Everything— central air, full kitchen, etc. $399 neostiable, 537-3346. JUNE-JULY SUBLEASE- Available mid-May. nice, own room, one and one-half bath, across from campus. Rent definitely negotiable. Ask for Rita,

LATE MAY to mid-August. Two-bedroom apartment with dishwasher, washer/ dryer, woodburning fire-place, patio, garage, off-street parking. $395 plus utilities. No pets. 776-8384.

NICE FOUR-BEDROOM apartment close to camput/ Aggleville, Low monthly bills, Price negotiable, Call 537-2594. Leave message.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment close to campus. Balcony, dishwasher and laundry facilities. Three people, $300, two people $250, 776-3340.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to sublease furnished apart-ment. $125/ month and one-fourth utilities. 776-2076.

ONE-BEDROOM, VERY spacious, fully furnished, near campus. Come see and make offer. 776-5127: 9-11p.m. or weekends. SPACIOUS THREE-BEDROOM house to suble summer. Close to campus and Aggieville. Price negotiable. 537-7094.

SUBLEASE— GREAT two-bedroom house right next to campus. $420/ month. Call 776-3384.

SUBLEASE— ONE-BEDROOM apartment, one-half block from campus. $150 a month plus bills. For June and July. Call 537-3342. SUBLEASE— THREE-BEDROOM apartment near campus. Dishwasher, laundry facilities, two bath-rooms. Available mid-May through July 31. Time available negotiable. $170 month plus electric. Call 509, 2215.

SUBLEASE— JUNE and July. Three-bedroom apart-ment. $125 per person. Walk to campus and Aggleville. 539-8566.

SUBLEASE— TWO blocks from campus/ Aggieville. Nice two-bedroom apartment. Available May 17.

537-8674. SUBLEASE— NICE two-bedroom apartment for three to lour people. One block from campus. Washer, dryer, dishwasher. $450 month. $39-4784.

SUMMER- AVAILABLE June 1. Two-bedroom, fum-ished. Close to Aggieville, park. $250/ month.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom house, carport, deck, backyard, washer/ dryer, negotiable. 537-2101, leave message. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Large, one-bedroom, furnished.

new carpet close to campus. $290/ month. Call 776-8850 SUMMER SUBLEASE: Nice and affordable one bedroom apartment. Near campus/ Aggieville. Call 539-2963 or 539-2007. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Two-bedroom furnished Water trash paid. Available June 1, $250/ month or negotiable, 532-3124. SUMMER SUBLEASE— Four-bedroom, close to Aggioville and campus, balcony rent negotia 539-3003.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: One tree keg! Spacious living room, pool, close to campus. Three-bedroom. $450, 776-7428. THREE-BEDROOM, two bath available May- August in

Aggieville. Very nice apartment. 776-4760

THREE-BEDROOM, two full baths, one-half block west of compus; dishwasher. Dates/ rent negotiable. 778-7945. TO SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom apartment, very close Aggleville and campus. Call 539-1565. 1200

TWO-MINUTE WALK to Durland. June 1 to July 31 aublease. Two bedroom. $355, negotiable.

30 Travel

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE - Lot bad, in great shape, $45. Price is

FOR SALE-- Left bad, in great shape, $45. Price is No. Chill 532-335 PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050. Bettery of AC powered, two font types, 16,000 character memory expansion card, spell ion $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS- G.I. boots, sleeping bags, wool clothing for mountain campers, back-nacks, senss, wer weather gear, camo clothing, much more! St. Marys, Surplus Sales. St. Marys, HS 1-437-2734

TANNING FACIAL lamp— Woolf System. Brand new Paid $200. Make offer! Call Tami at 776-6657.

33 Storage

ATTENTION: ALL faculty, staff, students. Storage rates for summer. $50 per 1,000 pounds at Coleman American. 537-7284.

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

34 Rooms for Rent

FEMALES: ROOMS for rent. Close to campus. A

35 Waterski Wetsuit

LIKE NEW Lycra and Neoprene full wetsuit. Great to jumping, footing, $75 or best offer. Steve, 537-0927.

Crossword

ACROSS

1 Course target

4 Bistro

VIP

12 Past

8 Slender

14 Vitamin

13 Emanation

additive

15 Meaning-

related

17 Exuberant concern

18 Critic's

By Eugene Sheffer

learned Estrada 56 Headliner 7 Gem side 57 Way out 8 Came to 58 Actress earth Lupino 9 Singer 59 Sea dogs Guthrie the stage Solution time: 23 mins.

61 Moon

jumper of rhyme DOWN

2 Census lovers

3 Fit for

4 Easy

gallop 5 Crude

6 Actor

home

question

- de deux

10 Coward of

23 Modern music branch 27 Trim the blades 29 Enormous 30 Swear 31 Swimming 33 Wallet fill 35 Mr. Turkey 38 Draw 40 Defense method 43 Like most scripts

20 "Sure!"

21 Peace

symbol 22 On celebs 53 Noisy

11 Pad place 16 Trajectory

XLEERQW RH commotion Yesterday's Cryptoquip: AFTER PATRON LEFT 54 Altar oath WITHOUT TIPPING HIM, GLUM BARBER WAS IN A 55 Corvine LATHER.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Q equals N

Gorbachev says no to border changes

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW - President Mikhail S. Gorbachev warned in remarks broadcast Wednesday that would lead to civil war and "such bloody camage that we won't be able to crawl out of it."

He told members of the Communist Youth League he had spent more time thinking about whether he should allow changes in the country's political map than any other issue, and decided against it.

More than 100 ethnic groups inhabit the Soviet Union. Under Gorbachev's democratizing reforms, many have begun to clamor for lands that were historically theirs and for more freedom from Moscow.

ROTC

the military.

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

the cadets with the MedVac unit, he

"The more training we can pro-vide, the better we are," Warrant Officer Jonathan Stevens said. MedVac averages about 20 missions and six simulations a month for civilians and choose this as a career in aviation,"

Stevens said. "The military chooses

you. They can put in for it, maintain high grades and get the most outstanding performance in all they can of time and commitment.

pretty quick," he said.

Stevens said the job requires a lot

"I'm usually into work by 7 a.m.

and usually leave by 6 p.m. I pull 24-hour duty every 4 days and get the next day off, but you get burned out

"Unfortunately, the cadets can't

Gorbachev said redrawing So-viet boundaries "would pit all peoples and all nations against each other and bring about a situarecarving internal Soviet borders tion in this society the likes of which has never been witnessed by our country or by the world." And if other republics follow

Lithuania's example and try to secede, he said, "If we begin to divide up, I'll give it to you bluntly. We'll end up in such a civil war, in such bloody carnage that we won't be able to crawl out of it."

Gorbachev issued dire predic-tions about ethnic conflict before, but his statements Tuesday at a question-and-answer session with a congress of young Communists, broadcast by Soviet TV on Wednesday, appeared pointed at times experience frustration because frustrating, it is best to remember that discrimination happens in many different ways all over the country," he said. "This is something that a law is not going to stop. That is why it is important to remember that a person's

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

Many people may be discriminat-

"It is important for us to overcome our initial response towards people that are different than us," said Harriet Ottenheimer, director of the American Ethnic Studies Program.

'One of the best ways to do this is to increase our own awareness of everybody's differences and folkways are stronger and will last ing toward minorities and not even longer than a law will."

realize it.

"When things happen and it gets

Aware of discrimination.

Peace

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5 New Zealand, just to name a few? These countries are not countries who adopt their policies recklessly. Even the closest friends they have, the U.S. government, decided to open a dialogue with the PLO."

Mansour said the fact that Intifada, the Palestinian uprising, is now in its 29th month should be more than sufficient to indicate to Israeli leaders that continuing to ignore the plight of the Palestinians in the occupied territories will not lead to peace.

"What will lead to peace is that they acknowledge that the Palestinian people do have national rights and they do have a representative, the PLO," he said. "They should come and negotiate with us within the context of an international peace conference ... not on the basis of a greater Israel, everything for them and nothing for us, and definitely not on the basis of everything for us and nothing for them ... but on the basis of fairness, justice and balance, on the basis of allowing a Palestinian state to become fully independent and for that Palestinian state to exist next to

Aqua

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 get more involved, he said.

"The office could serve as a coordinator for those kinds of activities," Anderson said.

The office would also help the University in deciding which areas would be most useful in research and setting up Extension capabilities, he

"We don't have any bona fide fish culture Extension agents," Anderson said. "We have two gentlemen who have done good jobs, particularly with answering the public. The University should look at getting Extension people trained in aquaculture."

The office was not established to promote aquaculture as much as to support the industry, he said.

"Fish culture has come to the point where we are producing fish for human consumption," Anderson said. "Years ago, it was likely fish were produced for stocking streams for sport fishing. It happened gradually in many states, but legislation never caught up with it. So fish farming as an industry is not recognized by

Fish growers want to change that,

In Topeka, fish growers are estab-

Pell

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5 dents who are working and struggling their way through school and don't qualify for as much financial aid as those who are wealthy," John-

Eligibility for a Pell Grant is determined on a national level, while other types of financial aid are awarded by each college's own professional

"Congress felt that too many students were made independent by professional judgments and too many Pell Grants were being awarded,' Viterna said.

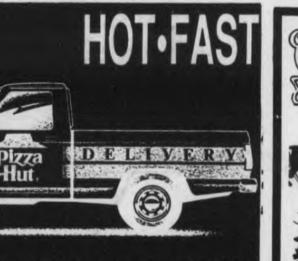

However, he said, the awarding of the Pell Grants on a national level increased the problem. Congress is planning a linear reviously eligible for a certain amount of Pell Grant will get less, although students eligible for the maximum

THE PROPERTY OF

CALL 539-7666 OR THE LOCATION NEAREST YOU.

Arts and Science Student of the Semester

All students in the College of Arts and Sciences are eligible and encouraged to apply. Applications are available in the Arts and Sciences Deans Office.

Applications are due by April 13.

HAIRCUT SHOPS®

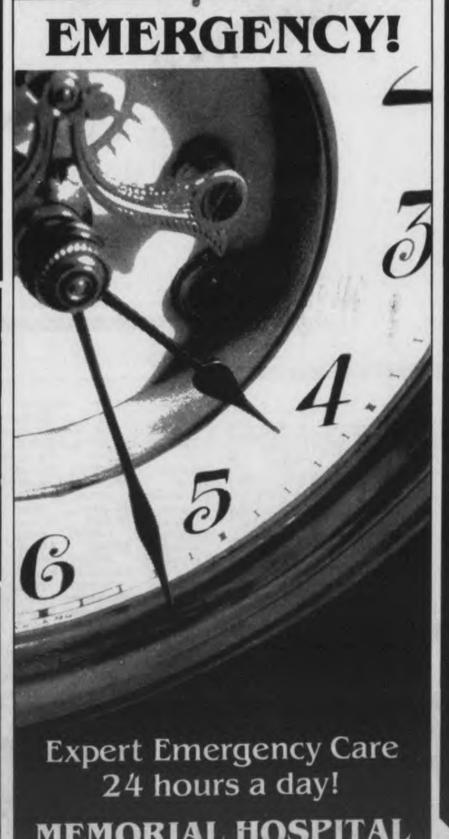

OPEN NIGHTS & SUNDAYS JUST DROP IN!

WORLD'S GREATEST, HAIRCUT

HIS OR HERS $19.95 PERM COMPLETE WITH CUT!

Under 12 KIDS KUT $5

BODY WAVE OR CURLY STYLE LONG HAIR, SPIRALS EXTRA Village Plaza-3035 Anderson-539-4043 K-Mart Center-4th Poyntz-776-6410

Manhattan, KS 66502

amount will still get the maximum.

Viterna said he thinks the problem could be helped by returning the Pell Grant judgment to the college's "Professional judgments need to be made on campus to have more say-so in who the Pell Grants go to duction system for Pell Grants next year, Viterna said.

As a result, students who were pre-discretion.

and in what amounts," Vitema said.

$150 BOURBONS

LIVE REGGAE & CLIFF CLIFFORD

FRIDAY!

lishing a task force with various organizations and agencies to formu-erally been under the Department of Wildlife and Parks," he said. "But growers, not only in Kansas but in other states as well, would prefer to be grouped under the Department of Agriculture for regulatory purposes."

Anderson said Kansas fish growers should focus on the quality of fish and not so much the quantity.

'Kansas can't compete quantitywise with places like Missouri, Texas and Louisiana," Anderson said. "There they have lots of water and year-round growing conditions. It's a matter of going indoors part of the year or concentrating on a variety of kinds of fish, speciality markets and quality.'

A type of fish becoming popular in Kansas is tilapia, which originated in Africa, he said.

"Back in the Peace Corps days, we found that growing tilapia in small ponds was a way of turning lives around (in Africa)," he said. "It literally gave poor farmers a bank account. It also turned volunteers' lives around because it was the kind of activity where they saw the results right

Only about 500 acres of ponds are engaged in tilapia production in Kansas, he said.

"That's pretty small compared to a single farm in Louisiana, which may have a thousand acres," Anderson said. "That's why we have to concentrate on variety, and quality in spe-cialty markets. We do have the advantage of lower cost feed and relatively central location for marketing

Anderson's position, which started a few weeks ago, will be funded until June.

PRICES SLASHED!

Profits Forgotten . . .

SPECIAL SALE HOURS OPEN TONIGHT UNTIL 9:00 P.M. FRIDAY 9:30 A.M. UNTIL 9:00 P.M.

weekends

MENS SPORTSWEAR

LOCATED IN WESTLOOP SHOPPING CENTER-MANHATTAN

GREAT $300,000 GOING-OUT-OF BUSINESS SALE

INVOLVING EVERY ARTICLE IN BOTH STORES

REGULAR TO $57.50 MEN'S SLACKS

$1777

DRESSES $2757 TO $7917

$69.00 TO $198.00

HUNDREDS-HUNDREDS MORE UNADVERTISED BARGAINS!

REGULAR TO $48.00 SKIRTS

$1777

REGULAR TO $30.00 MEN'S SPORT SHIRTS

$1177

ALL SALES FINAL-ALL ITEMS SUBJECT TO PRIOR SALE!

ENTIRE STOCK MEN'S COLE-HAAN SHOES

NOW AT 40% OFF

REGULAR TO $45.00 BLOUSES

$1677

STORE FIXTURES NOW ALL FOR SALE!

FAMOUS BRANDS

Men's-Hart, Schaffner & Marx, Austin Reed, Corbin, Cole-Haan, Boston Traders, Career Club, Ruff-Hewn, River City Trading, Byford, C.C. Sport, Interwoven. Ladies-Leslie Fay, Rafaella, New Line, that's mel, Phoebe, Jeffrey & Dara, Petrena, Villager, Jessica, Mizz Lizz, EMO, Bonnie and Bill, Erika. AND MANY MORE!

32.00 TO 106.00 LADIES HANDBAGS $19<sup>17</sup> TO $63<sup>57</sup>

REGULAR 30.00 MEN'S DRESS SHIRTS $1797

REGULAR TO 145.00 MEN'S SPORT COATS $5900

REGULAR TO $60.00 LADIES SEPARATES $2377

EVERYTHING—STOREWIDE NOW AT LEAST

40% TO 70% OFF!

KANSAS STATE

5/15/90 Kansas State Historical Society Newspaper Section 120 W 10th

Topeka KS 66612 HETA

Friday, April 13, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 132

KU students fight racism

Chancellor, campus officials discuss ways to diminish black discrimination

By The Associated Press LAWRENCE — Chancellor Gene Budig and other campus officials met Thursday with members of a black student group to discuss ways of fighting discrimination at the University of Kansas.

Two members of Black Men of Today spent more than an hour talking with Budig, executive vice chancellor Judith Ramaley and other

'We talked about the agenda we all share," Ramaley said. "It was a very helpful ... fruitful discussion. This is a positive development for the campus, because people are talking with each other.'

"I feel like they respect us more now and that we can communicate better now," one of the students, Mark McCormick, said after the meeting. "They mentioned some good things and we are encouraged."

Thursday's session came the day after Budig spoke to about 500 students who marched to a fraternity which was the scene of an alleged racial incident and held a sit-in outside the chancellor's office in Strong

Black student Ann Dean told police that she was the target of a racial slur on March 30 when she delivered a pizza to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. She said fraternity member Matt Willeborg also threw a pizza at her.

The protesters took a "get well" card to the fratemity.

"Everyone here understands their frustrations, and they're sorry it happened," said Bryce Petty, the frater-nity chapter president. "But we still believe it was an isolated incident.

We're not a racist house, and we don't condone racism.'

Budig had been in Kansas City Wednesday and arrived back at the campus about three hours after the students gathered in the rotunda at Strong Hall. He told them he was appalled and ashamed for the university over the incident.

"I today offer the institution's apology to Ann Dean," said Budig, who has asked administrators to take "appropriate action" to address the situation and pledged to cooperate with Douglas County District Attorney Jim Flory, who is reviewing the

At Wednesday's rally, McCormick said the SAE house was placed on probation several years ago and demanded similar action this time.

If the fraternity doesn't get probation, McCormick said, "What that shows to me is if you violate a woman, a black woman, nothing happens. If you violate the rights of a white male here you get put on probation."

Dean thanked the protesters for their support, and said it was sad it took the current controversy to bring recognition to problems on campus.

Budig said the university has done a "miserable" job of communicating positive steps already taken, and apologized for it.

Budig defended the university's efforts to recruit and retain minority faculty and students as well as female faculty. He said that of 28 new faculty hired for the next academic year, 11 are women and six are minority group members.

Tourists witness Christian protest

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM — Police fired tear gas Thursday to end a Christian protest over a Jewish settlement and fought Palestinian stone-throwers as foreign tourists visiting the city for Easter tried to avoid the violence.

The street battles with young Arabs occurred in Jerusalem's Old City near the Church of the Holy Sepulcher as thousands of tourists were visiting this Biblical setting for Easter celebrations.

The protest by Christian clerics focused on a nearby settlement of 150 Jews in the Arab Christian quarter. The Jerusalem magistrate's court, responding to a lawsuit by the Greek Orthodox Church, ruled late Thursday the settlers must leave.

However, a spokesman for the settlers, David Ben-Ami, said they would appeal, and police agreed for now not to expel them.

The founding of the new settlement during Easter week particularly angered the Palestinian Christian community, which perceives it as a threat to their small neighborhood within the walled city. The new Jewish enclave also set off a dispute between Jerusalem Mayor Teddy Kollek and the Israeli

"There is no question that the timing of their move lacks wisdom and sensitivity," said a statement by Kol-lek, himself a Jew. Thursday's violence began when police fired tear gas and pushed about 200 demonstrating clerics and supporters away from the Jewish settlement. Witnesses said police charged after a priest who had torn down a poster picturing an Israeli Star of David that had been pasted over a cross on the door.

Greek Orthodox Patriarch Dio-■ See PROTEST, Page 10

Rites of spring

Brad Camp/Staff

Two students share an umbrella as they walk along the sidewalk in front of Ackert Hall Thursday. Some pedestrians opted for raincoats and umbrellas due to the chilly afternoon rainshowers.

StarKist boycotts use of driftnets

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - StarKist, the world's largest tuna canner, said Thursday it will no longer buy or sell tuna captured along with dolphins, winning strong praise from environmentalists who have long sought to protect dolphins from fishing nets.

Environmentalists and lawmakers said they hoped the move would save some of the estimated 100,000 dolphins that die annually in the huge driftnets used to catch schools of

"StarKist will not purchase any tuna caught in association with dolphins," said Anthony J.F. O'Reilly, president of the H.J. Heinz Co., which owns the StarKist Seafood Co.

"StarKist will sell only dolphinfree tuna," he said at a news conference.

The change could cost consumers a couple of cents per can, O'Reilly said, adding that he hoped sales would increase with the announcement and that some increased costs will be compensated by increased StarKist has a 35 percent share of the U.S. tuna market and is the world's largest tuna canner.

Leslie Scheele of Greenpeace, which backs a worldwide boycott of tuna caught with driftnets, called the announcement "without a doubt one of the biggest steps that could be taken in order to preserve dolphins in the Eastern Tropical Pacific in probably the last 20-30 years."

Sen, Joseph Biden, D-Del., who is sponsoring legislation to require canners to label tuna that is caught by nets that ensnare dolphins, said the announcement made StarKist not only the largest but the most enlightened tuna canner in the world.

"Now Charlie the Tuna has a reason to smile," said Rep. Barbara Boxer, D-Calif., author of the Dolphin Protection Consumer Information Act of 1990 in a statement read by Biden. Charlie the Tuna is an animated character used in StarKist tuna advertisements.

Although the new policy was aimed at fishing in the Eastern Pacific Ocean, StarKist said the company also would continue to refuse to buy fish caught anywhere with gill or drift nets.

StarKist President Keith Hauge said the company would require its suppliers to have observers on their vessels to certify the driftnets are not

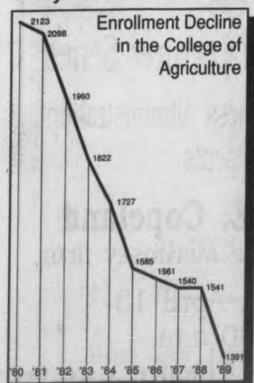

He said the company would offer assistance in finding financial backing for fishermen who want to halt net fishing and refit boats to move to other waters.

Experts say about 10 percent of the world's tuna is caught in nets. The United Nations General Assembly last year unanimously voted for an end to driftnet fishing in the South Pacific in 1991 and a global ban a year later.

International fishing fleets began ■ See TUNA, Page 10

enrollment declining

Early 1980s farm crisis contributed to job-opportunity misconceptions

By Jan Puls Collegian Reporter

Despite record University enrollment, the number of students enrolled in the College of Agriculture has been declining almost steadily since it peaked in 1977 with 2,344

In fall 1989, the number of undergraduates enrolled in the college was 1,391.

Walter Woods, dean of the college, attributes the declining enrollment to misconceptions created during the farm crisis of the early 1980s. The turmoil created by the declining number of family farms helped foster the perception that no opportunities were available for students majoring in any area of agriculture, he said.

'With the difficulties agriculture was having, parents, friends, counselors, teachers and rural areas. many others automatically translated this concept of problems to those graduating from college," Woods said.

John Riley, director of resident instruction for the college, said the loss of almost 1,000 State students enrolled in agriculture didn't students in the past 12 years also reflects the return to the farm. And 1920 was the first changes in the agriculture industry. He said time the federal census listed more people the number of jobs in the industry probably did decline, but not as steeply as the college's enrollment. 'Our graduates were still doing quite well (finding jobs)," he said.

'This phenomenon isn't any different from any other business enterprise. If the steel industry goes down or the general consumer market goes down or if the nature of the engineering field goes into a decline, they experience somewhat the same thing.

Riley said that because the farm economy has such a significant impact on the national total economy, the farm crisis received increased visibility.

Homer Socolofsky, professor of history, said the declining enrollment in the college could also be attributed to the steady decline in the number of people choosing to live in

At one time, Socolofsky said, Kansas had more than 170,000 farms. Today that number is less than 70,000, and the farms are bigger.

Socolofsky said even by 1910, most K-See ENROLL, Page 10

Brown transferred from penitentiary

By The Associated Press

COLUMBIA, S.C. - With two inmates carrying his suitcases, "Godfather of Soul" James Brown started a brandnew bag Thursday. He was transferred from prison to a work-release center to counsel youths about drug abuse.

The two-time Grammy award winner was released after serving 15 months of a six-year prison sentence for aggravated assault.

He will be locked up nights and weekends at the minimum security Lower Savannah Work Center near Aiken, where he will help educate young people about the dangers of illegal drugs and alcohol. When asked how it felt to be back home in Aiken County, the 56-year-old singer raised his hands and said, "This is home?"

Brown was wearing a bright blue shirt, vest and black leather pants as two inmates helped him carry his three suitcases after his arrival from the State Park Correctional Center in Columbia. His job starts Monday. He will earn at least the minimum wage of $3.80 an hour, officials

Brown billed himself as the Hardest Working Man in Show Business during his four decades as a rhythm and blues

He grunted, groaned and gyrated to pop stardom with 114 charted singles such as "Papa's Got a Brand New Bag," "Please, Please, Please" "I Got You (I Feel Good),"
"Cold Sweat," "I'm Black And I'm Proud," "Hot Pants" and more recently, "Living in America."

The wavy-haired Brown was imprisoned in December 1988 to serve a concurrent six-year sentence in Georgia and South Carolina for failing to stop for police, aggravated assault and weapons violations stemming from a two-state, highspeed chase that ended when police shot out the tires on his pickup truck.

The incident began when a gun-toting See BROWN, Page 10

BRIEFLY

World

Iraq urged to halt weapons

JERUSALEM (AP) — Five U.S. senators urged President Saddam Hussein of Iraq on Thursday to halt efforts to develop nuclear, chemical and biological weapons, which they said created "dangerous tensions" in the Middle East.

created "dangerous tensions" in the Middle East.

Senate Republican leader Bob Dole said Saddam was seriously worried that Israel planned to launch a pre-emptive strike similar to the one in June 1981, when Israeli warplanes bombed an Iraqi nuclear reactor.

"They still remember the 1981 Israeli strike, and I think there is some fear that that might recur," Dole told reporters after arriving from Iraq.

His delegation met with Saddam in the Iraqi city of Mosul for 2½ hours. The others in the U.S. delegation were James McClure, R-Idaho; Alan Simpson, R-Wyoming; Frank Murkowski, R-Alaska; and Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio.

Prime minister chosen

EAST BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's Parliament chose Lothar de Maiziere as prime minister Thursday and embraced his sweeping agenda for quickly uniting the foundering nation with West Germany.

The nation's first freely elected legislature also apologized to Jews for Nazi atrocities and promised to make reparations to Israel and seek diplomatic ties.

By putting de Maiziere's broad coalition government in power, the Parliament set up a transitional government whose prime goal will be to negotiate the terms of creating a single Germany.

Before Parliament met, members of the coalition agreed that a united Germany should remain part of NATO and that East Germany should merge its currency with West Germany's by

The coalition also backed a rapid process for unification.

Lions suggested to keep guard

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Saladino de Souza Gonzalez says he has the perfect solution for Brazilians wanting to protect their homes from burglars: guard lions.

"With a lion for a guard, the thief may enter but he won't leave," said Gonzalez, a 45-year-old book wholesaler from Belo Horizonte, Brazil's third-largest city.

Gonzalez has raised lions for the past 10 years on his farm in the interior. He said Brazil's soaring crime rate has helped create a steady demand.

"I recommend a large backyard, the construction of a gate, and plenty of space. Then let them roam free at night," Gonzalez said in a telephone interview. Three lions guard Gonzalez's home.

Nation

Woodsy Owl out of limelight

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Woodsy Owl and his "Give a Hoot, Don't Pollute" refrain are the latest victims in the battle between loggers and environmentalists to save the spotted owl. Smokey Bear will continue to visit schools near the Siuslaw National Forest as an anti-fire crusader. But his pal Woodsy won't be coming along.

"Right now is not the time to have Woodsy in the limelight," said Norm Hesseldahl, public affairs officer for the forest. "The emotions are running pretty high on the spotted owl issue right now."

owl issue right now."

Region

Man guilty of baby's death

EMPORIA (AP) — A man pleaded guilty Thursday to involuntary manslaughter in the 1980 death of his 17-month-old stepson, a case that for many years had been ruled an accidental death.

Jerry Bartley, 38, said in Lyon County District Court that he unintentionally caused the death of Adam Walford in August 1980.

He had been charged with second-degree murder.

The boy died of five to six blows to the head that caused his brain to bleed, according to autopsy reports.

Bartley originally told police that the child fell and hit his head on a carpeted step. Police and medical officials treated the death as an accident.

The case was re-opened several years later when a friend of Bartley's told authorities that Bartley had admitted hitting

Crack dealer faces 30 years

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A Bonner Springs woman, who the federal government says helped run a family crack-dealing operation, was sentenced Wednesday to 30 years in prison with no chance of parole.

Diana Nelson, 32, had faced a possible sentence of life in prison without parole for her conviction on drug and conspiracy charges.

On Tuesday, her husband, William Daniel Nelson, 48, received a life sentence with no parole for his conviction on the same charges. Three of his sons and three family associates received sentences totaling about 110 years for their parts in the business.

In the sentencing in U.S. District Court in Kansas City, Kan., U.S. District Judge Earl O'Connor said he did not believe Diana Nelson had accepted responsibility for her actions.

"I don't think this defendant has ever come clean and probably never will," O'Connor said.

Diana Nelson's attorney, Carl Cornwell, had argued for a reduced sentence, saying she had acted out of fear of her husband.

Campus

Council to discuss fee proposal

Student reaction to the engineering fee will be the main topic at the Engineering Student Council meeting at 6:30 p.m. Monday in Durland 173.

Donald Rathbone, Dean of the College of Engineering, and several engineering student senators are expected to attend the meeting where students will be able to ask questions about the fee and other topics.

Rodney Wise, president of Engineering Student Council, said he hopes many engineering students will attend the meeting because the fee is important to all of them.

"We're going to pass out ballots so we can get an idea of how the students feel about the fee," Wise said. "The ballots won't decide for or against the fee, but they will give the engineering senators and the council an idea of what the students are thinking."

The proposal, which will be presented to the Kansas Board of Regents later this month, asks for a fee of $15 per credit hour of classes in the college of engineering.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Campus organizations are encouraged to use the Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-served basis and is NOT guaranteed. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118A. You must have a picture ID to submit a Bulletin form. During business hours, IDs will be checked in Kedzie 103. At other times, IDs will be checked in Kedzie 116 or 118A. Forms should be left in the box outside 118A after being filled out and checked. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

13 Friday

- Gymnastics Club will meet from 8:05 to 10 p.m. in Natatorium 4.
- Intervarsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 212.
- Hillel will meet at 6:30 p.m. at Yael's.

14 Saturday

- Sailing Club will have a car wash from 12:30 to 4 p.m. in the First National Bank parking lot, 2710 Anderson.
- Returned Peace Corps Volunteers will have a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. at the Campus Baptist Center.

15 Sunday

■ Gymnastics Club will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. in Natatorium 4.

16 Monday

- Gymnastics Club will meet from 8:05 to 10 p.m. in Natatorium 4.
- Beta Alpha Psi will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union Big Eight Room.
- Southwind will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.
- Gay & Lesbian Resource Center will meet at 7:30 p.m. Call 539-6137 for location. Discretion is assured.
- Engineering Student Council will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland 152 to discuss the equipment fee. Officers meet at 5 p.m.
- Human Ecology Council will meet at 5:30 p.m. at Valentino's for officer turnover.
- French Table will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. near Union Stateroom 2.
- OWLS will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.
- Education Council will have officer elections at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont 106.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, cloudy. A 60 percent chance of showers or thunderstorms until midafternoon. High in the mid-50s. Southeast winds 10 to 15 mph shifting northerly by midday. Tonight, clearing. Low in the upper 30s. Saturday, mostly sunny. Warmer. High in the mid- to upper 60s.

ALL•YOU•CAN•EAT EASTER SUNDAY BRUNCH

$7.95

UNIVERSITY INN 17th & Anderson Ave. Manhattan, KS 66502 539-7531

Children under 10 $4.95. No charge for children under 3.

missile officer – as an Air Force officer.
You will gain an education in leadership as you work toward your degree. You'll learn to command with confidence. You may also qualify for scholarship programs that help pay for college. When you graduate, you can exchange your tassle and gown for an Air Force uniform – and watch your career take off.
Call

CAPT ROYER 513-532-6600

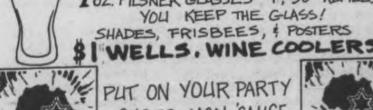

Leadership Excellence Starts Here

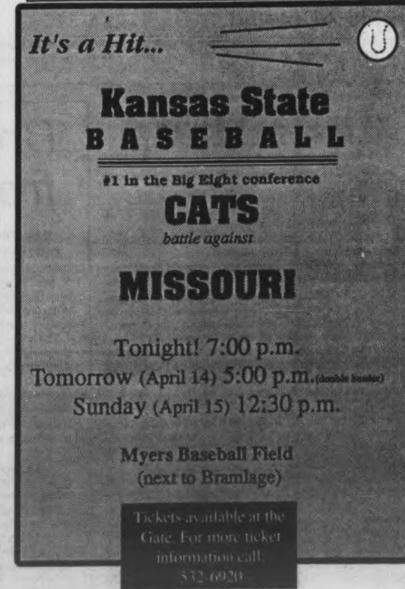

COORS GIVEAWAYS

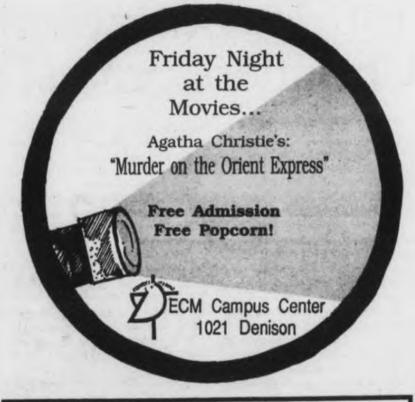

Toz. PILSNER GLASSES # 1, 504 REFILLS

PUT ON YOUR PARTY SHOES MON, CAUSE WE BE JAMMON'

Distinguished Lecturer Series

College of Business Administration

Presents

Thomas E. Copeland
Partner in the McKinsey firm

Friday, April 13 10:30 a.m. Little Theatre By Tammy Rose Collegian Reporter

Mall management and businesses agree that business is more than satisfactory.

"Business at the mall is doing far better than we expected," said Chris Heavey, Manhattan Town Center manager.

Heavey said 1989 was a satisfactory year for the center, but 1990 has started out sensationally. Some stores have astounded their corporate levels with increases in business since opening, he said.

Although most students depart during the summer, business at the mall doesn't suffer, Heavey said. There is about a 12 to 15 percent decrease in business during the summer months compared to the rest of the

"It doesn't create a big loss, but of course we miss the business," he said.

Some stores consider the summer positive aid to business.

During the summer we have an influx of travelers," said Vera Hintz, owner and manager of Butterfields Etc. "There might be fewer bodies, but it doesn't have a totally negative effect on our business. Also, it helps that we have a different type of business and don't rely totally on student business, although you can tell when most students are gone and the town is a little emptier."

Along with summer come students looking for part-time jobs, and students leaving for the summer, which creates job openings, he said. The mall supplies jobs for students and residents of Manhattan.

"All but management-level positions are filled with student employees. We only hire about eight or nine students for our store, and if one or two should leave we have no problem finding new employees," said Michelle Lang, co-manager of The Limited.

A new phase the mall is undergoing is the construction of the Sears Roebuck & Co. store. The opening date is set for Sept. 5, 1990.

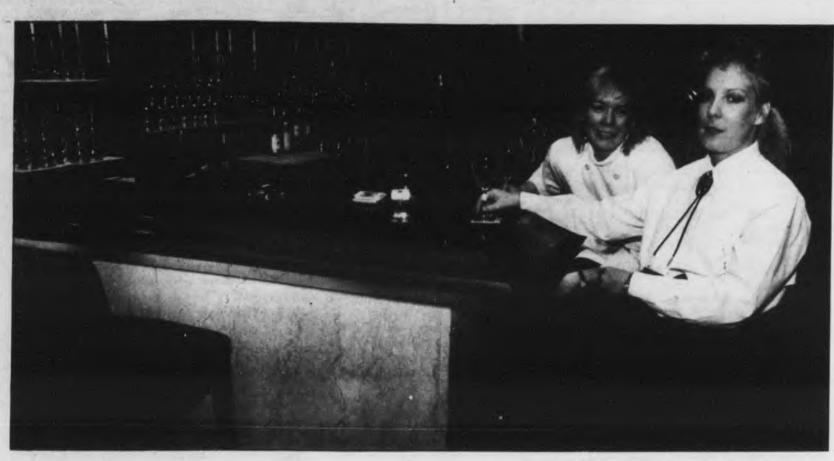

"I think it will be very positive, bring more people to the mall and make the mall more attractive to people," Hintz said.

Heavey said he has ideas for Manhattan Town Center's future.

"I would like to see something worked out between the mall and KSU that could benefit each other," he said.

Supper club opens

Restorations reflect historic hotel background

Julie Haynes, left, Karen Pratt and Randy Buller, not pictured, own Harry's Uptown Supper Club. Harry's is located in the Wareham Apartment complex, the former site of the Cotton Club. The restaurant's bar was the original front desk of the Wareham Hotel, which opened in 1926.

By Craig Hamrick News Editor

Sixty years ago it was Manhattan's first high-rise — a sixstory luxury hotel. Now mixed drinks are being served over what was once the front desk.

Monday, after more than three months of remodeling, it became the city's newest restaurant — Harry's Uptown Supper Club.

Named for Harry Pratt Wareham, the town pioneer who had the Wareham Hotel constructed in 1928, the supper club is the latest business venture for Julie Haynes, co-owner of Rock-A-Belly Deli.

To open the club, Haynes formed a partnership with two people she has worked closely with for years - Randy Buller, a bartender and part-owner of Rock-A-Belly; and Karen Pratt, manager of Haynes Beauty Supply. Eldon Clark, bar manager, said the supper club has been open all week, but only for

"We'll open for lunch in another month or so," Clark said. "We want to make sure the staff and kitchen help are all ready before we jump into lunch."

Haynes said the atmosphere of the supper club is not going to be like that of the eclectically furnished Aggieville deli.

While Haynes filled the deli with 1950s-vintage garage sale finds, she said the supper club is decorated in a style in keeping with its historic background.

"Each bar or restaurant should have its own character," Haynes said. "The supper club is in a completely different part of town, and it will probably draw a different clientele."

Jim McCullough has owned the building along with Wareham's decendants since 1984, when he started a year-long renovation of the building. He said it has been listed on the Kansas historic registry since "Being listed means it has been accepted as being restored to registry standards and it is intended to be kept that way," said McCullough, owner of McCullough Development.

"There's a limit to how much you can alter a building after it has been registered." In 1984, the hotel rooms were remodeled into apartments.

The lobby and dining rooms have housed several restaurants over the years. Most recently it was the Cotton Club, which closed in December.

Haynes said when Wareham owned the hotel he brought theater events to Manhattan. She wants to revive that tradition, utilizing the Wareham Opera House, which is next door to the supper club.

"I'd like to sponsor a real variety of activities, from bringing in bands to having dances and children's entertainment," she said. "There is a wide variety of people in Manhattan, and they could enjoy it. It could be a real asset to the downtown area."

When the hotel was remodeled, workers discovered a rolltop desk filled with clippings about Wareham.

"He must have saved every clipping from the newspaper about him and his girlfriends,'

Through the clippings, Haynes and her partners learned what Wareham was like.

"Karen, Randy and I fell in love with him," Haynes said. "He was brilliant and very creative. He was a true entrepre-

■ See CLUB, Page 10

The back of the restaurant contains a small secluded dining area called the Rose Room. The room contains Harry Wareham's desk, which he used when he owned the building in the 20's. The windows in the Rose Room are covered with etchings. Originally, all the windows in the restaurant were like those in the Rose Room. Harry's menu includes numerous entrees including steaks and fresh seafood flown in daily.

WE PRINT OUR RESUME ON

EVERY CAN.

Need a Helping Hand?

Look in the Collegian Classifieds!

Religious Directory

Crestview Christian Church Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6:30 p.m. Collegiate Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Home Bible Study Groups

4761 Tuttle Creek Blvd. n Hwy 24 across from State Park) 776-3798

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH AWorship at 8:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday School 9:40 a.m. (Corlegiate Class)

10th & Poyntz

537-8532

UNITARIAN-UNIVERSALIST FELLOWSHIP of MANHATTAN 10:45 a.m. Service & Sunday School Nursery provided, everyone welcome On K-18, 1/2 mile east of K-177 For info: call 537-2349 or 539-5248

First Bap ist Church Sunday Worship 11 a.m.

Church School 9:45 a.m. 2121 Blue Hills Rd. 539-8691

St. Luke's Lutheran Church Worship Saturday 6 p.m. Sunday 8 and 10:45 a.m. -Bible Class-Sunday 9:30 a.m. Weekly Small Group Bible Studies

539-2604 330 N. Sunset Grace Baptist Church

Student Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship Hour 8:30 and 10:45 a.m. Fellowship Hour 6 p.m. Mid-Week Prayer and Fellowship 7 p.m.

Pastor Don Pahl Students Welcome 2901 Dickens Ave.

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Worship 10:45 a.m. Dorothy Nickel Friesen, Pastor 1021 Denison

VINEYARD CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP 627 Pecan Circle (across from Ho Manhattan, KS 66502

FIRST UNITED

METHODIST CHURCH

8:45 a.m. Communion

(first Sunday of the month)

9:45 a.m. Church School

8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship

Nursery provided for all services

John D. Stoneking, Pastor

&L Francis &

Canterbury Fellowship

Episcopal Campus Ministry

Holy Eucharist

Every Tuesday, 10 p.m. Danforth Chapel,

K-State Campus

Sunday Holy Eucharist Rite 1, 8:00 a.m. Rite 2, 10:30 a.m. St. Paul's Episcopal Church

6th & Poyntz

The Rev. Susan Sawyer,

Campus Chaplain 776-9427

612 Poyntz

(913) 539-0542 / 539-0590 Sunday Celebration at 10:30 a.m. Friday Night Kinship Group at 7:00 p.m.

Disciples of Christ 115 Courthouse Plaza 776-8790 Muslim Comm. Assoc. Friday's Prayer 12:30-1 p.m. Islamic Circle 6-8 p.m. Islamic School Sat. 1-3 p.m.

COLLEGE HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH

9:15 a.m. Sunday School

10:30 a.m. Worship Service

6 p.m. Training Hour 7 p.m. Worship Service 2221 College Heights Rd.

537-7744

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Church School-9:45 a.m.

Worship-8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m.

Sunday School 9 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

619 Sunset Ave. WESTVIEW COMMUNITY

CHURCH Worship 8 and 10:30 a.m. School of Christian Living 9:30 a.m. Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m.

1st, 3rd, & 5th Sundays CARE CELLS (small groups) 6 p.m. 2nd & 4th Sundays Office at 2607 Allison Ave. 3001 FT. RILEY BLVD.

537-7173 Valleyview Community Church

Campus Bible Study

Sunday Worship at 10:30 University Inn Lower Level For more information call 537-4602 Jeff Koester ... 776-0112 Dan Walter .....

University Parish of United Methodists Serving K-State

612 Poyntz Ave. 776-9278 Sheryl Witmer, Program Director

Objective Address Name Title Berevel by our original process from the theirest Hyss, Rice and Bast Barty Experience Anheuser-Busch

> If Budweiser is already your regular beer we'd like to say thanks for the business. If it's not, then we'd like to apply for the job.
>
> Of course our resume can only tell you who we are. To discover just how good we taste, we suggest you set

Bud and Bud Light Cans on Sale Now.

References

EDITORIAL

Roommates learn about censorship

was sitting quietly in the Union Stateroom, enjoying a brief lunch and reading about the rise and fall of the Third Reich, when my two roommates, Bart Bryce and Martin Martin, came storming around the corner with a large piece

"D.L.," Bart said, pushing Martin aside, "what is art?"

"What is obscenity?" Martin asked, pushing Bart aside.

'Should a moral nation fund immoral art?" "Can a moral nation afford to not fund im-

I closed my book, pushed away my lunch and leaned back.

"OK, Bart," I said. "What's going on?" "I had just come home from a fully funded meeting of the Concerned Students of the Non-Political, Moderately Extreme Right, and when I walked into our apartment I saw our roommate engaging in an act against nature. It was most vile. I looked at Martin.

"What were you doing, Martin?" I asked. "I was merely sketching, D.L.," he said, handing me the large sheet of paper he was carrying. "Expanding my artistic scope." "And you're not even an art major, Martin," I said.

Then I saw the picture. The scene depicted was, at best, unmentionable, and is best left to asked. "Jesse Helms?"

the reader's imagination. Suffice it to say that the drawing involved Farrell Library, mud, sheep, a broken umbrella, a tablespoon of sugar, a Wild Willie mug, a U.S. flag, two Friday issues of the Collegian, the Teenage Mut-ant Ninja Turtles, the Turtles' rat/master Splinter and two men with goat horns and sunflowers tied around their waists. I carefully set the drawing aside and wiped my hands with a napkin. I was no longer hungry. "That is skank, Martin," I said.

"Thank you, D.L.," he said, rolling up the drawing. "I'm glad to see I have achieved the highest level of art."

"It's not art," Bart interrupted. "Art is happy and positive. It makes us feel good when we look at it and it takes us away from our troubles for a few scant minutes."

"We ban everything else that makes us feel that way, Bart. Why should art be treated any differently?"

"Because art serves a social purpose. It is supposed to unite us, make us feel good. It should not offend us or call into question our beliefs. It should reaffirm them."

I nodded.

"A great politician once said almost that very same thing," I said.

Bart stood up straight. He seemed surprised, yet pleased.

"Pray tell, who said such a thing?" he

Dwayne Lively COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

"Close," I said, pointing to the thick black book on the table. "Adolf Hitler."

Bart turned a deep shade of red. Martin began laughing.

"There, there, Bart," Martin said. "He wasn't insulting your hero. He was just paraphrasing him."

He continued laughing.

art's face lightened after a while. "Adolf is not my hero, OK? I just think he had some good ideas. Martin's art proves Hitler's point. It's offensive. It should be burned. Look at what they're doing with the American flag, for goodness' sake."

"The sketch symbolizes the oppression of the mercantile culture and the dangers of water fluoridation in an environment of waste," Martin said. "Note the predominant use of makes you think it's art?" Martin looked at the sketch.

I cut Martin off.

"It's offensive," he said. "All good art is offensive."

"Offensive to whom?" I asked.

The closed-minded, or empty-minded proles who must be guided and directed toward real culture."

"Next thing you know," Bart muttered to himself, just loud enough for us to hear, 'they'll be painting nude women on the ceilings of churches.

I ignored the comment and continued with

"So your work is art because it's offensive?" "Yes."

"I agree that most good art tends to offend someone, because of its subject matter or its techniques, but just because it's offensive doesn't make it art, Martin." "It's about freedom of expression, D.L."

"I thought it was about elitism." "I thought it was about money," Bart said. "Maybe it is about money, Bart. You know that Robert Mapplethorpe exhibit in Cincinnati?' 'Yes, I am familiar with the works of

Robert the Abominator." "Well, the National Endowment for the

"I don't need to hear it," I said. "What Arts paid him about $30,000, and he produced 175 photos for that exhibit."

"My goodness," Bart said, figuring the amount in his head. "That's more than $171 per photo."

"And those dozen photos that are causing all the controversy cost the tax payers little more than $2,000.

"That's horrible," Bart said.

Martin had taken out a pen and was still trying to figure out the first amount. "And that means," I continued, "that if there are about 150,000,000 taxpayers, that we each payed almost .0014 of a cent for those vile photos." "Most horrible," Bart said.

"And imagine this also: We pay almost a buck and a half each for just one Stealth

"Well, that's different, D.L.," Bart said. "That's for our defense. I think a buck and a half isn't too much to pay for our safety." "But .0014 of a cent is too much to pay for freedom of expression, no matter how clean or obscene the expression?"

"Of course, D.L., we have laws against obscenity. There are no laws against Stealth Bombers."

"Maybe we should get some, Bart," I said. 'Maybe we should get some.'

Martin was still figuring.

Views of Palestinian, Israeli not irreconcilable

In January, Abba Eban, former Organization to reach some sort of Israeli ambassador to the United Nations and a member of the Israeli in the Middle East.

Wednesday, Riyad Mansour, Palestinian deputy ambassador to the U.N. and a member of the Palestinian National Council, lectured on the prospects of peace in the Middle East.

Two sides of an extremely complicated and important international issue have been presented to the University community within three months.

Taken together, the lectures offer a glimpse of the complexities of diplomacy and the process used by nations to reconcile conflicting interests.

Eban and Mansour each proposed solutions. Eban, who reflects the moderate side of Israeli politics, suggested a confederacy among Israel, Jordan and a Palestine carved from the Israelioccupied territories of the West Bank and Gaza. Mansour called for an independent Palestine based on the sovereign right of the Palestinian people.

match entirely, both Eban and Mansour emphasized the immediate need for meaningful negotiations between the Israeli government and the Palestine Liberation

e Year (Fall, Spring and Summer) settlement.

Both recognized the influential parliament, delivered a Landon role the U.S. government could Lecture on the prospects of peace have in forcing the Israelis to a negotiating table at which the PLO has been sitting for more than a

> Both seemed to realize that the situation in the occupied territories is slowly getting worse. The Intifada, the Palestinian uprising, has raged for two years. Several hundred Palestinians have been killed, thousands have been arrested and hundreds of thousands live without any sort of political rights under the supervision of the Israeli Defense Force.

Conservative members of the Israeli government claim the territories are necessary to ensure national security. But Israel's security is threatened even more by the Palestinians' increasingly vocal refusal to be dominated by the Israelis and by a political and moral conflict that is splitting Israeli public opinion over the country's commitment to democracy and freedom.

Both Mansour and Eban said to Although their proposals don't create a lasting peace between the Israelis and the Palestinians, the Israelis will have to give up the territories they have occupied since 1967.

Both are right.

... EITHER OPRAH IS GROWING A BEARD OR CASTRO IS JAMMING

DU contest not

went to the Delta Upsilon Calendar Girl Contest the other night. I had fun. Ha, you were expecting another article about how sexist the whole thing is, weren't you?

Actually, it was remarkably well run and fairly tasteful, considering that it was hosted by a fraternity, a rock radio station and a bar. The women were escorted by young men who, by all accounts, both looked and acted like gentlemen. Granted, there was a lot of screaming and yelling going on, but as far as I could tell, about half of it came from young women in the crowd who were friends of the women on the stage.

The calendar girl contest was a lot less sexist than another, similar function about which I didn't hear one word of complaint. At the Alpha Chi Omega Greek Playboy Contest, the male contestants came off the stage and allowed the judges to feel their muscles and paraded among the audience, flexing and showing off. They apparently enjoyed themselves immensely. The judges were women selected from campus sororities, as opposed to the calendar judges, who are members of the community carefully selected to insure a wide range of tastes. Yet there were no complaints about the men involved being discriminated against or "salivated on," even though that was undoubtedly going on.

This contest was also limited, as you can see by the title, to members of the greek community. While there have been some complaints about the selection process, the DUs do not limit the contest to greek women. In spite of this "discrimination," there were no protests and no letters to the Collegian about the greek playboy contest. Is all the fuss a product of the calendar girl contest's popularity? It seems to me that if something is worth objecting to, it is worth objecting to no matter how many people attend. It would be ridiculous to suppose the fuss is because the people on the stage are women, not men. That would be discrimination, wouldn't it?

Karin Dell'Antonia

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

There was also a Mr. Lungs contest a few weeks ago in the Union that featured nothing but pictures of men's chests - no faces. If they had been women I don't think we would have heard the end of it yet. This is not to mention the endless parades of Chippendale dancers and other male strippers who have passed through Manhattan without comment.

he fascination with the bodies of the opposite sex is not sexism, it's just sex, plain and simple. You may complain that only women participate in the calendar contest, but let's be honest who's going to buy a co-ed calendar of that sort? As a society, we may be placing too much emphasis on sex, but it is by no means one-sided. There are plenty of women out there drooling over men. Calling the calendar contest sexist is like calling the Miss Black Student Union contest racist. It's irrelevant.

This is not to say there is no longer any sexism in our society. There's plenty. You can find it in advertising, on television, in the workplace and in the home. The point I'm trying to make is if a man or a woman chooses to have his or her body and general appearance judged by a crowd in a bar, it is that person's right, and he or she should not be judged for that. I'd imagine winning something like that is a real boost to the ego.

I've also heard arguments to the effect that women, by participating in contests like the one sponsored by the DUs, give men the idea they might "want" to be raped. To use this as an argument against women participating in contests like the calendar contest is like arguing that people shouldn't buy expensive television sets because burglars might think they want to be robbed. The fault is not with the women, it is with the mentality of a man who would think that way. A man like that is going to rape anyway, using one excuse or

As far as I'm concerned, the worst piece of sexism to come out of this contest is that of women against other women. If women are ever going to become a force to be reckoned with in this world, we have to support each other's choices. A woman who has a beautiful body and chooses to show it should not be publicly ridiculed for her choice. Likewise, a woman who chooses to be a homemaker instead of a career woman has every right to her

By demanding every woman share the views of the local chapter of the National Organization for Women, we are merely stepping from one stereotype into another. The object of equality was not to turn women into imitations of the stereotypical man, but to offer women the same choices men have always had. This should include the choice to be a calendar girl as well as the choice to become a doctor or an auto mechanic. The object of women's liberation is to open doors, not close them.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR	Erwin Seb
	Paula Selb
	Catherine Dou
	Craig Hamric
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Eric Henry
	Brad Cam
	Chris Hay
	Ellen Dayton, Susan L'Ecuye
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Robert Shor
UEATURES EDITOR	Julie Andsage
APTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Jim Rouri
	Chris Koge
COPY CHIEF	Nancy Downing
COPY EDITORS	Wendy Nakoneczny, Jane Thompson, Angela Waltz
CTACE DEPORTERS	Lori Antrim, Paul Branson, Steve Franzen
STAFF KEI OKTERS	Cosima Hadidi, Lori Mikesell, Tomari Quinn, Melissa Simpson
SCIENCE PEPOPTER	Bryan Ackley
CTAUE DUCTOCRAPHERS	Margaret Clarkin, Oliver Kaubisch
Market Contract Contr	Brian Kratzer, Mark Leffingwell, David Mayes, Mike Venso, Steve Wolgast
SPORTS REPORTERS	Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan Wicker
COLUMNISTS	Kirk Caraway, Karin Dell'Antonia, Audra Dietz,
CODOTA 122 AS INTERNATIONAL PROPERTY OF THE PR	Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Mussman, Brad Seabourn
REVIEWERS	Mark Butler, Rod Gillespie,
	Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggins
STRIP CARTOONISTS	Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hayden
EDITORIAL CARTOONIST
EDITORIAL BOARD	Julie Andsager, Ellen Dayton, Catherine Doud,
EDITORIA DARD	Craig Hamrick, Eric Henry, Chris Koger,
	Susan L'Ecuyer, John Mussman, Jim Rourk
	Erwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svoboda
	Kirk Caraway
	Auto Seierre)
TO BE THE CONTRACT OF THE PARTY	student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications
The Kansas State Collegian (USI'S 291 U2U), a	The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and Mon
Inc., Kedzie Hail 103, Mannattan, Kan. 66506.	Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.
day and Thursday during summer sessions	Second class postage paid at Mannattan, Man. 500MZ.
	neas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.	the state of the s
News contributions will be accepted by t	telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.
Inquiries concerning local, national and class	ified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word adver-
tsing questions should be directed to (913)	532-6555.
	THE STATE OF THE S

Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates

Cold crew

Collegian Reporter

schools in the American Forensics

Association-National Individual

Event Tournament in Tuscaloosa,

K-State took 15 members to this competition and four made it to quar-instructor and director of forensics.

The tournament was Saturday between "the best of the best,"

the nation just being there (at nationals)," said Cindy Priest, junior in pre-pharmacy. Priest competed in the quarterfinals in the category of per-through Monday.

suasive presentation.

Brown said.

Kelly Schmidt, sophomore in humanities, rows in the stroke position for the Women's Novice Crew Team Thursday at Tuttle Creek Reservoir in preparation for this weekend's President's Regatta in Topeka.

many people who did so well," said terfinals in the category of after-dinner speaking. After-dinner speaking is a funny speech designed to per-suade through the humor.

letier said. "Seeing the competition rent experience. You learn a lot."

stand this level of forensic competi-

To someone who may not under-

Jason Brown, junior in theater, and Speech Unlimited took fourth at onmental design, also made it to the Novice Nationals in Hastings, Colo., earlier this year, Craig Brown said.

"(Nationals) was a lot of fun," Pel-

Waters film aims for mainstream

Mix of talented stars cast in 'Cry-Baby' combines teen exploitation, comedy

Mark Butler

REVIEW

Director John Waters may have finally succeeded in bringing his twisted visions of American life to the general public with his latest film, "Cry-Baby."

Waters, whose work overflows with camp and kitsch, has targeted the mainstream with "Cry-Baby." The film lacks some of the excess of the director's past works but is in no way denatured.

On the surface, the film cries "sellout." After all, it stars teen heartthrob Johnny Depp — star of the television show "21 Jump Street" — as a rebellious adolescent. To confuse matters further, a major promotional campaign plays up the romantic aspects of the film.

In the theater, it immediately becomes obvious that "Cry-Baby" is far from what the advance publicity promised. That point is reinforced as the film begins with a salvaged Universal Pictures logo from the fifties.

"Cry-Baby" begins with a classic dose of Waters' tackiness. The opening scene is a high school gym where polio vaccinations are underway. Waters does not stop at testing the boundaries of good taste by introducing the cast as they face giant hypodermic needles. His protagonists, "Cry-Baby" Walker and Allison Vernon-Williams, played by Depp and newcomer Amy Locane, go so far as to make eyes at each other during their shots.

Waters' directoral talent lies in the fact that he can keep such scenes from turning gory or sophomoric. The scene is uncomfortable to watch but it is also hysterically funny.

"Cry-Baby" walks a fine line between campy humor and lesser teen exploitation films but it manages to veer toward the former, for the most

Stripped of its character and script embellishments, "Cry-Baby" loosely updates "Romeo and Juliet" and relocates it to mid-20th century Baltimore.

Heroine Allison belongs to the Squares clique. The Squares lead a wholesome, unexciting life of charm schools and oxford cloth. However, one look at Drape leader "Cry-Baby" makes Allison want to forsake the Square lifestyle. The resistance from her grandmother and friends serves as the driving force of the plot.

If the plot sounds tired and uninventive, that's because it is. It is the execution of the plot that makes Cry-Baby" into a humorous film. In fact, the plot is often forgotten. Events take place without explanation and characters often waver in their actions.

Johnny Depp is a surprise as the romantic juvenile deliquent "Cry-Baby." He demonstrates the sensibility not to take himself seriously in a somewhat self-effacing role.

Depp's peak in the movie is the pivotal scene when he screams "Electricity makes me insane," after lightning strikes a nearby tree. Depp's explanation for his wattage-induced delirium is manic and bizarre. The scene is hysterical and is played to the hilt by the actor.

It seemed unrealistic to think that John Waters and Johnny Depp would have worked so well together. However, they make a great team in this

"Cry-Baby" twists the normal and the banal into surrealism. Waters celebrates the eccentric and ridicules the conformist. Consequently, the audience ends up cheering for the of-■ See CRY-BABY, Page 10

Club's goal enhances disabled

By The Collegian Staff

The K-State Horticulture Therapy Club and Big Lakes Developmental Center Inc. have formed a partnership designed to benefit Big Lakes clients with one-on-one vocational direction.

Big Lakes provides preschool, sheltered employment and residential services to disabled children and adults.

Richard Mattson, Horticulture Therapy Club adviser and professor of horticulture, said the club employs eight deve-lopmentally disabled clients and a trainer from Big Lakes.

The club members work one-on-one with Big Lakes clients on such projects as mixing soils, transplanting plants, and marketing plants and plant materials, Mattson said.

The clients work a few hours each Monday through Friday, he said. Between 12 and 15 student volunteers each work with the clients one day per week throughout the semester.

Mattson said the reason the club formed the partnership, called an enclave, was to get more directly involved in the Big Lakes training programs.

"We've been working with Big Lakes since the '70s and have become more involved through the enclave," he said.

Penny Stober, president of the Horticulture Therapy Club and graduate student in horticulture therapy, said the en-clave itself was formed this

"The goal of our club (for the Big Lakes project) is twofold," Stober said.

It gives many horticulture ■ See DOWN'S, Page 10

WESTLOOP CINEMA 6

TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLES PG TODAY AT 4:30 - 7:05 - 9:30 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 12:00 & 2:00

LOVE AT LARGER TODAY AT 4:40 - 7:10 - 9:35

LOVE YOU TO DEATH R TODAY AT 4:40 - 7:10 - 9:35

ATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:10 THE FIRST POWER

TODAY AT 4:40 - 7:10 - 9:40 AATINEE SAT, & SUN. AT 2:10 OPPORTUNITY KNOCKSPG-13 TODAY AT 4:35 - 7:05 - 9:40

MATINEE SAT. & SUN AT 2:10 THE HUNT FOR RED OCTOBERPG TODAY AT 4:15 - 7:00 - 9:45 MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 1:30

TODAY AT 7:00 AND 9:20 MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 2:20 & 4:40

Weekend Drink Special Sex on the Beach & Sea Breeze $1.50

COMEDY INVASION Mon. & Tues. 9 p.m.

Jaz Kaner

The African Students Union expresses sincere thanks

Team finishes 43rd

Speech Unlimited, K-State's fore-nsics team, finished 43rd out of 119 Pelletier also made it to the quarterfinals, said Craig Brown, speech on the national level is really a diffe-

The AFA-NIET is a competition tion, it may seem that the team did not do well, Priest said.

"You're in the top 10 percent of Shelah Shanks, sophomore in envirquarterfinals.

By Angle Huff "It was really exciting to have that to the participants and all who attended the African Night and wishes them a Happy and Solemn Easter Season

Coffee and a Collegian... A Good Habit.

Look No Further...

Villa 11

526 N. 14th

310

Gold Key 375 428-430 N. 6th

776-1111

EGNANCY ESTING ENTER 39-3338 PREGNANCY

GIVE YOUR SPECIAL SOMEBUNNY

A MONOGRAM FOR EASTER!

- Greek Lettering T-Shirts
- Sweatshirts
- Boxer Shorts

Manhattan Town Center

776-6767

MONOGRAMO

BAYSTREET

TONIGHT -

Ladies Night FREE Burgers 4-7 $2.75 Long Island Teas

SATURDAY

NO COVER WITH STUDENT I.D. 50¢ Tequila Shots

SPRING

Are you looking for season-long interest from low maintenance plant Let Horticultural Service's professions suggest perennials!

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES GARDEN

good thing growing for you

VIRTUOSO KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Portrait of an rtist

ue Nielsen-Atchison the art teacher is a "jack of

At Riley County High School, she teaches drawing, painting, design, sculpting, pottery, basket weaving, photography — even stained glass creation.

"I realized that it's probably the only exposure 99 percent of those kids are going to have to art," Nielsen-Atchison said. "The more I expose them to, the more appreciation they'll have for it." Nielsen-Atchison the artist is also a "jack of all trades."

"It's also bothered me that I don't have a style of my own, and I fought with that for a while," she said.

"But people tell me it's good not to get stuck doing the same things." She said she often changes from technical to abstract styles.

"When I'm doing something really tight, and concentrating on technique, I get the urge to do something unplanned," she said. "Abstracts are on more of an emotional level. You concentrate on color and form, and not so much technique."

Recently, Nielsen-Atchison has become interested in photography, photocopying black and white pictures and adding color. She did similar work in college, except that there weren't any high-tech photocopiers then, she said. "There were these layers of material you would lay on a picture, and when you lifted it off, it made a copy," she said.

Sue Nielsen-Atchison draws a portrait of her oldest son from a photograph taken when he was a young child. When away from her job as an art teacher at Riley County High School, Nielsen-Atchison works out of a small studio in her basement.

Nielsen-Atchison uses various media in her work, including colored pencils. Before a piece is finished, It will have been drawn and shaded several times.

Photos By Mike Venso

Story By Heather Anderson

"It reminds me of what Picasso said: 'I searched my whole life to draw like a child.' I've gone full circle back to when I first started." Originally from Russell, Nielsen-Atchison graduated from Fort Hays State University with a bachelor's degree in art education. She said she has had an interest in art since childhood.

"When I didn't have anything to do, my mother would give me the box of art supplies, and I'd make Christmas cards."

'My mother said she always knew I'd be an art teacher," Nielsen-Atchison said. "Commercial art wasn't something I wanted to do. Being an artist for a living just didn't seem feasible."

owever, when Nielsen-Atchison lived in Oregon for four years, she sold paintings there. "I grew quite a bit as an artist there. Because it's on the coast, a lot of people would come and give workshops, and I got to study with some really good people," she said. When she took over the Riley County art program six years ago, the school was considering eliminating the program altogether,

"They had an English teacher who was teaching some art classes, and they had almost decided to do away with art," Nielsen-Atchison

Nielsen-Atchison called the school, looking for a part-time teaching job. She was just what RCHS needed. As an art teacher, Nielsen-Atchison works with some children who have had no art classes and others who are advanced. Because there are no elementary school classes at the Riley County schools, she often gets seventh graders who have never taken an art

"We spend most of our time working on technique," she said. However, a lack of exposure does not inhibit the students, she said. "That's what keeps me in teaching," she said.

"The kids are fun to work with and fun to know, and they're interesting to have in a class. They like to try new things."

Nielsen-Atchison said that she has just as many boys as girls in her classes, and they don't feel any pressures because they are boys. "They found that they like making baskets, and sometimes it surprises them," she said.

She said her junior high classes are planning to paint a mural on the cement playground slab at school. "They're coming up with ideas for it now, and they're having a lot of fun," she said.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

First-place 'Cats face Mizzou

By David Svoboda Sports Reporter

And now the hunter becomes the hunted.

This weekend at Frank Myers Field, the K-State baseball team enters its third Big Eight series. The Wildcats are atop the conference standings, and after the four-game set with Missouri has been completed, half of the conference campaign will have gone by.

As the Lady Cat basketball team discovered during the second half of its season after ripping through the first portion 7-0, life at the top can be tough.

Mike Clark realizes his team possesses the spot the other six teams in the league are shooting to hold at season's end, but he's thinking of things one game at a time.

"We just went through a stretch of eight games where we competed inning for inning with these people," Clark said of the eight games against Oklahoma and Kansas that led to the 6-2 K-State record in conference play. "And the nice thing about it — and the kids know this is that we haven't played our best game yet."

Clark and his team would no doubt like to have four "best" games this weekend against the Tigers, who handed K-State three defeats in four games last season in Columbia, Mo. In that series, the Tigers won the opening and final games of the set by eight- and 11-run margins. Only game No. 2, a 13-1, three-hit win for David Hierholzer, went to the Wildcats.

"Our kids didn't like what hap-pened last year at Missouri at all," Clark said. "And they want to do something about it."

If K-State is to avenge last season's roughing up at the hands of the Tigers, Hierholzer figures to be a key.

The Big Eight leader in earned run average was beaten last weekend by the Jayhawks, 4-3, and his ERA went from 0.43 to 1.08. That's not a dramatic jump, but it was enough to spur the righthander to push himself even harder.

And with Hierholzer fired up, Clark had no doubt as to who would be starting the first nine-inning game of the series. He'll be giving the ball to the man his teammates call "Harry."

"Dave wants the ball pretty bad right now," Clark said. "And there's no question he can go nine innings. Our feeling about Dave (following the loss at KU) was to get him back on the hill. And he had such a good ballgame against Missouri last Throwing the other nine-inning contest for K-State will be Kent Hipp, the junior from Great Bend, who is 2-0 in the conference. He threw eight innings against Oklahoma without allowing an eamed run, and tossed a complete game against KU.

Chris Hmielewski - who had been one of K-State's nine-inning performers - and Sean Pedersen will throw the two seven-inning tilts in the series.

Pedersen is coming off what was arguably his poorest outing of the year, at KU, but Clark said when the freshman threw on the side earlier this week, he was back to normal.

"He looked like his old self again," Clark said. "He had some good pop, and he was putting his breaking ball where he wanted it. You have to remember that he's still a freshman, and he's experiencing things as a freshman - like bad

Men

linksters

at Vandy

From Staff and Wire Reports
NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The KState men's linksters will compete in the Vanderbilt Music City Intercollegiate Golf Tournament beginning today and continuing through Sunday.

The Hermitage, a par-72 course just 15 minutes outside of Nashville. The Hermitage is a 6,750-yard, tight-driving course with eight lakes spread out across 150 acres of rolling of senior Jeff Sedorcek, sophomores

Brett Vuillemin, Brad Stephens and Chris Thompson, and freshman Ri-most consistent for the 'Cats, and the two are leading the team in stroke av-interesting blend of experience," said head coach Russ Bunker. "We're a fairly young team, so we are going to try and be very aggressive out on the

That aggressive style of play led

"We've tried everything else and it

The K-State men will be looking the Wildcats to a come-from-behind.

second-place finish this past week at didn't seem to work," Bunker said. "I think this is what we needed to turn to improve this weekend and then carry it over to the Big Eight Champ-

Women

golfers in Ohio

From Staff and Wire Reports

ing at the Lady Buckeye Spring Golf

Invitational on Saturday and Sunday.

The tournament site will be the Ohio

Saturday and 18 holes on Sunday.

18 teams has been scheduled. Three of those teams are in the top 25. Kentucky (15), Indiana (18) and Alabama (24) will provide others such as Representing K-State will be se-and Adena Hagedorn and freshman forward to competing at Ohio State again. Last fall, the women set a school record for the lowest team stroke total at a tournament (1,004)

during the Fall Invitational at Ohio

State. Four members of that team will

This competition will be the first for Hagedorn, who sat out the first tournament of the season for undisclosed reasons. Hagedorn was second on the squad in stroke average be competing this weekend.

The Wildcat women are looking

Valerie Hahn.

The Wildcats will play 36 holes on

A tournament field consisting of State Gray Course in Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Ohio - K-State's women's golf team will be competerage at 75.9 (8 rounds).

the Missouri Invitational.

ionships April 26-27.

Sedorcek and Laing have been the

"As you can see, this team has an chard Laing.

course."

us around."

The Wildcat fivesome will consist

The tournament will be played at

Coach Mike Clark and his squad made last-day preparations Thursday for their Big Eight Conference series with Missouri, which begins today at 5 p.m. at Frank Myers Field with a single, nine-inning game.

outings - that other people experience as seniors."

Pedersen, who is sixth in the Big Eight in ERA with a 3.55 mark, gives K-State two leaders in that department. The Wildcats top the ERA category as a team as well, registering a 4.24 mark in league play.

Offensively, the Wildcats enter their first series in conference play without first baseman/designated hitter Kevin Kaufman, who is third in the league in hitting in conference games only.

But K-State may see another key performer - preseason All-American Russ Ringgenberg - return to action against Missouri.

Ringgenberg underwent disc surgery on his back during the offseason, and was to go to the doctor this morning to receive final clearance to play against Mizzou.

If Ringgenberg returns to the fold, he'll move into the outfield as a starter, and Brian Culp - who leads the team in RBIs in Big Eight play - will become the DH. If Ringgenberg does not come back, Culp will be in left and Jeff Ryan or Blair Hanneman will DH.

With Hmielewski on the mound, Hanneman will be the first baseman for just the second time in his col-

■ See 'CATS, Page 10

Netters travel to league leader Oklahoma St said. "It's going to depend on the about the way we played against ence. They have also just returned

By Dan Wicker

Sports Reporter

"Alive" is the word Coach Steve Bietau used to describe how he wants the K-State tennis squad to escape from its match with Oklahoma State Sunday

The 'Cats will travel to Stillwater, Okla., for a 1 p.m. meeting with last year's Big Eight Conference champions and this year's favorite to win it again. Oklahoma State is also ranked 12th nationally and last week defeated USC, the No. 4 team in the

The Oklahoma State match will be quite different from the Missouri match on Wednesday, which the K-State netters won easily with a 9-0

"(Oklahoma State) is almost the other extreme from Missouri. They are so much stronger than the other teams that I don't know if it is realistic to expect your team to win the match." Bietau said. "I think it is reasonable to expect your team to make every effort to win the match and play the best they possibly can."

However, he said the team's hopes are higher than this, and they won't roll into Stillwater with a losing attitude.

"No one is going to go down there expecting to lose. That's not going to happen, but I don't think anyone's going to go down there and get couple of competitive singles crushed if they don't either," Bietau matches," Bietau said. "I felt good kind of effort they make and how well, in our minds, we feel like we

Oklahoma State handed K-State a with its same game plan, being at the

No one is going to go down there expecting to lose. - Steve Bietau , tennis coach

we had a chance to win. We had a them."

Although the team will be facing one of the most challenging matches In the conference match last year of the season, K-State will remain 9-0 loss in a match in which Bietau midway point of the conference season.

"The things we are going to try to do will not be any different than with any other opponent," Bietau said. "The fact that Oklahoma State is so strong just makes it that much more difficult to accomplish those things."

ably compete at the No. 1 singles position at any school in the confer-from California where they claimed victories against San Diego, San Diego State, Pepperdine and USC.

'Not only is Oklahoma State a very talented team, it appears that they are playing awfully well right now, too," Bietau said.

K-State netter Helen Schildknecht continued her undefeated conference season with a 6-0, 6-1 victory over Missouri's Jenny Clark. Schildknecht is now 4-0 in Big Eight singles play and will put that record in lahoma State, to face the Sooners of Oklahoma Monday.

Michigan, Michigan State, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Purdue and the said he was not overly disappointed. jeopardy this weekend. In an example of just how tough host Buckeyes plenty of competition. "We played well against them. We K-State will venture on to Northe Cowgirls are, Bietau said they man, Okla., after its match with Okhad a three setter in three doubles that have four players who could probnior Jill Zientara, junior Chris Adams, sophomores Theresa Coyle

By Chris Hays

Sports Editor Because he anticipates more competition at the Nebraska Invitational Saturday, track coach John Capriotti opted a few weeks back to nix a scheduled meet at Wichita State and add the 'Husker meet in Lincoln.

"I thought there would be more solid competition than there would be in Wichita," Capriotti said.

The meet will be run in a quadrangular format with host Nebraska, Minnesota and Missouri also competing.

We will be able to tell a little bit of where we are compared to the other teams in the Big Eight," Capriotti said. "We'll be starting to run have a chance to qualify this to all of the relays like last week at the Texas Relays.

"We've got to start to get going now, as the weather permits. It hasn't been very good weather this spring, but now we've got to start running faster, jumping higher and throwing farther.'

If the temperature stays in the 60s, like the forecast says for Saturday, Capriotti will be looking for a couple of athletes to possibly qualify for the NCAA Championships.

Decathlete Steve Fritz has been the only national qualifier so far this

Capriotti said Angie Miller could more individual events, as opposed weekend with good tosses in the dis- distance runner David Warders is cus and the shot put. Miller has won consecutive Big Eight titles at the outdoor meet last year and this past indoor season.

Connie Teaberry could unleash a national-qualifying leap in the high jump at any time, Capriotti said, while he also looks for Joy Jones to eventually qualify in the 400 meters. Capriotti said long jump and triple jump standout Clifton Etheridge has been competing well. As far as injuries are concerned, the K-State squad has been hampered by a few. Hurdler and jumper Charles Armstead has a sore hamstring muscle, sprinter Tyrone Watkins has a sore muscle behind his knee, while team couldn't keep Mark Langston from taking himself out of the game.

seventh inning; I threw a lot of pitches early in the game," said the California Angels' new $16 million

And so, on the night of his debut,

Langston left after seven innings

Wednesday and listened to the radio in the trainer's room as Mike Witt finished with two perfect innings for a rare combined no-hitter and a 1-0 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

It was only the fifth combined,

nine-inning no-hitter in the majors

The last two innings, I was just and the first since 1976.

left-hander.

"Basically, I hit the wall in the Track squad ventures to still recovering from appendicitis.

> The K-State coach also said he will be looking for the 4x100-meter relay teams to improve, as well as the men's and women's javelin

> Capriotti and his squad will next be at the KU Relays in Lawrence, which begin Wednesday with the multi-events.

BIG EIGHT HONOR ROLL (K-State athletes only) WOMEN 100 meters - Latricia Joyner, 5th, 12.0; 400 meters - Joy Jones, 2nd, 55.0; 1,500 meters -Paulette Staats, 5th, 4:30.78; 100-meter hurdles

- Karen McGaughey, 9th, 15.8; 4x100-meter 5-8%; Long jump - Carla Shannon, 1st, 8-11%; Shot put - Angie Miller, 1st, 50-1, Shannon Flanagan, 7th, 42-5%; Discus - Angie Miller, 1st, 164-7, Shannon Flanagan, 2nd, 148-11, Julie Meyer, 7th, 139-10; Javelin - De-

100 meters - Clifton Etheridge, 7th, 10.8; 400 meters — Tyrone Watkins, 3rd, 47.1, Corey King, 8th, 48.5; 5,000 meters - Ron-Smith, 8th, 15:00.0; 110-meter hurdles - Antoine Dulan, 10th, 15.2; 400-meter hurdles - Butch Copeland, 10th, 56.6; 4x100-meter relay - 4th, 41.2; 4x400-meter relay - 4th, 3:14.8; Decathlon -Steve Fritz, 1st, 7,643; Triple jump - Dwayne Murphy, 9th, 46-2, Brian Sawyer, 10th, 45-51/4; Javelin - Pat Allen, 2nd, 205-11, Richard Croll, 3rd, 205-8, Matt Thorne, 4th, 197-0.

MEN

relay - 3rd, 46.52; 4x800-meter relay - 3rd, 9:07.0; High jump - Connie Teaberry, 3rd, bbie Schmidt, 6th, 141-4, Karen McGaughey, 9th, 116-7.

> last season at 84.9. Adams leads the team this season with a three-round stroke average of 85.3. Hahn is second at 89.0, while the rest of the team is over 90. The K-State women will be at the Illini Spring Classic April 20-21 in preparation for the April 23-24 Big Eight Championships.

Angels' Langston, Witt toss no-hitter

SPORTS BRIFFLY

Kruger names assistants

GAINESVILLE, Fla. - Two former K-State assistant coaches will follow head coach Lon Kruger to the University of Florida, he said Thursday. Robert McCullum and Ron Stewart will be involved in all aspects of the program, from coaching to recruiting, Kruger said. Stewart, 40, spent the past four seasons at K-State. He is a former high school coach and former assistant at Nebraska and McCullum, 35, joined Kruger at K-State last season. Prior to that he spent two seasons as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at Southern Illinois.

Johanning signs with KU

LAWRENCE — The Kansas basketball program said Thursday that a 6-10 player from Hutchinson Community College had signed a letter of intent to become a Jayhawk.

David Johanning, a forward and center who helped lead Hutchinson to a 29-5 record last season and a second-place fin-ish in Region VI, was selected to the All-Jayhawk Community rebounds last season.

Johanning originally went to Clemson but did not play because of an injury

College Conference team.

pitching on adrenalin. My arm speed just wasn't there," said Langston, The Wichita native averaged 10 points and a team-high eight who threw 98 pitches. He struck out three and walked four.

Langston had control problems early - he walked two of the first working in relief - and earning his

Royals rained out; Tartabull on DL

By The Associated Press KANSAS CITY, Mo. - The Kansas City Royals and the ANAHEIM, Calif. - Even the lure of a no-hitter against his former Baltimore Orioles were rained out of their scheduled game at Royals' Stadium Thursday night.

The Royals also placed outfielder Danny Tartabull on the 15-day disabled list Thursday with a torn muscle in the calf of his right leg.

Nebraska meet

three batters he faced - and often fell behind the hitters. But, with the help of two double plays, he never allowed a runner past first base. Still, California manager Doug Rader never planned to let him pitch as long as he did.

"I let him go on," Rader said. "There were extenuating circumstances, you know. We let him dictate the terms. He started to lose it in the seventh. I kept asking him every inning, starting with the fourth, how he felt. He finally admitted he was done.' Witt, bumped from the starting rotation by Langston's arrival, was first save - for the first time since

"It's a weird feeling to combine on it," Witt said. "I understood the job I had to do, to keep the 1-0 lead. But in the back of my mind, I knew I didn't want to give up a hit." Witt pitched California's last nohitter, a season-ending perfect game against Texas on Sept. 30, 1984, He hoped his relief outing might have improved his chances of breaking back into a starting job - anywhere. "I don't want to stay in the bullpen," he said. "If anybody is looking for a starter, I'm sure I helped my

The combined no-hitter was the first since John Odom and Francisco Barrios of Chicago teamed up to beat Oakland on July 26, 1978.

The Langston-Witt effort was the eighth no-hitter in Angels' history and the first against the Mariners in their 14-year history.

It also was baseball's first nineinning no-hitter since Cincinnati's Tom Browning pitched a perfect game against Los Angeles on Sept. 16, 1988. The last American League no-hitter was by Milwaukee's Juan Nieves against Baltimore on April 15, 1987. Adding to the drama of Langston's performance was that it came against his former teammates.

"It was stunning," he said. "I tried to imagine what my first game would be like, against Seattle and all. Believe me, I didn't imagine anything close to this.

"I couldn't have written it any better. You want to start off on the right foot, and I feel very grateful for the way it turned out.'

County to offer Law Day trials

By The Collegian Staff

Pre-law students will participate in a mock trial sponsored by the Riley County Bar Association in conjuction with National Law Week, April 30-May 6.

The trial is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. May 1 in Division II of Riley County District Court, said Brenda Bell, a Manhattan attorney in the law offices of Everett, Seaton and Miller.

Bell is the coordinator of the Law Day effort for Riley County and came up with the idea for the mock trial.

"I thought it might be interesting for pre-law students to see how a trial works," she

Bell said the mock trial will involve a drunk driving incident.

The case will be heard by Judge Jerry L. Mershon. In addition, two local attorneys will act as counsel for the state and defense and two pre-law students will serve as co-counsel, one for the state and one for the defense, she said.

Bell said other pre-law students will be asked to serve as witnesses and members of the jury.

Pre-law adviser Nancy Twiss said about 40 students have signed up to attend the mock trial and she said more may sign up.

One way-$25, $22, $10

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES One day: 15 words or fewer, $2.50, 20 cents per word over 15; Two conse tive dates: 15 words or fewer, $3.50, 25 cents per word over 15; Three con: tive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.25, 30 cents per word over 15; Four conse tive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.00, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Announcements

- A BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics. Janet Milliken, 539-9469.
- ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

VISA OR MASTERCARD! Even if bankrupt or bad credit!

We guarantee you a card or double your money back. Call 1-805-682-7555 EXT. M-1199. (call 7 days a week)

Read the Collegian, and the Mind.

K.C.I.

Prices

Run-101 4:40 a.m., 103 8:40 a.m., 104 11:30 a.m., 105 2:30 p.m., 107 6:00 p.m.

201 7:30 a.m., 203 11:45 a.m., 204 2:15 p.m., 205 5:30 p.m., 207 10:45 p.m.

Arrival K.C.I.-7 a.m., 11:10 a.m., 2 p.m., 5 p.m., 8:30 p.m.

Seafood Buffet

4:30-9:30 p.m.

Buffet

11 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

1304 Westloop

Arrive Holidome-9:45 a.m., 2 p.m., 4:30 p.m., 7:45 p.m., 1 a.m.

Military & Senior Citizen(62 & over)

Group Discounts available. Call 537-2086 or 1-800-826-8294

Open 7 days a week

Restaurant

Good Friday

Easter Sunday

Free delivery 11 a.m.-10 p.m.

Road Runner

LET US DO THE DRIVING

Save over 50% on connection to K.C.I.

Purchase your ticket with the driver anytime

$7.45

$7.45

539-8888

Children (2-12)

round trip-$46, $44, $20

Local Owners: Glenn & Ann Puett

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp,

- airplanes. 539-6193. FALL SCHEDULE change: ENGL/LING 796 Theories of Grammar meets Wednesday, not Monday.
- OUT OF summer sorts? ENGL/ML 600 Principles of Linguistics, ENGL/ML/LING 603 Topics: Linquistic Science Fiction. SUMMER WORK— Make $5,000. Travel, build resum gain experience. Call 537-8813.

2 Apartments—Furnished

- BEST DEAL for summer lodging! Two-bedroom, fully furnished, and one block away from campus. Regularly $227/ month for one person. Now being offered for $145/ monthly each, 776-2157.
- FOR AUGUST— Next to KSU. Deluxe two-bedroom apartment for three people. $420 plus utilities. Also two-bedroom basement apartment at 312 N. 15th. Water, trash, heat paid. Now until July. $250. For August, $275, 539-2482 after 4p.m.
- JUNE— FURNISHED one- and two-bedroom apart-ments. $300, $350, utilities paid. 776-2253. LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. 539-1465.
- NEXT TO campus— Apartment complex, 1832 Claffin Road across Goodnow and Mariatt. One bedroom, furnished, central air, off-street parking, quiet. Evenings 639-2702.
- NICE, TWO-BEDROOM apartment available in May for lease or rent. Perfect location. Call 778-0941. ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO in complex, 1219 Claffin. Next to campus. $275 plus electric plus deposit. August, June lease. No pets. 537-1180.
- SUMMER SUBLEASE— Spacious two bedroom, furnished. Close to campus. $360. Call 537-8818. TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT for sublease. Close to campus, everything included. Rent negotiable. Call 539-0926.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

- AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom, ground floor duplex. Laundry room, nice yard. 539-3672 evenings. LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coin-operated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required. $290. 539-1465.
- ONE-BEDROOM, clean, carpeted, central air, no pets, 5th and Osage. $265 plus utilities, water, trash.
- PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two-bedroom. Close to campus. 776-8381.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

AVAILABLE JUNE or August. 10 or 12 month le Convenient locations. No pets. 537-8389.

AVAILABLE MAY, June, July and August. One-bedroom, $240-$280. No pets. Lease required. Call

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

- LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.
- ONE- AND two-bedroom apartments near campus and Westloop area. Call 776-1340.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS

1408 Cambridge Place-539-2951 •1 and 3 bedroom ·2 swimming pools and a heated spa ·Some utilities paid ·Across the street from Westloop Shopping Center ·Free private bus to campus leaving every hour.

Pre-leasing for Fall

IT'S TOO LATE! 1 BR Apartments

DON'T WAIT UNTIL

still available, but filling up fast! For best June or August selection

CALL TODAY

776-3804

McCullough Development

5 Automobile for Sale

1978 ALFA Romaso convertible for sale. Red, with new top, new tires and great stereo with cassette and equalizer. $3,750. Call John 1-456-7050.

1978 PONTIAC Grand Prix. Good condition, rebuilt engine, $1,800. 776-1964.

Arts and Science Student of the Semester

All students in the College of Arts and Sciences are eligible and encouraged to apply. Applications are available in the Arts and Sciences Deans Office.

Applications are due by April 13.

EASTER SPECIAL

Rent one movie on Saturday, get the second one for Due back Monday. Closed Sunday.

1317 Anderson

537-7717

3005 Anderson

These Wings

Will Let Your Career Soar

As a Continental FLIGHT ATTENDANT your career will soar with a starting salary of $14.00 per flight hour. In addition to the 83 hours guaranteed for Reserve Flight Attendants, you will also receive unique travel privileges.

QUALIFICATIONS:

Customer Service Experience
 At least 20 years of age
 A High School Diploma or equivalent (2 or 4 year college degree preferred)

een 50" and 6'2" (wi

All applicants must be willing to relocate to one of the following locations: Houston, TX: Denver, CO; Honolulu, HI; Los Angeles, CA; Newark, NJ; Cleveland, OH or Seattle, WA.

For further information, please send a letter requesting an application to: Continental Airlines, Att: Flight Attendant Recruiting P.O. Box 4748, Dept. COL, Houston, TX 77210-4748

An Equal Opportunity Employe

1985 PLYMOUTH Voyager LE mini, one owner, excellent condition, air, standard. AM/FM, live-seater. See for yourself. On Fort Riley. $6,950.

ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT-seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. A-1797.

IS IT true... Jeeps for $44 through the government? Call for facts! 1-708-742-1142 Ext. 3286A. PONTIAC PHOENIX, mid-size, V6, four-door, 85,000 miles, great mechanical, interior, exterior condition. $1,800. 539-0914.

6 Child Care

NANNIES- YEAR-LONG child care position. East Coast. Airfare, good salary, benefits. Screened families. Fun group activities. Princeton Nanny, 301 N. Harrison St. #416, Princeton, NJ 08540. 609-497-1195.

7 Computers

DISKETTES- 5% " HDs, 78e; 3% " DDSDs, 78e; 3%" HDs, $1.99. King Clone Computers, 1221 Moro.

SAVE $$$. 15% off on new books featuring titles concerning Autocad, Wordperfect 5.0 and 5.1, Wordstar, Lotus, Magellan, as well as upgrading and repairing microcomputers. PC Magazines' DOS Powerbools including disk with 1,275 pages—suggested retail $44.95, on sale for $35. Computer disks— DS/DD 5¼ -inch, 10 with smoked acrylic case, $10. Disk case for 5¼ -inch holds 70 disks—$9.95. Disk case for 3¼ -inch hold 50 disks—$6.95. $8.95. Disk case for 31/4 -inch hold 50 disks—$6.95. DS/HD 1.44 31/4 -inch disks— 10 for $18.50. Mark Berg or contact ABACUS Computer & Supply, 1111 Waters, 539-7007. Pager phone number 537-5930. Leave your number and wait for "thank you."

TANDY 2000, color monitor, two 5¼ -inch disk drives, 256K. Best offer. Call Larry at 537-4625.

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

also servicing ·PC compatibles & printers •Televisions & VCRs

BIG Screen TV Rental MIDWEST

SERVICES 624 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Manhattan 913-776-6650 m

8 Employment

ACT IN TV commercials. High pay, No experience. All ages—kids, teens, young adults, families, mature people, animals, etc. Call nowl Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702.

532-6555

- ATTENTION: HIRING government jobs— your area. $17,840- $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext R1797.
- ATTENTION: EASY work, excellent payl Assemble products at home. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext.
- ATTENTION: EXCELLENT income for home assembly work. Information. Call 504-646-1700 Dept. P6438.
- ATTENTION: EARN money watching TVI $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext
- TV-1797. BARTENDERS, PART-TIME for special functions for
- Bockers Two Catering Service. Apply in person at 2321 Skyview. Must be 21. Experience not

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan

- bys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, watersking, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B, Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093, 708-448-2444. CONSTRUCTION HELP wanted: Construction firm in
- NSTRUCTION HELP wanted: Construction firm in Valit, Colo., seeking qualified person with construc-tion management or civil engineering degree. Surveying and commercial or residential construc-tion experience desired. Send resume to Craig Bruntz, c/o D.V.C., 1000 S. Frontage Road West, Suite 202, Vail, CO 81657,
- DESPERATELY NEED a person who is able to teach basic English to a German-speaking person for two weeks in the summer, approximately four hours per day. Pay negotiable. Contact 1-784-4122 after
- DUDE RANCH in Colorado Mountains looking for summer help. Need wranglers, assistant cooks, waitress/ cabin people. Don K. Ranch, 2677 S. Siloam Road, Pueblo, CO 81005; 719-784-6600.
- EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288. EXPERIENCED WAITERS and waitresses. Apply now at Hibachi Hut. Must be able to work lunch 11a.m.-2p.m. Apply in person.
- FAMILY WANTS college girl to live in for full school year, non-smoker. Food and lodging in exchange for duties. Write: Box 2, Collegian, KSU, Manhattan,

__J on page 9)

If you need abortion or birth

control services, we can help. Confidential pregnancy testing-Safe, affordable abortion services-Birth control-Tubal ligation-Gyn exams-

Testing and Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. Providing quality health care to women since 1974. Insurance, VISA & Mastercard accepted.

omprehensive Lealth for Women

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roc) Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400 Toll Free 1-800-227-1918

1. Kicking back and relaxing on a Friday afternoon after a most heinous week.

2. Blowing the froth off a few.

Jiffin' starts here at 2:00 p.m. with $2.75 Busch 60 oz. Pitchers!

702 North 11th

776-0077

Aggieville, USA

FREE TRAVEL benefits! Cruise ships and casinos now hiring! All positions! Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext. Y-1797.

GODFATHER'S PIZZA is now hiring for all positions for summer help. Delivery drivers have the opportunity to make competitive wages with flexible hours. Apply in person between 2p.m. and 5p.m. 1120 Laramie.

HOTEL/ RESTAURANT majors, seniors— Have you made your career choice yet? Call 1-800-545-9708.

INTERN— KANSAS Farm Bureau is offering the opportunity of a Video Production Intern. Must be at least a junior standing and have completed video production classes. Prefer familiarity with radio production. Apply to: Dr. Paul Prince, Kedzie 104A; or Dr. Larry Erpelding, Waters 117. Applicat deadline is April 27. EOE mt/h/v.

INTERN- KANSAS Farm Bureau is offering opportunity of a Publications Intern. Mustbe at least a junior standing, have completed Reporting I (prefer Reporting II) and be familiar with editing. design and photography. To apply contact: Dr. Paul Prince, Kedzie 104A; or Dr. Larry Erpelding, Waters 117. Application deadline is April 27. EOE m/t/h/v.

NATIONAL MARKETING firm seeks part-time indivi-dual to manage on-campus promotion. Must have strong communication skills and be well organized. Call Amy or Jeanine at 1-800-592-2121.

KJCK-AM 1420 Country is looking for a part-time announcer to fill a Monday- Friday evening plus Sunday afternoon position. Radio experience is preferred but will train the right person. Call Mark, 778-9494 or 782-5525 between 10a.m. and 2p.m. KJCK EOE.

RESPIRATORY THERAPY Instructor/ Director of Clinical Education— Nine-month position; responsibili-ties: lecture and laboratory classes, content and quality of clinical phase, 20 contact hours per week, quality of clinical phase, 20 contact hours per week, participation on committees, councils; qualifications: associate's in respiratory therapy, registration as a respiratory therapist, four years full-time experience (at least two in teaching) required; bachelor's, prior teaching experience preferred. COUNSELOR— 10-month position; responsibilities: personal, career, educational, transfer counseling; testing and piscernent services; teaching college orientation/ Career and Life planning; sponsoring Student Life. Qualifications: master's and prior teaching/ counseling experience required; college level teaching and/ or counseling experience, attendance or graduation from a community college preferred. BEHAVIORAL SCIENCE/ Education Instructor

Nine-month position; responsibilities: teaching 32 hours per academic year in Behavioral Science/Education, sponsoring Student Government Association; qualifications: bachelor's and prior teaching experience required; master's, college-level teaching experience, attendance or graduation from a community college preferred. Send letter of application, resurr lend letter of application, resume, transcripts, three references to Don Guild, dean of instruction, Seward County Community College, Box 1137, Liberal, KS 67905-1137, AA/EOE.

LAWN CARE person wanted for large apartment community. Responsible for the maintenance of grounds and swimming pools. Horticulture or agri-cultural background helpful. Full time April through August. Send resume to Collegian, Box 8, Kedzie Hall, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

STUDENT TO do lawn care for apartment houses:
Mowing, raking, maintaining flower beds and ground cover areas. Horticultural or agricultural background helpful. Begin immediately. Part-time spring semester, summer and fall semester. Send resume and interest in job to Box 7, Collegian.

SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 openings. National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

UMMER WORK available at KSU Vegetable Research Farm, DeSoto (K.C. area), 94.50' hour. Must have own transportation. Contact Dr. Charles Marr or Mrs. Elder at Horticulture, 532-6170 for application

SUMMER WORK— Find out why IBM, Procter and Gamble, Xerox, and several hundred corporations are interested in our summer program. Make $1,775 a month, Travel. Call 537-9169.

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING for spring, Christmas and next summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1-805-682-7555 EXT. S-1112. (call 7 days a week)

Looking for Freshmen and Sophomores

work "3" months get paid "12", with Landshire, Inc. You work for great pay during the summer and receive weekly comission throughout your next school year. Find out more April 16 in Seaton Hall from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Interviews will be on April 17 in Holtz Hall from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

9 Food Specials

Hunam Restaurant

Free Delivery 539-8888

We Deliver

LATE NIGHT GRILL

Fri. & Sat. 10 p.m.-1 a.m.

The best and fastest breakfast in town. Burgers & Fries, Omelettes & Egg orders just $2.50 an order with 2 items.

539-1571 Candlewood

12 Houses for Rent

1101 DENISON, 1846, 1814 Platt, one to five bedrooms to see evenings Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 7-9p.m. 539-3993. AVAILABLE JUNE 1. Two-bedroom, yard, $345 plus utilities. Lease and deposit. 539-3672 evenings.

FIVE-8EDROOM, three-bath house. Available Aug. 1.
Walking distance to campus. No pets. $880.
776-3804.

ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks east campus, laundry hookups. $285' month, utilities, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1. 539-3672 evenings.

ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June 1. $295, 539-1554.

Show you care with a Classified.

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Jim's Journal

bored, so I turned on the radio and flipped ground the stations.

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Garfield

IT'S BECAUSE YOU KEEP

SO IF YOU GO AT THE SPEED OF LIGHT, YOU GAIN MORE TIME, BECAUSE IT DOESN'T TAKE AS LONG TO GET THERE. OF COURSE, THE THEORY OF RELATIVITY ONLY WORKS IF YOU'RE GOING WEST.

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE for rent, available in late May. Spaclous yard, dog kennel. 776-6726 14 Lost and Found

211 S. Seth Childs 1443 Anderson

A SILVER bracelet lost Friday in AK 120 or on campus.
Please call 539-7296.
FOUND: PAIR of black and red leather driving gloves at Tuttle Creek Saturday night 4/7/90. 537-4615. FOUND: WRISTWATCH in Exline Student Lounge, Seaton. Call 539-4711 to identify.

LOST: BLACK Lab neutered male. Lost Friday Aggle ville area. Reward. 776-8417 or 539-8365.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

1988 14x70 Schult mobile home with three bedre 11/2 baths, 8x10-foot deck. Call 776-8477. BEATS RENT. Two-bedroom 12x50 in Redbud Estates. Payments less than $110/ month. Countryside Brokerage. 539-2325.

IMMACULATE THREE-BEDROOM, two bath, central air, redwood decks. Call 539-9283 after 4p.m. TWO-BEDROOM, 10x60 trailer. Good condition. Great location. Low rent and utilities. Washer/ dryer, storage. 776-5671.

18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982 HONDA 650C. New seat, battery, tire, 4-to-1 exhaust. $800. Roger, 537-1671 or 532-6008. 1982 VIRAGO 920, 12K, computer, cover, very good condition. $1,500 or best offer. Scott, 537-9195. 1984 YAMAHA Virago: Black/ chrome, excellent condi-tion, 4,500 miles. 537-4408.

1986 SUZUKI SP200 street/ dirt bike. Excellent condi-tion. 3,100 miles. $1,200 or best offer. 539-6765. 1989 SPECIALIZED Rockhopper comp with many extras. Call 776-0525.

19-INCH FRONT street tire, $47; Enduro tires, 21-Inch front, $29; 4.1x18, $37.95. Mounting, $7.50. Minor service repair. M-C Supply, 1221 Moro, in alley behind Hardee's.

NINJA 1000R 86 with 9,700 miles. Black with red stripes, never wrecked. 776-3708, Galen. SNYDER'S HONDA on Stagg Hill Road is buying and selling new and used motorcycles. We are your motorcycle super market rcycle super market.

19 Music/ Musicians

AKAI X7000 keyboard sampler, with memory upgrade to 16 samples on board. Excellent condition. Retail $1,800, sell $650. 776-7323.

20 Parties-n-more

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES: Never pay for a DJ again. Own your own Party Music System. 539-0595. NEED A DJ? Kick-ass sound system, light show. Cheap. Rock the house. Kevin, 776-7240.

21 Personals

BOY IN Chance-Sorry we dripped all over your floor Oh well, you needed something to do anyway. Luv,

Those two girls. CONGRATS SAM- You're a studi Enjoy your well earned staff position. Don't worry, we'll visit. Love yal Cindy, Jackie and Patty. yal Cindy, Jackie and Patry.

HOUCKY— HAPPY 1st year! (Seduction Derby Day 4/114/89) Thanks for the memories: Patience, Park Bench, Bruffs, "Dead Dog is better than one with Rables," Bon Jovi, Birthday weekend, Date Dash, Rupert, Martha and Chester stories, the fried chicken burn-out, Hershey chocolate, snuggles. Love you for always "your little lady."

KKG SHANNON, Great meeting you. Glad I was able to give you what you've done without for the last two years. Hope you liked it. Don't forget-- "bronze" it. Ha, C.

FIS Y - Higgs Birthdayli 19 Yeali Well, thank to such a great triend the past year! Your es. Meg and Corbin Tweet Tweet. By Jim NIKI-AGGIE was a lot of fun. But finally 21 has come! You'll get free beer and even shots. We're gor party lots and lots! We'll drink and dance really le

Westport-bound I just can't wait! Hope it's the best! Happy 21st! Mis. SCOPER- URGENT Need to Talk to You! Call After 9p.m. Sunday. ToTA. THETA XI guy of my dreams: Have a Happy Easter in Kansasi Love, your Snugglebunny.

T.J ... HAPPY 21st TO THE attractive dark-haired girl in socio 211. After finishing the test early on Wed, we walked from Waters to Farrell. Would like to meet you again Reply in Personals, the blond-haired guy.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

FOR SALE: Extremely calm Ball python with complete set-up. $150 or best offer. Mary, 532-5368.

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits 1105 Waters 539-4751

23 Professional Services

COLEMAN AMERICAN can move you arrywhere. 35% discount nationwide; 12% discount in-state. CAll for overseas reales. Local rates for students $39.50 per hour, two-hour minimum, 537-7284.

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day results. For appointment call: Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338.

PERMS WITH cut, $25 to $30. Shampoo, cut, style, $10. Tanning, 10 for $18. 776-1330.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM abortion? Write: Hearts Restored, Box 295, Colby, Kansas 67701, Confidential re-sponse will follow.

WEDDING FLOWERS by experienced floral designer. Call for information. 776-2253.

WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY that doesn't cost a fortune. Call for information packet and portfolio.

SUN N

Manhattan's Largest Tanning Salon ·New bulbs

14 tanning beds

 Appointments available Competitive prices

1126 Laramie 776-2426

24 Resume/ Typing Service

GET THE edge in today's market! We offer quality resumes designed, typeset and laserprinted. Call Graphics Plus, 722 N. Manhattan, Aggleville,

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms,

dissertations, theses, etc. Call 776-4214. LETTER-QUALITY word processing. $1.25 double-spaced page. Next-day delivery available. Susan Lawson, 776-0676. NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals, re-sumes and more. Laser printing. Call 537-4146.

RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to make an impression. One day service. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147.

WORD PROCESSING: College papers, resurres, let-ters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single. Quality Print. Betty, 539-6851, Claffin.

25 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for next year. No smoker, $133/ month plus one-third utilities. Call Kelly, 532-5310 or Dana, 532-5306.

FEMALE ROOMMATE for turnished house near cam pus. $162.50 per month. 10-month lease. Deposit. 539-3886, 776-3066.

FEMALE WANTED to share spacious upstairs apart-ment May or August (May rent free). Prefer older undergraduate or graduate student. Call Ann, leave message 537-2474. FOUR ROOMMATES for six-bedroom house. Next to campus. Two kitchens, two baths, laundry: Must see. $140 plus utilities, 539-1269. NEED TWO female roommates Immediately! From now to August. Everything equals $120 month. 776-9452.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, own room, laur dry area, pool. $180 plus one-half utilities. 539-7324. Summer through next year. ROOMMATE WANTED to share house trailer. $100 per month plus half utilities. Call Allen, 537-3909. ROOMMATES FOR 1990-1991 and/ or summer. One-bedroom, Park Place Apartments, 776-2054 after 5p.m. Monday-Thursday. SHARE TWO BEDFIDOM repairment with dishwasher, washer driver, woodburning fineliace, patio, garage, off-stroet parking, $197.50 plus one-half

TWO ROOMMATES needed for summer. Across from Ford Hall, $140/ month, Free utilities, 539-471

26 Stereo Equipment

COMPLETE MOBILE DJ system for sale. Formerly KLIPSCH KG4. Immaculate solid oak cabinets. Must sell. Asking $375. 539-7581. Ask for Alan,

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

O'BRIEN TRC 66-inch slaforn water ski, still in box, $325. Atomic Kevlar 180 snow skis, Tyrolla bindings, boots, poles, Used once, Asking $500. Call Jon at 537-0845.

WINDSURFER— TWO sails, footstraps and car rack. Like new. 1-494-2775.

28 Sublease

$125/ MONTH, per person, plus utilities, summer. Two-bedroom apartment, furnished, by City Park. 776-3797.

$175/ MONTH. Female, own bedroom and bathroom, furnished, by campus. Call Sherrill, 776-6192. 1st-CLASS APARTMENTS for June- July subleases, Both one and two bedrooms, furnished or unfurn-ished, decks available, great locations, Call the Curtin Companies at 776-1222.

A JUNE-JULY sublease, two weeks free in May. Female, furnished house, own room, $125/ month plus one-fourth bills. Call 776-1577.

A LARGE two-bedroom— surreer. 1010 Thurston. Everything— central air, full kitchen, etc. $399 negotiable. 537-3346.

A NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, one-fourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New carpet. Available anytime. Call, leave message

JUNE-JULY SUBLEASE— Available mid-May, very nice, own room, one and one-half bath, across from campus. Rent definitely negotiable. Ask for Rita, 537-1027.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, furnished. May-August. $505/ month. 539-4138.

LATE MAY to mid-August. Two-bedroom apartment with dishwasher, washer/ dryer, woodburning fire-place, patio, garage, off-street parking. $395 plus utilities. No pets. 776-8384.

NICE FOUR-BEDROOM apartment close to campus/ Aggieville. Low monthly bills. Price negotiable. Call 537-2594. Leave message.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment close to campus. Balcony, dishwasher and laundry facilities. Three people, $300/ two people $250, 776-3340.

ONE-BEDROOM, VERY spacious, fully furnished, near campus. Come see and make offer. 776-6127: 9-11p.m. or weekends.

SPACIOUS THREE-BEDROOM house to subleas summer. Close to campus and Aggleville. Price negotiable. 537-7094.

SUBLEASE— GREAT two-bedroom house right next to campus. $420/ month. Call 776-3384.

SUBLEASE— ONE-BEDROOM apartment, one-half block from campus. $150 a month plus bills. For June and July. Call 537-3342. SUBLEASE- THREE-BEDROOM apartment near campus. Dishwasher, laundry facilities, two bath-rooms. Available mid-May through July 31. Time available negotiable, $170 month plus electric. Call 539-3215.

SUBLEASE— JUNE and July, Three-bedroom apart-ment. $125 per person. Walk to campus and Aggieville. 539-8566. SUBLEASE— TWO blocks from campus/ Aggieville.
Nice two-bedroom apartment. Available May 17.

537-8674. SUBLEASE— NICE two-bedroom apartment for three to four people. One block from campus. Washer, dryer, dishwasher, $450 month, 539-4784.

SUMMER- AVAILABLE June 1. Two-bedroom, furnished. Close to Aggleville, park. $250/ month. 776-0997.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Nice, spacious two-bedroom apartment. Water and trash paid. $375. Call 776-6498. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom house, carport, deck, backyard, washer/ dryer, negotiable. 537-2101, leave message. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Large, one-hedroom, furnished, new carpet, close to campus. $290' month. Call 776-8850.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Nice and affordable onebedroom apartment, Near campus/ Aggleville. Call 539-2963 or 539-2007.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Two-bedroom furnished.
Water/ trash paid. Available June 1. $250/ month or negotiable, 532-3124. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Four-bedroom, close to Aggleville and campus, balcony rent negotiable 539-3009.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: One free keg! Spachus living room, pool, close to campus. Three-bedroom. $450, 776-7428. SUMMER SUBLEASE- $128, own room, very nice, close to campus. Available mid-May if want. 776-7638, leave message. THREE-BEDROOM, two bath available May-August in Aggieville. Very nice apartment. 776-4760.

THREE-BEDROOM, two full baths, one-half block wast of campus; dishwasher. Dates/ rent negotiable. TO SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom apartment, very close to Aggleville and campus. Call 539-1565. 1200 Bluemont. TWO-MINUTE WALK to Durland, June 1 to July 31 sublease. Two bedroom, $355, negotiable, 539-7249.

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE— Loft bed, in great shape $45. Price is negotiable. Call 532-3351.

FOR SALE— Loft bed, in great shape. $45. Price is negotiable. Call 532-3351. PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050.
Battery or AC powered, two font types. 16,000-character memory expansion card, spell corrector and many other features. Excellent condition. $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave message. GOVERNMENT SURPLUS— G.I. boots, sleeping bags, wool clothing for mountain campers, back-packs, tents, wet weather gear, carno clothing, much morel St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys

KS. 1-437-2734. TANNING FACIAL lamp -- Woolf System, Brand new/ Paid $200, Make offert Call Tami at 776-6657.

33 Storage

ATTENTION: ALL faculty, staff, students. Storage rates for summer, $50 per 1,000 pounds at Coleman American, 537-7284.

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox

Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

34 Rooms for Rent

FEMALES: ROOMS for rent. Close to campus. Avail able summer and fall. 539-8608.

LIKE NEW Lycra and Neoprene full wetsuit. Great for jumping, footing, $75 or best offer. Steve,

35 Waterski Wetsuit

Crossword

for

38 Down-

tour

under birds

39 Mover's

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS 57 D.C. 37 Ending

4 Cry of discovery 7 News summary

1 Siamese,

e.g.

12 Fuss 13 - amore 14 Furious base. in slang secret?

term worker suffix

29 Exercise starter

34 Lathered 35 Unskilled laborer

DYNE Yesterday's answer 4-13

21 Betting groups 23 TV ad, for short

VIP

Beatty

58 Actor

DOWN

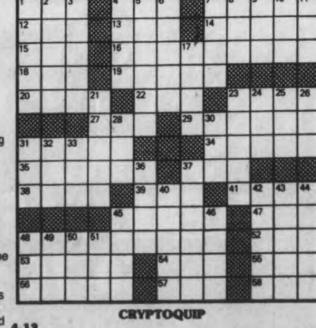

24 " --Yankee Doodle Dandy' 25 Young

26 007, for one 28 Cherbourg chum 30 Dunderhead

DeLuise 33 Debtor's etters 36 At any time 37 Overrun 40 Districts 42 Heavy gas

43 Dodge 44 Christened 45 Sing a la Ella 46 Sign of sorts 48 Semi part

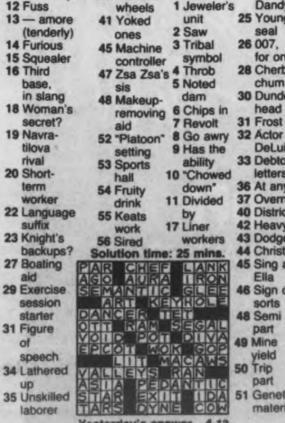

50 Trip part material

STTGHGSZW WMJDXW QDHWDJ

MDXJIS ISZIS MXQ Yesterday's Cryptoquip: ADEPT BUTCHER WHO ENROLLED IN ACTING SCHOOL WAS HAMMING IT

Today's Cryptoquip clue: T equals F

Protest

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 dorus I was overcome by the gas and collapsed, witnesses said. Several other clerics were also sickened by gas, the witnesses said.

Later Thursday, Arab youths raised an outlawed Palestinian flag on the roof of the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, and police raced after the youths to the Greek Orthodox patriarchate.

Witnesses said stone-throwing broke out, and police resorted to firing tear gas and rubber bullets, filling the building with gas and breaking

The standoff ended when Kollek, who came to the patriarchate to extend Easter greetings, intervened with police. All but one of the youths was allowed to go home, witnesses

Police said three Palestinians were arrested in other stone-throwing dis-turbances. Just before nightfall, as

Club

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 neur. All the businesses he started in Manhattan were really successful."

Besides the hotel, Wareham, who died in 1939, was involved in a number of Manhattan business projects, including a roller rink, a movie theater and the first telephone franchise

But, Haynes said, Wareham was more than just a businessman.

"He was also really ornery. He played lots of practical jokes and ran around with a lot of women, but he never got married," Haynes said. "During Prohibition they even had a speakeasy downstairs.

"We hear a lot of noises in here," she said with a laugh. "He might still be around."

Tuna

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 using the huge nets, which stretch up to 30 miles, to catch tuna in the 1950s.

But environmentalists say about 100,000 dolphins are trapped and killed each year because the dolphins swim on the surface of water inhabited by tuna. About 2 million tons of tuna are caught worldwide each year.

The United States is the only country that regulates dolphin mortality in connection with fishing, with a maximum of about 20,000 deaths allowed. All U.S.-flagged vessels have observers on board to verify the number of deaths.

Environmental and consumer groups last year began a nationwide boycott of tuna imported from countries whose fleets use nets and called for an international ban on the practice.

The boycott has had no substantial financial impact on the company, O'Reilly said, but was an educational process.

The dolphin-free policy would apply to tuna sold by StarKist as food for people or pets.

SANTA F

tourists wandered through the narrow streets in the area, many seemed bewildered, wondering which way to go to avoid trouble.

Kollek criticized the Israeli government for not intervening, saying the dispute "has international repercussions.'

But Yossi Achimeir, spokesman for Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, said Arab Christians were being unreasonable.

"Jews are entitled to live everywhere, especially in our eternal capital," Achimeir told The Associated

Shamir's government has consistently championed the right of Jews to settle anywhere in Jerusalem, including the Old City and Arab east Jerusalem, which were captured from Jordan in the 1967 war and

President Bush last month raised a controversy in Israel by repeating that U.S. policy considers the Arab sector of Jerusalem to be disputed Jerusalem's Old City, divided into ethnic quarters, is home to about 50,000 Moslems, 7,000 Christians and 4,000 Jews.

Clark said the injury to Kaufman

"You never know what's going to helps prepare others on the team for the possibility of increased responsihappen when you wake up in the morning," Clark said. "So we have to keep as many options available, keep as many options fresh as we can. But when we make lineup changes, we're not just putting bodies out there."

led offensively by DH Damel Hawkins, who is third in the league in hitting (all games) with a .398 mark.

Hawkins is ninth in the Big Eight in hits, second in the loop in triples, tied for eighth in the conference in homers, and is deadlocked for fifth in average by teammate Joe Winkler.

their first two Big Eight sets at home, against Iowa State and Oklahoma

State. Missouri split with the Cyclones and won but one of four

Clark said K-State will have sev-

"We've got to continue to have good pitching and defense," he said.

'And we don't want to walk people

"Offensively, we've got to conor put them on base via the error.

tinue doing things as a team. We had ries offensively, we just need to keep day at 7 p.m., weather permitting, with a single nine-inning game. A doubleheader of seven-inning games will be contested Saturday starting at 5 p.m., and a single nine-inning tilt will close the set Easter Sunday at

The series is scheduled to open to-eral keys to success against Missouri.

against nationally-ranked OSU.

He's joined in the top 10 in batting

The Tigers have played both of the league in RBIs.

Missouri, 3-5 in Big Eight play, is bility as the season goes by.

lege career.

Enroll

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 living in urban areas than in rural ones. The practice of students not returning to the family farm, he said, is a historical trend.

Riley said many students who came from farm backgrounds told him their parents were encouraging them to look elsewhere. "Parents said they didn't want their children to go through some of the same trials and tribulations they were going through," he said.

Woods said the perception that agriculture graduates were only related to agriculture production is not true. Agriculture production involves the direct responsibility of growing and raising commodities such as wheat or cattle. In the past several years, the percentage of graduates going directly into agriculture production ranges from 15 percent to 0 percent, he said.

Because of industrialization, Woods said agriculture college graduates have job opportunities in all aspects of production, production servicing and food delivery systems.

Riley said the U.S. Department of Agriculture predicts that 48,000 agriculture-related jobs will be generated annually in the 1990s. It also predicted only 40,000 graduates will be available to fill these jobs.

Woods said K-State is experiencing heavy demand for graduates in all areas of study, especially food science, grain science and industry, agronomy, horticulture, animal science, and agricultural economics.

And students seem to be aware of the increasing demand. Riley said although the college's enrollment is declining, the number of new students enrolling in the college during the past three years has increased.

"So even though our total numbers have gone down over the last 10 to 12 years, we believe that we have bottomed out and that we're going to see an increase in the College of Agriculture," he said.

An increasing number of the new students are transfers from state community colleges, Riley said.

"More and more of our students are starting out at community colleges due to the increasing cost of tuition," he said.

Doctors say Bush has early glaucoma

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - President Bush was diagnosed Thursday with "an early glaucoma" in his left eye, but he said it had not affected his vision.

The glaucoma was found during the president's routine physical at Bethesda Naval Hospital and will be treated with eye drops, press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said in a statement.

"I haven't felt a thing, felt it at all," Bush told reporters. "I'm taking drops now ... one in the morning and one at night, but the vision is very good."

Fitzwater's statement said that during the examination, "An early glaucoma of his left eye was detected," but that extensive tests showed no visual impairment.

With early detection and continual treatment, the president should not develop vision problems, said Dr. Mansour Armaly, chairman of ophenough to make light of their roles. In this movie, seriousness is the kiss of members may be insulted morally or intellectually if they are unprepared for the high camp of "Cry-Baby." It is simultaneously a send-up and a celebration of B-movies of the past.

If it is not taken as both, the point of

The film is strongly paced. It deftly mixes action, romance and musical production numbers. Waters' experiment with the musical in "Hairs-pray" is creatively extended. Depp's song in the prison license plate factory is humorous as well as musically adept, although the actor didn't sing from its cinematic competition. A parodistic musical about juvenile deliquents seems unlikely to succeed in this day and age. John Waters has managed to pull off a fine film without compromising any of his trade-

"Cry-Baby" certainly stands alone

the film is easily lost.

his own songs.

mark schlock.

Indeed, unsuspecting audience death.

thalmology at George Washington University Medical Center, who did not examine Bush but is a specialist in glaucoma.

Although Bush is not suffering impairment of his vision, glaucoma can lead to blindness if not treated. The disease is characterized by increased pressure and hardening of the eveball.

It has no cure, but can be controlled with drugs. Laser surgery may be performed on patients who don't respond to drugs, said Armaly.

"It is quite a high probabilty he will have none," Armaly said when asked about the prospect of vision problems. "It is a disease that requires regular follow-up to make sure the medication is effective," he

Otherwise, the 65-year-old Bush "is in excellent health," said White House physician Dr. Burton Lee in a statement released by the press of-

Down's

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5 therapy students the chance to add to their education and experience as well as benefiting Big Lakes clients,

she said. Through the enclave, students learn to communicate more effectively with people who have Down's syndrome or other disabilities. Mattson said.

"It's a hands-on, high-touch experience," he said

The club sells plants the clients have worked with on Fridays in the plant science greenhouses, Mattson said. The profits go to Big Lakes and to the club.

'We basically break even," he said. "This is not a profit-oriented activity."

Show you care with a Collegian Classified.

Brown

'Cats CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7 ■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Brown stormed an insurance agency next to his office and claimed strangers had used his bathroom. Tests showed Brown had used the illegal drug PCP. He had earlier been arrested several times for illegal drug

He becomes eligible for parole in South Carolina on May 5, 1991, and in Georgia in March 1992.

At the Aiken-Barnwell County Community Action Commission, Brown will try to talk young people out of using drugs and alcohol, said George Anderson, executive

"That name is going to bring the people out," Anderson said. "His name alone can command a crowd. You or I couldn't draw the attention

Reaction to his work-release was less than enthusiastic at Top Notch Entertainment, Brown's production and booking agency.

"He won't be able to leave and go to work here and put his people back to work, such as the band and hairstylists who are out of work," said W.M. Glenn, the company's executive vice president.

The singer had been offered an array of radio station jobs across the country. He had been the object of a "Free James Brown" movement that included the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

A year ago, NASA awakened the uttle crew Discovery with Brown "I Feel Good."

Brown also had a volatile relationship with his wife, Adrienne, 39. He was arrested in 1988 for allegedly shooting his wife's car and attacking her with a lead pipe, but the charges were dropped.

In July 1988, he was convicted for possession of PCP, resisting arrest and carrying a pistol.

July 27-Aug.1

July 27-Aug.1

July 27-Aug.2

July 27-Aug.2

July 27-31

July 25-27

July 27-31

Cry-Baby

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5 fbeat Drapes and scoffing at the uptight Squares. Despite their atypical behavior, the Drapes are more compassionate and concerned for their fellow man than the "normal"

As always, Waters has assembled an unlikely cast based on a mix of talent and shock value.

Former X-rated movie actress Traci Lords appears as one of the 'Cry-Baby Girls," a combination fan club and backing band for the singing hero. The trio is rounded out by Ricki Lake, the star of Waters' previous film, "Hairspray," and Kim McGuire. McGuire is truly frightening as the goggle-eyed and aptly named Hatchet-Face.

A work of genius casts former terrorist Patty Hearst as Lords' ultraconservative mother. Acclaimed actor Willem Dafoe pops up briefly as a redneck prison guard who torments Depp. All cast members are wise

Read Collegian Ads! for special bargains

Collegian Coupons— ¢ They make 'Cents!' ©

The University of Oklahoma Invites You to Enrich the Summer of '90 with Travel-Study

New York Fashion Study Tour

New York City The Eagle and the Bear-Soviet-American Relations Washington, D. C.

28th Annual Summer Session in France

24th Annual Summer Spanish Session

May 31-June 7 May 26-June 2

June 27-Aug. 16

June 12-July 11 & July 16-Aug. 14

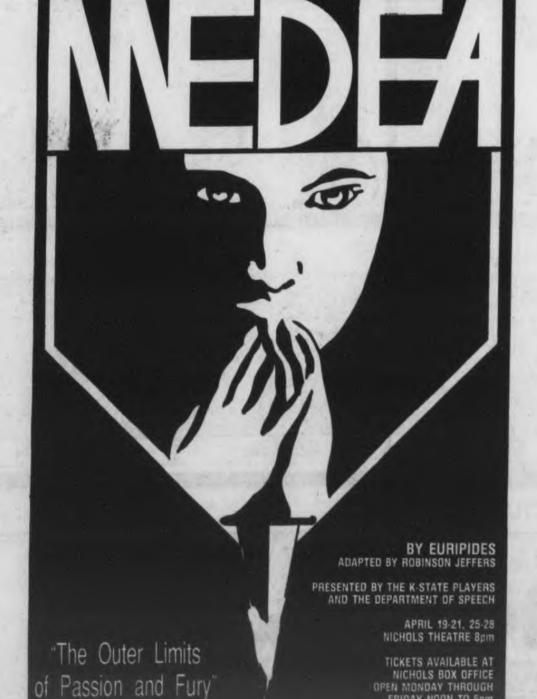

Field Techniques in Geography: Antigua in the Caribbean July 31-Aug. 16

THE RESERVE OF A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE P

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT: Continuing Education and Public Service Program Development Services (405) 325-5101 or (800) 522-0772 ext. 5101 (in OK) (800) 523-7363 ext. 5101 (outside OK)

SUMMER IN SANTA FE 1990 August 1-3

The New Technology and the Music Classroom The Santa Fe Art Experience Santa Fe Style--Inside and Out Press F1 for Help: Library Automation the Pleasant Way!

it going."

12:30 p.m.

Virtual Reality: Information Scenarios for 2020 Technologies Elderlearn: Santa Fe--A Taste of the Southwest Opera: Behind the Scenes

The Santa Fe Custom Entrepreneur

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT: Continuing Education and Public Service Program Development Services

(405) 325-5101 or (800) 522-0772 ext.5101 (in OK) (800) 523-7363 ext.5101 (outside OK)

CLEARANCE 50-75% OFF ALL WINTER MERCHANDISE •JACKETS•SKI PANTS•GLOVES•T-NECKS ·SWEATERS·HATS·SOCKS·UNDERWEAR·AND MORE All Sales Final

OPEN M-TH. 10-8, FRI. & SAT. 10-6, SUN 1-5

1212 MORO-AGGIEVILLE

Topeka KS 66612 I.F.GIAN

Monday, April 16, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 133

Senators respond

Tensions with BSU arise following wording controversy

By Kirk Caraway Staff Reporter

Tensions between Student Senate and Black Student Union increased late Thursday night as several senators expressed anger over statements made by BSU's president.

"They've taken the term and made a big deal out of it," said John Woodbury, agriculture senator, concerning the use by senators of the phrase "these people" to refer to members of BSU during their allocation hearing April 5. The BSU allocation sparked fierce debate because the group turned in its budget request two weeks late.

"We bent the rules for this group, and they shit on us," said

"Back in the '50s and '60s, people had something to gripe about. It seems now they have to manufacture things like this to get attention. Most of the remarks by senators dealt with the discussion that took place at a BSU meeting on April 10 and a guest column in the Collegian written by Aireka Key, BSU president.

'We used 'these people' in here a lot tonight, but nobody got called a racist because there were no minority groups here," Beck said. "I don't see anything wrong with it, and I don't think we should apologize for it."

"There are a group of people who want to stir things up," said Barry Beck, business senator. Sean Cash, arts and sciences

Controversy over the terminology first arose when members of BSU posted signs with clippings of a Collegian story attached and the offensive quotations highlighted. Todd Giefer, engineering senator and one of those quoted as using the phrase, apologized for his remarks to members of BSU at the April 10 meeting. The meeting was attended by other senators and student government officials.

Contacted afterward, Key expressed concern over the tensions between BSU and Senate, and said it was not her intention to accuse anyone of racism.

Whether or not it was racially intended, I don't care," Key said. ■ See BSU, Page 12

Senate rejects salary raises, funds Amnesty International

5/15/90 Kansas State Historical Society

Newspaper Section

120 W 10th

By Kirk Caraway Staff Reporter

Student Senate nixed a proposed salary increase for the student body president, senate chairman and coordinator of finances and agreed to give funding to Amnesty International during tentative allocations Thursday night.

Travis Stumpff, arts and sciences senator, moved to amend the Student Governing Association budget request to keep salaries at last year's levels. An 18 percent increase was recommended by Finance Committee for the three positions, even though it was not requested by SGA.

"We're going to get the same people, the same productivity," Stumpff said. "It's a waste of money."

"I don't think our constituents would want us to raise the student body president's salary," said Jim Struber, education senator.

"We really shouldn't be increasing salaries, especially when we're running this far in debt," said Matt Hammeke, education senator.

The amount of money tentatively allocated by Senate so far exceeds the estimate of incoming revenues by more than $4,000.

A second part of Stumpff's amendment that would have established salaries for the members of Senate Executive committee failed by a wide margin.

"Saying you'll get a better-quality person by paying more is bull," said Natalie Lowery, human ecology

The cuts brought the total SGA budget to $37,195.72.

The Finance Committee recommendation of $264.30 for Amnesty International was approved by Senate despite an attempt by Todd

Giefer, engineering senator, to delete the funding completely.

"I believe this group does not benefit the students of Kansas State University," Giefer said. "There is no way I could ever justify giving student money to this organization."

"It is a student activity fee, and this is a student activity," said Joel Gruenke, graduate senator, in support of the funding.

Other groups to receive tentative allocations were: International Coordinating Council, which received $10,284.17; Men and Women Against Rape, $1,210.20; and Students Helping Enhance Library Funding, $876.20.

Senate also approved special allocations to the Illuminating Engineering Society for $583 to purchase a light meter and $1,879.44 to SGA to pay for overruns in its current telephone and printing budgets.

Lithuanians stand tough

Roman Catholic leader urges country to remain calm against Soviet threats

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW - The leader of Lithuania's Roman Catholics told Easter Sunday worshipers to keep a cool head but stand tough as the republic faces the threat of an economic blockade intended to crush its independence movement.

Speaking at an Easter Mass in the capital of Vilnius as a Kremlin dead-Skadkevicius urged the population of the Baltic republic to stay calm, according to Eduardas Potashinskas of Lithuanian television.

Lithuanian President Vytautas Landsbergis, who has rejected Moscow's ultimatum, sat in the front pew during Sunday's service at Vilnius' cathedral.

Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev sent a letter Friday to the republic's leaders, demanding that they rescind independence-oriented actions he termed anti-constitutional. He threatened to cut off critical supplies to the small republic if its leaders failed to act by Sunday.

A meeting of Lithuania's parliamentary leadership, or Presidium, is planned for Monday, said Edward Tuskenis of the Parliament's infor-public's Parliament - was planned before Tuesday, well after Gorbachev's deadline expires.

Lithuania is mostly Roman Catholic, and many residents planned a three-day weekend to celebrate the Easter holiday and visit friends and relatives.

Worshipers who jammed the cathedral Sunday heard Skadkeviline approached, Cardinal Vincentas cius urge Lithuanians to stay calm and keep a cool head, yet remain firm in their resolve, Potashinskas said.

Pope John Paul II also prayed for the Baltic republic Sunday in his annual Easter message in Rome. He called "for peace for our children in the dear Lithuanian nation, while we hope that their aspirations find confirmation in a respectful and comprehensive dialogue."

On Saturday, Lithuanian officials acknowledged that an economic blockade of materials such as oil and gas could cause mass layoffs. But they said they hoped sympathetic Soviet republics would not cut off crucial supplies.

Lithuanian Prime Minister Kazimira Prunskene said the republic had stepped up efforts to establish economic ties with the West and was negotiating with West Germany and Landsbergis said Saturday that no Switzerland to print Lithuanian moaction - presumably by the re- ney in case of a blockade.

Jim Holenbeck, co-owner of Deep Creek Custom Made Boots and Saddles, has been working with leather since he was a child. Holenbeck studied leatherworking at a vocational technical school and served apprenticeships in Utah and Texas before opening his own shop.

Cowboy works on leather

Boots, saddles fashioned to style in painstaking process

By The Collegian Staff

Horses' tack and bridles hang from the ceiling inside the door of the farm shed, the aroma of leather mingling with the scent of wood burning in a stove.

At first, it appears to be a normal ranch storage building, except for the rolls of leather, tools, pattern pieces, saddles, boots and machines cluttering the small room.

The unassuming little shed houses Deep Creek Custom Made Boots and Saddles, where Jim Holenbeck proudly works at his livelihood crafting boots and saddles.

The image of a cowboy or rancher fits Holenbeck, who said he got interested in leathercrafting when he received a Tandy leatherworking kit at the age of 9. He became interested enough to continue working leather into his adolescent

At Emporia State University, he worked toward a business degree for a year and half, but realized his real interests lay in his old childhood hobby. He found a vocationaltechnical school, Oklahoma State University Technical Branch, in Okmulgee, Okla. The school offered a shoe, boot and saddle course that taught basic machine maintenance, boot- and saddle-making, and shoe repair.

After four trimesters there, Holenbeck worked in Utah, eventually in a saddle shop called the Utah Saddle Company. He moved to Austin, Texas, to apprentice with Charlie Dunn, a craftsman the bootmakers call the "Dean of Bootmaking," for almost three years.

'Dunn taught us all about fitting and the finer points of making fancy tops," Holenbeck said. "He is

David Mayes/Staff

Jim Holenbeck rubs powder over a pattern to mark decorative stitching on a boot. Making a pair of boots takes about 45 hours.

an expert fitter, and he knows how to take the foot problems out." In Texas, Holenbeck said he got to know some of the great bootmakers, such as Henry Leopald and the Little family. In 1982, he and his wife, Teresa, opened their own boot and saddlemaking shop on the farm that has been in Holenbeck's family since

Dunn doesn't have an actual preference between making boots and

"Both keep me going," Holenbeck said. "In a rural area it keeps me open.' "When someone asks, 'What's the easiest one to make?' I say,

'Making saddles, because horses don't complain as much."

The boot-making process involves more than 150 steps. A pair of boots takes an average of 45 hours to make from the fitting to completion. Holenbeck said a bootmaker must know how to fit a pair of boots before making them, and that it's almost impossible to get perfection in a boot. Holenbeck uses a pencil to trace the outline of the customer's feet onto paper. He looks for special foot problems, such as if one foot is larger than the other, and takes measurements at each pressure

He buys standard lasts, which are wooden shoe forms used to shape the lower part of the boot, and alters the last to fit the customer's foot according to his drawings and measurements.

The customer picks out boot styles and leather. Holenbeck keeps shark, kangaroo, French calf, water buffalo and oxen hide in his shop, but orders other leathers the customer may request. Sometimes the customer may even give him the leather wanted in the boots.

The base price for a plain pair of oxen leather boots is $400. The more stylish leathers and inlays, which are pieces of leather attached as ornamental designs, will raise the price, Holenbeck said. The boots can be ornamented with stitching or tooling, the process of making impressions in the leather using a tool and rawhide mallet.

After the customer has picked out the style, leather and designs to go on the boot, Holenbeck starts the long process of constructing a custom-made boot.

He makes patterns of the boot tops, bottoms, liners and pull straps out of brown paper and traces the patterns onto the leather, which he cuts with a knife.

For the stitching, Holenbeck places paper-perforated patterns on the leather and gently rubs talc or baby powder into the perforated holes. The talc leaves a mark for Holenbeck to follow when stitching the design on his sewing machine. Unless the customer has unusually large feet, Holenbeck buys the soles. If the customer does have big feet, he cuts the sole out of inflexible leather that is 10-iron, or about a quarter of an inch, thick.

The leather for the boot tops is ■ See LEATHER, Page 12

Tax work goes on following deadline

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - You won't be through with taxes for the year even if you beat the midnight Monday deadline for filing your federal return. The average American will have to work through May 5 to satisfy the tax collectors.

If that prediction by the Tax Foundation proves accurate, it will be the latest "Tax Freedom Day" on record and two days later than 1989.

The reason is simple, the nonpartisan research organization said Sunday in announcing the mythical date: "Tax increases will outpace the growth in individuals' income during 1990."

Tax Freedom Day is the foundation's estimate of how long it would take an average person to pay his or her state, federal and local taxes if all income went for taxes until they were all paid for the year 1990.

The calculations assume that all taxes are paid by individuals, including those collected from corporations.

Until this year, the latest date was May 4, 1981, before a big tax reduction took effect. The foundation said subsequent watering down of several deductions, increases in Social Security taxes and state and local taxes, and a gradual economic slowing will have wiped out that reduction.

For the millions of couples and individuals still struggling with 1989 returns, the Internal Revenue Service announced that its toll-free telephone service would remain open late Monday night to answer technical tax questions.

The Postal Service said most post offices in cities with at least 30,000 population planned to station clerks at curbside to receive returns.

Neither the IRS nor the Postal Service estimated how many returns were likely to be filed Monday night. However, the IRS said it expects to receive about 23 million this week or one of every five that will be filed

About 6 million couples and individuals unable to file their returns on time were expected to receive a fourmonth extension by filing Form 4868 instead. The extension is automatic but only if Form 4868 is accompanied by a check for estimated taxes

Another 650,000 or so Americans abroad, including military personnel, qualified automatically for a twomonth extension just by having their main business, home or duty station outside the United States and Puerto

A number of people have tax years that ended on days other than Dec. 31, 1989, and thus have other filing deadlines. Still others will simply miss the filing deadline, do nothing about it and subject themselves to separate penalties for filing late and paying late.

World

Nepal leaders face prostesters

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) - Thousands of rock-throwing demonstrators demanding immediate political change stormed the grounds of an academy on Sunday while opposition and government leaders discussed reform inside the building.

When the prime minister and an opposition leader decided to leave the negotiations at one point, protesters forced them back inside the building and ordered them to continue talking.

Demonstrators then surrounded the Royal Nepal Academy of Arts and Literature, whistling, clapping and chanting for freedom and democracy. Hundreds of Christians, meanwhile, held an Easter march for religious freedom as they tested the promises of new democracy in this Himalayan nation. The march was the first in recent memory in the world's only Hindu kingdom, which bans Christian missionary work.

About 15,000 rock-throwing protesters burst through the gates of the academy, where a high-level government delegation was holding intense negotiations with members of two opposition

King Birendra lifted a 29-year-old ban on opposition parties April 8, two days after police opened fire on 200,000 people marching on the palace to demand multiparty democracy. Witnesses said about 200 people were killed, but the government said the death toll was 10.

Animal activists raid hospital

MARSEILLE, France (AP) - Animal rights activists raided a hospital and took away rabbits and dogs destined for use in experiments, officials said Sunday.

A local newspaper said an anonymous telephone caller claimed responsibility for the raid on behalf of the "Friends of Animals," a group opposed to animal testing.

The raid occurred Saturday night as local police had their hands full with a major soccer game between Olympic Marseille and its biggest rival, Bordeaux. Large police contingents were at the stadium to avert possible disturbances.

About 20 rabbits, 15 dogs and several documents relating to the hospital's animal experimentation program were taken, hospital officials said. Police said no arrests had been made by Sunday afternoon.

Screen actress Garbo dies

NEW YORK (AP) - Greta Garbo, the legendary screen star who turned her back on Hollywood in 1941 and became as well known for her passion for privacy as for her sculpted beauty and husky vibrato, died Sunday. She was 84.

Services will be private for the actress known for the line, "I want to be alone." At the family's request, no further information was to be released about her death at New York Hospital, said hospital spokesman Andrew Banoff.

The Swedish-born star began her career in silent films and reigned as the supreme movie queen throughout the 1930s. Some critics called her the finest screen actress of all time.

Miss Garbo never acted again after her retirement in 1941, but her luminous performances in 24 films kept her name alive and made her a favorite of younger generations who saw in her an ethereal ideal of the ultimate woman.

While "Camille" and "Ninotchka" became film festival staples, the woman known worldwide simply as "Garbo" remained shuttered in her Manhattan apartment or at various retreats in France and Switzerland.

Discovery receives power unit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - NASA installed a new power unit in space shuttle Discovery Sunday and began recharging the batteries of the Hubble Space Telescope.

Discovery is scheduled to lift off April 25 with the $1.5 billion telescope, the space agency's most expensive payload. "Right now everything seems to be in the bag," said George

Diller, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Technicians Saturday took out a faulty auxiliary power unit that forced a scrub of Discovery's launch Tuesday. A new unit was then installed, the first time the procedure has been performed at the launch pad. Discovery's payload bay doors were opened Saturday, and Hubble's six nickel-hydrogen batteries were removed for recharging in a laboratory at the Vehicle Assembly Building. NASA began the batteries' 130-hour recharge around noon Sunday

NASA decided to take the batteries to the laboratory because they can be recharged at a cooler temperature than at the launch pad, and thus retain more power.

Diller said the weekend operations were the most tricky part of preparation for the second launch attempt. "This was really the difficult part," he said. "That's when we really feel like we've done well."

Indian skeletal remains buried

SALINA (AP) - Centuries-old skeletal remains of more than 160 Indians were buried Saturday in a ceremony that ended a 55-year-old display that offended many native Americans.

The gathering of about 150 people at the ceremony included representatives of state and local governments and others who helped negotiate the reburial at the ancient cemetery east of Salina.

The remains from the Salina site, which date to about 1200, are believed to be the ancestors of the Pawnee, Arickara and Wichita Indian tribes.

"The idea is to pay respect to the dead in the traditional Indian burial ceremony, to help restore the dignity they've lost by being on public display all these years," said Walter Echo-Hawk, an attorney for the Native American Indian Rights Fund based in Boulder, Colo.

The barn-covered burial pit was a little-known roadside attraction for the last 55 years. Admission was $3.50 before it closed last year.

Problems plague race track

TOPEKA (AP) - A $12 million pari-mutuel dog racing track was supposed to open this month near the junction of U.S. Highways 69 and 160 south of Pittsburg.

Construction hasn't begun. Indeed, it's still not certain who will build the track. The non-profit group that holds the license to build it has asked the state Racing Commission for more time in hopes of putting together a deal with a group of Wisconsin investors.

That request is expected to reach the commission later today, as it meets at the Woodlands dog track in Kansas City, Kan.

The commission has been frustrated by its inability to permanently resolve the Pittsburg situation. A project that brought dreams of jobs and money to an economically troubled region has became the subject of a bitter feud and an embarrassment for the commission.

"One of these days, we've got to bring this thing to a close," said Commissioner Bert Cantwell of Kansas City. "Certainly, I'm willing to listen."

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Campus organizations are encouraged to use the Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be in by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-served basis and is NOT guaranteed. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118A. You must have a picture ID to submit a Bulletin form. During business hours, IDs will be checked in Kedzie 103. At other times, IDs will be checked in Kedzie 116 or 118A. Forms should be left in the box outside 118A after being filled out and checked. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's campus editors in Kedzie 116.

Monday

- Gymnastics Club will meet from 8:05 to 10 p.m. in Natatorium 4.
- Beta Alpha Psi will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union Big Eight Room.
- Southwind will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.
- Gay & Lesbian Resource Center will meet at 7:30 p.m. Call 539-6137 for location. Discretion is assured.
- Engineering Student Council will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland 152 to discuss the equipment fee. Officers meet at 5 p.m.
- Human Ecology Council will meet at 5:30 p.m. at Valentino's for officer turnover.
- Water Ski Team will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 212.
- Pi Sigma Epsilon will meet at the Holidome for initiation. Actives meet at 5 p.m. Pledges meet at 6 p.m.
- Human Development & Family Studies Interest Group will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 208.
- Blue Key will meet at 9:15 p.m. in the Union Director's Conference
- Chimes will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 207.
- IEEE will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Durland 173 for a program on "Career Opportunities in Information Management" by Anderson Consulting.
- AATCC will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Justin 227 for officer elections.

Tuesday

- OWLS will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.
- Education Council will have officer elections at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, partly cloudy in the morning, then mostly cloudy in the afternoon. High around 70 by midday, but turning sharply colder in the afternoon with temperatures falling to the 50s by evening. Southeast winds 10 to 15 mph in the morning becoming northerly 15 to 25 mph and gusty during the afternoon. A 40 percent chance for showers or thunderstorms. Tonight, cloudy and colder with a 40 percent chance of rain. Low in the mid to up-

YOUR FAVORITE SPECIALS from 8 p.m. to closing Sunday-Thursday.

APRIL 15-19:

(Ice cream with your favorite candy or fruit flavors)

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd

Village Plaza

Shopping Center

* community save ESCAPE TO THE SUNSHINE Saturday, April 21 Grab a friend and catch some rays as we help the community of Oskaloosa, KS Spend The Day In

Washington, KS

We're going to plant bulbs & flowers, rebuild a stone wall, and clean up the river area

Both Trips-*Open to all K-State students *No skills required IT'S FREE!

Transportation & Lunch Provided! Depart- 7:30am

South side of Union Contact: Sietske Saunders or Stacy Sweazy 532-5701 Eisenhower 14A

We've Rescheduled!! *Individuals or groups Return- 6:00pm

In Pine Valley, get your hair done and gossip about who's with whom at the G

In Lianview, secrets unfold at

In Port Charles, they get away with plenty at 's Diner.

GRAND PRIZE: All expense paid trip for two to the Daytime Emmy Awards on ABC. FIRST PRIZE: Panasonic 20" Color TV and VCR. SECOND PRIZE: 500 Day TV T-Shirts.

THIRD PRIZE: 1000 one-year subscriptions to ABC's EPINONS Magazine.

ABC DAY TV SWEEPSTAKES OFFICIAL RULES

ABC DAY TV SWEEPSTAKES Complete this coupon and enter today Watch ABC's Day TV and discover the answers to the following: ALL MY CHILDREN In Pine Valley, get your hair done and gossip about who's with whom at the ONE LIFE TO LIVE In Llanview, secrets unfold at S Place. GENERAL HOSPITAL In Port Charles, they get away with plenty at State Zip Mail to: ABC Day TV Sweeping P.O. Box 2014, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156-0612

Couples share in work

Marriages strengthened, enhanced with common ground

By Tammy Breitenbach Collegian Reporter

Experts say communication in a marriage is essential. Three married couples who teach at K-State add that having a common profession makes it even easier to get along. Martin and Harriet Ottenheimer are both professors in anthropology and social work. They met while in college, but it wasn't until after they married that their separate areas of study in graduate school began to Harriet Ottenheimer said being able to discuss research is the main benefit of having complementary careers in two separate areas of anthropology.

"I think that enriches the marriage as well as being able to enrich the work," she said.

"For us, being trained in closely related areas theoretically, as well as geographically and culturally, means we can proofread each other's work and comment on it and ask questions," she said. "We certainly do that with other colleagues, too, but it's nice to be able to do this with each other."

Her husband agreed, but said their specific type of work would be impossible to do outside of marriage.

"One of the most important things that we do as cultural anthropologists together is to live in other cultures and then attempt to understand and describe life in other cultures," Martin Ottenheimer said. "In order to do have both a male as well as the female perspective on life.

"Doing it as a couple is one of the best ways of doing it, and so it's more than just a way of doing things," he said. "It's almost an essential way of approaching the kinds of jobs that we

Even in such a convenient situation, he said changes have made some aspects of the relationship

"Since both of us now have administrative positions, it is awkward for some people, at least, and for me and my wife at times, because I am essentially her boss," Martin Ottenheimer said, "So there are some things I cannot discuss with her and will not discuss with her because they involve department business, and it's inappropriate for me to discuss those with a member of the faculty, even if that member of the faculty is a spouse.

"All that means is that we had to adjust our way of getting along together," he said. "If you're a couple who have been together for a long time, you're always readjusting to changes in life, and this is one of Thomas and Joycelyn Parish both teach in the area of administration and foundations of education, where he is a professor and she is an instructor. They were married when she was 18 and he was 20, Joycelyn Parish said, and she worked while he went through school.

"Even when we were studying as that adequately, it is essential that we students together, it was wonderful," positive sense of self."

Joycelyn Parish said. "We would occasionally take a class together, and we would each have our own book. We'd sit there and read, and I'd say, 'Did you catch this?' and he'd say 'Did you catch that?' We would kind of share insights in that situation together, and that's what we continued doing. I don't know if I'd suggest it, but it certainly hasn't been

Thomas Parish said their present working relationship continues to be

"I think there's a willingness to work together when you are dealing with your spouse that you might not be able to get in terms of that feeling of trust with other people, at least not as readily," he said. "We have coauthored articles and books together and shared our teaching materials to see how we can improve them and things like that, which I think are very valuable."

Sharon Morcos said she and her husband, Medhat Morcos, were both instructors at K-State before they met. She said that makes it comfortable and natural to work in the same field. He is an assistant professor in electrical and computer engineering, and she is an instructor in hotel and restaurant management and dietetics.

"When you're in the same profession, you have a lot of understanding for the time that it takes," Sharon Morcos said. "I understand when my husband has to spend hours preparing for something, and he under-

■ See MARRIED, Page 12

Airborne

Brian Weller, Wamego, jumps over the edge of a bank while riding on bike trails at the spillway area of Tuttle Creek Dam Sunday. Weller occasionally competes at the motocross racetrack in Wamego.

Schools participate in drug program

Elementary students learn dangers of drug, alcohol abuse in workshops

By Margaret Clarkin Collegian Reporter

About 250 sixth grade students from four Manhattan elementary schools participated in a drug education program Friday afternoon at the First United Methodist Church.

The program, Get High on Life, taught the students about drug and alcohol abuse and prevention. It also taught them about selfesteem, said Marsha Ward, social worker for Manhattan elementary schools.

Robert Simon, a teaching specialist and consultant for Wichita Public Schools, began the program by singing to the students.

"I got into programs like this because the need was there," Simon said. "I was interested in kids, and I hold their attention. A lot of what I do is geared at drug and alcohol prevention. Information, skills and alternatives are what they need to have. They also need a

Simon asked the students how many of them have a computer. A dozen hands went

"If you don't have your hand up, you are saying that you don't have a brain," he said. "That is a computer that you carry around between your ears. It's incredibly powerful."

Simon told the students to remember three words: conceive, believe and achieve. "If you see it and you believe in it, you can achieve it," Simon said. The students each attended two mini-workshops. One of the workshops was conducted by Proud to be Drug Free Students from Manhattan High School.

"If you know in your heart that you won't drink, it's much easier (to say no)," said Rachel Wallace, senior at MHS. "If you make the choice, you friends will respect that."

Wallace said not only should students be taught to say no, but also they should invent ways to have a good time without drugs.

The kids learn best from other students," Ward said. "With this program little kids get the chance to hear the big kids, and the big kids get the chance to say what they believe."

Programs like this one are excellent and show that schools are not just for learning, said Bob Parr, director of prevention services

"If you know in your heart that you won't drink, it's much easier (to say no). If you make the choice, you friends will respect

> - Rachel Wallace Manhattan High senior and biochemical services at Fort Riley

Counseling Center.

"Not all responsibilty should fall on the school (for education), but the schools should complement what is going on in the commun-

Parr conducted a workshop about mood changes and how they affect choices. He told the students that everyone has different feelings at different times, and the feelings of happiness or anger are neither good nor bad.

'If you feel something inside, let someone know," Parr said. "It's OK to have the feelings and let people know, but remember to act on those feelings in a way that won't make it worse,"

Sarah Schwartz, a sixth grade student from Marlatt School, was one of the students who attended Parr's workshop.

"Parr was animated," Schwartz said. "He made everything seem so real."

Students from Amanda Arnold Elementary, Marlatt, Northview and Woodrow Wilson schools attended the program.

Some Students Don't Need A BANK IV Student Loan.

Studious

"I discovered heretofore unidentified organic compounds in ordinary dorm food which I processed to propel a spaceship the size of Duluth to the Andromeda galaxy and back..."

On one hand: Won every scholarship known to humanity.

On the other: Needs money only to buy pocket protector and dental floss.

(12 simultaneous part time jobs. Too busy to talk.)

On one hand: Learns value of a dollar. On the other: Collapses of exhaustion 2 weeks before graduation.

Prankster

"... and then we'll get up to their campus, steal the weasel mascot, and hold it for 50 kegs ransom."

On one hand: Lots of laughs. On the other: All assets controlled by bail bondsmen.

Football Powerhouse Star

"Hi, Mom!"

On one hand: Can turn pro at any minute.

On the other: Needs to finish his education to understand the contract.

On one hand: Could qualify for a BANK IV Student Loan. On the other: Hasn't applied yet.

Send me information on BANK IV's Student Loan program.

Social Security Number

Clip out coupon and mail to: BANK IV Educational Loan Department P.O. Box 1318

A BANK IV Student Loan Isn't For Everybody.

But it's probably right for you. 'Cause BANK IV believes in you. And in the future you're building for yourself. So if you need money for school, send us this coupon. We'll send you complete details.

BANK IV Educational Loan Department / P.O. Box 1318 / Wichita, KS 67201 / (316) 261-2103 or 1 (800) 283-LOAN

EDITORIAL

Terrible reality interrupts nightmare

zarre and scary it just President appeared to a group of reporters for couldn't have been real. But you know how it a news conference. It was a big news conference. is when you are asleep - your brain has ultimate control. You'll believe anything. It was not a classic chase scene or even a boogieman-gore dream, but it sure gave me the willies. It was one of those dreams where you think it is real but it somehow just doesn't seem right. I give myself quite a chuckle sometimes, getting scared by silly little things like nightmares.

In the dream, peace was breaking out all over the world. It was amazing. The longtime, Earth-threatening enemies - the Soviet Union and the United States - were becoming ever nicer to each other. The Berlin Wall was down, the Germanys were reuniting and Europe was forming an integrated economy. Even the sky seemed bluer.

Things were slowly escalating towards World Peace. Granted, every once in a while the peace-ing would stop and tanks would roll into various cities. But on the whole, the little skirmishes seemed to be ineffective in stopping the eventual destruction of bad feelings. An official declaration of peace was looming ever closer.

Like many nightmares, this one had started oy oh boy, I just woke up from the and I was helpless to do anything but watch. most terrible dream. It was so bi-Suddenly a panic-stricken guy named Mr. ence, too, because everything was explained all at once. The sky went dark and lightning scorched the sky. It was unbelievable but that's how dreams are sometimes. Mr. President stepped before the microphones, masculine and wimpy as ever, and began his speech. He said that as a last-ditch effort to delay the onset of peace, a whole bunch of invisible airplanes would be purchaced for a very large sum of money. So much money, in fact, that some other needs of the country would have to remain on the back burner. But Mr. President assured the reporters that defense against peace was important. Examples of the invisible airplanes were then displayed before the public and everyone examined them. I looked at the planes, but they were so expensive that I could not see them.

Not everyone was in favor of the "War on Peace," as it was called, because most people wanted a peaceful world. But the official consensus was that "The Peace to End all Peaces" would have to be stopped at any expense. God, it was unreal.

As for piddly little things like education, like a regular dream. But it soon turned bad, Mr. President indicated the individual states would have to fund their universities and schools on their own. The federal government couldn't even start to fund both education and defend the world against peace.

Suddenly, the news conference was over, and I was tormented by spinning newspaper headlines like in those old black-and-white "Volunteer teachers needed — schools can't afford to pay salaries," one dream headline screamed.

Then, "Library in crisis, last in Big 8." "Engineering department on verge of losing accreditation," was another, "Technology growing faster than school can afford to keep up."

Yet another headline spun into view: "University police can't afford proper training; students risk becoming statistics." It was terrible, but the headlines kept coming.

The university in my dream started crying to the state for help, but it was in vain. The state had no money to give because it had to spend it on other things, and no help was available from the federal government. Under normal circumstances there would be money, but with the country in the midst of a defense ... it was a time of crisis for all.

Finally, a most heart-stopping headline spun into my dream. It said, "University faces huge reduction of funds." By this time I was in a cold sweat. I tossed and turned, trying desperately to wrench myself awake. But it was

y dream forced me to stay asleep and watch the results of this incredible education cutback. Apparently the university would lose almost $8 million from its expected budget. That would result in the cancellation of more than 100 sections of classes for the next school year. Not only would that prevent some students from graduating on time, but it would also cause a decrease in enrollment. Students would be forced to find a university that offered the classes they needed.

The budget cuts would also endanger the jobs of temporary faculty, teaching assistants and untenured professors. With even greater money problems, it didn't seem like the library, engineering school or other depart-

I HATED SCHOOL

MY KIDS TO FEEL

ANY DIFFERENT.

SO I DON'T EXPECT

ments were any closer to success, either. Suddenly the scene switched and I saw a huge snowball start to roll down a steep mountain. At the bottom of the mountain was a ski lodge named "The Future of the Country." That seemed like an interesting name so I tried to warn the people inside of the coming disaster. But all the phones to the White House were off the hook - defense battle

It seemed that the realities of defense had finally taken their tolls on the home front. The state was in such dire financial straits from lack of federal support that it was having to dig into the heart of the education system. Now "The Future of the Country" ski lodge was about to be smashed by an incredible education ball-up.

If only they had simply let peace break out. If only money was spent where it was needed. If only ... Auntie Em, Auntie Em! I want to go

Finally I wrenched myself awake from the nightmare. I wiped the sweat from my brow, made a strong pot of coffee and took a cold shower. That felt better. To relax, I sat down and read the newspaper.

Boy oh boy, I just woke up to the most terrible reality. It's so bizarre and scary that it just can't be real. ...

But it is.

Presence of measles necessitates caution

a University setting. One infectious disease annually strikes. Ho-hum. What else is new.

Lafene Student Health Center, laid up in bed for several days; not such an attitude can lead to death.

With four reported cases of measles on campus, the time has come to make phone calls to parents and doctors back home to determine if vaccinations are up to date.

If that is not possible, students should go to Lafene and speak to doctors to determine if they need immunization to prevent being ter the vaccination. stricken by the disease.

tion as a childhood ailment, is no- alternatives.

It seems to be a recurring story in thing to treat lightly. Untreated, measles can lead to encephalitis and death.

At the very least, catching the According to officials at the disease can cause a person to be the best way to begin preparing for finals or finish term papers.

> The cost of a vaccination at Lafene is $2, and after-hours fees have been waived for those who can only get in at that time of day. A form must be completed before the shot can be given, and a 20-minute waiting period is required af-

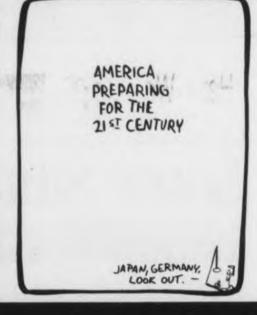

All in all, an insignificant price Measles, while having a reputato pay, considering the

I HAVEN'T HAD KIDS IN SCHOOL FOR YEARS, SO I DON'T SEE WHY I SHOULD PAY FOR EDUCATION.

Battle against racism must start immediately

sities last week brought home the lesson that one of the greatest ills of American society, racism, was not cured in the 1950s and 1960s.

Complaints were raised at K-State after student senators used the words "these people" when referring to members of the Black Student Union during debate over that organization's funding.

And spontaneous protests broke out at the University of Kansas about the physical and verbal abuse of a black woman by members of a fraternity.

While it is clear that one incident is more serious than the other, it is not clear what means are available the problem worse.

Two incidents at Kansas univer- to society as it tries to solve the problem of race relations.

> In the '50s and '60s, the solutions were more easily perceived. Then the problem was a system of apartheid that was enforced by the laws of several states. Eliminating the laws by federal legislation and Supreme Court decison was a long and arduous battle.

> Today's battle must be waged against attitudes and practices, much more elusive foes.

> That the battle against racism must begin, and soon, is obvious by the reaction to use of "these people" in Student Senate.

Believing otherwise only makes

Terms incorrect

Editor,

When will it all stop? K-State claims to be an agricultural institution, yet, from a glance at the Collegian, it is tough to tell.

I am referring to a series of articles that appeared about the Little American Royal. The first of several errors appeared in the April 6 Collegian.

The headline read, "Students groom horses, cows for American Royal." In this simple statement there are two errors.

First, there were not any cows shown. To be more specific, they were bulls and heifers, not cows. This is a serious error. Do we confuse the men's football and basketball teams? I think not. Why is it so difficult to set the proper term? I realize that it has been ingrained in our society to call any bovine creature a cow, but let's show some intellect and try to get it right at an institution of higher education. A cow is older and has given birth to a calf, whereas a heifer has not.

Secondly, this was not the American Royal. That particular show is in November at Kemper Arena in Kansas City, Mo. This is the Little American Royal. It is hosted by the K-State Block & Bridle Club and held in Manhattan. K-State doesn't like to be confused with the "other school," the University of Kansas. The same goes for the LAR.

Finally, there are two accuracy errors. One appearing Friday, the other on Monday's front page.

On Friday, Ingrid Erickson reported that no admission would be charged. This was completely false. There was an advertisement in the same paper that posted the correct fees. Why could not the editors catch this critical error?

And finally, in the lead paragraph Monday, a nice descriptive scenario was given. There was only one fault. There were no steers. This is a critical mistake. A steer has been castrated, thus he cannot reproduce. The LAR is hosted with the Special K bull sale - a production sale for cattle breeders to purchase seedstock. A steer is worthless for that use.

Upon pointing out these critical errors, I hope the staff realizes the importance of using correct terminology. It did give most of the students, and even a few faculty, a few laughs at an uninformed writer, but it also created a great deal of concern.

LETTERS As a service to students, the staff of the Collegian owes the student body complete, correct information.

In the future, please check the status of livestock sex and any other agricultural term you don't understand. We'll be glad to help.

Beth Gaines junior in ag journalism

Letter misprinted

Thank you for printing my letter regarding exceptions to campus rules in Wednesday's Collegian. Unfortunately, there was an extra line added to my letter which stated "some freshmen are excepted from normal enrollment procedures and are allowed to enroll in classes before anyone else." I don't know any freshmen - except athletes - who are allowed to do this. I am certain this was a simple misprint. Also, I feel that the headline over my letter, "Protest not right," was misleading. I have no problem with "The Last Temptation of Christ" protestors, other than the fact that they were allowed to protest inside the K-State Union, while other groups are not allowed to do so.

Beth DeGeer graduate student in special curriculum Raise sensitivities

Aireka Key's excellent guest column, "Labeling Inappropriate," in Thursday's edi-tion of the Collegian should give all of us food for thought.

This campus must be proactive in combating actions which place individuals at a disadvantage on the basis of race, sex, religion or handicap. Such action calls for a concerted effort to raise the sensitivities of students, faculty and staff as to the impact that words or actions, no matter how innocent, may have upon various groupings of our campus community, including minorities, women and students from other countries.

The immediate impact of educational programs included in campus activities such as Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week, Martin Luther King Jr. Week and Native American Heritage Month have been positive. However, as Key suggests, more is needed if we are to ensure that no segment of our campus community is allowed to perceive that it is of little importance to K-State.

With this in mind, we will establish procedures whereby representatives of all campus units/organizations will be encouraged to participate in ongoing workshops/forums designed to enhance sensitivities and group understanding/appreciation throughout future school years.

> Jon Wefald University President

Senate generous

I would like to address two articles that were printed in the Collegian recently. One thought involves the funding of Black Student Union, a late applicant, and the other involves name calling.

First of all, I don't believe BSU should have received funding. What would happen if I were two weeks late with my rent payment, two weeks late with my tuition payment or two weeks late with my final term paper? Most likely, I would have to suffer the consequences of my actions as I might be evicted, I might have my classes dropped or I might fail the course. However, if I followed all of the rules and met all of the obligations, then I would not have to worry.

Some people at the Student Senate meeting. said people are what is important. To me, people are not the question. The point that I'm arguing is whether BSU turned in a budget request on time or not. I believe Senate funded BSU to avoid a controversy. I believe if another club had turned in a late budget request, it possibly would have been denied funding. I believe Senate was too generous to BSU, considering BSU was extremely late with the request. Finally, why anybody is offended by the remark "these people," I do not know. Many times, a name like "these people" would have been better than other names I have been called.

In a world where controversial issues take place daily, attention should be focused on existing problems, not invented ones,

> Bill Struckmeyer junior in education

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

	News Staff
EDITOR	Erwin
MANIACINIC EDITOR	Paula 3
ACCICTANT MANACING EDITOR	Catherine L
NICIALS STATION	Craig Han
EDETORIAL DACE EDITOR	Enc n
DUICATO PENETOD	Brad C
enone eneman	Chris
CASAMIC POPPODE	Ellen Layton, Susan L Ed
CRECTAL PROPERTY POPPOR	Koden
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Julie Andi
FEATURES EDITOR	Jim R
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Chris k
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Nancy Dow
COPY CHIEF	Nancy Dow
COPY EDITORS	Wendy Nakoneczny, Jane Thompson, Angela V
	Lori Antrim, Paul Branson, Steve Frai Cosima Hadidi, Lori Mikesell, Tomari Quinn, Melissa Sim
	Costma Hadidi, Lori Mikeseli, Iomari Quini, Melisai Sin
SCIENCE REPORTER	Manager Clarks Oliver Paul
STAFF PHOTOGRAPHERS	Margaret Clarkin, Oliver Kaul
SPORTS REPORTERS	Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan W
COLUMNISTS	Kirk Caraway, Karin Dell'Antonia, Audra I
REVIEWERS	Mark Butler, Rod Gille
	Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroy
STRIP CARTOONISTS	Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroj Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Ha
EDITORIAL BOARD	Julie Andsager, Ellen Dayton, Catherine L
	Craig Hamrick, Eric Henry, Chris N
	Susan L'Ecuyer, John Mussman, Jim R
	Erwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svo Kirk Can
Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506, T.	student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publica he Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and ! Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhat-

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word ading questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Macintosh lab may open in fall

By Tammy Breitenbach Collegian Reporter

Students looking for access to a Macintosh computer on campus next fall should keep checking the progress of a new lab in the computer science department.

Tom Gallagher, director of computing and telecommunications, said if funding is made available through the University, a new computer lab with eight terminals will open in September in Dickens Hall.

Gallagher said it would be a general purpose lab open to all students, staff and faculty.

The computer science department has had microcomputer labs open to students for three years with no problems, he said. Students using the Macintosh lab would be free to come and go without signing in or being monitored by a supervisor.

The department is not too concerned with theft, Gallagher said.

This Week's Specials

Sanchos & Burritos.......98¢ ea. reg. $1.50 ea.

Taco Dinner.....$1.77 reg. $2.50

Prices good thru Sat. April 21

Sun.-Thur. 11 a.m.-10 p.m. Fri. & Sat. 11 a.m.-Midnight

Now open 7 days a week

776-8830

TACO HUP

ne Hill Over Looking Westloop 539-2091

we have the machines connected to a server," he said. "That machine has the software on it, and it makes it much more difficult to copy the software."

The Macintosh lab for journalism students in Kedzie Hall has no server, and theft has been more of a problem, said Charles Pearce, associate professor of journalism and mass communications and Macintosh lab coordinator for the journalism school.

"As far as the hardware, we've lost a few items," Pearce said, "but we've pretty well cracked down on unattended labs and things like that. That's when it

'At the end of last year, for example, we left the lab open for a week after classes were over so people could come in and do their resumes and things like that, and somebody took advantage of it and walked out with our hard drive," he said. "The year before "Generally, in our laboratories, See COMPUTER, Page 12

PERM SPECIAL

$39 (reg. $52) Call Buffy for your personal appointment thru April 21.

PIZZA W

$5.75 + tax

$6.99 + tax

$4.75 + tax

$10 + tax

$12.99 + tax

Candlewood

areas changed

By Tammy Breitenbach Collegian Reporter

As of Friday, smokers in the K-State Union will have to change their smoking location to comply with new rules.

The Union Governing Board has increased the number of nonsmoking areas in the building, adding the entire Stateroon cafeteria, the Dive area south of the Catskeller and the TV area lounge.

Verlyn Richards, faculty representative to UGB from the College of Business Administration, said customer comments and requests prompted the decision.

"We are getting an increasing number of complaints about the problem of smoking in some of the public areas, particularly the food service area and the TV lounge," Richards said. "Our problem is that the Union has tried for the last three or four years to solve the problem by improving the ventilation system. It's just not working very well."

Jack Sills, Union director, said the board tried several methods before deciding to close the area to smokers. "We've tried everything we pos-

LARGE PIZZA ONLY $550

Dine In or Carry Out

with One Topping

"BEST DAMN PIZZA"

Alchemedians II

Bob Berky and Michael Moschen Tuesday, April 17, 8 p.m. Team a mime who's like a cross between Robin Williams and Groucho

Marx with a nimble-fingered wizard who's been called the Nijinsky of juggling. Give them toys from Pee-Wee's Playhouse and

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University

Transportation for senior citizens available through

Arts Council. For Information and reservations, call

Marie Dellen at 537-4400, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Kansas State Bank, in cooperation with the Manhattan to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Tickets now on sale. Call (913) 532-6428 and charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA. Box office hours: noon got the Alchemedians. Join them in their fanciful labor delirious evening of man and machine situes: comedy, breathtaking beauty, and

"premium pizza at a cardboard pizza price"

523 South 17th

Room 537-1484

sibly could to draw that smoke out of there," Sills said. "It was just so heavy that we were never successful in doing that. We tried ventilation. We tried to put up in the ceiling what they call smoke eaters, which draw smoke in one end and run it by a neutralizer before bringing it back into the room. That helped, but it didn't really solve the problem."

April Milliken, senior in statistics, said it is obvious that the previous efforts were not working.

"I can really smell the smoke in here (the Stateroom), especially when I'm eating. It annoys me," she said. "I don't want to discriminate, but it bothers me. Maybe it's not fair to the smokers, but I don't think it's fair to me that I have to eat with the smoke still being able to come

"I don't smoke in there because it smells bad even when there aren't a lot of people in there smoking," said Saskia Given, sophomore in art. "I have friends who aren't smokers, so I don't want them to have to sit in there. If it bothers me, I'm sure that it must bother them," Given said. UGB did not think it was fair to smokers to make the entire building a the general concourse areas. non-smoking area, Richards said. Such change would be too drastic.

"A number of the people (on UGB) were expressing the concern that we probably shouldn't go too far too fast," he said. "The general idea was that we need to probably eliminate the smoking option in some of those areas where it seems to be the most problem without completely closing off the building to the smokers."

The areas in the Union still open to smokers are the alcove east of the Becca Bruns, senior in sociology, said she doesn't think the change is necessary.

"I don't mind it (the smoke)," she said, "I think that they should be able to smoke somewhere, too," she said. "If the smoke bothers me a little bit, that's OK, because it's their right to smoke as much as it's my right not to smoke."

Richards said UGB is doing its best to make as many people happy and possible.

"It's a terribly controversial thing Stateroom, the recreation area and and there's no good solution on it.'

CURRENT & CLASSIC ROCK TONIGHT 60 oz. Pitchers

No Cover!

OPEN at 4:00 702 North 11th

776-0077 Aggieville, USA

(This is a paid advertisement)

33 And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified him, and the malefactors, one on the right hand, and

36 And the sold season of the so toos.

47 New when the contrition was what was done, he glorified Oud, saying, Certainly this was the righteous man.

48 And all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things which were done, amout their breasts, and retar

49 And all this acquaintance, and the women that followed him from Oalline, stood far off, beholding these things.

50 And behold, there was a man named Joseph, a connection; and he was a good man, and a just of the same had not connected to the counsel and deed of them;) he was of Ar-i-ma-thae-a, a city of the Jews: who also binned? water 51 (The same had not consented to the counters the count of mean you was in the same had not consented to the counters the body of Jesus.

52 This may seem to Pilate, and begged the body of Jesus.

53 And he took it down, and wrapped it in lines, and laid it in a sepulchm that was have in stoos, wherein never man before was laid.

54 And that day was the preparation, and the sabbath draw on.

55 And the women size, which came with him from Gailles, followed after, and beheld the sepulchra, and bow his body was laid.

56 And then they returned, and prepared spices and obtainments, and rested the sabbath day according to the commandations.

Now upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unso the sepulchre, bringing the spices which had been prepared, and

2 And they eas some roused away into the body of the Lord Jesus.

3 And they eascred in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus.

4 And it came to pass, they were much peopleted thereabout, behold, two men stood by them in thining garments:

5 And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the carth, they said unto them, Why we sook the living among the dead?

5 He is not here, but is risear, remember how he spake unto you when he was yet in Galilee.

7 Saying, the Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful mon, and be crucified, and on the third day rise again.

3 And behold, two of them were that same day to a village called Em-ma-us, which, was from Jer

13 And fethold, two of them were that same day to a village called Em-ma-us, which, was from Jerusalem about threescore furiongs 14 And they talked together all these things which had happened.
15 And it came to pass, that, while they communed together and reasoned, Jesus himself drew near, and went with them.
16 But their were helden that they should not know him.
17 And he said unto them, What manner of communications are these that ye have one to another, as ye walk, and are sai?
18 And the one of them, whose name was Cle-o-pas, answering said unto him, Art thou only a stranger in Jerusalem, and hast not known the hings which are come to pass therein these days?
19 And he said unto them, What things? And they said unto him. Concerning Jesus of Nazareth, which was a prophet mighty in deed and word before Gold and all the people:
20 And how the chief pricess and our rulers delivered him to be condensed to death and have him provided.

word before God and all the people:

20 And how the chief priests and our raters delivered him to be condemned to death, and have him crucified.

21 But we trusted that it had been he which should have redecemed Israel; and beside all this to day the third day stince things were done.

22 Yea, and certain women also of our company made as astonished, which were early at the sepulchre;

23 And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also scen vision of angels, which said that he was alive.

24 And certain of them which were with us went to the nepulchre, and found it even so the women had said; but they saw not.

25 Then he said unto them, O fools, and slow of heart to believe all thus the prophets had spoker:

26 Ought not Christ not to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?

27 And beginning at Mouse and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself.

28 And they down nigh unso the village, whither they went; and he made as though he would have gone further.

29 But they constrained him, saying, Abide with as for it is soward the evening, and the day is far spent. And he went to tarry with them.

30 And it came to pass, as he said at meat with them, he took bread, and blessed it, and brake, and gave it to them.

31 And their eyes were opened, and they knew him; and he vanished out of their sight.

31 And their eyes were opened, and they knew him; and he vanished out of their sight, 32 And they said one to another. Did not our heart burn within us, while he salked with us by the way, and while he opened us to the 32 And they said one to another, Did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened us to the scriptures?

33 And they rose up at the same how, and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven gathered together, and them that were with them, 35 Saying. The Lord is risen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon.

35 And they toold what things were done in the way, and how he was known of them in breaking of the bread.

36 And as they thus spake, Jesus himself stoop in the midst of them and saith unto them, Peace be unto you.

37 But they were sernified and affrighted, and supposed that they had seen a spirit.

38 And he said unto them, Why are ye troubled? and why do shoughts arise in your hearts?

39 Behold my hands and my feet, that is I myself: handle me, and see, for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have.

40 And when he had thus spoken, he shewed them his hands and his feet.

41 And while they yet believed not for joy, and wondered, he said unto them Have ye here any meat?

42 And they gave him a piece of a broited flat, and of an honeycomb.

43 And he tolk it, and did out before them.

44 And he said smot them, these are the words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled, which were written in the two of Moses, and in the prophetu, and in the pulma, concerning me.

45 Then opened he their understanding, that they might understand the scriptures.

46 And said unto them, Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to saffer, and to rise from the dead the shird day:

47 And that repontance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.

48 And ye are witnesses of these things.

49 And that repontance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.

48 And ye are witnesses of these things.

50 And he do ditten out at far as to Beshany, and he lifted up his hands, and blessed them.

51 And were continually in the temple, pra

MONDAY MADNESS

for You!

MONDAY ONLY

TUESDAY ONLY

WEDNESDAY ONLY

THURSDAY ONLY

FRIDAY ONLY

2-12" 1 topping w/garlic bread

1-12" 1 topping, 1-16 oz. drink

3-10" 3 topping with 4 drinks

3-12", 2 topping with 4 drinks

2-10" 1 topping 2-16 oz. drinks & garlic bread

Above offers not valid w/any other offer or coupon

$1.25 garlic bread-cheese costs extra

Keep an Eye for Falsetto's Pizza Daily Specials

1127 Moro • Aggieville • 539-3830

NO DINNER OR SANDWICH OVER

> SAVE UP TO 40%

4:00-8:00 p.m. body but nobody, heats The Chef

COLLEGIAN

Medical

Directory

Pat M. Dreiling D.D.S. M.S.

MEMBER OF AMERICAN ASSN. OF ORTHODONTISTS SPECIALIST IN CHILD & ADULT ORTHODONTICS Building D

Manhattan Medical Center

1133 College Ave. 537-0136

Dental Associates of Manhattan 1133 College Ave., Bldg. D

Mahattan Medical Center Manhattan, Kansas 66502 539-7401

C.W. Hughes, D.D.S. J.R. Pettle, D.D.S. W.L. Lala, D.D.S. R.A. Fulton, D.D.S. W.C. Strutz, D.D.S. K.S. Carlson, D.D.S.

Michael Wangsgaard, D.D.S. 1400 Beechwood Terr.

539-4601

Call for an Appointment Monday-Thursday 24-hour Emergency Service

Need Money? MANHATTAN FROERAL Savings and Loan Association

See Manhattan Federal Savings & Loan for all your student in eeds!

Let Nancy Hammerschm t in the dent Loan Department help you make the light choose by assisting you with a Student Lan from Manhattan eral Savings. The profession staff are also yo ocal experts

Lender Code 82033

was posses and the second of the second of the second of 537-2298 800 Poyntz Manhattan, Kansas 66502

SPORTS MONDAY

Wildcats take 3 games from Missouri

Baseball squad wins series vs MU for 1st time since '75

By David Svoboda Sports Reporter

K-State used a combination of strong pitching, outstanding defense and an ability to capitalize on Missouri's mistakes to take three out of four games from the Tigers in a weekend series at Frank Myers Field.

Despite the series win - K-State's first over Mizzou since 1975 the Wildcats fell percentage points behind Oklahoma State for first place in the Big Eight Conference.

The Cowboys are now 7-2 for a .778 mark. K-State is 9-3 or .750 in loop play. The Wildcats are 21-14 overall.

K-State used a solid effort on the mound from Kent Hipp and Dave Christensen to take Sunday's finale

The duo of junior pitchers were aided by the brilliance in the field of sophomore shortstop Craig Wilson, who made a dazzling play on a sharply hit grounder to start a double play in the sixth and lept high to pull down a line drive headed toward the gap in left-center in the

"Wilson made some great plays behind me," said Hipp, who went the first seven innings of the nineinning contest in raising his record to 5-2. "It's great knowing Willie (Wilson's nickname) is out there when you're pitching."

Hipp was the beneficiary of both of Wilson's fielding gems.

In the sixth, with the Wildcats clinging to the 2-0 lead they had gained in their half of the second, the Tigers put two men on after Hipp had retired centerfielder Bard Womack for the first out of the inning.

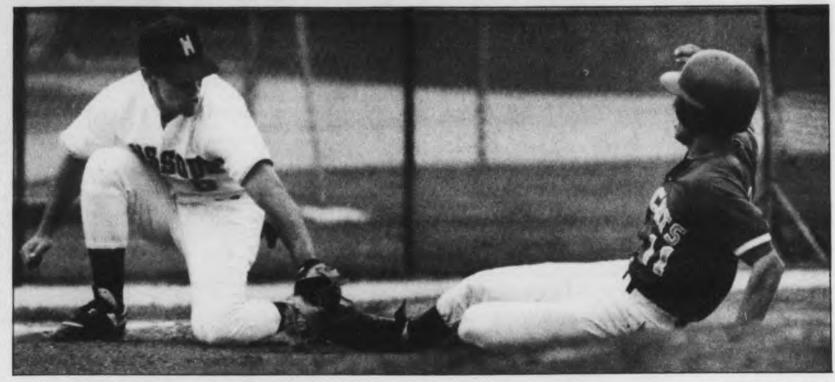

Tiger shortstop Bill Mondrella then hit a shot up the middle on the ground that Wilson made a lunging stab on the glovehand side behind the bag to corral. He then made a backhanded flip to second baseman Jeff Troll for the force, and Troll fired to first to complete the double

"It was hit hard — a low liner," Wilson said in recounting the play. "Mostly, what I was trying to do was keep it from getting through into the outfield."

"Wasn't that phenomenal?" Wildcat coach Mike Clark said of Wilson's play on Mondrella's atbat. "With the way we're turning double plays, our pitchers ought to have loads of confidence."

In the seventh, Missouri scored an unearned run to cut the deficit to 2-1 and threatened to do more damage when Mark Adair stepped to the plate with a man on and two outs.

Adair, a lefthanded hitter, hit a slicing liner up the middle that appeared at first to be out of the reach of Wilson, who moved to his left, planted, and made a leaping grab.

K-State's Craig Wilson is tagged out at third base by Missouri's Phil Neff in Saturday's action during a series between the two teams at Frank Myers Field. K-State won three games from the Tigers — the first time since 1975 that the Wildcats have won a series against Missouri.

That, for all intents and purposes, was that for Missouri.

With Hipp having tired somewhat and Missouri getting good cuts at the righthander, Clark went to Christensen for the second time in less than 24 hours. He responded the same way he did the night before -

Christensen faced just one man over the minimum in his two-inning stint Sunday, allowing a two-out hit by Rich Reisdorf in the eighth.

with a save, his second.

Christensen was able to use one of his main out pitches — the knuckleball - with particular effectiveness Sunday, as the gusty northeasterly winds made the ball move all over the strike zone.

Only one knuckler — the final one he threw all day - didn't work as Christensen would have liked.

That pitch, to Missouri's hottest hitter, Darnel Hawkins, nearly left the park. But the wind that made Christensen's knuckleball move kept his mistake in play.
"The only time I didn't get the pitch to move was on the last pitch of the game," he said. "I'm just glad he didn't get all of it."

Hipp said having a guy like Christensen coming into the game behind him made it much easier to relax as his fate was decided in the final two innings.

"That's why they call them relief pitchers," Hipp said. "Because you put them in and it's a relief for you to know they're going to get people

Christensen's relief came from the knowledge that Wilson and Co. were behind him on the infield. Four of the six outs he recorded were on infield grounders.

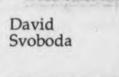

"When I've delivered and I see a ground ball, I know it's an automatic out," he said. "These guys are great.'

K-State got Hipp and Christensen all the support they would need by scoring two unearned runs in the second off Missouri starter and loser Chuck Fletcher.

■ See 'CATS, Page 7

Pitching, defense key Wildcat rise to top

Parallels between recent Royal, Cardinal teams can be made with 1990 team in purple and white

OFF THE BENCH

If pitching and defense win championships, K-State should be in for an exciting second half of the Big Eight baseball season.

The Wildcats are currently 9-3 in Big Eight play, and only perennial league power Oklahoma State stands between K-State and the top keeping the team in every game. Herzog's Cardinal clubs of the past several years have been the

With players like Ozzie Smith, ways, but Herzog's teams got to you the most with tough pitching and a defense that took the heart out of almost every rally.

There were Frank White, Fred Patek, Amos Otis and Darrell Porter doing it defensively in the center of the diamond. And there were starting pitchers like Paul Splittorff, Dennis Leonard and Larry Gura same type of teams.

When Whitey Herzog was the Tommy Herr, Willie McGee, Porter manager of the Kansas City Royals and Tony Pena up the middle defen-in the middle '70s, the Royals were sively, St. Louis has consistently a team that could beat you in several been among the best teams in the National League.

Toss in closers like Bruce Sutter and Todd Worrell and capable starting staffs, and you'll know why St. Louis was in the World Series in 1982, 1985 and 1987.

Kansas City and St. Louis provide useful comparisons here because K-State - though not possessing any Ozzie Smiths or Dennis Leonards - has many of the same ingredients that the Royals and Cardinals have during their finest

Think of the first player who comes to mind when you recall the Royals' World Championship season of 1985. Bret Saberhagen would probably be right there, with Buddy Biancalana and Jim Sundberg — a shortstop and catcher - providing key performances in postseason play as well.

Yes, a team is only as strong as its

K-State's got a strong ticker, if early indications are useful.

With senior Dan Skala behind the plate, the catching chores are in good hands. Skala frustrated the best stolen base artist in KU history Pat Karlin - by throwing him out four of five times last weekend.

At second base, senior Jeff Troll gives the Wildcats steady defense only three errors — and a bat that is more than respectable. Barring a late-season swoon like he had last year, Troll is a legitimate candidate for all-league honors. And with Troll's attitude, it's a safe bet he won't fall off dramatically this year.

The Wildcat shortstop, Craig Wilson, is more like Patek than Smith. He makes the routine play look easy, and makes the spectacular play frequently enough that it is failing to surprise many when he flashes the leather on a dazzling

Wilson's ability to stay back on grounders is especially key at Frank Myers Field, which has an infield that is very rough in spots. He can afford to stay back with the arm he possesses.

In centerfield, both L.J. Twyner and preseason All-American Russ Ringgenberg are proven winners.

Twyner made three spectacular grabs to kill rallies last weekend at Kansas, and Ringgenberg's throwing arm is respected conference-and Ringgenberg's instincts and smarts put him a cut above the rest of Big Eight players at his position. As for the pitching staff, David Hierholzer leads a group as strong

Both players have great speed, as any to wear purple in recent memory.

With Hierholzer, Kent Hipp, Chris Hmielewski and Sean Pedersen providing a strong starting staff, and relievers Steve Scoville, Mike Hedrick and Dave Christensen leading a more-than-capable bullpen corps, this staff is, in a word, tough.

No, this team will not rival the long-ball ability of the Wildcat clubs of Coach Mike Clark's first couple of seasons at K-State.

But this team, unlike any of Clark's teams in Manhattan, has a ■ See SVOBODA, Page 7

Toss qualifies Miller for nationals

From Staff and Wire Reports

LINCOLN, Neb. - Angie Miller continued to dominate in both of her specialties as she highlighted K-State's performances at the Nebraska Invitational track meet Saturday.

Miller, a junior thrower from Frankfort, became K-State's second athlete to qualify for the NCAA Championships with a first-place toss of 50-11 in the shot put. Miller then picked up her second gold medal of the day with a toss of 163-5 in the discus, which gave her a provisional qualifying mark for nationals.

"That was a really good effort," Coach John Capriotti said of Miller's national qualifying mark. "She's starting to throw really well right now, but, of course, we expected it.

"It didn't come as a big surprise by any means, and we look for her to start throwing farther in the discus

Miller's performances were two of seven first-place efforts on the day for the Wildcat tracksters.

On the women's side, Connie Teaberry edged closer to the national qualifying mark in the high jump. She settled for a first-place height of 5-111/4, after failing in three attempts at 6-0%. Teaberry's height did meet the NCAA provisional qualifying

"Connie Teaberry's coming around," Capriotti said. "I thought she had a couple of real good attempts at

Carla Shannon picked up the other first-place finish for the K-State women. Shannon also fell just shy of the NCAA standard of 41-10 in the triple jump with a leap of 41-0%, which met the provisional mark.

On the men's side, Tyrone Watkins paced K-State's two first-place finishes. He turned in his season-best performance in winning the 400 meters with a time of 47.25.

Javelin thrower Pat Allen had the other first-place effort with a toss of Nebraska won the team competition in both the men's and women's sides, while the K-State women finished second and the men third in the quadrangular meet. "No one really cares about the team results at this point in the season," Capriotti said. "We didn't even enter a lot of events. "I thought we had some good performances. It was really the first day that we have been able to get out there with decent weather.'

> K-STATE RESULTS MEN

(Top three finishers only) 110-meter hurdles - Steve Fritz, 2nd, 15.05; 400 meters - Tyrone Watkins, 1st, 47.25; 800 meters - Marcus Wright, 2nd, 1:49.0; 5,000 meters - Ron Smith, 3rd, 14:50.75; Discus - Eric Strauss, 3rd, 154-11; Javelin - Pat Allen, 1st, 193-7, Ricahrd Croll, 3rd, 193-4; Triple jump -Clifton Etheridge, 2nd, 50-0%, Orlo Berry, 3rd, 48-8; 4x100-meter relay - Tyrone Watkins, Adrian Johnson, Clifton Etheridge, and Thomas Randolph, 2nd, 41.38; 4x400-meter relay - Corey King, Adrian Johnson, Marcus Wright, and Tyrone Watkins, 2nd, 3:10.0.

100 meters - Joy Jones, 12.14; 100-meter hurdles - Karen McGaughey, 2nd, 15.79; 200 meters - Joy Jones, 3rd, 24.77; 800 meters -Ellarie Pesmark, 3rd, 2:15.7; 1,500 meters -Janet Treiber, 2nd, 4:29.42, Paulette Staats, 3rd, 4:31.02; 3,000 meters - Janet Haskin, 3rd, 9:39.3; 5,000 meters - Renee Russell, 2nd, 18:10.47; Shot put - Angie Miller, 1st, 50-11;

High jump - Connie Teaberry, 1st, 5-11%; Long jump - Karen McGaughey, 2nd, 17-74; Discus - Angie Miller, 1st, 163-5; Triple jump -Carla Shannon, 1st, 41-0%; 4x100-meter relay Joy Jones, Aretha Frazier, Latricia Joyner, and Markeya Jones, 2nd, 46.23.

Felix lifts Toronto past Kansas City

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Not even going 4-for-4 with a bases-loaded double changed Junior Felix's mind about Royals Stadium.
"I don't like it," Toronto's No.

9 hitter said Sunday after leading the Blue Jays to a wild 5-4 victory over Kansas City. "I just can't see the ball here. But today I did something different." Knowing he'd had trouble in Kansas City in the past, Felix straightened up slightly in his batting stance, he said.

"It helped me see the ball better," he said. "But I still don't like this park."

The Royals held a 2-0 lead when the Blue Jays loaded the bases in the sixth and Felix victimized Jeff Montgomery with a three-run double over the head of center fielder Willie Wilson. Felix also had three singles and scored a run in the third four-hit game of his career. "I guess he was playing me a tittle bit too shallow," Felix said of Wilson. "But I still didn't think he would catch it. I hit it too hard."

The victory gave the Blue Jays a 2-1 edge in the three-game series with the team whose 55-26 home record last year led the major

"I got a little behind Felix and I think I may have given in a little bit," Montgomery said. "You still have to be careful in that situation. Sometimes a walk may be better than a hit. It's frustrating when you give up a hit to lose a lead. It's frustrating. Sometimes it seems it just crumbles."

Steve Crawford (0-1) relieved Larry McWilliams with one on and two out in the sixth inning and allowed a single to Rance Mulliniks. After Nelson Liriano walked, Felix got his decisive hit. Felix scored on a single by Tony Fernandez. After Fernandez stole second, Mookie Wilson's RBI double made it 5-2. Dave Stieb (2-0) pitched six innings, allowing nine hits and two runs. David Wells pitched the ninth for his second save. In the bottom of the seventh,

George Brett walked, Bo Jackson

I just can't see the ball here. But today I did something different."

- Junior Felix Toronto Bluejay

singled and Kurt Stillwell loaded the bases with a hard shot to Kelly Gruber at third base. Gruber knocked the ball down and appeared to force Brett, but umpire

Jim McKean ruled him safe. Wilson grounded to Fred McGriff at first, whose throw to the bag went into the Kansas City dugout, allowing two runs to Brett, off to a slow start, singled home Bob Boone, who had singled and moved to second on Kevin Seitzer's single in the third.

Nets' Dudley misses 17 free throws

By The Associated Press EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. -Chris Dudley should have watched the halftime show during New Jersey's game with Indiana

Saturday. He might have learned something. At halftime, a fan was blindfolded, spun around three times, and stationed at the foul line. He made one of seven free throws. Dudley, the NBA's worst foul shooter, was one for 18 in the Nets' 124-113 loss to the Pacers. He also missed his final 13 free throws. "It's the worst I've ever done," Dudley said after what might be the worst free-throw performance in the 54-year history of the NBA. "I was just thinking about too many things. I've been working on a lot of things, and I'm not confident yet."

According to the NBA record book, the worst performance is 0-for-10 by Wilt Chamberlain in Concentration is among the theories put forth to explain Dudley's horrific free-throw shooting. But Dudley is currently the only Ivy Leaguer in the NBA, having been drafted in 1987 from Yale by Cleveland.

"I'd shoot one and it would come up short," said Dudley, whose freethrow percentage dropped from .378 to .342 (55 of 161). "The next time I'd think about it and it would hit off the back of the rim." In missing his last 13 attempts, Dudley had one airball — it brushed the bottom of the net - and four bricks that left the backboard

Dudley's problems got so bad that referee Dick Bavetta once handed the ball to the 6-foot-11 center and offered words of encouragement.

Chris Morris, a 71 percent freethrow shooter for the Nets, was seen clasping his hands as if to pray for his teammate. At another point, teammate Purvis Short tried to sneak to the foul line after Dudley was fouled, but Bavetta caught him. Coach Bill Fitch, using Dudley to replace the injured Sam Bowie, diplomatically stressed Dudley's defense against the 7-4 Rik Smits, who had 14 points.

"I stuck with Chris because he was the only guy playing defense," Fitch said. "He kept Smits in check all game. No one else would have gotten to shoot that many free throws. That's the way I look at it." It seemed as if Dudley was fouled every time he got the ball. Indiana was called for 36 fouls, 15 more than "You don't have to be a rocket scientist to know they were going to foul me every time I got my hands on the ball down the stretch," said Dudley, who had nine points, 12 rebounds and three blocks. Fitch said the center's misses provided the impetus for a fourthquarter run that saw the Nets cut a 23-point deficit to 113-105 with 4:49

"We made our run when the crowd started getting on Chris for his missed free throws," Fitch said. "I think it livened us up."

SPORTS BRIEFLY

Cats sign Strickland

K-State basketball coach Dana Altman got his first commitment from a player Friday when Atlanta native Hamilton Strickland inked a letter of intent with the Wildcats.

The 6-foot-8 Hamilton, who is said to be a late bloomer, averaged 15 points for a 12-9 Mays High School team this past

Women golfers set record

COLUMBUS, Ohio - The K-State's women's golf team finished the 54-hole Lady Buckeye Spring Classic with a best-ever score of 981 Sunday at the Ohio State Gray course.

It was the first time the women had ever been under 1,000 strokes for 54 holes. The previous best was 1,004, set at the same course last fall.

The mark put the K-State women in 13th place for the 17-team tourney. Indiana won the event with 887 while Iowa

Iowa's Kelley Brooke took medalist honors, defeating Indiana's Shannon Hardesty in sudden-death playoff. The two had tied at 219.

Individually, no K-State players finished in the top 30. Chris Adams led the K-State charge with 239, Adena Hagedorn follwed at 241, Jill Zietara had a 251, Valerie Hahn shot a 253, and Thresa Coyle carded 261.

The K-State women will next be in action at the Illini Spring Classic Saturday and Sunday.

Men golfers have lowest round

NASHVILLE, Tenn. - The K-State's men's golf squad carded its best 54-hole round ever at the Vanderbilt Music City Intercollegiate Golf Tournament Sunday.

The K-State men shot an 881 to finish in 10th place in the 18-team field, defeating Big Eight Conference opponents Nebraska and Iowa State in the process. Missouri was one stroke better at 880.

Central Florida won the team title with an 856, while St. Louis University was second at 864. Central Florida's Cliff Kreffe won medalist honors with a 210.

Individually for K-State, Richard Laing finished in 16th place with a 218, Jeff Sedorcek and Brett Vuillemin were right behind him at 219, Brad Stephens finished in 63rd place with a 229 and Chris Thompson placed 74th with a 231.

The Wildcats rebounded after a slow start to better the previous best score of 889, set at the 1973 Big Eight Champion-ships. K-State had a first-round score of 304, but turned it around to card a 387 and a 290 in the following rounds.

The tourney gave K-State coach Russ Bunker an insight as to how this week's Big Eight Championships might wind up. "I felt the kids did a great job this weekend," Bunker said. "If we could have our first round to do over, we would have had a great shot at finishing in the top three.

"The guys are starting to play better going into the Big Eight tournament, and the fact that they have beaten several other Big Eight teams in previous tourneys adds a little hope."

Netters blanked by O-State

STILLWATER, Okla. - The K-State tennis team found out why Oklahoma State is favored to win the Big Eight Conference this season.

K-State was defeated soundly by the 12th-ranked Cowgirls by the score of 9-0.

"This is an awfully good team," K-State coach Steve Bietau said of Oklahoma State. "They're a talented team that's playing very well. 'I think (OSU coach Majewski) Julius has done a tremendou. job. He lost two key players last year, and he has this team playing better than last year's." Sara Hancock was the only K-State player to win four games in a set, with 6-4 and 6-4 setbacks to Jackie Booth at No. 3 singles. Other than that, only one player was able to win more than two games in a set for the Wildcat women. Oklahoma State achieved straight-set victories at every spot. At No. 1 singles, Marijke Nel lost to Monika Waniek 6-2 and 6-1, while Sally Godman took care of Helen Schildknecht at No. 2, 6-3 and 6-0; Caroline Delisle defeated Valerie Rive at No. 4, 6-1 and 6-0; Cristina Sirianni downed Thresa Burcham at No. 5, 6-1 and 6-1; and Joanna Meagher cruised past

Suzanne Sim at No. 6, 6-1 aand 6-0. In doubles, Shildknecht and Hancock were defeated by Waniek and Booth at No. 1, 6-0 and 6-1; Nel and Rive lost to Delisle and Godman at No. 2, 6-0 and 6-1; while Sim and Burcham lost to Wendy Parker and Meagher at No. 3, 6-1 and

Japanese women say sumo sexist

cember, when the chief Cabinet secretary at the time, Mayumi Moriyama, wanted to present the Prime Minister's Cup to the winner of the Moriyama, a member of Parliament and the first woman ever to hold the important Cabinet post, said she would present the government award from within the ring, not from

Sumo officials refused to part with

The association also pointed out their males-only tradition, saying the sumo ring, a raised mound of clay that the award was generally presented to the winning wrestler not by the chief Cabinet secretary but by a

Moriyama said she had made her

After a flurry of media coverage,

The affair didn't end there,

At each of the six annual sumo tournaments, 25 awards are presented, including five by foreign embassies. The women's group decided it wanted a woman to present its new sport," said the women's group.

nation. A good deal of sumo's popularity comes from the support of has gained many female fans.

Schoolgirls are allowed to join in change the rule because it is part of sumo tradition," Inobe said. "They have made many changes to keep up

Indeed, the 2,000-year-old sport

"It's not true that they can't

Women make up 51 percent of this

"Sumo calls itself the national

Women Fans' Award.

local competitions.

with the times.'

non-Cabinet level vice minister.

point and dropped the request.

though.

women.

14.8 feet across, is "sacred."

New Year's Tournament.

By The Associated Press

TOKYO - A group of Japanese women is trying to knock down a centuries-old rule that bars members of their sex from the sumo wrestling

Though the group argues that sexism has no place in national sport, it is not pressing for women to actually participate in the 2,000-year-old sport with the giant male grapplers.

Instead, the Women's Action Group simply wants to send a woman into the ring to present its new "Women Fans' Award." But things are not that simple in this society where men still have a stranglehold on sumo wrestling.

"I don't know why. It's just been that way since long, long ago," said a Japan Sumo Association official, who spoke on condition of anonymity. "It's always been against the rules for women to get into the ring simple as that."

Michiyo Inobe, a member of the Women's Action Group, said her group of 500 members, mostly women, decided against calling for the rule's outright abolition because they were afraid public sentiment could go against them.

"I think it is a kind of miniature of Japanese society in general, but many people in Japan accept sumo as a man's world, as a special society of its own," Inobe said.

The ban on women in the ring is believed to be based on beliefs in Shinto, Japan's native religion, that women are impure.

"At the very least, we are more pure than the dirt and straw ring," a statement from the group said.

The rule became an issue in Dethe plate. Clark, runnerup to San Francisco

By The Associated Press

pitchers, beware. Will Clark says he's starting to feel comfortable at

ATLANTA - National League

Giants teammate Kevin Mitchell for the National League's Most Valuable Player award last season, appears more than comfortable after the first three games of 1990.

Clark ripped Atlanta pitching for seven hits in 12 at-bats and drove in five runs as the Giants took two of three games in their season-opening

Thursday night, Clark had a single and double in four at-bats and drove in three runs to pace the Giants to a 13-4 victory over the Braves before heading home for a three-game series with the San Diego Padres.

"I'm getting there. I'm starting to feel comfortable," Clark said after groove and getting better all the "Will is Will," manager Roger Craig said. "He got off to a slow start in the spring but came on late and hasn't stopped since. He's a hitter. He's probably the best player in the

Clark getting comfortable

Clark, who at 26 is starting his fifth major league season, had a .304 career batting average with 98 home

A lot of people walk up there and look like they're confident, but they don't produce. I walk up there and I know I'm going to do it, get the job done. That's my nature. That's what makes me tick.

> - Roger Craig San Francisco manager

Thursday's game. "I'm getting into a runs and 352 RBI in four years. Last season, the left-handed batter hit .333 with 23 homers and 111 RBI and was rewarded with a four-year, $15 million contract.

Clark came up to the Giants in 1986 after less than a half season at Fresno in Class A. In his first swing at bat, he homered off Nolan Ryan and went on to .287 that year with 11 homers and 41 RBI before hyperextending an elbow and missing 47 games. In 1987, he hit .308 with 35 homers and 91 RBI; in 1988, he hit .282 with 29 homers and 109 RBI.

When Clark strides to the plate and gets into the batter's box, he exudes confidence.

'A lot of people walk up there and look like they're confident, but they don't produce," he said. "I walk up there and I know I'm going to do it, get the job done. That's my nature. That's what makes me tick."

Clark, however, is not satisfied and continues to work at his hitting.

"I'm getting there. I'm trying different things, but it takes a lot of work and that's one thing I do. I work at it all the time," he said.

"But give this team some credit. It's not the Will Clark Show or the Kevin Mitchell Show.

N.C. State talking with KU's Williams

By The Associated Press

RALEIGH, N.C. - North Carolina State has conferred with Kansas' Roy Williams about the Wolfpack basketball coaching opening, Jayhawk officials said.

Kansas Athletic Director Bob Frederick said in a telephone interview Saturday that he granted NCSU permission Wednesday to approach Williams. Williams is a former North Carolina assistant and the 1990 U.S. Basketball Writers Association college coach of the year.

"It's my understanding that Roy is not interested in the job, but that they have talked," Frederick said. "It goes without saying that Kansas has all interest in keeping Roy as our coach."

K-State rugby player Norm Chase tries to elude an Omaha player Saturday as teammate Sean McGrath attempts to take a handoff from Chase. K-State defeated the Omaha GOATS 22-10 on the club side, while the collegiate side defeated Omaha B 14-4.

Chase celebrates one of four K-State tries Saturday. Steve Robke, Kevin Wembley, Shawn Budke and Darrel Loder scored for K-State.

Ruggers win, 22-10, without key players

By The Collegian Staff

The K-State rugby football club overcame the loss of two players to illness and was able to defeat the Omaha GOATS, 22-10, Saturday.

The collegiate side also came out victorious with a 14-4 decision over Omaha's B side.

Co-captain and hooker Tim Dougan and center John Devito both missed Saturday's contest, but re-

We were surprised we played so well, but we have been steadily improving. It was a surprise that we handled them so easily because they are always a pretty good club. But I think it just bodes on how well the team is coming together.

- Tim Dougan rugby co-captain placements Scott Kram and Kevin Gallereny filled the void.

"We were surprised we played so well, but we have been steadily improving," Dougan said. "It was a surprise that we handled them so easily because they are always a pretty good club. But I think it just bodes on how well the team is coming together."

Dougan said one of the luxuries the K-State ruggers will have this season will be extra bodies. In the past, the depth situation hasn't been as good as this year, and Saturday was a good example.

"I don't know if it hurt us that much," Dougan said of missing the contest along with Devito. "Maybe from an experience standpoint, but we have so much more depth than we've had in the past."

K-State's tallies came on tries by Steve Robke, Shawn Budke, Darrel Loder and Kevin Wembley, while Greg Barnes connected on three of four conversion kicks.

The victory helped the K-State ruggers avenge a defeat to the GOATS last year in the Omaha Tournament.

K-State will get back into Merit Table play next weekend with a pair of games against Heart of America Rugby Football Union foes Columbia and Johnson County in Kansas City, Mo. The K-State ruggers are 0-1 in teams. The winner of the HARFU the league, which includes six other will advance to the Western Regionals.

Cats

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 After Scott Stroth walked to start

the inning, Wilson hit a routine grounder that Mondrella booted. Both runners were safe, and the Tigers had lost a sure double play.

After Brad Rippelmeyer flew out to right, Chris Hmielewski made the Tigers pay for the miscue, singling in Stroth. Dan Skala followed with an RBI single of his own, and that was

Saturday's Games K-State used Christensen's strong relief pitching to salvage a split of the pair of seven-inning contests.

Missouri took the opener 9-4 behind two homers from second baseman Greg King.

King's heroics spoiled the return of K-State's preseason All-American, Russ Ringgenberg, who homered in his first at bat back from back surgery. Starter Sean Pedersen, 3-3, took the loss on the mound for K-State.

In the nightcap, Christensen came on in relief of starter Hmielewski, 2-2, in the fifth, and protected the one-run lead as K-State won 5-4. It was Christensen's first save. Hawkins hit a pair of two-run homers to account for all of the Missouri runs. L.J. Twyner hit a homer for K-State, and Ringgenberg had a fensive attack. Friday's Opener David Hierholzer continued his two-run single to key the Wildcat of-mastery over Missouri, handing the Tigers a 4-1 defeat. Hierholzer, 5-2, was the only K-

State pitcher to beat the Tigers last season in Columbia, and he repeated the feat this year, allowing just four

Svoboda

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 chance to do what no K-State team has done since 1985 - make a trip to the postseason tourney in Oklahoma City in mid-May.

And not to downplay the significance of the other players on the roster making huge contributions, but the big reason can be found up the Pitching and defense do win championships. If K-State can continue to excel in these areas, they're likely to find it out first-hand.

Attendance often required

Professors find grades correspond with presence in class

By Todd Ubben Collegian Reporter

Skipping classes may be common for students, but some professors make attendance mandatory and add it into the students' grades.

The University does not have a policy regarding mandatory attendance, Provost James Coffman said. Different departments and professors decide whether to require attendance.

nuclear engineering, said he has noticed a definite correlation between students' grades and their attendance records, proving that attendance pays off.

Donnert insists on attendance in two of his courses, Introduction to Nuclear Engineering and Impact of Technology on Society. In the latter course, Donnert said slides and videotapes are used with material not covered in the textbook.

Students lacking in attendance accumulate demerits, but Donnert said he rarely uses the demerits in grades, as students with the demerits usually flunk anyway.

Deborah Christie, instructor of physical education and leisure studies, said lifetime sport courses, requiring participation in activities, have a mandatory attendance policy.

Three absences are allowed in Hermann Donnert, professor of the tennis, weightlifting, aerobics and fitness swimming courses. After three absences, 10 points are deducted from grades, she said.

Christie teaches water safety instruction and lifeguard training courses, which emphasize participation, performance and skills. "You assume when the person is enrolling that they want to learn the hands-on skills," she said.

Christie said attendance is mandatory for students trying to get

Need money for college?

ASK

ABOUT

STUDENT

their Red Cross certification.

Don MacLaurin, instructor of hotel and restaurant management, said two of his classes require attendance as part of the grades.

Introduction to Hotel and Restaurant Management, a freshman level course of about 200 students, features a different guest speaker from the hotel, restaurant, convention and travel and tourism industries each week, MacLaurin said.

Twenty percent of the grade in the course is based on attendance. MacLaurin said the role model relationships set up through the inclass speakers are important for the Hotel Operations, a senior level course, meets three days a week, and attendance makes up 10 percent of the students' grades.

The class of 40 students divides into management committees of

■ See ATTEND, Page 12

Course duplication study to ease enrollment, budget problems

By Monica Marcotte Collegian Reporter

Concerns over the possible duplication of courses is causing the University to evaluate its existing class scheduling policies.

There is a solution that would involve the combining of strengths of separate departments by using teachers from different departments, which would allow for a rich and varied exposure to different levels of professors' expertise," said Provost James Coffman.

The College of Architecture and Design and the College of Human Ecology are two areas of possible tics and computer science departments.

428-430 N. 6th

"I am aware that several other colleges teach some type of computer concepts in their curriculum," said Virgil Wallentine, head of the computing and information sciences department. "Most computer applications use the the same sort of materials."

Budget concerns are also a reason to look at combining existing classes by increasing class size and cutting back on the number of sections available, he said.

The upper level classes seem to core duplication, as well as the statis- have the greatest capacity to absorb new students, Coffman said.

375

"We would obviously look at adding to those sections that are already thinly populated," Coffman said. "The key is to save resources by doing it. We need to take a long-term analytical view at this situation, and that's why we are currently planning an enrollment study to determine our

Increasing enrollment along with budgetary concerns have prompted the Planning and Evaluation Services office to begin a detailed study of past class sizes and ways of keeping

■ See STUDY, Page 12

Look No Further...

1 bedroom, furnished, new carpet *310 Villa 11 526 N. 14th

2 bedroom, stove, frig & dishwasher, furnished

For more information call Moore Management

776-1111

Gold Key

Ask about our summer rental rates

Fax Service

kinko's

the copy center

1329 Anderson Manhattan, KS (913) 537-7340 FAX*537-0967*FAX

Living in Comfort

Aggieville 1214-C Moro

CITIZENS BANK Lender Code TRUST CO.

Sixth & Humboldt Manhattan, KS 66502 776-9400

*804581 EMPRISE BANK Originator

Member FDIC

Students Acting to Save a Vulnerable Environment & Sustainable Agriculture present

Wes Jackson

President, The Land Institute Salina, KS

TONIGHT

7 p.m. Forum Hall All are welcome to attend

Students, Faculty & Staff: RECYCLE! ( it's your world, too!)

Earth Day is April 22, 1990. Kansas State students, faculty and staff can help improve the world garbage problem by recycling glass, cans, computer paper and newspapers, including the Collegian. Start now and become a part of the recycling generation!! Kansas State can make a difference by recycling.

YOU CAN MAKE A WORLD OF DIFFERENCE

K.S. U drop off sites are: UMBERGER, NICHOLS, BUSHNELL, DENISON, DYKSTRA, POWER PLANT, ACKERT

(Start today with the Collegian)

GUARANTEED STUDENT LOANS

IT'S NEVER BEEN SIMPLER!

- Loan Approval in as Little as 2 Days
- Largest Local Student Loan Lender.
- Over 30,000 Student Loans Processed.

Let Our Professional In-House Staff Assist You with Your Next Student Loan.

Lender Code #821176

NSAS STATE BANK

Westloop • Downtown • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, 537-4400

Senior Center scheduled for addition in May

By Erica Yenni Collegian Reporter

The Manhattan Senior Citizen Center is expanding, said Karen Davis, assistant director for planning at the center.

Davis said 31,000 square feet will be added to the east side of the center, at 412 Leavenworth, and 11 parking spaces will be added. A house the center had previously purchased has already been torn down to make room for the expansion. She said construction should start in May and be finished by the end of the year.

Davis said there would be a shortterm inconvenience for people in the center once the construction starts, because they will lose their parking lot for a period of time.

"It's something everyone knows and can live with," she said. "They are extremely excited about it and have kicked off fund raising for new furniture to make it nicer."

Jami Ramsey, director of the center, hopes to raise $125,000 for the construction. She said $50,000 would cover costs of furnishing the center and $75,000 would go toward paying off a loan needed to purchase the house adjacent to the center, which was given to the city in order to get a $300,000 grant.

The center started fund raising

March 27 and has raised $32,000, so far, Ramsey said.

Last June, the center was awarded a $300,000 community development block grant from the Kansas Department of Commerce. The money will go toward a multi-purpose room, office space, a classroom and more parking spaces.

Davis said many of the senior citizens who use the center had talked about expanding for a long time and worked with an architectural class at K-State about the possibility of expanding at the current site or using the old J.C. Penney building.

Davis said the center found these ideas too expensive and decided to apply for a block grant. After receiving the maximum grant amount, it looked into what could be done with the funding.

"Given the constraints of their resources, they decided a smaller expansion with adjacent parking would meet their needs," Davis said.

The city is in charge of the expansion and is responsible for the grant because it owns the land and the building. However, she said the seniors have had a great deal of input about the center's design.

The center offers activities and entertainment for Manhattan senior

Mishaps hinder Monroe

As they rest near Matt's cabin,

Kay is all too eager to mention her recent marriage to Weston. Meanwhile, Mark is not only getting acquainted with the newcomers, but

Desperate to get to Council City,

Weston knocks Matt out and takes his horse. Concerned about Matt's injury and unable to leave young

Mark alone, Kay decides to stay behind and wait for Weston's return.

Indians are spotted on a mountain nearby. Matt is forced to take his son and Kay down the river on Weston's raft. Soon, Kay realizes he is headed for Council City and a

As Matt recovers from his injury, also with his father.

Stunt accidents slow film production as actress struggles

By Richard Jones Reviewer

"Cursum Perficio" is the phrase engraved in the sidewalk in front of Marilyn Monroe's Brentwood, Calif., house, where she later died. It is Latin for "I am finishing my journey."

As the summer of 1953 drew to a close, Marilyn once again returned to 20th Century Fox, this time to make a western called "River of No Return." Under the direction of Otto Preminger, Marilyn was cast opposite Robert Mitchum in a plot centered around the search for a dishonest gold prospector.

As Kay, a saloon singer, Marilyn plays the emotional victim of the romancing prospector Harry Weston, played by Rory Calhoun. "How to Marry a Millionaire," Marilyn's film prior to this, had also featured Calhoun.

Having found a gold mine, either by fair or foul play, Weston plays on Kay's emotions to obtain money to go to Council City so he can file a gold claim.

ity so he can file a confrontation with Weston.

Insisting that Weston isn't a bad

On their journey, the two brave the rapids of a mighty river, but soon find themselves losing control of their raft. From his cabin, Mitchum, as Matt Calder, sees the man, Kay defends him not only verbally, but also by trying to cut the raft loose so they cannot proceed. In a rage over Kay's blind loyalty, Matt initiates an argument that raft and, with the help of his young son Mark, played by Tommy Rettig, Kay and Weston are pulled ashore.

not only reveals Kay and Weston aren't married, but also the reason for Matt's prior absence from his son.

"River of No Return" is full of near-catastrophes as the threesome venture down the wild river.

"One thing about this," Kay says of the hard work involved in guiding the raft. "The longer you last, the less you care."

The actual filming of the movie was no less hard on Marilyn. As every actor was required to do their own stunts, several mishaps arose to slow down production.

At one point, Marilyn, wearing waders, lost balance and fell from the raft. As her boots filled with water, she found it increasingly difficult to stay above water and was finally pulled ashore by the crew and Mitchum.

Production was also halted when

1127 MORO

Marilyn supposedly suffered a broken leg when she slipped on a wet dock. As friend Shelley Winters confides, the leg was nothing more than sprained, and this was simply Marilyn's way of evening the score between herself and the impatient director Preminger.

Mitchum had first heard of Marilyn years earlier as he worked alongside her first husband Jim Dougherty on a factory line during World War II.

That marriage long since terminated, Marilyn was then seeing baseball hero Joe DiMaggio. Shortly after completion of the film, Marilyn and DiMaggio were wed on Jan. 14, 1954.

Their honeymoon took them to Japan where crowds of fans followed the couple, obviously determined to see Marilyn. During their trip, Marilyn entertained American troops in Korea, much to the discouragement of her new husband.

Videotapes of Marilyn Monroe's movies are available at Dillon's by special request.

AGGIEVILLE

PRSSA

Officer Elections April 16 - 6 p.m. Kedzie Library

LINGERIE SALE!

THE MORE YOU BUY THE HOTTER IT GETS

Choose 1 item and SAVE 10%!

Choose 2 items and SAVE 20% on both!

Choose 3 items and SAVE 30% on all three!

Choose 4 items and SAVE 40% on all four!

Choose 5 items and SAVE 50% on all five!

Choose 6 items and SAVE 60% on all six or more!

BUY WITH A FRIEND & SAVE

Patricia's

UDERCOVER

1224 Moro

Aggieville

ONE DAY ONLY TUES. 17th 7 a.m.-7 p.m.

MUSEUM TOURS VISIT THE MULVANE, SPENCER & NELSON GALLERIES IN TOPEKA LAWRENCE

TOPEKA LAWRENCE KANSAS CITY

A MUST SEE EXPERIENCE!
PAINTINGS CONSIDERED SHOCKING!*

May 4... 8:00 am to 7:00 pm

Open to Students and Friends, $8.00

For reservations and information Call 532-6605

Stop by Art Building, Rm.105

(*in 1870)

A BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics. Janet Milliken, 539-9469.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nalls —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193.

SUMMER WORK—Make $5,000. Travel, build resume, gain experience. Call 537-8813.

SEE NEWS HAPPENING? CALL THE COLLEGIAN NEWSLINE 532-6556

AMHERST

SELF STORAGE

**SUMMER SPECIAL**

Mid-May through Mid-August

5 X 5 $70 prepaid

5 X 10 $100 prepaid

Sign up before May 15th for this GREAT OFFER!!

No deposit required

Larger sizes also available

2700 Amherst

West Manhattan

off Seth Childs Road

776-3888

SHEAR DYNAMICS Introducing

AVEDA a complete line of All Natural Products.

Satisfaction always guaranteed with any service.

Call 776-9100 for your appointment.

SUNSET APTS.

$280-295

*Central air/Gas heat

*West edge of KSU

*Laundry facilities

Furnished one bedrooms

available for June or

August leasing.

2 Apartments—Furnished

BEST DEAL for summer lodging! Two-bedroom, fully furnished, and one block away from campus. Regularly $227/ month for one person. Now being offered for $145/ monthly each. 776-2157.

FOR AUGUST- Next to KSU. Deluxe two-bedroo apartment for three people. $420 plus utilities. Also two-bedroom basement apartment at 312 N. 15th. Water, trash, heat pald. Now until July. $250. For August, $275. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375. 539-1465.

NEXT TO campus— Apartment complex, 1832 Ciallin Road across Goodnow and Marlatt. One bedroom, furnished, central air, off-street parking, quiet. Evenings 539-2702.

NICE, TWO-BEDROOM apartment available in May for lease or rent. Perfect location. Call 776-0941. ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO in complex, 1219 Claffin August, June lease. No pets. 537-1180.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Specious two bedroom, furnished. Close to campus. $360. Call 537-8816. TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, nice, large, close to campus. June or August. 537-4648.

WILDCAT INNS

Now leasing unfurnished one bedrooms for June or August.

1854-1858 Claflin $310-330 1803-07 College Hts. $325-340 925-27 Denison $325-340 $325-340 411-415 N. 17th

Call today for best selection!

776-3804

1304 Westloop

McCullough Development

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

included. June lease. No pets. $375/ month.

814 THURSTON, studio, gas/ water included. June lease, no pets. $235/ month. 539-5136. AUGUST— DECEMBER, male roommate wanted. Non-smoking, studious. Preferably engineer. 776-1377.

AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom, ground floor duplex. Laundry room, nice yard. 539-3672 evenings. LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coin-operated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit required. $280. 539-1465.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO, 1019 Houston, available June 1, utilities paid, $260 per month. Near City Park. (417)831-6601.

PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two-bedroom. Close to campus. 776-8381.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

AVAILABLE JUNE or August. 10 or 12 month leases Convenient locations. No pets. 537-8389.

AVAILABLE MAY, June, July and August. One-bedroom, $240-$280. No pets. Lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423.

LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.

QUIET CLEAN efficiency. 1131 Vattier, one block from campus. $150/ month, June to August. Utilities paid except electricity. Call Professor McGuire. 776-5682.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, water, trash gas paid. One block from campus. $300/ deposit. 539-6578.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS

539-8888

1408 Cambridge Place 539-2951 •1 and 3 bedroom

•2 swimming pools and a heated spa Some utilities paid

Across the street from

Westloop Shopping Center ·Free private bus to campus leaving every hour. Pre-leasing for Fall

5 Automobile for Sale

1973 'CUDA. 340, automatic transmission, air condi-tioning, runs good, body good. Best offer. 539-6578.

1978 ALFA Romaeo convertible for sale. Red. with new top, new tires and great stereo with cassette and equalizer. $3,750. Call John 1-456-7050.

1978 PONTIAC Grand Prix. Good condition, rebuilt engine, $1,800. 776-1964. 1982 CHEV S-10, V6, four-speed, 3/4 ton, air condition ing, with shell. 100,000 miles, looks great, runs great. 776-9831. ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT-seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. A-1797.

PONTIAC PHOENIX, mid-size, V6, four-door, 85,000 miles, great mechanical, interior, exterior condition $1,800. 539-0914.

6 Child Care

LOVE CHILDREN? Become a live-in nanny! Your ability to nurture children is highly sought after by Boston area families. One year commitment. Most active Nanny Network in the Northeast. One on One, Inc., 93 Main St., Andover, MA 01810. (508)475-3679.

NANNIES- YEAR-LONG child care position. East Coast. Airlare, good salary, benefits. Screened families. Fun group activities. Princeton Nanny, 301 N. Harrison St. #416, Princeton, NJ 08540.

NANNY OPPORTUNITES: San Francisco, one girl $150/ week; Southern California, newborn, $175/ week; Connecticut, Infant, $180/ week; Boston, one girl, $160/ week; Virginia, two children, $225/ week. Many positions available. One-year commitment necessary. Call 1-800-937-NANI.

Computers

DISKETTES— 5% " HDs, 78¢; 3% " DDSDs, 78¢; 3% " HDs, $1.99. King Clone Computers, 1221 Moro. TANDY 2000, color monitor, two 5¼ -inch disk drives, 256K. Best offer. Call Larry at 537-4625.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of dvertisements in the Employment classification, leaders are advised to approach any such 'employ-nent opportunity' with reasonable caution.

ACT IN TV commercials. High pay. No experience. All ages— kids, teens, young adults, families, mature people, animals, etc. Call now! Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702.

Show Class, Read the Collegian.

ADMINISTRATOR, KANSAS Foundation for Agriculture in the Classroom- full-time temporary/ nor tenure; BS required, MS preferred; two years education or related experience; organizational, fund raising, oral and written communications, management and computer skills required; $20,000-$25,000. Send letter of application, resume' and list of three references by April 25 to Barbara Havlicek, KFAC Search Chair, Bluemont 017, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506. (913)532-5886 Kansas State University is an equal opportunity affirmative action employer.

APPLICATIONS ARE now being accepted for summer-time waiters and waitresses. You'll help us serve (Manhattan's Taste of Mexico) at Raoui's Escondido. Apply in person. 215 Seth Childs Road.

ATTENTION: EASY work, excellent payl Assemble products at home. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. W-1797.

ATTENTION: EARN money watching TV! $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext.

TV-1797. BARTENDERS, PART-TIME for special functions for Bockers Two Catering Service. Apply in person at 2321 Skyview. Must be 21. Experience not

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing, gymnastics, riflery.

archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B. Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093, 708-446-2444. DESPERATELY NEED a person who is able to teach basic English to a German-speaking person for two weeks in the summer, approximately four hours per day. Pay negotiable. Contact 1-784-4122 after

DUDE RANCH in Colorado Mountains looking for summer help. Need wranglers, assistant cooks, waitress/ cabin people. Don K. Ranch, 2677 S. Siloam Road, Pueblo, CO 81005; 719-784-6600.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288.

EXPERIENCED WAITERS and waitresses. Apply now at Hibachi Hut. Must be able to work lunch 11a.m.-2p.m. Apply in person.

FAMILY WANTS college girl to live in for full school year, non-smoker. Food and lodging in exchange for duties. Write: Box 2, Collegian, KSU, Manhattan,

(Continued on page 11)

COLEMAN MOVING SERVICES, INC 615 S. 11th

Offers 35% Off on interstate moves and 12% Off on intrastate moves for faculty and staff.

"FREE ESTIMATES"

KCC 1323

Comedy Invasion

Jaz Kaner Mon. & Tues. Wed. 7 p.m.

Sig Ep Fight Night Final Week

Thurs, DU Women of K-State finals

Recycle It!

20th Anniversary Earth Day

Save your aluminum cans, newspapers, bottles and plastics the week of:

April 16 - 20

We will pick up from Fraternities. Sororities and Residence Halls from 10 a.m. - 12 noon

Off-campus students are invited to drop off materials in Union Parking Lot. Sat. April 21

Proceeds donated to UPM University Parish

Call for more information 776-3804 539-5051 after 5:30

McCullough Development 2700 Amhers! (913) 776-3804

MENTE

Restaurant

Monday Coupon Buy one entree and get the second of equal or less value for 99° with coupon

Not good on delivery

(not valid with any other offer)

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help. Confidential pregnancy testing. Safe, affordable abortion services · Birth control · Tubal ligation · Gyn exams ·

Testing and Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. Providing quality health care to women since 1974. Insurance, VISA & Mastercard accepted.

omprehensive Lealth for Women

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roc)

Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400 Toll Free 1-800-227-1918

DO'S and DON'TS GRADUATE.

The Ford-Mercury College Graduate Purchase Program offers pre-approved financing from Ford Credit, and $400 cash back from Ford Motor Company.

Here are some simple rules to remember about the plan:

DO: Graduate with a Bachelor's or advanced degree between April 1, 1989 and December 31, 1990.

DONT: Attempt to buy a car while in the fifth grade.

DONT:

Inquire about the availability of Captain Midnight Secret Squadron decoder rings. DO:

Ask about pre-approved financing from Ford Credit. To qualify for pre-approved financing, you must have verifiable employment beginning within 120 days of vehicle purchase. Your salary must be sufficient to cover living expenses as well as a car payment. A prior credit history isn't necessary, but if you have one, it must be satisfactory to Ford Credit.

DONT:

Take this opportunity to expound your theory of the leisure class.

DO:

Ask if payments can be made in Confederate bills.

Ask about Ford Credit's Deferred First Payment option. (It's not available in all states.) DONT:

Ask for a thirty year

mortgage.

DO: Hurry to Dick Edwards and ask about the Ford-Mercury College Graduate Purchase Program.

DON'T: Wait.

FORD CREDIT GETS YOU GOING.

Ford Credit

(913) 776-4004

WORK AND Play! Summer Fun! Cruise Ship Jobs!

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING

for spring, Christmas and next

$300-$900 Weekly! No experience necessary. 1-800-727-3391.

FREE TRAVEL benefits! Airlines now hiring! All positions! $17,500- $58,240. Call 1-802-838-8885 Ext. X-1797.

FREE TRAVEL benefits! Cruise ships and casinos now hiring! All positions! Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext. Y-1797.

HOTEL/ RESTAURANT majors, seniors— Have you made your career choice yet? Call 1-900-545-9706. INTERN— KANSAS Farm Bureau is offering the opportunity of a Video Production Intern. Must be at least a junior standing and have completed video production classes. Prefer familiarity with radio production. Apply to: Dr. Paul Prince. Kedzie 104A; or Dr. Larry Erpelding, Waters 117. Application deadline is April 27. EOE mt/h/v.

INTERN— KANSAS Farm Bureau is offering the opportunity of a Publications Intern. Must be at least a junior standing, have completed Reporting I (prefer Reporting II) and be familiar with editing, design and photography. To explor contact: Dr. Paul design and photography. To apply contact: Dr. Paul Prince, Kedzie 104A; or Dr. Larry Erpelding, Waters 117. Application deadline is April 27, EOE m/t/h/v

NANNIES: CREATIVE, loving, responsible describe you? Be a nanny in Washington D.C. area. Excellent salary plus room and board, full-time and summer positions available. Will be in Manhattan, Tuesday April 24 for interview. Call (913)827-3044. Mom and ToTo Nanny Agency.

NEED TWO truck drivers for custom wheat harvest, diesel, tandems, good pay, room and board. Maddy Harvesting (913)877-2094.

PART-TIME TEMPORARY help needed for inventory Saturday and Sunday mornings, April 28 and 29. Must be eligible to work off campus. Call Ruth at Varney's 539-0511 weekdays 9a.m.-5p.m.

SUMMER WORK- Find out why IBM, Procter and Gamble, Xerox, and several hundred corporations are interested in our summer program. Make $1,775 a month. Travel. Call 537-9169.

Making the Grade

STUDENT TO do lawn care for apartment houses:
Mowing, raking, maintaining flower beds and ground cover areas. Horticultural or agricultural background helpful. Begin immediately. Part-time spring semester, summer and fall semester. Send resume and interest in job to Box 7, Collegian.

SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 openings. National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for tree details. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

Summer/Fall Employment.

Work-study desired. Address research/tracing clerk. Person will locate KSU alumni by extensive use of the telephone and various other resources.

Typing with a minimum of 45 words per minute and previous office experience helpful. Must have excellent verbal communication skills and initiative to work independently. Preference given to work-study student and under-class person who will work summer full-time and 1990-91 school year 15-20 hours.

Apply in person. Alumni records,

Hollis House 1408 Denison, 532-6260.

MIDGET TOSSING AND

NUNS WHO RAP ON THE NEXT

GERALDO.

summer breaks. Many positions. Call 1-SUMMER WORK available at KSU Vegetable Research Farm, DeSoto (K.C. area). $4.50/ hour. Must have own transportation. Contact Dr. Charles Marr or Mrs. Elder at Horticulture, 532-6170 for application 805-682-7555 EXT. S-1112. (call 7 days a week)

> Jobs in Alaska HIRING Men - Women . Summer Year Round, CANNERIES, FISHING. LOGGING, TOURISM, CONSTRUCTION up to $600 weekly, plus FREE room and board. CALL NOW! Call refundable

1-206-736-0777, Ext. 600 BT

Looking for Freshmen and Sophomores

work "3" months get paid "12", with Landshire, Inc. You work for great pay during the summer and receive weekly comission throughout your next school year. Find out more April 16 in Seaton Hall from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Interviews will be on April 17 in Holtz Hall from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. 9 Food Specials

Hunam Restaurant Free Delivery 539-8888

12 Houses for Rent

1101 DENISON, 1846, 1814 Platt, one to five bedrooms to see evenings Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 7-9p.m. 539-3993.

AVAILABLE JUNE 1. Two-bedroom, yard, $345 plus utilities. Lease and deposit. 539-3672 evenings. ONE BEDROOM, ground floor duplex, three blocks east campus, laundry hookups. $285/ month; utilities, year lease, deposit, no pets. Available June 1. 539-3672 evenings.

ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU, Available as of June 1. $295, 539-1554

14 Lost and Found

A SILVER bracelet lost Friday in AK 120 or on campus.

Please call 539-7296

FOUND: PAIR of black and red leather driving gloves at Tuttle Creek Saturday night 4/7/90, 537-4615. FOUND: WRISTWATCH in Exline Student Lounge, Seaton. Call 539-4711 to identify. LOST: BLACK Lab neutered male. Lost Friday Aggie ville area. Reward. 776-8417 or 539-8365.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

12x65 LIBERTY Mobile Home, Two-bedroom, one and 1988 14x70 Schult mobile home with three bedroom

11/2 baths, 8x10-foot deck. Call 776-8477. BEATS RENT. Two-bedroom 12x50 in Redbud Estates Payments less than $110/ month. Countryside Brokerage. 539-2325.

TWO-BEDROOM, 10x60 trailer. Good condition. Great location. Low rent and utilities. Washer/ dryer, storage. 776-5671.

18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982 HONDA 650C. New seat, battery, tire, 4-to-1 exhaust. $800. Roger, 537-1671 or 532-6008.

1983 NIGHTHAWK 550: Burgundy red/ chrome. 11K, excellent condition. Shaft driven. Full face matching helmet, cover, sport faring, tools, luggage net. $1,100 or best offer. 532-5490.

1986 HONDA Reflex, 200cc, 700 miles, excellent condition. Call 776-6722, leave message 1989 SPECIALIZED Rockhopper comp with many

19-INCH FRONT street tire, $47; Enduro tires, 21-inch front, $29; 4.1x18, $37.95. Mounting, $7.50. Minor service repair. M-C Supply, 1221 Moro, in alley behind Hardee's.

KAWASAKI 440LTD, 7,500 miles. Runs great, $500 or

NINJA 1000R 86 with 9,700 miles. Black with red stripes, never wrecked. 776-3708, Galen.

SNYDER'S HONDA on Stagg Hill Road is buying and selling new and used motorcycles. We are your motorcycle super market.

20 Parties-n-more

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES: Never pay for a DJ again. Own your own Party Music System. 539-0595.

NEED A DJ? Kick-ass sound system, light show. Cheap. Rock the house. Kevin, 776-7240.

21 Personals

ANXIOUS ANNE: How about meeting at the bar in the back of Baystreet, 10p.m. Thursday? Reply Pete. STACI: PLEASE come to Kedzie 103 and show your ID

TO THE attractive dark-haired girl in socio 211. After finishing the test early on Wed, we walked from Waters to Farrell. Would like to meet you again. Reply in Personals, the blond-haired guy.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

FOR SALE: Extremely calm Ball python with comple set-up. $150 or best offer. Mary, 532-5368. FOR SALE: Two very large Red Tiger Oscars and one Jack Dempsey. Best offer. 776-0067.

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits

1105 Waters 539-4751

23 Professional Services

COLEMAN AMERICAN can move you anywhere. 35% discount nationwide; 12% discount in-state. Call for overseas rates. Local rates for students $39.50 per hour, two-hour minimum, 537-7284.

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day results For appointment call: Pregnancy Testing Center, 539-3338.

16 Slippery routines

Luise

Berlin

Henri

aside

39 Quick

opus

and the state of t

23 Irving

27 Court

20 Dull

A LARGE two-bedroom apartment, balcony, two and Show you care with a Classified.

PERMS WITH cut, $25 to $30. Shampoo, cut, style, $10. Tanning, 10 for $18, 776-1330.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM abortion? Write: Hearts Restored, Box 295, Colby, Kansas 67701. Confidential response will follow.

WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY that doesn't cost a for-

SUN N

·New bulbs

•14 tanning beds

Appointments available

 Competitive prices 1126 Laramie 776-2426

HEALTH INSURANCE "It Pays to Compare" -excellent rates

-free quotes Call Tim Engle 537-4661

24 Resume/ Typing Service

CALL NOW! Resume Service offers 10 years experi ence in writing personalized resumes and cover letters. We provide permanent computer storage, typing of data sheets, and choice of laser- or letter-quality printing, 343 Colorado St. 537-7294.

GET THE edge in today's market! We offer que resumes designed, typeset and laserprinted. Call Graphics Plus, 722 N. Manhattan, Aggieville, 539-6027

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do forms, dissertations, theses, etc. Call Deana at 776-4214.

NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals, re-sumes and more. Laser printing. Call 537-4146. RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to make an impression. One day service. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147.

WORD PROCESSING: College papers, resumes, let-ters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single. Quality Print. Betty, 539-6851, Claffin.

25 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE for furnished house near carr pus. $162.50 per month. 10-month lease. Deposit. 539-3886, 776-3066.

FEMALE WANTED to share spacious upstairs apartment May or August (May rent free). Prefer older undergraduate or graduate student. Call Ann, leave message 537-2474.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, own room, laun dry area, pool. $180 plus one-half utilities. 539-7324. Summer through next year.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share nice apartment one block from campus. $157.50 month, one-half utili-ties, washer, dryer, off-street parking. 776-0063 eave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share house trailer. $100 per month plus half utilities. Call Allen, 537-3909. ROOMMATES FOR 1990-1991 and/ or summer. One-bedroom. Park Place Apartments. 776-2054 after 5p.m. Monday- Thursday.

TO SHARE duplex, washer and dryer included. Rent plus utilities. Call Lori 776-9336.

26 Stereo Equipment

COMPLETE MOBILE DJ system for sale. Formerly Audio Enterprise. Call 539-0595.

KLIPSCH KG4. Immaculate solid oak cab sell. Asking $375. 539-7561. Ask for Alan.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

O'BRIEN TRC 66-inch slalom water ski, still in box $325. Atomic Kevlar 180 snow skis, Tyrolla bind-ings, boots, poles. Used once. Asking $500. Call Jon at 537-0845.

WINDSURFER— TWO sails, footstraps and car rack. Like new. 1-494-2775.

28 Sublease

$125/ MONTH, per person, plus utilities, summer. Two-bedroom apartment, furnished, by City Park. 776-3797.

1st-CLASS APARTMENTS for June- July subleases. Both one and two bedrooms, furnished or unfurnished, decks available, great locations. Call the Curtin Companies at 776-1222.

A JUNE-JULY sublease, two weeks free in May. Female, furnished house, own room, $125/ month plus one-fourth bills. Call 776-1577.

A LARGE two-bedroom— summer. 1010 Thurston. Everything— central air, full kitchen, etc. $399 negotiable. 537-3346.

one-half blocks east of campus, last half of May free, June and July. 537-1130.

A NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, one-fourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New carpet. Available anytime. Call, leave message

APARTMENT TO sublease two and one-fourth blocks from campus, rent $150/ month, utilities included except electricity. Call 532-7212 daily, 537-4420 weekends 7-10a.m.

JUNE-JULY SUBLEASE— Available mid-May, very nice, own room, one and one-half bath, across from campus. Rent definitely negotiable. Ask for Rita.

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM, June-July. Washer/ dryer Rent $395/ negotiable. Call 537-2666 or leave

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, furnished. May-August $505/ month. 539-4138.

NICE FOUR-BEDROOM apartment close to campus Aggieville. Low monthly bills. Price negotiable. Call 537-2594. Leave message.

SUBLEASE- THREE-BEDROOM apartment near campus. Dishwasher, laundry facilities, two bath-rooms. Available mid-May through July 31. Time available negotiable. $170 month plus electric. Call

SUBLEASE- JUNE and July. Three-bedroom apart ment. $125 per person. Walk to campus and Aggieville. 539-8566.

SUBLEASE— TWO blocks from campus/ Aggieville. Nice two-bedroom apartment. Available May 17. 537-8674.

SUBLEASE- NICE two-bedroom apartment for three to four people. One block from campus. Washer, dryer, dishwasher. $450 month. 539-4784.

SUMMER- ATTRACTIVE furnished two-bedroom Central air, dishwasher, deck, fireplace. Great for three. Price negotiable. 537-1623. SUMMER- AVAILABLE June 1. Two-bedroom, furn ished. Close to Aggieville, park. $250/ month. SUMMER SUBLEASE- Nice, spacious two-bedroom apartment. Water and trash paid. $375. Call 776-6498. SUMMER SUBLEASE: Nice and affordable one bedroom apartment. Near campus/ Aggieville. Call 539-2963 or 539-2007.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Two-bedroom furnished. Water/ trash paid. Available June 1, $250/ month or negotiable. 532-3124.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Four-bedroom, close to Aggieville and campus, balcony rent negotiable 539-3003.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: One free keg! Spacious living room, pool, close to campus. Three-bedroom. $450. 776-7428. SUMMER SUBLEASE- $128, own room, very nice, close to campus. Available mid-May if want. 776-7638, leave message. SUMMER SUBLEASE—June 1—July 31 and/ or lease available through Aug. 1, 1991. Furnished, one large bedroom, excellent condition, private balcony across from Ford Hall. Perfect for one to three between 5:30-7p.m SUMMER SUBLEASE- Two bedroom, available June 1- July 31. Partially furnished, central air, dishwasher, built-in desks in both bedrooms, bar in kitchen. Located at 1026 Osage #11, east of City people. Price negotiable. Call 776-0715, best

Park. $300/ month plus electricity, call 539-5368 THREE-BEDROOM, two bath available May- August in Aggieville. Very nice apartment. 776-4760

THREE-BEDROOM, two full baths, one-half block west of campus; dishwasher. Dates/ rent negotiable. 776-7945. TO SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom apartment, very close to Aggieville and campus. Call 539-1565, 1200 Bluemont. TWO-BEDROOM, LARGE, furnished apartment subleased for mid-May to August, next to Aggieville.

campus, $250/ month, 537-0711, TWO-MINUTE WALK to Durland. June 1 to July 31 Two bedroom. $355, negotiable

30 Travel

GETTING TO K.C.I. AIRPORT SHOULDN'T BE A HASSLE! $25 or less

Call 539-2284 or 1-800-383-2817 or call your travel agent.

TRAVELERS

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050. Battery or AC powered, two font types, 16,000-character memory expansion card, spell corrector and many other features. Excellent condition. $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS- G.I. boots, sleeping bags, wool clothing for mountain campers, backpacks, tents, wet weather gear, camo clothing, much more! St. Marys Surplus Sales. St. Marys, KS. 1-437-2734.

SEVEN-MONTH OLD twin waterbed, $140 or best offer 537-0270 after 5:30p.m.

33 Storage

ATTENTION: ALL faculty, staff, students. Storage rates for summer. $50 per 1,000 pounds at Coleman American. 537-7284.

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

34 Rooms for Rent

FEMALES: ROOMS for rent. Close to campus. Available summer and fall. 539-8608.

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS 36 Villainous 58 Requires 1 DDE's look 59 Joker goddess

of 21

45 Squeak

47 Actor

49 Andy

54 Caviar

56 Eggs

57 "Sure thing!

by on

Lowe

48 - Baba

Williams

decree

Across

43 Turbulence command 38 Harvest 4 Novelist 40 - de Oro Lessing 41 Feature 9 Old spy

12 Cold and damp 13 Make happy

14 Aging vessel' 15 Helen O'Connell hit

17 Large

bird

18 Airport info. 19 Spoiled 21 Drinking glass 24 Soiled spot 25 Annex shape 26 Morning moisture

28 Singer Waters 31 Like a tightrope 33 Call for help 35 Kind of 9 Irving Berlin 55 Sovereign's classic 10 Identical 11 Variety

DOWN

2 Sticky stuff

4 Slightly bent salts

6 Actor

7 News

1 Work unit

3 Be in debt

5 Chemical

Sharkey

8 Bread seed

Solution time: 27 min.

eon urat noncornel evert ese eure ogr dar E SANG ENE SERVO EX SERVO EX SERVO EX of poker

stat. 45 She was "quite contrary' 46 Lily plant K X S W G C 50 Mine output 51 Solemn pledge 52 - Marie Saint 53 Joplin

4-14

21 Obtains 22 Role for Rainer classic 29 Shield 30 Stolen News goods paragraphs 32 Head, to 34 Brushed 37 American Indian drinks 42 Dudley or Roger CRYPTOQUIP 44 Baseball

DOCTOR HAD HOARSE SENSE.

NXWQG RZXIV NXPGLY KGLG. VX ZG

XIMFV FXKSQYM CITTGCC Yesterday's Cryptoquip: EFFICIENT THROAT

Today's Cryptoquip clue: K equals W

By Bob Berry

By J. Hayden

... MY

PERFECT

MATCH?

Ripple

RESHOOTING

GERALDO BASHING

TAKE TWO!

JANA, I THINK I'VE OH, SO THE SERVICE FOUND YOUR PERFECT WORKS AFTER DATES-R- US MATCH ALL!

Jim's Journal

Today Tony was

and eating some hot dogs.

WOW! NO BODY

IS ON THE

SWINGS! I

CAN'T BELIEVE IT!

Garfield

Peanuts

Mr. Peterson was hind legs in front of Tony.

He put some it off.

ketchup on his finger and Mt.

Peterson licked

Calvin and Hobbes

watching Jeopardy standing on her

By Bill Watterson

By Jim Davis

GARFIELD WILL

GET A KICK OUT OF THIS

APRON!

JPM DAV15 4-16

By Charles Schulz

Married

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 stands if I have to spend hours working on a special project. There's a real sense of camaraderie and mutual encouragement in it.

"We enjoy the fact that we can sometimes arrange our schedules together to accommodate that," she Medhat Morcos said being so closely related at home and at work doesn't make life boring.

"I get kind of eager or anxious to meet her to tell her everything that happened to me during the day and hear from her what happened to her and things like that," he said, "so it's a good thing to do, at least on my part.'

Harriet Ottenheimer seemed to sum up the opinions of the group.

"What makes a marriage work is the willingness of the people involved to communicate with each other," she said. "There is a level of give and take, and I think this matters whether you're in the same field or two completely different fields."

Computer CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5

that, we lost a laser printer and some other items.

Journalism students pay a fee of $10 to use the computer labs in Gallagher said there would be no student liability for damages for the conscientious user in the Dickens "If there is obvious misuse, we'll have to deal with that," he said. Beginners are also welcome at the lab, Gallagher said.

"When the laboratories are open, instructors tend to orient the students to begin with, and the students in the lab help each other," he said. "We do have a consultant in Cardwell that's willing to help either in person or by electronic means.'

The software available will be MacWrite, MacDraw and MacPaint, and will cost the students nothing to use, aside from paper for printing, Gallagher said.

The Dickens lab will be open from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m., he said.

Attend

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8 four students one day each week, using a computer program that simulates the management of a hotel. MacLaurin said the simulations introduce students to the competition of the industry.

Wayne Gudenkauf, freshman in engineering, has taken two courses at -State requiring attendance and said he thinks attendance records should be used to benefit those students on the borderline between

Matt Gorman, sophomore in preveterinary medicine, supports mandatory attendance policies. He said he has done better in the classes with the policies.

Study

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8 class size down to a level where the quality of teaching is not compromised.

"When you have economies of scale it boils down to the issue of quality versus cost," Coffman said.

"Right now, we are in the very early stages of looking at an evaluative study to see where these areas of duplication exist," said Don Hoyt, assistant provost for planning and evaluation services. "We are looking at courses that have similar content, similar texts or similar references, and we are still in the process of identifying them.'

Hoyt said that by next fall, the study should be in the early stages of development.

Leather

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 thinner, flexible leather. He stamps, inlays or stitches the leather according to the customer's specifications.

Some are traditional boot patterns, and others are unusual.

One unusual pair of boots he made had yellow butterfly inlays with a green background on the upper. The top of the boot had red hearts inlaid on white with tan kangaroo leather bottoms. The boots cost $560, and the customer furnished the kangaroo

"Everybody wants their brand or signature initial to personalize the boots, because its like an insurance policy," Holenbeck said.

BSU

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 "I'm just telling them that phrase is offensive to us as a group."

Key said BSU and Senate need to come together and work out their differences.

"I don't think either one of us getting upset is going to solve anything," Key said. "I hope we can come to some type of understanding and that this thing doesn't go on for a long time."

Ira Bolden, former chief of staff to the student body president and a member of BSU, said it is small incidents like this that bring the issue of racism to the surface.

"This shows the tensions that do exist at K-State," Bolden said.

Summer Trip to Germany

July 29 - August 9, 1990

Improve Your Skills in German and Earn College Credit

Information Meeting Tuesday, April 17, 1990 4:00 p.m., 124 Eisenhower Hall

For more information, contact: Dr. Loren Alexander Department of Modern Languages 532-6760

776-5577 776-5577 PIZZA SHUTTLE "NO COUPON SPECIALS" Prime Time Everyday Special Two-Fers 3-10 in. Pizzas 2-10 in. pizzas 1—Topping 2—Toppings 2-Cokos FAST N FREE DELIVERY

With The Purchase Of Our Food Bar.

or

With The Purchase Of Our Food Bar.

unt offer good to: all members in party only at participating BONANZA

BONANZA

Where The Extras Don't Cost Extra.*

622 Tuttle Creek Blvd., Manhattan, KS

April Is ITERNATIONAL

APRIL IS INTERNATIONAL GUITAR MONTH AND WE'RE CELEBRATING WITH OUR BIGGEST SALE EVER COME ON IN DURING APRIL FOR FABULOUS BARGAINS AND SPECIAL SALE PRICES

Stop in today!!

712 N. Manhattan 776-9911 Open 11-8:30 M-F, 11-6 Sat, 1-6 Sun.

OR ALIVE

FOR ENGAGING IN SINFUL PURSUITS, THINKING UNHOLY THOUGHTS, THE SUPPRESSION OF VIRTUE AND INDULGING IN THE EVILS OF ALCOHOL, AS IS OFTEN THE CASE AT

CHARLIE'S

 Monday $2 Margaritas $1 Longnecks ·Tuesday $2 T's Long-Islands ·Wednesday $1 Pitchers

•Friday $1 Wells $1 Coolers ·Saturday $1 Pitchers Monday-Friday $2.50 Pitchers

. . . .

TURN YOURSELF IN, BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE

UPC TRAVEL IS OFF TO THE RACES

APRIL 21, 1990

Bring a friend to the races! This will be a day trip to the famous Fonner Park in Grand Island, Nebraska for exciting thoroughbred racing. The price includes round-trip transportation and Clubhouse View Reserved seating. Vans will depart for Manhattan following the races. Estimated time of arrival in Manhattan is 8 p.m. You Worlds of Jun must have a picture ID to board the vans. Cost is $15. Bring your lucky rabbit's foot and be ready to have a great time! Sign-up now in the UPC office from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

K-State Day at everyone's favorite theme park!

* ***

How much fun can a person have in one day? Find out on April 22. Transportation is provided and coffee and donuts will be served.

Cost is $20. Sign-up NOW in the UPC office (3rd floor Union) from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Baseball, hot-dogs, and apple pie...Come enjoy an American tradition, it's a fun-filled day at the ballpark! Be there when the Kansas City Royals take on the Chicago White Sox. Transportation and Plaza Reserved seats will be included.

Cost is $20. Sign-up NOW in the UPC office from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

k-state union

. . . .

Whitewater Rafting on the New River May 20-21

Explore America's past and enjoy the whitewater experience of a lifetime on West Virginia's New River. It is one of the wildest whitewater rivers for rafters in North America. Join us for our two day actionpacked voyage. Trip price includes: two days rafting, meals on the river, permits.

INFORMATION MEETING: Tomorrow at 7 p.m., Union Room 207. Sign-up begins: April 18, 8 a.m., UPC office. (3rd floor Union) The first day of sign-up is limited to Kansas State students. Cost is $79.

RAUL JULIA

k-state union

This film recounts the life and death of Archbishop Oscar Romero, who was murdered while helping and speaking out for the poor in El Salvador. Raul Julia stars. Rated PG-13.

Wednesday and Thursday at 7 p.m. in Forum Hall Thursday at 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre $1.75 KSU ID required.

MARKATAN MAR

K-State Union 2nd Floor Showcase April 9-April 20

Apparel Design Collective

Kansas State Historical Society Newspaper Section 120 W 10th I.F.GIAN Topeka KS 66612

Tuesday, April 17, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 96, Number 134

RIGHT: Luise White, Manhattan, is among the group of about 30 protesters during a Tax Day Rally for the peace dividend Monday at the Manhattan Post Office. BELOW: John Exdell, associate professor of philosophy and one of the organizers of the rally, speaks about the impact of federal spending on Manhattan and Kansas residents.

Organizations promote local Tax Day Rally

5/15/90

Protest designed to educate taxpayers about impact of military spending

> By Sandy Hegarty Collegian Reporter

A coalition of local organizations sponsored a Tax Day Rally for the peace dividend Monday at the Manhattan Post Office.

Edith Stunkel, president of the Manhattan/Riley County chapter of the League of Women Voters, said the protest was to help make paying taxes a considered and conscious

"We want to educate the public of the impact that the $300 billion military budget has on the typical Manhattan household and on the state of Kansas," said John Exdell, associate the organizers of the rally.

The co-sponsoring organizations were the Manhattan Alliance on Central America, the Manhattan/ environmental problems," said Jan Riley County League of Women Voters, the Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship, the Manhattan chapter of the National Organization for Women and the Northern Flint Hills

Marlene Howell, instructor in Women's Studies, dressed as the Statue of Liberty.

"We are practicing our liberty. We are practicing our freedom of speech," Howell said. "I am representing liberty, which is all of our organizations."

Demonstrators said the primary purpose of the Tax Day Rally was to educate area taxpayers about the personal and social costs of the current level of military spending. They also said it was a means to urge Rep. Jim Slattery, D-Kan. and a member of the House Budget Committee, to push for a shift in professor of philosophy and one of federal budget priorities from the military to human needs.

"We are trying to increase awareness of the overwhelming nature of Garton, a member of the Northern Flint Hills Audubon Society. "There are too many environmental problems facing us today.

"There will be and need to be ■ See TAX DAY, Page 10

Tickets focus of forum

Annual camp-out to be discussed

By Jan Puls

Collegian Reporter Student basketball fans will have a chance to voice complaints and contribute ideas concerning season ticket distribution at a forum at noon Wednesday in the K-State Union Courtyard.

The student forum, sponsored by the Athletic Ticket Sales Committee, will address the current system, in which people camp out next to Ahearn Field House to get a place in line to buy season tickets. Bill Nelson, chairman of the committee and junior in political science, said alternative methods of ticket distribution will be discussed.

"We've had a lot of talk that the ticket system isn't the best," Nelson said. "Not everyone can afford to camp out, and not everyone liked their seats last year."

Steve Miller, director of the KSU Athletic Department, said the main purpose of the forum is to give stu- have been suggested as alternatives dents a chance to voice their complaints before the committee makes any decisions.

'We haven't had a lot of complaints, but we know they're out Miller said. "Often times, people are reluctant to write letters or make telephone calls."

Members of fraternities and sororities may believe the residence halls take advantage of the system and the residence hall residents think the sys-

We haven't had a lot of complaints, but we know they're out there. _Steve Miller director, KSU Athletic Department

tem is set up for the fraternities and sororities, Miller said. And the people who don't live on campus or in some other type of living group don't like the system, either, he said.

Nelson said distributing tickets by a lottery system, where seats would be randomly assigned, or issuing all student tickets as non-reserved seats to camping out.

Sandy Ransopher, president of ICAT and senior in marketing, said there has always been a misconception that ICAT members are allowed to pick the location of their seats.

This is apparently not the case, or we wouldn't have sat where we did last year," Ransopher said. "We'll make suggestions to the ticket sales committee, but we are no different from anyone else. The ticket committee makes all the final decisions."

The committee has already decided that regardless of what comes out of the forum, students who buy season football tickets will receive preferred seating location when purchasing basketball seats, Nelson

Miller said no matter what the committee decides, not everyone will be happy.

"If I could have brought God down to be the basketball coach, someone would have complained," Miller

A second meeting of the forum is planned for 7 p.m. Wednesday in Un-

Nations examine global warming

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Delegates from 17 nations gathered for a White House conference on global warming amid criticism Monday from some participants and environmentalists that the Bush administration isn't dealing with the problem.

Senior administration officials said the United States will call for increased international research on both the science of global warming and the economic implications of the "greenhouse" effect when the two-day conference begins Tuesday.

But as delegates arrived, environmentalists chastised President Bush for not calling for specific actions to ease the global warming problem, including commitments to make specific reductions in greenhouse pollutants. The Sierra Club, which announced a TV advertising campaign to highlight concerns about global warming, called the White House conference an attempt by the administration to shift the focus of the issue away from the need for pollution controls to a debate over economic considerations.

"It's really a smoke screen for the administration's inaction on global warming," said Daniel Becker of the Sierra Club. "We know enough now to begin acting on to curb global warming today."

Some conference participants also expressed concern about the heavy U.S. focus on more research.

"In spite of remaining uncertainties on some aspects of the issue, an effective response policy must be established now, without any further delay," said a statement issued on behalf of the 12 nations attend-

■ See GLOBAL, Page 10

Pesticides environment

Professor says farmers have been using non-chemical pest controls 'for years'

By Bryan Ackley Science Reporter

Editor's note: This is the first in a series on the use of chemicals in agriculture.

Pressing environmental concerns have many Americans demanding more safe substitutes for pesticides, but some say farmers have been successfully using many non-chemical pest controls since the earliest days of agriculture. In fact, most farmers only use pesticides when there are no other means available to protect their crops or other products from insects and other pests, said Jack Brotemarkle, assistant professor of agronomy. "The farmer will fight it (having to use pesticides) 'til the end," he said.

But trying to avoid using pesticides typically involves considerable waiting, Brotemarkle said.

Waiting awhile before deciding to use pesticides, however, often pays off for farmers because nature commonly takes care of pests for them sometimes even when farmers do not realize it, he said.

Farmers would rather not spend money on pesticides if there is even a remote possibility nature will take care of a problem for them, he said.

In many cases, however, tight budgets and personal concern for the environment cause many farmers to wait too long for even pesticides to save their crops, Brotemarkle said. "I have a lot of respect for those farmers who have been out there in the fields for 20 years trying to find a better way (to protect their crops without using pesticides)," he said.

Although several methods of nonchemical pest control are available, those most commonly practiced go unnoticed by most farmers, others working in the agriculture industry and the public because they have become standard farming practices, he

According to a pesticide-user training manual published by the University's Cooperative Extension Service, the most commonly practiced non-chemical pest control methods include the following: ■ Biological controls, which, for example, involve the use of parasites or predatory organisms that destroy pests. Such organisms, commonly called beneficial organisms, often occur naturally in areas where crops are grown. In addition, farmers are often unaware such organisms are engaged in protecting their crops.

■ Use of resistant species. Some crops or animals, for example, are genetically resistant to various insects and diseases. Such crops typi-

The farmer will fight it (having to use pesticides)

'til the end. -Jack Brotemarkle assistant professor cally produce higher yields than crops that are more succeptable to diseases.

Cultural controls, which involve rotating or changing planting, growing, harvesting and tillage practices. Such changes often reduce the likelihood that diseases or pests will damage crops. Mechanical or physical controls, which involve, using traps to kill or capture pests, for example. Sound, heat, cold, radiation and electrocution are also used to kill pests. Legal controls, which typically involve quarantines, inspections, embargoes and compulsory crop destruction. Sanitation, which often involves nothing more than cleaning machinery or removing trash unwanted pests feed on.

"You don't hear many farmers talking about (non-chemical pest controls) because most farmers have been using them for years," Brotemarle said. "To them, (non-chemical pest controls) are just another way to

Hall residents request rehiring of staff assistant

By Gregory A. Branson Collegian Reporter

Residents of seventh floor Haymaker Hall are protesting the Department of Housing's decision to not rehire their staff assistant for next

A letter signed by Kip Dunn, freshman undecided and a resident of seventh floor Haymaker, and 69 others, was sent to President Jon Wefald. The letter also went out to Pat Bosco, associate vice president for institutional advancement and dean of student life; Charles Werring, director of Housing; and Dave Haden, Haymaker director.

The letter states that Todd Heitschmidt, senior in agricultural economics, was not rehired as seventh floor staff because he was unable to spend enough time on his floor. Heitschmidt, a staff member for the past two and a half years, said he reapplied for a staff position in November and was accepted. But after interviews for new staff members were conducted, Haden decided some of the new applicants would be able to devote more time to the floor.

"Dave Haden said he would feel more confident the candidates and alternates that were selected would do a very good job and devote more time than what I can," Heitschmidt said. "At the time, I couldn't disagree."

Heitschmidt said he chose not to contest the decision at the time, but the Haymaker residents' interest made him reconsider.

'This doesn't happen very often that residents want to keep a staff around and then go to the extremes that these guys have done," he said. "I accepted the decision before because I thought it would be best for my residents."

The faith his residents have shown in him has given him new confidence in his ability as a student residence hall staff member, he said.

Heitschmidt has been active in student government and has served a term as student senator from the College of Agriculture. He was reelected to the post in November, but he resigned when he was appointed K-State's student director of the Associated Students of Kansas.

The amount of time I spend for ASK is on a what-needs-to-be-donetype basis," Heitschmidt said. "It's usually about 10 to 15 hours a week, and that varies with the Legislature and what the state ASK is doing.' Dunn said even though Heitschmidt may not be around constantly, he always leaves a phone number where he can be reached or a time he will be back.

"No one has approached me saying, 'You're not around enough,' or You're not giving me enough attention," Heitschmidt said.

Haden said he couldn't comment on the rehiring matter because it was a personnel matter.

■ See REHIRE, Page 10

World

Lithuania requests meeting

MOSCOW (AP) - The Lithuanian government asked Mikhail S. Gorbachev on Monday to meet immediately with the secessionist republic's president to provide details of Moscow's threatened economic sanctions so that Lithuanians can be

It would be Gorbachev's first meeting with Lithuanian President Vytautas Landsbergis, who was elected after the Baltic republic declared independence from the Soviet Union on March

Some Soviet publications suggested Gorbachev, with newly expanded presidential powers, will refuse to discuss the standoff as long as Landsbergis is leading the breakaway republic.

Landsbergis told a news conference Monday night that if the Soviet Union closes Lithuanian borders to prevent shipments from foreign countries, "We will consider it a form of aggression.

In a telegram to Gorbachev, Lithuanian Prime Minister Kazimiera Prunskiene said Lithuania wants to explain to its people what difficulties they may face if they continue ignoring an ultimatum Gorbachev issued Friday.

Swede meets with Arafat

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) - Swedish Foreign Minister Sten Andersson, a key figure in arranging U.S.-PLO talks, arrived in Egypt's capital Monday for a meeting with PLO leader Yasser

But Arafat instead arrived in Amman, Jordan, late Monday and told reporters he did not plan to meet with Andersson in Cairo because he already had talks with him Sunday in Tunisia. Andersson had been scheduled to meet Tuesday with the Palestine Liberation Organization chairman and Egypt's foreign minister, Esmet Abdel Meguid, before leaving for Tunisia.

Sweden has in the past worked as a go-between in secret talks between the United States and the PLO. Those talks led to Arafat's renunciation of terrorism and, in response, the United States lifted its 13-year-old embargo on official contacts with the PLO in December 1988.

Arafat's official spokesman, Bassam Abu-Sharif, said Arafat met Andersson Sunday on the Tunisian island of Garba. In an interview prior to Arafat's arrival in the Jordanian capital, Abu-Sharif said the PLO was not ruling out another meeting between Arafat and Andersson.

Nation

Glowing broccoli gets go-ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Department of Agriculture said Monday it has given the go-ahead for an Auburn University scientist to conduct field tests of cabbage and broccoli that have been genetically engineered to glow.

Officials said a permit has been issued to Joseph Shaw, an assistant professor of botany and microbiology, to begin the tests this month in Macon County, Ala.

Shaw transferred a set of genes having a code for bioluminescence from a marine organism into bacteria that causes black rot, a major disease of plants in the cabbage and broccoli

After infecting plants with the luminescent black rot bacteria, the diseased plant parts will glow, allowing scientists to trace the progress of the disease through the plant.

One of the benefits of the process will be the observation of the disease's progress without destroying the plants, Shaw said in a report released here.

Oklahoma teachers on strike

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - Thousands of teachers went on strike Monday to show their anger over a failed $230 million education improvement package, and many picketed at the state Teachers say their pay ranks 48th in the nation. The minimum beginning salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree is

The crowd outside the Capitol was estimated at more than 10,000 by Nancy Jewell, vice president of the Oklahoma Education Association. Other estimates ranged up from 5,000. Hundreds of teachers clogged legislative halls inside the Capitol, lobbying for additional school funding. "If you can read this, thank a teacher. If you can't, thank a legislator," read a sign carried by one picket. Schools were closed in more than 145 of the state's 606 school districts, where more than half the education association's members are teachers, said association President Kyle Dahlem. The association represents 80 percent of Oklahoma's

The Tulsa school district, the largest in the state, was among those closed. Schools were open in Oklahoma City, but not in many of the capital city's suburbs.

Court upholds ban on dances

PURDY, Mo. (AP) - The U.S. Supreme Court on Monday let stand a ban on school dances in this Bible Belt town, prompting an opponent to lament a victory "for liars, cheats and hypocrites.'

Opponents said they now hoped school officials would voluntarily lift the rule.

The high court without comment rejected arguments that the no-dance rule was religiously motivated and violated the constitutionally required separation of church and state. A federal appeals court in September upheld the ban.

"I'm disappointed by the ruling but I'm not surprised," said attorney William Fleischaker, who represented 21 Purdy High School students and their parents who filed a lawsuit in 1986 seeking to overturn the ban in this Ozarks town.

"We knew the odds against us were pretty strong. We had hoped we could get the ear of someone at the Supreme Court and get them to review the situation. Obviously, that didn't happen," he said.

Ten-year-old girl saves brother

LEVANT (AP) - A 10-year-old Colby girl whose mother taught her the Heimlich manuever last summer used it this weekend to dislodge a jawbreaker that was choking her brother. Adrienne Sharpe, 10, and two younger brothers were at their grandparents' home Saturday when the youngest, Schuyler, 4, got the jawbreaker lodged in his throat.

Two uncles rushed to the rescue after Schuyler began waving his arms for help, but they couldn't dislodge the candy. Adrienne first ran to the house to tell her grandfather, then returned, grabbed her brother and began the manuever.

"When I did the Heimlich the second time, the jawbreaker just flew out," the girl said. Schuyler did not have to be

The children's mother, Glenda, a licensed practical nurse who works at an adult care center, taught her children the manuever last summer when she had to be recertified in life-saving

Adrienne said she found the training fun at the time. "I didn't think it was funny when my brother was choking though," she said. "I was glad Mom had taught us."

CAMPUS BULLETIN

17 Tuesday

- French Table will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. near Union Stater-
- OWLS will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.
- Education Council will have officer elections at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont
- Department of Geology will present "A Model for the Deposition of Black Shale," a seminar by Earle Kauffman, at 4 p.m. in Thompson 213.
- Pre-Law Office will have an informational meeting from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. in Union 209 for anyone taking the LSAT in 1990.
- Spurs will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 208.
- Campus Faith Fellowship will meet at 7 p.m. in Seaton 162.
- Wheat State Agronomy Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Throckmorton
- Advertising Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Kedzie Library. Guest speaker will be Lynn Bender, account executive at Valentine-Radford advertising agency.
- Society for the Advancement of Management will meet at 8 p.m. in
- Circle K International will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 207.
- Kansas State Engineering Technologists will meet at 7 p.m. in Union
- Society for Creative Anachronism will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the east side of City Park.
- Poultry Science Club will meet at 6 p.m. in Call 226.
- Block & Bridle will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Umberger 105.
- Golden Key National Honor Society will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 213.

CORRECTIONS

The Collegian regrets the following errors that appeared in Monday's

It was incorrectly reported that a proposed Macintosh lab will be provided through the Department of Computing and Information Sciences. The lab will be an all-University service provided by University Computing and Telecommunications Activities.

An article regarding smoking areas in the K-State Union incorrectly stated that the smoking locations will change April 20; the change will not be effective until May 20.

In the story about the boot and saddle maker, the byline should have read By Angela Tholstrup, Collegian Reporter instead of By the Collegian Staff.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, mostly cloudy at sunrise, becoming sunny by noon. Cooler with the highs 50 to 55. Northeast winds 10 to 20 mph. Tonight, mostly clear. Low 30 to 35. Wednesday, increasing cloud cover with a 30 percent chance for showers. High in the lower 60s.

GUARANTEED LOANS

IT'S NEVER BEEN SIMPLER!

- · Loan Approval in as Little as 2 Days
- · Largest Local Student Loan Lender.
- · Over 30,000 Student Loans Processed.

Let Our Professional In-House Staff Assist You with Your Next Student Loan. Lender Code #821176

West-op • Downtown • Aggieville • K-State Union, Manhattan, 537-4400

YOUR FAVORITE SPECIALS from 8 p.m. to closing Sunday-Thursday.

(Ice cream with your favorite candy or fruit flavors)

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

APRIL 15-19:

Village Plaza Shopping Center

OPEN at 4:00 702 North 11th

539-4888

12th & Moro Aggieville, USA

776-0077 Aggieville, USA

CALL 539-7666 OR THE LOCATION NEAREST YOU.

HEY, COLLEGE STUDENTS HERE'S 2 EXAMPLES OF...

FOR 90 DAYS!

1990 Grand Am

MONTHLY

SPECIAL GRAD SALE PRICES!

REBATES UP TO

Over 200 New Cars Trucks In Stock!

THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TWO IS NOT THE OWNER.

PONTIAC . BUICK . NISSAN GMC TRUCKS 2312 STAGG HILL RD.

The HOLIDOME

Call Today: 537-8330

Students at UFM's composting class listen to instructor Evelyn Campbell describe the best materials for use in compost Monday at the Manhattan Community Gardens. The class teaches people to reuse their trash for fertilizer, eliminating waste that would to go to a landfill.

By Heather Anderson Collegian Reporter

Manure, feathers, eggshells, banana peels, straw, limestone and hair.

At first, these materials may not seem to have much in common. But when combined into a big pile and allowed to decompose for six months, the end result is a compost ideal for fertilizing the garden or

In connection with Earth Day 1990, UFM sponsored a composting class Monday evening at Manhattan Community Gardens.

Evelyn Campbell, coordinator of Manhattan Community Gardens and class instructor, said composting is a good way to both recycle and fertilize.

"People will put all kinds of chemicals on their gardens and yards for fertilizer," Campbell said. 'When you use compost, it's all organic material, and there is nothing that will harm anyone or anything."

Compost is decomposed organic matter created by layering materials in a large pile for at least six

The pile must be at least five feet high and at least five feet wide. A round pile must be eight to nine feet

More than just refuse

Class teaches how to turn garbage into ideal fertilizer

Campbell said to begin building the pile, first dig a small pit four to six inches deep, the same size as the pile. This allows microorganisms in the soil that are needed for the decomposing process to gain access to the pile.

The pile can be surrounded by concrete blocks, screening or railroad ties, or can be a simple raised pile. A layer of woody stem material is laid down first in order to ventilate the pile. Old broomsticks or pipes inserted vertically into the pile serve as ventilation shafts.

Layers of material are then added to the pile. Campbell said it is imrogen element, such as manure, blood meal, legumes, grass clippings or wet garbage.

The material must be moist. Items such as freshly cut grasss or wet garbage don't need to be moistened, but water should be added to old grass or straw.

Campbell said before making a compost pile, taking a soil sample would determine which elements the soil needs. Because different materials provide different elements, the pile can be adjusted to suit the soil.

For example, rock and bone meal are good sources of phosphorus citrus and banana peels provide potassium, eggshells and limestone provide calcium, and green parts of plants are good sources of magnesium.

Properly moistened and ventilated piles should rise in temperature as the microorganisms decompose the materials, Campbell said. Some pile temperatures get as high as 180 degrees, she said.

"When we put down our sawdust and manure compost, you could actually feel the heat coming off it. When it's cool out, you can see steam rising off the piles," Camp-

To keep the pile heated, it should be covered to protect it from the

Campbell said the community garden uses sod, but soil, hay, burlap and plastic can be used.

But if you use plastic, you have to raise it periodically to make sure the pile is moist enough," she said.

A compost pile can be completed in 14 days, in time for this spring's planting, Campbell said. But all the materials first must be shredded, and the pile watered and turned frequently to hasten decomposition,

When the compost is finished, it should be dark, crumbly and sweet-■ See COMPOST, Page 10

Economic order needs changing

By Elvyn Jones Collegian Reporter

The challenge of the next 20 years will be to develop the courage and hard thinking necessary to start a new dent of the Land Institute said Monday. Wes Jackson, speaking in an event sponsored by the Union Program economic order, the presi-

Council and Students Acting to Save a Vulnerable Environment, said the apparent victories of free market economies will clash with growing environmental concerns.

Communism shared with 19th century industrial society the same basic philosophical and economic beliefs, Jackson said. Consequently, both the East and West created technological societies that don't address basic human needs, he said.

The basic philosophy that exists today originated from the writings of Francis Bacon, who said that people could bend nature to their wills, and Rene Descartes, who said people gather a whole of knowledge through its parts and that ignorance is correctable, Jackson said.

The resulting application of partial knowledge has led to growing problems, such as acid rain and depletion of the ozone layer, he said.

"We need to acknowledge we don't know everything," Jackson

To change, he said, people must at least know themselves. He listed seven characteristics of people that explain agriculture's place in the economic system.

The first three — the notion that ■ See ORDER, Page 10

Group encourages students to recycle

By Shannan Seely Collegian Reporter

A new campus ministry is asking students to save aluminum, plastic, glass and paper for recycling this week in honor of Earth Day's 20th anniversary.

The group, the University Parish of United Methodists, will collect and deliver the materials to Can-Man Recycling in Manhattan, said Sheryl Witmer, program director.

Can-Man Recycling will weigh the materials to determine what students who cooperate are capable of recycling in one week, she said. "We want to show the real impact students have in working together on this simple cooperative effort," Wit-Aluminum cans, plastic bottles, newspapers and milk jugs are just some of the easily recyclable items, she said.

The organization will collect the recyclable materials from fraternities, sororities and residence halls from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday. Offcampus students may drop off their materials in the K-State Union parking lot at the same time.

University Parish of United Methodists, a group of about 25 active students, organized last fall semester. The group has met weekly since, in part to plan for this event. "We looked beyond our surroundings to do a project to serve the University and recycling came out as a possibility," Witmer said. "It is our end-of-the-year, cooperative effort."

The proceeds will be donated to E.J. Schwartz, sophomore in pre-med and vice-president of Theta Xi fraternity, said the fraternity tried to collect paper and cans earlier this "We've wondered in the past what to do with all of it," he said. "This is a good project because we have plenty

■ See RECYCLE Page 10

FREE Breadsticks

and Dessert with the purchase of medium or large pizza or Pizza Doubles

orday, 5 to 9 p.m. May be used with other Dine-in only. Expires: 5/18/90 KSU 000 Godfather's Pizza

Medium One Topper With purchase of any Golden Crust

Godfather's Pizza

Wildcat Buffet $2.99

All-You-Can-Eat. Lunchtime. Monday-Friday

EDITORIAL

Engineering fee detrimental to K-State

or aren't worried about. Something which many people think only affects one sector of the student body, but may eventually affect every student who attends

K-State. What is happening?
Glad you asked. The engineering fee is once again being proposed by certain people, whom I will not mention. Since many of you, at least the engineering majors, have heard the concern of University officials, allow me to present another side of the story. This is from a student who is concerned about not only his fellow engineering students, but about all those students who attend this University.

I will begin by outlining some general information. In the fall of 1988, the leaders of the College of Engineering proposed a fee of $10 per credit hour of engineering classes or a straight $75 fee. The concept was presented to the Board of Regents. The then student body president, Troy Lubbers, was able to convince the regents to table the issue. But certain individuals would not let it die easily.

omething is happening out there to rest. Once again, the engineering fee has that many of you don't know about, reared its ugly head. However, not only are administrators pushing this fee, they've increased it to $15 per hour.

Let me state the reasons I am adamantly opposed to this academic-restricted fee. First of all, when the concept was originally tabled in 1988, one of the biggest reasons was because state legislators in 1984 told the Board of Regents to absorb all restricted fees in tuition. Reason: when a restricted fee, like the engineering fee, is established, the money remains on campus. Legislators don't see a penny and they don't appreciate a state school not sending part of tuition to Topeka where they have some control over it. If the engineering fee is established, eventually other fees will go into effect and the legislators will once again mandate that restricted fees be absorbed in tuition.

Secondly, if the engineering fee is established how can anyone not justify a library fee? How could people resist an architecture fee, or a computer fee? There would be no argument against these fees that couldn't easily be countered. I use Colorado State Univer-Soon after, it resurfaced; and again it was laid sity, one of our peer institutions, as an example. Last fall, they established an engineering fee. Now, not even a year later, four other restricted fees (applied natural sciences, $100 per semester; forestry, $50 per semester; human sciences, $35 per semerster; and business, $100 per semester) will become effective fall 1990. Do you think our legislators would like all these fees? Not a chance. However, it sounds like a good way to hike tuition.

y third, and most significant reason for opposing an engineering fee, is that it destroys the University concept. Each in-state student pays $730.60 per semester to attend K-State whether he or she is majoring in accounting, secondary education or engineering. But does each college receive money proportional to their specific enrollment? I sincerely doubt it. That's the beauty of a university. When a certain college and/or department is in a pinch for money, additional funds are diverted to help out during the difficult period. When this college receives the additional funding, but another college lacks funds, the same thing occurs. We don't attend the Kansas State College of Engineering, Kansas State College of Education, etc.. We attend Kansas State University. This brings me to my next point.

The state must continue its commitment to fund capital improvements. This is not an area where student money should be used. Granted, it's a tough year financially, but to have students pay for necessary equipment is

Lastly, I'd like to mention how the instigators of the engineering fee like to use comparison. Their claim is that many other institutions have a fee of this type, so we should, also. Let's make a better comparison with our peer institutions. Of five, only two have such a fee. Moreover, an even better argument concerning comparisons is 49 other states have qualified admissions, so why shouldn't the state of Kansas? Obviously we shouldn't, and furthermore, we should not always compare things left and right to others, but have a backbone and be proud of the original ideas we have at K-State - a University where everyone from Kansas is welcome and treated exactly the same, no matter what major he or she chooses.

I believe very strongly that an engineering fee is not only detrimental to the College of Engineering, but to the University as a whole. The esteemed dean of engineering raises around $4 million each year. Why can't he put $400,000 to $500,000 into maintenance, the same amount that would be raised by an engineering fee? Yes, it would take a little money away from scholarships, but what good is a scholarship if you don't have the equipment available to make it worthwhile. Let's all take this engineering tax, I mean fee, to heart and stop it where it belongs.

Todd G. Giefer is a senior in architectural engineering and an engineering senator.

Committee proposals demonstrate stupidity

funds is an example of self-serving, shortsighted politicians working toward their own interests and not might. those of their constituents.

K-State faces a recommended $2.1 million cut in enrollment adjustment funds, which will result in weather vanes at the mercy of the significant cutbacks in classes and the loss of several faculty positions. This recommendation reflects a total turnaround in priorities of the state - at least where K- should be voted out of office any-State is concerned.

Two years ago, many of the peo- sources of funds exist. ple who voted against the enrollment adjustment supported the to par with its peer institutions.

the mentality of the entire Legislature, it is time to take a scrutinizing look at the leadership in Topeka.

The desire to remain in office obviously far outweighs the votergiven responsibility of making wise choices. Tell these legislators out-of-state to attend other to raise taxes during an election universities.

A House/Senate conference year and they will laugh in your committee's decision to cut in half face. No politicians in their right K-State's enrollment adjustment minds would raise taxes during an election year.

But a conscientious statesman

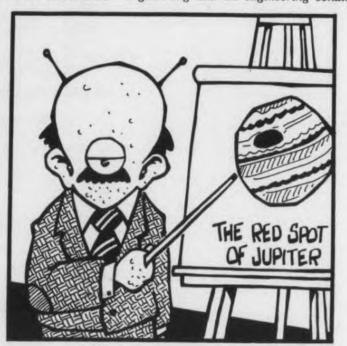

Support of this legislation should send a clear message to the voters: the legislators are like winds of opinion, void of integrity or the guts it takes to stand up for what is right.

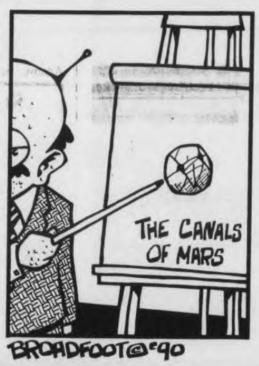

If this legislation is passed, they way, just for being spineless. Other

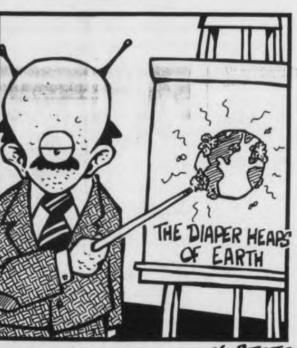

The Kansas Highway Act of 1989 was created by the Legisla-Margin of Excellence, a program ture to improve the quality of highcreated to bring this University up ways and bridges at a cost of $2.65 billion. The Legislature put the mo-If these actions are indicative of ney into this eight-year program; it can also take it out.

We could be looking at a future of poor universities and great highways. Ah, Kansas. But, then again, the highways may come in useful for students in Kansas - driving

K-STATE COLLEGIAN

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

	New	T . 75.500.00
EDITOR		Erwin Se
MANAGING EDITOR	ACT 19812 7.3	Paula Se
NEWS EDITOR	7, 31, 97, 77, 73, 74, 74, 74, 74, 74, 74, 74, 74, 74, 74	Catherine Do
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	4.75 VA - 4-50	Cole Use
SPORTS EDITOR	5 - 2 - 2 - 2 - 10 - 10 - 10 - 10 - 10 -	Charles II
CAMPUS EDITORS	Apr. N. T. 1965, 2003	Die Detection Caris He
SPECIAL PROTECTS EDITION	基 多 年 四國 下之時	Ellen Dayton, Susan L'Ecuy
LE A TI DEC EIDETOD	maginal mile of the comment	Kobert Shi
APTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EINTOR	AND VOTO TO THE PARTY.	Brad Cat Chris Ha Ellen Dayton, Susan L'Ecuy Robert Sh Julie Andsag Jim Rou
COVERNMENT EDITOR	or and complete and the state of the state o	Jim Rou
COPY CHIEF	······································	Wendy Nakoneczny, Jane Thompson, Angela Wa Lori Antrim, Paul Branson, Kirk Carawa
COPY EDITORS
STAFF REPORTERS		Lori Antrim, Paul Branson, Kirk Carawa
	AND DESCRIPTION	Steve Franzen, Cosima Hadidi, Lori Mikese
		Tomari Quinn, Melissa Simps
SCIENCE REPORTER		Down Anti-
STAFF PHOTOGRAPHERS		Margaret Clarkin, Oliver Kaubisch, Brian W. Kratz Mark Leffingwell, David Mayes, Mike Venso, Steve Wolg. Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan Wick
		Mark Leffingwell David Mayes Mike Venso Steve Woles
SPORTS REPORTERS	September 1	Scott Paska David Suchoda Dan Wich
		Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Mussman, Brad Seabou  Mark Butler, Rod Gillesp Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggi  Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hayde
PEVIEWERS	The same of	Jana Leep, Dwayne Livery, John Mussman, Brad Seabou
REVIEW CONTROL	The same of the sa	District Town Mark Butler, Rod Gillespi
CTRIR CARTOCATOR	- Al fall Control	ruchard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggi
EDITIONAL CARROCATION		Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hayde
EDITORIAL BOARD		Julie Andsager, Ellen Dayton, Catherine Dou
		Craig Hamrick, Eric Henry, Chris Koge
	1.09.10	Susan L'Ecuyer, John Mussman, Jim Rour
	AMERICA	Erwin Seba, Robert Short, David Svoboo
	- FEET ST. ST. ST. ST. ST. ST. ST. ST. ST. ST	Kirk Carawa
	A duantia	ing Staff
ADVERTISING MANAGER
		Dan Golde
CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER	-	Ronnie Me
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER		Johan Ko
IDVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCO	DUNT EXECUTIVE	S
	-	Paul Heier, Leah Leverich, Monique Scroggin
		Mauria Stonestreet Amy 7k
RAPHIC ARTISTS		Laura Boone, Paul Flemin
HOTOGRAPHERS		Oliver Kaubisch, Gary Lyt
DVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANT		Dana Franklin, Tammy Gint
		Doug Griffith, Tammi Land
	July war
S	tudent Publ	ications Staff
DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER		Ron Johnson
		Gloria Freeland
		Linda Puntne
		Ann Foste
ACCIETTO ADVEDTICAL MANAGEM		Jackie Harmo
		Linda Weatherl
		Pat Hudgin
DMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT		Connie Pulkerson
IEWS PRODUCTION COORDINATOR		David Svobodi Wanda Hayni

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 (IZO), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and Monday and Thursday during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhat-

n, Nan. 8600-107.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word at questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555

Recycling needed

Earth Day was created twenty years ago to create an awareness of how abusive our lifestyles have become to the environment. Unfortunately, things haven't gotten better; they've gotten worse. If we don't face these problems and do something about them, the earth won't die. And the environment will still be here, it won't be the same, but it will be here. The only true damage we are doing is to ourselves. Yes, the earth will survive, but we will not be able to survive on it.

A first step in ensuring our chance of existence is recycling. Recycling is one of the most important actions you can take. It is all about saving energy. The Earth Day 1990 Environmental Advisory Council says that global warming, acid rain and oil spills are directly related to the extravagant use of energy. By recycling aluminum, we can save about ninety-five percent of the energy used to produce new products. The council says that you may as well throw away a can of gasoline when you throw away an aluminum

The Earth Day Fact Sheet on Recycling states, "Americans throw away about 35 billion aluminum cans every year - enough to rebuild our entire commercial airfleet four times over. If all these cans were recycled, we would save an amount of energy equal to 150

Exxon Valdez oil spills every year." Another important issue is the disposal of household hazards. These are items in your home which contain toxins or are flammable. When disposed of improperly, they become hazardous. Fingernail polish removers, cleaning products and bug sprays can become contaminants of soil, water and air. These wastes penetrate the soil, becoming a part of the ground water - which almost half of all Americans are reliant upon for home use. Explosions have been caused by the mixture of these chemicals. Many studies have shown that common household toxins can cause cancer and other illnesses.

Preventive measures include using all of the product or giving it to someone who can. Read labels prior to purchasing to ensure the product best fits your needs. The best solution is to use alternative, environmentally safe products. These include items from household cleaning supplies to cosmetics. For a complete list, write to Household Hazardous Waste Project, 901 S. National Avenue, Springfield, Mo. 65804. Finally, there is the issue of tree planting. It sounds like a simple solution to a complex problem, but next to recycling, it is one of the best actions one can take. Trees remove carbon dioxide from the atmosphere. They keep carbon dioxide in until they die or are burned. If everyone planted a tree, it would buy us some time to solve our pollution problems. "Let Earth Day 1990 be your chance to bring some Global ReLeaf. Plant a tree yourself today and more with your friends tomorrow. Bring shelter, sustenance, beauty and renewal to a planet sorely in need of your help." T. Allen, Company. National Coordinator, Global ReLeaf.

Throughout the week, UFM is sponsoring a variety of activities that not only inform the public of the problems we are all facing, but show how each of us can contribute to the

> Wendy L. Mannen junior in public relations

Move ahead

Editor.

The situation:"these people."

The controversy: the apology. The situation now is two groups of people battling, not on the war field, which we want to stay away from, but on the pages of the Collegian. We do not want to create a diverse society — blacks against whites and whites against blacks. We need to come together as one and work out our differences. Allocation procedure and process needs to be explained to the Black Student Union administrative board, and techniques of cultural sensitivity need to be explained to members of Student Senate. When BSU turned in its budget request two weeks late we were wrong. However, when Senate members referred to BSU as "these people," they were wrong, knowingly or unknowingly. Now both sides have made their complaints and correct actions should be made. Let us move on with business.

Wendell D. Edwards, Jr. freshman in business administration and finance

Fee unfair

Editor,

I have recently become quite upset about the priority seating policy concerning season basketball tickets. Bill 90/11 that was passed on March 22 by Student Senate states that students holding season football tickets shall be given priority purchasing. Why?

Next fall an athletic fee of $10 per semester will be imposed. Forty percent of that money will be given to the football program. Does that $4 per semester not mean we support the football team? I find it utterly ridiculous I would have to pay $42 for football tickets to get better seating in Bramlage during the basketball season!

Does this policy discriminate against the less fortunate college students that can't afford to pay that extra $42? Most college students don't have money to throw away. We will give, without our choice, $4 a semester to the football team whether we want to support them or not. I am a basketball fan. I want season tickets. I am willing to wait in line just like everyone else. I don't believe one student should be given better seating because he or she can afford an extra $42. K-State is discriminating against the students who lack suffi-

> Greg Lohrentz sophmore in accounting and nine others

Landfill's final site possibility revealed

By Elvyn Jones Collegian Reporter

The fourth and last possible site for the Big Lakes Waste Management Compact's multi-county landfill was revealed Monday morning at a press conference in Junction City.

The 2,250 acre site is about 14 miles southwest of Manhattan and seven miles east of Junction City in Geary County, said Dan Harden, Riley County Public Works director.

Riley County Commissioner Dick Jepsen said the site, presently the O.K. Ranch owned by Larry Cory, is more than the compact requires, but that is what is for sale.

The land would sell for $200 to $300 an acre, Jepsen said.

Bobby Whitten, chairman of the Geary County Commission, said the proposed site would be centrally located to Riley, Geary, Morris and Dickinson counties. Riley, Geary and Morris counties are already committed to the compact, he said.

Dickinson County will study its options and make a decision on joining the compact late this summer, Harden said.

Whitten said the proposed site's location on Highway 57 would require less road construction. Another advantage is the large size of the site, making it easier to relocate the landfill when its lifespan is over, he said.

"(It will) save us money down the road," Whitten said.

Harden said 40 acres of the site will be used as a landfill and another 80 acres will be mined for filler. The rest of the site would serve as an environmental buffer zone and could be leased for cattle grazing, he said.

Jepsen said the compact might keep the land it needs to relocate once and sell the rest.

Harden said the initial 40-acre site would have a usefulness of 20 years.

The other proposed locations are the Fort Riley site, one mile north of the Manhattan Airport; the McDowell Creek Road site; and the Walker Stone Quarry site, in northeast Dickinson County.

These four locations were graded the highest of 24 sites considered by the consulting firm of CH2M Hill, Harden said.

Now that the proposed locations for the new landfill have been revealed, Harden said detailed public discussion can begin on the merits of Access to any site will be restricted to garbage trucks that pick up waste at designated drop-off areas located in the counties within the compact, Jepsen said. This will reduce the amount of traffic and eliminate the blowing trash associated with the present landfill.

Harden said he expects a final decision by early fall.

Hot house

Brad Camp/Staff

A Manhattan Fire Department firefighter ventilates smoke from a fire that occurred on the first floor of the Georgetown Apartments Monday. The fire caused an estimated $3,500 in damage.

Ag program renamed

Professor: Revision to stress computers, add specialties

By Shannan Seely Collegian Reporter

The agricultural mechanization program has been renamed the agricultural technology management

"The program no longer described what our graduates were capable of doing," said Stanley Clark, professor of agricultural engineering. "It was not training just to be a technician."

The name change was approved by the Board of Regents this spring, said Larry Erpelding, associate director of agricultural resident instruction.

The curriculum's classes will appear under the new name starting with this summer's class schedule, Erpelding said.

'There's a new arena of job opportunities for graduates who have a strong technical basis to eventually work in management positions,' Clark said. "Our students are required to take agricultural courses, physical sciences — such as physics and chemistry - and the life sciences, like biology," he said. "We're not just teaching technology ... linear algebra, biochemistry and business calculus are also required."

Harry Manges, professor of agricultural engineering and adviser in agricultural technology management, said the department updated the curriculum before the name

"In the revision, we wanted to stress more computers and add specialities for grain and food processing, handling and storage facilities education," Manges said.

The name change has received positive responses from students, faculty and businesses, Clark said.

Martin Johnson, junior in agricultural technology management, said people have a misunderstanding of the word "mechanization."

"You go home, and they usually think your major is a mechanic, similar to a vo-tech school," Johnson said. "The words 'agricultural technology management' use the English dictionary definitions. Technology is defined as engineering and science. The description describes more of what we do. We combine the science of agriculture with the technology of engineering.'

Clark said the department worked mainly through the College of Agriculture to complete the name change.

"Just to agree on the name was no easy matter," he said. "We wanted to make sure of several things. One, was it a description of our academic program and two, can different companies you talk to associate with that name in the job market?"

The department has an enrollment of about 28 students.

"We hope employers see a nice package of technological training," he said. "But we're not technicians."

Union to display exhibits from photography contest

By The Collegian Staff

Aspiring photographers often dream about winning a photography contest. Amateur photographers at K-State get just that chance by entering the annual Union Programs Council Photography Contest, spon-sored by the UPC Arts Committee.

Entries from students, faculty and staff will be on display April 30 through May 11 in the K-State Union Art Gallery.

The contest, now in its 15th year, has six divisions including landscape and still life. The photograph judged "Best in Show" will receive an award of $30. The awards for first and second place photographs are $10 and $5 respectively. Photographs may also be awarded "honorable

A panel of three judged the entries Monday, said Kendall McMinimy, chairman of the Arts Committee. The last day to enter the contest was April

The judges are David Von Riesen, photography instructor; David Adams, medical photographer for

> Stay in tune. Read the Collegian for local and national news.

Moving & Storage Co

•GOVERNMENT APPROVED WAREHOUSE PALLETIZED-SPRINKLERS

ANTIQUE SPECIALISTS ·ALSO SELF-STORAGE UNITS MOVING SUPPLIES FOR SALE

776-8844

810 Levee Dr., P.O. Box 157 (1 mile east of Highway 24)

KID'S MEAL Every Tuesday

With Purchase Of Any Adult

> Dinner (Drinks Not Included)

Offer good for children, 12 and under, ordering from Children's Menu. Limit: 2 children per adult.

ALL DAY TUESDAYS!

325 E. Poyntz 100 Bluemont

the College of Veterinary Medicine; and Rod Mikinski, chief photographer at the Manhattan Mercury.

The judges use a standard form to judge the entries, McMinimy said. They rank the photograph on a scale of one to 10 in three catagories. The judges also write critiques of each photograph, which are returned to the photographers when they pick up their pictures after May 11.

"There are rules of composition and technique, but every judge judges differently," McMinimy said. "That's something you have to understand when competing with photos or any other artwork."

Mike Ribble, Arts Committee adviser, said that 138 photographs were entered. An average of 125 to 150 photographs are entered each year.

"I think (the contest) allows students to get involved with UPC and we also get feedback from the students on how interested they are in our events," Ribble said.

"Last year we put up a comments book to get responses from the University," McMinimy said. "We received so many favorable replies to the photo contest that I'm sure it's going to be around for a long time."

Swimming, hiking, movies, field trips arts & crafts & games

Summer Openings SRS School Age, Toddler Preschool

12 mo. to 12 yr. 539-2435 M.-F. 6:30 a.m.-6 p.m. 2615 Allison Ave

Westloop

Tuesday Coupon

Buy one entree and get the Second of equal or less for

99¢ (with coupon) (not valid with any other special)

Not good on delivery

FREE DRY WITH WASH Suds Y'r Duds Laundry

Every Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the month of April A "Thank You" for our Faithful Customers! 1453 Anderson Ave.

Look No Further...

1 bedroom, furnished, new carpet

Villa 11 526 N. 14th 310

375 428-430 N. 6th Gold Key

776-1111

Mary Charles and Advantage of the Control of the Co

Comedy Invasion Jaz Kaner

Mon. & Tues. 9 p.m.

Wed.—9 p.m. Sig Ep Fite Night Final Week

> Thurs. DU Women of K-State finals

539-4321 -Call for Reservations539-9727

Districts reject tax bill

School boards: Funding relies heavily on property revenue

By Bill Sier Collegian Reporter

The School Board of USD 383 in Manhattan, in conjunction with other school boards across the state, has issued a resolution calling for state officials and legislators to address the issue of property tax relief in relation to educational funding.

Hal Rowe, Manhattan superintendent of schools, said the Kansas Association of School Boards urged all its member boards to draft similar resolutions and forward them to state officials. KASB is a major lobbying organization for school boards in Kansas.

Rowe said the resolution has three main points to raise with state officials.

The first point is that property taxes should be reduced, and school boards' reliance on property taxes for, funding should be minimized.

"Those property taxes now represent almost our sole means of support," he said. The resolution also calls for a broadened tax base to facilitate this new non-reliance.

Rowe said the resolution is not in support of any current proposal over

"We definitely do not support Governor Hayden's proposal, which calls for a 20 percent reduction in property taxes, but allows for no replacement of these funds," Rowe said. "We leave the nature of the new tax base to the Legislature."

Rowe said the school board may support other means of replacing the lost funds, such as an increased sales

Finally, Rowe said the proposal asks for this matter to be settled by legislation, as opposed to a constitutional amendment.

Rowe said the resolution was written by him, at the suggestion of KASB, and unanimously approved by the school board at its April 4 meeting. Copies of the resolution were sent to all state government officials.

"I wrote it using information provided by the KASB," Rowe said. "They did not provide a sample resolution."

Rep. Katha Hurt, D-Manhattan, said she received a copy of the resolution at the state house and at home. Hurt said she understood the intent of the resolution.

"They are just trying to keep the pressure on," she said.

However, she called Gov. Mike Hayden's initial proposal irresponsible.

"Just redoing the classification isn't enough," Hurt said.

"It appears, at this time, that any property tax rollback will have to include replacement revenues," said Frank Ybarra, deputy press secretary for Hayden's office.

Ybarra said the intent of the original proposal was to allow individual local governments to determine how to make up the lost revenue. Hayden is now considering several means of making up the shortfall, including closing some sales tax exemptions or raising the sales tax, he said.

Hayden would still prefer to handle the situation through a constitutional amendment, which would include a chance for the people of the state to vote on the matter, Ybarra

"The governor feels that the best way to decide is to let the voters vote," Ybarra said.

He said the problem with changing it with legislation is that any change could be undone in the near future

Blood disorder prompts food supplement's recall

The recall of a food supplement used to induce sleep and relieve menstrual cramps should alert peo-ple of the possible danger in using such supplements, said Katharine Grunewald, associate professor of food and nutrition.

L-Tryptophan, which was available at health food stores until its recent recall, is one of 20 amino acids that occur naturally in proteins, Grunewald said. The average person ingests about one half of a gram to one gram of L-Tryptophan a day. Problems have occurred in women who took as much as 1.2 to 2.4 grams of L-Tryptophan for at least three weeks, she said.

"Not everything in a health store is safe," Grunewald said.

Junction City, KS 66441 913-762-4447

Department of Health and Environment, said L-Tryptophan has been linked to 1,417 cases of the rare blood disorder Eosinophilia-Myalgia Syndrome.

Symptoms of EMS are fever, skin rash, swelling in the extremities, respiratory problems and in some cases heart problems, Pyles said. Twenty deaths have been attributed to EMS nationwide, he

In November of 1989, the Food and Drug Administration called for the recall of all products containing 100 or more milligrams of L-Tryptophan, Pyles said. The continued occurrences of EMS prompted the FDA to ask for the

Jim Pyles, consumer product Tryptophan in March, except in and safety officer for the Kansas products where small amounts of L-Tryptophan are needed for nutrient fortification.

Debra Jones, manager of the General Nutrition Center Inc. in the Manhattan Town Center, said L-Tryptophan had been a popular item in her store. Her customers used single-ingredient doses of L-Tryptophan as a muscle relaxer to induce sleep and to relieve premenstrual cramps, she said. It was also used as a dietary supplement in body building, she said.

GNC stores took all L-Tryptophan single-ingredient products from their shelves after the November recall, Jones said. GNC stores removed all products containing more than the natural ocvoluntary recall of all L- See TRYPTOPHAN, Page 10

FALL CLOSED CLASSES

	00090	07870	09190	13940	15800	22550	28620	35130	38060
	00300	07880	09420	13950	15810	22560	28800	35160	38150
	01340	07890	10260	13970		22690	29010	35190	38370
	02280	07900	10330	14010	16120	22760	29200	35320	39880
	03170	07910	10400	14020	16140	22850	29210	35350	40070
	03180	07920	10480	14030	16180	22980	29220	35370	40080
	03240	07930	10490	14140	16190	24880	29240	35430	40100
	03250	07940	10610	14150	16270	24910	29250	35440	40120
-	03310	07950	10620	14220	16790	24960	29380	35470	40160
	03320	07960	10710	15120	18220	25000	29910	35490	40570
	03360	08440	10950	15140	18470	25210	30180	35500
	04030	08450	11010	15150	19110	25330	30280	35530
	05380	08460	11100	15160	19940	25350	31440	35540	SUMMER
	05390	08470	11170	15210	21830	25970	31820	35570	02770
	06780	08480	11360	15230	21880	26060	33390	35580	05390
	06810	08490	11400	15270	21900	26370	33420	35660	06110
	06850	08500	11440	15480		26690	33900	35670	06160
	06950	08510	11450	15530		26850	33970	35680	06290
	07020	08520	11550	15550	22150	26890	33980	35930	06810
	07030	08530	11580	15570	22220	26920	34060	35990	07700
	07820	08670	11590	15590	22310	27810	34120	36140	07710
	07830	09110	12050	15620	22320	27840	34190	36180	07720
	07840	09123	12100	15740	22340	28030	34220	36750	07970
	07850	09160		15780	22370	28050	34240	36960	08620
	22333							2 20 00	08660

07860 09170 13670 15790 22390 28580 35060 37080 Going to summer school? Remember, you can enroll for summer at the same time you enroll for fall.

> "I'M A COLLEGE STUDENT. AND WORKING FOR KELLY HAS HELPED ME UNDERSTAND THE BUSINESS WORLD."

"I've broadened my education and expanded my knowledge. Improved my skills. It's the perfect job experience to put on a resume or an application.'

1990 Kelly Services, In

GRADUATE A KENWOC KENWOOD IIDIO JUNCTION, INC.

HI FI-Car Stereo-Video

Think Noble. Think Global. Earth Day 1990 is April 22nd. You may think that you can't save the world but you are wrong. You can, by recycling the paper that is in your hand this very moment. Just take it to any of the recycling recepticles on campus. Think Noble... Think Global. · Nichols · Bushnell! · Dykstra Ackert · Umberger Denison · Power Plant

SPORTS

Golden

Intellect has helped Boone overcome age barrier at 42

By The Associated Press

About eight years ago, at the advanced baseball age of 34, catcher Bob Boone finally figured out one of the basics of the game.

"I've learned how to hit," he said triumphantly, sounding like a scientist who has uncovered a new way to split the atom. "It took me 15 years. I'm not as smart as other guys. It took me longer to get the hang of it."

And so, having made that discovery, Boone plays on, wondering what mystery of this riveting game he'll figure out next.

Baseball squad plays Washburn

The K-State baseball team will play host to Washburn today at 4 p.m. at Frank Myers Field.

The match-up is slated for a single, nine-inning game, and Greg McNamara is the probable starter for the 'Cats.

He won his seventh Gold Glove last season, appearing in 131 games for Kansas City and batting .274, 20 points over his career average. He now has caught a record 2,185 games and no man in history - not Berra, not Bench, not Dickey, not Hartnett - ever strapped on shin guards, chest protector and mask more times.

How can that be? What about the wear and tear? Why hasn't he bro-

"Intellectually, I recognize that it's physically the most demanding position," Boone said. "I don't look at it that way, though. You prepare for what you do. What I do in preparation is tougher than catching Boone has an extensive workout regimen that includes vision exercises, weights, aerobics and running.

"When you work out for 16 years, it will affect you after a while," he said. "It's part of my life. It's like eating for me. When I catch, that's an extension of my

There have been injuries. Catchers can not avoid them. Boone's back went out when he was 24. He would go through six hours of therapy to have it loose for a two-hour ball game. There has been torn cartilage in his knee. He played with a broken hand and a broken finger all part of the job.

"If you're hurt, the challenge is not to show it," he said. "I say to myself, 'Watch this,' and I tough it out. It hurt. It hurt a lot. It comes from within. You say to yourself, 'Can I or can't I?' If you can, you

"If there's anything I'm proud of it is that's the way I live my life and that's the way my parents and kids are, too."

Then there is the matter of mindset.

"I have been blessed with a gift of talent that has lasted," Boone said. "I recognize it as a gift. I don't analyze it. I wring it out. I get everything I can out of myself. If I do that, I'm satisfied. Otherwise, I'm cheating

'I don't think of it as determination. It's more of an obligation to get whatever talent God gives you and take it to the max, to go as long as you can. Then it's done. Not doing that would be wrong."

So, at age 42, Bob Boone is still catching, after all these years.

"The amazing thing is it doesn't amaze you if you see what he goes through," Manager John Wathan said. "Last year, he led our club in hitting with runners in scoring

See? Boone told you he had learned how to hit. "Can I hit? Damn right, I can," he said, "I believe I know what it takes, Eight years ago, I didn't know what I know now. I was 34 years old and I didn't know anything. Now I know so much more. And all the things I know make me realize that I know Royals catcher Bob Boone couldn't tag out this runner, but he has tagged out his share, catching in more games than any other catcher in Major League history. Boone, 42, continues to improve with age, winning his seventh Gold Glove last season. He hit .271 last year.

very little."

That, Boone said, is one of the beauties of baseball. Just when you think you're getting the game down, you realize you've only begun to scratch the surface.

"That's what makes the game so fascinating." he said. "My love for it grows.

'A catcher lives through the pitcher, figuring out combinations of pitches. How does this batter hit? What's he thinking? What's he looking for? How can I defeat

It is a mind game, a battle of wits, the perfect job, it would seem, for a man like Boone, equipped with a psychology degree from Stanford. He laughed at that.

"Psychology is like baseball," he said. "Now that I know a little about it, I know that I know nothing about

The original plan for Boone was medical school. He grew up as a baseball brat, the son of ex-major league infielder Ray Boone.

"I had the greatest childhood imaginable," Boone said. "I loved being around the game, shagging in the outfield."

He completed the psych major at Stanford as well as his pre-med requirements. "I took the boards," he said. "And then I got a little sidetracked - 21 years worth."

Boone was drafted as an infielder by Philadelphia in 1969 and converted to a catcher — the opposite switch that his father made years before. His thinking was to play for a while - not two decades and longer than any other catcher in

"I'm a now person," he said. "I never thought about the future. I thought I was good enough to play, but I never thought I'd play this

There were nine years with the Phillies and seven more in California, and then in 1988, Bob Boone celebrated his 41st birthday by signing with Kansas City. The event jolted the Royals' catcher in waiting, 25-year-old Mike Macfarlane.

"I was surprised when they signed him," Macfarlane said. "I looked at myself as the starting catcher. I hoped he'd show up with a pot belly. There wasn't an ounce of fat on him. He's as solid as a rock."

For the Royals, it was a chance to have their young catcher tutored by an old pro. "It was a fantastic opportunity," Macfarlane said, "more than I expected it would be. He was like a professor with a class of one

"He's like a sponge full of water with so much knowledge and information that he shared with me. We'd sit together on planes, on the bench, everywhere. I'd ask him why he did this or that on a certain batter. He'd question me about pitch selection. I felt like I picked up something every day.

"Those are the things you have to learn. How to set up a hitter. How to use a pitcher's strength against a hitter's weakness. It paid off. He said he saw a 180-degree turn with me. He made me more confident behind home plate."

■ See BOONE, Page 10

Wildcat netters edge OU

Staff and Wire Reports NORMAN, Okla. - The K-

State women's tennis squad pulled off a victory over Oklahoma for the second-straight year Monday, and for only the second time in the history of the program.

The 5-4 verdict was the identical score to K-State's only other victory against the Sooners last year in Manhattan. "We got off to one of the best starts we've had all year," K-State coach Steve Bietau said. "We got ahead in five of our first six matches and went on to win four of them."

Maybe the biggest victory of the day for K-State came at No. 5 singles. K-State's Thresa Burcham was facing a most formidable opponent in Shea Heatherington, who had only lost two matches entering the weekend.

Burcham, however, used an aggressive attack to overcome Heatherington in straight sets,

6-4 and 6-3. "I played pretty well," Burcham said. "I took more of an aggressive role today."

RESULTS

Singles
No. 1 Stacey Bullman OU def. Marijke
Nel, 7-5 and 6-3; No. 2 Helen Schild-knecht KS def. Bernadette Brennan, 6-3 and 6-1; No. 3 Sara Hancock KS def. Diane Athey, 6-4 and 6-3; No. 4 Debby Ridgley OU def. Valerie Rive, 1-6, 6-4 and 6-2; No. 5 Thresa Burcham KS def. ne Sim KS def. Pam Ridgley, 6-2

Doubles
No. 1 Bullman-Athey OU def.
Schildknecht-Hancock, 6-2 and 6-1; No.
2 Not-Rive KS def. Ridgley-Ridgley, 7-8 (7-3) and 6-4; No. 3 Heatherington-Brennan OU def. Burcham-Sim, 6-4 and

It's time for Major League Baseball predictions

Chris Hays

IT'S JUST MADNESS

Baseball is still here, the majority of the fans didn't boycott games opening day, and now it's time to make those annual predictions.

We can start it off by figuring out the easy ones - that is, who won't win it all.

In the American League, you might as well write off the Brewers (County Stadium has almost become a retirement home for old ballplayers), the Mariners (their ship's been sinking since they joined the league), the Twins (pitching in the "Homer Dome" can prove to be quite disgruntling), the Rangers (Nolan Ryan (there's no depth, and Trammell and Whitaker have seen better days). That's almost a lock, if you discount some kind of miracle.

In the National League, the Braves' name is fitting because that's all they do - brave the storm. Then come the Astros (there's no pitching to help Mike Scott and Jim Deshaies), the Cardinals (Don Denkinger has hexed the Cards), the Phillies (everyone knows the fans just go to watch the Fanatic), and the Expos (they can't win the big ones). No way these teams will pull it off.

Now let's whittle down the rest of

The American League East will go to the Boston Red Sox. With the addition of Tony Pena at catcher and Jeff Reardon in the bullpen, the Bosox look to have filled some holes in an otherwise solid lineup.

With a lineup that includes Mike Greenwell, Ellis Burks, Dwight can't do everything), and the Tigers Evans and Wade Boggs, one would think the Red Sox should be the team to beat in the East every year, but this season they will have everybody else's number - especially the

> The Yankees have no pitching, but they do have personality with Pascual Perez, over from Montreal. Favored Toronto won't win it because they have Montreal Disease, while Baltimore's trip through La La Land last season was a fluke in the greatest sense of the word. In the AL West, the Royals should breeze through the regular season with the acquisitions they made during the off season. But should they not get timely hitting to back up the solid pitching corps, watch out for the Bash Boys from the Bay.

The Angels need more hitting to go along with a beefed up pitching staff, and the White Sox appear to have started in the direction of becoming a contender, but they will need more experience than Carlton Final Four - Kansas City, Boston,

Fisk can give them. The National League is easy — a repeat of the 1984 championship series between the Padres and the Cubs.

Joe Carter's trade to San Diego and Fred Lynn's signing will bolster the Pad's lineup that already includes Jack Clark and Tony Gwynn. Gwynn is going for his fourth-straight NL batting title. The last person to do that was Rogers Hornsby in the 1920s.

That's how the West will be won, while the Dodgers will barely score as many runs as they did last year a category in which they finished last in the league. San Francisco will feel the brunt of a much-improved division, and Cincinnati will falter after its fast start under new manager Lou Piniella.

Chicago will take the NL East again, while the Pirates may challenge until folding late. The Mets have too much inner strife.

Chicago Cubs and San Diego. The Cubs will finally make the World Series again for the first time since the turn of the millenium, and the Royals are due for their once-every-fiveyears venture to the Big Party.

The World Champion? Well it won't be the Cubs - Harry Caray would fall out of the press box after going into cardiac arrest - so it looks like the Royals. Talk about going out on a limb.

And if you figure on paying much attention to this, you may want to recall a previous prediction column that ran Nov. 3.

I think maybe the prediction that the Portland Trail Blazers would watch the playoffs was a tad wrong.

If my memory doesn't fail me, I think that column had the Golden

State Warriors in the NBA finals against the Detroit Pistons. Oh well, So there you have it, the baseball one out of two ain't bad.

By The Associated Press NEW YORK - If the chance comes up this season, make sure to catch Nolan Ryan's victory tour. Ryan is on the road to 300 career wins and he stopped at Yankee Stadium over the weekend to pick up

No. 291. After a homestand in Arlington, his next stops are Kansas City, Chicago and Cleveland. Watching Nolan Ryan pitch a baseball game is like going to a museum to see a Van Gogh, or to the concert hall to hear a Mozart symphony. First, Ryan catches your senses and then your breath. When Ryan is on the mound, history is right there with him.

He has pitched in four decades, and each of his 42 major-league records seem to have a story to tell. The 43-year-old Ryan has pitched a record five no-hitters, yet none may have been his best game. "I still think one of the best games I ever pitched was against Boston,"

Ryan said. "I retired the last 26 hitters in a row.

"I led the game off with a walk, struck somebody out, and then Carl Yastrzemski hit a ground ball through the hole between short and

Ryan drops names like Yastrzemski, Reggie Jackson, Hank Aaron and Willie Mays like friends trying to get together a pickup game in Central Park.

He has struck out 44 MVP winners and 19 Hall of Famers with more to

Ryan has also fanned Bobby and Barry Bonds and Ken Griffey and Ken Jr. He also struck out brothers Jesus, Felipe and Matty Alou.

dium prior to Saturday was July 25, 1979, and that had a story, too. "I hurt myself in the first inning," Ryan recalled, "I struck out two and

Ryan's marquee numbers are

His last appearance at Yankee Stahurt my elbow on a pitch to Reggie Jackson and that was my last pitch."

easy. He is the all-time strikeout leader with 5,084 and nine wins short of the magic 300 mark. Next on the strikeout list is Steve Carlton with 4,136.

To put it in perspective, for a pitcher starting out to reach Ryan's totals he would have to average 20 wins and 339 strikeouts for 15

Like Van Gogh and Mozart, Ryan had flaws in his youth, too.

The word of Ryan's 99-mph heat hit in 1966 when he struck out 272 batters in 183 innings while going 17-2 for Greenville, a New York Mets farm club.

But he couldn't find his control with the Mets, walking 344 in 510 innings over parts of five seasons, and kept putting his blistered fingers in pickle brine. But Ryan did save a game in the 1969 World Series against Baltimore, his only championship ring.

SPORTS BRIEFLY

Olympians win marathon

BOSTON - Olympic champions Gelindo Bordin and Rosa Mota both made history Monday by becoming Boston Marathon

Bordin won the men's marathon, becoming the first Italian and first Olympic champion to accomplish the feat. Mota, of Portgual, ran away with the women's race for her record-setting third Boston Marathon victory.

Indians defeat Royals, 6-3

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Cory Snyder hit three doubles and the Cleveland Indians knocked out Mark Gubicza in a four-run second inning Monday night en route to a rain-delayed 6-3 victory over the Kansas City Royals. Ten of the first 14 Cleveland batters reached base against Gubicza (1-1), who was charged with six hits and six earned runs in 1 1-3 innings.

Lacrosse team downs WSU

The K-State lacrosse team downed Wichita State in Wichita

Saturday by a score of 10-1. Two K-State players pulled off hat tricks. Stuart Robson and Jim Meskill had three goals apiece, while Don Tillar and Brandon Aslin each scored two goals.

Announcements

- A BEAUTIFUL new look with Mary Kay Cosmetics. Janet Milliken, 539-9469.
- ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.
- COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193.
- SUMMER WORK-Make $5,000. Travel, build resume. gain experience. Call 537-8813

AMHERST SELF STORAGE

**SUMMER SPECIAL**

Mid-May through Mid-August 5 X 5 $70 prepaid 5 X 10 $100 prepaid

Sign up before May 15th for this GREAT OFFER!! No deposit required

Larger sizes also available

2700 Amherst West Manhattan off Seth Childs Road 776-3888

PERSONAL COMPUTERS Authorized Warranty Service

PC compatibles & printers ·Televisions & VCRs BIG Screen TV Rental

MIDWEST SERVICES 624 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Auto Insurance too high? We have excellent rates, free quotes. Call Tim Engle 537-4661.

MANHATTAN LIBRARY ANNUAL BOOK SALE

April 21, 8 a.m.-2 p.m. at American Legion 114 McCall Road

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom furnished, close to campus, month to month lease until Aug. 1, then year lease required. 776-1340.

FOUR-BEDROOM, GROUND level; three-bedroom, basement. $560 and $360 plus each person pays one-seventh utilities. Close to campus

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, central air, dishwasher. No pets. Deposit required. 318 Fremont. $375, 539-1465.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO in complex, 1219 Claffin. Next to campus. $275 plus electric plus deposit August, June lease. No pets. 537-1180.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Spacious two bedroom, furnished. Close to campus. $360. Call 537-8816. TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, nice, large, close to campus. June or August. 537-4648.

SUNSET APTS.

Furnished one bedrooms available for June or August leasing.

$280-295

*Central air/Gas heat

*Laundry facilities *West edge of KSU

Call for more information

776-3804 539-5051 after 5:30

McCullough Development 2700 Amhorst (913) 776-3804

CHALLENGE YOURSELF.

Tackle the Flint Hills. Ride in Manhattan's first annual historical bicycle tour. 13, 30 or 66 miles.

SATURDAY, MAY 5

Receive sag stop food, MLT waterbottle, tour maps, and pre-ride workshops to prepare you for the tour.

$15 per individual $12 per family member

For more information or a tour brochure call 539-8763.

Buy One Get One For 99¢

620 N. Manhattan St 537-8700

Buy any 12 inch sandwich & a medium drink and receive a second 12 inch sandwich of equal or lesser value for 99¢ with this ad. Expires 4/30/90

Need Money?

MANHATTAN FEDERAL Savings and Loan Association

See Manhattan Federal Savings & Loan

for all your student needs! Let Nancy Hammerschmidt in the Student Loan Department help you make the right choice by assisting you with a Student oan from Manhattan Federal Savings. The professional staff are also your local expens for all fina cal needs!

800 Poyntz Lender Code 820334 Manhattan, Kansas 66502

NEAR KSU. Two-bedroom basement apartment at 312 N. 15th. Water, trash, heat paid. Laundry facilities lease or rent. Perfect location. Call 776-0941.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

- 814 THURSTON, basement two-bedroom, gas/ water included. June lease. No pets. $375/ month.
- 814 THURSTON, studio, gas/ water included. June lease, no pets. $235/ month. 539-5136.
- AUGUST— DECEMBER, male roommate wanted. Non-smoking, studious. Preferably engineer. 776-1377.
- FOUR-BEDROOM, 1½ bathroom. Two blocks from campus. Off-street parking. Available June or August. 539-1920. LARGE ONE-BEDROOM, campus location. Coin-operated washer and dryer. No pets. Deposit
- required. $280, 539-1465. ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO, 1019 Houston, available June 1, utilities paid, $260 per month. Near City Park. (417)831-6601.

WILDCAT INNS

Now leasing unfurnished one bedrooms for June or August.

1854-1858 Claflin $310-330 1803-07 College Hts. $325-340 $325-340 925-27 Denison 411-415 N. 17th $325-340

Call today for best selection!

776-3804

1129 Moro

776-5577

rime Time

Special

3-10 in. Pizzas

°10.00

1—Topping

4-Cokes

McCullough Development 2700 Amherst (913) 776-3804

ONE-BEDROOM, CLEAN, carpeted, central air, no pets. $265 year lease, $280 six-month lease, $295

PRE-LEASING FOR June and August, one and two bedroom. Close to campus. 776-8381.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

- AVAILABLE JUNE or August. 10 or 12 month leases.
- AVAILABLE MAY, June, July and August. One-bedroom, $240-$280. No pets. Lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423.
- LARGE TWO-bedrooms. Leases available now and next August. Furnished and unfurnished. Phone 537-9064 daily.
- QUIET CLEAN efficiency. 1131 Vattier, one block from campus. $150/ month, June to August. Utilities paid except electricity. Call Professor McGuire.
- TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, water, trash, gas paid. One block from campus. $300/ deposit. 539-6578.
- TWO-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, appliances, off-street parking, $365, available June 7. Call Cinda at 537-8420 evening.

Automobile for Sale

- 1973 'CUDA. 340, automatic transmission, air cond tioning, runs good, body good. Best offer. 539-6578.
- 1978 ALFA Romaeo convertible for sale. Red, with new top, new tires and great stereo with cassette and equalizer. $3,750. Call John 1-456-7050.
- 1978 PONTIAC Grand Prix. Good condition, rebuilt engine, $1,800. 776-1964.
- 1981 VW Rabbit. Excellent engine, interior, exterior, tires, stereo, etc. 44 mpg. Great school carl Call
- 1982 CHEV S-10, V6, four-speed, 3/4 ton, air conditioning, with shell, 100,000 miles, looks great, runs
- oreat, 776-9831 ATTENTION- GOVERNMENT-seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. A-1797.

6 Child Care

NANNIES- YEAR-LONG child care position. East Coast. Airfare, good salary, benefits. Screened families. Fun group activities. Princeton Nanny, 301 N. Harrison St. #416, Princeton, NJ 08540.

Hair Design and Body Toning

Haircut with style or Perm with cut or Hair color

Ask for Frank, Bobby or Mimi

Expires May 30th

Everyday

Two-Fers

2-10 in. pizzas

$8.00

2—Toppings

2-Cokos

LAWRENCE

Private Parking in Rear

"NO COUPON SPECIALS

FAST N FREE DELIVERY

MUSEUM TOURS

VISIT THE

MULVANE, SPENCER

NELSON GALLERIES

KANSAS CITY

A MUST SEE EXPERIENCE!

PAINTINGS CONSIDERED SHOCKING!

May 4... 8:00 am to 7:00 pm

Open to Students and Friends, $8.00

For reservations and information Call 532-6605

Stop by Art Building, Rm.105

mo mo omo omo omo omo

537-1332

NANNY OPPORTUNITES: San Francisco, one $150/ week; Southern California, newborn, $175/ week; Connecticut, infant, $180/ week; Boston, one girl, $160/ week; Virginia, two children, $225/ week Many positions available. One-year necessary. Call 1-800-937-NANI.

Computers

DISKETTES- 5% " HDs, 78e; 3% " DDSDs, 78e; 3% " HDs, $1.99. King Clone Computers, 1221 Moro.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employ-ment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

- ACT IN TV commercials. High pay. No experience. All ages—kids, teens, young adults, families, mature people, animals, etc. Call now! Charm Studios. 800-837-1700 Ext. 8702.
- APPLICATIONS ARE now being accepted for summ time waiters and waitresses. You'll help us serve (Manhattan's Taste of Mexico) at Raoul's Escondido. Apply in person. 215 Seth Childs Road.
- ATTENTION: EASY work, excellent pay! Assemble products at home. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. W-1797.
- ATTENTION: EARN money watching TVI $32,000/ year income potential. Details. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. BARTENDERS, PART-TIME for special functions for
- Bockers Two Catering Service. Apply in person at 2321 Skyview. Must be 21. Experience not CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swin canoeing, salling, waterskiing, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office,
- maintenance. Salary $900 or more plus R&B. Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. DESPERATELY NEED a person who is able to teach basic English to a German-speaking person for two - weeks in the summer, approximately four hours per day. Pay negotiable. Contact 1-784-4122 after DUDE RANCH in Colorado Mountains looking for summer help. Need wranglers, assistant cooks, waitress/ cabin people. Don K. Ranch, 2677 S.
- Siloam Road, Pueblo, CO 81005; 719-784-6600. EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 615-473-7440 Ext. B288.
- FAMILY WANTS college girl to live in for full school year non-smoker. Food and lodging in exchange for duties. Write: Box 2, Collegian, KSU, Manhattan, KS 66506.

- EXPERIENCED WAITERS and waitresses. Apply now at Hibachi Hut. Must be able to work lunch 11a.m.-2p.m. Apply in person
- FREE TRAVEL benefits! Airlines now hiring! All posis! $17,500- $58,240. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext.
- FREE TRAVEL benefits! Cruise ships and casinos now hiring! All positions! Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext.
- HANDYMAN NEEDED for summer months. Mostly
- carpentry and repair work. Must have basic tools. 537-1269.
- HARDEE'S WEST Anderson is now accepting applications for part-time employment for day, evening and weekends. Apply in person, 2p.m.-4p.m., Monday through Thursday
- HOTELI RESTAURANT majors, seniors— Have you made your career choice yet? Call 1-800-545-9706.
- KJCK IS currently seeking continuity writer for immediate opening. Must have ability to write and produce effective advertising copy for radio. Good organiza-tional skills and word processing experience helpful. Send resumes and script samples to David Wiese, P.O. Box 789, Junction City, KS 66441.
- LIFEGUARDS NEEDED for City of Westmoreland, 15 miles from Manhattan. Call Molly, 776-8927.
- NANNIES: CREATIVE, loving, responsible describe you? Be a nanny in Washington D.C. area. Excellent salary plus room and board, full-time and summer positions available. Will be in Manhattan, Tuesday April 24 for interview. Call (913)827-3044.
- Mom and ToTo Nanny Agency. NATIONAL MARKETING firm seeks part-time individual to manage on-campus promotion. Must have strong communication skills and be well organized.
- Call Amy or Jeanine at 1-800-592-2121 NEED SOMEONE with computer experience and bookkeeping knowledge to work Saturday 10-5 and Sunday 1-4. Send letter and resume to G.L. Anderson, 225 McCall Road, Manhattan.
- NEED TWO truck drivers for custom wheat harvest diesel, tandems, good pay, room and board. Maddy Harvesting (913)877-2094.
- ONE STUDENT needed right away for part-time yard work. $5 per hour. 537-1269.
- PART-TIME TEMPORARY help needed for inventory Saturday and Sunday mornings, April 28 and 29. Must be eligible to work off campus. Call Ruth at Varney's 539-0511 weekdays 9a.m.-5p.m.
- STUDENT TO do lawn care for apartment houses Mowing, raking, maintaining flower beds and ground cover areas. Horticultural or agricultural background helpful. Begin immediately. Part-time spring semester, summer and fall semester. Send resume and interest in job to Box 7, Collegian.
- SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. Over 5,000 openings National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

(Continued on page 9)

TONIGHT!

Bands Start Playing at 9 p.m. Sign up between 8-9 p.m. Check Out Your Favorite Local Bands

BAYSTREET

STYLE SHOP

BEAUTY SUPPLY

7181/2 N. Manhattan - 539-5512 We carry a large selection of professional products for hair, skin & nails at affordable prices.

Paul Mitchell • Redken • Sebastian Nexxus • Matrix • Aveda

Mon.-Fri. 8-6, Sat. 8-5

Oozeball returns to KSU for 2 days of filthy, dirty fun! APRIL 28 & 29

> Team entry forms and additional information available at Union Candy Counter, and the Hollis

Mud Volleyball Tournament

(Registration deadline April 20)

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT JOHNSON CO. KANSAS

Clerical Positions Light Industrial

File Clerks Typists Word Processors Data Entry Receptionists

Packers Assembly Warehouse General Labor Lawn Maintenance

*NO FEES*

913/491-0944

Temporaries

Call collect for details & application

SUMMER WORK available at KSU Vegetable Research Farm, DeSoto (K.C. area), $4.50/ hour. Must have own transportation. Contact Dr. Charles Marr or Mrs. Elder at Horticulture, $32-6170 for application

SUMMER WORK— Find out why IBM, Procter and Gamble, Xerox, and several hundred corporations are interested in our summer program. Make $1,775 a month. Travel. Call 537-9169.

THE KSU Community Enrichment Swim Program needs Red Cross WSIs to teach swim classes during the summer from June 4 through July 27. Classes are Monday through Friday, 8:30-11:30a.m. and 3:30-6:30p.m. If interested, complete an application at 241 College Court Building, 1615 Anderson Ave.

WORK AND Play! Summer Fun! Cruise Ship Jobs! $300-$900 Weekly! No experience necessary. 1-800-727-3391.

Looking for Freshmen and Sophomores

work "3" months get paid "12", with Landshire, Inc. You work for great pay during the summer and receive weekly comission throughout your next school year. Find out more April 16 in Seaton Hall from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Interviews will be on April 17 in Holtz Hall from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Summer/Fall Employment. Work-study desired. Address research/tracing clerk. Person will locate KSU alumni by extensive use of the telephone and various other resources. Typing with a minimum of 45 words per minute and previous office experience helpful. Must have excellent verbal communication skills and initiative to work independently. Preference given to work-study student and under-class person who will work summer full-time and 1990-91 school year 15-20 hours. Apply in person. Alumni records, Hollis House 1408 Denison, 532-6260.

9 Food Specials

Hunam Restaurant Free Delivery 539-8888

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

WOHLER'S USED Furniture, 615 N. Third. Open 1p.m. to 5p.m. Saturday and Sunday; 6p.m. to 9p.m. Tuesday and Thursday evenings, or call 539-3119. Appliances, office furniture, antique and modern

12 Houses for Rent

AVAILABLE JUNE 1. Ground floor efficiency for one person in duplex located at 2055 Tecumse Private bath and entrance. $205 month plus ies. Lease and deposit. 539-3672 evenings

FOUR-BEDROOM, two bath, across from campus. $600, June 1. Call Cinda at 537-8420 evenings. FOUR-BEDROOM, 1½ bathroom, Two blocks from campus. Off-steet parking. Available June or Au-

By Bob Berry

Making the Grade

Ripple

By J. Hayden

Jim's Journal

Today I noticed Mr. Peterson clawing up the stereo speakers.

and said, "shoo! Shoo! Those are expensive speakers, you goofy little varmint!"

Calvin and Hobbes

YOU MUST BE

THE ONLY BOY

By Bill Watterson

AIR CILTER

By Jim Davis

Garfield

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

HERE .. IF YOU WEAR THIS

Collegian Advertising

Your ticket to success

ONE BEDROOM. Walk to KSU. Available as of June 1. $295. 539-1554.

14 Lost and Found

A SILVER bracelet lost Friday in AK 120 or on campus.

FOUND: PAIR of black and red leather driving gloves at Tuttle Creek Saturday night 4/7/90. 537-4615.

FOUND: WRISTWATCH in Exline Student Lounge, Seaton, Call 539-4711 to identify LOST: BLACK Lab neutered male. Lost Friday Aggiearea. Reward. 776-8417 or 539-8365

LOST: BLACK onyx ring with gold crest in Bushwacker's Thursday. Sentimental value. Reward. 539-2373.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

12x65 LIBERTY Mobile Home. Two-bedroom, one and one-half bath. Excellent condition. Call 537-2993 1970 12x60 trailer with two bedrooms. Located in North Crest. Call 776-7072.

1981 LOVE Mate travel trailer, 40' park model, front tipout, $4,500. Phone 776-1996, Monday- Thurs

1988 14x70 Schult mobile home with three bedrooms 1½ baths, 8x10-foot deck. Call 776-8477. BEATS RENT. Two-bedroom 12x50 in Redbud Estates

Payments less than $110/ month. Countryside Brokerage. 539-2325. TWO-BEDROOM, 10x60 trailer. Good condition. Great location. Low rent and utilities. Washer/ dryer storage. 776-5671.

18 Motocycles/Bicycles for Sale

1977 YAMAHA SX750, 21K, AM-FM stereo, helmet included. Good condition. $400 or best offer. 537-1655.

1982 HONDA 650C. New seat, battery, tire, 4-to-1 exhaust. $800. Roger, 537-1671 or 532-6008. 1983 NIGHTHAWK 550: Burgundy red/ chrome. 11K, excellent condition. Shaft driven. Full face matching helmet, cover, sport faring, tools, luggage net. $1,100 or best offer. 532-5490.

1986 HONDA Reflex, 200cc, 700 miles, excellent condition. $700 or best offer. Call 776-6722, leave

1986 KAWASAKI Ninja 600R. Low mileage, great condition. $2,800. Call 539-2688.

19-INCH FRONT street tire, $47; Enduro tires, 21-inch front, $29; 4.1x18, $37.95. Mounting, $7.50. Minor service repair. M-C Supply, 1221 Moro, in alley behind Hardee's.

KAWASAKI 440LTD, 7,500 miles. Runs great, $500 or best offer. 539-5830.

NINJA 1000R 86 with 9,700 miles. Black with red stripes, never wrecked. 776-3708, Galen.

20 Parties-n-more

NEED A DJ? Kick-ass sound system, light show. Cheap. Rock the house. Kevin, 776-7240.

21 Personals

CHI-O: Derby Days 90 we'll rise to the top, drinking and partying, we'll go till we drop. But when the smoke clears and all is said and done, The Chi Omegas will again be #1. Your coaches— Dave, Brian, John, HANDSY HANKY- Tonight might be just a date... but you just wait, the 28th will be great! I love you. Jen. JOTM— It was great while it lasted. I'm not sorry it happened. Still friends? SR.

JILL- HAPPY Birthday! Remember: Camping out. Partying in Topeka (past and future). Eating yogurt. Endless love stories. Puking in your shoes. And here's to ovens that work (hopefully). Best Friends Forever, Your Adopted Siste KENYON- HOW old are you? I'll save you the humiliation and not print your age. Have a great B-day! Love ya, Theresa. L.A.M.—HAPPY 91st and 6th. Hope yours is as great as mine. Love ya, M.J.C.

LISA AT Baystreet Friday night: Enjoyed the white jacket, dancing to KISS. Curious if I could see you again. If interested, reply in Personals. Brian.

WE ROCKED last year with peace and love; Just watch this year, we'll rise above; Chi-O coaches are Number One, we'll dance, sing and have great fun. We've got the spirit that's easy to see, simply because, We Are Family! Rock on! The Ch

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

FOR SALE: Extremely calm Ball python with complete set-up. $150 or best offer. Mary, 532-5368. FOR SALE: Two very large Red Tiger Oscars and one Jack Dempsey. Best offer. 776-0067.

Green Thumb Pets Tropical Fish & Aquariums Reptiles & Rabbits

1105 Waters 539-4751

23 Professional Services

COLEMAN AMERICAN can move you anywhere. 35% discount nationwide; 12% discount in-state. Call for overseas rates. Local rates for students $39.50 per hour, two-hour minimum. 537-7284.

CONFIDENTIAL PREGNANCY test. Same day results. For appointment call: Pregnancy Testing Center, 539-3338.

PERMS WITH cut, $25 to $30. Shampoo, cut, style, $10. Tanning, 10 for $18. 776-1330. PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy

WEDDING PHOTOGRAPHY that doesn't cost a for-

CONNECTION

Appointments available

·New bulbs

1126 Laramie

•14 tanning beds

Competitive prices

24 Resume/ Typing Service

CALL NOW! Resume Service offers 10 years experi ence in writing personalized resumes and cover letters. We provide permanent computer storage, typing of data sheets, and choice of laser- or letter-issertations, theses, etc. Call Deana at 776-4214.

quality printing. 343 Colorado St. 537-7294.

NEED WORD processing? Reports, proposals, re-sumes and more. Laser printing. Call 537-4146.

RESUME AND cover letters professionally completed to make an impression. One day service. F Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147.

WHEN YOU'RE serious about finding a job, come to the professionals. We'll design a quality resume tail-ored to fit your profession. Graphics Plus, 722 N. Manhattan, Aggieville, 539-6027.

WORD PROCESSING: College papers, resumes, let-ters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single. Quality Print. Betty, 539-6851, Claflin.

FEMALE ROOMMATE for furnished house near cam-

FEMALE WANTED to share spacious upstairs apart-ment May or August (May rent free). Prefer older

NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, own room, laun-

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share nice apartment one block from campus. $157.50 month, one-half utili-

ROOMMATES FOR 1990-1991 and/ or summer. One

ROOMMATE NEEDED for summer. Pool, whirlpool

5p.m. Monday- Thursday.

ville. 1-632-5211.

28 Sublease

776-3797.

537-7073.

26 Stereo Equipment

undergraduate or graduate student. Call Ann, leave message 537-2474.

dry area, pool. $180 plus one-half utilities. 539-7324. Summer through next year.

ties, washer, dryer, off-street parking, 776-0063 bedroom. Park Place Apartments. 776-2054 after laundry, by Westloop. Rent negotiable. 776-8927.

TO SHARE duplex, washer and dryer included. Rent plus utilities. Call Lori 776-9336.

WANTED: ONE non-smoking male student to complete sell. Asking $375. 539-7561. Ask for Alan.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

O'BRIEN TRC 66-inch slalom water ski, still in box

WINDSURFER— TWO sails, footstraps and car rack. Like new. 1-494-2775.

$125/ MONTH, per person, plus utilities, summer Two-bedroom apartment, furnished, by City Park

1st-CLASS APARTMENTS for June- July subleases

A LARGE two-bedroom apartment, balcony, two and one-half blocks east of campus, last half of May

A NICELY decorated one-bedroom apartment, one

APARTMENT TO sublease two and one-fourth blocks from campus, rent $150/ month, utilities included except electricity. Call 532-7212 daily, 537-4420 weekends 7-10a.m.

fourth block from campus. Sublease $245. New carpet. Available anytime. Call, leave message free, June and July. 537-1130.

Both one and two bedrooms, furnished or unfurn ished, decks available, great locations. Call the Curtin Companies at 776-1222.

$325. Atomic Kevlar 180 snow skis, Tyrolla bindings, boots, poles. Used once. Asking $500. Call Jon at 537-0845.

a three-bedroom basement apartment. $120 month plus one-seventh utilities. Close to Aggie

nth. 10-month lease. Deposit

25 Roommate Wanted

pus. $162.50 per mon 539-3886, 776-3066.

HOME TYPIST with reasonable rates. Will do fo tune. Call for information packet and portfolio

LARGE THREE-BEDROOM, June-July, Washer/dryer test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25. SUFFERING FROM abortion? Write: Hearts Restored Box 295, Colby, Kansas 67701. Confidential response will follow.

Rent $395/ negotiable. Call 537-2666 or leave LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, furnished. May-August.

AVAILABLE SUMMER- Two-bedroom, furnished three blocks from campus, central air. Must Rent! $399 negotiable. 537-3346.

FEMALE: ONE-THIRD of three-bedroom. Air conditioned, 1% baths, off-street parking. Available mid-May. $150 plus one-third utilities. 776-3024, GREAT APARTMENT, one or two roommates, own bedroom. 1207 Kearney. Water/ trash paid. One-third utilities. $120 (negotiable). 539-8322. One-half block from campus. close to Aggieville.

JUNE-JULY SUBLEASE- Available mid-May, very nice, own room, one and one-half bath, across from campus. Rent definitely negotiable. Ask for Rita, 537-1027.

MUST SUBLEASE: June and July. Nice two-bedroom pool. $250. 537-3723.

MUST SUBLEASE: June and July. Next to campus. Three-bedroom. $350. 537-3723. NICE FOUR-BEDROOM apartment close to campus/ Aggieville. Low monthly bills. Price negotiable. Call 537-2594. Leave message.

NICE, SPACIOUS three-bedroom to sublease for sum mer. Close to campus and Aggieville. 537-7094. ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Next to campus. Two balconies. May 20 to Aug. 20, 776-7585. ONE BEDROOM, double occupancy possible, furnished, waterbed, next to Ahearn, central air. $200 month. 537-1637.

SUBLEASE- JUNE and July. Three-bedroom apartment. $125 per person. Walk to campus and Aggieville. 539-8566.

SUBLEASE— TWO blocks from campus/ Aggieville Nice two-bedroom apartment. Available May 17 537-8674.

SUBLEASE- NICE two-bedroom apartment for three to four people. One block from campus. Washer, dryer, dishwasher. $450 month. 539-4784. SUMMER- ATTRACTIVE furnished two-bedroom

Central air, dishwasher, deck, fireplace. Great for three. Price negotiable. 537-1623. SUMMER- AVAILABLE June 1. Two-bedroom, furn ished. Close to Aggieville, park. $250/ month.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Nice, spacious two-bedroom Water and trash paid. $375. Call apartment. 776-6498.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Two-bedroom furnished Water/ trash paid. Available June 1. $250/ month or negotiable. 532-3124.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- Four-bedroom, close to Ad gieville and campus, balcony rent negotiable 539-3003.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: One free keg! Spacious living room, pool, close to campus. Three-bedroom. $450. 776-7428. SUMMER SUBLEASE- $128, own room, very nice close to campus. Available mid-May if want 776-7638, leave message. SUMMER SUBLEASE-June 1-July 31 and/ or lease available through Aug. 1, 1991. Furnished, one large bedroom, excellent condition, private balcony across from Ford Hall. Perfect for one to three

Price negotiable. Call 776-0715, best between 5:30-7p.m. SUMMER SUBLEASE— Two bedroom, available June 1- July 31. Partially furnished, central air, dishwasher, built-in desks in both bedrooms, bar in kitchen, Located at 1026 Osage #11, east of City Park. $300/ month plus electricity, call 539-5368. SUMMER SUBLEASE- 1722 Laramie #10. Large one-bedroom, two balconies, very nice, partially turnished. $325. Call 537-6851.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— Close to campus, balcony, two-bedroom. Rent negotiable. 776-7034.

THREE-BEDROOM, two bath available May- August in Aggleville. Very nice apartment, 776-4760. THREE-BEDROOM, two full baths, one-half block west of campus; dishwasher. Dates/ rent negotiable. 776-7945.

TO SUBLEASE: Three-bedroom apartment, very close to Agginville and campus. Call 539-1565. 1200

TWO-BEDROOM, LARGE, furnished apartment subleased for mid-May to August, next to Aggieville/ campus, $250/ month. 537-0711.

TWO-BEDROOM, $260/ month for June and July. Two blocks from campus/ Aggieville. Call 776-2490 or 537-4697 after 5p.m.

TWO-MINUTE WALK to Durland. June 1 to July 31

32 Wanted to Buy or Sell

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER for sale: Sharp PA-1050. Battery or AC powered, two font types, 16,000-character memory expansion card, spell corrector and many other features. Excellent condi-tion. $225. Talk to Jeff at 539-3307 or leave message.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS- G.I. boots, sleeping bags, wool clothing for mountain campers, back-packs, tents, wet weather gear, camo clothing, much morel St. Marys Surplus Sales. St. Marys, KS. 1-437-2734

SEVEN-MONTH OLD twin waterbed, $140 or best offer 537-0270 after 5:30p.m.

33 Storage

ATTENTION: ALL faculty, staff, students. Storage rates for summer. $50 per 1,000 pounds at Coleman American. 537-7284.

STUDENTS: STORE your furniture this summer at Knox Lane Storage. Receive 10 percent discount and free use of a lock. Call 776-9124.

34 Rooms for Rent

FEMALES: ROOMS for rent. Close to campus. Ava able summer and tall. 539-8608.

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS 35 "A - of 53 Film 1 Form fuzz Two on fabric Cities' DOWN 5 Classified 36 Work as a cowboy 37 Hurled 38 Emperor > of Japan, once 41 Vast amount 42 Ancient country

Cornwall 43 Buried 17 Two- explosive (dance) 48 Columnist 18 Mauna Barrett 19 Empties 49 "Live and Let - " the pool 21 Tendon 50 England's items

event

12 Scotto's

solo

14 Involved with

15 Cape in lager 25 God of 31 Goddess

of agri-

13 Creek

8 Track

52 Anger love 26 Prominent feature in a region 30 Word in Latin I culture 32 Fight or fire lead-in 33 He gets dollars for quarters

locales 1 Buddy

2 Nest egg 23 Time for acct. 3 - Yutang 24 Vermont 4 Soup servers 5 One type of rug 6 Gunga 7 Made unhappy

8 Strip of weapons 9 Against 10 Tommy's gun? Anthony 11 School dances 37 Actor members? 16 Farm breeder Solution time: 24 mins chosen name 39 Wood or stone lead-in 40 German 44 It might be fresh 45 Ending

20 Cincinnati team 21 Zoo star 22 " - la Douce" lunch city 26 King of Belgium 27 Culture medium 28 Govern 29 "If You - Susie 31 Dolt

34 Theater 35 London's Danson 38 Naomi's

RUFVTSE

DHAATO ALLOTSE Yesterday's Cryptoquip: MOVIE ABOUT MOD-ERN WEREWOLVES OUGHT TO BE A HOWLING

Today's Cryptoquip clue: A equals M

NFTAYLZD IZL philosopher 41 Dagger

SUCCESS.

for ox 46 Becker's barrier

river

47 Naval off

Global

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

ing from the European Community. Laurnes Jan Brinkhorst, directorgeneral for the environment of the European Community's Council of Ministers, and Padraig Flynn, environmental minister of Ireland, said there was an "urgent need for an effective response policy" while additional research is under way.

Senior administration officials have reiterated in recent days that Bush will offer no new policy proposals to curb the manmade pollution that scientists agree is causing the earth to warm.

Bush, in remarks that will open the conference, was expected instead to focus on the need for additional research to resolve both scientific uncertainties about global warming and establish clearer estimates on economic costs.

The conference, which is being held just days before Sunday's celebration of Earth Day, fulfills a campaign promise Bush made to hold an international conference on global warming early in his presidency.

Representatives to the meeting are senior cabinet-level advisers on economics, science and the environment from 17 nations, including the European community, Japan and Brazil.

Tryptophan CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

amounts of L-Tryptophan from its shelves in response to the latest recall, she said.

The store will refund all products bought at the store containing L-Tryptophan, Jones said. The FDA never approved L-Trytophan as either a sleep aid or to relieve menstrual cramps, Pyles said. "Claims are made for these products that have never been proven, and people use them on that basis,"

Grunewald said instead of using these home cures, people with sleep disorders or women with severe menstrual cramps should see a doctor to ensure these are not symptoms of greater problems. Also, the home cures could be harmful, she said.

"People took L-Tryptophan for years before these cases started to occur," she said.

Tax Day

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 changes in the military structure to go along with changes in the environment."

Total Kansas tax dollars spent for the military during the past eight years have increased by 29 percent, to $4.4 billion. Kansans paid almost $3 billion for the military in 1987, an increase of 47 percent over 1980, according to a pamphlet provided by the rally's participants.

"We are disgusted that nuclear weapons are being built with our money," said Dorothy Friesen, Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship. "War and violence do not work to end conflicts on Earth."

According to information issued by the Manhattan/Riley County National Priorities Project, Riley County received $2.46 million less in real dollars in federal discretionary social program monies in 1987 than it did in 1980.

Riley County's annual contribution in taxes for military spending rose 50 percent in the past eight years. Riley County's contribution to military spending in fiscal year 1988 was $60 million.

The average Manhattan household made about $27,000 last year, and paid about $2,700 in federal income taxes. The majority of this money went towards the military, the reports

"We need to look at how we are prioritizing our budget needs," said state Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan. "We hope some of the peace dividend can come back to help Kansas with such things as education." K-State enrollment in 1988 was 3 percent lower than it had been in 1981. But of the four major sources of federal student aid, only Pell Grants increased, by 8 percent. Supplemental Education Opportunity Grants decreased more than 20 percent, Armed Forces and Veterans Benefits dropped almost 60 percent and College Work-Study dropped about 45 percent.

Recent federal budget changes affected Riley County in other areas such as Medicare, food and housing.

Representatives of the participating organizations, including one child, gave statements explaining their interest in reducing the military

"When I grow up, I want to help the planet," said Aliah Seay, 9-yearold daughter of Karen and David Seay. "My grandma has told me things about war and I'm scared of war. Protestors planned to distribute literature, until midnight Monday, to those entering the post office to mail tax returns, outlining the financial costs of the military budget to the nation and the state of Kansas.

Bush advisers said they hoped the conference would, for the first time, give equal weight to economic and environmental issues related to global warming and "ensure the economics will be injected ... into all future international forums" on the

"We hope it will raise the level of debate ... on the science and economics of global change," said Michael Boskin, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers and one of the conference co-chairmen.

A number of European countries, including the Netherlands and West Germany, have advocated that industrial nations commit to a stabilization of carbon dioxide emissions by 2000 through a variety of programs reducing energy needs.

Carbon dioxide, which is produced in the burning of fossil fuels, is responsible for about half the green-

Compost

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 smelling. The temperature should be completed cooled, and at least three species of arthropods should be living in the pile, Campbell said. One to two inches of compost should be worked into the top four inches of soil, she said. The compost needs to be fresh in order to minimize nitrogen loss.

Dave Wenger, a member of the class, said he didn't take the class to simply get garden fertilizer. "A lot of people take their yard waste out to the dump, and I wanted to find a better use for it. Composting is a good way to recycle waste," Wenger said.

house pollutants.

Environmentalists have argued that a wide range of actions could be taken to conserve energy and reduce greenhouse pollutants by requiring the manufacture of more fuelefficient cars and promoting energy savings in other ways in homes and

The Sierra Club, which has more than 500,000 members, will take that message to the public with a series of public service ads featuring actors such as William Shatner, John Ritter and Jane Alexander.

The Bush administration has maintained that while there is widespread agreement that manmade pollutants are causing the earth to warm, it's not clear how severe the problem will be to warrant pollution controls that could have widespread economic impact.

Recycle

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 of cans and paper and we can finally get rid of it.'

Schwartz said the project might motivate the fraternity to continue

Witmer said about half of K-State's fraternities and sororities and a majority of the residence halls have responded about participating.

"It's difficult to know about offcampus students because they are scattered so far," she said.

The group has publicized the event through posters, radio and newspaper advertisments.

"We hope students will recycle this Saturday and continue to do so," Witmer said.

Rehire

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The only formal input a hall director has from residents on the performance of staff members are staff evaluations, which are handed out during the fall semester.

Dunn and Heitschmidt said they think these evaluations are too early in the year for students new to the hall to make qualified observation of the staff member. Also, there is not full participation in the evaluating process because few people return the evaluations, they said.

Heitschmidt said only eight to 10 evaluations out of about 70 from his floor were turned in this year.

The evaluations were done in the middle to last of October, two months into the school year," he said. "Not all of the new residents knew what was going on, but the (evalua-

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

nature is to be subdued or ignored, the desire to eliminate drudgery and the love of technology for its own sake - have made agriculture serve as tool to the expansion of industry.

inability to do without things once possessed, a stubborn tendency to make something out of a failed cause, the inability of people to see themselves in a changed world and the fact they are all working on something they don't want to see destroyed — interfere with the ability to change the agriculture and the economic system it serves, Jackson said.

Four more characteristics - the Order

tions) I got were average."

Heitschmidt said he hopes that if nothing else, maybe the rehiring and re-evaluation process will be given a second look.

There are a lot of positive things that can come out of this, whether I'm rehired or not," he said.

Werring said he met Monday afternoon with Haden and Rosanne Proite, assistant director of housing, to discuss the situation.

Heitschmidt said after the meeting, Haden gave him an appeal application, but he wasn't sure if he was going to submit it.

He said he wanted to talk to Proite and Werring before filling out the form in order to make sure it was in the best interest of the students on the floor and in the hall for him to be on staff again.

Heitschmidt has applied for graduate school next fall and he also has some job offers.

Jackson advocates a small-scale, "mill-around" economic system.

> "We need to find a way to stay amused, cheap," he said.

Agriculture needs to be part of a larger sustainable economic system that is not based on the cleverness of human knowledge, but on the wisdom of nature, Jackson said.

This is the system Jackson is researching at the Land Institute near Salina. He is attempting to develop crop patterns that follow the polycultural perennial growing habitat of the natural prairie and not the monocultural annual fields of traditional agriculture.

Between Ray Boone and Bob Boone, a member of this family has been in the majors for at least part of every have in life."

Boone

big leagues."

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

Boone said he sees nothing special

"We as players, maybe as people, about what he did with Macfarlane.

have an obligation to share the experience, to help those who are coming behind us," he said. "It's natural. It's not a moral judgment. It's what I'm all about. It's a responsibility we all

Boone is his son, Bret, a middle infielder who is in his junior year at

USC. The youngster was drafted in a low round out of high school by Minnesota but chose college instead.

said. "He has a chance to play in the

"He's matured a lot," Bob Boone

It would be a natural progression.

One of those coming along behind accade since the 1940s. Would Bob stick around long enough to play in the bigs with Bret? The old catcher smiled at the question. "Intellectually, I say there's no chance," he said. "That's what I tell you. That would make me 46. I take one day at a time, one year at a time. "I'd like to play when Bret is because it would mean two things. One, that my son attained a goal he wants and two, that I played as long as I possibly could. "I'll tell you this. I don't feel any differently today than I did when I was 26, other than I'm in better condition.'

And, oh yes, he's learned to hit now, too.

© 1990 AT&T

IMPROVE COMMUNICATION SKILLS.

An ATET Card helps you communicate better, because you can use it to call from all kinds of places. Like a friend's, or a pay phone, or out on the road. You don't even need to have a phone in your name to get one. And every month you get an itemized bill stating where and when you used the card. To apply for the ATET Card, call us at 1800 525-7955, Ext. 630.

Now, if only it were that easy to improve your grade point average.

Volume 96, Number 135

Kremlin limits gas, threatens oil supply

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW - The Soviet government said it was tightening the tap on Lithuania's natural gas supply Tuesday and may cut oil and gasoline to the republic for its refusal to rescind pro-indpendence laws, Lithuanian leaders said.

There was no immediate noticeable change in the amount of natural gas used to heat homes and fuel kitchens in Lithuania. But word that supplies were being cut caused concern among Lithuanians, who flooded the Lithuanian government with phone calls.

Officials in Lithuania said they were told of the reduction in a telegram from the Soviet Union's gas network. There was no official announcement from Moscow.

President Mikhail Gorbachev on Friday gave Lithuania 48 hours to repeal several laws backing its March 11 declaration of independence. He said if Lithuania refused, the Kremlin would impose an embargo of goods that it exports for hard

Lithuania depends on Moscow for oil and gas, which are the Soviet Union's biggest earners of hard

A telegram sent to Lithuania's gas authority Tuesday said: "Implementing the orders of the government of the Soviet Union and those of the state gas concern ... supplies of natural gas to the Lithuanian Soviet Socialist Republic will be sharply reduced from the 17th of April."

The telegram was signed by an official named Mochernyuk, identified as the acting general director of the Soviet Union's western gas network.

the text of the telegram was broadcast on official Lithuanian radio, which was monitored by the British Broadcasting Corp. in London.

Western reporters have been barred from staying in Lithuania to report on the political crisis.

The telegram also was read to the Lithuanian Supreme Council legislature Tuesday by speaker Alexandras Abisalas. Lawmakers were meeting to discuss a response to Gorbachev's ultimatum.

Opening the discussion, Lithuanian President Vytautas Landsbergis called the republic's decisions "irreversible," the Tass news agency

"Lithuania will search for a dialogue by all possible means, through various channels," Tass quoted Landsbergis said.

Teresa Juodenienie, a secretary for Premier Kazimiera Prunskiene, said in a telephone interview the Lithuanian government had received no official notification about a cut in natural gas, leaving officials wondering if the message was just another effort to put pressure on the Baltic republic.

But it apparently was having an effect on Lithuanian consumers. After the announcement in the legislature, Juodenienie said the premier's office received many telephone calls from upset citizens.

Toxin suspected in injury

Construction crews excavate contaminated soil from an abandoned concrete production plant Tuesday east of Manhattan. County officials said the soil was contaminated by an underground storage tank.

County clean-up continues of soil contaminated by fuel

By Robert Short Special Projects Editor

Riley County officials believe fumes from soil contaminated with diesel fuel led to the April 6 hospitalization of a county worker during the removal of an underground stor-

The county highway worker was operating a bulldozer in the area of the buried tank before becoming ill and losing consciousness. He was later taken by co-workers to a Manhattan area hospital, said Dan Harden, Riley County engineer.

The area being excavated, which was the site of an abandoned concrete production plant, is located north of Kansas Highway 177 on the east side of the Kansas River.

The man was hospitalized for several days for tests to determine the cause of his illness, although Harden said he believes fumes from the pit caused him to become ill.

The underground tank, once used to store diesel fuel, was removed earlier this month as part of a county-sponsored clean-up of the area, Harden said. The man was overcome while removing fuelcontaminated soil from the pit that had contained the fuel tank.

The contamination was caused by over-filling the tank while it was in use, he said. The tank was empty when it was removed.

After the incident, the area was cordoned off by Del Petty, director of the Riley County Emergency Preparedness Department. Officials at the Kansas Department of Health and Environment were contacted and made a site assessment to determine the extent of the

The amount of soil contaminated has not yet been determined, Harden said.

"We had some dimensions suggested," he said. "If they encounter additional contamination at that point, they will continue. There is always the question of whether they are going deep enough."

Harden said the chemical xylene, a derivative of benzene, was discovered in the soil surrounding the tank. The chemical is considered poisonous to humans if inhaled.

"We have advised the homeowners of what we were finding," Harden said. "We suggested they have their wells tested.'

He said because the tank was above the ground water level, the possibility of contamination beyond the immeditate area is unlikely.

Petty said private construction firms were hired to continue the soil remediation in accordance with instructions outlined by the KDHE. That process includes removing the soil from the pit to allow it to aerate

Bayer Construction Company Inc. and Ray's Petroleum Equipment Inc. are helping with the clean-up of the area, Harden said. "We don't have the proper equipment," he said. Petty said tests were taken by drilling into the soil at four or five sites in an area about 30 feet in diameter. The area should be cleaned up within a few weeks, Harden said.

The future of the area is still uncertain because the ownership of the plot has not yet been established, Petty said. The plot was previously owned by the Rock Island Railroad.

The area may be used for a replacement bridge across the Kansas River. Other uses being discussed for the area include a park for residents of Fairmont Mobile Home

'The county's concern was getting the area cleaned up," Petty said. A grant from Housing and Urban Development helped fund the clean-up, Harden said.

Dawar Saeed, environmental ■ See WASTE, Page 9

Pest controls debated

Government determines agricultural pesticide regulations

By Bryan Ackley Science Reporter

The agriculture industry's dependency on pesticides is only one of several factors considered by the federal government in deciding how to regulate the use of chemical pest controls. Modern pesticide classification and regulation is largely the result of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act, which was passed by Congress in 1972.

The FIFRA essentially says all pesticides must be classified by the Environmental Protection Agency for either general use or restricted

Furthermore, the FIFRA says private or commercial pesticide applicators must be certified by the government as competent to use pesticides classified as restricted use, which typically pose the most potential threat to humans or the environment. Certification involves passing a written test. No certification or test is required, however, to purchase and use pesticides classified as general use, which typically pose only minimal threat to humans or the environment.

According to the EPA, more than 1,600 chemicals are registered with the federal government as active ingredients used in nearly 40,000 pesticide products in the United States.

In 1988, 5,057 products were registered for use in Kansas, of which nearly 300 were classified as ■ See PESTICIDE, Page 12

BSU: Racism issue not 'these people'

By David Frese Collegian Reporter

Members of the Black Student Union, during a meeting Tuesday in the K-State Union Big Eight Room, called on the student body to come together and recognize all races as one people.

After some heated discussion with about 10 members of Student Senate, BSU members questioned whether the more than 600 black students at K-State were adequately represented in the Senate.

During Senate's allocation debate for BSU last week, several senators questioned funding the group because its request had been turned in

"It's beyond me how this ever got misconstrued," said Amy Moats, business senator, who recommended the group not be funded. "What I said, I guess I didn't realize I said until I read it in the Collegian the next

BSU President-elect Theresa Canty said the entire allocations fiasco exemplifies the racism problem that exists on campus.

"With this problem of misinterpreting what Senate members said, you can see now there is a serious problem of communication between white and black students on this campus," Canty said. "That's why we need money, so we can get speakers

■ See BSU, Page 3

Students enrolling in classes had to wait in a line that passed from one end of the hall to the other Tuesday at the Enrollment Center in Willard Hall. Some students had to wait up to two hours to enroll.

Students crowd

By Bill Sier

One common sentiment resounded from the serpentine line at the Enrollment Center in Willard Hall Tuesday.

"This sucks." Called "the endless circle from hell" by one participant, the line began at the south end of the second floor hallway of Willard. It stretched and wrapped around itself like rolled-out modeling clay, making a complete circuit of the outside wall of the hallway. Upon returning to the south end, the line twisted back on itself into the enrollment center until the entire hallway was filled with a mass of bodies clutching purple and white forms. Sharon Hauck, supervisor of the Enrollment Center, said the center was operating at capacity.

"We have had 16 terminals running full bore since 8 this morning," Hauck said. "They (the operators) have been running them right through all day." Don Foster, University Registrar, said a change in the way enrollment dates were assigned may have contributed to an increase in the number of students in the earlier days of enrollment.

Foster said this year graduate students are not assigned a particular date to enroll. Instead, they can enroll at any time throughout the week. Seniors have now been assigned the highest priority in enrolling.

"Last year," he said, "we scheduled 5,000 students to enroll on the first day, but only 600 showed up." This year, Foster said, only 2,500 students were scheduled to enroll on the first day. But proportionately, more students enrolled on the first day this year than on the first day last year.

But the reason behind the lines failed to satisfy students enrolling Tuesday, some of whom waited up to two hours in line.

'There has to be a better way," said David Bellomo, junior in construction science.

"It's (Lon) Kruger's fault," said David Duerst, junior in marketing. "Are we going to have to start camping out to register now, too?"

One student was concerned with another phase of the problem.

"Are we going to get a break on parking tickets, since this is taking so long?" said Jason Brown, junior in political science and speech. "It's a joke that we have to pay money to put up with this."

Several students were turned away when the Enrollment Center closed at 4:45 p.m. Hauck said those who were present at closing time and received a stamped form will be given priority if they show up to enroll at 8 a.m. today.

BRIFFLY

World

Court upholds eviction orders

JERUSALEM (AP) — A Jerusalem District Court panel on Tuesday upheld an order to evict 150 Jewish settlers from the Arab Christian quarter of the Old City, fueling anti-Israeli protests.

The settlers immediately appealed the decision.

Several dozen Palestinian women and masked youths demonstrated inside the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, venerated as the site of Christ's burial and regarded by many as Christianity's holiest shrine.

Visiting pilgrims and tourists stared as 40 to 50 protesters waved Palestinian flags and chanted "PLO! PLO!" and "Israel no! Palestine yes!" inside the dark church.

It was the first time Arabs had staged a protest inside the church since the Palestinian uprising against Israeli occupation of the West Bank and Gaza Strip began 28 months ago.

Drivers commit many offenses

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Policemen with video cameras boarded a number of express buses Tuesday and discovered to their horror that some drivers committed an offense every five minutes.

The chief police officer of the state of Selangor, Nordin Idris, said after the experiment that some drivers passed other vehicles on bridges. Some of the more reckless drivers overtook six vehicles in a row, he said.

Nordin told reporters the buses were driven "aggressively and violently" without regard for the safety of passsengers or other motorists.

Nation

said.

Abernathy dies at age 64

ATLANTA (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, who created the civil rights movement with Martin Luther King Jr. but decades later enraged the slain leader's supporters by writing about his alleged infidelity, died Tuesday.

ing about his alleged infidelity, died Tuesday.

Abernathy, who had cradled the fallen King's bloodied head after he was struck down by a bullet in 1968, was 64.

Abernathy's heart stopped while he was being prepared for a lung scan at Crawford Long Hospital, said hospital spokeswo-lung scan at Crawford Long Hospital, said hospital spokeswoman Tisha Burland.

"What they were trying to do was detect if there was a blood clot in the lungs ... but they never got to see," Burland

Religious drugs ruled illegal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court said Tuesday there is no constitutional right to take illegal drugs, such as peyote, for religious reasons.

Dissenting justices said the 6-3 ruling permits religious oppression of Indians and perhaps others with unorthodox views.

The court ruled that Oregon officials may deny unemployment benefits to two fired drug counselors who took small amounts of peyote, a cactus "button" containing the hallucinogen mescaline, in Indian religious ceremonies.

Justice Antonin Scalia, writing for the court, said it would be courting anarchy to let a few do what is illegal for everyone else.

"We have never held that an individual's religious beliefs excuse him from compliance with an otherwise valid law prohibiting the conduct that the state is free to regulate," he said. But Scalia said states may allow religious use of illegal drugs.

Region

Town sues Dow Chemical

LEAVENWORTH (AP) — The city of Leavenworth has filed a lawsuit against Dow Chemical Co. and three others involved in the 1975 construction of an apartment building that now needs major repairs.

The suit seeks damages from Dow, the maker of Serabond. The cement additive is used in making prefabricated brick panels installed on the exterior of the city-owned Planters II Building in downtown Leavenworth.

The suit, filed Thursday in Leavenworth County District Court, claims that Serabond caused the corrosion of metal anchors used to secure the brick panels to the concrete frame of the 105-unit building. The building serves as subsidized housing for the elderly.

Cracking and loose bricks were first noticed two years ago and a fence was erected to protect bypassers from possible falling debris.

Leavenworth claims that Dow fraudulently concealed knowledge of previous problems with Serabond. The city seeks the costs of repairs and other damages in excess of $10,000.

The suit also asks breach-of-contract damages of $10 million from the Hunt Building Corp. of Texas, the developer and general contractor; $10 million from the architectural and engineering firm of Bucher, Willis, Ratliff of Salina; and $6 million from Masonry Systems of Missouri Inc., which constructed and installed the prefabricated brick panels.

Terri McNeill, a spokesman for Dow in Midland, Mich., said Dow contends that Serabond is not responsible for facade problems of buildings involved in about 20 similar lawsuits pending nationwide.

Collection returns to Kansas

WALLINGFORD, Conn. (AP) — A collection of bones and artifacts that were taken from Indian burial grounds more than 75 years ago and ended up in the attic of the Wallingford Historical Society are being returned to Kansas.

The bones, pieces of pottery and an Indian necklace will be returned to their home state this week, marking the first time that Indian bones taken from Kansas have been returned to the state, said Tom Witty Jr., archaeologist for the Kansas State Historical Society in Topeka.

The bones were given to the society by a relative of Wallingford resident Harold Stearns, who acquired them sometime before 1917, said society member May Wooding.

before 1917, said society member May Wooding.
"It's astounding," said Steve Cadue, tribal leader for the Kickapoo Indian Nation.

The Kickapoo reservation is in Horton, not far from where some of the bones are said to have come from, and Cadue said the return of the bones is a first.

"We knew nothing about this, and at this moment it's a great feeling to learn they are coming home," Cadue said Monday. "Those in fact are our ancestors and our loved ones."

Fall kills Wichita man

WICHITA (AP) — A 32-year-old Clearwater man fell 70 feet to his death Tuesday at a Boeing Co. construction project.

A Boeing spokesman identified the victim as William Fassnachnt, a steel worker employed by a construction company that is building a new manufacturing building for the planemaker.

According to a witness, Fassnachnt suffered massive head injuries when he fell after either being hit by a beam being lifted by a crane or losing his balance while trying to avoid being hit by the beam.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

18 Wednesday

- OWLS will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.
- University Activities Board will meet at 4 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Mahmoud Bahjat Arif at 9 a.m. in Throckmorton 201A. The topic is "In Vitro Investigations on Micropropagation, Callus Induction and Morphogenesis."
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Yih-Yuh Lee at 10 a.m. in Durland 236. The topic is "Fuzzy Sets Theory Approach to Aggregate Production Planning and Inventory Control."
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Cathryn Hay at 9 a.m. in Bluemont 341-D. The topic is "Comparisons of Attitudes Among Gifted and Typical Girls and Their Mothers"
- Gymnastics Club will meet from 8:05 to 10 p.m. in Natatorium 4.
- The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of James R. Rourk at 10 a.m. in Bluemont 257. The topic is "Local Area Network Implementation: Does It Have an Effect on Self-Directed Learning of At-Risk Students?"
- Students Acting to Save a Vulnerable Environment will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 206.
- Students for Life will have an organizational meeting from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in Union 213.

19 Thursday

- Society for the Advancement of Management will have a picnic at 4:30 p.m. at Dr. Elsea's. Maps are available in Calvin 19.
- Horticultural Therapy Club will meet at 5 p.m. in Waters 18A.
- Pre-Vet Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Trotter 201 for elections.
- Icthus Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. at the MCC Campus Center, 1514 Laramie.
- American Society of Ag Engineers and Ag Technology Management Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Seaton 132.

CORRECTIONS

Wes Jackson is co-director of the Land Institute in Salina, not president, and his lecture Monday was sponsored by Students Acting to Save a Vulnerable Environment and Sustainable Agriculture, not the Union Program Council, as was reported in Tuesday's Collegian. The Collegian regrets the errors.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, increasing cloud cover. High 55 to 60. Southeast winds 10 to 20 mph. Tonight and Thursday, rain and thunderstorms likely. Low around 45 and high around 60. Chance for rain, 60 percent tonight and 60 percent Thursday.

MUSEUM TOURS

MULVANE, SPENCER

NELSON GALLERIES
TOPEKA LAWRENCE

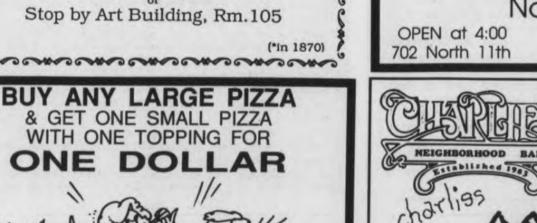

A MUST SEE EXPERIENCE!

May 4... 8:00 am to 7:00 pm
Open to Students and Friends, $8.00

PAINTINGS CONSIDERED SHOCKING!*

For reservations and information Call 532-6605

CURRENT & CLASSIC ROCK TONIGHT 50° Draws No Coverl

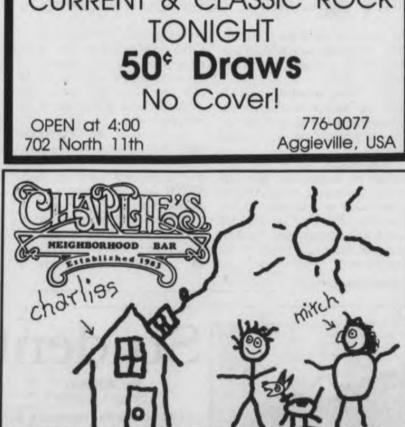

Offer good thru April 18th

DeliveryFast, Friendly & Free!

539-4888 12th & Moro Aggieville, USA

it's a way of lifg.

FirstBank Center

776-4111

JOHNSON CO. KANSAS

Clerical Positions Light Industrial

File Clerks
Typists
Word Processors
Data Entry
Receptionists

Packers Assembly
Warehouse
General Labor
Lawn Maintenance

*NO FEES*

Temporaries 913/491-0944

Call collect for details & application

Tea honors 42

University recognizes retiring staff

By Amy Hadlock

More than 40 University retirees were honored Tuesday at the Faculty Senate Retirement Tea in the Union Ballroom.

Twenty-eight of the 42 retirees attended the tea and were presented with certificates, pins and pens by President Jon Wefald.

"I feel that it is an honor for us all to be here to honor our retirees," Wefald said. "It is a celebration of the many years of service that each member of the faculty and administration has given to K-State."

Leading the list of retirees was Juanita Johnson, an extension home economist from Girard. Johnson is retiring after 41 years of service to the University.

"I plan to remain busy after retiring," she said. "I am president of the hospital auxiliary, so I will have many auxiliary duties at the hospital."

"I am planning on doing a little traveling and working on my computer," said Kenneth McReynolds, retiring associate professor of the extension office in Hutchinson. "I also belong to many organizations which I plan to remain active in."

Philip Goodenow, retiring assistant instructor of curriculum and education, commented on the changes he has seen during his career at the University.

"I have been with K-State for 23 years," Goodenow said. "When I started with the College of Education's media center, we were in Holton Hall. Now we are in Bluem-

Lester De Pew, retiring professor of entomology from Garden City, said he has mixed emotions about

"I have enjoyed the association with the University's Department of Entomology," De Pew said. "Since I worked in Garden City,

I feel that it is an honor for us all to be here to honor our retirees.

-Jon Wefald University President

sometimes I missed being on campus and felt like I was missing out on a few things. However, the administration was really cooperative even though I was not on campus."

The departments with the most retirees were the Division of Cooperative Extension and the College of Arts and Sciences.

The afternoon has been delightful," said Thomas Isenhour, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. "It is nice to be able to celebrate the contribution of our fine

Juanita Johnson, extension home economist, was honored Tuesday for 41 years of working at K-State at a retirement tea.

Home economist retires this year

Johnson ends 41-year career

By Amy D. Hadlock Collegian Reporter

Wide-spread changes mark the 41-year career of Juanita Johnson, a K-State extension home economist.

Johnson, county extention agent in Girard and a 1945 graduate in home economics, will retire later this year.

Johnson was honored at the annual Faculty Senate Retirement Tea on Tuesday along with 41 other faculty and staff members. She has worked at K-State for the longest time of those retiring.

'Things have changed decidedly, from the time I started until now," Johnson said. "One of the biggest changes has been in the farms. Farms are not strictly farms anymore. They are more urban."

The role of women has also changed with the times, she said.

"Women's lives have changed a great deal," Johnson said. "Women are not just farmers' wives anymore, but also breadwinners."

Marilyn Corbin, assistant director of cooperative extension, said Johnson put together educational lessons that were presented at local meetings each month. Johnson also placed written versions of the programs in the local newspaper for those unable to attend the meetings.

"Johnson's programs have covered many topics over the years," Corbin said. Among these topics are food and nutrition, food safety and quality, clothing construction, family communication and family economic stability.

Johnson said flexibility is important when dealing with a broad

Women are not just farmers' wives anymore, but also breadwinners.

-Juanita Johnson K-State extension home economist range of responsibilities. "It is important that all of the programs remain flexible - that way they can change if needed,"

Through the years, Johnson has had many experiences in the home economics program worth note.

"My favorite thing that I have been involved in has been my mass media program," she said. "This involved putting together a weekly television show for 15 years and a daily radio program.

Johnson said she plans to stay active in the community after her retirement.

"I will be president of the hospital auxilary, so I plan to do a great deal of auxiliary work at the hospital," she said. "I am planning on doing some yardwork and putting my remodeled house back into shape. I also plan to remain involved in community activities."

Corbin said co-workers and friends appreciate Johnson's years

'She is an inspiration to people and a real legacy to people in her county," Corbin said.

Group discusses 'Politics of Rape'

By Angela Lawson Collegian Reporter

One in every four women is sexually assaulted

For Mary Holm, this statistic became real after one of her college roommates was raped.

Holm talked about "The Politics of Rape" Tuesday evening in Union Stateroom 3. The discussion was the third session in the four-part series on self-defense for women titled "It's An Attitude.'

Holm said she is a women's activist and educator in women's studies. She works for the Geary County Public Schools and at The Crisis Center.

For the first part of the discussion, Holm lectured about how women can psychologically help to defend themselves against rape by having a certain attitude.

The second half of the discussion was more informal. Holm answered questions and discussed ways of physically defending oneself against an attack.

She said society is to blame for allowing rape to continue. She believes there are problems with the way the media portrayed women.

She said she also is unhappy with the way the judicial system and law enforcement agencies handle rape cases, although she believes they are improving.

We need to tell men that a woman can say no at any point and at any time," Holm said.

She said women have a conflict between keeping themselves safe and having the freedom to do as they choose, like going out after dark by themselves.

She said people should not be looking for the kind of solutions that restrict women but those that give women power. For example, escort services designed to help women actually control them and put their safety into the hands of men.

"Self defense is relearning attitudes and beliefs about ourselves and roles in society," Holm said.

Holm told the audience members to always trust their intuition, to practice visualizing themselves in different situations, and to develop confrontation skills.

Confrontation skills to deal with harassment included labeling the offensive behavior, making the person responsible for his behavior, and telling him unequivocally to stop.

Holm demonstrated skills such as tucking one's chin when being

Weak spots on the attacker include eyes, knees, chins, groin, nose and windpipe, she said.

Holm said while men are usually stronger, women can rely on several things. First, the attacker will usually be surprised that the woman is fighting back. Second, the rapist does not want to get hurt or caught, and any resistance increases his risk of these two things happening. Finally, the goal is to disable or distract the attacker long enough to get away.

"We don't hear about women who fight back successfully," Holm said.

"Something we need to do is to provide education and awareness," said Barbara Baker, one of the coordinators of the series. "The more we educate, the more we will see women start to empower themselves."

Karate instructor Larry Paris will give a workshop on physical selfdefense Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. in Ahearn Field House and is open to everyone.

BSU

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 who can address this issue."

BSU members were offended at senators' use of the phrase "these people" when referring to the group during allocation debate.

"I personally think representatives of Student Senate should not have the wherewithal to make the statements they did without recourse," said Adrienne Carter, student in psychology. "That's what I think as far as you all are concerned.'

Some BSU members said the use of the phrase was not the issue. "As you see we've gone away from the issue of 'these people,' we've gone away from the issue of responsibility per se and we've gone into the pertinent issue of racism on this campus," said BSU member Greg Williams, junior in physical science. "What we have here is a case where a lack of sensitivity comes from a lack of knowledge. I believe that all of you are capable of understanding those dynamics.

"But the question is, are you willing to understand the dynamics of these experiences?" Williams said. "I think that we need to work together and try to underdstand the reasons why people feel the way they do."

PRE-VET Club Meeting and Elections April 19 7 p.m. Trotter 201

 members must attend door prizes will be awarded including a scrub shirt.

AT SNOOKIES TONIGHT 9 P.M.

ABZOLUT MODELING CONTEST

HAIR BY IMPRESSIONS

19 TO ENTER 21 TO DRINK

12220

15940

10260

07840

WAYNE WATSON IN CONCERT

April 20th at Westview Community Church 3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.

8 P.M.

Sponsored By Manhattan Christian College Tickets: $7 advance, $8 at the door.

SUMMER

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY ASSOCIATION OR RESIDENCE HALLS CELEBRATE

SPRING FLING 1990

The following discounts are available to those students who purchase Sping Fling shirts and wear their shirt to the business during Spring Fling Week. All discounts are for the entire week (April 18-23) unless otherwise specified. $3.00 off haircut

A Cut Above Brentwood for Men and Women Crimpers Hair Design Studio The Dusty Bookshelf Godfather's Pizza I Can't Believe It's Yogurt J.C. Penney Co.

New Beginnings The Pathfinder Patricia's Undercover Pizza Hut UPC Feature Films Westloop Floral

20-30% discoun 15% discount Med. Combo: $8.95; $3 off med/lg 10% discount except pies Special Sunday (4-22) Sale 5:30-7:30 p.m. $5 Gift Certificate to first 100 with KSU ID.

10% off reg. priced merchandise $3.00 off haircut 10% off reg. priced merchnadise 10% discount Free pitcher with lg. dine-in pizza 50¢ off April 20-22 feature film 10% discount 15% off cut flowers and plants

$2.00 off pre-printed KSU sweatshirt, $1 off pre-printed KSU T-Shirt Wildcat Spirit Residence hall students can show their Studnet ID at the businesses below to receive these discounts during spring fling week:

Balloon Boutique Burke's Shoes Butterfield's Etc. Campbell's CPI Photo Finish The Cutting Edge Hunam's -T-Shirt or ID-Ideal Cleaners and Tailors Kentucky Fried Chicken

Lords and Ladies Merry Go Round

10% off selected merchandise 20% off one item w/ KSU ID 10% discount 10% discount 10% discount 20% off frames and jewelry 20% off enlargements and processing 10% discount

10% off dry cleaning 10% discour $20/10 Tanning sessions; 15% off hair removal, facials and manicures. 10 % discount

10% discount

Daily specials

00090 07850 10330 13560 16120 24910 28520 02520 32010 35200 02770 24960 28560 32040 35210 36750 07860 10400 13590 16140 00300 04750 32080 36810 28570 07870 10480 13610 16180 24970 35240 01340 04810 32090 25000 28580 35250 36840 16190 13630 01820 07880 10490 28600 32100 35310 36850 05390 16270 25210 02280 07890 10610 13670 06110 28620 32110 35320 36860 25330 16790 03170 07900 10620 13940 06160 32120 28700 35340 13950 18220 25350 03180 07910 10710 32140 06290 28800 36890 18470 25970 35350 03240 07920 10950 13970 32250 28810 35360 36910 06380 14010 19010 26060 11010 03250 07930 28820 33220 06410 19110 26370 35370 36920 14020 03310 07940 11100 28850 33270 06420 35390 03320 11170 14030 19900 26470 07950 33390 36970 06450 29010 19940 26690 35400 03360 11360 14140 07960 29200 33420 36980 06810 21320 26850 35430 14150 03920 08440 11400 33900 36990 26890 29210 35440 07700 14220 21330 11440 03930 08450 29220 33970 37020 07710 26920 35470 11450 15120 21830 04300 08460 07720 29240 33980 35480 11550 15140 21880 27660 05380 08470 34010 38060 07970 29250 35490 11580 15150 21900 27670 05390 08480 29380 34020 38150 27700 35500 08620 11590 15210 21920 05860 08490 38230 27710 29910 34060 35530 08640 11860 22100 15230 05870 08500 30180 34120 38370 27730 35540 12030 05960 08510 15270 22150 34190 27810 30280 35570 12040 22220 08520 15480 05970 34220 31440 27840 35580 22310 08530 12050 15530 06030 40080 28030 31570 34240 35590 12060 22320 15550 08670 06220 401 00 28050 31810 34270 35660 22340 12070 09110 15570 06780 28280 31820 35060 35670 22370 09123 12080 15590 06810 35110 35680 40160 12090 22390 28310 31840 06850 09160 15620 35130 35930 40570 31850 22550 28340 12100 15740 06950 09170 35150 22560 28350 31860 35990 15780 09190 12110 07020 35160 31 910 36140 22690 28360 07030 09420 12120 15790 35170 36150 31920 22760 28380 09810 12130 15800 35180 36180 09840 12140 15810 22850 28460 31940 07830

FALL CLOSED CLASSES

Going to summer school? Remember, you can enroll for summer at the same time you enroll for fall.

24880 28500

32000

35190

36270

ecture Series Presented by Arts & Sciences Council Prof. Michael Finnegan "Cult of the Mediocre" 7:30 p.m. Tuesday April 24 Union Little Theatre

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIAL

Fast food mentality spreads globally

The Cold War is over. Communism. uncouth. And now Moscow's virginal complexion has just been sullied (or freshened, depending on your perspective) by the coming of "whirls of pinks and blues, floral patterns and checkerboards." Yes, McDonald's has invaded, planted its seed, potatoes are growing, Soviet men and women are learning to plaster frozen smiles upon their faces, learning to eat and live off the insubstantial American diet.

This is perhaps a new kind of colonialism, subtle and seductive. We'll teach them our ways through an innocent capitalistic enterprise. They've been missing out, right?

James Werrel, an opinion page editor for The Herald in Rock Hill, S.C., wrote of the coming of McDonald's to Moscow: "It was an amazing moment in history. Westerner's rejoiced when the Germans took picks and ers what they want, then let them have it their hammers to the Berlin Wall. But it was almost as moving to watch the eyes of a Soviet child light up at the first bite of a Big Mac."

I thought this guy was kidding. Nope. He

K. I think I am on to something. was serious. He believes that, "We are giving the Cold War is over. Communism, them the best and worst we have to offer, the dichotomy that is America."

I am ashamed. This is all we are capable of giving them: bright colors and grease; a clown; consumerism; fast-food; and foam

But what do you care? Right? You can't do anything to resurrect such injustices? Your life is rushed so why shouldn't their's be? Our streets are littered with those foam containers, so why shouldn't their's be? We love it fast and fake, so why shouldn't they?

Wait. What apathetic vibes I am sensing. Perhaps instead of talk of depression, oppression and repression, let me enlighten you to a new religion — let me offer you sustenance let me replenish your faith in justice, in

The Burger King once said, "Ask consumway." But Ronald McDonald has proved more influential - he has ushered in the coming of a new concept in the service, in breaking bread. Ronald, he is the modern prophet we have been wanting, waiting for. The McChurch, as coined by writers with USA Weekend magazine, is a new concept in religious expression (Hold off Scabourn, at least for awhile. This religious derivative may suit you well).

OK. Here are the major philosophical questions one must grapple with upon enter-ing into McChristianity: "How do you sell a very old story to a crowd of bored baby boomers weaned on TV?" Give them a clown and 12 Fry Guys. "How do you sell an old story to this crowd, wined and dined by advertisers and struggling to keep up with the techniques, and feed them the same crap they can pick up at the drive-thru window.

he McChurch, as an abstract ideological mish-mash of distorted and grotesque impulses, does exist. The non-denomentional Willow Creek Community Church in South Barrington, Ill., is the proud promoter of this "fast-food religion." (However, Willow Creek does not affiliate itself as an appendage of McDonald's corporate entourage, at least not at this point). Yet, they'll serve you "a slick, show-biz service where drama and soft rock are served up on stage washed in pink and blue spotlights." (Notice the pink and blue colors referenced here as well as in the description of the coming of McDonald's to Moscow, as mentioned Pastor Bill Hybels, speaking on the inspiration that led him to this crossroads of spiritual development, claims that, "We just ended one of the most materialitic decades in recent history. After people have their condo, house, BMW, and other trinkets of success, pace of life in the '90s?" Use telemarketing will they keep adding zeros or toys? The lack of satisfaction of that binge is causing people to search for something more."

Good Bill, so offer us some more of the same shit. Offer us your "4,550-seat theater. complete with 12 big-screen TV's showing close-ups of action on stage, just like at rock concerts." Treat us as the shameless consum-

But I can foresee capitalism, colonialism and religious impulses coalescing under those Golden Arches. I bet Pastor Bill would jump at the opportunity to join forces with the hamburger capitalists, entering the Soviet Union under the guise of Ronald, spreading his McChristian message. The Golden Arches are somewhat of an icon, and now I can see them evolving into an institution, a maker of hamburgers and values.

So as for faith, have I renewed yours? If Seaboum loves hamburgers, especially Big Macs, we may be in trouble. And if the church and the state merge any further, someday we may find a daily devotion inside each

Proposed Israeli aid should be used in U.S.

"Charity starts at home, and that special conditions that may be put means America."

This sums up Sen. Bob Dole's stand on a proposal to give Israel $400 million to build houses for Soviet Jewish immigrants. Dole correctly recognized the stupidity of sending housing aid to the Middle East when there are three in the United States.

Israel is by far the largest recipient of U.S. foreign aid, receiving about $3 billion a year. Now they want an extra $400 million to solve their homeless problem. No way.

This is not just a problem of money better spent elsewhere. Despite to help American homeless.

on the aid, the money could help to build houses in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip. This will only make the conflict between Israel and the Palestinians worse and could irreparably damage the peace process in the region.

But Dole may have a fight on his million homeless people right here hands. The power of the American Israel Public Affairs Committee, or AIPAC, is legendary in Washington. This and other Israeli lobby groups can make things very tough on legislators who don't have as secure a position as Dole. Let's keep American money in America

Best kept secret may be Wildcat baseball

The best kept secret in K-State main on the home schedule. athletics may well be the Wildcat baseball program.

Coach Mike Clark's team currently is second place in the Big Eight Conference, just percentage points behind national power Oklahoma State.

And yet very few people know what's happening at Frank Myers

That's due, in large part, to Mother Nature and a home schedule that had the second conference home series of the year fall on Easter weekend.

Over the next two weekends, however, the Wildcats will be on the diamond in Manhattan, battling Iowa State and Northern Colorado.

Games against defending national champion Wichita State and Southwest Missouri State also re-

Coach Clark, in his years at K-State, has taken a program that has been second-division more often than not and molded it into a wellrespected unit.

Several of the top individual players in the Big Eight are currently wearing purple.

Yet, as is the case with most nonrevenue sports at K-State, the efforts of these coaches and players is largely going unnoticed.

But if this secret gets out, chances are good the word will spread quickly and the baseball team will rival the Lady Cats another non-revenue squad - for fan support.

There truly is nothing like fun at the old ballpark. And when the home team is winning, it's even

THIRD WORLD MUTANT

Union needs bins

What will it take for the K-State Union to be environmentally concerned? I am asking for action on putting recycling collection bins or garbage cans for students to put their used aluminum cans and newspapers.

In March 1989, the Kansas State University Ad Hoc Recycling Committee had on its roster Jack Connaughton, assistant director of the Union. This committee implemented the Pilot Recycling Program on campus. The Pilot Recycling Program is located in Ackert, Bushnell, Cardwell, Denison, Durland, Dykstra, Umberger and Nichols Halls, Farrell Library and the Physical Plant.

Where is the Union on this list? Why isn't there a convenient collection point in the Union? The 11 halls have seven 30-gallon rubber garbage cans all labeled to collect recyclable products. They collect: white paper, colored paper, newspaper, aluminum, glass and plastic containers. Why can't the Union have at least newspaper and aluminum collection cans? Must the Union wait for a city- or county-wide mandate to take some action on helping students recycle with convenient collection cans?

As a student, I want to recycle and save the environment from waste I use or buy. Please, if you agree with me, cut out this letter and mail or hand deliver it to Jack Sills, director of the Union, on the second floor of the Union. Also send a copy to Jon Wefald, University President, Anderson Hall, Room 110. The Union is maintained and built by student fees. They should listen to your wants and needs so that you can help the environment by recycling.

> Michele Krchma junior in business administration

Sarcasm unhelpful

I want to draw attention to a striking contrast on Thursday's editorial page. Aireka Key wrote: "There is no senator, no student, no administrator and no faculty member who has the right to refer to students as 'these people." She pointed out that "the terminology was offensive," and her view was well taken.

If the phrase "these people" is offensive, then how can we describe Brad Seabourn's column? Why does the Collegian give him the right to freely slur the foundation of Judaism and Christianity? What would happen at K-State if Seabourn turned his pen on the religion of Islam, or declared Martin Luther King, Jr. a "bastard?" It seems that somewhere the rights of Christians have gotten lost

I appreciate Seabourn's ambition; questioning one's faith is a healthy exercise.

However, he would be much more effective if he took a constructive approach. We know that many things in this world seem confusing and unfair, and we do need a source of hope in the midst of it all. But, so far, Brad Seaboum's energetic sarcasm has done nothing for the problem.

Brock Griffin

graduate student in English

I write this letter long overdue in an effort to purge my conscience of the guilt I have felt for not writing it sooner. What I am speaking of is nature. We continue to destroy any of it that gets in our way.

Stay on sidewalks

We have a beautiful campus, and President Jon Wefald has expended a great deal of effort to make it so and keep it that way. Yet I believe many of his efforts are in the wrong direction. As part of this work, many sidewalks have been built in the past few years. This may not seem to be much of a problem, but it has recently expanded tremendously. More and more sidewalks are covering more and more of the formerly grassy earth. A huge area of unneeded sidewalk was built between McCain, Nichols, Calvin and Fairchild Halls. It was one of the last large grassy areas on campus and was covered ostensibly to make it more convenient for the students who had to make the long, arduous trek from Calvin and Fairchild Halls to McCain and Nichols Halls and vice versa. That's that much more of our asphalt jungle built. There's also the triangle in the road between Anderson Hall, the K-State Union and Kedzie Hall and more recently the space between Eisenhower Hall and Holton Hall is being covered because people couldn't take an extra five steps to get to their destination. All spring, people have been walking over the grass all over campus taking shortcuts to save them 20 seconds or so.

I implore you. If you are so lazy that you can't stay on the sidewalk, for Earth's sake, at least don't make things worse by walking on a trail other lazy fools have made and trample to death more grass. Finally the grounds department is putting up those chains because college students can't restrain themselves without help.

So to the people on campus, I plead with you: enjoy the outdoors. Walk on the grass and enjoy it every once in a while. But as rule, stay on the sidewalk and think about the extra fat you're burning off your tail by taking those few extra steps.

And to the administration I beg: find another way to make the campus better than by destroying nature. I ask you, how can we expect the nations of South and Central America to stop cutting down the rain forests so they can farm (and consequently, eat) when we cannot keep from cutting down trees and covering over grasslands to make our school more aesthetic? Are we asking them a little too much, or ourselves too little? Earth Day is just around the corner. Spend some time thinking about the world we live on. Give it some consideration. But don't stop there - remember, Earth is a wonderful place, if only we don't ruin it.

Craig Watson senior in psychology and anthropology

Omission wrong

In his letter to the Collegian on Monday, President Jon Wefald states that "This campus must be proactive in combatting actions which place individuals at a disadvantage because of race, sex, religion or handicap." I am glad to see that he supports minority groups, but wonder, why are homosexuals excluded from these minorities? Could it be K-State does not feel that gays and lesbians are a legitimate minority worthy of protection?

The K-State policy on discrimination states, "the official policy of this University is to prohibit discrimination against individuals or groups of individuals based on race, sex, religion, national origin, age or handicap in all aspects of University life." Sexual orientation is not mentioned. Is it K-State's policy to allow discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation? Although this protection is perhaps implied, and the University does not actively employ a policy of discrimination against homosexuals, the omission of this particular minority from the policy does technically leave open the possibility of discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation.

Many students, faculty and staff members at this University fear for the future of their jobs and education because it might be discovered that they are gay or lesbian. Without a written policy that explicitly protects homosexuals, then the homosexuals of the K-State population can never feel totally secure in their positions, and have no legal recourse should a case of discrimination arise.

Wefald states that he agrees with the assertation that "more is needed if we are to ensure that no segment of our campus community is allowed to perceive that it is of little importance to K-State," and that the University will establish procedures to enhance sensitivities and group understandings. The Gay and Lesbian Resource Center applauds this stance, and suggests that one issue that must be addressed is why K-State has a policy of protecting other minorities while leaving gays and lesbians open to discrimination.

> Kevyn D. Jacobs secretary, Gay and Lesbian Resource Center

Erwin Seba Paula Selby Catherine Doud Craig Hamrick Eric Henry Brad Camp MANAGING EDITOR. ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR. SPORTS EDITOR ... Chris Hays CAMPUS EDITORS...... SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR. Ellen Dayton, Susan L'Ecuye Robert Shor ...Julie Andsager ......Jim Rourk ......Chris Koger FEATURES EDITOR. ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR. GOVERNMENT EDITOR. Wendy Nakoneczny, Jane Thompson, Angela Waltz Lori Antrim, Paul Branson, Steve Franzen, Cosima Hadidi, Lori Mikesell, Tomari Quinn, Melissa Simpson COPY CHIEF STAFF REPORTERS Brian Kratzer, Mark Leffingwell, David Mayes, Mike Venso, Steve Wolgast Scott Paske, David Svoboda, Dan Wicker Kirk Caraway, Karin Dell'Antonia, Audra Dietz, STAFF PHOTOGRAPHERS. COLUMNISTS Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, John Musaman, Brad Seaboure Mark Butler, Rod Gilbespie Richard Jones, Mark Schreiner, Laura Scroggine Bob Berry, Richard Broadfoot, Jill Hayder REVIEWERS STRIP CARTOONISTS EDITORIAL CARTOONIST. The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday through Friday during the school year and Monday and Thursday during summer sessions. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66502. tan, Kan. 66066-7167. News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555. Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates One Semester (Fall or Spring)...... Two Semesters (Fall and Spring)... One Year (Fall, Spring and Summer)...

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN FOCUS

Bert Blies, assistant dean of the Graduate School, prepares for a race

Racing with the unfair advantage

Biles raced at Heartland Park in Topeka last weekend and placed fourth in his Aquila S-2000, a race car designed by a British auto designer. Biles said racing can be a psychological addiction.

Husband, wife unite as team to compete with one-of-a-kind car

Bert Biles and Victoria Clegg work as a team. They spend their summers and some weekends working on and racing their Aquila RO:82-S Sports 2000 race car. Biles races the car, and Clegg is the pit crew. Being married, they also live as a team.

Biles and Clegg's Aquila sits a few inches above the ground and goes no higher than an average person's waist. It features a wind tunnel, and Biles said he loves to drive it.

"It's a sports racer," said Biles, assistant dean of the graduate school. "British call it purpose-built, built just for racing."

A new Aquila S-2000 costs $35,000, Biles said. They invested $25,000 to $30,000 almost nine years ago with a British auto designer who designed their "Building your own race car is not the cheapest way to end up with one," Biles said. "But we did it as a grand adventure. "Our Aquila is a one-of-a-kind prototype. So when something breaks down, we fix it," he said.

"There are only three Aquilas," said Clegg, director of the Office of Educational Improvement. "Two are in England. They may be junk by now. A Shrike is the next thing up, and there are only three or four here."

A Shrike looks the same as an Aquila but the underwork is different, Clegg Biles started racing cars in 1972 when his father went bear hunting. "One time my father went bear hunting, and that was something that he always wanted to do, and he was 62," Biles said. "There were some things that I always wanted to do, and I thought I had better get doing them. So, I went out and bought a Formula Vee race car." During races, Biles and Clegg communicate through a radio system. Biles wears a special helmet which allows him to talk and listen to Clegg, who is in the pit.

By radio, she can tell him his race position and times. "He can remember easily what he did that particular lap and improve upon it," Clegg said. "He can remember, 'Oh yeah, I know where I screwed up on that one, and I'll know how to change it.' "When he is racing, I handle communications and am essentially team manager," she said.

Although the car is not technologically complicated, it has high-tech features, Biles said. One is the communication system; the other is a computer that records the car's activity.

The computer records what is happening to the car in terms of acceleration, deceleration, forward and backward movement and turns, Biles said. "It's a little like a flight recorder in an airplane," Biles said.

It displays a picture of the car as it is out on the track. "I can watch myself through several laps and begin to understand what the car is capable of and what I am capable of," Biles said. "Then I can diagnose and learn what good performance feels like. Through that, I improve my

The resources represent the extra advantage every driver is trying to gain,

"Every driver is looking for that unfair advantage — the design of the car that's faster, the design of the car that's more reliable or something that will help you as a driver perform better," Biles said.

We are always adding, subtracting and modifying these babies, hoping one day we'll get it right," Clegg said.

Mirl Swam, freshman in marketing, spent Saturday with Biles and Clegg watching them and helping them out, to gain experience. "I learn a lot by just being here," he said. "Since I am starting out, I have a lot to learn, and I learn by watching their mistakes."

Swam said he would like to be racing, but the next best thing is

"When you're not out there, it's good to go through the lap in your mind — when you brake and when you downshift," he said. "Surpris-

Clegg said that along with the competitiveness in racing, at the Sports Car Club of America there is cooperativeness. SCCA is a national ame-

"If we need help with something and if we need a part, it's not at all unlikely for us to go over to a fellow competitor and ask for something,"

You establish a network of people in your area you can go to and you can trust," Biles said. Biles said he remembers a time when the slave cylinder, which activates the clutch, started to leak and he had to go looking for another one. "A competitor had a spare engine and transmission sitting in his trailer with a slave cylinder," Biles said. "As fast as he could grab a wrench, he took it off and gave it to me with his business card so I would know where

Clegg and Biles said the people are an important part of the the sport of "One of my friends said, 'You get involved with racing because of the car, you stay involved with racing because of the people," Biles said. Last weekend, Biles participated in the SCCA regional race at the Heartland Park in Topeka. "I had my quickest lap during the race," Biles said. "Vicki clocked one lap at 1 minute and 33.8 or 9 seconds."

Out of eight or nine competitors, Biles placed fourth in his class. Biles and Clegg plan to race again Memorial Day weekend, when there will be 20 to 40 competitors in the S-2000 race. It will be Biles' second time to race at Heartlands. He expects to improve with time.

"I will be satisfied if I finish in the top 20," Biles said. "Some of the racers are younger and more aggressive."

Victoria Clegg, helps Biles, her husband, prepare for a race.

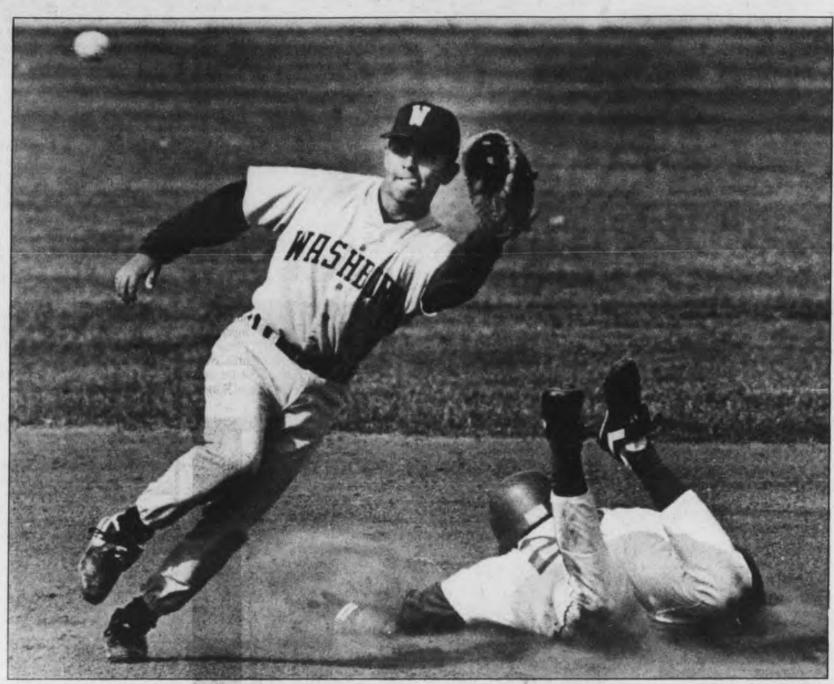

After finishing the qualifying race, Biles cleans some dirt and oil off of the bottom of the engine.

Story and photos Margaret Clarkin

SPORTS

Wildcats squeak past Washburn, 10-9

Washburn second baseman Dominic Flores chases an off-target throw from catcher Joe Kulikowski as K-State's Brian Culp successfully slides in with a stolen base in the Wildcats 10-9 victory over the Ichabods at Frank Myers Field Tuesday afternoon.

Rippelmeyer single in 9th ruins Ichabod upset bid

By The Collegian Staff

Brad Rippelmeyer broke a 9-9 tie in the bottom of the ninth with a game winning single, giving K-State a non-conference victory over Washburn Tuesday at Frank Myers

K-State lost a 5-2 lead in the fifth as Washburn scored seven runs to take a 9-5 advantage. The Cats gradually chipped away at the Ichabod lead to finally knot the game at nine in the seventh inning.

It remained tied until Rippelmeyer singled home the winning run in a game which Coach Mike Clark wondered whether the 'Cats could rally back enough to win.

"We were flat. I didn't know if they would come back or if anyone cared at the point," Clark said. "About the seventh inning the kids started getting into the ball game a little better and came back around."

The win was recorded by senior reliever Steve Scoville, 1-1, who shut out Washburn in the top of the ninth with two ground balls to third and a strike out.

K-State's record jumps to 22-14 overall with the victory, while Washburn drops to 18-13.

"You can't just come to the ballpark and show up against anybody, particularlly Washburn, who is doing a really good job," Clark said. "Coach (Steve) Anson has got them playing real well.

'As long as (the flatness) doesn't carry over into the weekend series, I am not going to be that concerned

Washburn jumped out to an early 2-0 lead in the second with a single by Ryan Schmidt followed by a double from Chris Weber.

K-State starting pitcher Greg McNamara then loaded the bases with a walk and Schmidt scored on a ground ball to second, and then Weber was drove in on a single by Tommy Ashley.

K-State responded by tying the score at two in their half of the second. Chris Hmielewski started the rally with a two out single to center. Jeff Ryan and Todd Schaefer both walked to load the bases. L.J. Twyner then proceeded to double into left center driving in Hmielewski and Ryan.

The Cats then had a three-run third to give them a 5-2 advantage until Washburn struck hard with a seven-run effort in the fifth.

The disaster inning started with two bases on balls to Richard Lady and Brian McDaneld. Schmidt then singled to drive in the first run, Chris Weber laid down a bunt towards third base to load the bases, McNamara yielded his third walk of the inning to score the second run and Florez doubled to left to score the third and fourth run.

Sean Pedersen replaced McNamara on the K-State mound. Pedersen's first batter got to first on an error by Craig Wilson at short scoring the fifth run. Joe Kulikowski singled up the middle to score the sixth run, Kris Schaub singled, Lady reached on an error by Rippelmeyer to load the bases and Pedersen walked in the seventh run.

"The whole time we were behind in the count or in the situation where ■ See 'CATS, Page 6

Chiefs' picks, Henry's stock give NFL draft day flair

Scott

CHALK TALK

According to Monday's edition of The Sporting News, Super Bowl champion San Francisco's greatest need for the upcoming season is a punter to challenge Barry Helton. It's hard to pity a team like that.

But most of the other 27 teams in the National Football League have greater holes to fill, which should make Sunday's rookie draft interesting. While a talented field of running backs and 32 underclassmen entries have stolen national headlines, there are a few areas of local interest that should be worth watching - who the how much K-State senior defensive standout Maurice Henry has impressed NFL scouts.

In the past, draft day has been heartache day for Chiefs' fans. You don't have to look any further than names like Todd Blackledge, Ethan Horton and Paul Palmer to justify that. The selection of these gridiron misfits through the years has resulted in greater frustration, because the Chiefs' dismal record since their last Super Bowl appearance in 1970 has usually given Kansas City a high position in the drafting order.

Today, Blackledge has been shipped to Pittsburgh, Horton is a backup tight end for the Los Angeles Raiders and Palmer is currently a part of the Dallas Cowboys' rebuilding program. None of them made Arrow-Sunday afternoon, but it's hard to Kansas City Chiefs are courting and find a sports franchise that's failed to make a mistake.

It's also difficult to find a franchise without some degree of success, and Kansas City hit paydirt with team president Carl Peterson. Peterson's aggressive leadership, combined with the hiring of former Cleveland Browns coach Marty Schottenheimer, has provided a nucleus for a club that is close to reaching the summit of a long, uphill climb back to respectability.

Even though Chiefs' fans had plenty to cheer about in 1989, Peterson and Schottenheimer admitted that an 8-7-1 record was not satisfying. A statement like that makes you pay more attention to off-season trades, free agent signings and days like this coming Sunday.

The Chiefs' have inked several head Stadium a great place to spend a players who have affected the team's performance on the field, with none more responsible than Att-Pro running back Christian Okoye. For the first time in years, Kansas City has a ball carrier who can slam into defensive lines, break tackles and display speed to outrun opposing defensive

To supplement Okoye, the Chiefs' are reportedly looking for additional speed in the backfield and strengthening the wide receiver position as their top priorities. If the Chiefs are interested in a sleeper to make Okoye's job less demanding, Oregon's Latin Berry could be the man. At the league's annual testing combine at Indianapolis, Berry posted the fastest 40-yard dash time of any running back at 4.40 seconds. The 5-foot-9, 196-pounder also had a 40-inch vertical jump.

With veteran receiver Stephone Paige as the only legitimate deep threat, Kansas City is hoping to balance the other side of the line of chance to perform in the Chiefs' red Virginia's Reggie Rembert is a close second. At 6-3, 195, Rembert has the size to aid in Kansas City's methodical passing offense, but can also provide the big play.

With antique center Mike Webster nearing the end of his career, the Chiefs are also looking to plug holes in the offensive line. If he's still around, Washington Huskie Bern Brosteck, 6-7, 300, could fill a crater. KC has expressed need at the guard spot, and all-Big Eight performer Keith Sims, 6-2, 310, from Iowa State would keep man-eating linebackers out of Okoye's way a bit longer than most.

With perhaps the best linebacking unit in franchise history, Wildcat Maurice Henry probably won't get a scrimmage. Michigan's Greg and white. However, Henry, along McMurtry was listed as the top pros- with Berry, were listed as the biggest pect after the testing period, but West surprises coming out of the scouting combine. The Sporting News re ported that Henry, a Salina native, could go higher in the draft because of his overall performance in front of NFL scouts. Henry, a converted defensive player during his career at K-State, is projected to be drafted as an outside linebacker. At the testing, he led all linebackers in the 40-yard dash (4.47) and vertical jump (38 inches).

Plenty of teams have expressed need at the position, especially the Cincinnati Bengals. Alabama junior Keith McCants, who is one of the early entries, is expected to be the first to go, but with speed being a necessary element to play the position, Henry should get his chance.

Best of luck, Mo.

triple lifts Royals, Stillwell

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Royals Stadium probably should get at least partial credit for the Kansas City Royals' come-from-behind 4-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians on Tuesday night. Keying a four-run sixth inning was Kurt Stillwell's triple. But it was a "dead spot" in the stadium lights that may have kept Cory Snyder from making the catch.

"There's been an area out there in right-center and in left-center for years where you can lose the ball in the lights," Royals manager John Wathan said. "When Snyder gave chase, I was thinking that's about the

I was hoping it would fall, but I wasn't counting my chickens because he's made a lot of great plays against

- Kurt Stillwell Royals' shortstop

area where you can have trouble with the lights.

George Brett and Bo Jackson scored when Snyder, Cleveland's right fielder, barely missed making a running catch. Stillwell also scored when rookie second baseman Carlos Baerga threw wildly to third. Snyder agreed that the lights hampered his bead on the ball.

"I had it, I lost it and didn't see it again until it was past me," he said. "I was hoping it would fall, but I wasn't counting my chickens because he's made a lot of great plays against us," Stillwell said. "We happened to get lucky this time." The Indians had taken a 2-0 lead behind former Royal Bud Black, who blanked Kansas City until the sixth when Kevin Seitzer doubled and Brett walked with one out. Steve Olin replaced Black and surrendered an RBI single to Jackson. Kevin Wickander relieved Olin

(0-1) and struck out Jim Eiesnreich. But Stillwell, batting right-handed against the left-handed Wickander, hit a line drive in the gap that drove in the tying and lead runs.

Dion James doubled leading off the game for Cleveland, took third on a groundout and scored on Snyder's sacrifice fly. In the second, Brook Jacoby tripled with one out and gave Cleveland a 2-0 lead on Sandy Alomar's single.

Steve Farr (1-0) faced one batter in relief of Richard Dotson and got the victory by retiring Alomar on a bases-loaded pop-up in the sixth. Mark Davis picked up his third save.

Russ Nixon said. "He's amazing."

games and was the only unbeaten team in the big leagues entering

Tuesday's games. Lou Piniella, the Reds new manager, is impressed.

"The more I see of him, the more I

Cincinnati won their first six

SPORTS BRIEFLY

Foreman pummels Jameson

STATELINE, Nev. — Former heavyweight champion George Foreman pummeled the ample belly of overmatched Mike Jameson, bloodied his eye and knocked him out in the fourth round Tuesday night to stay on track for a title shot.

Foreman, slow and plodding but still much quicker and shar-per than Jameson, ended the bout at 2:16 of the fourth with a left hook that dropped Jameson in a heap in his own corner. Earlier in the round, Foreman knocked Jameson's mouthpiece out for the third time in the fight, and opened a deep, ugly

Nelson hires assistant

K-State volleyball coach Scott Nelson announced today the hiring of Greg Lambert as an assistant coach.

Lambert comes to Manhattan after serving as an assistant coach at the University of Notre Dame the past three years.

Lambert also served as an assistant coach with the United States Volleyball Association club team the past two years.

"I am excited about coming to work at Kansas State under a coach like Scott Nelson," Lambert said. "I like the challenge of working for an up and coming program like Kansas State.

Lambert graduated from Stanford in 1983 with a bachelor's degree in economics. He obtained a master's degree in business administration from Notre Dame in 1987.

While attending Stanford, Lambert earned all-America honors in water polo. He was a member of Stanford's national championship teams in 1980 and '81.

Chiefs open in East Berlin

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - The Kansas City Chiefs will begin their four-game preseason schedule in August against the Los Angeles Rams in Berlin and wrap it up with two games at

The schedule released Tuesday shows the Chiefs playing the Rams Saturday, Aug. 11, at Olympic Stadium in Berlin in the NFL's first game ever on the European continent. The time of the game has not been set.

The Chiefs will play the New York Jets at Arrowhead Stadium at 7:30 p.m., Aug. 18; the Detroit Lions at the Pontiac Silverdome at 6:30 p.m., Aug. 24, and the Green Bay Packers at Arrowhead at 7:30 p.m., Aug. 31.

Cincinnati shortstop off to fast start until he got hurt," Braves manager

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA - Barry Larkin is making up for a slow finish with a fast start. The Cincinnati Reds shortstop has 19 hits in his first 32 atbats, a .594 average.

"I've been lucky," Larkin said after gettting four hits in the Reds' 5-3 victory Monday over Atlanta. "Sometimes it's better to be lucky than good."

Last year, Larkin was good and unlucky. He was batting .340 at the all-star break, but tore a ligament in his right elbow during a workout before the all-star game. He didn't play again until September and wound up hitting .342 in 97 games. "I feel as confident now as I did at the All-Star break last year," he said.

Reds remain undefeated at 7-0

CINCINNATI — Tom Browning pitched six strong innings and Billy Hatcher and Barry Larkin had three hits each Tuesday as the Cincinnati Reds beat the San Diego Padres 2-1 to move to 7-0 on the season.

Hatcher had three singles, stole a base and drove in a run. Larkin went 3-for-4 to raise his average to .594 (19-for-32). Cincinnati moved within one of the club record for victories at the start of the season. The Reds opened 1980 with eight wins, then finished third.

"I guess the key for me is to stay healthy."

His start is the best in baseball. He was 10-for-14 in a three-game sweep of the Braves. And that doesn't include a 3-for-3 effort last Saturday which was wiped out when the game was postponed in the fourth inning with the Reds ahead 9-4. If the game counted, Larkin would be hitting .629, including Monday's 3-for-4 performance against San Diego. "I can't explain it," Larkin said. "The balls just seem to be falling in here and there.

"He was hitting like that last year like," Piniella said. "He can pull the ball, hit to right field and can still hit the ball out of the ball park. And, he doesn't strike out." Larkin said there was a time last year when he was getting two or three hits a game. He said he never hit this well at Cincinnati's Moeller High School, at the University of Michigan or on the 1984 U.S. Olympic

Television star, alumnus to visit, coach students

By The Collegian Staff

A well-known K-State alumnus will be in Manhattan this week and he's going to be busy.

Gordon Jump, the actor who played Arthur Carlson on the television show "WKRP in Cincinatti," will spend a week visiting classes, meeting with alumni groups and making personal appearances.

'According to his schedule, he's going from very early in the morning until late at night, every day he's here," said Gordon Dowell, publications director at the KSU Foundation.

Paul Prince, associate professor of journalism and mass communications, said Jump will spend a week as a professional in residence, beginning Friday.

"He'll spend a lot of time coaching theater classes and working with our radio and TV programs, including the announcers at KSDB," Prince said.

Jump attended K-State in the 1950s, and worked at KSDB and KMAN radio stations. After graduating in 1957, he worked at WIBW in Topeka. He has been in two feature films - "Moving," with Richard Pryor, and "The Fury," with Kirk Douglas.

Prince said Jump's reputation and experience make him a good professional in residence.

"He's a radio-television graduate, well known in a nice kind of way," Prince said. "He has come back to Manhattan several times, and expressed an interest in meeting with students in a coaching

Grace Prusik, alumni program coordinator at the Alumni Association, said while Jump is in Manhattan, he will meet with several alumni groups, including the class of 1940 at its 50-year reunion.

Jump will also help kick off the Essential Edge campaign, April 21, by serving as master of ceremonies at a banquet, said Dottie Downey, of the Foundation. The Essential Edge is a fund-raising campaign designed to raise $100 million for the University.

'Romero' uses realism

Film shows suffering, cruelty through realistic setting, symbols

"Romero" uses a realistic setting and symbols that are easier to understand than traditional religious symbols to bring home the suffering, cruelty and courage of the people of El Salvador.

The film centers on Archbishop Oscar Romero, a grassroots leader who, like Gandhi and Christ, incurred the wrath of government and anti-government forces while trying to resolve conflict in a nonviolent Raul Julia plays Romero, who begins as a political conservative. A compromise between the left and right wings in the Catholic Church in El Salvador thrusts him into the archbishopric. Officials expect the sickly monsignor to continue the church's support of the government, attend parties and die quickly.

Director John Duigan pictures the new archbishop as a cautious yesman, uncertain of whether his job entails liberation theology or baptizing

THE OUTER LIMITS

OF PASSION AND FURY

the rich's babies in exchange for private vacation homes.

A young priest who leads the peasants in defying the corrupt regime serves as Romero's John the Baptist. Romero emerges from his 40 days and 40 nights in the desert of selfquestioning when government forces gun down the young priest and two bystanders in cold blood.

"They are equal, and they are us," he declares. "We cannot let this happen again."

While the outcome of the plot is never in doubt because of the film's historical basis, many scenes are highly and probably artificially melodramatized. For example, while Romero was in fact shot while saying Mass, he was not shot while elevating the cup of wine as depicted in the film. This move, however, makes the symbolism and implications of Romero's sacrifice clearer.

Other symbols of the nation's repression include a toy man hung from the murdered priest's rearview mirror by a noose, and a garbage dump where children and birds scavenge together. The best is a scene where children take Romero's (and, symbolically, El Salvador's) temperature and declare it to be 1,012 degrees.

Romero himself is a Christ symbol. In his own Garden of Gethsemane, he prays that the cup of leader-

BY EURIPIDES

APRIL 19 21, 25 28 NICHOLS THEATRE 8pm

PRESENTED BY THE K-STATE PLAYERS AND THE CEPARTMENT OF SPEECH

For Information Call: 532-6026

ship will pass from him only to later obey what he believes is God's command. Soldiers strip him. His own followers question his actions and demand permission to use violence. Children flock to touch him once he is famous. Drawings of his face are hung above beds, next to the crucifix. He is killed after three years as archbishop. He says, "Jesus is in us, here and now."

"Romero" also conveys a realistic flavor of El Salvador. There are real tacos, poverty and wealth, buses, houses built flush with the narrow street, straw hats and the town cathedral built next to city hall.

Soldiers are in the background of most scenes, and generals attend the bishops' meetings. The military is more omnipresent than God. Duigan depicts the war in El Salvador as a class struggle. He gets his jabs in on capitalism even through the film's true-story face. "Anyone who says what he thinks about land reform or wages or human rights is labeled a Communist," Romero says. The United States, a weapons supplier, is pictured as contributing to the carnage. The rich control the few

-TONIGHT- 9 p.m. Support Sig Ep

Fite Nite with Knockouts

Penny Gregg ГФВ Robin Turner KA Gail Anson ΣΣΣ Natalie Hurtig XΩ Christie Peterson KAO Cheryl Gregory AXΩ Lisa Armstrong AΔΠ Stephanie Johnson ПВФ Susie McCullough ΔΔΔ Sally Meadows KKT Stacy Berberich AEA

> FITE NITE April 18-22 Weber Arena

Proceeds go to American Heart Association

Counselor uses hypnosis

Suggestion allows behavioral changes more accessibility

By Monica Marcotte Collegian Reporter

"U Can 2," reads the license plate of Dr. Greg Potter's van.

Potter, a mental health counselor, uses that philosophy as the foundation for his practice, which includes hypnosis. Hypnosis is a key element in treating some of his patients, and he believes strongly in its use as a psychological tool.

"We have evidence that psychology and biology are intermingled," Potter said. "Hypnosis is not a therapy, and it's wrong to think that a person could conduct a practice just using hypnosis, because hypnosis only works with an underlying foundation of a good psychological theory.'

About 25 to 30 percent of his patients use some form of hypnosis, Potter said. Hypnosis can be used in a wide variety of situations that have anything to do with thoughts, feelings or actions. Common ones include weight loss, low self-esteem and smoking, he said. Potter has also used hypnosis in marriage counseling sessions and for stress management.

Stop-smoking therapy is by far the most popular request, Potter said. It requires a minimum of four sessions, which cost $70 each. While he said the results are highly successful, they are certainly not magical.

Hypnosis is successful because it causes a person to become much more receptive to suggestion, Potter said. Suggestibility can be used to make someone more accessible to change such as getting them to alter a behavior pattern, he said.

Potter describes hypnosis as an altered state of consciousness, which simply means a different state of awareness. He equates it with a mild trance, but stresses that the person is aware of what is happening the entire

Potter said it is common for a person to enter into a trance-like state several times a day while driving, doing a routine job that requires little concentration.

"Hypnosis works in four ways," Potter said. "First, it instills a sense of safety; second, it focuses the individual's attention; third, it invites an element of cooperativeness; and fourth, it sparks the imagination." Potter puts his patients into a 'trance' by talking to them and having them focus on his voice. Potter frowns on using the term 'going under' because his patients are awake the entire time.

"If used improperly, hypnosis can activate psychotic symptoms, somatic symptoms, anxiety and depression," Potter said. "Clinical hypnosis is generally a safe procedure with fewer complications than most procedures or medications."

"Hypnosis has had a borderline status in psychology," said Leon Rappoport, professor of psychology. In the 19th century, hypnosis was daydreaming, watching television or associated with gypsies, which gave it a bad reputation, Rappoport said. Sigmund Freud used hypnosis early in his career to work with hysterical patients but the effects did not last, so Freud quit using it. Back then, this had the effect of discrediting hypnosis somewhat in the eyes of the psychological community, he said.

Potter has found that hypnosis does not work well with children, the mentally retarded or severely psychotic people.

This could be one explanation for Freud's difficulty in using it with his patients and eventually discontinuing its use in therapy, Rappoport

"Doesn't every Pre-med deserve a choice?"

Tom Garcia, M.D. (UAG '75) Houston, Texas

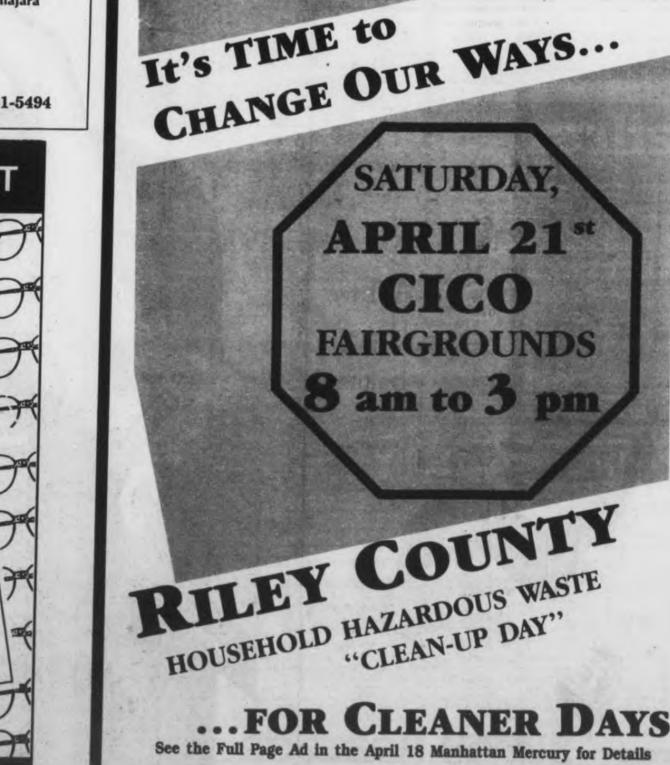

"The right choice was there when I needed it. I made that choice, and now I'm a physician. My alma mater may be just right for you. It's your choice."

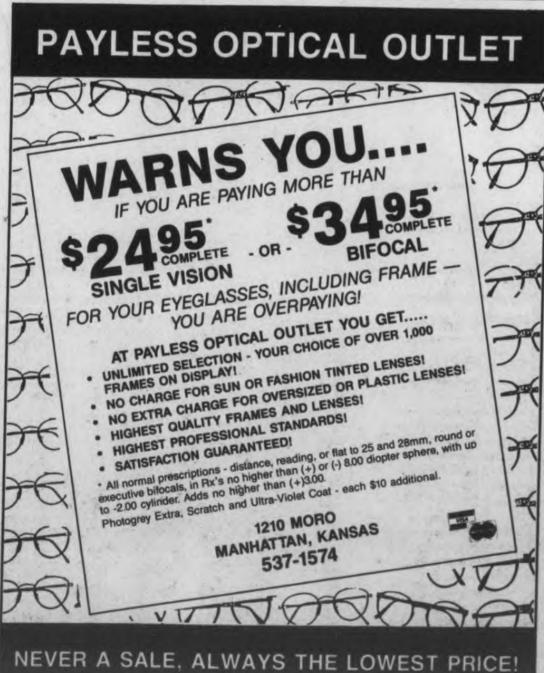

Universidad Autónoma de Guadalajara School of Medicine Guadalajara, Mexico

The International Choice

For your free video preview call: 1-800-531-5494

Group gives added meaning to metal

Soundgarden draws deserved attention in band's first release on major label

By Mark Schreiner Reviewer

The heavy muddle and mash of "Louder Than Love," Soundgarden's first release on a major label, earned the band a Grammy nomination for Best Heavy Metal Performance and the honor of being the favorite band of Axl Rose, lead singer for Guns 'n' Roses.

The four-man band from Seattle, Wash., led by whirling dervish Chris Cornell, plays churning dirges more aptly described as heavy modal than heavy metal. Each song features one riff, hammered out repeatedly, and one-word or one-phrase hooks in the chorus.

Soundgarden's name is derived from a sculpture in Seattle that turns and drones in the wind, but the band will never be confused with an Acolian harp. It trades wind for electricity, creating tunes that are humpable, not hummable.

The sound falls between Los Angeles' Jane's Addiction and Guns 'n' Roses, keeping the big hair and kicking the speed solos. It skips the radio-ready heavy-metal ballads in order to rip 'n' riff in modal keys, mixing the guitars louder than its rated-R lyrics.

Cornell, lead vocalist, guitarist and writer of most of the band's songs, seems to have shunted his hormones from his larnyx to his lyrics, although he denies the resemblence between his screaming falsetto and that of Led Zeppelin's Robert Plant.

Like the other children of Led
Zeppelin and Black Sabbath emerging today, Soundgarden's members hate Warrant, Poison and Bon Jovi. They call the women in their songs "thing" instead of "baby." They eschew both the dungeons and dragons mythic lyrics of heavy metal bands like Iron Maiden and the hauntedhouse gore of Alice Cooper.

Instead, they embrace a supposedly ironic approach in which they pretend to espouse what they are really making fun of. In "Power Trip," a song about men subjugating their wives, Cornell sings, "I want to be in control of everything."

The similar "Hands All Over," parodies the stereotypical rock star who has sex with groupies. It begins in a major key only to switch to a minor key with a claxon guitar riff right when I expected a sweet and creamy

The titles of "Gun" and "Get On The Snake" explain them well enough. "Big Dumb Sex," with its one sawing riff modulating for variety and its chorus of one repeated obscenity, is also a parody.

Although "Loud Love" was "Louder Than Love's" first single, "Big Dumb Sex" is the band's showstopper and could have succeeded on the radio except for its obscenity. I can't help believing that the band's hedonist surface message will be mistaken as its ultimate beliefs by the crowds of rowdy drunks for whom its music is designed. The sex is life's only respite from pain.

"I Awake" and "No Wrong No Right" carry the gloomy theme band doesn't wink often enough to make clear its ironic intentions.

'Full On Kevin's Mom," a song about one band member's experience with a friend's mother, also claims to be ironic. As in the rest of the album, however, 90 percent of the lyrics are incomprehensible or consist of "arrgh!" and "Ooh! Ooh! Ooh!

The rest of the album's 12 cuts are slower, more hypnotic. "Uncovered" and "Ugly Truth" express the thought that people are animals and further. "Spider crawling up your wall, to the ceiling, slowly crawl," croaks Cornell. "Weaves a web above your bed, eggs crack, fall on your head."

Soundgarden has had two releases in its five years together prior to "Louder Than Love." Independent labels produced "Screaming Life," and "Ultramega Ok."

Soundgarden then included Cornell, Kim Thayil on lead guitar, Matt Cameron on drums and Hiro Yamamoto on bass. Jason Everman replaced Yamamoto, who quit the band to pursue a degree in physics after writing three songs for "Louder Than

Whatever else Soundgarden has, it has integrity. The music matchs the lyrics, and Cornell's smooth, high voice complements the low, gritty

The band members allegedly have sex appeal, and Cornell takes his shirt off at the slightest provocation. "Louder Than Love" also is unified, from the songs' consistent marching gloom to the Sergeant Pepper-like reprise of "Full On Kevin's Mom" closing the album.

*310

I bedroom, furnished, new carpet Villa 11 526 N. 14th

2 bedroom, stove, frig & dishwasher, furnished Gold Key 428-430 N. 6th 375

For more information call Moore Management

776-1111

Ask about our summer rental rates

CLUBS, GROUPS, ORGANIZATIONS... STUDENTS!

Educational Opportunity Fund Committee is NOW accepting applications for 1991-2

EOF Allocations!

Contact SGS Office for an application and more details.

532-6541

ROSS UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIPS/FINANCIAL AID SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

- Approximately 1400 graduates are doing internships and residencies or are lice throughout the U.S.A.
- VETERINARY MEDICINE Listed in AVMA Directory. Only foreign vet school doing clinical rotations in U.S.A.
- We are affiliated with U.S. Veterinary schools Approximately 300 graduate D.V.M.'s are in private practice throughout the U.S.A.
- In the event you are not accepted to a U.S. Medical or Veterinary School of your choice, ROSS in your Best Alternative!

Now accepting applications for both schools for Spring, Fall, & Winter semesters. Places are still available for Sept. 90 veterinary class and June/October '90 medical class. International Education Admissions, Inc. 460 W 34th Street, NYC 19001 (212) 279-5500

Kansas State University Residence Hall Foodservice

BAYSTREET

LET'S GET STUPID!

25¢ Kamis $150 Liter Draws $500 31 oz. Wells

MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER

Don't Approach the Work Force with NO EXPERIENCE

> The application deadline for fall Collegian news and advertising staffs has been extended to Friday, April 20.

Now Taking Applications for fall Collegian: Advertising Positions Available New Positions Available

Pick up your application in Kedzie 103 NOW

Applications for all positions due by 5 p.m. April 20 in Kedzie 103

Kansas chooses soil

Harney silt loam becomes state symbol

By Angela Lawson Collegian Reporter

Harney silt loam has joined the meadowlark, sunflower and bison as a state symbol.

Gov. Mike Hayden signed the bill officially designating Harney silt loam as the state soil April 12.

Orville Bidwell, a retired profes-sor, has been lobbying since 1985 to get Harney silt loam declared the state soil.

In 1985, the Kansas Association of Professional Soil Classifiers decided that Kansas prairie soils should be commemorated by declaring a state soil, Bidwell said. Bidwell was the chairman of the legislative liaison committee of the KAPSC.

"We selected Harney because it contains the desirable prairie soil properties," he said. Harney has a thick organic surface and stays dark in color 10 to 14 inches below the ground. It is rich in nutrients, especially nitrogen. Bidwell said he appeared before the Senate Agricultural Committee in 1986 and asked it to adopt a state soil. The committee, however, took no action on the request that

The Senate passed the bill in 1989, but the House did not, Bidwell said. This year the bill was held in the Senate until it was passed in the House.

Nebraska was the first state to name a state soil in 1979, Bidwell said. Kansas is the sixth state to name a state soil. Wisconsin, Vermont, Oklahoma, and Florida also have state soils. The Agricultural Hall of Fame in Bonner Springs has a collection of all the official state soils.

Harney can be used as a comparative model in relation to the other 300 different kinds of soil present in Kansas.

'We can tell how the other soils differ from Harney," Bidwell said. Bidwell said that educators have been very supportive of efforts to have a state soil declared because it opens up possibilities for conservation activites in the classroom.

"Having a declaration of a state soil helps publicize to students and adults alike the importance of soil in this state," said Becky Koch, administrator for Kansas Foundation for Agriculture in the Classroom. "We will be able to use this as a catalyst for teaching children."

Lasso-A-Deal Read the Collegian Classifieds

Show you care with a Collegian Classified.

Living in Comfort

Birkenstock OLSON'S

1214-C Moro Aggieville

Stationery

kinko's the copy center

1329 Anderson Manhattan, KS (913) 537-7340 FAX*537-0967*FAX

Oozeball returns to KSU for 2 days of filthy, dirty fun! APRIL 28 & 29

Team entry forms and additional information available at Union Candy Counter, and the Hollis KSU Student Foundation

(Registration deadline April 20)

Waste

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 technician for the Kansas Department of Health and Environment, said a site assessment is conducted following the removal of any underground storage tank. After an assessment has been made of the level of contamination, a remediation program is recommended.

The process of remediation depends on the level of contamination, Saeed said. Methods of remediation include removing the soil to a landfill, processing the soil at the site or transporting the soil to a processing plant to remove the contaminant.

•2.75 Pitchers

•99<sup>e</sup> Curley Q

Guest D.J

NIGHT

Featuring

Julie Minnis

Matt Laurie

Sigma Chi Sign-in Party

Thursday

75° Chips & Salsa

$1.25 Wells

Fries

"Each situation is unique and requires a different remediation technique," Saeed said.

The type of soil present in the contaminated area often dictates the method of remediation. Clay-like soil will often hold a chemical longer than sandy soil.

He said the KDHE is concerned with contamination by toluene, xylene and benzene, all petroleumbased chemicals.

"These are the ones that are of concern," Saeed said. "These are the ones that are checked."

'Cats

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9 we had to make pitches the hitter was in charge of. That's where the whole problem really started," Clark said.
"We have just got to do a better job in those situations."

After the fifth, however, the K-State pitchers shut down Washburn to let the offense do the work. Pedersen was replaced by Greg Laddish after getting nailed with a line drive in the sixth. Laddish worked 11/3 innings of scoreless ball, striking out two and picking off a runner to end the seventh.

Save on Reed & Barton

18/8 "Cuisine" Stainless 1/3 OFF 40, 44, 60 and 64-Piece Sets PLUS 30% OFF Open Stock

Enjoy fine quality maintenance-free, 18/8 stainless steel, in the Reed & Barton tradition of excellence... at a very untraditional price. Take advantage of our special savings and discover truly affordable elegance. Choose from 7 distinctive patterns, including our newest patterns, Seafare and Golden Seafare, and you are sure to find one that reflects your individual style and good taste.

Sale ends May 31, 1990.

Gold Accents Reg. Retail SALE Reg. Retail SALE

(eight 5-pc. place settings) (40-pc. set plus 4-pc. hostess set) (twelve 5-pc. place settings) (60-pc. set plus 4-pc. hostess set)

REED & BARTON 18/8 "Cuisine" Stainless

5th & Poyntz Downtown 776-9067

ampbell's Use Our Bridal Registry

1227 Moro Aggieville 539-1891

The Chrysler-Plymouth Guaranteed Advantage

Guaranteed Rebates up to $1,000.1
Option package savings of up to $750.

RACE TO THE FINISH WITH ZENITH DATA SYSTEMS

As you race to the finish of the school year, be sure to enter our "RACE TO THE FINISH" Sweepstakes, where you could win one of these great prizes:

GRAND PRIZE—ONE WINNER
An all-expense-paid trip for two to Paris for the 1990 Tour de France.

FIRST PRIZE—50 WINNERS
A Raleigh Assault* or Finesse* All-Terrain Bike. SECOND PRIZE-500 WINNERS A go-anywhere Fanny Pack. THIRD PRIZE-1,000 WINNERS A sports water bottle.

